Michelle LOMAX

Labour

My principal place of residence is in the Central Ward of the Linwood-Central-Heathcote Community Board area.

I trained as a lawyer, and have six children.

Mainly I've been a full-time mum, but now work at Community Law on disability issues.

I love living and working in the Central ward, with all it has to offer, including Hagley College where my son has the privilege of attending.

Wellbeing starts with our community. Strong, sustainable communities mean everyone feels they belong, and we're all better off.

I've worked hard in community roles ranging from elected district health board member, to chair of a high school board of trustees, and successfully campaigning to keep a local maternity unit open. I've also been an advocate for mental health and children's issues.

My work experience includes as a lawyer, policy advisor and electorate officer.

A vote for me is a vote for community, experience, inclusiveness, and good old-fashioned hard work!
