Submitters provided feedback and requests on a wide variety of transport operation issues.

Support: There is clear support for pedestrian safety especially around schools also support for alternative modes of transport including improved cycleways and public transport. Cycleways and slower speeds were seen as key factors in reducing emissions and global warming.

Areas mentioned for pedestrian safety include the Halswell area where there has been increased residential development and, in the Linwood, Aranui, Bromley areas with requests to continue CRAF projects.

There is support for slower speeds, speed humps and raised platforms as these are seen as a benefit to creating a slower safer environment and would be a benefit to climate change and lower emissions. There was support to provide EV charging in CCC owned car parks.

Support was raised for improved Public Transport for those who do not have access to a vehicle and as a more sustainable means of transport, there were also requests for PT to be cheaper and support the provision of Mass Rapid Transport and Trams. Support was voiced for the need to install bins at bus stops and better designed and more accessible bus stops for all ages and abilities.

There were several submissions requesting safety improvements or supporting new traffic lights at the Breens/ Harewood/ Gardiners Road intersection.

There were requests for improvements to Flockton Street to counter the Downstream Effects of the Christchurch Northern Motorway plus Street renewals for Wyon and Hulbert streets.

Requests for traffic lights at the Halswell and Hendersons Road intersection, and safety improvements at the Sockburn roundabout. Concern was raised that the crossing lights at the Main South, Goulding and Chalmers junction are too short.

Support was raised for more speed enforcement and red-light cameras.

Against: There is opposition to the use of speed humps, slower speed neighbourhoods, raised platforms and safety treatments at roundabouts. Concerns raised that these safety improvements are a waste of money and that they hinder emergency services and cause driver frustration that leads to poor driver behaviour. Confusion over the number of different speeds within an area and that there is no consistency in speeds around schools with higher speeds outside schools but lower in residential areas.

Concerns were raised that the slowing of traffic causes congestion and increases emissions.

Comments were made with regards to improving congestion and safety at the Cashmere/Centaurus/Colombo/Dyers Pass Road and Burwood/ Mariehau roundabouts. Also mentioned, the recent safety improvements to several roundabouts in Avonhead were considered a waste of money. Objections to the raised safety platforms recently installed at major intersections and the proposals for changes to Church Corner.

Some considered investing in improved public transport was also a waste given Christchurch is a car centric city.

Objections were raised to money being spent on Rainbow crossings, that these could be a hinderance to road safety and a waste of money.

Concerns were raised over the impact of traffic associated with the new Pak n Save and Marian College the new lights on Main North Road and Northcote Road and that the signal phasing causes more congestion.

Concerns were raised over the costs of traffic cameras being a waste of money and there being too many of them on the network.

Opposition was voiced on the budgets spent on road upgrades, cycleways, slower speeds and safety interventions.

Objections were raised about the number of trucks on Norwich Quay.

Concerns were raised over the number and duration of roadworks on the network.

Slow Speed Neighbourhoods.

To reduce the number and severity of crashes in Christchurch, we're working to build a safe road system that is designed for people. This means doing our best to reduce crashes but acknowledging that crashes will continue to happen because people make mistakes – including those who are careful and responsible drivers. These mistakes shouldn't cost anyone their lives. We recognise there is the potential for everyone to make mistakes.

Safe vehicles, safe speeds and safe infrastructure contribute to limiting serious injury or harm on the network. Speeds are being reduced from 50km/h to 30km/h around schools and neighbourhood streets, making it safer for tamariki (children) travelling to and from school.

Speed limits have been proposed to match the safe and appropriate speed limits as defined by Waka Kotahi. This takes into consideration the different types of roads and streets, whether there are shops, libraries, and community centres where people are travelling to, or if it is a local residential street. As part of the Safe Speed Neighbourhood Programme (Interim Speed Management Plan), that was consulted on from 10 October 2022 to the 3 January 2023, the focus was on lowering speeds around schools and in neighbourhoods that requested changes. Where possible the number of speed limit changes have been reduced so that local residential streets are proposed at 30km/h or 40 km/h and the busier roads remain at 50km/h. Where located close to a school, a variable speed limit may operate on these busy roads at school start/finish times. The safe speed neighbourhood programme is currently being implemented. As part of this process staff are looking to see if any of the proposed limits, yet to be implemented should be rationalised

The Christchurch Safer Speed Plan (Long Term Speed Plan) has been paused by Council while we await Government direction on a new Speed Setting Rule.

Speed humps, raised platforms and changes to roundabouts.

Speed is a key factor in deaths and serious injuries (DSI) – no matter what the cause of an accident is, it's speed that determines whether you'll walk away from it. Speed influences the stopping distance and severity of a crash.

In Christchurch, more than half of serious crashes happen at intersections, so safer infrastructure such as safe speed platforms have been implemented at intersections with higher crash rates and high volumes of vulnerable road users, such as children going to nearby schools and early childhood centres.

Slower speeds and traffic emissions.

The volume of emissions associated directly with road safety projects has not been estimated. Quantifying these emissions is difficult due to a lack of published guidance. Overseas research has found that vehicles emit in the order of 25% less emissions when speed limits are lowered from 50km/h to 30km/h. Peer reviewed economic analysis used in Auckland estimated that approximately 10% of school children might switch from driving to walking or cycling due to the reduced speed limits.

The number of cycleways and the impact of bike lane traffic signals on congestion for vehicles. Separate signals for cyclists at intersections are provided for the safe movement of cyclists. Intersections present a high-risk environment for cyclists, with potential conflict from vehicles approaching from multiple directions and serious consequences for cyclists in the event of a collision. Intersections involve many movements and therefore there is a lot for drivers to concentrate on; managing the potential conflict between cyclists and drivers simplifies the driving task and reduces risk for all road users.

Where a separated cycleway is integrated into a signalised intersection there is a legal requirement to separately control the cycle movement and to be fully protected from vehicle movements (this is the case with the majority of intersections on the Major Cycle Routes).

The Real Time Operations Team continually monitor signalised intersections throughout the city and respond to specific customer feedback on intersections where issues arise. Adjustments can be made to signal timings to better cater for vehicle movements after running fully protected cycle movements.

Safety improvements at Cashmere/Centaurus/Colombo/Dyers Pass Road roundabout.

The addition of the safer speed treatments and crossings at this intersection are to achieve an improvement to user safety at a more affordable cost than traffic signals. This project would not preclude traffic signals in the future if they were required and affordable. These safety upgrades were approved by the Waihoru Spreydon-Cashmere-Heathcote Community Board in April 2023.

Church Corner

The improvements at Church Corner have been proposed to address an accident hot spot. The Community Board approved:

- Removing the slip lane from Riccarton Road into Waimairi Road
- Installing safe speed platforms at the approaches to the intersection
- Installing speed humps on Angela Street, Brake Street and Leslie Street
- Making changes to parking on Waimairi Road, and also to the bus stop and shelter on Waimairi Road at the Bush Inn Centre.
- The slip lane from Main South Road into Curletts Road will also be removed and a left turning lane installed at the lights.

However, options for changes at the Main South, Yaldhurst and Riccarton Road intersection at Church Corner will be presented to Council in the future.

Cheaper Public Transport

Environment Canterbury are responsible for the cost and delivery of Public Transport. CCC are responsible for the provision of the PT infrastructure. CCC has a programme of bus stop upgrades including installing new shelters, benches, bus stop line marking etc. The scope of the upgrades is dependent upon additional funding to be secured from NZTA Waka Kotahi Public Transport Futures Programme.

The provision of rubbish bins at bus stops is dependent on the proximity to shopping areas and schools where passengers may have rubbish especially food packaging before alighting the bus. However, the provision of rubbish bins is dependent on the maintenance budget available to service them.

Council, Environment Canterbury and NZTA are working together on the business case for Mass Rapid Transit (MRT).

New traffic light intersection on Main North Road at Pak n Save and impact on Northcote Road.

The new signals at the Pak n Save entrance and modifications to the existing intersection of Main North/Northcote/QEII were approved through resource consent to manage the impacts of traffic associated with the development of the supermarket.

The Real Time Operations team have been focussing on this corridor following commissioning of the new signalised intersection in mid-March and continue to monitor and adjust the operation of the signals to manage traffic in this area. Note at the time of writing (06/05/24) there are still items (signal detectors) at the intersection that are not fully functioning. Once these come online the efficiency of the intersection will improve.

CCTV Cameras on the transport Network.

CCTV cameras are a critical tool in the operation and management of our road network. The cameras are not for enforcement purposes they allow our operators and engineers to efficiently:

- Monitor traffic
- Manage traffic signal faults
- Respond to incidents
- Optimise traffic signals
- Assist emergency service operations
- Investigate specific operational and safety issues
- Monitor road works sites

Traffic Signals Network

The Real Time Operations (RTO) team are responsible for managing the day to day running of the city's traffic lights, which are linked to a central control system. This system continuously collects real time data, such as number of vehicles, congestion, and delay. The system then uses this data to adapt the traffic signal timings to attempt to make sure the network is efficient as possible.

In addition to the automatic changes the system makes, the RTO team monitors the network from 7am to 6pm, Monday to Friday and when needed they react to abnormal traffic conditions or delay and intervene to make real time signal adjustments. However, as all signals are linked, often minor changes to an isolated location can have large impacts on the wider network.

The team also have a few other tools to help inform decision making when it comes to the option of traffic lights, including CCTV cameras, real travel time journey data. Using the automated system and all the other tools they have at hand; the RTO team continually monitor and attempt to minimise delay on the network.

Road works are a result of multiple projects that need to be completed including roading repairs, maintenance and upgrades, Three Waters infrastructure upgrades, utility companies, housing developments, safety improvements etc. Not all of these are CCC led projects however all those wishing to undertake works in the road corridor must apply for a Corridor Access Request (CAR) which is coordinated by the Asset Protection Team at Council. Each approved CAR provides an agreed time period for the works to be completed and does not allow for works to extend their approved duration without an approved extension. Efforts are made to coordinate works to minimise disruption however Council are not always provided with forward works schedules for utility companies or development works.

Rainbow crossing

Rainbow crossings are not an official road marking and therefore would not be budgeted for in the traffic operations road safety budgets. Staff will work with any proposals to provide information on where they could be installed and would provide guidance to ensure these would not present a road safety issue.

There is guidance provided by NZTA Waka Kotahi for art on road guidance. DRAFT Guidance: Roadway Art Handbook (nzta.govt.nz)

Other

Norwich Quay is the main route to Lyttleton Port and is also State Highway and therefore under the control of NZTA Waka Kotahi.

EV chargers are provided at Council owned car park buildings in the central city.

Harewood/Gardiners/Breens intersection is funded in FY25 (ID# 41663). Francis and Flockton upgrades will be funded through (ID# 17088) Christchurch Northern Corridor Downstream Effects Delivery Package.

Maintain roadway condition to an appropriate national standard, measured by the percentage of the sealed road network that is resurfaced each year Target: Years 1&2: >=4% Year 3 onwards: >=5%	Support However, there needs to be more planning for selected road improvements that take an all-round approach to all aspects of service provision, green areas/landscaping and active mode usage, stormwater treatment. Do it well, once rather than just resealing.
Increase the infrastructure provision for active and public modes	Support The fewer cars on our roads, the less pollution of

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)], [Transport > Footpaths & Streetscapes (Capital)], [Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Strategic Transport]

Accessible public transport options for all people is a very high priority, as is spending on footpaths and cycle routes. We would encourage CCC to stand firm on its vision of an accessible Christchurch, regardless of any pressure upcoming from the Government (for example to invest more in new roads of "significance" or increase speed limits, especially those in urban areas). An extensive, well-maintained and accessible public transport network ensures that all people can participate in city life, and also makes it easier for older people, and families, to access other services (for example, medical appointments, or schooling).

Our transport network must be inclusive, and developed with that eye for accessibility. Better designed bus-stops, and a more family friendly environment at the Bus Exchange, would assist in this area. We are excited by the proposals for an increased cycling network and greater attention to options for those who no longer drive (and for those who, given the opportunity, would prefer to use public transport more).

Stop spending on speed bumps and narrowing intersections. There was $40,000 spend on putting concrete lumps in an intersection in Lyttelton, apparently to increase safety. Lyttelton is a port that services a city. This intersection is now too restricted for large trucks and trailer units to negotiate safely. What a waste of ratepayer money! The intersection is now a dangerous area. Your thinking needs to broaden; look at what a road needs to provide for the city and stop applying blanket 'development' to everything. There are now so many speed restrictions along Lincoln Road that traffic moves at snail pace. This is ridiculous; people need to be able to move easily around the city; speed bumps and cycleways are not the answer.

2622 - Rob Murfitt

The proportion of cost of projects allocated to traffic management has accelerated over the last 5 to 10 years. The sheer waste (for one example) of the cost of maintaining traffic lights on Whaka Tce (the equivalent of a years rates for a household every single month when a cautionary sign would suit the need) is noted. Even worthy goals such as H & S can be inefficiently pursued at disproportionate cost. Contractors should be required to limit such costs to (say) 10% of the cost of the project.

5) FAKE CLIMATE EMERGENCY SPEND

- * Reverse all 'traffic calming' speed restrictions which disadvantage people's efficient movement.
- * Withdraw funding of expensive 'speed bumps,' which 'virtue signal' fake environmental concern.
- * Remove unsightly and disruptive bollards from Park Terrace.
- * Place cycleway on Avon River bank.
- * Reinstate normal traffic flow to Park Terrace and affected environs.
- * Deactivate 2 in 3 lights on the Northern Bypass Motorway cycle track.

TRANSPORT

[coders note. question. 'Are there any areas we should be reviewing the services we provide to reduce our costs throughout rhe LTP 2024 - 2034?']

2898 - Jack Allan

The decisions of the Transport Department are frustrating though. Ideological agendas relating to speed restrictions coupled with those blessed raised intersections do nothing or little to make for safer roads but only add to driver frustration. That department needs a radical review.

292 - Ben Huang

reduce speed limit sections and increase pedestrian traffic safety awareness education

2951 - Les McKay

Stop reducing the speed limits: reduced speed limits mean slower traffic flow which increases greenhouse emissions, more wear on vehicles and slower delivery times for commercial deliveries.

299 - Jane Nuttridge

No, you need to leave the roads alone. Prime examples are Lincoln Rd raised platform, Shirley raised platforms and now Cashmere/Dyers Rd roundabout. These projects are completely unnecessary, do not improve safety, visually cluttered and are an absolute waste of money. Just stop with them PLEASE!

No as mentioned previously, stop wasting money on the crazy intersection designs.. listen to the feedback.. it's a clear NO to spending our money on these pointless projects!!

this is a huge waste of $.. as is the new intersections Lincoln Rd, Shirley platforms, Dyers pass roundabout.. stop these projects all together! Huge waste as they are pointless!

3039 - Paula Allen

the 30kmh signs are a waste of money, you haven't even got them right, 40kmh in front of school yet 30 kmh in a cul-de-sac

3088 - Heather Brown

Transport should not include billions enabling more car use.

3089 - Trevor Lord

Yes...reduce expense on excessive efforts for alternative transport options. They are not being taken up by the mainstream users and this must be the arbitrating criterion for areas of investments. City parking must be enhanced to allow all City businesses and cultural amenities to thrive.

3096 - Hamish Mitchell

[Three Waters - Operations]

Quite simply there needs to be substantial cut in wastage that goes on in this city. Roading repairs for example are done at a ridiculously slow rate not only does it slow down productivity within the city but the fixed over heads escalate significantly. Take the Memorial Avenue water mains replacement for example

3098 - Craig Bowen (Halswell United AFC)

People still need to get around the city efficiently. Cycle lanes are no use getting kids to sports practice or games on Saturdays so understand roads and parking are still important.

312 - Shane Binder

Budgets for systemwide infrastructure improvements (not just renewals) to support speed management, road safety, and pedestrian network upgrades seem relatively lacking compared to the funds going to vehicular projects of localised impact (e.g., Pound/Ryans Roads, Halswell Jct Rd, subdivision infrastructure).

3129 - Skye Arnopp

Lower spending on Transport.

315 - Sophia Pegg

Make roads easy to navigate. We don't need bumper bars everywhere and raised pedestrian crossings. We don't need to develop a slower neighbourhood programme over roading itself. We don't need to go 30km everywhere.

3169 - Barbara Brown

We need to look for savings in the Transport and Three Waters areas, rather than cut services.

>>> [Three Waters > Three Waters (Operational)], [Parks > Spending], [Parks > Heritage (Capital)], [Parks > Foreshore], [Art Galleries & Museums > Art Galleries (Capital)], [Other/Special Interest Topics > Social Housing], [Art Galleries & Museums > Museums (Capital)], [Grants & Funding > Art Centre Funding]

As in my introductory statement, I think that we need to review operational spend on Transport and Three Waters, and prioritise Parks, Heritage and Coastal Environment; Art Galleries and Museums; Libraries and Housing. I think we should have a larger social housing portfolio.

[Transport > Cycleways]

still far too much focus on oversized cycle lanes and dangerous risen intersections that maintain a flow to day to day traffic

347 - Catherine Webber

STOP spending on this ridiculous safer neighbourhoods speed reductions. IT is a complete waste of money, National say they will repeal all previous speed limit drops nationwide anyway. Spend that roading money on ridding the city of potholes and widening streets instead of narrowing them.

>>> You could slash the transport spending if you stopped all work on traffic calming, redesigned narrower streets for your slow the city to a snails pace plans. Slowing travel times will have a detrimental effect on the whole economy. >>>

To slow travel speeds has a detrimental effect on property values. My street is on the list to have speed reductions, if this goes ahead I will be participating in a class action against the council for damage to property values and natural enjoyment of my home, which again is supposed to be protected by law. So sick of feeling like I'm paying rent to live in my freehold home. CCC is the worst landlord.

3493 - Brendon Lee

[Transport > Cycleways]

25% is a big piece of the pie, so if you want to increase productivity, don't restrict road ways. Don't place speed bumps at traffic light intersections making it safer for the walking or cycling public. Narrow roads to make the vehicle traffic move slower will also increase the time for commutes, which increases more fossil fuel consumption = bad.

please look at the money being wasted--the $700k new roundabout at the foot of Dyers Pass Rd, which is unnecessary (accidents that are given as the reason are simply the result of bad driving/cycling)!!

3624 - Noeline Marsh

[Strategic Direction>Climate Change]; [Spending>Our Proposed Spending]

I object to money being spent on climate change initiatives, especially making it more difficult to drive a car in the city. Carbon emissions is a hoax. The world is at 0.04% carbon dioxide in the atmosphere. If it is lowered to 0.02% then life will not exist because plants will die. Please do not waste money of climate change initiatives. Lowering speed limits and building expensive traffic calming barriers and narrowing streets is a waste of money. That money needs to be put into driver education and police enforcement of dangerous driving.

3648 - Yvonne Russell

Making blanket changes to speed limits needs to be carefully considered as it affects not just councillors and their view but a raft of citizens with differing needs and conditions -observance of road rules however is rarely enforced it seems unless it is speed cameras . Case in point -small ,very quiet subdivision informed the speed limit will be dropped to 30kph because of its proximity to a school : the school is 1.9 ks away and is seperated from the subdivision by a 60 kph road .

3653 - Andrew McDougall

Have you taken into account the projects that were already in process, but have had the rug drawn from under them?I refer especially to the upgrading of Wyon Street and Hulbert Street which we thought were a "done deal" but were rejected at the The Wyon Street and Hulbert Street renewal projects from the Christchurch Regeneration Acceleration Facility (CRAF) programme in their 8 April meeting. We only found out on Friday the 19th April that this had happened and they suggested the project was referred to the Council's long term plan. The conditions of the pavements in Wyon Street must be considered urgently.

Whilst I am highlighting the importance of the upgrades to Wyon St. and Hulbert St., I believe this is something that should be done as a matter of urgency. The streets were about to be improved just before the 2010 earthquake, and then the money was diverted into the infrastructure for the city. It is always put on the "backburner". Time to prioritise it.

3720 - Eddie Newman

I am also bemused by the sudden appearance of 30km zones in areas which do not appear to need, especially Simeon St from Coronation Drive to Milton St. This a wide road with no school. Also worth noting is that some cyclists and many electric scooters regularly exceed this speed.

3721 - Benn Dickie

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

Finally I disagree with the proposed mixed mode plan and specifically such a small increase in cycle lane development over 10 years. The anticipated increase in cyclists is levelling off - because investment and improvement is levelling off.

3763 - John Graham

I want to have the choice to take my car whenever & wherever I like with no restrictions. The roads are more dangerous now a specially Rolestone Av, with all the bike paths & scooters flying passed, Hagley Park & cars to watch outfor what crazy new rules they have made.

No, you haven't got the balance right. There is too much focus on ideology and nice to haves, and not enough of maintaining our infrastructure and existing heritage (zero on heritage which is shameful). All spending on so called safety and calming measures such as speed bumps, 30 km zones, cycle lanes, and barricades need to stop immediately. As does any "climate change" / "net zero emissions" which is total nonsense and scaremongering. We cannot afford to be getting into debt further to meet regulations and taxations imposed by global organisations. The balance is being weighted heavily towards the above, and requiring rates to increase in order to service the debt from past and present vanity projects. Rate payers cannot be continually expected to cover costs. We are not a bottomless pit. As councillors and CCC employees, you are not here to build your legacy or to put added pressure onto the households of the people you serve. You are employed by rate payers to deliver the basic infrastructure, and your focus should be on this, not on world class stadiums, convention centres, sports centres, playgrounds, vanity projects, virtue signalling, and so on.

So many of the works we are seeing are creating massive issues for the emergency services. I have seen ambulances struggle to get through traffic because the roads are narrowed due to cycle lanes, calming barriers, and speed bumps. This is putting people's lives at risks. The cycle lanes have become more of an obstacle and cause of traffic frustration that when we had cars and bikes sharing lanes.

3832 - Karen Atkinson

Stop wasting money on changing road layouts, speeds (new signage)

3844 - My-Linh Dang

The amount of spending on transport is excessive. Much of the works we are currently seeing are unnecessary (e.g. speed humps before roundabouts are unnecessary). There is no evidence that raised safety platforms help make roads safer. Any spending should be minimal to maintain services. Find ways to reduce costs.

3868 - Don Gould

Members the work on slowing my streets, that I previously lobbied for, has been done. We are now in 'over reach' territory. I see more work has just started on Shirley Road tonight, it's just not required. Slowing my suburban area to 30 kmph was enough, it didn't require the additional speed humps. Pulling in raised platforms at the top of Marshlands road has slowed traffic, we will have to wait to see if it makes is safer, it's not currently. Right now my observation is that it's causing stress, it's growing travel times and bigger cars are able to maintain speed while others aren't and don't.

3869 - Cam Parsonson

[Transport > Roads (Capital)]

Wyon Hulbert Streets removal from the CRAF projects list. The Community Board decision for the removal of Wyon and Hulbert Streets from the CRAF project was made at the 8th April meeting and we were only advised of this on Friday 19th April with the recommendation that the Long Term Plan submission process is a way for us to advocate for this project funding. Regretfully I have not had the time to consider all of the other items in this process to be able to comment fully on them. It has already been acknowledged by the council that speeding in this area is an issue and the speed restrictions within our streets have been amended to reflect the close connections that we have to the 2 schools within our area. Our street Wyon Street is a residential street but is the only through road between Buckleys Road and Worcester Streets that is used by people accessing all the other roads between Linwood Ave and Woodham/Kerrs Roads. Regularly on a daily basis there are cars being driven down our street at excessive speeds. Our area is continually referred to by developers and real estate agents as 'city fringe' and we are seeing a major increase in developers building multi unit small apartments on very small sections. Over the years we have had patch up jobs to the road surface and many repairs to the pot holes that developed. The large old fashioned gutters are damaged and dangerous, the footpaths are damaged. The current road surface has not been finished and is according to various council reports in bad condition and on the list of the Top 20 roads needing major attention. The infrastructure of Christchurch east is deteriorating and these constant delays mean extra costs everytime the project is reconsidered. With the removal of this project from under the CRAF funding by the Community Boards recent decision we request that this project should now be in the Long Term Plan

3898 - Richard Smith

Ditch the Safe Speed Neighbourhoods programme - this will have minimal benefit and will be a money sink

3904 - Lee Barber

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

The continual funding on bike lanes, speed restrictions and limitations on parking is stifling our already crippled city centre

3907 - Graham Muir

Things like reducing speeds and speed humps etc should be stopped. Traffic densities will moderate speed without wholesale 24x7 speed reductions. Also, slower speeds will generally be less efficient for fuel consumption, hence increasing emissions. Similarly, the increase in the number 'speed humps, raised crossings etc will lead to increased admissions as vehicles have to break and then accelerate again. They also have an adverse impact on emergency service responses (during a recent trip in an ambulance they had to slow significantly at each 'speed bump')

Way Safer Streets Consultation – 16 June 2023 – 16 July 2023

It concerns me that when you put an item like “Way Safer Streets” out for consultation that you do not include a safety evaluation and a list of pros and cons of your plan for the public. These were some of the images in the consultation. There were three areas for me locally, and the implications was that they were streets (two weren’t) and they were only of interest to cyclists – they were of interest to all users of the spaces

Everyone should be able to safely walk, scooter, bus, cycle or drive where they want to go. That's why we're making several Ōtautahi Christchurch areas safer for travellers – way safer.

In Simeon Street and Milton Street cyclists would join pedestrians on the footpath.

Do you think this proposal will improve safety for cycling? *

- Yes
- Somewhat
- No
- Don't know / Not sure

Is there anything else we could do to improve cycling safety in this area?

Optional

Why was your only interest cycling safety when you were encroaching on pedestrian spaces? Why introduce an urban cycling "shared" path to a previous natural area and for pedestrians mainly?

Why introduce lightning into that area of Nga Puna Wai which is well away from traffic and risks personal safety?

3990 - Malcolm Smeaton

in these financially constrained times I think too much emphasis is being placed on road safety, such as road humps, humps at roundabouts, raised pedestrian crossings, road narrowings. These things all cost a lot of money and how much proof is there they actually achieve a better outcome.

Stop looking at blanket speed restriction and expenditure on road humps, raised pedestrian crossings, road narrowing and other obstacles which might improve road safety. It's so expensive and how effective is it really.

There has been a lot of time, energy, & money used, and considerable local disruption created, by the "upgrading" of roundabouts by adding judderbars & other aspects to structures which functioned perfectly well, and safely, without them.

Things like the absolute waste on the Aranui streets upgrade disaster are just plain insulting and an example of a council that holds its ratepayers in utter contempt. Tone deaf. No wonder the public perception of council is sooo bad.

590 - Grant Hartley

Money is still being wasted on roading changes in the name of safety when it is likely the new government will reverse the policy of speed restrictions. It is wrong to waste money proceeding with these measures when they will have to be reversed which will cost more money.

Do not reduce speeds in communities to 30 kph. This is a waste of money and only requested by a few of the residents on the affected streets. Not enough consideration is given to the frustration this will cause and that the new limits will not be obeyed.

Things such as raised intersections are a terrible waste of money

1113 - Graeme Plank

[Transport>Roads (Capital)]; [Transport>Cycleways (Capital)]

Our roading network is a shambles with widespread temporary disruptive roadworks and permanent redesigns increasing congestion rather than reducing it. A prime example is Wings to Wheels which is strongly opposed by the local residents who will be most disadvantaged by its construction. Halving the volume of traffic, eliminating on street parking, putting in expansive cycleways for cyclists who are rarely seen on that road makes little sense. Those going to the airport to travel will have luggage and those who work there are likely to be in uniform or require work vehicles for tools etc so cycling will never be there preferred or suitable option. It is highly likely the environmental impact during construction of this expensive project will vastly outweigh any climate savings made from its subsequent use. Worse still, how are emergency service vehicles expected to negotiate this major arterial route when there is virtually nowhere for vehicles to pull over to let them pass? Save the money and make the roading surfaces better and safer for all users rather than for an elite few. Ease congestion rather than creating it.

1130 - Hinekaha Atariki

[Transport>Cycleways (Capital)]

I think theres an excess in biking lanes and that the traffic lights with biking lanes need to be upgraded. As in there will be no one in the bike lane and the bike lane light will go on making commuters wait longer and then only giving one car at a time a chance to move through the intersection.

Operational funding All contracts for roading projects ; maintenance and renewals should be for only 2 years and retendered to avoid const escalations; in addition; cut year 3 of maintenance contracts completely and do nothing for a year regarding reseals and all roading renewals. sweating the assets one year will not make any difference but = huge $ benefits. review, cut and slash all traffic control costs by a complete overhaul of all traffic control (should be nationwide) as this entire sector has been hijacked by traffic engineers and gone too far. Cutting back requirements will save millions with no reduction in safety. >>>

procurement requires a complete review and changes would make massive differences as noted; contracts re-tendered to avoid cost escalations or just stopped in year 3 totally for a year (reseals and renewals) Review and cut traffic control levels across all contracts: requires bold governance decision making to push back on requirements that have gone too far without considering the costs and only focused on perceived safety

Depending on transport definition, I do not think I have ever seen a full bus in Christchurch. Road infrastructure never changes drastically and roadwork planning is horrendous and incredibly inconvenient and inconsistent, so I am not sure what $1.6 billion is covering.

1273 - Anthony Moore (The Elms Hotel Ltd, T/A Hotel Elms Christchurch)

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Public Transport]

Start looking at why the numbers that use passenger transport such as buses are so dismal and work on a long term plan for appropriate public transport system that will get community buy in and high levels of usage. The $101 million over 10 years is money down the drain simply because there isn't the patronage. We could learn a thing or two from the Australians and their public transport system.

1293 - Jill Rice

Peninsula roads need more maintenance.

1308 - Bernadette Bowe

In my opinion you need to make it easier for cars to get around. Cars are not going away any time soon and cycleways, and narrowing of some roads are hindering getting from A to B in a timely manner. I'm sure the population concerned about climate change do not want any vehicle on the road longer than it need to be.

1329 - Lynda Whitlow

No, we need to have a council which lives within the budget, not constantly having extra spending on cycle lanes, speed bumps, instead of repairs and maintenance to keep streets safe (i.e. fill in pot holes, fix flooding) especially on the East side of town. It's in a shocking state. However, for schools where many pupils need to cross or interact with very busy roads, safety measures should be in place. Our children are vulnerable and deserve to have thought and money put towards their safety. Adults have the ability to plan ahead (one hopes) and be observant more than children do, so it is vital to look after the wee ones who will be ratepayers of tomorrow.

Stop spending so much on preventing people from being able to easily access places by car. There are a lot of us out in the real world who have no choice, busses and cycling are impossible - yet we are prioritising non vehicle access everywhere at a huge cost.

I support more efficient transport and particularly improvements for the safety of pedestrians and cyclists. I would like to see the footpath and road improved on Port Hills Road between Bridle Path Road and the round-about where it joins Martindales Road. I reported this in a snap-solve-send some months back but didn't get any feedback. I don't see this section of road mentioned in the Long term plan for road renewal. Vegetation encroaches on the footpath which slopes and is broken in places. Cars parked on either side of the road make it a duck and dive road to drive down or up. The other day I went to drive from Bridle Path Road and make a left turn into Port Hills road. A car was on the wrong side of the road coming towards me. Yet I have observed sections of footpath being replaced where I did not think the footpath was not bad enough to need replacement eg Remuera Avenue, Lower Cashmere.

1468 - Jenelle Hooson

[Transport>Roads (Capital)]

With the increased number of residents and construction vehicles using Kennedys Bush Rd, it is also becoming increasingly dangerous in places as cars park on corners where the road is narrow. I wonder if parking needs to be limited to one side of the road on some corners, especially as many cars drive at speed going down the hill. I think this is another example of where the current state of the road has not been maintained effectively as building and development has increased.

1513 - Hugh Wilson (Maurice White Native Forest Trust)

Specific comment on Parker and Heritage ID 61795
Completing the revamp of the car-parking area at the Akaroa Heritage Park sooner rather than later, with appropriate funding to hard-seal and mark the surface is more important than it may seem. The area forms the entrance not only to the Heritage Park but also ^{to} one of the main starting points for a wide network of walking tracks through the Purple Peak Coving Reserve, Hinewai Reserve, and Misty Peaks Reserve, etc.

Thank you for your submission. There's a safety issue too, with cars entering from and exiting on to Long Bay Road. The revamp design and sealing makes things much safer. Funding the completion of this small project as soon as possible will give lots of bangs to the dollar.

1521 - Lingling (Jessica) Dong

[Parks > Other]

I'd like to see more emphasis placed on a more liveable city, even as the population density increases as it will do in the future. This means a good mix of public spaces, especially green space. It also means providing good transport options for those who wish to move around the city using active and public transport. Focussing exclusively on moving vehicular traffic as a priority not only reduces accessibility for many, but also reduces amenity as more green space is required for building roads. Expensive, futile and will only increase carbon emissions, rather than reduce them as has been campaigned on.

The transport - as it is mostly directed at roading with very little for public transport - this is out of whack the principles and goals that CCC says it upholds (emissions reductin, green and liveable city)

1616 - David Thomson

Please try to reduce traffic noise in the city centre e.g. convert diesel buses to electric and/or reduce services that run late at night

1732 - Carole Logan

Too many cycle ways hindering traffic. If you want to reduce traffic improve public transport

1806 - James Edwards

City Surveillance: The numerous cameras installed around the city must be costing a fortune. Can the Council provide any tangible evidence that these are offering measurable benefits? If they're not proving their worth in terms of enhancing safety or traffic management, then we need to rethink this strategy and potentially reallocate those funds more effectively. Let's focus on making smart, cost-effective decisions that reflect actual needs rather than getting carried away with costly projects. It's crucial that every dollar spent brings a real benefit and is justified with clear, measurable outcomes. We all want a well-planned city, but not at the cost of financial prudence.

1814 - Jenny Atkin

I'd also like to point out to the numerous surveillance cameras that are installed around the city and must be costing a fortune. Can the Council provide any tangible evidence that these are offering measurable benefits? Do they really increase safety and do what they are intended to do? If not, then we need to rethink this strategy and potentially reallocate those funds more effectively. Every costly project needs to have clear and measurable outcome and I'm not convinced there is a data to back it up. We all want a well-planned city, but not at the cost of financial prudence. Stick to the essentials in this uncertain economy and postpone expensive projects for the future.

1837 - Rosalie Griffith

Yes. We definitely want traffic lights at Harewood/Breens/
Gardiners roads.

We do not want cycle lanes both sides of Harewood Rd - if we have to why not save a lot of money and use footpath + berms - shared with pedestrians. as in Japan. Bells compulsory on cycles & stricter speed restriction to 50kph. Trust all servicing under the road will be checked and/or repaired so no digging up in another year or two of water, sewerage power, etc.

1849 - Amy Brewer

Are we using alternative transportation options. I walk to work but a lot of the buses I see are not even 1/4 full. Are we wasting funds here to tick a green box?

Has CCC got the balance between its services and rates right?

No, the CCC is not doing enough in services. I think there should be more funding for bus lanes, bike lanes, flood protection, the Arts Centre, cultural and entertainment ^{and} mental health initiatives. The CCC should also fund more electric buses ~~and~~ establish free public WiFi in the bus interchange ^{and} create more electric car charging stations.

Rates

Should the council increase rates in order to maintain existing services?

Yes No

Chch always had bumpy roads before the quake - it's built on a swamp. Suggest you scale back on the idea of perfect roads and look more at how to increase ways to get the regions like selwyn and Waimakariri to work with you on commuter transport for the Lo g term eg trams/trains

2003 - Rachel Brownie

[Transport>Cycleways (Capital)]; [Transport>Roads (Capital)]

Roadworks are out of control. Cycleways are WAY out of control. Fix what's broken and stop spending on speed bumps at intersections, it increases emisions and causes traffic congestion, a huge waste of money Spend it on adjusting the traffic lights, green arrows and the timing on some are shocking.

2031 - Christine Suwandy

Shorter the repair or construction time period. Which lead to less traffic jam.

2055 - Joanne Byrne

More focus on travelling safely for pedestrians cyclists and other vulnerable users.

2060 - Liv van Workum

Due to the animosity toward cycling and the lack of awareness for anything but cars, I often don't feel very safe while cycling in the city. However the bike lanes put into place have been essential to keep me active in such since I had a truck pull in front of me and had a nasty crash. However that happened with a truck pulling into a bike lane to turn down a drive. Is there a way we can better raise awareness of people treating cycle ways like the road, in the sense we must let cyclists pass safely.

2079 - William Muir

Raise the speeds to 50 km/h on all city roads.

2087 - Emma Norrish (Waipapa Papanui-Innes-Central Community Board)

Northcote traffic safety: The Board believes there is an urgent need relating to the Northcote Road corridor being investigated for improvement. Both the wider and local community have communicated their concerns about the adverse impacts resulting from recent developments, including the opening of a very large supermarket and school, together with increased traffic in the area generally. The Board is concerned that the draft LTP is showing significantly reduced investment for improving this corridor (project 915). The Board appreciates that the nature of any project will need to be informed by investigations, but advocates for some funding/resourcing to be able to act on these, and should at least be noted in the LTP and be included in an Annual Plan. The Board refers to the deputations of St Bede's College and Marian College students to its 11 April 2024 meeting (recorded on its YouTube channel here: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=tdktSPxnyrA>) outlining their traffic safety concerns for the area surrounding their schools. The Board, responding to such local insight, has approved Better Off funding for a Northcote Road Corridor Safety Improvements Investigation that it could expect to be seeking the Council's support with to implement resulting recommendations, intending these be considered in further conversation with the students and community.

The Board is also concerned to see project 243, Greers, Northcote & Sawyers Arms Intersection Safety Improvement, not appearing in the draft LTP, and would advocate for its inclusion, understanding there to be relevant interconnectivity with the projects for the Greers/Langdons Traffic Lights and Northcote Road Corridor Improvement.

Part of this safety needs to include consideration around good traffic flow and reduced congestion as this can create driver frustration which leads to poor decision making and ultimately accidents or at least dangerous behaviour. Simple changes to improve light phasing as well as real time monitoring of traffic flows, auditing and monitoring traffic behaviour as new roading changes are implemented (speed, changed layouts etc) are also supported by the Board.

[Transport > Roads (Capital)]

However investment in more roads, for example widening Brougham Street shouldn't be a priority. The UK manages to carry much greater volumes of traffic on smaller roads that we have, they coordinate lights - for example along Brougham street, so that you are not stopping and starting several times when moving along the major road.

2267 - Redacted Redacted

Parakiore & Te Kaha are both poorly sited and will result in traffic issues in the city. These projects need to be finished but no money spent on recitifying the traffic issues until the CCC has the funding available to do this without borrowing or raising rates.

2269 - Lyn Leslie (Te Pātaka o Rākaihautū Banks Peninsula Community Board)

Many rural roads are narrow and unsealed that many residents and tourists travel. Numerous Te Pātaka o Rākaihautū Banks Peninsula roads do not get recognised as a priority in the Council's Minor Safety Works owing to the numbers travelling them. The residents who live on those roads are often called upon to assist motorists/cyclists; these small incidents are not always reported. Review levels of service for rural roads and marine structures, this is supported by our Community Board Plan, Improve infrastructure to support community resilience. The Board understands that many of these isolated rural roads do not need to be sealed, however minor safety works would greatly improve their use e.g. culvert and road markers, safe pedestrian crossings within settlements bisected by State Highway or a main road, and guard barriers. The Board advocates that Te Pātaka o Rākaihautū Banks Peninsula rural roads are given a higher priority within the Council's minor safety works programme.

The Board continues to believe savings can be made on repairs & maintenance and capital programme works within Te Pātaka o Rākaihautū Banks Peninsula by using peninsula-based contractors. As a consequence the savings can be found as well as increased responsiveness times for immediate issues.

[Transport > Transport (Operations)], [Three Waters > Three Waters (Operations)], [Parks > Parks

The Board supports maintaining levels of service at the same levels as present in general. However, we would like to see the level of service increased in and around suburban villages such as Woolston,
New Brighton, and Queenspark. For example, rubbish removal, weeding, infrastructure maintenance (pothole repairs), back-flow valve maintenance, beach access boardwalks/tracks/infrastructure being 'lifted'.

2317 - Julia Palmer

Transport should be focused on sustainable transport through increasing accessibility and efficiency of public transport. Additionally, by increasing safety and number of cycle lanes to make them user friendly. Removing the car centric view of our city to also reduce the carbon foot by making services in the city difficult to be accessed by car would encourage this movement.

2350 - Jack Bisset

We need more focus on public transport, EV, e-bikes and active transport.

$1.6 billion on transport (24.9%) So many of the works we are seeing are creating massive issues for the emergency services and the bike lanes have become more of an obstacle and cause of traffic frustration that when we had cars and bikes sharing lanes.

[Transport > Roads (Capital)], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

Things were so much better when cyclists and drivers shared the road. Now, with the cycleways especially on Park Terrace, there is more traffic congestion and there are hardly ever any cyclists on the cycleway. Why are we spending so much money on what so few use? Also, the speed changes on roads with one road boasting THREE speed limits 30-40-50 actually makes things more difficult for drivers with some drivers tailgating others who they think are going so slow, leading to more overtaking and dangerous driving from those who flout the speed limits.

We avoid the city centre because of the slow speeds and expensive parking rates and lack of free parking.

Crime is on the rise in Christchurch along with driving accidents, so money spent towards reducing crime and improving driver behaviour on the roads would also be money well spent.

2358 - Carolyn Moffat

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?], [Transport > Roads (Capital)], [Three Waters > Three Waters (Operations)], [Spending > Capital Programme (General)], [Spending > Te Kaha],

No. We need to invest in roads, transport and water network. We need to invest in the basic infrastructure that keeps the city running. This includes repairs which still need to be completed after the earthquakes. I consider these to be essential items. However some things are simply extras, and we need to consider whether things need to be done immediately, for example a $13 million update to the roads around the new stadium, or the upgrades to Gloucester St. These are nice to have items and we can't afford them at the moment.

2362 - Rosalee Jenkin

The following Climate Emergency Response Fund (CERF) projects should be brought back as part of CCC's capital programme: - The upgrades of the Aldwins/Ensors/Ferry and Aldwins/Buckleys/Linwood intersections. These safety improvements must include the installation of safe speed platforms to slow people down as they enter an intersection so they can stop in time if they need to.

- The upgrading of six Bromley intersections with reduced road widths in certain sections, raised zebra crossings, traffic islands, pedestrian refuge islands, safe speed platforms, speed cushions, transitional roundabouts, and refreshing painted markings.

2383 - Kirsty Macnab

Trucks need to be moved of Norwich Quay in Lyttelton. This was agreed to in principal prior to the earthquakes and money was set aside for this purpose. After the earthquakes this money somehow disappeared

2385 - Ezra Mussa

[Rates > Other]

The Transport Activity Plan and Transport Asset Management Plan of the LTP admit that there is not enough money for road maintenance. This means that rates are not sufficiently high even to maintain the most basic of services that CCC offers, and not rising by enough in the LTP. Therefore, rates should be raised by even more than what is proposed in the current LTP.

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Creating a Climate Fund]

CCC must put in place a serious mitigation plan, including reducing car and truck traffic dramatically.

[Three Waters > Stormwater & Land Drainage (Capital)], [Other/Special Interest Topics > Creating a Climate Fund]

Because the climate crisis will massively increase the scale of flooding, the stormwater system must be bolstered with rain gardens across the whole city. Because the climate crisis will massively increase the scale of rain events, concrete surfacing on roads will cause more strain on the stormwater system because of the non-permeable surface. Therefore, CCC should immediately commit to resurfacing roads and replacing them with rain gardens.

2389 - Aurora Garner-Randolph

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Creating a Climate Fund]

CCC must put implement a serious mitigation plan, including reducing car and truck traffic.

2417 - Victor Vergara

It could be better. We use the car to go to the city center because the bus system is slow...

2418 - Hannah Harrison

We don't need more infrastructure for cars - we need infrastructure that will reduce our reliance on cars

2476 - Reuben Scott (Simeon Park Community Group)

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?]

Yes road and transport options if it is oriented towards climate resilient transport options is a good focus however we are not convinced this is your focus. We need to be ensuring our LTP is laser-focused on our commitment to 2045 zero emissions. Centering transport without specifying what type of transport gives too much room for abuse of power and not following through on our necessary commitments to the climate. If the LTP is specifically focused on buses and active methods of transport then we support that focus.

We need to facilitate broader kōrero around things such as light rail, innovative active transport and cheaper alternatives.

2507 - Bronte Barber

2545 - Antony Gough (Terrace Christchurch Ltd)

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Asset Sales]

The council has assets that it owns that could be sold off without affecting the city. The Lichfield Street car parking building is a good example. The Council has built this car parking building to replace one lost in the earthquakes. That is good but does it now need to own it? This asset could be sold off without affecting the car parking for the CBD and release significant funds for the council. It would need a caveat on this title to say it should remain as a car parking facility for a guaranteed period of time so that the car parking it provides would continue. It is not necessary to stipulate what the rental rate should be as market forces dictate this. Most off street car parking is provided by private enterprise and the market sets the rental that is charged.

Currently some areas in the CBD, Cashel Street for instance, which are cleaned on a Friday. However Friday night is a busy hospitality night so Cashel Street and its surrounds looks messy on Saturdays which is one of the busiest days in town. We ask for council to shift the cleaning of these streets from Friday to Saturday. No extra cleans but just shift the day it is done on.

2554 - Paul Schwalger

[Strategic Direction > Additional Savings & Efficiencies]

It seems like contractors don't know how to lay a road or footpath, or even paint a bicycle to show a cycle lane...the work that is done, doesn't seem to be enduring

2580 - Michael Neville

Consider that whether anyone likes it or not, the amount of motor vehicles in the city will actually increase as the population increases. Do more to cater for efficient traffic flow, rather than actually reduce it, which is what happens almost always with these

2586 - Leeann Watson (Business Canterbury)

Improving the levels of service for the transport environment is almost all centred on cycleways, public transport, or walking modes. While important, getting people to work efficiently is only part of the problem and solution, and service levels again highlight a lack of ambition for enabling sustainable economic growth.

Safe Transport Choices are a key priority in the Waihoru Spreydon-Cashmere-Heathcote Community Board Plan, so in order to achieve these the Board wishes to see the following: • The Board supports the continuation of the Support Safer Speed Plan – especially around schools and on the hills. • The Board also supports the continued funding of the Safety and Ancillary Projects programme, as it enables a degree of responsiveness to local transport safety issues and minor safety interventions as they arise, which in turn enables good local living. • The Board requests that funding for 65924 Minor Safety Improvements, is increased • Support of Transport Safety Projects across the Community Board area • Reinstatement of 60106 Disraeli, Harman and Selwyn St Intersection

Save on roading by consolidating all necessary jobs that require the digging up of the road that should reduce the costs considerably.

2748 - Kyla Jasperse

Safety should be a primary concern. In the Halswell area Cashmere Road by the Haswell Quarry is a death trap waiting to happen. No one does the posted speed limit, there are limited walking and cycling opportunities on Cashmere Road and no safe link between the quarry and the wet lands via Cashmere Road. It would be a good a cheap way to slow cars on this piece of Cashmere Road to install judder bars as no one does the speed limit and there is no enforcement either.

2796 - Annelies Pekelharing

[Transport > Cycleways (Operations)]

Transport. the city would be so much more appealing if criss crossed by cycle trails. Travel should be mainly by light rail and bus, and cars should be discouraged. We can also do a lot by car sharing and shuttle service

2799 - Dot Lovell-Smith

This area [Coder note: Hornby] is a gateway to Christchurch for many tourists using the routes from the South and West and there needs to be more multi lingual information displayed on roadsides and in parks detailing our city's expectation of individual people taking responsibility for rubbish disposal and recycling.

The "cross now" lights at the intersection of Main South Rd, Goulding and Chalmers Streets are too short. Turning right and left traffic often drives very close in front of or behind pedestrians crossing. It's scary!

A larger proportion of transport funding should be spent on designing roads for safety for all users.

2828 - Thomas Kulpe

2832 - Riley Neupauer (University of Canterbury Green Party)

[Spending > Capital Programme, Transport > Roads (capital), Transport > Operations]

- Since the Transport Asset Management Plan and Transport Activity Plan are clear that road resurfacing will be much more expensive going forward, CCC must reduce the cost of road resurfacing by reducing wear-and-tear on the roads, which it can only do by reducing car traffic and especially by reducing truck traffic. More sustainable forms of transportation are economically beneficial for residents and CCC, requiring less total expenditure and contributing drastically less to climate change

2845 - Erin Todd

More value can come from existing assets - for example, introducing congestion charging for cars in the CBD at peak traffic hours

2848 - Glen Koorey

Christchurch seems to be a bit of an exception in not having dedicated parking enforcement outside of normal working week daytime hours; it means that many people know they can park somewhere without charge or time restriction or inappropriately positioned and not get ticketed for it. What about a rule, like Finland, where buses can pull out into traffic up to 60km per hour without waiting? They need to be kept moving to encourage more people on, rather than the poor bus driver made to wait for a polite motorist.

3003 - Sonya Hodder (Spreydon Neighbourhood Network)

We support >>> the Slower Speeds programme and hope it will still go ahead in other areas.

We wonder if the Minor safety fund (#65924) could be increased to cover such things as new pedestrian crossings, especially if this fund could be used to alleviate increased traffic congestion areas envisaged when the Brougham Street Upgrade happens reducing entry and exits into and out of Spreydon.

This needs to be thought about alongside external factors as well. 2 examples. The people of Selwyn are using more and more of the roading infrastructure in Halswell etc but NZTA don't have onramps / offramps to the Southern Motorway to support increased levels of traffic in Halswell. Another example is the Ministry of Education doesn't want to build another high school in the Halswell / Prebbleton area, but the footpaths, cycleways and bus services don't support children getting to Hilmorton high school in a safe manner.

I think some of the climate driven initiatives are done because it's the right thing to do, not because it's the right thing to do right now. An example is the cycleway on Selwyn St, it makes the Southern Motorway far more congested. The motorway is fed by a large number of workers in the Wigram area in the industrial zone who all go via Parkhouse Rd because there is no bus service there nor onramps / offramps to the motorway on Awatea Rd. Congestion is increasing but the first step before changing light cycles on Selwyn to better suit the cycleway is to ensure the feeder locations have good public transport options and faster ways to clear from congested areas.

The following CERF projects should be included in the capital programme: >>> The upgrades of the Aldwins/Ensors/Ferry and Aldwins/Buckleys/Linwood intersections. These safety improvements must include the installation of safe speed platforms to slow people down as they enter an intersection so they can stop in time if they need to. The scheduled pedestrian improvements in 10 locations in Linwood to help tamariki travel to Whitau School. POW supports the training of School Cycle Skills but if there's not improvements to the streets around schools then it's a poor investment. POW members are active, and would like their children to be too, but children need safe networks to get to school. A good place to begin would be lowering speeds, increasing pedestrian crossings, and separated cycle lanes near schools. Set some ambitious targets here.

Level of Service statement	Measures of success (What our community can expect)	Proposed level of service for LTP 2024-34	My Comment
Transport - Access
Our networks and services support access for all, provide travel choices and contribute to a prosperous, liveable, and healthy city	Maintain the condition of footpaths (on a scale of 1-5, 1 is excellent condition and 5 is very poor condition) (DIA 4) (16.0.8)	2024-2027: ≥82% footpaths rated 1,2 or 3 2027-2034: ≥82% to ≥85% footpaths rated 1,2 or 3	This is too low. The condition of footpaths is critical for preventing falls – and to allow for people using wheelchair, push chairs and mobility scooters – especially in having cut-downs at the kerb.
Transport - Safety
Our networks and services protect the safety of all road users	Limit deaths and serious injury crashes per capita for cyclists and pedestrians (10.5.1)	≤ 12 crashes per 100,000 residents	Disagree. This should be ≤ 10 crashes per 100,000 residents We should be aiming to LOWER the number of crashes, not increase them. In the last 3 years the number of crashes per 100,000 has been 11, 10, 11
Transport -Environment
Our networks and services are environmentally sustainable and increasingly resilient	Our networks and services are environmentally sustainable and increasingly resilient	2024-2026: ≥37% of trips undertaken by non-car modes 2026/27: ≥38% of trips undertaken by non-car modes 2027-2034: ≥38% to ≥41% of trips undertaken by non-car modes	Disagree. This is not ambitious enough.
	Increase the infrastructure provision for active and public modes (10.5.42)	2024/25: ≥ 625 kilometres 2025/26: ≥ 635 kilometres 2026/27: ≥ 645 kilometres (2027-2034: ≥ 645 to ≥ 685 km	Disagree. This is not ambitious enough. It reflects the decisions to push out the MCR programme in recent Annual Plans and this LTP. 10km per year of cycleways and bus lanes is not adequate to encourage mode shift.

	Improve the perception (resident satisfaction) that Christchurch is a cycling friendly city (10.5.2)	2024-2027: ≥67% 2027-2024: ≥67% to ≥70%	Disagree: This is too low. A higher level of satisfaction can be achieved by completing the MCRs – AND if Councillors stop criticising the cycleways.
	More people are choosing to travel by cycling (10.5.3)	2024/25: ≥12,500 average daily cyclist detections 2025/26: ≥13,000 average daily cyclist detections 2026/27: ≥13,500 average daily cyclist detections 2027-2034: ≥13,500 to ≥19,000 average daily cyclist detections	I disagree with these targets. For people who elect to cycle instead of using other forms of transport, 500 each year is a failure for the city. The target for each year should be increased by 1000 a year – which is at a better level to encourage greater action by Council staff. This performance target has been reduced from previous AP/LTP. The reason given is in my view an inaccurate assumption that when the majority of the major cycleway projects will be complete by the Year 10 target, CCC would expect a levelling off of new cyclists. It is not only MCRs that attract people to cycling - there is so much more that can be done to improve safety for people who cycle.

3415 - Allan Taunt

There needs to be more investment in the following areas:

Increasing safety for active transport users (cycling, walking, travelling by e-scooter, wheelchair, mobility scooter, and similar).

With a major source of emissions from transport, this area needs urgent focus – we must continue to grow active and public transport. The delays of the past are no longer acceptable, we must deliver projects like cycleways, walkways, public transport facilities and safer speeds to encourage an increase in sustainable transport.

On the topic of road safety, we know everybody makes mistakes. No one intends to deliberately endanger anybody, however there can be poor judgement, a failure to have another look, a mechanical or environmental condition, etc. For this reason, the internationally established approach of Vision Zero is the best approach to reducing death and serious injuries on the roads. This means designing all aspects of a transport system to be safe (rather than just depending on a driver to be perfect). This includes the key areas of safe design and safe speeds. Even though central government has backed off Vision Zero, I strongly recommend the Council follow as much of this as possible.

Some of you may have seen some of these videos showing what happens on the roads. I ask that you please view these as it gives good insight as to why we need safe road design and safe speeds. Videos are about 40 seconds in length, with 20 seconds before and after the incident to give full context. There are still images at the end of the video. They are grouped by playlist to provide location.

I live in aranui the amount of speed bumps put in is excessive and as a rate payer seems totally unnecessary for most of them

3552 - Alice Neylon

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Engagement & Communications]

The 'value' should be determined by the ratepayers. We've seen many projects that seem to cost a lot but are not in the best interest of the ratepayers. In particular, the safety improvements to the intersections are done with no result reporting. I personally feel the intersection that was adjusted near my home is now more unsafe than ever before. The speed bumps make people more desperate to get across the intersection with less care. The money should have been spent on widening the intersection and allowing an additional lane for turning traffic. This is 1 small example of where the council goes ahead with their plans with no reflection on the results of previous trials.

3558 - Patrick Kennedy

Transport accounts for most of Christchurch's emissions - 54% or so. Why are we happy to plod along with maintenance of the status quo? Reducing pressure on our networks by making more efficient use of them should be paramount, especially in our dual cost of living and climate emergencies. The emissions from fossil-fuel vehicles (particularly diesel engines) are responsible for hundreds of excess deaths every year in Otautahi Christchurch. We have the second worst death rate per capita from pollution behind Invercargill. This is a huge stain on our so-called "Garden City" reputation. Reducing emissions and pollution from transport is vital! Transport safety also needs to be a large focus of our plan. Simply put, people should not be dying due to transport on city streets. Every death and serious injury is a policy failure. Safer streets are also infinitely more pleasant places to be. There is no downside to prioritising the safety of people on our transport networks.

[Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)],

Why aren't we leaning in on this? 10km of bike lanes and bus lanes per year is a pittance. We should be preparing to integrate with this plan by supercharging our public transport and active. It's not like we don't have the space. The best cities in the world are always easy to get around. If we want people to come here, we shouldn't force them into renting or buying a car just to participate in society.

There is far too much focus on roads, and not enough on cycle and pedestrian infrastructure. Transport emissions are Canterbury's largest emission source, making up 53.8% of total emissions. With climate change being the most important issue of our generation, we need a council willing to take leadership and make decisions that will help lower our cities carbon footprint, and that starts with our largest emission source.

It is my understanding that there is little to nothing for the area of Halswell, one of the fastest growing areas of our city. Yes, much of what is required will be covered by the land developers. However, there will be gaps in the Halswell transport infrastructure due to the increased development and the change in the way the people now reside on the land. Such as missing safe crossing zones for school children, missing links in footpaths, current roadways with increased use and traffic types that it was not built for. Consideration also needs to be given to the impact on the roadways from the developments in the Selwyn district that will impact the Halswell area. The further Prebbleton and Lincoln develop, in particular towards the Port Hills, there will be an increase of usage on roads such as Saby's Road and the supporting roadways.

We are pleased to see that the CCC has adopted a lower speed limit in the areas of Richmond North of North Avon Rd - following a majority support from the community and RRBA when consulted. Despite the procrastinations and mixed messages coming from Central Government, we urge Council to impose the speed limit over the entirety of Richmond through to the South, including slower speeds on Stanmore Rd through the shopping areas. Current restrictions north of North Avon Road have definitely resulted in residents feeling safer.

I would like the Rapid Response Footpath Crews program to be continued and have its funding increased. This is a really good programme to get small things fixed quickly.

I request the parking enforcement team be expanded and work longer hours. In other cities they operate 24/7. They should also accept reports from the public via photos sent to email or filling out an online form as the current system of calling a phone number is a hassle. Fines should also be increased so they are high enough to be a deterrent and to recover costs of enforcement.

We request increased and/or continued funding for the Rapid Response Footpath Crews program which was set up to target smaller footpath repairs to increase customer satisfaction and safety. We believe this program has been very successful and would like it to continue. We request the expansion and proper funding of the parking enforcement team. Currently it operates only short working hours so enforcement of parking can not be carried out at times when it is really needed. The enforcement team should also allow the public to report using alternative methods such as sending photos to a monitored email address. The current system of needing to call a phone number is slow, inefficient and not cost effective. The rationale for this is equity and accessibility for all. For some people it is not easy to “just go around” a car parked on the footpath such as those using a wheelchair or pushing a pram. We also request a review of fines as they have not been increased in years and may not be sufficiently high to act as a deterrent or to cover the cost of enforcement.

Congestion charging within the city also sounds like a good idea to me. People should be responsible for the impacts of their own driving on other Christchurchers, including other Christchurchers; if they want to fill our roads, they can pay the cost for using that public service.

Re transport, how many ratepayers are cyclists? Has this number been determined and if so - recreational or main means of transport? Does the council have access to Uber driver statistics as I think this is possibly now the preferred means of transport to using a private car or using public transport if people are prepared to spend money on this for the convenience ie a to b in the quickest journey time

3750 - Kathrin Affeld

This should be linked in with upgrades to underground infrastructure where these are needed and planned for to be more efficient, cost effective and avoid unnecessary disruptions. It's unfortunately not uncommon for roads to be dug up several times within a short period for different purposes.

3757 - Sonia Kennedy

It does feel a bit like money gets spent on aspects of transport/roading that perhaps aren't a great use of funds. For example, adding large speed bumps to intersections (the latest I have seen is Linwood Ave/Buckleys Rd) seems like additional cost to create something new in our transport system as opposed to repair something broken. With all costs rising, I'd be more in favour of minimising "new" updates and instead allocating budget to fixing anything that needs repair.

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)], [Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]

I would like to see more spent on improving active transport modes, and less for car-focused transport. We should be spending a greater proportion of the transport budget on active and public transport - things like cycle lanes, safer pedestrian crossings, city-wide bus priority measures. This will help reduce our car dependency, which is good for the climate, good for our health, and good for saving money! If we can spend more on public and active transport, then our existing streets will last longer and we can reduce the spend on road renewals. I am lucky enough to have one of the major cycle routes go past my house to places that I often want to go, and that has helped increase the number of times we take the bike and decrease the number of times we take the car. This is because we can travel safely, and frankly it is much more enjoyable! It is really important to me that everyone in the city has the same access to safe cycle options that I have. And, I would really like to see the connections to our major cycle ways prioritised to make it easier to get to more places.

[Spending > Capital Programme (General)]

I propose that the suggested balance should focus even more on core values of maintaining existing services.

Existing roads potholes/unevenness should be maintained properly first, and adjustments should be deferred such as traffic easing, new cycle ways, excessive road markings.

New projects should be reassessed if they maintain their cost benefit given the uncertainty of the NZ and global economy, and demographic shift to shrinking and aging population in Christchurch.

Transport and connections should be looked at from a holistic approach - not just piecemeal - how do the cycleways affect the flow of traffic, how do the bus transit lanes affect the cycleways, where do people park - these should be looked at as a big picture not individual transport options.

Related to this- we should not cave into government pressures to switch transport funding away from supporting alternative modes to roads and/or reducing funding for safe systems (traffic calming, speed reduction, pedestrian crossings). Maintaining or increasing safety and transport alternatives is an investment in our city's future sustainability, resilience and well being.

3851 - Angela Lowery

We live in Aidanfield and our children go to Oaklands School. We walk or bike to school every day, and have to cross Dunbars Road where traffic is going reasonably fast and there is NO pedestrian crossing unless you go right to the end of the road and cross at the BP station (Halswell Road end). Over half of the school zone area (300+ students) resides on the north side of Dunbars Road and every day we have to play chicken with the cars to get our children safely to school which is obviously very concerning as parents. The current situation discourages people from walking or biking and encourages more parents to drive their children to school. In the Plan it mentions "Perception that the road network is not safe – especially for pedestrians, cyclists and those with mobility impairments" and the plan is to "Continue to prioritise road safety programmes and services as key pillar of Transport Activity Plan." For us this is a big issue, and one that we feel strongly should be addressed before children are badly hurt on this road.

3856 - Portia Bishop

The following Climate Emergency Response Fund (CERF) projects need to be added back in as part of the council capital programme: The scheduled pedestrian improvements in 10 locations in Linwood to help children travel safely to Whitau School. Who decides on the core infrastructure and facilities? A new stadium in the city -which has closed many roads and limited access to residents in the East is not good enough-. Access to the hospital and services again difficult for residents in the East. Trying to access the Out patients facilities is not well signed and did not improve from the previous Diabetes Centre which had double yellow lines coming from St Asaph Street and technically one could not get access to. Your traffic flow and access into the city is bias. So yes your existing levels of service certainly impact on access to the city. The cost of roading closures into the city from Fitzgerald Ave must have huge budget impacts but no planning of impact on residents. Having a plan that gives all residents equal access regardless of residence address would be a start.

No, climate change is going to require more adaptation/mitigation and spending should start sooner (later start is stated in the Vol 2 page 6, 36 etc). Expectations of timing of impacts are presented in a way that pushes out need for change rather than giving lower impacts that will occur soon.

The current plan makes it difficult to track exactly how much is being allocated to climate change as the budget figures tend to include climate related spending in with other spending on relevant areas such as transport, waste water management, flood preparedness, and so on. Coastal retreat and active transport are the most transparent areas but active transport receives less funding than needed and delivers on safety and affordability for many ratepayers. Active transport spending is a cheaper way to manage and avoid impacts than building or roading upgrades to meet more challenging conditions such as hazard impacts from climate change. >>> Operational spending on transport is high, and the majority of this is still supporting car use, therefore this is problematic long term. >>>

3936 - Carley Dove-McFalls

Transport is Christchurch's highest emitting sector at 54% of gross emissions. (details here: <https://ccc.govt.nz/assets/Documents/Environment/Climate-Change/Christchurch-Greenhouse-Gas-Emissions-Inventory-Financial-Year-2023.pdf>).

Transport - Safety, Access and Environment Level of Service – Safety (p108). Pedestrian Infrastructure for Safety The Level of Service measures rely on measures of historical crashes for pedestrians. Whilst this is measurable, it won't necessarily assist in targeting of the missing pedestrian infrastructure to further improve crash rates given the somewhat random nature of crashes. A possible additional Level of Service could be added that supports Council planning for and delivering footpath infrastructure on roads with pedestrian and vehicle use and a higher risk of crashes through absence of infrastructure eg., "reduce roads in the urban environment with no pedestrian infrastructure".

3957 - Anne Scott (Spokes Canterbury)

Places where people cycle also need maintenance. This includes removing glass and debris, fixing surface problems, and ensuring that the lights trigger properly (including adding a manual trigger).

The cycleways are relatively new. Inevitably there are issues that were not considered in the initial design, or the popularity of the cycleway has already exceeded design expectations, particularly at intersections. There should be a minor works budget for cycleways to cover such contingencies.

We request more funding to be made available for small pedestrian/cyclist safety and accessibility improvements such as pedestrian refuges and kerb build outs in underserved areas. We support existing projects which include these types of improvements

- Adding more bike parking around the city. There is a lack of bike parking in the south west and most other areas outside the central city. There are also areas within the central city which need more bike parking.

We request the council to work further with ECan to align investment in public transport services and infrastructure. The following public transport related investments should be prioritised:

- o More bus signal priority at intersections to reduce delays for buses.

The following Climate Emergency Response Fund (Way Safer Streets) projects have been cut, and these need to be added back in:

- The upgrades of the Aldwins/Ensors/Ferry and Aldwins/Buckleys/Linwood intersections. These safety improvements must include the installation of safe speed platforms to slow drivers down as they enter an intersection so they can stop in time if they need to.
- The upgrading of six Bromley intersections with reduced road widths in certain sections, raised zebra crossings, traffic islands, pedestrian refuge islands, safe speed platforms, speed cushions, transitional roundabouts, and refreshing painted markings.

The Council should plan to fully fund these programmes as it is highly unlikely the current government will provide co-funding in the short term. The Council should also be proactive in designing and consulting on shovel-ready projects in anticipation of political change when the current government recognises the political and economic cost of not meeting our international obligations on emissions. It is much better to retain investment in New Zealand rather than buying billions of dollars of credits from other countries.

MAURICE WHITE NATIVE FOREST TRUST DRAFT LONG TERM PLAN SUBMISSION 2024/34 ITEM 61795

Heritage Parks Planned Hard Surface Renewals

Akaroa Heritage Park

I am making this submission on behalf of the Maurice White Native Forest Trust who hold the title to the Hinewai Reserve and who are responsible for the maintenance of both the Hinewai and the Purple Peak Curry Reserves. (The title to the Purple Peak Curry Reserve is vested in the New Zealand Native Forest Restoration Trust).

The carpark on Long Bay Road serves visitors to both the Heritage Park and those who wish to walk the track on Purple Peak Curry Reserve which also leads over to the Hinewai Reserve.

In recent years the number of people using the carpark has increased considerably.

As submitted by the Heritage Park Trust there are two problems that currently exist that (a) create a potential hazard for those using the carpark and (b) prevent the carpark being used to maximum advantage:

- i. The present alignment of the entrance and exit from the carpark make it difficult to exit the carpark safely. Particularly for those travelling uphill on Long Bay Road. The exit requires a turn on a corner where the vision is severely limited. This would be improved if the exit could be re-aligned.
- ii. (With the surface being unsealed and not clearly marked people tend to park in a haphazard manner which means that the space is not maximized and entry and exit are more difficult.

We would support the allocation of funds that is indicated in the Long Term Plan as a way in which the safety and convenience of people using the carpark would be improved. With the increasing number of people visiting the Heritage Park and walking the adjoining tracks this will also improve and increase the facilities offered to visitors to Akaroa. [Transport > Roads (Capital)], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Strategic Transport]

I think the percentage or vision of how to budget between vehicle transportation/public transportation vs cycleways for a very select few to use is incorrect. How Christchurch is so spread out, the growth of Christchurch is hugely to the out lying areas not central. CCC needs to focus on improving the quality of the roads, the flow of the roads PRIOR to spending huge amounts on cycleways that bring no income/major benefit to Christchurch. The design of roads/subdivisions is very poor which creates ongoing funding issues because the time wasn't spent back at planning stage, instead a very large bill occurs 10years down the track when local residents are complaining about (speed,traffic issues, car crashes) but no allowance or thought was put into this at planning stage even when residents brought it up.

[Transport > Roads (Capital)]

The level of investment in the existing infrastructure is already very poor. The roading quality is already at an all time low, to where residents are wanting to pass the cost of vehicle damage onto someone. Money is being wasted on intersection alterations with no benefit besides ticking what CCC stats think has changed (lowering the average speed limit through the intersection) but doesn't look at the larger picture that it's actually increased vehicle damage due to the speed hump being aggressive and more vehicles running orange/red lights due to lowering the speed limit due to it being a main through fare road.

47 - Jamie Billings

Also to get Cashmere moving, someone needs to look at Cashmere Road in its entirety and especially the two main bottlenecks - the Barrington Street roundabout and the Dyers Pass Road roundabout. Traffic crawls to a halt along Cashmere Road all along the base of the hills - this is a busy corridor and sorting out asap.

477 - Niki Davidson

[Parks > Biodiversity & Ecological Restoration]

I don't know where this fits but there needs to be a greater focus on weed control ie sycamores, wilding pines etc on roadsides and private property in Banks Peninsula. They are dominating many roadsides and preventing native species from growing. Natives will do a much better job of erosion control and biodiversity enhancement than the weed species. Money spent on trimming would be better spent on long term removal.

492 - Lyndon Telfer

Also please stop needless kerb build outs at intersections, trees down the middle of the road and replacing perfectly good pavers. Cities like Dublin and Paris don't replace pavers every 20 or 30 years like we do here. - The Aldwins Road/Ensors Road cycle link. Te Aratai College is a growing school, and cycling is becoming a more popular travel choice. We need to make it safer for students to bike to Te Aratai College, which is on a major local dual carriageway, with a 60kph speed limit.
- Pedestrian improvements in 10 Linwood locations to help children travel to Whitau School. This school is also on a significant local commuter route (Woodham Rd). It is essential that travelling to school is as safe as it can be.
- Upgrading six Bromley intersections. Not only will this make the streets safer in general, but the upgrades will also discourage boy racers, who are a real problem in this area. The people of Bromley have put up with more than their fair share of the city's problems in recent years – it's time to prioritise making their lives better.

761 - Carol Groves

If the gully's along the side of our highways were cleared on a regular basis you would find you do not have to fix the road as the water would not run across it and damage the road. Unfortunately there is going to be a sad accident until we change that. It is unsafe!

OPPORTUNITY:

There is a significant cost saving opportunity in roading by bringing traffic management back in-house and re-writing the rule book.

BACKGROUND:

In recent years, the level of traffic management has exploded without a similar level of safety improvement. The costs now associated with traffic management have similarly exploded so that it is now not uncommon that the cost of traffic management can exceed the cost of the actual road work.

HOW DID THIS HAPPEN?

The world is attempting to achieve zero risk with a growing zero risk mentality compounded by a blame mentality. Zero risk is impossible, but the cost of trying to achieve it is enormous. We must all strive to balance risk with benefit which will leave a small but finite level of risk. In particular, the CCC's attempt to minimise risk with roading have contracted traffic management to contractors. A serious mistake has been made by also contracting them to write the rule book. Of course, they will write the rule book to maximise their financial return, so now we have traffic management that costs an exorbitant amount of money without a similar safety improvement. In fact, safety may be declining due to driver frustration and resulting violence to road workers.

WHAT TO DO ABOUT IT?

1. Rewrite the rule book. You don't have to start from scratch. Use the knowledge from much bigger organisations from around the world such as this guideline from the UK. Guidelines could be adapted for NZ conditions, but try to avoid input from organisations that would benefit from special rules.

2. The rules should be confirmed after researching historical issues and assessing actual risk.
3. It would be beneficial for traffic management to be performed by a state-owned organisation such as the police. Funding could be exchanged.

EXAMPLE OF TRAFFIC MANAGEMENT COST TO SOCIETY

Sports that include road running or cycling are getting so expensive to hold with so much cost needing to be passed onto competitors, that these events are rapidly losing viability. There is negligible historical evidence for the need for extensive traffic management. The cost to society being that fewer people are attracted to these sports with the resulting reduction of both mental and physical health of the population as a whole. I.e. health and safety is being compromised rather than improved.

This is off topic, but again one of the goals of sustainable living is not to put chemicals on our land. I saw today a the citycare property contractor spraying excessively herbicide in the reserve next to the ocean in Sumner. The spraying of weeds in the road simple sends glysofate into the ocean, the weeds keep coming and needs a person with a spade to scrape the weeks off the road or foot path not a douse of herbicide. We do not want this chemical in our dogs noses and on our children's bare feet, and in the lungs of the growing number of cancer patients. Please stop and send a spade and a broom.

This question is puzzling. I believe that merely raising the rates to the specified percentages isn't sufficient. In the current Long Term Plan, the Council's water engineers indicate a lack of funding for climate adaptation measures. Meanwhile, transportation engineers emphasize rising costs for car-centric road projects. Additionally, most climate-related initiatives are being postponed for several years, leaving Christchurch vulnerable to potential floods akin to those experienced in Auckland.

Part of this safety needs to include consideration around good traffic flow and reduced congestion as this can create driver frustration which leads to poor decision making and ultimately accidents or at least dangerous behaviour. 18. Transport and urban design are important determinants of health and can impact people's everyday behaviours and experiences. Road safety, vehicle emissions and air quality, physical activity levels and accessibility are some of the many factors associated with transport and urban design that have a profound impact on population health and wellbeing¹².

19. Emissions reduction has both direct and indirect benefits for the environment and human health. Air pollutants from fossil fuel powered vehicle emissions contribute to adverse health outcomes, including premature death, respiratory disease, pneumonia, cardiovascular disease, miscarriage, and other disease outcomes.¹³ It is estimated that in Waitaha Canterbury air pollution from motor vehicles results in 387 premature deaths, 1237 hospitalisations and more than 47,000 restricted activity days each year at a social cost of more than $1.8 billion. In 2016, Christchurch City had the highest rate of premature deaths due to air pollution from motor vehicles of any region in Aotearoa New Zealand, and much higher than other districts in Waitaha Canterbury.¹⁴

Having today received your mail drop in the post, I would like to comment on the state of some of the roads in Halswell, in particular Sabys Road.

This is the road I have lived in for the last 40 years and have seen it grow from a very quiet country road to now one of a major arterial highway servicing Prebbleton, Lincoln and beyond . Also, for many users off the Akaroa Highway.

I now believe this road is no longer fit for purpose and can no longer be treated as a country road due to the following :-

The road surface chip is far too coarse, causing a very loud constant roar during the day and early morning. Also, the road has never been repaired properly since the big earthquakes when the manhole covers were pushed up. Council remediation was to build up a coffer around them, but this has never cured the problem and we are now having our house often still shake as one of the many, many heavy contractors' trucks thunder down the road. Around the Quaifes road intersection, smooth tarmac has been used as the road surface and the noise reduction in that area is huge. Surely the rest of the residential part of the road could be treated the same.

Safety on the road has become very topical lately and with a very obtrusive children crossing sign erected

Firstly, the traffic seems to take little heed of the speed signage let alone a children crossing sign which I am told is to denote an ally way 70 odd meters further up the road. This ally way is not distinguished in any way and many locals don't even know it is there.

Due to the burgeoning housing development in the country palms area and the many young families living in said housing, I believe the speed limit should be reduced to 40Kph (as in Longhurst), With a median crossing island outside the ally way.

Also so many, many cars are now parked on the roadside, speeding cars are not seen until they are far too close to pedestrians or even people trying to exit their driveway.

All these parked vehicles seem to enforce motorists also to allow a lot more clearance when passing and as there is no centerline marked on the road, traffic is forced to stop as oncoming traffic can be well over the centerline without realizing it!

All this hinders vision either way for a pedestrian wishing to cross the road!

Reduce waste. We have just had our street lighting worked on. The number of people doing the traffic management was incredible. They also did it badly. I could not see from my laneway when to start driving. Nor could a lot of other people as they had the stop signs far to far apart. The big trucks with the X were also a nuisance. I have observed similar ridiculous waste of money on traffic management on a regular basis. Please cut this nonsense to a logical level

Please pay attention to the traffic lights on the Intersaction Sparks Road and Halswell Road. Turning from Sparks Road to the right on Halswell Road is always a drama, as the intersection is out-of-line and it's impossible to see the cars going forward because of those standing in the line turning to the right from Halswell Junction Road. I reckon they may have the same issue. An arrow on the traffic lights could help a lot and will prevent the traffic jam on that intersection and of course car accidents.

The school safety on the roads should be a big priority, not only does it make it safer for kids but it keeps traffic flowing. Currently I drop my kid at Te Aratai as I don't feel safe with them biking on aldwins road. The bus service also isn't a direct link from heathcote so it's not suitable having long wait times in rain, and walking for 15min round the busy roads. When I drive down this road there are many cyclists from the high school. I end up driving slow behind them as there is no safe room to pass. It's a very busy street with many trucks with the construction site. It relies heavily on drivers being extra vigilant. I have seen a number of close calls with impatient drivers. I have started biking after 20years of not owning a bike. The cycle way to sumner makes it easier to bike rather than drive and a much more relaxing life style. I keep hearing how the 70s were so great with a laid back lifestyle, and yet it's the same generation pushing for more cars on the road. The emissions are increasing and the culture is to increase cars. Why are we not honoring the lifestyle of slowing down and enjoying life instead of rushing to the next best thing.

General Comments

458 submissions were received addressing roads (capital).

68 comments supported, and 152 comments opposed.

226 comments suggested what could be done differently, with opinions of submitters varying between those who wanted more investment on active and public transport and less on roads, and vice versa. A further 56 comments provided general feedback addressing roads (capital).

Officer Response

Support:

Strong support is noted for completing Pages Road Bridge Renewal, many submitters singled this out as a crucial project. Additional supporting works in New Brighton was a particular focus and improvements to various intersections including Greers/Langdons and Breens/Gardiners/Harewood. Submitters are pushing for a reduction in congestion, safer rural roads, and prioritising road repairs in the East and South-East areas like Bromley and Burwood/Mairehau. There's also a call for more funding towards fixing potholes, using alternative products to extend road life, implementing tolls, and making targeted improvements like the Inner Harbour Road for better freight movement.

Against:

Opposition exists against repeated works on the same roads and a heavy focus on roads at the expense of other forms of transportation. Submitters argue for a reduced emphasis on road spending, advocating instead for more sustainable transport options and amenities for pedestrians and cyclists. Concerns include the negative impacts of increased traffic from road expansions, inefficiencies in workmanship, high traffic management costs, and perceived excessive spending on minor safety features like speed bumps. There is also some frustration over what some see as unnecessary expenditures on kerb and channel projects and general maintenance.

Other:

In other suggestions, there is a suggestion for limiting maintenance contracts to two years, with a call for reviewing the street cleaning contracts to ensure better efficiency and cost management. Additionally, some advocate for a focus on environmental sustainability, suggesting leaving certain roads unsealed to mitigate climate change impacts, reflecting a broader desire to integrate environmental considerations into infrastructure planning.

Maintenance of roads

The proposed expenditure on roading improvements (renewals) is to catch up with the backlog of the damaged roads as a result of historic under investment. The investment increase proposed in the LTP is intended to elevate the condition of the roading network to increase end user comfort (e.g. smooth travel exposure > 75, roughness index < 118). This is consistent with the proposed levels of service in the LTP. Investment is to ensure our transport infrastructure supports increased economic growth and productivity opportunities, is maintained at a level to look after what we have and remains resilient and safe to all changing circumstances surrounding access and usage, and ensures a defendable improvement outcome that provides value for money through prudent and transparent decision making.

The 2024-34 LTP increased renewal budgets for roads aim to ensure that 5% of the network is resurfaced annually in appropriate treatment selection and frequencies. We aim to resurface 5% of the network in 2024-26 and increase to 5.5% of the network in the years following. This could result in the network being back to a condition rating that is comparable with other major metros in approximately ten years and reduce the high proportion of surfaces that are way beyond their original design lives. Alongside this pothole prevention strategy, we intend to invest heavily into restoring the structural strengths of the pavement layers supporting our roads. The decline in our smooth travel exposure and increase in our roughness indices indicate that reseal surface dressing alone cannot provide the city the outcomes we'd like to achieve. With technological advances in our condition assessment capabilities, we will have data in hand to better align our rehabilitation and street reconstruction programmes to priority requirements. High inflation and increased delivery costs have impacted on our ability to deliver our intended maintenance programmes to date. Improved budgets and co-investment funding (NZTA) will provide us the opportunity to improve the condition of our roading network.

The comparative spend across Councils Road Maintenance contract areas are for operations, maintenance and renewals shown below (July 2023 to present):

Southern area	Riccarton, Hornby, Halswell, Spreydon, Heathcote & Cashmere	$8,775,984
Northern area	Harewood, Papanui, Waimairi, Fendalton, Coastal, Burwood, Linwood, Innes	$11,512,388
Central area	Central	$5,686,412
Banks Peninsula	Banks Peninsula	$11,131,104

The below table is a projection of the anticipated budget allocated in each contract area for the coming seasons capital resurfacing works for 2024-25. Footpath programmes are still being finalised.

Contract Area	Resurfacing	Street Reconstruction	Rehabilitation
	$21,664,144	$4,720,000	$3,770,191
Central area	$4,164,144	$720,000	$200,000
Banks Peninsula	$4,000,000	$0	$570,191
Northern area	$7,000,000	$2,000,000	$1,500,000
Southern area	$6,500,000	$2,000,000	$1,500,000

The renewal and reconstruction programmes are driven by asset management strategy, age, performance, and condition and has a network wide focus. Council is actively monitoring the condition of the network, working toward improving the integrated planning of various activities, efficiency of delivery and to improve the overall quality and resilience of the roads.

General Maintenance

Issues are found on all types of assets. The Council's roading maintenance contracts have strict contract criteria to address problems on each type of asset when reported to the council in a strictly short timeframe. In most cases Council requires the issue to be raised by the residents through either the council's call centre or the app Snap Send Solve.

Asset Management

The focus is to provide the desired balance between asset performance, cost, and risk. To provide assurance of these outcomes, we collect and collate data, interrogate data, processes and outputs, we establish performance criteria to match of desired levels of service, we defined and risk manage our critical infrastructure, we set revenue and investment requirements to meet variable service delivery options, we condition and performance rate our assets to pro-actively address maintenance and renewal requirements, and we ensure improved whole-of-life value from our assets whilst meeting our community and corporate objectives. This strategy is captured in our Transport Asset Management Plan so that our ratepayers can openly interrogate our investment story and rationale, our activities and the cost associated, and how we best manage our risks going forward. The Activity Plan and the Asset Management Plan jointly form the business case to NZTA for the continuous programmes (MOR) bid.

Road Surface Treatments

Treatment selection of the road surfaces typically consider the environment the road is located in, safety and economic considerations and the volume of daily traffic. The unsealed roads in Banks Peninsula normally cater for a low volume of traffic which typically do not justify the investment to upgrade them to sealed roads. In contrast the roads in the central city cater for tens of thousands of traffic movements daily and as a larger number of residents benefit from the investment. Council actively monitors the traffic volumes on the entire network and applies surface treatment solutions appropriate to the volume and type of usage.

Repair methodologies range from pothole repair to strength rehabilitation of larger carriageway areas to full reconstruction, including full texturizing and surface smoothing. Typical surface treatments used are rejuvenation, chipseal, and asphalt, with new technologies being used to lengthen pavement life as has recently been applied in Cox Street and Church Street.

Resurfacing Delivery Targets

Resurfacing yearly budgets have been, and can be spent, on resurfacing roads. The previous issue has been that without better asset data we have had to use budgets on unplanned intense repairs, thus reducing the length of chipseal per annum that can be achieved. Resourcing is not the issue. The proposed draft LTP budget will allow us to get back up to the yearly targets for resurfacing works.

Accessibility

Council has adopted the One Network Framework (ONF) road classification which is implemented by Waka Kotahi at a national level. The ONF recognises the importance of place as well as movement for prioritising transport activities. Place function has a direct relationship with pedestrian access and accessibility which takes into account the importance of places like hospitals, schools, and commercial centres. The renewal and reconstruction programme uses the ONF classification as one its criteria for prioritisation of our transport improvement works.

One Pass Approach

To prevent occasions where new work has been completed by the transport team and then dug up by other utility service providers, Council has invested in the National Forward Works Viewer (FWV) programme, allowing every utility service provider the opportunity to populate their portal with the works proposed for the following year and beyond. This allows all participants to 'clash detect', the opportunity to investigate works committed by others for starting dates, nature, extent, and proximity of works, and contact person for further liaison. With this information in hand, joint communications, shared knowledge and services, deferred or accelerated works, or joint contractor engagements can be negotiated for cost efficiencies and more effective programmes. To ensure that this approach to reducing reworks or trenching through newly re-established transport assets, officers will drive greater liaison between all service providers to share their respective work programmes and regularly update the programmes in the FWV.

Climate Change

Completion of the Major Cycleway Network is expected to continue the trend of increased cycling volumes that has been evident since construction of the network began. This contributes positively towards emissions reduction and also with lowering the number of vehicles on the road assisting in managing congestion. Two projects from the active transport programme remain funded being Ferry Road, and Glandovey and Idris Roads. The strong feedback received about level of connectivity in the footpath network is addressed with the inclusion of a new programme for new footpaths. The first year will focus on developing a prioritised programme before implementation of works in year 2 and beyond.

Roads vs. Cycleways

There was strong support for road maintenance to be prioritised over cycleways and other modes, however there was equally strong support for alternative modes (walking, cycling, public transport) to be prioritised as climate change initiatives. The draft LTP has a strong focus on looking after the assets we currently have as a first priority. This means the completion of Major Cycleway Network will be delayed with the Otakaro-Avon route and Opawaho route funding being moved out for completion in later years, many cycleways connection projects no longer being funded, along with any future active transport projects unfunded.

Pages Road Bridge

The Pages Road Bridge Renewal project has been out for consulted on and is currently going through the Hearings Panel process, with a decision expected to be made by Council in the third quarter of 2024. Pages Road between Avon River and Anzac Drive will be upgraded including being lifted approximately 0.5m from existing ground surface, which will significantly reduce the incidence of flooding.

Te Kaha Streets

The streets surrounding Te Kaha that have been identified for an upgrade include Madras Street (Moorhouse to Latimer Square), Tuam Street (Madras Street to Fitzgerald), Lichfield Street (Manchester to Madras), Barbadoes Street (Hereford to Tuam) and Lichfield Street (Barbadoes to Fitzgerald). These streets have been identified as being a key pedestrian connections to Te Kaha.

The objective of the proposed upgrades is to ensure a positive and safe pedestrian experience for those accessing Te Kaha as well as ensuring the continued function and operation of the wider transport network for other users. The improvements will support the needs of the Central City, in line with the An Accessible City chapter of the Central City Recovery Plan.

The delivery timeframe ties in with the completion of upgrades to the water, waste and stormwater networks associated with the increased development of the east frame and the construction of Te Kaha. The aim is to deliver in the most cost-effective manner, prior to the opening of Te Kaha, and with minimal disruption to stakeholders. The agreed proposal for these streets includes upgrading footpaths, improving signalised intersections, and ensuring the area’s stormwater network and street level requirements align with Te Kaha’s designs.

The project has been tendered and Council will be updated on how the project is planned to progress.

2563 - Kim Money (North Beach Residents' Association)

NBRA supports the proposed investment in transport infrastructure, including roads, public transport, walkways, and cycleways. In particular, NBRA supports and seeks the retention of funding for the following projects:

- New Brighton – Marine Pde (Hawke to Bowhill) Street Renewal (CRAF) We support the funding, Please Note: As a local Residents Association we have not been included in any designs to date. This is very disappointing.

We would also like to note: This particular stretch of Marine Pde is very busy and parking is of a premium with the many beach users, citywide/local community events, rugby & sports clubs, Thomson Park users and freedom campers. Any change of road/footpath plans must retain the parking for all these users.

Also, as per our previous comments above regarding Marine Pde Kerb and Channel, that the stretch of road between Bowhill Rd to Beach Rd should have the same priority with regards to conditions of the road, health and safety, and the fact that it was on the CCC capital works programme in 2010. Please align these two pieces of work.

- Pages Road Bridge Renewal: Project ID: 27273. All funds brought forward to commence in 2024/2025. This is an earthquake repair that is long overdue and is the main entrance directly into New Brighton. New Brighton Rd at the roundabout needs to be reinstated to two way.
- New North-South Corridor Oram Ave (A3) Project ID 45165. The community over many years has been consulted on and therefore, anticipated and been promised that the Oram Ave road be extended. Why has this Oram Ave extension been changed to the word 'corridor'?

Due to the current interest in the area and developments proposed, underway and built, NBRA strongly supports the complete budget being brought forward so that the public realm improvements can align with these new developments. Now is the time for Council, in good faith, to further honour their commitment to the revitalisation of the New Brighton CBD so the current momentum may continue. This not only brings value to New Brighton but to North Beach, all surrounding communities in the Coastal Ward and the city as a whole.

- Brighton Mall Upgrade: (A4) Project ID 63360. NBRA request it be brought forward to 2024- 2025 to align with the Oram Ave extension which is a critical part of the New Brighton CBD revitalisation, as per the 2015 New Brighton Master Plan. With an aging population with reduced mobility, less should be spent on cycleways and/or less expensive and disruptive ways to have cycleways should be investigated. Federated Farmers thanks Christchurch City Council for considering our submission and welcome the opportunity of working with the CCC. We also acknowledge the considerable work carried out on our roading network following recent events. LPC is therefore supportive of projects such as 245 (Inner Harbour Road – Lyttelton to Diamond Harbour) which provide improved levels of service to freight. This project whilst is not now a key route for LPC with Sumner Road re-opening, does provide an alternative option and resilience for freight from the Port. We consider it important the level of service is continued should the route be required due to hazard events.

more money needs to spent on infrastructure in the eastern suburbs . roads especially.

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Strategic Transport], [Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure] [Transport > Footpaths & Street Scapes (Capital)]

○ Reduce funding for road renewals/resurfacing to more manageable levels and investigate ways to reduce their cost in the long term including roadway narrowing (footpath widening - which needs to happen anyway as footpaths are often overgrown (private property not trimming vegetation) and in general not being wide enough for mobility scooters and wheelie bins etc.) instead of just like-for-like renewals and use of new products to extend the life of existing surfacing such as the one shared by the Mayor recently that waterproofs the surface of old asphalt (provided this doesn't create issues in hot conditions - melting).

2835 - Emma Rodriguez Dos Santos

This area is a massive spend in the both capital and operational budgets. The priorities for someone like me on the east-side are the Page Road bridge replacement

2848 - Glen Koorey

Other transport projects will also greatly enhance the environment for walking and cycling and should not be held up, including the city-wide speed management programme, the Pages Rd bridge replacement, and Te Kaha surrounding streets.

2850 - Neil Cooper (Greater New Brighton Community Leadership Group)

We strongly support the allocation of spending in the transport area, and particularly in relation to proposed work in the greater New Brighton area.

See separate submission on the New Brighton Mall that accompanies this submission.

We support funding for the Pages Road Bridge upgrade as we believe it is important that this gateway to New Brighton enables easy access, is welcoming and encourages visitors. I live in the Northwood area and I know there is a junction at Breens Road/ Harewood/Gardiners which are badly in need of a traffic light. Daily cars travelling from Gardiners to Breens have to race across when traffic along Harewood clears. But sometimes there are blind spots and that to me is very dangerous. It will therefore be appreciated if council can look into this. Thanks.

3017 - Heather Venis

The lights are required at Breens Road intersection but leave the roundabout, our lovely trees and repair the road - not install a cycleway. >>> [Transport > Public Transport infrastructure (Capital)]

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban regeneration > Strategic Transport]

While I support the idea of sustainable transport solutions, such as cycleways, I am compelled to express my concerns regarding the current execution of these projects. As our city expands, the need for robust road infrastructure becomes more acute. Reducing double lanes to single lanes for the creation of larger cycle paths does not seem to align with the practical needs of a growing population. This approach often leads to increased congestion, higher fuel consumption, and a negative impact on daily commutes. Moreover, our public transport system does not compare favorably with those in other major developed cities, which limits practical alternatives to car use. The good intentions behind expanding cycleways seem to overlook the reality that not everyone is able to cycle, whether due to skill, health, or weather conditions, particularly during the colder months. I urge the Council to consider more cost-effective and practical solutions for cycleway projects that do not drastically alter existing road infrastructure. A more balanced approach could focus on enhancing our public transport system to make it a more viable option for everyone.

I would like to endorse the inclusion of the Pages Road bridge renewal, I believe this project should be prioritised for earlier commencement and completion. This is literally a lifeline for our Coastal communities and I cannot see a greater priority. I understand the current bridge is well below code and we all accept it will be a literal lifeline in the event of a natural disaster or mass evacuation. It also carries essential services (power/water/fibre) and provides a crucial link for the local police (Eastern sign of the river) and the Fire Service (Western side of the river). The Council should act fast to proceed with a bridge renewal to provide the safe access residents can reasonably expect.

1501 - Jason Middlemiss (Waimāero Fendalton-Waimairi-Harewood Community Board)

The Board wishes to express its concern that the Sawyers Arms/Greens/Northcote intersection improvement project has been removed from the LTP. This intersection is dysfunctional in its current state and improvements have been promised to the community for a number of years. It is the Board's view that this is an essential project and removing it from the LTP now will only result in it being reintroduced at an inflated cost sometime in the future. The Board also makes the point that this project is one component of a wider programme of work to improve the transport network in this area of the city, and was intended to support Sawyers Arms Road to accommodate more traffic when Harewood Road drops down to one lane. Removing this project risks undermining the expected benefits of the other investments Council is making on the network. The Board highlights that 14 transport projects within our Wards have been removed from the LTP, of those this is the one we are most concerned about retaining.

1646 - Dale McGregor

I have watched an 8 metre section of the kerb and channel being repaired in our street and it took 9 people to complete over two weeks. There is the biggest waste. 1691 - Jesse Newman

[Transport > Carparking], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Strategic Transport]

Not entirely, I feel that funding transport infrastructure that encourages greater car use rather than moving as many trips as possible to public transport, cycling, scooting, walking etc is short sighted and unsustainable (we cannot simply keep building more roads and parking buildings - it's expensive and exacerbates traffic issues).

The transport budget would be greatly reduced if council could implement programs to reduce the number of car journeys by 20% removing the need for a large number of capital-intensive projects thus saving money and making Chch a nicer place to live (it's already pretty great though!).

1884 - Sophie Robb

I feel we spend too much on roading unnecessarily, i think the departments need to work together and only rip up a road once, such as avonhead road, resealed then ripped up again for water the resealed then more works to alter crossings, so much time wasted and could of all been done at once if people talked or the system had a flag pop up on the street with planned works so each department knew and then could communicate and work together

I think the balance currently is not right. It needs to move further away from private vehicles and more towards public transport and cycling/ walking opportunities. There's been an excessive allocation of funds towards road maintenance ($591 million specifically for carriageway renewals). It's imperative we divert some of these resources towards enhancing cycle infrastructure, which demands significantly less upkeep, thereby alleviating the strain on our road maintenance budget. Furthermore, increased investment in climate mitigation is essential. Merely falling short of our current targets isn't acceptable. This necessitates greater financial commitment to bolster public and active transport initiatives. [Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?]

With its flat terrain, Christchurch could very realistically become a cycling heaven with enough investment. Road spending should be focused on safety, maintenance and traffic calming rather than expansion. Increase support and enforcement of businesses to install adequate bike parking.

The allocation of capital in the revised LTP reflects a concerning imbalance, particularly in the prioritisation of road maintenance over investing in sustainable infrastructure such as cycle paths or better pedestrian infrastructure. 2947 - Katia De Lu

2. Road maintenance costs are out of control. The Transport Asset Management Plan and Transport Activity Plan are clear that road resurfacing will be increasingly expensive. The more we spend on road maintenance, the less we have to spend on other, more beneficial projects. This locks our population into car dependency, which further increases the cost of road maintenance - all while worsening air quality, people's respiratory health, and the climate crisis as a result of greenhouse gas emissions from internal combustion vehicles. CCC must break this vicious cycle.

1. Please stop wasting money on roads. As I said earlier, far too much money is being wasted on roads for climate-change-causing cars. It is outrageous that carriageway renewals are getting more than 10 times the funding of footpath and cycleway renewals.

2953 - Quentin Kelly

Why does Durham St South go from a 2+ lane wide road into a single lane road which causes a mental amount of congestion all day? Same with Cranford St, Papanui road, Riccarton Road... I could name almost every thoroughfare. Why are there so many traffic lights? SO FREAKING MANY TRAFFIC LIGHTS! And the roads? Atrocious! Where has all the money gone for that? So many potholes and decay. The new north corridor is pretty rough in parts, bumpy and wavy tarmac, one would think the most important part was rushed. Fitzgerald ave is the same. I will send the council a bill for my suspension. My previous car I cracked an alloy wheel driving over a hole I couldnt see.

The transport corridors were 20 years late and it was short sighted to have only started them when they were. Get onto a functioning train system from Rolleston (or further south) and Pegasus (or further north), and put in a proper tram system throughout the city. Use the middle of the tram tracks as a cycle lane so traffic is not impeded. Get onto traffic management as whoever is doing this currently needs to be fired, along with the person responsible for road maintenance and repair. Work on repaying outstanding debt rather than adding more, its a dead end model and any struggling household will tell you that.

3004 - Philip Arndt

We should not be spending any more money on increasing capacity for private motor vehicles, but rather focus on alternatives such as cycle ways and pedestrian routes.

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?]

No, the funding allocation for transport will force more residents to be dependant on personal automobiles. As a young person who will never be able to drive due to disability it is more than disheartening to see that not even the biodiversity crisis is enough to finally create an accessible city. The improvements to Chch metro over the past few years have literally been life changing, I know not everyone can use the bus, but more of us can ride public transport than drive, it just takes incentive. I find it hard it to believe this will allow us to read the 2030 emissions goals and tempts the lower classes to dispose of their income on unsustainable cars and petrol/diesel.

3055 - Josephine Drysdall

Road funding should not be a priority unless it is to redesign roads to encourage cycling, walking, and public transport. We need to spend money on climate-friendly transport options that reduce fossil fuel dependency, not encourage more car use and increase wear and tear on roads. We must shift our focus to climate mitigation and align our thinking on things like roading with this. [Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

Under the current plan, too much money is going into roads that serve primarily cars—this needs to be diverted to footpaths, designated bus lanes, and cycleways.

3060 - Georg Ludwig

As mentioned before. Transport does not need more than essential maintenance and no new improvements.

307 - Rata Jamieson

Too much funds are going into renewing roads rather than cycleways and footpaths.

3103 - Philippa May

I see a lot of the changes to the city's roads, eg cycleways, roundabout "improvements" and impractical, often seeming quite random speed limit reductions.

3123 - Kate Markman

I'm not sure I agree with the value being spent on transport. On one hand we need to maintain the existing roads, but on the other we really need to move away from cars as the main source of transportation so I think the balance should change more towards supporting public transport and cycleways instead of cars

3128 - Chris Smith

The 67% of Capital spend going on Transport and Three Waters and the 47% on these areas in the Operational spend dwarfs every other category as shown on pages 26 and 27 in the Consultation Document. And yet areas with smaller proposed allocations of funding bear the brunt of cost cutting. I appreciate that roading and Three Waters are expensive but I think we should do some trimming there and not try to reduce or cut services in other areas to keep rates reasonable.

No, because: Reason 1: Because too much money is being spent on road maintenance which encourages car dependency and leads to a burn pit of money going towards road maintenance.

No, there are three reasons for this: 1. The cost of road maintenance is too high. We need to be working to reduce this over time by reducing the wear and tear on the roads. Our current model encourages car dependency and ever increasing traffic and congestion. The best way to reduce traffic is to encourage uptake of public and active transport; we should be building more cycleways (that require very little maintenance), and adding more bus lanes to make public transport quick and reliable.

Related to this there is too much focus on road maintenance in comparison while not as much focus on cycle infrastructure. - The cost of a well-invested cycle infrastructure produce numerous benefits related to health and the environment- furthermore, increasing active transport (alongside PT) means less traffic on the road and less wear-and-tear.

[Transport > Operations]

Wyon Hulbert Streets removal from the CRAF projects list. The Community Board decision for the removal of Wyon and Hulbert Streets from the CRAF project was made at the 8th April meeting and we were only advised of this on Friday 19th April with the recommendation that the Long Term Plan submission process is a way for us to advocate for this project funding. Regretfully I have not had the time to consider all of the other items in this process to be able to comment fully on them. It has already been acknowledged by the council that speeding in this area is an issue and the speed restrictions within our streets have been amended to reflect the close connections that we have to the 2 schools within our area. Our street Wyon Street is a residential street but is the only through road between Buckleys Road and Worcester Streets that is used by people accessing all the other roads between Linwood Ave and Woodham/Kerrs Roads. Regularly on a daily basis there are cars being driven down our street at excessive speeds. Our area is continually referred to by developers and real estate agents as 'city fringe' and we are seeing a major increase in developers building multi unit small apartments on very small sections. Over the years we have had patch up jobs to the road surface and many repairs to the pot holes that developed. The large old fashioned gutters are damaged and dangerous, the footpaths are damaged. The current road surface has not been finished and is according to various council reports in bad condition and on the list of the Top 20 roads needing major attention. The infrastructure of Christchurch east is deteriorating and these constant delays mean extra costs everytime the project is reconsidered. With the removal of this project from under the CRAF funding by the Community Boards recent decision we request that this project should now be in the Long Term Plan

3899 - Harrison McEvoy

No There has been too much priority in allocating capital to road maintenance. Rather than allocating such vast funds to generic carriageway renewals, CCC should be increasing the rate at which active transport and public transport is used within the city will have the knock-on effect of reducing wear on our roads, which will result in less repairs being needed and less capital being required.

Bike lines, increased bus lines and infrastructure, investment into passenger rail and other alternatives to cars are the only investments appropriate when it comes to transport. I think the proposed Draft Long Term Plan achieves a poor balance between the investment in roads and investment in other transport options. The Draft Long Term Plan seems balanced in other areas. However, the spending on Te Kaha seems disproportionate compared to the benefit.

Hard to really comment. I suspect there are areas where costs could be saved by a more coordinated approach to work, looking at some services that are not well used. For example the repeated opening of the same road surface for different projects sometimes weeks apart needs to be avoided.

1113 - Graeme Plank

[Transport (Operations)]; [Transport>Cycleways (Capital)]

Our roading network is a shambles with widespread temporary disruptive roadworks and permanent redesigns increasing congestion rather than reducing it. A prime example is Wings to Wheels which is strongly opposed by the local residents who will be most disadvantaged by its construction. Halving the volume of traffic, eliminating on street parking, putting in expansive cycleways for cyclists who are rarely seen on that road makes little sense. Those going to the airport to travel will have luggage and those who work there are likely to be in uniform or require work vehicles for tools etc so cycling will never be there preferred or suitable option. It is highly likely the environmental impact during construction of this expensive project will vastly outweigh any climate savings made from its subsequent use. Worse still, how are emergency service vehicles expected to negotiate this major arterial route when there is virtually nowhere for vehicles to pull over to let them pass? Save the money and make the roading surfaces better and safer for all users rather than for an elite few. Ease congestion rather than creating it.

Operational funding All contracts for roading projects ; maintenance and renewals should be for only 2 years and retendered to avoid const escalations; in addition; cut year 3 of maintenance contracts completely and do nothing for a year regarding reseals and all roading renewals. sweating the assets one year will not make any difference but = huge $ benefits. review, cut and slash all traffic control costs by a complete overhaul of all traffic control (should be nationwide) as this entire sector has been hijacked by traffic engineers and gone too far. Cutting back requirements will save millions with no reduction in safety.

procurement requires a complete review and changes would make massive differences as noted; contracts re-tendered to avoid cost escalations or just stopped in year 3 totally for a year (reseals and renewals) Review and cut traffic control levels across all contracts: requires bold governance decision making to push back on requirements that have gone too far without considering the costs and only focused on perceived safety

Priority needs to be given to lights on Gardeners road and Harewood. Every morning I see dozens of cars do a left turn on to Harewood road from Gardeners road, just to do a U turn so they can get across to Breens road, and there are sometimes that many cars that they block the lane nearest the centre of Harewood road to straight ahead traffic in that lane. The same thing happens at Woolridge road Harewood road corner, I live next to there and have filmed dozens of cars turning left into Harewood and doing a U turn, because they want to get across faster. There have also been 3 accidents there last month alone, where cars on Wooldridge turning right onto Harewood don't see a car coming straight (from their right) because a car will be turning left from Harewood (heading west) as their view of the straight ahead car is obstructed by the turning car. People also tend to go too fast onto the intersection. Could be solved easily with lights . Judder pads on Wooldridge would also stop cars turning left onto Harewood at speed.

I support more efficient transport and particularly improvements for the safety of pedestrians and cyclists. I would like to see the footpath and road improved on Port Hills Road between Bridle Path Road and the round-about where it joins Martindales Road. I reported this in a snap-solve-send some months back but didn't get any feedback. I don't see this section of road mentioned in the Long term plan for road renewal. Vegetation encroaches on the footpath which slopes and is broken in places. Cars parked on either side of the road make it a duck and dive road to drive down or up. The other day I went to drive from Bridle Path Road and make a left turn into Port Hills road. A car was on the wrong side of the road coming towards me. Yet I have observed sections of footpath being replaced where I did not think the footpath was not bad enough to need replacement eg Remuera Avenue, Lower Cashmere.

With the increased number of residents and construction vehicles using Kennedys Bush Rd, it is also becoming increasingly dangerous in places as cars park on corners where the road is narrow. I wonder if parking needs to be limited to one side of the road on some corners, especially as many cars drive at speed going down the hill. I think this is another example of where the current state of the road has not been maintained effectively as building and development has increased.

Pretty close, but I believe too much money is spent on roads and transport infrastructure - not so much "spent" as "wasted". The cost of just about all projects regularly balloon out from that budgeted, and if you did away with all the road cones, the road closures, the detours, the "stop/go" people, the attenuator trucks and miscellaneous worksite experts who stand around watching while one man actually digs the hole, and went back to basics, you'd save millions. Compare the cost of building a simple roundabout today, with what it would have cost 10 or 20 years ago. Maybe focus on road conditions, rather than all the speed humps, traffic calming measure, superfluous and conflicting speed signs every couple of metres (at $1000 a pop, according to the Mayor), and just fix the roads.

[Transport > Footpaths & Streetscapes (Capital)], [Three Waters > Stormwater & Land Drainage (Capital)]

Roads in and around Halswell in particular Miln Rd needs to be brought up to Urban standard. This road was rural and has now come into being urban with the massive growth of new subdivision and the heavy traffic associated with new builds. Missing footpaths and adequate drainage i.e. kerb and channelling.

1581 - Ann Kleiss

[Spending > Capital Programme (General)] , [Three Waters > Stormwater & Land Drainage (Capital)]

Concentrate on main infrastructure eg roads, sewers, drainage

1588 - Aly Maclean

Some of my road, Mairehau road, is still uneven from the Earth quakes and no budget to fix. Only where the subdivision is, however new rounded bumps at intersections costing thousands of dollars. Doesn't make any sense to me.

1604 - Claire Dwyer fix the roads we already have fix the roads we already have

1616 - David Thomson

Spend less on safety improvements for road infrastructure. The changes are over engineered and seem extremely expensive for what they deliver e.g the raised intersection on Lincoln road.

1662 - Lucian Nightingale

Also, I was chatting to a guy on my street and they said that the council had kerb and channel upgrades for Taylors Avenue on the plans like 20 years ago. He is probably not the most reliable place for information, but it would be nice to get the power lines put underground and kerb and channel done.

1663 - Sam Spekreijse

[Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]

Yes, though if public transport infrastructure investment (and operational level) is high enough, some road surface renewal might be best delayed.

Less for resurfacing marginal non-major roads. More public transit use funding should allow this to be delayed.

[Transport > Footpaths & Streetscapes (Capital)], [Three Waters > Three Waters (Operations)]

I do believe investment in roading / sidewalks, water and wastewater can be significantly reduced through better planning and coordination between these areas. Currently there is a significant amount of money wasted where the same streets are being ripped up and resurfaced on multiple occasions within short succession through efforts to improve each of these services individually - rather than improving all at once, and saving on time, cost and overall disruption.

[Three Waters > Three Waters (Operations)]

I also believe roading and three waters can be reduced through better planning and coordination.

As mentioned previously - better planning and coordination across roading and three waters to reduce rework and disruption.

No. Move money from Libraries and Road Maintenance program to climate adaptation works and funding the Arts Centre.

[Strategic Direction>Climate Change]; [Transport>Other]

Spending too much on fixing potholes, need to think ahead and get some larger improvement works underway, particularly around climate adaptation. Record levels of warming happening, get ready for sea level rise urgently.

1699 - Dominic McKeown

More could be done to reduce the rates increase for the city. within the transport area there is an item for carriageway renewals which should take into account any cycle lane additions rather than having as a separate item it makes sense while have crews there to get them to do the work. the cycle way renewals seem like a very small budget and should be part of carriageway renewals or allow for complete removal /redesign of existing routes that have failures still. [Transport - Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)], [Three Waters - Three Waters (Operations)]

Investing in roads and transport infrastructure, as well as protecting and upgrading water networks, are critical for the sustainable development and prosperity of the city. These projects not only enhance the quality of life for residents but also contribute to economic growth and resilience. Borrowing for such projects with long-term value can be prudent, especially when considering the intergenerational benefits they provide. Ensuring that debt repayments are spread fairly across generations is essential for equitable distribution of the costs associated with infrastructure investments. However, it's crucial to monitor the debt levels carefully to avoid overburdening future generations with excessive liabilities.

1764 - Chris Conwest

Continue to slow down cars in high population areas

1801 - Quinton Hurley

[Transport > Cycleways, Public Transport Infrastructure]

Priority lanes for buses and T3/4 lanes would be a good start in addition to cycleway separation i.e. putting simple painted cycleways between parking and footpaths as a cheap alternative (cyclists are less likely to be doored on the passenger side of cars).

1814 - Jenny Atkin

Don't invest in expensive infrastructure and concentrate in pedestrian safety and improving traffic flow. People continue to drive cars and we try to change people behavior, but it costs us dearly. We need to improve traffic route and not reduce them in favour of cycle ways which will cause even more traffic congestion.

1824 - Karen Banwell (Cass Bay Reserve Committee)

[Parks > Biodiversity & Ecological Restoration]

Banded kokopu can be found in the lower reaches of the stream within the residential area. The CBRC is willing to help Council improve fish passage within the whole catchment. Restoration of the whole catchment will slow the flow of water, improve fish abundance and diversity, and will also contribute to the future resilience of the area by slowing water from the expected heavier rainfall. This will also help to make the roading system more able to deal with heavy rain.

1825 - John Davies

Whilst the investigative work was being undertaken the road was reduced to one lane and traffic in peak times backed up in all directions (including the entire length of Highsted road between the two roundabouts - Bishopdale and Sawyers Arms Road. If you needed a failed proof of concept, there it is.

1828 - Robert Jelley

Is there anything else that you would like to tell us about the Draft Long Term Plan 2024-2034?

THE ENTRY ON TO THE SOUTHERN MOTORWAY IS REDICULOUS - WAIKA KOTAHU SHOULD HAVE SIMPLY PUT A TURN OFF HALSWELL JUNCTION ROAD, AROUND THE SOUTH EDGE OF THE SWALE, DIRECTLY ONTO THE MOTORWAY. ALSO PUT SIGNS ON THE MOTORWAY TO SHOW EXIT TO HALSWELL ~~A LARGE~~ WHEN DRIVERS ARE COMING FROM THE SOUTH.

1871 - Marlena Cooper

I see a lot of wastage with road repairs that aren't that necessary and being redone shortly after were done

1914 - Stefan Miller

Our inner city roads, are long past their expected life span, sometimes by decades! Full of pot holes, uneven surfaces. We need more investment in fixing our roads!

1952 - Xin Yi Wong

[Three Waters > Stormwater & Land Drainage (Capital)]

I can see there is proposed spending on 'transport' including repair to roads and footpaths, and 'water' including stormwater management, but can't see in the proposed LTP if there is any proposed and clear overlap to create efficiencies both in spending and time (and therefore spending) to achieve climate resilience - namely through integrating sustainable drainage as a key part of our streets and urban fabric, e.g. rain gardens, swales, etc. For example, any improvements to roads or new roads must incorporate sustainable urban drainage systems including rain gardens, swales, etc. Many existing roads are far wider than they need to be, with extensive areas of asphalt, have green verges that don't serve much purpose and require ongoing maintenance for little benefit. Planting, trees and sustainable drainage must be retrofit as part of any road improvements to: a) improve stormwater/surface water management, b) create a more pleasant street environment which would positively effect people's wellbeing and potentially encourage people to walk and cycle more, c) reduce the heat island effect and help to cool our neighbourhoods, d) provide more biodiversity opportunity, and e) contribute to increasing the tree canopy. Thinking of value for money, sustainable urban drainage would be a positive way to achieve "a green, liveable city" and be a clear way of the Council showing how they are addressing climate change and improving the city's climate resilience.

However, refer to Q1 where I query whether or not the Council could find some efficiencies through the use of sustainable drainage systems within our streets (particularly where works are proposed to upgrade streets anyway).

1995 - Joanne Kundan

Accelerate the roading - this is a disgrace - should have been fixed a long time ago

1996 - Iain Nicholls

Road resurfacing in the east and south east should be the priority.

2003 - Rachel Brownie

[Transport>Cycleways (Capital)]; [Transport>Transport (Operations)]

Roadworks are out of control. Cycleways are WAY out of control. Fix what's broken and stop spending on speed bumps at intersections, it increases emissions and causes traffic congestion, a huge waste of money. Spend it on adjusting the traffic lights, green arrows and the timing on some are shocking.

2057 - Alicia Moggre

Please prioritise active transport and public transport above private transport to have a higher share of the transport funding. If this requires roads to be deprioritised all the better.

2088 - Bob Valentine

Fix the roads, but do the under ground work first, not what was done on Albany St, chip seal 6 weeks ago but will soon be ripped up for the guttering to be fixed. Now that's a foopar.

2097 - Marie Haley

Rural banks peninsula roads need to be maintained. Accessibility to the city needs to be improved for rural residents that have to drive as no public transport is available.

2115 - Billie Kaine

Not entirely. Roads having been worked on and evidently completed are often dug up again, wastage.

2190 - Stacy Rendall

You should have a moratorium on road spending, with only safety projects allowed.

2207 - Ian Thomas (Athletics Canterbury Inc.)

Visible activity when roads are closed would help squash public opinion of distribution to their commute with no work happening.

2241 - Francesca Hayes

The focus of the next 10 years should be improving the quality of life of residents, including better roads and transport options to accommodate the increasing population.

2267 - Redacted Redacted

No - refer to my comments on the previous page. We should not be repairing roads, leave them shingled until we can afford to seal them is one example.

- Street renewals where surfaces have deteriorated most significantly, including Hay Street, Bower Avenue, Maces Road and Ruru Road between Maces Road and Dyers Roads.

- Funding to renew the North Linwood streets (formerly through the Healthy Streets Linwood Plan).

Next, I think that it would be good to prioritise spending on things that the MAJORITY of rates payers use like libraries and roads and waterways. Why are we spending so much on cycleways when there are so few who cycle through the town? Why don't we focus on getting the roads fixed once and for all so we don't have to deal with roadworks that never end? Why don't we get public transportation that works for all instead of buses that are spaced out an hour between trips and bypass the city centre?

[Transport > Transport (Operations)], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)],

$1.6 billion on transport (24.9%) So many of the works we are seeing are creating massive issues for the emergency services and the bike lanes have become more of an obstacle and cause of traffic frustration that when we had cars and bikes sharing lanes.

[Transport > Transport (Operations)], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)],

Things were so much better when cyclists and drivers shared the road. Now, with the cycleways especially on Park Terrace, there is more traffic congestion and there are hardly ever any cyclists on the cycleway. Why are we spending so much money on what so few use? Also, the speed changes on roads with one road boasting THREE speed limits 30-40-50 actually makes things more difficult for drivers with some drivers tailgating others who they think are going so slow, leading to more overtaking and dangerous driving from those who flout the speed limits.

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)], [Other/Special Interest Topics > Public Transport]

Concentrate on improving public transport and roads (if the same council contractors are giving us roads that constantly need to be repaired, maybe you should change your contractors!) rather than over-spending on cycleways that benefit a small percentage of the population.

2358 - Carolyn Moffat

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?], [Transport > Transport (Operations)], [Three Waters > Three Waters (Operations)], [Spending > Capital Programme (General)], [Spending > Te Kaha],

No. We need to invest in roads, transport and water network. We need to invest in the basic infrastructure that keeps the city running. This includes repairs which still need to be completed after the earthquakes. I consider these to be essential items. However some things are simply extras, and we need to consider whether things need to be done immediately, for example a $13 million update to the roads around the new stadium, or the upgrades to Gloucester St. These are nice to have items and we can't afford them at the moment.

[Grants & Funding > Arts Centre Funding], [Grants & Funding > Orana Park Funding]

We do need to decide what needs to be done, and what is nice to have. For example, we probably should support the Arts Centre and Orana Park in the immediate future, to give them time to source other funds, but perhaps the upgrades to Gloucester St, Harewood Rd, and the streets near the stadium could wait a bit longer. Here's a thought ... perhaps on game or concert days, the streets closer to the stadium could simply be closed off, the same way Park Tce is when there are big events in the park. That would surely save a bit of money until we can afford to do these streets.

2363 - Andrea Wong

Too much on roading.

2385 - Ezra Mussa

Since the Transport Asset Management Plan and Transport Activity Plan are clear that road resurfacing will be much more expensive going forward, CCC must reduce the cost of road resurfacing by reducing wear-and-tear on the roads, which it can only do by reducing car traffic and especially by reducing truck traffic.

-GARDINERS/BREENS/HAREWOOD road intersection is in dire need of traffic lights due to such high risk of accidents.-MAIN SOUTH ROAD ONTO RICcarton ROAD;- I Ask that council does NOT close the right turn from Main South Road onto Riccarton Road, this too is not conducive with the current flow of traffic and would cause major traffic disruption, congestion, and congestion onto NZTA road (Yaldhurst) of which NZTA asked that whatever council did, please do not congest their road. CONSIDER remediation first like light small bumpers as is planned for China town entry and exit roads, bigger signage, or at worst do a temporary closure to effectively measure the affects of doing so. (This was prior suggested but council said no).

2425 - Bronwyn Kircher

In response to Councillor Andrei Moore's letter requesting feedback on aspects of living in Halswell. 1. The lack of pedestrian and cyclist safe spaces alongside parts of Sparks Road and Sutherlands Road is a major safety issue for the many residents of the Halswell Downs, Glendore, Benrogan, Muirhill and Quarry Paddocks subdivisions. Acknowledge the construction of some footpaths is planned, but is contingent on developers doing the do. Prior to these many developments, Sutherlands Road was a rural road and probably fit for purpose, but with the areas urban development in the last decade (ish) it is now way behind being suitable and safe. Reducing the speed on Sutherlands would be an improvement, but this is nothing in comparison to footpath, their construction is a must for this community. 2. At the terminus/end of the Quarry Mans bike trail at the road crossing lights opposite the Halswell Zone Substation for cyclists continuing along Sparks Road (i.e. away from town, towards Sutherlands Road and beyond), there is minimal space at the road's edge here for cyclists and vehicles to safely share the road. Again this infrastructure is aged and not fit for purpose, and improvements needed. Not advocating the same for the opposite side of the road (i.e., city bound) as cyclists should be encouraged/directed to use Milns Road and connect with the Quarry Mans trail etc. 3. Te Kuru Wetland, thank you what a fabulous community asset this is and will become. Some benches around the reserve will be a real bonus for some of its many (and growing number of) users. Thank you and ka kite ano.

As too the roading, it feels like we have wasted a lot of money creating a shambles of a roading system in an effort to reduce cars in the roads to reduce carbon emissions, resulting in more congestion and more emissions. This will cost a fortune to correct.

NBRA is grateful for Christchurch City Council's interest to regenerate the Eastern side of Christchurch and appreciates the progress that has been made to date in New Brighton. We would like to see these efforts continued with momentum. This submission highlights the key local projects and funding in the LTP that NBRA supports and would like retained, but also proposes that some projects be brought forward, have more funding allocated to them, or be reinstated from previous AP/LTPs.

Marine Parade Kerb and Channel (Bowhill Rd to Beach Rd) Reinstate & prioritise)

In mid 2010 this piece of work got through to the stage of a CCC public notification, consultation and public submissions to be heard. However, due to the Sept 2010 Earthquake the planned Community Board meeting was cancelled. Twelve years on the deep dish gutters have further deteriorated and have become a safety issue. NBRA request that this project be given urgent prioritisation and budget allocated in 2024-2025 With the new local schools, Rawhiti Primary, Avonside Girls and Shirley Boys high school (approx. 3,000) pupils use this stretch of Marine Pde to access the beach for educational purposes - safety is a priority.

Bowhill Road Upgrade. (Include & prioritise)

This is the main road from QE11 Drive through to Marine Parade. We request the upgrade of this main thoroughfare be given high priority and be included in this year's LTP. There are many events held in the immediate area, Thomson Park, North Beach Surfing and Surf Life Saving clubs, local/city wide schools, Coast to Coast, Matariki Fireworks and the North Beach War Memorial Hall and Community Centre.

New Brighton Road Repair. (Increase and reinstate)

The AP and LTP should include the full repair and future proofing of New Brighton Road, from the reinstatement of the two way section from Hawke Street, to Cresswell Ave, including footpaths, gutters, kerbs, cycle lanes and islands to pre-earthquake standard.

2574 - Matthew Pont

Continue to invest in electrification. Continue to invest in cycle infrastructure. Ensure work and repairs have a long term focus and aren't going to be ripped up again in 12 months due to poor workmanship of bad design decisions [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

2665 - Kelly Donaldson

2669 - Lin Klenner (Better for Brighton Group)

- We are supportive of the Council's funding allocation for Brighton Mall Upgrade and New North South Corridor Oram Ave as this is integral to the success of New Brighton's regeneration.
- We support funding for the Pages Road Bridge upgrade as we believe it is important that this gateway to New Brighton enables easy access, is welcoming and encourages visitors. We are also supportive of increasing the funding for this project to ensure it can be delivered in a timely manner and as communicated with the community.

2673 - Ben lamond

Fix the damn roads! They are shocking and are only getting worse but you always seem to build those new cycle lanes which are great but have fix the road beside it, perfect example is Antigua street

>>>Fix the potholes and stop doing those cheap patch jobs that only last 3 months before it's back to what it was

2675 - Dianne MacCormick

Do not spend any more money on Lichfield Street West. Wait until you know the outcome from NZTA funding. Just provide the basic services to keep Christchurch running, now and in the future. Take transport and climate change into account for future plans.

2. Transport

Could there be savings made by increasing efficiency in carriageway renewals? All too often we see the same piece of road reopened and cut up for further works, and then sealed again. Is it possible for council to work across various departments to enable this process to become streamlined for utility upgrades?

2695 - Dave Gardner

Maybe could narrow the roads when they are getting upgraded, so there is less maintenance cost later.

roads are fine as they are. they are not meant to be race tracks.

2733 - Georgia Macaulay

2734 - Sharon McDonald

If Council maintains its roads and stormwaters properly we should have no real problems and surely the Council has insurances to cover its buildings etc.

2755 - Jane Demeter

A review of the street cleaning contracts is needed as any QA would quickly reveal the inadequacy of the current approach. On my street the contractor comes at 7am or 9pm when virtually every street parking space is occupied. It is time to clear the residential streets on designated days, even if this means halving the frequency of the service. Current contracts would seem to be a giant waste of money

2759 - Aishwarya Bagchi

I also believe that Christchurch roads should be designed in ways that are convenient for both cars and cyclists. This is because cars will become more environment-friendly in the future and road designs and parking charges should not be disincentivising car-users.

2781 - Sarah Hemmingsen

Have planners groundtruth where they are getting works done - saves areas between individual repairs being left for future work in 3-6 months time. The new pedestrian crossing on Waimairi road by the Unihalls is a great example of where an extra $\approx 6m^2$ of tar seal would have saved the need to redo the road in the near future:

[Spending > Capital Programme, Transport > Roads (capital), Transport > Operations]

- Since the Transport Asset Management Plan and Transport Activity Plan are clear that road resurfacing will be much more expensive going forward, CCC must reduce the cost of road resurfacing by reducing wear-and-tear on the roads, which it can only do by reducing car traffic and especially by reducing truck traffic. More sustainable forms of transportation are economically beneficial for residents and CCC, requiring less total expenditure and contributing drastically less to climate change

2837 - Deborah Harwood

Woodend by-pass thank you.

2852 - Aaron Ghattas

The underdevelopment of the city center is simply adding cost to the transport network. De-centralising is okay for big cities, but Chch is dispersed. Delict buildings, gravel, traffic jams & one-way streets in the middle of all the suburbs. Dear Central city property owners, Build, densify or sell. We also have very wide streets in North Linwood area, which encourage speeding. These streets are wider than our national highway. These streets need street tress to reduce speed, safer homes and have more permeable ground for drainage.

2855 - Kat Forrester

Increase efficiency with communication between services. On our road, the road has been ripped up several times in the past ten years to access water, sewerage and whatever other civil engineering needed. Think of all the money, humanpower and cost of inefficiency that could have been saved were those services to talk to each other and inform of when the road was being torn up ONCE, then all the access can be done together.

Other active and public transport policies and spending should be implemented. This includes restricting urban sprawl, reducing road funding, providing better public transport including increased support for a mass rapid transit corridor, and allocating funds to safer speeds projects. I also support the continuation of the safer speed plan, including a blanket reduction of in-city speeds to 30km/h. As the CCC has stated road resurfacing will be more expensive going forward, safer speeds and traffic reduction are the best ways to reduce wear and tear and save money for other climate-focused projects.

The two major beaches/foreshores, Sumner and New Brighton are not given the same equitable portion of the pie. It is fantastic to see the investment and progress Sumner/Redcliffs have enjoyed over recent years. This is excellent for our city, however we have the potential to do the same in the Greater New Brighton area. Council has not fully tapped into or celebrated what the Coastal Ward has to offer our city. It is the largest metropolitan beach and the maintenance and parks in the area need a much higher standard of care. We have the most city wide events with thousands of people from all over the country attending and visiting. We need to show more pride in the area and show that both beaches are valued and celebrated alike.

Our main suggesFon was a pedestrian island/refuge on Hoon Hay Road, between Sparks Road and Mathers Road. We are happy to see that since this report, it has been idenFfied as a safety measure that should be implemented once funding allows. We ask that the Council ensures there is funding for this to happen in the next few years. You will have read the stories of near misses in our community and this is really concerning. While we understand it bears a cost, the human cost of future accidents is worse for us all. There are a number of other suggesFons in the report. The report was sent onto the relevant Council team at the Fme for review but beyond agreeing with the need for a pedestrian island/refuge on the aforemenFoned stretch of road, we do not know the views on the other suggesFons. We understand many may not be possible when looked at by experts, but a significant number of the suggesFons are relaFvely easy and cheap measures to make the community safer.

Christchurch used to be a relaxing place to live particularly with easy commuting around. Lately this has been marred by numerous works everywhere without consideration for road users. For one these numerous works incur costs. Mostly navigating around is now a chore as road users are encountered with numerous road blocks and diversions. Many road works took a long time to do despite the heavy labour force present, some of which to me seem redundant! Worst a lot of areas are only half completed before the workers are moved to another site temporarily and returning at a later time. This in effect magnify the inconvenience to the public. In Singapore the Government are more conscious of inconveniencing the public. I know for a fact that they had set up a road openings committee which meet regularly to coordinate road openings among various departments. All are to submit their intended plan so that road openings at a certain location are done at the same time. Once opened that road section cannot open again for a year unless in an emergency!

This needs to be thought about alongside external factors as well. 2 examples. The people of Selwyn are using more and more of the roading infrastructure in Halswell etc but NZTA don't have onramps / offramps to the Southern Motorway to support increased levels of traffic in Halswell. Another example is the Ministry of Education doesn't want to build another high school in the Halswell / Prebbleton area, but the footpaths, cycleways and bus services don't support children getting to Hilmorton high school in a safe manner.

[Transport>Transport (Operations)]; [Transport>Cycleways (Capital)]; [Other/Special Interest Topics>Public Transport]; [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration>Strategic Transport]

I think some of the climate driven initiatives are done because it's the right thing to do, not because it's the right thing to do right now. An example is the cycleway on Selwyn St, it makes the Southern Motorway far more congested. The motorway is fed by a large number of workers in the Wigram area in the industrial zone who all go via Parkhouse Rd because there is no bus service there nor onramps / offramps to the motorway on Awatea Rd. Congestion is increasing but the first step before changing light cycles on Selwyn to better suit the cycleway is to ensure the feeder locations have good public transport options and faster ways to clear from congested areas.

STADIUM - Yes to the stadium except for the 13.4m additional cost regarding the Transport project around the stadium. This is NOT a priority to the NZTA and nor should it be to the council. The $13m should not be funded by Ratepayers. A cheaper option should be proposed without spending tens of thousands on consultancy and meeting. Other than the underground works and re seal road and paths, the non essential nice to haves should be stopped. 1) Forget permanent speed reduction around stadium 2) Forget pavement widening around stadium NEW CAPITAL PROJECTS need to be trimmed back considerably to exclude the Nice to haves with Capital Projects which have already commenced being completed. We need to stop spreading ourselves too thinly and overstretching the Ratepayers.

Coupled with the $63M cost of the Pages Rd Bridge and "area redevelopment," there appear to be two projects that have good potential to reduce scope for higher priority issues. These two projects [Corder note: Te Kaha Streets] do not appear to contribute much towards any of the KPIs called out for Transport; redirecting some of these two budgets towards basic carriageway and footpath maintenance to increase the annual reseal length would be a much more direct contribution to the KPIs and general resident satisfaction.

As to transport, see our earlier comment about not disincentivising car usage by making roads less car-friendly. For the same reasons, the focus of transport projects should be on improving road usability for cars rather than buses and cyclists.

[Coder note: Earlier comments for context 'The primary mode of transport for Christchurch residents is driving - not cycling or buses. Driving is more convenient for the ageing population. Driving is also better for businesses, as it is inconvenient for a person on a bus or a cycle to bring back as many bags of shopping compared to a person who is driving back. Additionally, environment-friendly cars will become increasingly prevalent, meaning that driving will cease to hurt the environment.']

18. We request that the Council investigates a more holistic approach to road renewals whereby for each year in the LTP selected streets are reviewed in an integrated manner and their renovation planned across all aspects: utility and purpose, issues, services, surface water treatment, safety, lighting, signage, landscaping, community integration.
 - 18.1. The actual renovation of such streets based on this integrated planning would be swifter, more thorough, longer lasting and through greater community involvement, would generate greater acceptance of any inconvenience.

No Too much money is being spent on road maintenance. Merely maintaining roads in their current state is not appropriate. This will further entrench car dependency, and will continue to keep maintenance costs high with very low returns. Any road maintenance projects should also consider the opportunities to make more efficient and impactful use of public space and to support our climate goals at the same time. For example, replacing low value inefficient uses of public space, such as on-street private motor vehicle storage, with more productive uses, such as dedicated public transport lanes, safe crossings, or increasing the urban canopy to reduce the impact of our asphalt oceans.

The upgrading of six Bromley intersections with reduced road widths in certain sections, raised zebra crossings, traffic islands, pedestrian refuge islands, safe speed platforms, speed cushions, transitional roundabouts, and refreshing painted markings.

3586 - Rachel Geddis

I don't think many chch residents could argue with this, but again, it's the execution of this, like roading, and the cost that needs to be addressed. Why does it take 3 months to put a roundabout at the bottom of Dyers Pass Road. This should not take 3 months. And this is where spending should be addressed, improving the speed and execution of deliverables to avoid blowouts.

It is my understanding that there is little to nothing for the area of Halswell, one of the fastest growing areas of our city. Yes, much of what is required will be covered by the land developers. However, there will be gaps in the Halswell transport infrastructure due to the increased development and the change in the way the people now reside on the land. Such as missing safe crossing zones for school children, missing links in footpaths, current roadways with increased use and traffic types that it was not built for. Consideration also needs to be given to the impact on the roadways from the developments in the Selwyn district that will impact the Halswell area. The further Prebbleton and Lincoln develop, in particular towards the Port Hills, there will be an increase of usage on roads such as Saby's Road and the supporting roadways.

3615 - Janine Clarke

It maybe cheaper (but not necessarily popular) to build a bridge between Lyttelton and Diamond Harbour? Long term road maintenance out here is always going to be an issue, with logging trucks and the likelihood of landslips blocking the road - a second way out would always be useful.

3619 - David Fuffy (Richmond Residents' and Business Association)

Following the 2011/12 earthquakes, a number of consultations and meetings were held to address the repairs needed to bring the roads in North Richmond back to a serviceable state. In 2018, in collaboration with the City Council Road transport team, a programme was compiled which systematically addressed the roading repairs needed according to need. This programme has continued through to 2024 and, of the 16 streets involved in the block bounded by North Avon Road, North Parade, Shirley Road and Hills Road, 5 have had a complete renewal, 4 have had a partial renewal and 1 partial renewal is planned for 2025. Of the other streets, 2 have received significant road surface renewal. At the time of writing, 5 further street needs have not been addressed other than to have some minor intersection upgrades. In 2022 we were informed that a number of projects would be funded from the C.R.A.F. but a number of factors have influenced the decision to defer most of this work because there are insufficient funds to complete the projects. We have also learned that there are no future road work projects of any significance planned for the Richmond area beyond the proposed renewal in a block of Slater Street beyond 2024.

We consider a number of factors that make the continuation of the programme started in 2018 imperative:

- Some of the unaddressed work was highlighted as high need in Council reports dating back to 2020.
- The streets where gradual decline of road surface, footpath surface, kerb structure, etc is accelerating and creating health and safety issues.
- An L.T.P. should look towards the future and therefore one has to question what these currently deteriorating streetscapes will look like in 2028 or further ahead in 2034.
- The roads/streets in question are all now approaching 100 years of existence and have had minimal maintenance in the last three/four decades.

We understand that road construction costs have risen considerably (up to 40% since Covid) and we recognise that Richmond is only one part of Christchurch and that there will be areas with similar needs. However, we would like to point out that a “Long Term Plan” should not just be about money and current situations but should also include a recognition of long term needs in relation to items such as efficient traffic planning and its associated infrastructure. To that end, we would argue that the continuation of our Richmond traffic/roading network repair/upgrade programme is necessary to meet the needs of the future and to reduce unnecessary (waste) spending on prolonged periods of maintenance.

We would like to continue the collaborative relationship regarding roading renewal that has been successfully achieved between the CCC Roading team, Local Innes/Papanui Community board members and the R.R.B.A. We have comprehensive timetables, maps and regular contact with all departments and updates from the contractors doing the work. This is a very functional process and engaging for all involved.

3622 - Jono de Wit

Reduce funding for road renewals/resurfacing as the numbers proposed are way too high. Change wide residential roads to be narrower so they will be cheaper to maintain in future and provide more space for footpaths and trees. Transport makes up 54% of Christchurch's gross emissions (cars constitute 22%, whilst utes and vans make up 10%). There is not enough of a focus on reducing these figures. We suggest that the Council consider: * Reduce funding for road renewals/resurfacing to more manageable levels and investigate ways to reduce their cost in the long term including roadway narrowing (footpath widening) instead of just like-for-like renewals and use of new products to extend the life of existing surfacing such as the one shared by the Mayor recently that waterproofs the surface of old asphalt. There were 462 premature deaths attributed to human-made air pollution in Christchurch in 2016. The majority of this air pollution is caused by exhaust fumes by fossil fuel vehicles. The aforementioned solutions could help in mitigating this issue.

There does not seem to be much concentration on efforts to reduce this total.

I think the percentage or vision of how to budget between vehicle transportation/public transportation vs cycleways for a very select few to use is incorrect. How Christchurch is so spread out, the growth of Christchurch is hugely to the out lying areas not central. CCC needs to focus on improving the quality of the roads, the flow of the roads PRIOR to spending huge amounts on cycleways that bring no income/major benefit to Christchurch. The design of roads/subdivisions is very poor which creates ongoing funding issues because the time wasn't spent back at planning stage, instead a very large bill occurs 10years down the track when local residents are complaining about (speed,traffic issues, car crashes) but no allowance or thought was put into this at planning stage even when residents brought it up.

[Transport > Transport (Operations)]

The level of investment in the existing infrastructure is already very poor. The roading quality is already at an all time low, to where residents are wanting to pass the cost of vehicle damage onto someone. Money is being wasted on intersection alterations with no benefit besides ticcing what CCC stats think has changed (lowering the average speed limit through the intersection) but doesn't look at the larger picture that it's actually increased vehicle damage due to the speed hump being aggressive and more vehicles running orange/red lights due to lowering the speed limit due to it being a main through fare road.

499 - Michael Sumpter

Focus on basic renewals - function over appearance. A standard road, straight kerbs, limited features is cost effective.

570 - Greg Partridge

Roading: The Council's focus appears to be on upgrading already perfectly functional roads, despite that unnecessary expense coming at a very high cost to ratepayers, for example Gloucester and High Streets in the central city. Meanwhile, many other roads across Christchurch remain badly damaged and poorly "repaired" post-earthquake, are uneven, or poorly maintained by the CCC. London Street, Richmond, exemplifies this issue in my immediate neighbourhood with its poor condition causing ground vibrations that shake nearby houses as vehicles bounce over it's very uneven and bumpy road surface. The uneven surface of the road continues in the mid-section of London Street where it bends on its way towards Stanmore Road, with a landscape resembling a patchwork of poorly repaired potholes that continue to deteriorate and crumble. Rather than pouring millions of dollars into unnecessary upgrades on already perfectly serviceable roads, and spending the roading budget on central city vanity roading projects, the Council should prioritize repairing and resurfacing streets like ours (and others like ours), ensuring better use of the roading budget and addressing the concerns of ratepayers whose homes are being damaged by poorly maintained and poorly repaired roads.

The Council's focus seems to be on upgrading already functional roads, despite the unnecessary expense that burdens ratepayers, as seen with Gloucester and High Streets in the central city. Meanwhile, numerous other roads in Christchurch are poorly repaired post-earthquake, uneven, or inadequately maintained by the CCC. For instance, London Street in Richmond showcases these issues, with its poor condition causing ground vibrations that affect nearby houses due to its uneven and bumpy surface. The mid-section of London Street also suffers from poorly patched potholes that continue to deteriorate. Instead of investing millions in unnecessary upgrades to already functional roads and vanity projects in the central city, the Council should prioritize repairing and resurfacing streets like ours, ensuring better use of the roading budget and addressing ratepayers' concerns about poorly maintained roads.

I specifically want you to do everything possible to bring the Pages Rd bridge renewal forward. While it is in the plan, with work to begin in 24/25, the highest spend is not until 2029 – which means won't be complete until 2030. This is a full 19 years after it was damaged. The people of New Brighton, and people visiting New Brighton, have waited more than long enough already. This lifeline route should have been completed already – spending must be brought forward so it is completed sooner.

662 - Cameron Taylor

You're wasting money on contractors that go over the same road 3 or 4 times and each time they make the roads worse.

6900 - Geraldine Jellyman

Comments: If the $1.6 billion on transport is just for more roads then that needs reducing. It's only congestion that will get people out of cars and onto buses = better.

How the transport spend is allocated is not right. Fixing roads must come ahead of cycleways.

o Wainui doesn't have many of the services/infrastructure of a city, but we do expect the same standard as the city in the essential services we have such as safe drinking-water, well-maintained and safe rural roads, well-maintained and safe public facilities (eg, public toilets, wharf, boat slipway and breakwater, tennis courts), used by visitors (many from metropolitan Christchurch) and ourselves. We could not find mention in any of the detailed capital expenditure documents about the Wainui slipway and breakwater repairs, nor the necessary drinking water treatment improvements to make the supply compliant with protozoa requirements, nor the new public toilet block on Stanbury Reserve.

761 - Carol Groves

[Three Waters > Water Supply (Capital)], [Parks > Public Convenience], [Parks > Wharves & Jetties]

In Wainui we want safe drinking-water, well-maintained and safe rural roads, well-maintained and safe public facilities: public toilets, wharf, boat slipway and breakwater, tennis courts. Public toilets in Wainui are a health hazard and disgrace. The changing sheds are dangerous and need to be removed.

795 - Gary Phillips

We need to have better roads, but we need better quality workmanship that lasts. Hold the roadbuilders accountable so we the taxpayers don't have to keep on paying for this work.

822 - Gavin Scott-Petersen

My primary concern lies in the current approach to managing and executing transport infrastructure projects, particularly the practice of segmenting projects related to road and associated infrastructure improvements. The recurring issue of having the same roads and areas subjected to multiple, separate rounds of construction and upgrades—first for one purpose, and then shortly after for another—significantly disrupts daily life and represents an inefficient use of resources and ratepayers' money. This approach not only increases the overall project timelines and costs but also exacerbates inconvenience for residents and local businesses due to prolonged periods of construction and road closures.

A more strategic and integrated approach to planning and executing these projects is urgently needed. By adopting a holistic view that encompasses all necessary upgrades—be it road surfaces, underground services, or water infrastructure—under a single, comprehensive project, the council can achieve several key benefits. These include reduced overall costs through economies of scale, minimized disruption to the public, and a more efficient use of public funds.

I strongly recommend that the council considers consolidating related transport infrastructure projects, planning them in tandem to ensure that all necessary work is completed in a single, coordinated effort. This could involve more detailed upfront planning and coordination among different council departments and service providers but will ultimately lead to more cost-effective and less disruptive outcomes.

In summary, adopting a more integrated approach to transport infrastructure projects can significantly enhance the efficiency and effectiveness of the capital spend in this area. It demonstrates prudent financial management and respect for the impact such projects have on the lives of ratepayers, aligning with the broader goals of sustainable and responsible city development.

902 - Karen McElhinney

Perhaps some co-ordination between infrastructure providers before consents are granted would help reduce costs. Eg, if the road is going to be repaired, check that the telecommunication companies are not going to come along shortly after and dig up the road again. Try and do both jobs in one hit.

The Pages Road bridge is a priority, it is a critical lifeline to our community

2586 - Leeann Watson (Business Canterbury)

Similar to the Infrastructure Strategy, there is a significant focus on renewals rather than new investments. If the Council's view is that significant government funding support is required for that, then there are very limited roading projects committed to by the city over the next 10 years when reading this draft LTP in conjunction with the draft Government Policy Statement on Land Transport.

2640 - Wayne Hawker (New Brighton Museum)

We at The New Brighton Museum have a serious concern at what appears to be a serious lack of concern by council staff, councilors and central govt into the current status of the Pages Rd bridge that is the lifeline leading in and out of The seaside suburb of New Brighton. We do not believe the current access to or from and the bridge it's self meet the appropriate NATIONAL STANDARDS required for a bridge of this size and vehicle usage. It is very easy for users of the bridge to see in it's current state it is a clear health and safety issue and is at times dangerous to the users of all roads that channel traffic onto and over the bridge. In a situation of another major natural disaster such as an earthquake or Tsunami it could completely collapse and or fail to provide a safe and easy exit from New Brighton putting at risk the lives of many and especially our most vulnerable with no easy way of getting to a safer environment outside New Brighton. The issues/problems surrounding this bridge caused by the 2010/2011 earthquakes have been ignored by both local and central govt form more than 12yrs to date and this needs to be rectified sooner rather than later to avoid potential loss of life. It is not a situation of if this bridge will fail but more of when it does and the more it is used in it's current state the higher the likely hood is of that happening. There is a lot of talk of new development coming to New Brighton including many more residential development and while this is good for New Brighton it does come with the fact it brings more traffic using an already seriously damaged bridge and this puts further strain and pressures on the bridge further reducing the lifespan of this bridge in it's current state. The council also wish to look at improving the satisfaction of residents in regards many issues facing the council , so then to do that the answer is simple replace the bridge with a more modern , safe fit for purpose bridge that will provide for the needs and service of the community of New Brighton for the next 100 yrs and beyond failure to do this is a failure of listening to the residents, businesses and visitors that choose to visit New Brighton and in no way should be contemplated to be delayed any further.

I think the capital costs of upgrading and repairing roads & pipes etc is understated. The ongoing work from rebuilding pipes networks also damages road & some areas where this has been done the roads are left in a shocking state. 3131 - Johannes (Hans) Van Oyen

Recent studies have shown that Christchurch is the worst major centre in NZ for getting from A to B (longest journey time per Km) and it's getting worse, fast - much worse! It's almost as if CCC is deliberately choking the city with impractical and costly "safety" engineering and speed zones. This threatens the city's economic viability and raises the cost of everything (labour, fuel etc) not to mention the resulting stress and effects on wellbeing of it's people. You can see this every day, everywhere just by driving around. All too often you see large tailbacks of traffic waiting for (dumb) red lights where there are no cyclists or traffic crossing. I don't see any initiatives that would alleviate this in the LTP, if anything many of the initiatives mentioned will only make things even worse. Surely in this modern age there is AI technology available that would improve traffic efficiency. I would like to see more effort (and money) going into improving traffic flows around our city. Things such as more efficient traffic light cycle timing, better traffic camera monitoring, more timely removal of road safety restrictions after works are completed, more night works,

338 - Jennifer Riley

I agree that our footpaths and road ways need significant work.

Transport options need to be reviewed - roads at the moment are in need of upgrading, but we should not move away from what alternatives may look like to reduce road usage and therefore reduce the frequency for maintenance. Current road upgrades and repairs barely last a season (i.e. carried out in Summer and need repair again in Spring).

3745 - Victoria Rathgen

How many times do you need to do maintenance on Brougham Rd and similar Rds, whilst other places suffer.

Road maintenance can be done more efficiently, rather than repeat same roads all the time look at other roads.... Finish existing projects before new big projects, seems like a lot of money going out with literally nothing coming in.

3811 - Greg Canton

[Transport > Footpaths & Streetscapes (Capital)]

I am also questioning decision making in regards to what the money is spent on. Like everyone else we have to ensure that value for money is here. We live in St Albans. How many times has the section of Innes road east of Cranford been ripped up and replaced, footpaths that have already been replaced being done again.

3852 - Chris Coey

The roads for an example need a lot of work to bring them up to standard rather than building cycle ways that a small section of the community use.

416 - Mike Cleaver (Canterbury)

The default design of our roads should revolve more around people, and less about cars.

Talk of a green livable city sounds to me like fewer cars, more bikes and walking, which means safer roads for more people which is exactly what I'm hoping for. Currently Mairehau road is being rebuilt as part of the prestons housing build (i understand) and I feel like the standard for new roads that include cycling could be much more people focused. wider footpaths dedicated and protected cycling, and for that to keep going at the end of the road. Burwood road from Mairehau south to route74 (QE2) is incredibly wide, all properties have off street parking and there is still space for probably 3 large vehicles side by side! I would expect this to be changed into wider footpaths (so mobility scooter users could pass side by side without mounting the berm) Protected cycleways, some parking which would be clearly marked, and then the road would be narrower to suit the 50kmh speed limit, currently it is wide enough to be driven at 100km I am fairly sure. I think the council will find that road design dictates the speeds driven, not the signage. Roads could be designed in such a way that promotes people usage, makes them more beautiful (trees are great cover from sun) and doesn't impact driving (cars should be doing 50 anyway and all properties have off street parking, no one needs the street parking apart from a few, so could share the fewer car parks that can be built in) This is one example, perhaps extreme, but it should be clear that the councils standard isn't good enough for residential streets. if the city cares about a green future, it needs to make streets better for people to use, not cars.

450 - Allison Husband

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

There is a large percentage of the city's population that is unable to make use of the cycleways so there will always be tension between cycle and vehicle use.

452 - Mark Penrice

Not enough on pathways or opening up paper roads on banks peninsula. CCC have access to some of the best land in the world for motorcycling, MTB, hiking, 4x4 and Gravel biking on the Banks peninsula - leaving the paper roads unmarked and the (almost free) potential tourism untapped is utterly ridiculous.

2. Investment in roads must not happen at the expense of alternatives to the private car. We cannot assume that car ownership will remain as high as it has been in recent decades; most working people are less affluent than baby boomers like myself, and that trend will certainly continue as the real economy shrinks due to falling global EROI (energy return on investment) and the escalating cost of adverse climate events.

Cycleways (Capital)

General Comments

906 submissions were received addressing cycleways (capital).

218 comments supported, and 330 comments opposed.

381 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 57 comments provided general feedback addressing cycleways (capital). Submitters were extremely divided on our proposed spending on cycleways. Many were disappointed in the proposed delays in work and demanded more funding, and others wanted cycleways work to be scaled back further to reduce costs and rates increases.

Officers Response

Submitters provided a range of views on the Council's proposed cycleways funding, with many clearly stating their support or opposition to the overall cycleway programme, however there were also many referencing only a specific cycleway as the sum of their submission. There were a sizable proportion who didn't state an overall position per se but provided their support or opposition for their mentioned specific cycleways.

Support: A large proportion of submissions are in favour of the funding proposed for the cycleway programme. Many stated the reasons why cycle provision should be a priority, these included - for the sustainable future of the city, providing an affordable transport option, independent transport for children, reducing congestion and car reliance - lowering transport generated emissions and improving the health and wellbeing of the population.

Many submitters emphasised the need for safe cycle provision, with physical separation from motor vehicles, to give opportunities for a wide range of people from children through to the elderly and new and learner cyclists to choose to cycle, knowing they will feel safe.

A number called for more to be done and sooner, including a significant number referencing MCR cycleway delays over the last ten years and calling on the Council to increase and accelerate the programme to meet the emergency climate crisis. They also note the health benefits of cycling, the affordability of transport options and increasing maintenance costs.

There are submissions that identify specific areas or projects where cycleways are called for. The most mentioned of these were Wheels to Wings, Te Aratai College - Aldwins and Ensors Roads and connecting the inner city with the East and Northeast areas (through the eastern suburbs, Cashmere, Memorial Avenue, Schools etc).

Against: A large proportion of submitters are opposed to Council's proposed funding of cycleways, advising that they are too expensive and only for a minority group - many citing expensive construction methods, seeing few people cycling, concerns for losing on-street parking for residents, businesses and schools, reducing traffic lanes or widths subsequently causing increased congestion and emissions and creating obstacles for emergency vehicles.

A number of submitters suggested that the cycleways programme should be delayed until such time that the Council's finances are improved and in the meantime focus on roads and footpaths.

Several submitters took the opportunity to call for the cycleway funds to be redirected to other areas of need, such as, the Arts Centre.

Timing and delivery of cycleway programmes and projects

The 13 Major Cycle Routes have, since 2013, been a key transport capital programme with its origins in the post-earthquake community consultation which asked what type of future was wanted for the city. The implementation of the cycle network is also a key action in the Council's 2021 Climate Resilience Strategy. The MCR programme was planned to function not as 13 isolated routes but in combination with each other and the planned local cycleways and MCR connections, collectively providing a city-wide comprehensive network.

The MCRs were initially included in the LTP to be delivered within five years. However, from this period the programme has been shifted out for a variety of reasons. This includes the magnitude and difficulties of delivering such a new level of service. The overall MCR programme has at times had to be very responsive to the changing funding environment, stakeholder and affected parties' challenges and varying levels of community and political support for individual and overall programme delivery. The delivery environment has not been linear nor smooth for any extended period, including considering the impact of Covid 19. The resulting output to date is that approximately two thirds of the 13 Major Cycleway Routes have been delivered. The draft LTP shows delivery of all 13 Major Cycleways by 2033. There are a limited number of local cycle connection projects in the LTP.

Cost of implementation/alternative products or solutions

The Park Terrace and Rolleston Terrace recent cycle provision is an example of how to provide for cycling with alternative materials. It used primarily flexi posts and surface colouring rather than more permanent construction methods. The aim was to provide a low cost, shorter lifespan solution to meet the project objectives of improved cycle safety.

The MCR programme's main design objective is to target the people who would cycle or cycle more if they felt safer doing it. As such the MCR projects are designed to meet the needs of this target group of people.

Delivery teams recognise the need to ensure that the delivery of the programme is not only effective but also as cost efficient as possible and aim for continual improvement with varying designs and product options being considered.

In recent years the construction industry has been operating in an environment of rising cost – especially through the supply chain challenges and recent years of high inflation. Exploring, assessing and taking on board options to lower delivery costs that don't impact on the programmes critical objectives nor unduly impact on increasing maintenance, operational management and replacement costs is an ongoing consideration.

Cycleway projects in the LTP.

This feedback reflects a strong community endorsement for cycleways with many submitters not only supporting specific routes but also requesting expedited delivery and the inclusion of additional cycling improvements. This suggests a growing recognition of the benefits of cycling infrastructure, both for connectivity and environmental sustainability. Conversely there was significant feedback opposed to cycleways continuing and requesting the Council divert funding to other areas.

The draft capital programme includes the following major cycleways:

- Northern Line,
- Nor'west Arc,
- Wheels to Wings,
- Ōtākaro,
- Ōpāwaho,
- Heathcote Expressway
- Southern Lights
- South Express

The following connections to existing major cycleways are included:

- Quarryman's Trail,
- Northern Line,
- Uni-cycle

The following local cycleways are included:

- Eastern Outer Orbital
- Opawa + St Martins
- Ferrymead

Examples of the projects featuring in multiple submissions include:

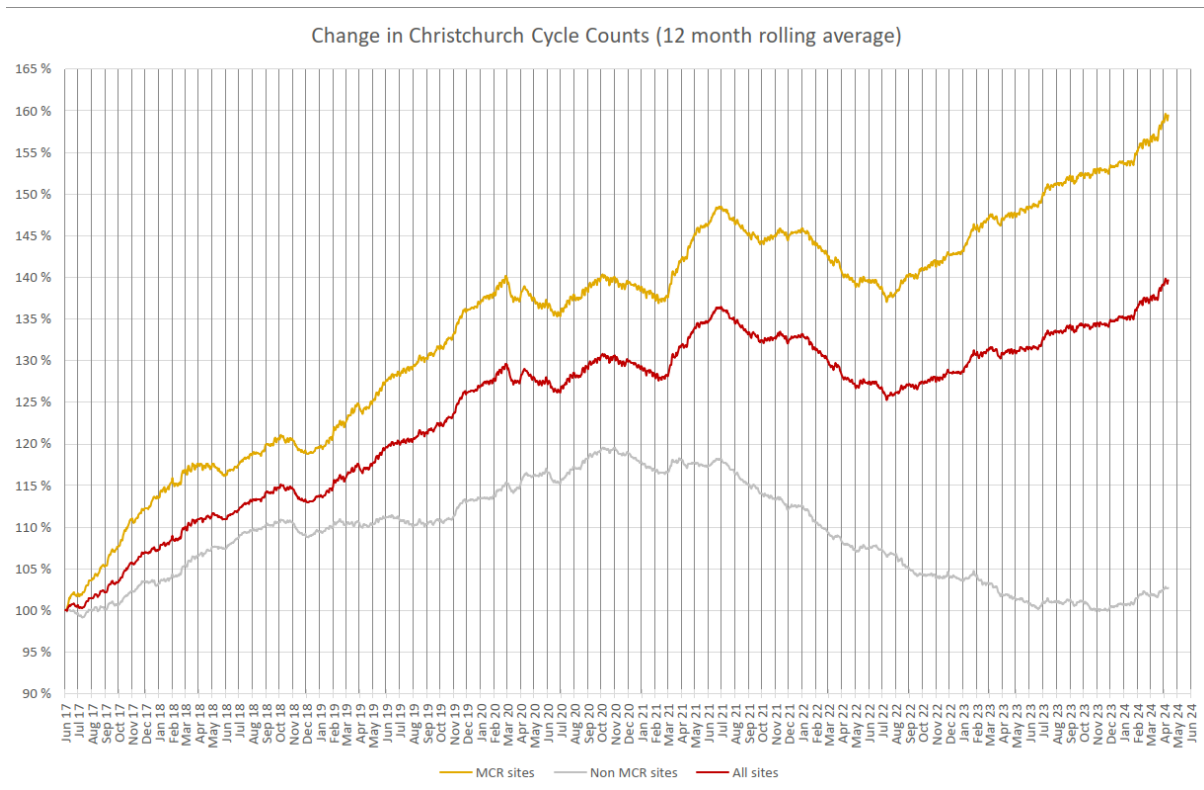

- Wheels to Wings MCR there was support and opposition to this project continuing.
- There is funding for construction of this project in the early years of the LTP.
- Te Aratai College cycle facilities, funding the recently planned, consulted and designed project providing cycle connections to the College and between Rapanui Shag Rock MCR and Heathcote Express MCR, Aldwins Road and Ensors Rd.

- Programme funding for a Northeast Cycle Route is in the LTP between FY29 and FY34.
- Richmond area local cycleway, completion of unfunded section to link to inner city cycle routes.

- Work on this project stopped as it was part of the Transport Choices (CERF) programme. There is no funding for the construction of this project in the LTP.
- Memorial Ave. cycleway improvements including focus on students around schools.
- There is no funding for the design and construction of this project in the LTP.

Use of cycleways.

Cycling as a form of transport in Christchurch has increased over recent years. On busy and multiple lane roads where there is not good cycle provision cycle demand is likely to be suppressed. Following the construction of MCRs, user intercept surveys revealed that in addition to new cyclists or those that have traded their car trips for cycling - a number of existing cyclists had detoured from previously cycling on nearby streets and roads to use the new MCR. This dynamic has repeated on all surveyed MCRs and shows that the numbers of cyclists using a road prior to cycle improvements isn't in itself a good indicator of demand.

The graph below shows the current cycle growth rates and includes the growth rate specific to the MCR routes 'MCR sites' which has increased by 60% from 2017. The graph also shows the 'Non MCR sites' currently recording a marginal increase in growth of 2 to 3% since 2017. Collectively 'All sites' show a 40% growth rate since 2017.

Spend on cycleways

The table below shows the cycle related expenditure but not the actual or proposed funding assistance from external sources. The figure units are in millions.

Congestion increases emissions

Any such effect can be offset and quantified by the positive effects of reduced emissions and traffic congestion from people trading driving for cycling.

On-street carparking.

Increased demands within the fixed space of existing road corridors creates challenges that mean physical space and the primary use of roads has to be prioritised.

Capacity/Emergency vehicles

All projects, including the MCR projects are referred to our stakeholders at an early stage and this includes the emergency services who are on our key stakeholder consultation list. The emergency services feedback is taken on board in the development of the project design for consultation and decision.

There is a strong perception from some submitters that cycleways that are physically separated clog the roads and obstruct emergency vehicles.

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)], [Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure], [Other/Special Interest Topics > Public Transport]

Prioritizing Public Transport and Bike Lanes: A hallmark of modern urban planning is the prioritization of safe, efficient public transport systems. This strategic focus not only alleviates traffic congestion but also contributes to improved air quality and fosters healthier lifestyles among residents. From a personal standpoint, the absence of comprehensive cycle lanes exposes cyclists to daily hazards. Recent incidents, such as the unfortunate accident involving a fellow cyclist, underscore the urgent need for enhanced safety measures. Therefore, I implore the Council to allocate resources towards the development of an interconnected, protected cycleway network. Such infrastructure enhancements would not only encourage cycling as a viable mode of transportation but also mitigate the risks associated with vehicular traffic. Moreover, it is imperative that all future road development and renewal projects integrate dedicated bike lanes and prioritize pedestrian safety as fundamental objectives rather than mere afterthoughts. This proactive approach aligns with the overarching goal of fostering sustainable urban mobility while safeguarding the well-being of all road users.

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?], [Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]

Yes, I think the balance is generally right. However, I feel a higher emphasis and priority should be placed on improving active travel infrastructure (cycleways) and public transport, as these are the low hanging fruit in terms of reducing our carbon emissions and the sooner this is in place the better.

As mentioned earlier, active transport infrastructure (cycleways) and priority infrastructure for public transport should be prioritised over small passenger vehicle transport improvement.

1362 - Pablo Rodriguez

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Public Transport]

I commend the CCC on their prioritization of bike lanes. As a cyclist myself, I feel very safe when using the cycle ways. I would love to see continued growth of bike lanes as well as increased and more efficient public transport to remove cars from the roads.

Establish a comprehensive, interconnected cycleway network across the city, prioritizing cycling as a safe and appealing alternative to driving.

1394 - Michael Clemens

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?], [Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]

I think the balance is pretty good. I would like to see more cycleways, bus shelters and bus priority and I'd be happy to pay slightly higher rates to fund this.

I support the building of cycleways and am happy for my rates to pay for them. I'd like to see the Aldwin's / Ensor's road cycleway funded in the LTP, given that it connects educational facilities and two major cycleways.

1430 - Dan Hartwell

Cycle infrastructure is key.

1433 - Helen Thomas

I am in favour of the cycleways especially the Harewood Road

1449 - Thane Tremewan

[Other/Special Interest Topics> Public Transport]

Public transport is my primary mode of travel. On public transport I reduce my carbon footprint, remove a car from rush hour traffic and reduce my damage to the road and the costs of its maintenance. More bus services more frequently, and a further investment in safe cycle lanes, would encourage more people away from cars and have manifold benefits to themselves and the rest of the city's residents.

1451 - Jodie Langston bike lanes for safety for cheaper transport options and better air quality programme?

Cycleways should be a priority particularly in Beckenham as it is one of the suburbs with the most cyclists. The Opawaho/Heathcote cycleway goes past a number of schools so is very important for safety of our children. Presently the pathways have kids on bikes as lanes on the roads are too dangerous to use - particularly round Centaurus road.
likewise for the southern lights as it is very difficult when the lane just ends particularly in the middle of an intersection i.e Strickland/Columbo street corner.

1488 - Mel Brown

[Three Waters - Stormwater & Land Drainage (Capital)]

I know some people bag the cycle ways and I think more consideration should be put in when developing subdivisions etc (make the developers pay). But I think they are great. Look at the variety of age groups that use them. We have older groups out getting exercise - moving their bodies. I do think we need one on lower Styx road. You could incorporate it with a stop bank to stop the river flooding over the road. A win win!

1535 - Robert Fleming (Wednesday Wheelies Bike Group St Albans)

It is not possible to comment [Coder note: on rates] for the Bike Group as a whole, which has 90 regular riders (once a month or more) enjoying over 150 different rides around the city of between 20km and 50km. In the last 12 months over 64,000km have been ridden on the routes alone. Most riders ride to the St Albans Community Centre Kohinga to begin the ride and ride home afterwards. Riders reside in all areas of the city from Sumner to Springston, Avonhead to Marshland, Bishopdale to Dallington.

[ATTACHMENTS AVAILABLE]

It is not appropriate to comment on behalf of the group as a whole, other than to say this activity is joined immensely by the between 30 and 65 riders who ride each week. All are aware that without having the quality cycling infrastructure developed in the last 7 years to use, groups such as this would not be possible. It would require for most a car journey to get to a point where there was a trail or open, yet quiet road in rural areas that could safely be ridden on. Most WW riders enjoy discovering areas within the city limits, many are not sufficiently confident or competent to ride trails, the hills, or on rural roads of any great distance.

Our group would certainly think that with a 1.6 billion dollar spend on transport over the next ten years that if a small percentage of that amount was allocated to completing the major cycleway network as originally planned it would certainly open up more parts of the city to discover and enjoy.

The confidence that regular riding in a group of like minded people develops is important for Wednesday Wheelies riders. It enables them to use their bikes for general transport more frequently. The skills attained are helpful to those who have a bucket list to ride many low grade New Zealand Cycle Trails Ngā Haerenga. Enabling the Wheels to Wings Cycleway on Harewood Road to be completed soon will make it easier for the groups to access Roto Kohatu Reserve, The Groynes and the Ōtukaikino Trail. These are very enjoyable routes. Roads such as Memorial Ave, Wairakei Road and Sawyers Arms Road are not suitable for a group of WW riders who don't particular enjoy riding their bikes in heavy nor fast moving traffic. Harewood Road infrastructure would be a huge asset for groups such as this. The connection path between Jellie Park Aquatic Centre and Springvale Lane is now blocked. It is no longer possible to ride enjoyably to Burnside, Russley and Harewood as we once did. This has been disappointing. Although we enjoy riding through the Red Zone to New Brighton, the connections with the city are sometimes a challenge for the group. Having a MCR would be helpful. The Northern Line Railway path when completed will also enable better access to parts of the North West of the city. There have been numerous bike lanes, shared paths and safety treatments implemented in recent years - this has enabled our route range to grow extensively from our early rides, eg 10km to Northlands on the Papanui Parallel CW, the Railway Path to Hagley Park then return. Our 150+ routes are now able to be constantly re-developed and expanded. We are very grateful for these improvements.

The upgrades to many of the shared paths in Hagley Parks have been greatly appreciated by the WW family as the width increase makes it easier to continue to ride carefully around pedestrians. The surfaces have improved, and gone are the slippery timber borders which were a hazard. Thank you.

Whilst climate change is possible not a huge issue for many of our riders (due to age) most are aware that better cycling infrastructure to encourage more people to ride for their everyday transport may in a small way reduce our carbon emissions and give a better future to following generations. The WW riders without exception have been surprised at how little of the city out of the way spaces they were familiar with, even after decades of living in the city and how every new ride is a journey of discovery. It is possible to ride through many parks and small reserves in every suburb. Paths in newer suburbs of Wigram, Halswell and Broomfield are certainly more popular than negotiating roads and narrow alleyways in areas such as Bishopdale. The stormwater retention developments in the SW of the city have great paths too. It has been a revelation to many just how beautiful our city actually is, and how more accessible it is now. Accelerating work on the Major Cycleway programme can only enhance that joy.

1618 - Zachary Imhoof

I have recently spent time in Europe, traveling by bike, and found myself feeling angry that New Zealand is so far behind in terms of bike and pedestrian access. We so heavily prioritize the automobile.. We need to move away from this in order to meet any kind of future goals of decarbonization and in general, create a healthy prosperous future. People don't ride because the safe, convenient and connected network of bike-specific trails do not exist. If you want people to use their cars less you must first create the appropriate environment for them to feel safe. You have shown that there is movement towards creating a bikeable city but we really need to focus all of our energy into this. If you are prioritise this for the next 3 years, start with the easy modifications and then broaden your scope. for example the section of bike path on ferry road near uprising climbing gym is designed well. A walking path and bike path separate from the road with minimal intervention. These paths don't need as intensive of maintenance as car roads so once you have done it once it's there for good. The other low hanging fruit are dirt paths and dirt roads such as the Rapaki track that don't need to be paved and therefore are much cheaper to build that create many more options for access.

1619 - David Hera

It's not there yet... As a Christchurch resident, I am eager to share my perspective on shaping a sustainable, equitable, and more liveable city. I appreciate the Council's dedication to a comprehensive Long Term Plan and wish to highlight several priorities for consideration: Prioritizing Public Transport and Bike Lanes: Modern cities need safe and efficient public transport to minimize traffic, enhance air quality, and encourage healthy living. My recommendations are: Personal Insight: I often face hazardous conditions due to insufficient cycle lanes. Recently, a severe accident on my regular cycling route underscored the urgent need for better infrastructure. Solutions: Develop a city-wide, protected cycleway network. Ensure bike lanes and pedestrian safety are central to all road projects.

Prioritizing Public Transport and Bike Lanes: A modern city should emphasize safe and efficient public transportation to lessen traffic congestion, improve air quality, and foster a healthier lifestyle. I urge the Council to consider the following: Personal Significance: Daily, I face hazardous conditions due to inadequate cycle lanes. Recently, a tragic incident occurred on my regular cycling route where a woman was struck by a car; my friend assisted in rescuing her before emergency services arrived. This highlights the urgent need for more substantial investments in bike lanes. Proposed Solutions: Develop a Comprehensive Cycleway Network: Establish an interconnected, protected network of cycleways across the city, enhancing the safety and appeal of cycling as a viable alternative to driving. Incorporate Bike Lanes in Road Projects: Ensure that bike lanes and pedestrian safety are integral components of all road development and renewal projects, rather than mere additions.

If the Council fails to provide adequate bike lanes, cycling in Ōtautahi will remain unsafe, and we will continue to rely on our polluting and dangerous cars. Mass Rapid Transit (MRT) is more cost-effective for both passengers and the Council compared to road infrastructure, which allows for budget reallocation to climate initiatives and offers a stylish, low-emission travel option around the city.

162 - Christine Wehrmeier

Glad to see public transport, cycle ways and pedestrian friendly projects being invested in.

1623 - Oliver Mould

Please continue to ensure substantial amounts are being spent on non-car modes of transport - public transport, walking and cycling are all VITAL to our health and our economy.

The delays to the major cycle routes have been unacceptable and irresponsible. more approaches like the park terrace and rolleston avenue pop up cycleway could be used. This could help peopel on on safe cycleways more quickly. This will also help boost the profits of consultants and contractors by providing work for them on major and minor cycleways.

1752 - Carolyn Boulton

I strongly support new and improved cycle ways.

1760 - Angus Bromley

Make future cycleways less complex and expensive. Smarter traffic lights for cycleways that do not stop cars when there are no cycles present. Better use of parking enforcement which only infrequently visits the suburbs.

Too much money spent on cycleways which could be made safe but simpler. Need sensors on cycleway associated traffic lights to prevent cars being stopped when there are no cycles.

1800 - Judith Deans

I support more focus on capital development programme in particular cycleways

1830 - Peter Dobbs

Transport. Please continue building the major cycle ways, and in particular the 'Wheels to Wings' cycle way. To maximise the effectiveness of the city cycle ways the network of paths needs to be completed. A completed network will lead to more people choosing to travel by bicycle or micro mobility devices. A fragmented network will not be effective. More cycle journeys can help the city reduce car use, this reduces traffic congestion consequently allowing our road network to function better. Reduced car use is key part in meeting our greenhouse gas reduction targets. Reducing traffic also improves quality of live, to name a few; cleaner air, reduced noise. The Christchurch cycle way network is much talked about across the Motu. I believe it is a reason some visitors spend additional time in the city.

1928 - James Daniels

More cycling infrastructure!

1931 - Roz Kinraid

More cycleways. They are the only things keeping my kids safe when they bike on the roads. Drivers don't watch for cyclists especially little ones. The more our kids cycle the less roading and parking infrastructure will be needed in the future as cycling is normalised for their generation.

In response to Councillor Andrei Moore's letter requesting feedback on aspects of living in Halswell. 1. The lack of pedestrian and cyclist safe spaces alongside parts of Sparks Road and Sutherlands Road is a major safety issue for the many residents of the Halswell Downs, Glendore, Benrogan, Muirhill and Quarry Paddocks subdivisions. Acknowledge the construction of some footpaths is planned, but is contingent on developers doing the do. Prior to these many developments, Sutherlands Road was a rural road and probably fit for purpose, but with the areas urban development in the last decade (ish) it is now way behind being suitable and safe. Reducing the speed on Sutherlands would be an improvement, but this is nothing in comparison to footpath, their construction is a must for this community. 2. At the terminus/end of the Quarry Mans bike trail at the road crossing lights opposite the Halswell Zone Substation for cyclists continuing along Sparks Road (i.e. away from town, towards Sutherlands Road and beyond), there is minimal space at the road's edge here for cyclists and vehicles to safely share the road. Again this infrastructure is aged and not fit for purpose, and improvements needed. Not advocating the same for the opposite side of the road (i.e., city bound) as cyclists should be encouraged/directed to use Milns Road and connect with the Quarry Mans trail etc. 3. Te Kuru Wetland, thank you what a fabulous community asset this is and will become. Some benches around the reserve will be a real bonus for some of its many (and growing number of) users. Thank you and ka kite ano.

2457 - Hayden Johnstone

I think that it is important to fund new cycleways and new public transport routes (such as bus lanes) due to both climate change and as a way to decrease traffic as Christchurch's growing population will begin to cause traffic problems in the future.

Continue to support the building of cycleways across the city, Christchurch should be the city of cycles. it is a fabulous opportunity to create a greener city where children cycle to school, adults to work and the elderly for recreation.

2559 - Michael Campbell

There's been an excessive allocation of funds towards road maintenance ($591 million specifically for carriageway renewals). It's imperative we divert some of these resources towards enhancing cycle infrastructure, which demands significantly less upkeep, thereby alleviating the strain on our road maintenance budget. Furthermore, increased investment in climate mitigation is essential. Merely falling short of our current targets isn't acceptable. This necessitates greater financial commitment to bolster public and active transport initiatives. [Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?]

It's imperative to accelerate the implementation of the Major Cycle Routes (MCRs), as their current delays are unacceptable. If the cost of cycling infrastructure poses a barrier, we should explore alternative approaches inspired by successful models such as the rapid and cost-effective cycle network rollout in Wellington and other cities worldwide, like Seville. An article by The Spinoff titled "Wellington's massive cycling upgrade is ambitious, fast, and surprisingly cheap" provides valuable insights into this strategy. The essence lies in deploying plastic hit sticks, barrier arms, and maintaining flexibility, akin to the cycleway setup on Park Avenue. Furthermore, it's crucial to reinstate the following Climate Emergency Response Fund projects that have been slashed: - The cycle link along Aldwins Road and Ensors Road, enhancing safety for students commuting to Te Aratai College and alleviating congestion. - The cycle connection on Cashmere Road, fostering connectivity between Hoon Hay Road and Oderings Garden Centre. - The cycleway along Simeon Street, facilitating cyclists' access to the Little River Link, Quarryman's Trail, and Barrington Shopping Centre, thereby enhancing cycling connections for neighborhoods like Aidanfield and Ngā Puna Wai. - The intersection upgrades at Aldwins/Ensors/Ferry and Aldwins/Buckleys/Linwood, featuring safety enhancements such as safe speed platforms to mitigate risks. - Pedestrian improvements in 10 locations in Linwood to facilitate safer travel for children attending Whitau School. - Upgrading six Bromley intersections with various safety measures like reduced road widths, raised zebra crossings, traffic islands, and transitional roundabouts. - Creating a cycle-friendly environment along Smith Street to enable safe cycling to Te Pou Toetoe: Linwood Pool and Te Waka Unua School on Ferry Road. - Introducing a new cycle route in Richmond to enhance connectivity between the northern and southern parts of the area. - Consideration of a new Major Cycle Route that connects Bottle Lake Forest, Prestons, Marshlands and Parklands with the City Centre and other routes. This part of the map is devoid of any safe cycling infrastructure and surrounded by busy arterial roads which raise safety issues. The area is also poorly served by public transport meaning that people are largely forced to drive. Given some of the roads are partially rural (such as marshlands road) a route could be installed at a lower cost and not result in the loss of many carparks.

2563 - Kim Money (North Beach Residents' Association)

Due to the current interest in the area and developments proposed, underway and built, NBRA strongly supports the complete budget being brought forward so that the public realm improvements can align with these new developments. Now is the time for Council, in good faith, to further honour their commitment to the revitalisation of the New Brighton CBD so the current momentum may continue. This not only brings value to New Brighton but to North Beach, all surrounding communities in the Coastal Ward and the city as a whole.

- Ōtākaro Avon Major Cycleway -Anzac Dr Bridge to New Brighton - Section 3 (OARC): Project ID: 26603. As there is a natural starting point at Anzac Drive this project needs to start 2024/25. The Coastal Ward lacks any form of direct commuter or recreational Major Cycleway linking it to the city and vice versa.

NBRA notes that there is an obvious gap and lack of cycle ways in the Eastern part of the City, and a disproportionate amount of funding for cycle ways elsewhere in the City. NBRA requests that this be addressed.

• Eastern Out Orbital Cycle Way: Project ID: 44700. (will link between Travis Rd cycleway, Bowhill Road to North Beach, a link to New Brighton through Shaw Avenue and Rawhiti Domain, then along Union Street to Bridge Street), NBRA seeks that this project be brought forward. This route would encourage more local cycle trips, particularly to connect schools (Avonside/Shirley/Rawhiti), and bring people into North Beach and Greater New Brighton.

Cycleways

I have been increasingly using my bike to get around the city and leaving the car at home, my children have also been biking. And I see first-hand the huge benefits of separated cycleways, I also see the challenges when cycleways end and there is no choice but to go on the road to connect up with the next cycleway.

We need to provide safe, connected cycleways for multiple reasons:

- 1) it provides commuters with choices,
- 2) it reduces emissions,
- 3) it reduces wear and tear on roads (by reducing cars) which ultimately saves maintenance costs and
- 4) it reduces congestion for those who still need to travel by car and
- 5) it supports health and wellbeing and
- 6) it saves commuters and the council money.

The following projects should be immediate priorities.

1. Major Cycleway - Southern Lights - all sections completed in this LTP
2. Gardiners Road shared path - all sections completed in this LTP
3. Ōpāwaho River Route (PMH to Ferrymead Bridge)
4. Glandovey Road West and Idris Road - Active Transport Improvements
5. Simeon Street Cycleway (from the de-funded Way Safer Streets package)
6. Westmorland Cycle Connection - from PMH to Westmorland (from the de-funded Way Safer Streets package but extended to connect to the Nor'West Arc)
7. Project 75070 - Memorial Avenue Cycle Lanes
8. Richmond Neighbourhood Greenway (from the de-funded Way Safer Streets package)
9. Project 41845 - Cycle Connections - Quarryman's Trail
10. Project 44700 - Local Cycle Network - Eastern Outer Orbital.

2591 - Bronwyn Hayward

I welcome the decision to invest in continuing the Te Aratai cycleway connection alongside the other more major Wheels and Wings connections- Te Aratai (Linwood) school students are particularly vulnerable on this major road (Aldwins) and the cycleway will save lives as well as help families have more affordable ways to get to school and reduce emissions.

I note that the council expects the majority of the major cycleway projects will be complete by the year 10 budget, therefore they say they “expect a levelling-off of new cyclists.- good promotion of the established cycle ways will encourage more cyclists” However evidence suggests good infrastructure also has a long term impact on enticing more people to cycle so promoting the routes you have provided should also increase sustained interest in cycling – therefore I disagree that we necessarily expect an average daily levelling off of new cyclists.

2615 - Virginia Wright

keep up the good work on cycle ways, as an occasional bike rider to get around the more cycleways I can access without having to share space with cars, the more likely I am to get on a bike

2637 - Hannah Herchenbach

I love the spend on cycling. Christchurch is flat, which is an enormous asset that the council ought to take advantage of. Well done! Keep it up!

2651 - Finn Blanchard

I am particularly glad to see the inclusion of public transport improvements and the four cycleways which will be completed and new cycleways which will start work on. These are the things which I use a lot and recent improvements to cycleways and public transport over the last few years have allowed me to go car free which has been pretty life-changing for me. I am really looking forward to the Nor'west arc north of the university being completed and the Wheels to Wings cycleway which will provide great routes for me which I will definitely be using.

I am glad to see the funding for completing new cycleways and beginning new ones as I use these frequently and they have really encouraged me to start cycling which I now do all the time. I would also be happy to see more general intersection improvements for our roads like cycle boxes and painted cycle lanes where there are multiple lanes. An intersection which comes to mind for example is the Curletts/Blenheim Road intersection heading north after travelling over the bridge. It is very difficult to cross from the shared path on the bridge into the central lanes to continue heading straight down Curletts Road.

Something specific I would like to see is more Locky Docks around Christchurch! They are so easy to use and I feel so much safer parking my bike at them. I would particularly like to see some at Westfield Riccarton as there are not many normal bike stands and they are also in places which I feel are prone to thieves.

The delays to the Major Cycle Routes (MCRs) programme are unacceptable and irresponsible. This programme needs to be accelerated rather than defunded and delayed. The following Climate Emergency Response Fund (CERF) projects need to be added back in as part of the council capital programme: The Cycle Link along Aldwins Road and Ensors Road, making it safer for students to bike to Te Aratai College, a move which will reduce congestion at peak times. The Cycle Connection on Cashmere Road, between Hoon Hay Road and Oderings Garden Centre. The Cycleway along Simeon Street, which will connect cyclists to the Little River Link, Quarryman's Trail, and Barrington Shopping Centre; and improve cycling connections for neighbourhoods such as Aidanfield and the sports facilities at Ngā Puna Wai. The scheduled pedestrian improvements in 10 locations in Linwood to help tamariki travel to Whitau School. The upgrading of six Bromley intersections with reduced road widths in certain sections, raised zebra crossings, traffic islands, pedestrian refuge islands, safe speed platforms, speed cushions, transitional roundabouts, and refreshing painted markings. 2764 - Chris Ford (Disabled Persons Assembly (DPA))

[Transport > Footpaths & Streetscapes (Capital)]

We strongly support the proposed spend of $78 million on new cycleway and footpath developments over the next ten years.

Our recommendation is that most of this spend be devoted to the maintenance of existing footpaths and the creation of new paths and cycleways in areas where there is population growth.

Footpaths must be built according to universal design standards and the New Zealand Transport Agency – Waka Kotahi's 'Pedestrian Network Design Guide.'¹

Building accessible walking and cycling infrastructure to these standards means that Council will save money from the outset in terms of maintenance costs (especially during the lifespan of the LTP) and ensure that injury rates remain negligible to nonexistent on the city's footpaths and cycleways.

To ensure that injury rates remain low, we would like to re-emphasise the need for cycleways and footpaths/walking tracks to be built separately but parallel to each other so that collisions are avoided between pedestrians and cyclists, something that is a major concern to disabled and older people.

2796 - Annelies Pikelharing

[Transport > Transport (Operations)]

Transport. the city would be so much more appealing if criss crossed by cycle trails. Travel should be mainly by light rail and bus, and cars should be discouraged. We can also do a lot by car sharing and shuttle service

2797 - Dave Kelly (Beckenham Neighbourhood Association)

The BNA has long supported the Major Cycleways program. In the 2018 Census, Beckenham had the highest percentage of residents who cycled to work, of any statistical block in New Zealand. There are also a lot of locals who transport children in cargo bikes etc, and children who cycle to school (younger ones escorted by their parents, older ones not). There are two cycleways in the LTP which affect Beckenham. The Opawaho-Heathcote cycleway wil run from Princess Margaret Hospital, through Beckenham to Ferrymead. This would likely involve cycle-friendly crossings of Colombo and Tennyson Sts, so would be very helpful for schoolchildren cycling to school in this area. The LTP has funding allocated to start in 2026/27 and finish in 2031/32, eight years away. The first section from PMH to Waltham is relatively cheap ($17.3M), but the Waltham-Ferrymead section is more expensive ($36.9M, presumably involving a new bridge). The first part would serve multiple schools including Cashmere, Beckenham, and St Peters, so the BNA requests that this section be built earlier than 2032. The second major cycleway is the Southern Lights, which is important to our area because it includes the Beckenham shops (the Colombo-Strickland-Somerfield corner). This is a busy intersection for both motor traffic and cycles, and it is difficult to get through at present. This is allocated $3.6M in the LTP to be spent in 2028–2030, which although relatively cheap is again well down the queue. The BNA requests that the Southern Lights cycleway project be started earlier than 2028. Both these two cycleways are important for road safety and reducing carbon emissions, and the two sections we request to be moved earlier are relatively cheap sections that would add great value by connecting up to several other major cycleways.

I think the balance is approximately right. One area I think we can do more in is spend more on cycle ways as outlined further in my submission.

If you're going to cut something please, let it not be the cycle ways. I don't want someone mowing me down.

One area I think we can do more in is spend more on cycle ways. I've heard various people describe it as "radical" and "over the top" but honestly I don't think so for the following reasons: Personally, I'm loving all the new cycle infrastructure. I've been e-bike cycle commuting since October last year. I've lost a lot of weight, become fitter and have gone from feeling generally depressed to up-beat and a generally chipper disposition, all the while saving money. The upside is huge, I had heard of these benefits but found it hard to believe it would be this profound. Safety was my biggest concern when considering becoming a cycle commuter. I would not have started bicycle commuting if it wasn't for the huge section of separated cycle way between Belfast and the CBD. I cycle rain or shine. It is my main mode of transport as we are a single car household and my partner uses the car for the longer commute. According to UC, the return on investment is estimated to be incredibly good. Estimated long term savings for every $1 spent is estimated to be $15-$25 according to: <https://www.canterbury.ac.nz/news-and-events/news/don-t-believe-the-backlash---the-benefits-of-nz-investing-more-i> Various groups appear to be misinformed, a number of Councillors (even the mayor) play into this to try get cycle ways cancelled (see recording of Avonhead LTP meeting, recently held). Very disappointing. Some of the cycle ways are not and never will be perfect and that's ok. Done is better than perfect.

2830 - Fiona Bennetts

[Transport > Roads (Capital)], [Planning, Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Strategic Transport]

Due to changes made to the revised Long Term Plan (LTP), there is now a desperate need to invest in cycle infrastructure, which by comparison requires very little maintenance and has numerous active health and environmental benefits, rather than sinking more money into carriageway maintenance. Increasing the rate at which active transport and public transport is used within the city will have the knock-on effect of reducing wear on our roads, which will result in less repairs being needed and less capital being required long term

Cycleway costs should not include underground infrastructure renewal or the cost of clean-up for past environmental damage. These should come out of the maintenance budgets.

[Libraries > Libraries (Capital)], [Recreation, Sports & Events > Pools (Capital)], [Fees & Charges > Car Parking Fees (on-street & off-street)]

- Places where people cycle also need maintenance. This includes removing glass and debris, fixing surface problems, and ensuring that the lights trigger properly (including adding a manual trigger).
- The cycleways are relatively new. Inevitably there are issues that were not considered in the initial design, or the popularity of the cycleway has already exceeded design expectations, particularly at intersections. There should be a minor works budget for cycleways to cover such contingencies and make improvements.

• The delays to the Major Cycle Routes (MCRs) programme are unacceptable and irresponsible. Ōtautahi Christchurch is home to the two highest electorates where people cycle to work (Ilam and Christchurch Central). It is also home to the highest electorate for people who cycle to study (Ilam). The success of the existing network is proof that this investment is absolutely good value for money. This programme needs to be accelerated rather than defunded and delayed. • If Councillors see the cost of active transport infrastructure as prohibitive at this current moment, then it would be worth looking at the work done in Wellington (and other cities around the world, including Seville) around rolling out networks faster and cheaper. These are excellent examples, and the basic ideas can include rolling out cycleways fast by reallocating road space, putting up plastic hit sticks or bollards and barrier arms, and being flexible. This is a similar approach to the cycleway rolled out on Park Terrace and Rolleston Avenue and would have the benefit of allowing people to have access to more safe cycling infrastructure more quickly and for less initial capital spending. It would allow staff to trial longer-term plans before committing significant capital to any project. • The Major Cycle Routes (MCRs) programme should be delivered faster. In the last five years cycling journeys have increased 35% according to the cycling counters. The actual uptake is even higher as the counters significantly undercount journeys on the MRCs due to the network being incomplete and therefore need to pop on and off the MCRs rather than riding the full length of the route. The cycle counters do not count cyclists on the roads in suburbs where there are no cycleways. Please invest in cycle counters on planned routes to get a true measure of before and after, and in other places to get a more accurate picture of where people are cycling throughout the city. Every cycle journey reduces congestion, road wear and tear, and emissions. • Extensions to cycleways that are currently not funded could be done by rolling out cheaper infrastructure by reallocating road space using bollards similar to the cycleway on Park Terrace and Rolleston Ave. We can learn from the experiences in Wellington and other international cities. The most important part is getting cyclists and pedestrians across busy intersections and roads, and ensure the road surface is of reasonable quality. For example, funding the pedestrian/cycle crossing on Milton Street to connect Simeon Street with the cycleway on Roker St would be a significant improvement in safety for all active transport users including cyclists and pedestrians. On other roads adding posts, smoothing over the chip seal and rotating drain covers would be a good start.

Please provide cycle parking in parks, at the beach, and in heritage areas, particularly at toilets and key destinations.

[Fees and Charges > Car Parking (parks), Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure, Transport > cycleways (capital), other/Special Interest Topics > Public Transport]

The parking charge proposal is a frivolous undertaking that would bring in a negligible amount of revenue, consequently doing much more harm than good for our communities. With options for city parking being limited and often inaccessible, there are many residents of Ōtautahi who already struggle to patronise local common spaces, and increasing the cost of these facilities would only further hinder availability. A more sustainable option would be to provide better transport alternatives to and from key locations, such as consistent bus routes and usable bike lanes in the surrounding area. This would reduce the space taken up by empty lots and parked cars, improve congestion, and allow more people to visit the lovely greenery of Christchurch.

For Christchurch to function as a sustainable city, the Council must prioritise the restructuring of our transport networks. Transitioning away from a car-dependent economy is imperative, and establishing safe and accessible bike lanes is one of the most effective ways to accelerate this process. The city's Major Cycle Routes, which include the Nor'West Arc, Northern Line, Wheels to Wings, South Express, Avon-Ōtākaro, Ōpāwaho, and Southern Lights should all be completed by 2026.

Lastly: Your cycle lanes are good, but lets keep making them better. >>> lets use both cycling and buses to reduce single occupancy car journeys in our city !!

2844 - Albert Nisbet

Too much emphasis on "choice" of transport options. >>> investing heavily in cycling and walking infrastructure as these options scale far better than car infrastructure as population grows. As per induced demand: make alternatives to driving more favourable than driving, and you'll get fewer cars on the road. [Transport > Roads (Capital)] [Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]

Please consider induced demand in your planning. Investing in cycling and public transport has the possibility to shift commuters away from driving. With its flat terrain, Christchurch could very realistically become a cycling heaven with enough investment. Road spending should be focused on safety, maintenance and traffic calming rather than expansion. Increase support and enforcement of businesses to install adequate bike parking.

Provide good bike parking and public transport to parks, so that we don't need to have a monstrous car parking lot wasting space next to each park.

2845 - Erin Todd

The allocation of capital in the revised LTP reflects a concerning imbalance, particularly in the prioritisation of road maintenance over investing in sustainable infrastructure such as cycle paths or better pedestrian infrastructure. The nearly $600 million earmarked for road renewals, results in a missed opportunity to channel resources towards initiatives that promise long-term benefits for both public health and the environment. Cycle infrastructure stands out as a prime candidate, requiring minimal maintenance compared to roads and offering active transportation alternatives that can alleviate pressure on congested streets. Shifting focus towards promoting active and public transport, will reduce needs for high road maintenance budgets and produce a healthier, more connected urban environment. Promoting active and public transport will also help the city build resilience to and mitigate some effects of climate change. [Transport > Roads (Capital)]

2847 - Colleen Philip (Sustainable Ōtautahi Christchurch)

We urge Council to consider proceeding with the Te Aratai cycleway connection despite the withdrawal of government funding as with it planned and ready to go there is no cheaper time to proceed. It is important to be innovative and try to find ways to build what we need, especially to get emissions down, in a way that is as efficient and economical as possible, while still keeping people safe. Look for cheaper - not 'gold plated'. SOC seeks a budget that has significantly more allocation of the transport budget towards walking, biking, and bus lane projects, as opposed to the current budget which is almost entirely on vehicle capacity and road maintenance projects. >>> [Transport > Roads (Capital)]

There is an opportunity to build more low cost cycleways with just paint and bollards (Park Tce, etc.) while performing maintenance and renewal projects. Other cities around the world have rapidly expanded their cycle networks by joining these projects together.

2850 - Neil Cooper (Greater New Brighton Community Leadership Group)

Basic cycleways. I think Christchurch has some great opportunities to further expand the cycle network in a faster and more basic form, to help spread the network in place/ being built in the form of the major cycleways. The most popular cycleways and the ones that work best are the 'lanes for bikes' type e.g. on Antigua Street or Matai Street. The major cycleways are great but sometimes they can fall into the category of 'footpaths for bikes' - there are a lot of shared paths and twists and turns and there can be a lot of giving way to cars at every side street etc. But generally these work well. The Rolleston Ave cycleway has been a great success I think - it's cost effective, separate from the footpath (which is necessary given the busy location) and uses part of the existing road. I think Christchurch needs a lot more of this sort of infrastructure, like in Wellington - where bollards and bolted separators are used on the existing road pavement to create safe, separated spaces for cyclists. While this type of cycleway can have some drawbacks as well e.g. there may not be separate cycle traffic lights at intersections, it's cheap, quick to install and provides good cycle protection alongside a busy road. I've seen this sort of infrastructure in a lot of cities around the world used very effectively.

2863 - Lynne O'Keefe

There is a great cycleway network which is a credit to past councils. Completion of the identified Major Cycleways should be completed sooner rather than later. It is good to see the Wheels to Wings will be funded in the current financial year. Harewood Road is dangerous and unsafe to cycle so should be started without delay. The use of the cycleways is increasing and has become a preferred mode of transport for many, the health benefits to young and old cannot be underestimated. It is great to see the many families out cycling at weekends. I am always perplexed by the term 'over engineered cycleways', a painted line is not good enough.

i strongly support the continued development of the city's cycleways systems. We have one on our street and it is great to see use of it increase as people get their bikes out again. I know there is often comment along the lines of 'you never see people on the cycleways, waste of money, spend it on fixing roads instead' but the number of people cycling is increasing all the time as people feel safer to bike now there are dedicated and separated bike lanes. i also note that, whenever i hear/see these comments i look at the footpaths along roads and these are usually empty - do we abandon footpaths and make another lane for traffic? No, we understand that footpaths are a public good and necessity - as are cycleways. i am happy to have roads fixed and improvements made to the roading network but I think we all need to realise that roads are there for everyone, and all users deserve to have a safe way to get around. The problems of traffic are caused by more motorised vehicles, not pedestrians or buses or cycles, so if drivers have to get used to going a bit slower, or taking a bit longer to make journeys around the city because of the traffic they are a part of, so be it.

2890 - Finn McIntyre (University of Canterbury Sustainable Design Society (UC SUSD))

SUSD fully supports the trend of improving cycle infrastructure within Christchurch, however it feels that the budget for public transport is severely underwhelming. The total allocated budget of $101 million is only 10% of the proposed spending on renewing road based infrastructure and even less than that when considering all road network spending. Although road clearly need to be maintained for the city to function, the current public transport system is significantly underperforming when compared to global standards and this needs to be urgently addressed.

Really glad to see there is more focus on cycling and public transport. Our population is ageing and they are not all going to be able to safely drive themselves around - there are already too many who should have their licenses removed but get the doctor's sign-off. We need alternatives so that everyone, even those incapable of driving safely, can participate in society. More/safer bike lanes, more buses and better infrastructure, and it needs to cover the entire city so that everyone has access. Its a no-brainer because active transport also improves health outcomes and those options also reduce CO2 emissions. No. As a city that should be looking into the future and that in the past have under-invested in public transport and active transport, and in a world of climate crisis, there is a need to invest more in cycling infrastructure and public transport. Cycling infrastructure requires less maintenance than roads and has numerous health and environmental benefits. Enabling alternatives to driving cars, by giving people a safe option, will increase the use of cycling and public transport and in turn reduces the wear of our roads, which will result in less spending on roads maintenance.

We need to stop thinking about cycle ways and public transport as an expense and start seeing it as an investment in a better future.

The delays and vilification of cycle routes is unacceptable and irresponsible. The current cycling network is a success thanks to the connectivity and safety of many of the cycle routes. But there are gaps in the system and there are way too many areas where a splash of green paint or a white line on the road is considered good enough. It is not. There are more cars on our roads, they are bigger and heavier and pose a genuine threat to the life of a cyclist, especially if that cyclist is young, elderly or simply someone who is new to cycling. The lives of cyclists don't matter less and they deserve to be protected. There is a lot of misinformation doing the rounds about the cost of building cycle ways, most neglect to emphasize that a major part of the cost is infrastructure under the paving and also improvements done to the road the cycle way is on. But the biggest misinformation is that people don't use cycleways. The counters around the city tell a different story, actually cycling on these protected cycleways tells a different story, but mainly, we do not demand drivers to first create demand for a road by driving in unsafe conditions for council to consider building the proper infrastructure. The same logic should apply for cycleways – if you build safe infrastructure it will entice people to use it. If council see cost as prohibitive then alternative methods should be investigated. There are excellent examples of rolling out cycleways fast by reallocating road space and using plastic hit sticks or bollards as barriers. The rollout of the cycleway on Park Terrace and Rolleston Avenue is a great example of such method. It also allows council to consider longer-term plans before committing significant capital to any project.

[Transport > Roads]

Again, I would like to see less spending on roads, and more on cycleways and public transport. 190 million on cycleways seems very light compared to 3 billion on roads. Especially given the urgent need to reduce our dependence on cars and petroleum.

3370 - Eliot Blennerhassett

[Transport > Footpaths & Streetscapes (Capital)], [Transport > Public Transport (Capital)], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > City Planning]

I support continuing to invest in walking, cycling and public transport infrastructure, low speed neighbourhoods, notwithstanding any change in central government policy regarding these topics.

3392 - Stephen Wood

AS I have an interest in cycling as a transport option, I am particularly please to see a commitmen to finishing more of the major cycle routes with completion of Nor'West Arc, Northern Line, Wheels to Wings and South Express, and starting work on Ōtākaro Avon and Ōpāwaho Heathcote River Routes, Southern Lights, Little River Link and Particularly a new north-east cycle route (as I live in the north-east)

3412 - Alicia Harbison-Price

I am happy to see the Council continuing to support alternative modes of transport and make our city safer for cyclists.

17. We congratulate the Council on current progress in the establishment of cycleways as a means to reduce emissions and to provide low-cost transport options. The more people riding bicycles as their preferred transport option, the less pollution of our waterways by private vehicles.

[Transport>Footpaths & Streetscapes (Capital)]; [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration>Strategic Transport]

I am not a resident of Christchurch, but work in Christchurch 3 – 4 days per week and volunteer with a Christchurch-based community organisation. My interest is particularly in transport as a means of reducing my own environmental impact and because I strongly dislike the waste of time and energy created by congestion. On the majority of workdays my transport into Christchurch is on the bus (along with my spouse) and my transport to my workplace is on my bike. I also cycle as part of my work with people with intellectual and physical disability and having safe places to cycle as part of our transport rather than only being able to cycle recreationally is beneficial for both physical and mental wellbeing, as well as being more cost effective. Investment in footpaths and cycleways is important for transport and for recreational users, contributing to healthier people who are more connected to the places they spend time. There is a lack of recreational seating in some newer developments, such as Aidanfield and around Ngā Puna Wai. This can make facilities less accessible as there is no opportunity to rest or enjoy the surroundings. Ensuring transport is multi-modal, allowing connection to different modes of travel for different parts of the journey is important. Reducing the number of single occupant private vehicles will go a long way towards making Christchurch a more liveable city and impacts across the well-beings.

3622 - Jono de Wit

I give my strong support to the following programmes and request they stay funded in the draft LTP as they are currently: * 59181 – Central City Projects – Antigua Street Cycle Network (Tuam-Moorhouse) * 65923 - School Safety * 68430 – Ferry Road Active Transport Improvements

3625 - Angela Brett

I'm really pleased to see the continued roll out of the cycleway projects.

3626 - Connie Christensen

Priority must be on completing the Major Cycle Routes, increased bus priority lanes and more safe walking and cycle infrastructure within 2km of all schools.

3632 - Judith Bell

I really appreciate the bike lanes. Much of the time, just a LANE without losing parking space because of medians is enough, and greatly appreciated.

3644 - Yvonne Dixon

Keep on developing the cycle tracks. I love them.

3659 - Alex van den Broek

People don't always know what is good for them. A lot of people don't like cycleways, but more cycleways means less traffic.

3743 - Ben Ellis

Cycleways are great.

The new separated cycle lanes are fantastic. Please finish the proposed links and complete the network. Christchurch has the potential to be an amazingly cycle friendly city if the network is further developed. I would really like my son to be able to bike around town and I absolutely wouldn't feel safe for him to do that without the protected cycleways and cycle safe streets for him to learn in. Cycle connections to schools across the city would be a fantastic place to continue following completion of the city wide network.

3748 - Greta Bond (Age Concern Canterbury)

[Transport > Operations], [Transport > Footpaths & Streetscapes (Capital)], [Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Strategic Transport]

Accessible public transport options for all people is a very high priority, as is spending on footpaths and cycle routes. We would encourage CCC to stand firm on its vision of an accessible Christchurch, regardless of any pressure upcoming from the Government (for example to invest more in new roads of "significance" or increase speed limits, especially those in urban areas). An extensive, well-maintained and accessible public transport network ensures that all people can participate in city life, and also makes it easier for older people, and families, to access other services (for example, medical appointments, or schooling).

Our transport network must be inclusive, and developed with that eye for accessibility. Better designed bus-stops, and a more family friendly environment at the Bus Exchange, would assist in this area. We are excited by the proposals for an increased cycling network and greater attention to options for those who no longer drive (and for those who, given the opportunity, would prefer to use public transport more).

3759 - Ben Connolly

I strongly support more spending for projects over the 10 years on projects that have a direct impact on climate change mitigation: >>> • Major cycleways – $199 million

I am pleased to see major cycleways still there - it is essential the network is finished - right now cycling is challenging if you want to go anywhere where this is a cycleway partway there and then you get thrown onto a busy road. Reduce roading spend - buggar the potholes. Focus on footpaths and cycleways - make these so easy.

3865 - Maxine Donovan

Transport in terms of safe cycleways and upgrade of roads and speed limits essential.

Just make safer - definitely a cycleway along Harewood Road especially from Papanui Railway to Trafford Street. As you are dicing with traffic which is unforgiving.

3871 - Philip Buchanan

[Spending > Te Kaha]

The council should not be spending more on Te Kaha in 3 years (286m) than on the entire cycleways programme over 10 years (199m).

[Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure], [Transport > Roads (Capital)]

Transport spending should prioritise public transit and cycleways over new carriageway investement.

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?], [Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure], [Parks > Biodiversity & Ecological Restoration], [Other/Special Interest Topics > Creating a Climate Fund]

I agree with the sustained funding levels for core services and infrastructure renewal. I believe there should be higher investment into areas that will help combat climate change - building a convenient and grade-separated cycle network, increasing public transit, revegetation on the Port Hills, and building a climate resilience fund.

3877 - Hilary Quayle

Just put some more cycle lanes in, that will sort everything.

3884 - Rachel Bacon

We appreciate the money spent on public transport and bike lanes.

3899 - Harrison McEvoy

[Transport > Roads (capital), Transport > Public Transport (infrastructure)]

No There has been too much priority in allocating capital to road maintenance. Rather than allocating such vast funds to generic carriageway renewals, CCC should be increasing the rate at which active transport and public transport is used within the city will have the knock-on effect of reducing wear on our roads, which will result in less repairs being needed and less capital being required.

Absolutely not. The cutting of the Major Cycle Route funding and the removal of the Cycle Connector and Local Cycle Network programs represents one of the most short-sighted and fundamentally irrational decisions I have ever seen. There are so many benefits to these programs. They must return and Council staff must look for ways to implement them quickly.

[Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure], [Other/Special Interest Topics > Public Transport], [Transport > Roads], [Transport > Parking], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Strategic Transport]

Bike lines, increased bus lines and infrastructure, investment into passenger rail and other alternatives to cars are the only investments appropriate when it comes to transport. Any investment into roads, highways, parking projects etc which only serve to reinforce private car ownership & use as the default way of getting around is deeply problematic when considered against the backdrop of the ecological & climate emergency our world currently faces.

The number one cause of premature deaths in Aotearoa New Zealand is air pollution. Air pollution is attributed to 462 premature deaths in Christchurch in 2016 alone (Health and Air Pollution in New Zealand (HAPINZ) 3.0 study, published July 2022). Keeping the cycleways in the budget is a valuable part of a good plan to reduce air pollution (particulate matter (PM2.5) and nitrogen dioxide) from transport.

Within the transport portfolio, I strongly support investment in active transport infrastructure, especially safe routes to schools, completion of the major cycle routes, and lower speeds. As a New Brighton resident, I strongly support the completion of the Pages Rd bridge/Gateway to New Brighton project, and the MCR along Pages Rd to/from New Brighton. New Brighton has the potential to become a strong 'resort' in its own right, and already the local bike shop reports people staying out in New Brighton who wish to hire bicycles to travel into the central city for sightseeing. Full completion of a commuting MCR combined with the full recreational pathway along the Avon-Otakaro green spine, will open up great opportunities.

In general, I support initiatives such as better cycleways and bus-only lanes.

402 - Cynthia Charron

I am very concerned about the risk of changes in govt policy re: funding for transport plans, in particular, multi-mode transport. For me, a safe, robust, connected cycle system means I actually spend MORE in more businesses, as it's quicker and safer (and more enjoyable) to cycle to different areas of the city. It is crucial to maintain the highest levels of proposed funding for footpath and cycleway renewals, and for new cycleways ($199 M over 10 yrs) and $20M for other proposed cycle and pedestrian improvements. This will ensure that Christchurch can support the projected growth, meet stated goals for a liveable city, and meet climate resilience targets for reducing emissions.

There is NO lack of data demonstrating that cycleways are mostly good, and sometimes very good for nearby businesses. Council staff who work in this area will no doubt be aware of all of this, but a recent article from Business Insider has the receipts: <https://www.businessinsider.com/bike-lanes-good-for-business-studies-better-streets-2024-3> And here is the supporting data for this article: <https://www.adam-rogers.net/bikebibliography> Over the last 5-6 years Paris has transformed itself with connected, substantial and people-first cycling infrastructure, by being BOLD and following principles of best practise in urban planning. In part this was to minimise transport woes during the upcoming Paris Olympics; visitors need to be able to move around quickly and easily, while enjoying the best parts of a city's culture and heritage. Car-dependant cities do not achieve these goals for visitors (or residents). If a city as congested and crowded as Paris can do it, then certainly Christchurch can do it; it just takes political will, doing the right thing (for quality of life, liveability, climate benefits, and decreased traffic congestion and pollution) and prioritising long-term benefits over short-term thinking.

Please retain the maximum proposed funding for all cycle and active and public transport projects in the LTP. Without it, Christchurch risks moving backwards in achieving many of its goals.

93. Recreation Aotearoa submits its support for the proposed investment in Public Transport (Page 31). We also support the investment by Christchurch City Council in walking and cycling routes. Investment in Active Transport infrastructure achieves the dual symbiotic benefit of easing traffic congestion and making it easier for residents to integrate healthy recreational activities into their day-to-day lives.

94. Recreation Aotearoa supports the Councils commitment to investment in supporting cycling (page 31), in particular. Recreation Aotearoa has long supported Active Transport initiatives across the motu. As such, we support proposed investments in completing the listed existing projects and commencing the listed new projects.

95. Recreation Aotearoa notes that these projects support increased participation in walking, cycling, scooting, and skating – forms of physical activity that the Active NZ survey identified as leading preferences for residents of Christchurch.

We should prioritise connecting the existing cycle network and improving the walkability of suburbs. I would like to see the council being more visionary in their approach to planning. Improving walkability is good, as is continued investment in cycle facilities. Please continue and increase speed of these changes. Currently, cycling around the city is often an unpleasant experience. There is lots of glass on the roads and intersections that are difficult to safely cross. I believe more money should be invested into public transport than into cycling, as public transport is more useful for a wider range of residents. Especially given the cost of driving cars has increased drastically, and cycling is a difficult form of transportation for those of us who for personal reasons can't manage it or afford it.

Stop spending on cycleways. Sure its good to give cyclists a safe space, but so many of them still use the roads, footpaths, they dont follow road rules, and they get away with it. Sure, cycleways are a 'nice' thing for cyclists, but these projects should be on hold indefinitely, until the ratepayers and council are more able to pay for them.

1218 - Eva Rogatski

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?]

NO- I haven't heard of anyone who agrees with the cycle lanes. I am not willing to see my rates increase for something that I see absolutely no value in. Stop the wheels to wings cycleway in Harewood road. Total waste of money. Recent performance of roadworks for new watermain in Harewood road was hopeless. If this is how the cycleway roadworks will run, you are bound to run out of money.

129 - Barbara Harding

You should not be wasting money as you are at the moment on fancy cycle lanes and poor workers!

1302 - Melanie Forsyth

We need to deprioritise the Harewood city cycleway and immediately stop work on that until funding from government is confirmed, or it will end up like the Christchurch cathedral.

1308 - Bernadette Bowe

I agree we need to maintain our roads and water networks. I feel that in the current cost of living crisis, that the cycleways which haven't been started need to be shelved for the present time. I'm not opposed to cycleways, but I am opposed to the design which is over the top in cost and as well as their construction. Turning the 4 lane Harewood Road down to two lanes quite frankly defies all reason! Please listen to the people who use this road and live on it. Butchering (for want of a better word) a really busy 4 lane road and converting it to two lanes is sheer lunacy. Surely, in the future if a cycleway is what the people ideally want, we can come up with a cost effective reasonable design that suits everyone not the plan that is proposed at present. Also a really good reason for cancelling cycleways is that the rates will be increasing significantly this year and now the government are not funding anymore cycleways it will fall on the ratepayer to cover the shortfall which is unacceptable.

In summary please cancel the cycleway projects and make sure to budget with common sense to keep our rates at an absolute minimum.

Stop with the cycle ways. You have made the roads dangerous for any other mode of transport by putting in over-engineered cycle lanes that often aren't used but the narrow roads for cars and trucks. eg, Sawyers Arms Rd near Northlands, the road is so narrow that the trucks are too wide for the lanes and can nearly cause accidents

As above - stop the cycle lanes and trying to force us to live our lives how you perceive we should rather than how we need to

142 - Carolyn Neame

1437 - Graham Mee

Whilst supporting most of the proposals and expenditure in your proposed long term plan, there is one aspect which I do not support, that concerning further cycleway development, and in particular the Council's widespread advertising of imminent work in the Papanui to Bishopdale area of Harewood Rd. Though there is merit in replacing aging underground infrastructure, I believe from the advertising that much of this is directed towards the Wings to Wheels Cycleway.

I am strongly opposed to the latter for the following reasons :

- 1. Harewood Road is a main arterial route between the city and Christchurch Airport, the latter being expected to further increase its associated traffic in future years.
2. Queues of stationery traffic at present often extend from Greers Rd to beyond Harris Crescent, and often to Sails St, at peak times round 8am to 9 am, around midday, and from mid afternoon .
3. Traffic counts or consultation with emergency services would reveal how important clear passage on Harewood Rd is to fire service, ambulance and police call outs.

4. Christchurch is not immune from disasters which call for widespread city evacuations where arterial routes become a necessity.

5. The proposed restricted parking on the north side of Harewood Rd will have the inevitable effect of further restricting emergency vehicles in their bypassing queues of traffic at peak times.

6. Council's current intensification policies which are resulting in many single residences on 800-900 square metre sections being consented for up to three or four units are going to further increase the demands on parking on the remaining south side of Harewood Rd.

7. With this predicted increase in overnight parking, can the council guarantee to maintain their routine gutter sweeping standards on the south side of Harewood Rd?

8. The only aspect of the proposed cycleway I feel worthy of support is the traffic light control at the Breens -Gardiners Rd/Harewood Rd intersection which I clearly recall as having been a matter of community concern forty years ago when as Principal of Harewood School, I supported repeated requests to advance the safety of children attending Harewood, Breens and Isleworth Schools.

9. How much of the predicted rates increase relate to Council's determination to proceed with the full cost of the cycleway now that the previously announced Government contribution is no longer guaranteed?

1439 - Bryan Preston

Your plan is detailed with many worthwhile actions but little evidence of genuine efforts to minimise costs particularly in the short term.

I will comment on one ie Cycle tracks/lanes.where some $177 million is targeted.

As noted I am a keen cyclist from my home [REDACTED] I am familiar with the cycle lanes in the city. The totally overengineered lanes in Sparks Road and Strickland Street are prime examples of wasted spending.

My cycling friends agree a simple white lane identification is adequate and both less intrusive and costly.

The examples above are also potentially more dangerous than the simple solution.

This planned action is an example of a "nice to have" , there are many more which at least should be delayed until cost of living is controlled.

145 - Lisa Cowap

[Transport > Roads]

I would like No further investment in Cycle ways Speed humps Over engineered traffic lights

No cycle ways

1491 - Lindsay Richards (Westmorland Residents Association)

Perhaps, with money being so tight, it's time to pull back a bit on all the cycling initiatives. Your draft document says "We want to give people better options for getting around, whether by car, public transport, on foot or on a scooter" so don't make it hard for them by ignoring everything else, at the expense of more cycling initiatives.

1500 - Warwick Schaffer

Dedicated cycleways need to be abandoned, they are not better for cyclists (I am one), they create confusion and danger at complex lights and exits where cars now have to cross two lines of traffic plus they are expensive. Clear wide painted lanes on the right of parked cars are better and will be much cheaper.

152 - John Stickle

[Transport > Roads]

Two items that expenditure is wasted is committing to the Cycle-way network and the raised pedestrian crossings. How are either of these beneficial to the majority of CHC rate payers?

1527 - Rob Beechey

[Strategic Direction > Climate Change], [Transport > Transport (Operations)]

The second point I wish to make is your Strategic Priority to "REDUCE EMISSIONS AS A COUNCIL AND A CITY to achieve a NetZero goal!" Why?

This is just political theatre and is the very baggage I refer to. Wasting millions of dollars on over-engineered cycle ways and interfering with traffic flows in the name of climate alarmism has no place in local govt. I suspect sanity was outvoted by political extremists.

1541 - Maurice Adler

No. To much money has been spent on Cycleways. The majority are hardly used. No more spending on cycleways unless the cyclist is going to pay for them. Just have a look at the cycleway in Hei Hei Road for example. It takes up most of the road with little or now parking on the road. The cars are the ones that pay for the road not the cyclists.

Stop these cycles lines, i dont get why a majority of tax payers dont want them yet they are still being done

No - spending $199 million on major cycling projects is a total waste of money! And I say this as someone who bikes for leisure every weekend and to and from work regularly. 1617 - Jack Swannell

[Rates > Residential Rates], [Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

$199 million on major cycling projects is far too costly. These are often well overengineered, with vast amounts going toward consultants and not on the building. I cycle to work everyday and feel most of the cycle routes are overengineered. A solid line acting as a cycle way is more than sufficient in most cases. There still appears to be a rather generous budget for nice to haves

As outlined in my last comments. Overengineered cycling ways are not needed. Keep them simple. Reduce spending on consultants who often have no tangible outcomes.

There are too many projects going at once e.g. Cycleways allowing a $199Million on this is a waste of money and resources. Also with ECAN predicting a rise of 28% leaves the average household so far in debt for rates that people cannot live now with the cost of living. The council needs to cut excess spending on trivial unnecessary projects.

Also, why is there work going ahead on the "Wheels to Wings" project when the Minister for transport has stopped all work on Cycleways and where is the council getting the money for this when the Government is spending no more on cycleways? Added to that, the people "DO NOT" want cycleways or speed humps as shown by feedback in the Council's own submissions process on the subject.

Not at all. One clear example is that there are a few road improvement around the City particularly adding cycle ways to existing roads. These improvements has not improve traffict at all but slowing down the traffic and causing traffic jams lasting longer dispite cycling traffic is unaffected before and after the road improvement. Moreover, cyclers has very little or no contribution to the national tranport budget, most the the funds are from petrol tax, road user charge, etc. from all motor vehicles.

[Other/Special Interest Topics > LTP Consultation]

One of my biggest concerns is that it is not right that cyclists from all over NZ are able to write a submission for a catastrophic and detrimental cycleway plan for Harewood Road that is a huge waste of the ratepayers and taxpayers money.

Creating a single lane for traffic on Harewood Road will create a massive mess for the public. This road works as it is currently, and there is a huge population on that road who can never get on a bike, but still need the access to their properties to remain intact. Put the cycleway on Sawyers Arms Road if you have to. There are far fewer residents and shops to hurt. There are also lovely small roads close to Johns Road to help direct the bikes on to Sawyers Arms Road.

If you have any consideration for the older population - you would know that Bishopdale has a larger than average older population. It is an older suburb where people have lived for decades. Harewood Road has a Rest Home, a Charity Hospital, and 2x petrol stations, a vets, a dentist, and medical centre, which all have lots of traffic flowing in and out, along with a 5 way roundabout - all of which function well with a large amount of traffic. There are very few bikes - to suggest there are 100 - 200 a day is a big stretch of the imagination.

Please read our thoughts and feelings listed above, about the catastrophic push for a cycleway on Harewood Road - the diminishing of the dual lanes to 1 lane would be disastrous and the loss of parking for the community - would actually be life threatening. Even the emergency vehicles - ambulances, fire trucks, and police - use the 2x lane assistance of Harewood Road.

2304 - Stephanie Burke

No, Spending too much on Cycle ways - not everyone can bike and this is discriminatory against those that cant.

2305 - Monique Maynard

- but I am not at all in favour of the over engineered and costly cycle lanes that benefit the minority (or the minority of the minority that use them) especially when it effects the current traffic flow (ie Harewood Rd) or parking spaces

101 million on cycle lanes! Surely you could build a bridge or tunnels across the city North to South, East to West with an intersection in the CBD to keep cyclists safe and off the roads. Improves traffic flow and parking and allows cyclists to traverse the city safely more cost effectively without disruption to businesses and 90+% of road users.

2357 - Cori Sanders

[Libraries > Libraries (Operations)], [Transport > Roads (Capital)], [Three Waters > Three Waters (Operations)], [Other/Special Interest Topics > Public Transport]

Next, I think that it would be good to prioritise spending on things that the MAJORITY of rates payers use like libraries and roads and waterways. Why are we spending so much on cycleways when there are so few who cycle through the town? Why don't we focus on getting the roads fixed once and for all so we don't have to deal with roadworks that never end? Why don't we get public transportation that works for all instead of buses that are spaced out an hour between trips and bypass the city centre?

[Transport > Transport (Operations)], [Transport > Roads (Capital)]

$1.6 billion on transport (24.9%) So many of the works we are seeing are creating massive issues for the emergency services and the bike lanes have become more of an obstacle and cause of traffic frustration that when we had cars and bikes sharing lanes.

[Transport > Transport (Operations)], [Transport > Roads (Capital)]

Things were so much better when cyclists and drivers shared the road. Now, with the cycleways especially on Park Terrace, there is more traffic congestion and there are hardly ever any cyclists on the cycleway. Why are we spending so much money on what so few use? Also, the speed changes on roads with one road boasting THREE speed limits 30-40-50 actually makes things more difficult for drivers with some drivers tailgating others who they think are going so slow, leading to more overtaking and dangerous driving from those who flout the speed limits.

[Transport > Roads (Capital)], [Other/Special Interest Topics > Public Transport]

Concentrate on improving public transport and roads (if the same council contractors are giving us roads that constantly need to be repaired, maybe you should change your contractors!) rather than over-spending on cycleways that benefit a small percentage of the population.

2358 - Carolyn Moffat

Not really a fan of the cycle plan for Harewood Rd.

[Strategic Direction > Community Outcomes & Strategic Priorities]

One sentence jumps out at me - manage the ratepayers' money wisely. We haven't always seen that recently ie the temporary cycle lane along Park Terrace, which was not really required when the pathway alongside the park could have been used, and Pedestrians directed to the adjacent pathway in the park (Park Tce section only - I support Rolleston Ave section).

2368 - Alaine Percasky

No, we live on Harewood Road and are against the cycle lane taking over leaving one lane for traffic. Cycles should be in a single formation, on the road, so I can't see why the lane has to be so wide and not allowing cars to be parked. I have grandchildren, trades people and other visitors parking outside our house as the driveway is narrow. The money saved could go into other areas.

I wish the council would listen to the people who live and work on Harewood Road, instead of a minority of bike riders. WE DO NOT WANT THE CYCLE LANES. The cycle lanes don't go anywhere once reaching Johns Road.

Put the money in from the cycle lane to assist with the rates levy.

We don't require cycle lanes on Harewood Road. This would help with keeping the rates lower.

Enviromental plans need to proceed at a later date. We don't need all these cycle lanes. It is not convenient for people. You can't put a suitcase on your back and cycle to the airport. You can't cycle to the shops and take your shopping home on a bike.

You need to use common sense and stop the cycle lanes. Look at what is important for safety. Such as traffic lights at Breens Road, drainage, footpaths. completing areas that still require fixing from the earthquakes.

24 - Kaaren Mathias

[Transport > Roads, Public Transport]

I think the balance currently is not right. It needs to move further away from private vehicles and more towards public transport and cycling/ walking opportunities. This is absolutely clear when we consider the impacts that private vehicles and roading have on our carbon footprint as a city and it is also clear that it improves health outcomes linked to social connection opportunities as well as physical health.

The waste of over $5 million just on consultation alone is in my opinion shocking, and not spending the ratepayers money wisely. Many cyclists also do not like the cycleways as they find the concrete barrier to dangerous and put them at risk of accidents. I also recently saw a young child cycling ON the concrete barrier,so inviting young owners to play on it and therefore placing them at risk of slipping and falling from the concrete barrier.

2518 - Claire Mulcock (Deans Avenue Precinct Society Inc.)

Northern Line Major Cycleway - Kilmarnock Street to Blenheim Road We are extremely frustrated to find that no funding at all has been allocated for the next 10 years to the long promised Kilmarnock Street to Blenheim Road section, despite it previously being designed, approved and funding allocated. This section would extend along the west side of the railway line from the existing sections of the Northern line that ends at Matai Street, and connect to other cycleways at Lowe Street and Blenheim Road. It would provide a signalled crossing at Kilmarnock Street that would be great for Christchurch Girls High, and drivers using Kilmarnock Street, as many students need to cross this road, especially to reach bus stops on Riccarton Road. A line item in the Long Term Plan (LTP) budget: "23098 Major Cycleway - Northern Line Route (Section 1) Blenheim to Kilmarnock and Harewood Crossing & Restell") seems to show a small amount allocated ($509,000), but on enquiry we were advised that this is all for "Harewood Crossing and Restell". In the 2021-31 LTP $2,831,000 was allocated for the same items. It is totally misleading to include the 'Blenheim to Kilmarnock' label for this funding. The formal consultation was undertaken in 2016, and the project approved by Council. Since then a seemingly endless series of delays has followed. Two years ago it seemed all set to go, but then the development couldn't proceed until KiwiRail made changes at the Riccarton and Kilmarnock crossing points. These jobs have never got to the top of their 'to do' list. This shortish section is an important connector for several cycleways and needs to be prioritised, not dumped. Riccarton is destined to become largely high density housing and every effort needs to be made to provide good alternatives to cars for travel around the area. Connecting existing cycleways is essential. At the very least, the funding for the Kilmarnock and Riccarton railway crossings should remain an important priority for the next financial year and KiwiRail urged to complete this work. The cycleway construction could be funded a little later in the period.

We made a submission to protest the Wings to Wheels cycleway, and although we appreciate the team who considered our concerns about the safety of our students (and made suggestions to address some of those concerns), we feel the process as a whole was a waste of time, as the vast amount of opposition to the cycleway from the community was brushed under the carpet, and ignored. We have heard that government funding for cycleways will no longer be available, so the entire cost of this ridiculously expensive, invasive and unwanted cycleway will have to be borne by we poor ratepayers - and we are all stretched thin

Prioritise the spending on transport by drastically reducing the councils fixation with cycleways that are underutilised, and in almost all cases, unwanted by the majority of residents. Listen to actual residents, and not the Spokes and Cycle Action network groups, who hijack every meeting .

2582 - Clive Busby

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Engagement and Communications (General)]

Surely it would make sense to drop the unpopular Wings to Wheels cycleway along Harewood Road? This is costing an enormous amount, and it is completely unnecessary. The council is supposed to represent its constituents, but they appear unconcerned about the wishes of those constituents. A large proportion of us never wanted the cycleway, but our concerns were absolutely ignored during the public consultation process, which seems to have been mere window-dressing, as the plan has been forced ahead, regardless of its effects on the community and the negative feedback of community members. While some of the peripheral works associated with the cycleway are beneficial to local residents, the cycleway itself is an enormously expensive project, based on an expectation of increased future use. There is no guarantee that it will cause vast numbers of people to take up cycling on a consistent basis (other cycleways have not done so), so we are being forced to pay for an extremely costly white elephant that will cause the loss of useful on-street parking and all manner of logistical issues. If the government funding for this project is no longer guaranteed (as we understand it to be), we beg you to take the sensible approach and can the cycleway before it incurs any further costs, so you can lower the projected rates rise.

263 - Brian Hill

$200 million on cycleways is a joke. The council has no idea how many cyclists are recreational and how many are commuting. Unless someone has chosen to cycle rather than use a car then there is no benefit to the environment. the vast majority of people cycling are doing it recreationally so there is no reduction in carbon emissions. Sadly to council has been taken in by the very loud but small cycling lobby and wasted vast sums on infrastructure which does nothing to reduce carbon emissions. STOP WASTING OUR MONEY!!!!!!!!!!!!

I am sick to death of seeing empty cycleways. All you are doing is subsidizing someone's fitness goals, the CCC run gyms aren't free yet we spend millions on cycleways. Christchurch is cold and bleak 5 months of the year. A rail line from Rolleston/Lincoln or Kaiapoi to the city would do so much more to ease congestion and reduce vehicle emissions yet you keep flogging the dead horse that building cycleways will get more people on bikes.

[Transport > Roads (Capital)], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban regeneration > Strategic Transport]

While I support the idea of sustainable transport solutions, such as cycleways, I am compelled to express my concerns regarding the current execution of these projects. As our city expands, the need for robust road infrastructure becomes more acute. Reducing double lanes to single lanes for the creation of larger cycle paths does not seem to align with the practical needs of a growing population. This approach often leads to increased congestion, higher fuel consumption, and a negative impact on daily commutes. Moreover, our public transport system does not compare favorably with those in other major developed cities, which limits practical alternatives to car use. The good intentions behind expanding cycleways seem to overlook the reality that not everyone is able to cycle, whether due to skill, health, or weather conditions, particularly during the colder months. I urge the Council to consider more cost-effective and practical solutions for cycleway projects that do not drastically alter existing road infrastructure. A more balanced approach could focus on enhancing our public transport system to make it a more viable option for everyone.

3376 - Barry Lee

There must be a stop put on developing cycle ways that are a capital cost to council. They also disturb current vehicular traffic flow and reduce parking. Cycle ways such as Wheels to Wings. Spending on intersection changes in the name of safety must be put on hold. They are a nice to have not a need.

341 - Paul Burbury

If the $1.6b on transport includes building cycleways, I strongly object. The transformation of perfectly useable suburban streets into dedicated cycleways is a waste of money and resources. It negatively impacts motorists, residents and cyclists. Please cease this lunacy.

Cease transforming existing roads into dedicated cycleways. These work perfectly fine as shared surfaces as they are. It's a waste of valuable resources and only results in a worse experience for cyclists and vehicle operators.

3419 - Michael Allan

You are spending too much money on fancy non-essentials with cycle lanes. By all means create sensible cycling lanes and areas, but the city does not need gold plated concrete curbing when painted lines will do the job.

343 - Aaron Pero

3453 - Zeta Pringle

Cycle way are part of our city do is the motor car, getting to and from work should not be an issue. Yet we see roads being narrowed to have these cycle ways in place. I am not in favour. The Ilan road cycle way as an example has very few people using it yet is still being made with modifications. Just because the planning committee of council have more cyclists than car drivers this must not cloud the view of the whole city. We need a sys that works for all. I still. Not understand why these cycle ways are on busy streets when a parallel street could have been a better option so yo avoid any injuries to the cyclists. I am still baffled why this was never part of the plan. Going forward we need to look at all alternates it does more often affect business directly with no thought for then trying to make a living the disruption that installing causes. Business have just to wear or close up shop as happened on Riccarton road. All I ask is when planning look at all options.

347 - Catherine Webber

Stop spending on infrastructure that only benefits cyclists. Motorists support the economy and pay more taxes, I've heard the cyclists catch cry that they pay rates and own cars so pay road taxes, but they are NOT paying road taxes if they are not driving a petrol powered or RUC paying vehicles.

STOP spending on cycling infrastructure that only benefits a tiny proportion of the population. Or make it that ratepayers can opt out of paying for infrastructure that is not useful to them. You are making this city unliveable for people who are born and bred here and who have lived here all their lives.

Why is NZ on the whole, has lower productivity on a per capita basis than Australia? Because we don't invest in productivity. We invest in cycle ways and foot paths that are on most part used for leisure.

[Transport > Transport Operations]

25% is a big piece of the pie, so if you want to increase productivity, don't restrict road ways. Don't place speed bumps at traffic light intersections making it safer for the walking or cycling public. Narrow roads to make the vehicle traffic move slower will also increase the time for commutes, which increases more fossil fuel consumption = bad.

3498 - Lucas Tomasi

Unfortunately cycle lanes aren't working, I never thought I would be against the idea but they are incredibly expensive to install, cramp roadways and a lot of people don't use them and continue to just bike on the road. We can develop the cycle ways later when we aren't in an enormous financial crisis but for now I don't think it's worth the money at all.

Cycleways and bus lanes are a low cost (in many cases just road paint!) way to encourage commuters to bike and take public transport, which is the easiest way to reduce transport emissions. People must feel safe (cycleways) and that buses are a viable option that doesn't add too much time to commutes. Far too much spending is on road maintenance. In the last LTP there were 15 cycleway projects that were approved and are not completed that have disappeared from the new LTP. I suggest adding those and additional projects in, particularly if CCC has any desire to stick to their emissions reductions goals.

I think there isn't enough money going into cycleways in general, the more the better. No, you haven't got the balance right. There is too much focus on ideology and nice to haves, and not enough of maintaining our infrastructure and existing heritage (zero on heritage which is shameful). All spending on so called safety and calming measures such as speed bumps, 30 km zones, cycle lanes, and barricades need to stop immediately. As does any "climate change" / "net zero emissions" which is total nonsense and scaremongering. We cannot afford to be getting into debt further to meet regulations and taxations imposed by global organisations. The balance is being weighted heavily towards the above, and requiring rates to increase in order to service the debt from past and present vanity projects. Rate payers cannot be continually expected to cover costs. We are not a bottomless pit. As councillors and CCC employees, you are not here to build your legacy or to put added pressure onto the households of the people you serve. You are employed by rate payers to deliver the basic infrastructure, and your focus should be on this, not on world class stadiums, convention centres, sports centres, playgrounds, vanity projects, virtue signalling, and so on.

Spending in cycleways should be paused until it is compulsory for cyclists to use the cycleways rather than remain riding on the road opposite the cycleways. Rather than reducing congestion, the narrowing of streets caused by the cycleways often increases congestion at peak traffic times. e.g. traffic wanting to turn right (into a property or side street) often causes traffic to back up as the narrowed roads don't allow following traffic to pass the turning traffic

 - o Increasing use of active transport and public transport reduces wear on our roads

[Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]

I agree with the plan on looking after roads and footpaths in principal, however you need to bring costs down. Cut this back a little and make savings for rate payers. Cycle ways need to be cut completely. $200 million on cycle ways is a disgrace when people can't afford it. This is a nice to have. It is in no way necessary. People are not being injured and killed due to the current roads that don't have cycleways. You have a proposed cycleway near my house and there is not one incidence of anyone being hurt in the past five years whilst on a bike on this road, yet you say its for safety. Its not. Cycleways are pet projects by certain councilors with too much power. Just stop. Ask people if they want them - if you make an effort to get responses from all the public rather than just the activists that seems to answer these surveys, you will find that most think this is wasteful spending. However, every person in Christchurch knows you have no intention of listening in regard to cycleways. $100 million on new bus infrastructure needs to be cut back a little. Bus shelters are a nice to have - people can bring an umbrella, rates payers don't need to be paying for these when we are already broke. Put intersection changes on the back burner. While the rate payers have no money, this isn't needed. Buses are mostly empty anyway. See where we are in 5 years then put this back on the table.

No more cycle lanes. People are not being hurt and injured on streets where there is not currently a cycle lane so there is no need for these (I know this based on information for a cycle lane outside my house). These are vanity projects by some councilors.

We are sick of being ignored while cyclist lobby groups, composed of members who are not from the Harewood/ Bishopdale area seem to hold sway. Climate is not affected by Carbon pollution. A cycleway could easily be created along Harewood rd without the intentional creation of congestion by reducing parts of harewood rd to one lane, the circus of traffic lights at Bishopdale roundabout and the loss of on street parking. All you would need to do is to replace the grass berm on one side with a porous asphalt surface which will allow surface water to freely drain while providing a suitable surface for cyclists.

But it is also a very popular road for bikers to use as it's access to Burwood forest and Spencer Park. But I also would like a stop bank along the Styx River due to flooding concerns in this area. My feedback centers on these key priorities: Prioritizing Public Transport and Bike Lanes: • Personal Experience: Daily encounters with dangerous situations on inadequate cycling routes, including a recent incident where a fellow cyclist was struck by a car. • Proposed Solutions: • Establishing a connected and protected cycleway network citywide to encourage safe cycling. • Incorporating bike lanes and pedestrian safety into all road development projects as primary objectives.

I strongly urge the Council to: Why it Matters Personally: I encounter hazardous situations daily due to the absence of comprehensive cycle lanes. Just a few weeks ago, a woman was struck by a car on the same route I cycle along nearly every day. My XXXX was among those who assisted in lifting the car off her until emergency services arrived. I implore the Council to invest significantly in expanding bike lanes. Suggested Solutions: Establish an integrated, safeguarded cycleway network spanning the city, promoting cycling as a safe and appealing alternative to driving. Ensure that all road development and renewal projects prioritize the inclusion of bike lanes and pedestrian safety as primary objectives, rather than mere afterthoughts.

I understand $0 has been allowed in the Long term Plan for new footpaths, I submit that funding for linking footpaths or cycleways is desperately needed in the Halswell area. I live in the Halswell area and frequently run around the urban area. From my experiences I strongly urge that allowances should be made in the LTP for 5 missing links as shown below, and described in subsequent pages.

The Quarrymans's Trail Cycleway is a great asset to the city. Unfortunately, it doesn't go anywhere near Halswell Quarry! The cycleway comes down Sparks Rd, but then crosses Sparks Rd at pedestrian lights, and dives off at right angles into the Milnes subdivision and eventually to Halswell shops. South Halswell, south of Sparks Rd and Halswell Rd, is now a very extensive and rapidly growing residential area. From my observations, at least half the cyclists coming south out of town along the Quarrymans Trail do not cross at the lights and head into the Milnes subdivision, but at the lights move out onto the fast and busy Sparks Rd traffic, and carry on south, hoping for the best until they reach the safety of Sutherlands Rd., or further at the Kennedys Bush Rd/Halswell Rd intersection. A short footpath has already been built for one small part of this horror stretch in association with an adjoining subdivision. No realistic commuter cycleways seem to have been allowed for in the adjoining Eastman Wetland. I strongly urge the Council to make an allowance for a short extension to the Quarrymans Trail Cycleway along the line indicated in red above. Length approx.. 350m.

The Old Tai Tapu Rd is one of Christchurch's favourite cycling routes, often accessed first by riding around the hills of Cashmere Rd. Unfortunately, cyclists currently have to ride along the very busy and fast moving traffic on the Halswell Rd State Highway between Glovers Rd to the Old Tai Tapu Rd. With the new River Stone subdivision riders will soon be able to join the busy highway via Whites Tramway Rd. I assume that there will be a walkway/cycleway along the Greens Drain stormwater corridor at the southern edge of the River Stone subdivision. Exiting from the end of that corridor would leave a distance of only 300 metres along Halswell Rd to the quiet Old Tai Tapu Rd. I strongly suggest the CCC support the idea of a short offroad cycleway along Halswell Rd along the red line indicated. or alternatively from the new roundabout at the White Tramway/Halswell Rd intersection. While Halswell Rd is a State Highway and therefore the responsibility of Waka Kotahi, I assume the CCC has an active relationship with this agency, and therefore hope the CCC may be able to promote this proposed small development.

Halswell Quarry Reserve is a great CCC owned recreational asset. While people drive to the reserve from all over town, many Halswell people walk to the Quarry, and this needs to be encouraged. There is no footpath along busy Cashmere Rd for the section indicated with the red line above, from Sutherlands Rd till almost the Quarry entrance. People living on the south side of that stretch of Cashmere Rd, or in the new subdivision on the north side of the road, accessed from Sutherlands Rd, must either walk on the side of busy Cashmere Rd, with its crests and bends, or get in the car and drive to the Quarry. Cashmere Rd is also well used by cyclists. I strongly urge the Council to make an allowance for a footpath along Cashmere Rd, or possibly a cycleway/footpath, for at least the 550m indicated.

Halswell is a suburb seeing rapid urban expansion, with many new subdivisions and their associated footpaths. Along with urban growth, the CCC has also been developing some impressive cycleways and recreational wetlands in the area. All this rapid expansion leaves various minor gaps in the local walking and cycling network. I understand that each new build pays a significant amount as a development contribution, and that there are expected to be over 3000 new homes in Halswell. Hopefully the CCC can find the funds to fill these minor gaps.

1199 - Diana Proctor

I want to stress to you how invaluable I find the amazing network of cycle paths in Christchurch. I live in the Central City and do practically all my business by bike unless it is very wet. This includes visiting doctor, optometrist, Turanga, supermarket, Transitional Cathedral, WEA, Art Gallery, Botanic Gardens, cafes, cinemas and theatre. I am 73, very active and very fit! This is largely due to the opportunity I have to cycle relatively safely and cheaply. Moreover, I cycle extensively in wider Christchurch both by myself and with the amazing Wednesday Wheelies out of Kohinga St Albans of which I am an inaugural member. Cycling for seniors strengthens excellent bonds of wellbeing and keeps us socialising and active longer. So I request that the complete programme of cycleways be completed as quickly as possible with special mention of Wings to Wheels and the Northern Line Rail Path to connect Moorhouse Avenue to Northwood. I believe Council should invest in “active entertainment” rather than providing a lot of events which are passive, requiring nothing more than showing up eg Chinese Lantern Festival, Sparks in the Park and others. These while nice to have don’t carry any direct health benefits whereas cycling does. A Cycling Festival such as Biketober needs every support as does a Walking Festival. Cycleways are well worth having for another reason: we are a city attractive to domestic and overseas tourists alike. There is the opportunity for cycling to be vastly better promoted than it currently is with hotels, motels, every kind of accommodation seizing the idea of Bike and Bed linking also all of our bike companies who rent and service cycles. For how to do this well, read up on Germany. Ara could be encouraged to offer a bike mechanic training programme as more and more people flock to two wheels! We should aim to become the cycling capital of New Zealand.

The east-west shared path through South Hagley Park desperately needs upgrading. It provides a key link to the South Express MCR at Deans Ave, and carries relatively high numbers of pedestrians, cyclists and micromobility users at peak commuter times as well as at peak times of recreational use of South Hagley Park. However, the path is under width for a shared path (particularly for the volume of users) and worsened by its poor condition that includes a substandard historic trench reinstatement on the north side of the path that presents an uneven surface which is difficult and hazardous to negotiate for all path users. In winter months especially, the depressed section of the trench reinstatement fills with water and mud, and mud often encroaches onto the south edge of the path also. Many of the paths around the periphery of South Hagley Park have been upgraded in recent years, but not this one. I couldn't see it identified as a specific project in the draft LTP, but see that other parts of the South Express MCR are included as well as proposed works to upgrade / resurface playing fields in Hagley Park. Perhaps a path upgrade could be included in those projects.

I support more efficient transport and particularly improvements for the safety of pedestrians and cyclists. I would like to see the footpath and road improved on Port Hills Road between Bridle Path Road and the round-about where it joins Martindales Road. I reported this in a snap-solve-send some months back but didn't get any feedback. I don't see this section of road mentioned in the Long term plan for road renewal. Vegetation encroaches on the footpath which slopes and is broken in places. Cars parked on either side of the road make it a duck and dive road to drive down or up. The other day I went to drive from Bridle Path Road and make a left turn into Port Hills road. A car was on the wrong side of the road coming towards me. Yet I have observed sections of footpath being replaced where I did not think the footpath was not bad enough to need replacement eg Remuera Avenue, Lower Cashmere.

It is imperative that the major cycleway programme is completed as soon as possible. It has been a long hard slog to get this far. It is either a citywide network or nothing, anything in-between serves no one. We have come too far to stop now, especially when there is a well-measured steady increase in usage year on year. Please do not extend out the funding, it needs to be done, and it needs to be done now. The critical link in the network is the Wheels to Wings Cycleway and this should begin immediately. It is disappointing to have this project delayed any further due to opposition; one suburb only should not get to hold to ransom a city wide essential transport project. The east of the city, northwest, and northeast, in particular all require better infrastructure to make cycling feel safer and entice new riders.

There has been significant publicity about the proposed changes to Harewood Road and specifically the building of cycle lanes, modifications to the Bishopdale roundabout and turning this stretch of road into a single lane. (Wheels to Wings) I want to know if the Council were aware of the impact of roadworks being carried out in this area right now (April 2024). Recently as contracts undertook this work, Harewood road heading south/east was reduced to a single lane approaching the roundabout. The traffic backed up at times to beyond the Breens/Gardiniers road intersection, some several hundred metres. I have lived in this area for 8 years and never seen traffic backed up as badly as this. Has council considered the economic and environmental impact of having several hundred people sat in their cars for anywhere between 5-10 minutes extra on their daily commute? It took me 4-5 minutes longer to get from Cotswold Ave to the roundabout in a trip of 300 metres that normally takes 20 seconds. These proposed works to create dual cycle ways will benefit so few people and completely eliminate any environmental benefit. The economic cost to the local community will be huge. Today (Fri 12th April), with a little rain in the air, Copenhagen Bakery was packed full of customers. Customers that were parked 75 metres either side of the establishment and on both sides of the road. Were will these people park or do you expect people to bike to the bakery in winter in the pouring rain? At a time when budgets are tight, the council needs to at the very least put this 'Wheels to Wings' project on hold. It cannot proceed to one lane this area given the consequences of doing so for such little benefit in its current form.

All Major Cycle Routes (MCRs) and Local Connections done by 2026 If Council doesn't deliver on bike lanes, it'll never be safe to bike Ōtautahi, and we'll all be trapped in our polluting, unsafe, cars forever. Put money into "Mass Rapid Transit" (MRT) right now! I have a vehicle that I would like to not need. Biking is good most of the time but I would love a good second option for when I don't want to or cant use my bike. Fund the Arts Centre. This is our culture that is being inhibited by removing funding. Our future looks pretty dull without it. we need to enable creative minds if we want to flourish in a turbulent future.

More could be done to reduce the rates increase for the city. within the transport area there is an item for carriageway renewals which should take into account any cycle lane additions rather than having as a separate item it makes sense while have crews there to get them to do the work. the cycle way renewals seem like a very small budget and should be part of carriageway renewals or allow for complete removal /redesign of existing routes that have failures still. [Transport - Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]

I see when it comes to transport your prioritising cycle ways. I think it would be beneficial to look into increasing bus lanes. I've been bussing to work this year and it takes me an hour and 20 minutes to get home on the bus compared to 40 minutes in the car. That doesn't make public transport very attractive. I'm doing this because I actively want to be sustainable and because it's cheaper. However, most people do not think this way. If taking the bus didn't take twice or sometimes three times as long as commuting by far more cheaper than petrol. There was no mention of bus lanes in this plan and I urge you to consider changing this. Adding bus lanes will encourage more people to use public transport which is more economical and sustainable.

Congratulations on cycleway development subsequent to earthquakes. I am shocked to see that $3,765,171 allocated in current amended LTP for Wheels to Wings has now been slashed in the proposed draft LTP 2023-2024 to $1,565,171. I query why money has been allocated to the Northern Line when much of this is area can be accessed from the excellent Christchurch Northern Corridor. When looking at the recent (October 2023) cycleway map of Christchurch the areas of Burnside , Bryndwr, Bishopdale, Hyde Park and Harewood have no of safe cycleways. I am a frequent user of safe cycleways since I took up cycling 15 years ago.

I would like money to be more fairly distributed as discussed above as the particular areas of Christchurch mentioned are unable to access safe cycleways in these areas. I would urge you to share this vision and allocate funds to enable a faster completion of this cycleway

1806 - James Edwards

I'm really concerned about the new financial plans. Here's why this approach doesn't make sense and what we should consider instead: 1. Cycle Lanes: Keep It Simple: Do we really need the fancy cycle lanes right now? Let's start with basic paths to keep cyclists safe from traffic and only shell out for high-end stuff if we really need it later. Spending big from the get-go isn't wise.

We need to freeze any new cycle lane projects for now. When we do move forward, we should focus on cost-effective solutions rather than extravagant and expensive installations. It's essential we consider the actual usage and need before investing heavily.

1814 - Jenny Atkin

The new financial plan and your approach doesn't make sense and is of a high concern. I suggest to simplify things and adhere to the essential things that are absolutely a priority. For example, when talking about cycle lanes: we don't need expensive cycle lanes right now, but rather we can focus on more cost effective solutions such as basic paths which are cheaper and will keep cyclists safe from cars.

I believe there is a need to freeze any new cycle lane projects for now. Instead, we need to focus on more cost-effective solutions rather than extravagant and expensive infrastructure that will drain our resources that are already maxed out.

1. Prioritising Public Transport and Bike Lanes: Our city's infrastructure should prioritise safe, efficient public transport and comprehensive cycle networks. As a frequent cyclist, I've witnessed the urgent need for safer biking routes firsthand, especially following recent accidents. I urge the Council to: - Create an interconnected, protected cycleway network across the city. - Incorporate bike lanes and pedestrian safety measures as integral components of all road development projects.

I'd like to highlight several critical areas that Council should prioritise: 2. Completion of all Major Cycle Routes (MCRs) and Local Connections by 2026: Investing in safe cycling infrastructure is imperative for reducing traffic congestion, improving air quality, and promoting sustainable transportation alternatives. Fulfilling these commitments will enhance the city's cycling network and encourage more residents to embrace cycling as a viable mode of transportation.

[Transport > Cycleways]

In reviewing the proposed capital spend or capital programme, I urge the Council to prioritise investments in public transport and bike lanes. Enhancing these aspects not only reduces traffic congestion but also improves air quality and promotes healthier lifestyles. I've personally experienced the dangers of inadequate cycling infrastructure firsthand, witnessing accidents and near misses on my daily route. It's imperative to invest more heavily in comprehensive cycle lanes to ensure safety for cyclists. I would like to see an interconnected, protected cycleway network citywide and integrating bike lanes and pedestrian safety as primary objectives in all road development projects, rather than as mere afterthoughts. This approach will not only encourage cycling as a safe alternative to driving but also contribute to a more sustainable and livable city for all residents.

2187 - Rylee Single

Transport includes cycleways. Finish the projects you currently have going and fix the areas of our city that are incredibly dangerous to cyclists, including around school zones where children and youth are cycling during high quantities of traffic more on active mode infrastructure. The cycleways that have been built so far are amazing and are making a real difference, keep it up.

2200 - Janna Robinson

Also cycle lanes are a great idea but they should not be at the expense of roads. The new cycle lane by Hagley park is unacceptable. There is a huge area of land within Hagley park for bikes (and a much safer option than the road) and you have removed an entire lane off Kilmore St so traffic is backed up and bottlenecked. That cycle lane is not in the interests of people working in the city.

Investment in public transport and bike lanes is vital. Every person that elects to use these transport options is effectively one less car/vehicle on the road.

I accept the risk wrt the uncertainty around the change in government, however Christchurch needs to lead the way and continue investment in public transport and cycleways. The North East cycle way is a vital missing link - Shirley Boys/Avonside Girls, Burwood Hospital and all people living in the northeast have very little access to quality separated Cycle Lanes (we love our ones in the SouthEast - Thanks :)).

228 - Martin Tatchell

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Public Transport]

Reduce the cities reliance on cars. This city could be the best in the world for bikes and public transport.

2289 - Leonie Jackson

No - Not enough is spent on improving cycleways. The work done on them, so far, is great, but we need more of them, linking major routes, and reducing pressure on roads.

2295 - Katja Charmley

Additionally, while cycling improvements are essential, we must acknowledge that they might not be feasible for everyone, especially the elderly or families with young children. Therefore, it's crucial to consider a diverse range of transportation options to cater to different needs.

2308 - Sarah Elicker

In general, all the planned cycleways need to come back and sped up to the original timetable in the last plan. They could be temporary / low cost options, as long as they were safe. This is the best bang for our buck in terms of our air quality (see below), safety of our kids and our climate change commitments. There were 462 premature deaths attributed to human-made air pollution in Christchurch in 2016. The bulk of this air pollution is caused by exhaust fumes by fossil fuel vehicles. CRAF & CERF projects have been cut, and these need to be added back in and brought forward in the programme. Specifically: - The cycle link along Aldwins Road and Ensors Road, making it safer for students to bike to Te Aratai College, which will reduce congestion. – unnecessary expenditure delayed until being more affordable for ratepayers le cycle ways are not an immediate necessity, so should be delayed.

Acknowledge the construction of some footpaths is planned, but is contingent on developers doing the do. Prior to these many developments, Sutherlands Road was a rural road and probably fit for purpose, but with the areas urban development in the last decade (ish) it is now way behind being suitable and safe. Reducing the speed on Sutherlands would be an improvement, but this is nothing in comparison to footpath, their construction is a must for this community. 2. At the terminus/end of the Quarry Mans bike trail at the road crossing lights opposite the Halswell Zone Substation for cyclists continuing along Sparks Road (i.e. away from town, towards Sutherlands Road and beyond), there is minimal space at the road's edge here for cyclists and vehicles to safely share the road. Again this infrastructure is aged and not fit for purpose, and improvements needed. Not advocating the same for the opposite side of the road (i.e., city bound) as cyclists should be encouraged/directed to use Milns Road and connect with the Quarry Mans trail etc. 3. Te Kuru Wetland, thank you what a fabulous community asset this is and will become. Some benches around the reserve will be a real bonus for some of its many (and growing number of) users. Thank you and ka kite ano.

2434 - Philip Bones

However, the design of some of the cycleways are an overkill and therefore have led to some waste of public money.

2445 - Joseph Davidson-Labout fast track new cycle lanes and bus lanes

2452 - Philippa J Flood

Please stop putting in cycle ways with corresponding very wide footpaths. This is an expensive waste of money . For example on Tuam st ,outside Alice Video, you cannot get out of your car safely if the traffic is flowing. The footpath has been made so wide and the road so narrow. It is very dangerous.

2464 - Bradley Moorfield

More funding is required to get people using alternative modes of transport. >>> More investment in cycleways.

Invest more in cycleways and public transport. Projects can be done quickly and cheaply and bring great value, e.g. the rolleston ave/park tce cycleway

2497 - Carolyn Lynn

More spend on cycle ways. Safe riding places will encourage more people of all ages to get active. Can see no downside to more money going into this form of transport.

2498 - REDACTED REDACTED

Overall yes, although i think that you need to reconsider the amount spent on cycle lanes. I think they are a good idea, i just think they are going to far. It will never be practical for everone to cycle. Weather isnt always great in Christchurch, not practical for shopping, not all workplaces have adequate facilities to allow people to shower and get ready for work. I bike for recreation, so I get that cycle ways can be good, I just think they are being put in areas where they really aren't required.

As noted previously, I think its great to have cycle ways but, i think we are now spending too much on this for the number of users as it isnt practical to cycle in many situations, and not all workplaces have facilities.

2499 - Amanda Ray

More work needs to be done on cycleways, especially in the north east!!

2508 - Oliver Hutchison

Delays to the major cycle routes programme are unacceptable; this programme needs to be drastically sped up and brought forward. I support a quick roll out of 'cheap and cheerful' active transport infrastructure across the city similar to the well-used Park Tce cycleway.

Bring forward investment in the Major Cycle Routes programme, or at least return to the funding rollout of the Current Amended LTP 2024-2034. Bring back the funding for the Local Cycle Network (LCN) and Cycle Connections plans.

I also support adding the following CERF projects programmes back into the council capital programme: - The new cycle route in Richmond that will connect cyclists from the north to the south of Richmond. This should also be connected to the OARC. - The Cycle Link along Aldwins Road and Ensors Road, making it safer for students to bike to Te Aratai College. - Upgrades to the Aldwins/Ensors/Ferry and Aldwins/Buckleys/Linwood intersections. Specifically the safe speed platforms. - The scheduled pedestrian improvements in 10 locations in Linwood to help tamariki travel to Whitau School. - A cycle-friendly environment along Smith Street so people can cycle safely to Te Pou Toetoe: Linwood Pool and Te Waka Unua School on Ferry Road.

2516 - Robin Palmer

Comments: Stop further work on cycleways that follow existing streets. They are over-designed, narrow roads and limit parking. Removal of street parking will reduce property values.

2533 - Steven Muir

more cycleway development particularly in the East of the city would be preferred.

decrease money spent on car roads and increase money for cycleways.

190 million for cycleways should be increased to ensure faster delivery and increased coverage of the cycleway network.

2540 - Jocelyn and Caroline Pappill and Syddall

We have enough roading infrastructure now; what we need is to complete the cycleways projects so they are inter-connected. As people who cycle daily our pleasure in cycling has increased now we can access a greater number of safe cycleways to and from work.

More of the spending in the transport capital spend programme must support a mode shift towards active and public transport, for example >>> increasing the width and distance of protected bike lanes. We'd also like to see the completion of the urban cycle network with a particular emphasis on the Ōtakaro Avon River Route as this will be a magnet for visitors to our city, and the reality is the east of Christchurch is poorly served by dedicated cycleways currently.

2545 - Antony Gough (Terrace Christchurch Ltd)

The building of cycle ways is a huge burden on the city and needs to be slowed down to match available funding.

2559 - Michael Campbell

>>> Expedite the rollout of Major Cycle Routes (MCRs), placing particular emphasis on the Ōtakaro-Avon River and North-East Cycle Route, which would serve areas currently underserved by existing infrastructure. The removal of the majority of the Local Cycle Network (LCN) and Cycle Connections programs from the Draft Long Term Plan (LTP) Capital Programme is concerning. These programs play a vital role in improving both local and major cycle infrastructure, facilitating safer and more accessible cycling routes across the city. I support complete and full reinstatement of these projects to ensure the city's cycling infrastructure remains robust and inclusive and to give people genuine choice in transportation. Lastly, I completely support heeding the advice from He Pou a Rangi - Climate Change Commission to complete projects related to Major Cycle Routes, Local Cycle Network, or Cycle Connections programs by no later than 2030, aligning with the recommended completion of Rapid Transit Networks by 2035. >>>

More funding for cycleways

2584 - Susan Stevens

stop spending on extravagant cycleways

Stop developing cycleways until the budget is in surplus.

2586 - Leeann Watson (Business Canterbury)

The Council should take care to ensure that spending on alternative transport modes is targeted and prioritised (or funded) based on the ability to reduce congestion and within the context of other methods of reducing congestion (i.e. increased speed limits, light phasing etc). Business Canterbury supports the Nor'West Arc, Northern Line, Wheels to Wings and South Express projects but suggests that there might be other funding priorities for the Council to promote sustainable growth outside of starting work on recreational cycleways given the wider impact that needs to be taken into account.

259 - Margaret McEvedy

Agree cycle lanes are important but can we call a halt until finances are in a better state.

2595 - Nicola Hely

and think that more funds should be put towards infrastructure that supports cycling>>> I'm a keen cyclist and active person, and while the existing cycle lanes have helped, I am still not always safe or able to cycle places I'd like to because of the lack of safe and connected cycle lanes. If we make cycling safer and easier, more people will cycle and there will be less pollution. Investing in cycle infrastructure >>> will mean there won't be a need for more road maintenance.

The Major Cycle Routes must not be delayed any further. The work needs to be done as quickly as possible and should have increased funding. Emissions reductions can easily be achieved by supporting people to cycle. Why not even get going with a quick and cheap option like make a cycleway on Park Terrace?

I've also noticed how often bike parks are missing around the city. For example South Hagley Park where the South Express cycleway enters the park - nothing. The sports grounds are so busy but there is absolutely nowhere to park bikes - just a lot of car parks. The major cycle routes must all be continued and completed without any more delays, and the Local Cycle Network and Cycle Connections programme must be brought back. I also want to see these projects reinstated because they all offer improvements in travel choice, safety, and amenities for busy areas: 53733 – Heathcote Street Pocket Park & Pedestrian Development 53734 – Ferrymead Towpath Connection (FM5) 914 – Core Public Transport Corridor & Facilities – South (Colombo St) 60276 – Public Transport Improvement Programme (Brougham & Moorhouse Area) 60250 – Programme – Electric Vehicle

As a Riccarton resident I often travel to Barrington to visit the library or shop. I want to see the cycleway along Simeon Street project added back into the capital programme. It would connect the Little River Link, the Quarryman's Trail and the mall making it useful for so many cyclists and residents. I would feel safer and happier to cycle there, which would in turn support those businesses I visit to shop at.

2599 - Susan Miller

Cycle ways - how many people are already using these? Maybe in future years, when numbers have improved then this can be re-introduced

2619 - Laura Cosgrove

Bike lanes and the progression are not an immediate need. >>> Halt the cycleway until the roads that need to be sorted are.

The transport could be delayed by cutting back on cycleways

2624 - Colin Ong

How much will the cycleways actually cost - please refer my point on budget blowouts. Also, putting cycleways on roads that were never actually designed for them in the first place leads to a lose-lose situation as cyclists may not feel safe riding them and so use could be minimal, while cutting down lanes restricts through flow of traffic and sacrificing parking lots will anger business owners on affected routes.

2639 - Callum Ward (Waihoru Spreydon Cashmere Heathcote Community Board)

Safe Transport Choices are a key priority in the Waihoru Spreydon-Cashmere-Heathcote Community Board Plan, so in order to achieve these the Board wishes to see the following:

- Bring back the MCRs (3) Southern Lights, Simeon St (build) and Ōpāwaho River Routes. In particular the Board would like to see the planning and engagement components, of these projects, which are the least costly, so these projects are shovel ready when the immediate budget constraints have passed.
- Funding be found for the design of connector cycleways in the Community Board area, including Sparks Road-Westmorland through to Princess Margaret Hospital
- Requests the Innovating Streets projects and transitional projects have a planned pathway to permanence.
- Funding be found for the Te Aratai

College Cycle Connection, which although it is not actually in Waihoru is paramount for the safety of students from this Community Board area to get to school.

2699 - Graham Beswick

Any large new plans for modes of transport such as the Wheels to Wings cycleway which cuts down one lane of a busy Harewood Rd and obstructs business access should be reconsidered as the cost for something of this nature I personally don't think would be fully utilised. An option put forward if the cycleway was to proceed would be to put it down the island in the centre of the road, on both sides of the trees, I do think it is waste of ratepayers money when there are so much earthquake damaged still to be repaired

2701 - Blair Smith

And nowhere near enough on creating a safe and connected infrastructure asset for other forms of transport, notably cycling.

The proposed delays on new major cycle ways are scary and unacceptable. Cycleway development doesn't need to be capital intensive, but it must be prioritised to move forward. I'd suggest working with transport engineers who don't design in traffic lights every 50m (that would save quite a bit!), and instead look for simpler approaches - a good one would be the removal of on street parking (it's crazy that you currently prioritise some dude being able to park his ute on the public roadway for free, over the safety of people (including kids) passing by on bikes.

[Transport > Footpaths & Streetscapes (Capital)]

Don’t dig up the roads for new cycleways, this is completely unnecessary, use existing footpaths, remove the grass berms and replace with pavement as in town. Apparently overseas they use removable plastic berms, which require a fraction of the time to install, and could be used to extend the existing footpaths if necessary. Make them dual purpose, saving the cost to residents without lawnmowers an added cost and keeping our streets tidy with no overgrown eyesores where property managers haven’t bothered to maintain them.

2758 - Christopher Seay

Delaying active and public transport improvements (e.g., Major Cycle Routes) is irresponsible and unacceptable. These routes should be prioritised and added to as the best way we can meet our climate targets is to shift travel away from single occupant cars. Please continue the MCR's and consider implementing quick cycle infrastructure (like Rolleston Ave/Park Terrace) in areas all over the city. The more of these the better!

programme?

The work on cycleways could be pushed out to later years. They are also overengineered in many places and make it difficult for faster cyclists to pass slower cyclists. The curbs can be a hazard for learner riders with less confidence and are not as visible as the bright white lines and green paint.

2788 - Dr Kate Prendergast and Prof Bronwyn Hayward (Te Aratai College students in the Mana Rangatahi Programme)

We welcome the opportunity to provide feedback on the Christchurch City Council's Draft Long Term Plan 2024-2034. We are University of Canterbury academics, with expertise in climate politics and environmental sociology, submitting on behalf of a group of Pasifika students from Te Aratai College whom we are collaborating with for the Mana Rangatahi programme. We strongly recommend the Council fully fund the Te Aratai College cycle connection¹ in the Long Term Plan without relying on central government funding. 2. We submit the following comments to support this view. 2.1 We have been collaborating with Māori and Pacific students from two schools in a high flood risk community for the Mana Rangatahi research programme. One school is Te Aratai College. The Mana Rangatahi programme uses culturally informed approaches to help students and their communities think about climate change leadership and decision making.² Students in the programme identified key challenges facing their communities. Te Aratai College students identified safe, low emissions transport as a key priority for their community. 2.2 The cycleway will make it safer for students to get to school. Te Aratai College's school roll has almost doubled in the last five years, and numbers of students cycling to school are rapidly increasing. A dedicated, separated cycleway will provide a much safer option for students given Aldwins/Ensors Roads are high volume, high traffic roads. Research also shows us that people are more likely to cycle, and to support their children to cycle, when they feel safe from traffic. 2.3 The cycleway will support low emissions transport. Te Aratai College students identified low emissions transport as a priority. Transport is Christchurch City's top emitting sector³ and rapid, urgent action is needed to reduce the city's emissions, including investment in cycleways (as well as footpaths and public transport). 3. In summary, the Te Aratai College cycle connection should not be contingent on central government funding, rather we strongly urge the Council to prioritise and fully fund the cycleway in the Long Term Plan 2024-2034.

2817 - Emma Twaddell (St Albans Residents' Association)

We like the work done on the cycleways so far. Wheels to Wings and cycleways such as this should proceed, with less costly design. Then there can be more focus on more streets to make them safer both for cyclists and pedestrians. For a St Albans example, more plans to separate our children on bikes, scooters or foot, from the traffic should be made.

2819 - Beth Rouse (Avebury House Community Trust)

So much of the heritage of this city has been lost. Avebury House, situated on the river which was so significant in the early history of Christchurch, plays an important role in safeguarding a wonderful structural example and many associated memories of this era. Avebury House and others in the corridor are well-placed to provide added value in this area with community-led projects such as Heritage & Art Trails, our Anzac Walk, and other initiatives integrating with the City-to-Sea Pathway. The City-to-Sea Pathway will create more connectivity with the east part of Christchurch. It is imperative that this is completed successfully and sensitively, but the East is also missing its commuter cycle route. These are two different cycleways - one that meanders along the river, and one that gets people in and out of the city for work. Both are required. The rebuild of the Pages Rd Bridge has a significant part to play in enhancing this connectivity

2823 - Aurora Garner-Randolph (School Strike For Climate Ōtautahi)

Road spending is not worth it unless it also supports pedestrians, cyclists, and public transport users.

2827 - Carley Dove-McFalls (Generation Zero Ōtautahi)

Transport is Christchurch's highest emitting sector at 54% of gross emissions. We therefore believe a lot more of the spending in the transport capital spend programme must support a mode shift towards active and public transport (e.g., transferring more road space to becoming designated bus lanes, increasing the distance of protected bike lanes, etc.) GZ suggests creating a priority list for cycleways if national government funding dries up. The east side of the city is massively underserved in terms of bike infrastructure and therefore should be prioritised in this case. However, we urge the CCC to increase its rates to fund these urgently needed projects.

2832 - Riley Neupauer (University of Canterbury Green Party)

Every MCR must be completed by 2026, as promised by Papanui Ward councillor when the project was announced, and which the Council has been delaying on. The MCRs to be completed by 2026 are: Nor'West Arc, Northern Line, South Express, Wheels to Wings, Southern Lights, Avon-Ōtākaro, and Ōpāwaho; all of these must be funded in the 2024/2025 financial year, and finished by 2026, so that residents can get around the city without contributing to the climate crisis and paying through the nose to petrol stations.

2836 - Jillian Frater

No. There is not enough investment in cycle infrastructure or traffic safety (by lowering speeds), particularly in the next three years

We need continued and increased investment in active and public transport

The Major Cycle Routes programme should be delivered faster. Other extensions to the MCRs that are currently not funded should be done by rolling out cheaper infrastructure, similar to what has been done of Park Terrace and Rolleston Avenue.

I consider the Council should prioritise active transport

I also consider that the removal of the majority of the Local cycle Network (LCN) and Cycle Connections programmes from the Draft LTP Capital Programme is not acceptable. In particular, I support the route the Te Aratai Cycle connection. I also support the completion of the Wheels to Wings Cycleway.

2839 - Teresa von der Heiden

$58 million for general footpath and cycleway renewals sounds not enough, for instance compared to the proposed $119 million on signals, signs and lights. Many (most) Christchurch roads have little pieces of bike pathes, often only 100m or so long which suddenly disappear and somewhere reappear. Often it is a puzzle where to bike. Sometimes the bike path is on the footpath until it suddenly stops.

One example is Riccarton Avenue coming from Riccarton Rd. It starts on the footpath next to the road and then continues on the road, suddenly appears on the footpath again, ending at a pedestrian traffic light by the hospital, continuing but only for cyclists who want to go left into town. Cyclists who want to continue to Tuam St have to squeeze in a narrow car lane to ride to Tuam Street where they are supposed to ride on the bus lane to get to the cycleway along Tuam Street. The traffic light phases on Tuam Street are set ridiculously. Cyclists basically have to stop at every light as you can't get there when it is green for cyclists, no matter how fast or slow you ride. And this is only an example. Almost every street needs improvements making it bike friendly and safe. Lights don't recognize cyclists waiting when there is no car waiting as well which means cyclists have to cross junctions at red light sometimes which is very unsafe for instance at Riccarton Rd - Deans Ave junction. Another issue I want to point out is the bike/scooter/pedestrian path on the southern side along Riccarton Avenue in the park. There are 3 streets where cars enter/ exit the Hagley Oval car parks. Cars that usually go through slowly. According to the current road rules they have right of way which means cyclists/scooterists have to slow down/ stop for cars going in and out of the carparks while cyclists, scooterists and pedestrians go straight at a certain speed. I don't see any reason why the traffic straight through shouldn't have the right of way there. Cars coming and going into Riccarton Ave should watch out and give way. These are only 2 examples of improvements that need to be done to make cycling better and safer in Christchurch. All those improvements would need much more money allocated. In regards to the completion of the Northern Line cycleway which includes the section between Blenheim and Kilmarnock it seems that no funding has been allocated for this section. This project was approved by the council when my oldest child was 5. She is now 13 and we are still waiting for it to happen. Is it only a short section but it would be important as it would connect several cycleways. We also think that crossing Kilmarnock St by Mona Vale Ave is a nightmare and not safe at all as there is a lot of traffic plus the railway line. It is used by many students every day. This crossing seems to depend on the section of the cycleway which is due for so many years which is not understandable.

2842 - Ants Field

I urge the CCC to REDUCE INEQUITABLE ACCESS TO CYCLEWAY INFRASTRUCTURE IN OUR CITY by urgently beginning work on the Ōtākaro Avon River cycle path route and proposed North-East cycle path route as the East of Christchurch is severely lacking in active transport infrastructure.

2845 - Erin Todd

It is unacceptable and irresponsible to delay the major cycle routes programme. Instead, this programme should be fast-tracked and can be done more simply with lower costs like the Rolleston Ave/Park Terrace cycleway. This will allow people to have easy, safe access to separated cycling infrastructure sooner.

Yes. Continue rolling out the major cycle routes programme and bring back the local cycle network and cycle connections programmes that have been delayed or cancelled. Also, provide better public transport options and increase the number of bus lanes to make public transport more attractive to potential users.

The climate emergency response fund cycling and pedestrian infrastructure improvements (e.g., Simon Street and Smith Street cycleways, cycle link along Aldwins and Ensors Road, cycle connection on Cashmere Road, pedestrian improvements in Linwood, safer intersections in Bromley, etc.) that were removed from the capital programme should be added back.

2848 - Glen Koorey

It is vital to continue (and potentially accelerate) the wonderful cycleway work that has already seen increases in cycle numbers of over 40% since their start. If cost and speed is a concern, I'd urge you to look at the way that Wellington City has rolled out a lot of cycleways in very quick time for lower costs - similar to the recent Rolleston Ave cycleway.

[Transport > Roads (Capital)], [Parks > Sports Grounds & Facilities], [Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)], [Grants & Funding > Other Contestable Funds]

Too much money is allocated to road and sport field maintenance. Road maintenance would be better spent investing in active transport and public transport infrastructure. This is especially true to cycling, where the benefits on public health and safety are numerous, and costs are low. Sport field maintenance could better be spent on improving biodiversity funding through actions such as increased regenerative planting and support for biodiversity funds.

It is also imperative that cycleway plans are prioritized. The Nor'West Arc, Northern Line, Wheels to Wings and South Express Cycleways must all be finished by 2025. Furthermore, Bike lanes along memorial avenue must be built by 2025 as students from Cobham, Burnside primary, Burnside high, and other schools in the area are currently at high risk of collision. Generally, active transport should receive more funding due to the positive health effects.

The delays to the Major Cycle Routes program are irresponsible for current and future generations. Christchurch houses the two electorates where the most amount of people cycle to work, and the highest for people who cycle to study. This shows a demand for cycle routes within the city. As well as the cycle lanes outlined above, the full Local Cycle Network, and Cycle Connections programs should be returned to the LTP.

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Creating a Climate Fund]

The cutting of numerous climate emergency response fund projects is counter to the council's goal of safeguarding its residents. As a result the cycle connections along Aldwins road, Cashmere road and Simeon street all need to be reinstated.

2872 - Kim Money

I do not support over engineered cycleways. These commuter cycleways are premature at this point in our transport infrastructure budget. Recreational cycleways would be a more inclusive way of encouraging people to get into cycling, then in time look at more commuter cycleways when the numbers reflex the real need. Wheels to Wings is not a priority at this point. Many city residents would like to see roads and footpaths fixed first.

2886 - David Fleming

Focus on the needs of the majority. Too much emphasis listening to the minority groups. ie cyclists to the detriment of the majority of road users without consideration of the impact. ie businesses and others.

Investment in Cycle Infrastructure: The current allocation of capital towards road maintenance is substantial, and while maintaining our roads is undoubtedly important, I propose that a greater investment be made in cycle infrastructure. Cycling infrastructure requires relatively low maintenance compared to roads and offers numerous benefits, including promoting active lifestyles and reducing traffic congestion. By investing in a more extensive and safer network of cycle paths, we can encourage a shift towards active transport, which aligns with the Council's strategic priorities of creating a green, liveable city and reducing emissions. Impact on Road Wear: Encouraging the use of active and public transport can lead to a reduction in road wear over time. As more residents choose cycling or public transport over personal vehicles, we can expect a decrease in the frequency and cost of road repairs. This shift not only supports our environmental goals but also presents an opportunity for cost savings in the long term.

[Transport > Roads (Capital)]

Recommendations In light of these considerations, I recommend the following adjustments to the Draft Long Term Plan: - Reallocate a portion of the funds designated for road maintenance towards the development and expansion of cycle infrastructure.

Concerns with the Major Cycle Routes Programme: The Draft LTP's approach to the MCRs programme appears to be characterised by delays and potential underfunding. This is concerning for several reasons: - Safety and Accessibility:

The MCRs are crucial for ensuring the safety and accessibility of cycling infrastructure in Christchurch. Delays in the programme could compromise the safety of cyclists and deter potential cyclists from adopting this mode of transport.

- Environmental and Health Benefits: Cycling offers significant environmental and health benefits, including reduced carbon emissions and improved physical fitness. Accelerating the MCRs programme would support the city's broader sustainability and public health goals.
- Economic Efficiency: The suggestion to adopt a "cheap and cheerful" approach, similar to the cycleway implementations on Park Terrace and Rolleston Avenue, presents an opportunity to expedite the rollout of safe cycling infrastructure at reduced initial capital costs. This approach could provide immediate benefits while allowing for future enhancements as funding becomes available.

Recommendations for Re-prioritisation: Given the above considerations, it is recommended that the Christchurch City Council re-evaluates the prioritisation within its capital programme, specifically:

- Accelerate the MCRs Programme: Increase the allocation towards the MCRs programme to ensure its acceleration. This could involve adopting cost-effective implementation strategies that allow for quicker rollout without compromising safety or quality.
- Review and Adjust Funding Allocations: Conduct a thorough review of the current funding allocations within the capital programme to identify opportunities to reallocate resources towards the MCRs programme without significantly impacting other critical areas.
- Engage with the Community: Continue to engage with residents, particularly cyclists and potential cyclists, to gather feedback on the most pressing needs and preferences regarding cycling infrastructure. This engagement should inform While the Draft LTP 2024-2034 demonstrates a commitment to addressing key infrastructure needs in Christchurch, there is a clear opportunity to enhance the plan by accelerating the MCRs programme. Doing so would not only improve safety and accessibility for cyclists but also support the city's environmental, health, and economic objectives. It is imperative that the Council considers these recommendations to ensure that the capital programme truly reflects the priorities and needs of Christchurch residents.

Major Cycle Routes Programme: The continuation of the MCRs programme without delay is crucial for promoting cycling as a safe and viable mode of transport in Christchurch. The current delays to the MCRs programme are concerning, and it is recommended that the funding models for the following MCRs programmes be returned to the allocations outlined in the Current Amended LTP 2024-2034:

- Wheels to Wings Route (Section 1) Harewood to Greers
- Nor'West Arc Route (Section 3) University to Harewood
- Opāwaho River Route (Sections 1, 2, and 3)
- Heathcote Expressway Route (Section 2) Tannery to Martindales
- Southern Lights Route (Section 1) Strickland to Tennyson
- Ōtākaro Avon Route (Sections 1, 2, and 3)
- Northern Line Cycleway
- South Express Route (Section 2) Craven to Buchanans
- Nor'West Arc Route – Annex, Birmingham & Wrights Corridor Improvement

Accelerating the rollout of these MCRs is essential for providing residents with safe and accessible cycling infrastructure, thereby encouraging a shift towards sustainable transport options.

Local Cycle Network and Cycle Connections Programmes: The reinstatement of the LCN and Cycle Connections programmes is also recommended to enhance the cycling infrastructure across various wards in Christchurch. These programmes are vital for creating a cohesive network that connects different parts of the city and facilitates easier and safer cycling for all residents. The following LCN and Cycle Connections programmes should be brought back:

- Cycle Connections and Local Cycle Network programmes across Burwood, Fendalton, Harewood, Waimairi, Halswell, Hornby, Riccarton, Central, Innes, Cashmere, and Heathcote Wards.

[Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]

In conclusion, while the Draft LTP 2024-2034 demonstrates a commitment to addressing key transport infrastructure needs in Christchurch, there is a clear opportunity to enhance the plan by prioritizing public transport options, accelerating the MCRs programme, reinstating the LCN and Cycle Connections programmes, and funding separate projects for improved travel choice and amenities. Doing so would not only improve safety and accessibility for all modes of transport but also support the city's environmental, health, and economic objectives. It is imperative that the Council considers these recommendations to ensure that the transport and cycleway projects truly reflect the priorities and needs of Christchurch residents.

The CERF projects are essential for enhancing the city's resilience to climate change and for promoting sustainable transport options. The omission of these projects from the capital programme is a significant concern, as they are critical for achieving the Council's strategic priorities related to climate change mitigation and active transport.

Specific CERF Projects to be Reinstated: The following CERF projects are recommended for inclusion in the capital programme:

- Cycle Link along Aldwins Road and Ensors Road: This project is vital for creating a safer environment for students cycling to Te Aratai College and for reducing congestion during peak times.
- Cycle Connection on Cashmere Road: The connection between Hoon Hay Road and Oderings Garden Centre will facilitate safer cycling routes for the community.
- Cycleway along Simeon Street: This cycleway will connect key cycling routes such as the Little River Link and Quarryman's Trail and improve access to local amenities like Barrington Shopping Centre and Ngā Puna Wai sports facilities.
- >>> - Cycle-Friendly Environment along Smith Street: Enhancing the cycling infrastructure along Smith Street will encourage active transport to local destinations such as Te Pou Toetoe: Linwood Pool and Te Waka Unua School.
- New Cycle Route in Richmond: The development of a cycle route that connects the north and south of Richmond is essential for providing continuous and safe cycling pathways for residents. The inclusion of these CERF projects in the capital programme is essential for promoting sustainable transport, improving safety, and enhancing the quality of life for Christchurch residents. These projects align with the Council's strategic priorities and community outcomes, and their implementation will contribute to the city's efforts to address climate change and encourage active transport. It is recommended that the Christchurch City Council re-evaluates the capital programme to ensure these critical CERF projects are included and adequately funded within the Draft LTP 2024-2034.

Concerns Regarding Transportation and Green Initiatives. Cycle Infrastructure and Public Transport: The decision to scale back on cycle infrastructure and reduce the prioritization of public transport appears to be a step away from the Council's vision of enhancing Christchurch's status as a green and liveable city. Christchurch has the potential to be one of the leading cycling cities globally, provided there is substantial investment in creating a cohesive and extensive cycling infrastructure. The current approach in the LTP, which seems to favor partial solutions, may not fully realize this potential. The lack of comprehensive inter-community connections in the cycling network could result in underutilization of the Major Cycle Routes (MCRs). These routes will not achieve their full potential without robust local infrastructure to support them. Similarly, the public transport network requires more substantial investment to make it a more appealing and efficient alternative to driving, which could help reduce overall journey times and enhance user experience.

>>> Recommendations: - Reevaluate Transportation Priorities: Increase investment in cycling infrastructure and public transport to ensure these systems are comprehensive, connected, and capable of supporting a significant modal shift away from car dependency.

2930 - Jo Bethell (Te Aratai College Board)

This submission is solely relates to comments on the cycleways provisions

The Te Aratai College board is pleased to see that the council has allocated funding for construction and extension of cycleways, that there are targets to increase the number of people cycling, and a plan to increase combined cycling and bus lanes transport by 10 km per year (we hope this will be dominated by cycle lanes!) However, the board is very disappointed that the Te Aratai cycle connection has not been identified as a cycleway for construction in the LTP. Te Aratai College has a continuously increasing student role, with a current role around 1200 students and a growing cycling community. The board remains concerned about the safety of our students cycling to Te Aratai College along Aldwins road in particular. Aldwins road speed limit has been maintained at 60km/hr including directly outside of the school - despite the boards submission on reducing speed limits outside the school - and the Ferry Road/Aldwins/Ensors Road intersection is particularly dangerous for cyclists. The Te Aratai cycle connection has already been designed and approved by Council, and was designed to improve safety for students, staff and other residents cycling on Aldwins and Ensors Roads. We strongly urge the council to include, and prioritise, the construction of the Te Aratai cycle connection in the LTP to help our students in the East, and to help meet council targets for cycleways and cyclists.

My concern is that there is still salaried council employees and contracted specialists working on projects that we are not privy to and we presume that these projects have been put on hold, when we have no funds to support these projects in the short term? Ie: W2W cycleway? More spent on developing a more efficient user friendly bus-transport system and less time in departmental/internal engineered cycle way development and wasteful consultations.

Less time and money spent on overly engineered cycleways - more on practical and user friendly, less obtrusive "trial" cycleways with less impact on residential and business access ways and parking.

less spent on overly engineered obtrusive cycleways.

discounted levy for E bike purchases incorporated into rates fees, to make use of and encourage use of the overly gold plated expensive cycleways - future cycleways should be trialed, not so dangerous, and capable of multiuse for easier access, less obtrusive to all transport/pedestrian users.

I do not want the present plan for the cycle way on Harewood road to go ahead. I would support a more conservative plan for a cycle way perhaps on one side of the only.

2947 - Katia De Lu

[Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]

Given that transport is Ōtautahi | Christchurch's highest emitting sector at 54% of gross emissions, CCC needs to put more funding into public and active transport and mode shift from personal vehicle use towards active and public transport. >>> It is essential for CCC to invest more in cycle infrastructure (e.g. cycleways) - which requires very little maintenance - and public transport infrastructure (e.g. bus lanes). This will reduce traffic, which will reduce wear-and-tear on roads, reining in our ballooning road maintenance costs. It will also reduce greenhouse gas emissions and make our city a nicer place to live. Let's plan a future where kids can ride their bikes safely and confidently past flourishing waterways and greenspaces teeming with native wildlife, not a smog-choked dystopia of congested roads.

2. Please invest more in active and public transport. Please stop delaying cycleways and cutting cycleway funding. I urge the CCC to put more of its transport capital spending into a mode shift to active and public transport, for example by transferring more road space to becoming designated bus lanes, increasing the distance of protected bike lanes, etc.

(c) Making cycling safer and more appealing by rolling out more cycleways. (See below for more detail.) >>> Cycleways Expanding on point (c) above, I ask that CCC stop delaying and cutting funding for cycleways and instead speed up the rollout of cycleways. In particular, the east side of the city is critically under-served in terms of cycling infrastructure. Everyone in our city deserves a safe way to transition away from cars to cycling; this should not be a 'post code lottery'. I therefore ask that the CCC urgently prioritise: - the Ōtākaro Avon River Route, and - the proposed new north-east cycle route (as a large part of the east is not near a cycle path even with the Ōtākaro Avon River Route). Memorial Ave also desperately needs bike lanes. The students of Burnside, Westburn, Cobham, and other schools in the area deserve to be able to cycle to school safely. I am disappointed with the delays to the Major Cycle Routes. I urge you to pick up the pace and finish all of the following routes by 2025: - Nor'West Arc, - Northern Line, - Wheels to Wings, and - South Express. The CCC must reinstate the funding that was cut for the following Climate Emergency Response Fund projects: - The cycle link along Aldwins Road and Ensors Road, making it safer for students to bike to Te Aratai College, which will reduce congestion. - The cycle connection on Cashmere Road, between Hoon Hay Road and Oderings Garden Centre. - The cycleway along Simeon Street, which will connect cyclists to the Little River Link, Quarryman's Trail and Barrington Shopping Centre, and improving cycling connections for neighbourhoods such as Aidanfield and Ngā Puna Wai. >>> - A cycle-friendly environment along Smith Street so people can cycle safely to Te Pou Toetoe: Linwood Pool and Te Waka Unua School on Ferry Road. - A new cycle route in Richmond that will connect cyclists from the north to the south of Richmond. If cost is the barrier to completing this vital work, the CCC could look at how Wellington (and other cities around the world, e.g. Seville) are rolling out cycle networks faster and cheaper, taking a similar approach to the one used here in Ōtautahi | Christchurch on Park Ave.

- Expand our cycleways.

3012 - George Laxton

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?] No.

- We need to be investing more into cycleways as they will be a great investment for the future and help with the council's decarbonisation goal by enabling more active transport.
- Increasing levels of bicycle use and active transport means less wear and tear on our roads which is good for everyone.
- It also leads to connected communities, safer streets, quieter roads (less car traffic more bicycle traffic) and in less pollution.

We should not be spending money on roading infrastructure, I would like to see the MCR routes (all of them) completed in the next 2-3 years. They are long overdue. I understand there are cost pressures, but I think that a rates rise to pay for them would be very small (a fraction of a percentage) according to our mayor approximately 70 million in CAP Ex is about 1% in rates. For a project that looks like to cost in the low millions getting the rest of the projects going is a much better use of money in my opinion.

I would support the use of temporary infrastructure so that we can accelerate the number of people with access to a safe cycleway, but only if the council commits to coming back later and doing it properly.

Please fund and complete the following as soon as possible.

- Wheels to Wings, planned for a long time and ready to go. Just fund it and build it! This will make it a nice place to visit by walking, cycling or scooter.
- South Express (this will be amazing for Hornby and surrounding neighbourhoods where currently it sucks to get around in anything but a car)
- Otakaro Avon River Route (commuter link through to New Brighton) (super important to fill the current gap in the Eastside of Christchurch.
- Te Aratai College (Aldwins Road) where the govt funding was going to build a cycleway and funding was pulled.
- Westmorland cycleway connection and connection to the rest of the cycleways by tackling the bridge so it can connect safely to the Nor West Arc.
- Smaller connections such as
 - Connection of the Northern Line to the Northern Arterial cycleway along Northcote Road
 - Connecting the Nor West Arc and Little River link via Annex Road.
- Using the $20 million dollar fund to
 - Drastically improve cycle efficiency by adding in cycle sensors in more places and making them more cycle and pedestrian friendly instead of car priority lights. (Improving both cycle wait time and car driver wait times)

- Using some of the money to connect cycle routes together using temporary like the Rolleston/Park Terrace cycleway.

I think some of the climate driven initiatives are done because it's the right thing to do, not because it's the right thing to do right now. An example is the cycleway on Selwyn St, it makes the Southern Motorway far more congested. The motorway is fed by a large number of workers in the Wigram area in the industrial zone who all go via Parkhouse Rd because there is no bus service there nor onramps / offramps to the motorway on Awatea Rd. Congestion is increasing but the first step before changing light cycles on Selwyn to better suit the cycleway is to ensure the feeder locations have good public transport options and faster ways to clear from congested areas.

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration>Strategic Transport]; [Transport>Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]; [Strategic Direction>Have we got the balance right?]

Transport initiatives such as more reliable public transport and facilitating safe cycling are good but even more could be done. Christchurch is perfect for cycling, being flat and with a mainly dry climate. We should prioritise cycle lanes that physically protect cyclists and promote our city as a "cycle city" for sustainable tourism. Currently we would be inviting tourists to risk their lives on most of our roads. Cycleways are expensive but they will never be cheaper and reduce car travel.

It is great to see cycling supported but there needs to be much more done to make it a safe option.

3035 - Claire Coveney

I think pedestrian and cycle safety is paramount. Cycleways have made a huge difference, thank you, but there is more to plan for as urban sprawl seems unbridled, leading to more single car use and congestion.

All roads need cycle lane marking to give cyclists space and alert drivers they may be on the road. Even a white line with a bicycle on it. Nothing fancy. All Schools need safe cycle way routes and less car parks close to schools as they restrict view (St martins and Opawa). Aldwins Road is particularly dangerous and I understand a cycleway is planned. Memorial Ave is also dangerous So think you are prioritising Carriageway renewals too much and not safety. Do not neglect the East side.

Thank you for considering the needs of pedestrians, cyclists and people of all ages and abilities in your planning.

3055 - Josephine Drysdall

Of particular urgency is the Ōtākaro Avon River Route as the only cycleway currently planned for the underserved east. These cycle routes should also be completed by 2025: Nor'West Arc Northern Line Wheels to Wings South Express Memorial Ave Bike lanes

F. Project 41845 Quarryman's Trail Cycle Connections is not scheduled to start until 2027, with completion in 2031/32.

a. The proposed timing for this project is too late; the need is apparent right now.

i. Quarryman's Trail presently provides no access to Halswell School.

ii. People cannot easily access Quarryman's Trail across Halswell Road at morning and afternoon peak.

b. The proposed project is too limited.

i. Guessing from the term "connection" that full separation is not envisaged, we highlight that many streets in Halswell have large and growing traffic volumes, often at the time that people wish to bike either to school or to work.

ii. The extent of vehicle traffic means that painted cycle lanes are not enough, and there are few "quiet streets" left.

iii. City Council needs to front up to the cost of suburban sprawl style of development it has allowed, and upgrade the level of protection to people walking, scootering or biking around our suburb.

Action requested (8): bring forward Project 41845 Quarryman's Trail Cycle Connections, and increase its scope to meet on-the-ground conditions in Halswell.

b. The previous LTP included Project 44710 Local cycle network Halswell to Hornby, but this project has disappeared.

i. The project may have disappeared from the Draft LTP, but the need has not. Biking (or e-scootering) Halswell to Hornby is horrendous.

ii. Guessing from the wording in the previous LTP, full separation was not envisaged. As above, roads around both Halswell and Hornby are already extremely busy so that painted cycle lanes will not be enough.

Action requested (11): reinstate Project 44710 Local cycle network Halswell to Hornby, including provision for full separation.

c. Because of the rapid growth in vehicle traffic (including trucks) accessing the motorway (SH 76), Halswell Junction Road is noisy and shaky for adjoining residents, hard for residents to cross, and intimidating for people cycling or walking to Halswell School.

Action requested (12): Include in the final LTP a separated cycleway along Halswell Junction Road from Wigram Road to Halswell Road;

3077 - Mike Davidson

Disappointing that the cycleway programme has been pushed out. At this rate it will take 20 years to complete a 100km network. That is embarrassing. Cycleways should be rephased so it is completed before FY28/29. The Wheels to Wings cycleway should be constructed as soon as possible. Due to the significant and multiple benefits that's cycleways bring combined with the relatively small impact on rates, if Waka Kotahi does not provide funding, the programme should continue as planned and paid 100% by rates. It is unfair on communities who do not have safer cycling infrastructure and the city will not realise the full benefits of the cycleway programme until the network is complete. I support a new cycleway to Northeast and safe cycling infrastructure for students attending Te Aratai College.

[Grants & Funding > Arts Centre]

I was mortified to see that you are proposing spending $199m on cycleways and then not funding things like the Art Centre. I think there is a gross overestimation on the cycling requirements in Chch. I spent 6 weeks commuting from the Chch hospital in peak hour traffic earlier in the year (leaving between 5.00 and 5.15 pm) and the most I ever saw using the Tuam Street cycle lane was 2 people. Surely we can cut some of this funding and allocate it to other areas in Chch (like the Arts Centre).

See my previous comments regarding the proposed spend on cycleways, esp in light of the Govt and NZTA advising there will be no money coming from them. [Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]

Transport is Christchurch's highest emitting sector at 54% of gross emissions. I therefore believe a lot more of the spending in the transport capital spend programme must support a mode shift towards active and public transport (e.g., transferring more road space to becoming designated bus lanes, increasing the distance of protected bike lanes, etc.) I suggest creating a priority list for cycleways if national government funding dries up. The east side of the city is massively underserved in terms of bike infrastructure and therefore should be prioritised in this case.

2. I urge the CCC to REDUCE INEQUITABLE ACCESS TO CYCLEWAY INFRASTRUCTURE IN OUR CITY by urgently beginning work on the Ōtākaro Avon River cycle path route and proposed North-East cycle path route as the East of Christchurch is severely lacking in active transport infrastructure.

340 - David Wilkinson

cant we do cycleways cheaper? some of them seem to be hideously disruptive and expensive looking.

3411 - Marian Krogh (Protect Our Winters NZ)

A critical component of reducing a city's emissions comes from mode shift. We need to rapidly move people out of private cars, and into active and public transport modes. Many of POW's members are active, and own bikes, but the lack of safe cycling infrastructure is still a barrier. This money would be better to be invested in safe cycling infrastructure. Cycle lanes require very little maintenance. The more people are able to cycle around Christchurch, the healthier the population will be, the less congested the roads will be for those who really need them, and more importantly there will be much less climate pollution, and cleaner air for everyone.

[Coder note: Money to be spent on road maintenance]

Transport is the number one source of greenhouse gas emissions (54%) in Christchurch. Therefore a lot of money should be spent on reducing these emissions and encouraging a mode shift out of private cars to public and active transport. Too much money is being spent on roads with the goal of serving cars only. These roads need to be repaved and repaired much more often than cycle lanes.

POW finds it unacceptable that there have been such significant delays to the Major Cycle Routes (MCRs) programme. Christchurch has some of the highest rates of people who cycle to work or study. This means this programme needs to have more funding, and sped up, rather than defunded and delayed. There are plenty of examples from around the world of cycle networks that have been built quickly and cheaply. Denver, Austin, and Seville are some. New York, Paris, and Bogota are three cities that have simply reallocated road space to cycle space with resulting huge increases in cyclists. This is similar to the Park Terrace cycleway. Cheap, quick, and allows for a trial before committing to any long term infrastructure. Here are some cycleways that POW would encourage prioritising: Wheels to Wings Ōtākaro

Avon River Route New North East Cycle Route Overall cycling infrastructure should be prioritised on the eastern side of the city.

The following Climate Emergency Response Fund projects have been cut, and need to be added back in: The Cycle Link along Aldwins Road and Ensors Road, making it safer for students to bike to Te Aratai College, a move which will reduce congestion at peak times. The Cycle Connection on Cashmere Road, between Hoon Hay Road and Oderings Garden Centre. The Cycleway along Simeon Street, which will connect cyclists to the Little River Link, Quarryman's Trail, and Barrington Shopping Centre; and improve cycling connections for neighbourhoods such as Aidanfield and the sports facilities at Ngā Puna Wai.

A cycle-friendly environment along Smith Street so people can cycle safely to Te Pou Toetoe: Linwood Pool and Te Waka Unua School on Ferry Road. The new cycle route in Richmond that will connect cyclists from the north to the south of Richmond. Provisions must be made for the funding of these programmes to be brought into the Council's own Capital expenditure. The Council should not rely on central Government to provide funds for these projects, and they are too important to maybe be funded. The Salisbury Street project of converting the street to be two way and adding a cycleway must be brought forward.

There should be no further delays to the Major Cycle Routes programmes, with a higher priority on the Ōtakaro-Avon River and North-East Cycle Route, which would travel through areas currently underserved by existing infrastructure.

The removal of the majority of the Local Cycle Network (LCN) and Cycle Connections programmes from the Draft LTP Capital Programme is unacceptable. This programme is designed to aid in both feeding users onto the Major Cycle Routes (MCR), and as significant improvements to local cycle infrastructure. Some of these improvements would provide missing links from MCRs to popular destinations which are nearby but not served by the MCR itself, such as Westfield Riccarton from the South Express. Without these improvements, the usefulness of the cycleways is greatly reduced for some people who are not willing to bike unless they can get all the way to their destination safely on a cycleway. The Major Cycle Routes (MCR) programme needs to be prioritised for completion. As it currently stands there are disconnections in the active transport network, and in places there is a complete absence of any cycleway infrastructure. People have been patient while multiple rounds of consultation have been undertaken, now is the time to deliver these projects without further delay. Secondary connections and extensions to the Major Cycle Routes (MCR) network are also important and need to be completed.

We know from the success of the Rolleston Avenue and Park Terrace cycleway, cost effective solutions can be quickly delivered using temporary materials (e.g., plastic bollards and road markings). This can work where road layouts are simpler, speeds are low and traffic load is light.

Deliver the following cycleways as early as possible within the 10-year plan.

Agree with the scheduling in the Proposed Capital Programme. There must be no delay to these.

- Nor'West Arc
- Northern Line
- Wheels to Wings
- South Express

Support the progression on the following cycleways, however rather than “start working on” as per the consultation document there needs to be a commitment to delivering these within the 10-year plan. Maybe this is just wording, as the scheduling in the Proposed Capital Programme indicates these will be completed. In any case, there must be no delay to these.

- Ōtākaro Avon River Route
- Ōpāwaho Heathcote River Route
- Southern Lights
- Little River Link
- A new north-east cycle route

It is very concerning to see the many other Local Cycle Network (LCN) connections, extensions to the Major Cycle Routes (MCR) network and similar projects have been removed from the Proposed Capital Programme. We know when it comes to cycling, the “interested, but concerned” people need to feel safe riding a bike. For this there needs to be a complete route for them, this is why these other connections are so important Recommend the reinstatement where possible the cycle connection projects that have been removed for the Proposed Capital Programme. One such project is:

- A new cycle link to make it safer for students to bike to Te Aratai College along Aldwins Road and Ensors Road.

Several of these were well supported through the following consultation:

3425 - Hugh Dacre

Nor is it with cycling. The investment is too great for the benefits achieved. We do need cycle lanes but we can't afford capital intensive separate cycleways. These also generate higher maintenance costs. Good road marking and sensible enforcement will allow people to cycle, but they don't on wet or very windy days. The numbers drop and the cars increase with more queues. We need a reality check, and we need to put an end to small noisy groups demanding unreasonable expenditure when simpler options exist to achieve the same end.

3427 - Mikaere Greenslade

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Public Transport]

A higher percentage should be allocated to safe cycle ways and public transport options.

3436 - Sara Campbell

More bike lanes, no cars in the city center

3462 - Digby Symons

I am delighted to see the cycleway projects that are planned for building / completion but disappointed that other cycleway projects will not happen for many years. My three children are young now and I would like them, and everyone else in the city, to be able to use a full network of safe cycling routes as soon as possible.

I think building and maintenance of cycle routes should be given higher priority.

I would like the cycle route network to be expanded sooner.

3474 - Timothy Lambert
less on cycleways

3483 - Jo Bethell

I encourage the council to spend more of the transport allocation to be spent in increasing the length/number of cycleways to include projects not mentioned - notably the Te Aratai cycleway - to be included and prioritised for development in this LTP.

>>>I am pleased to see that the council has allocated funding for construction and extension of cycleways, that there are targets to increase the number of people cycling, and a plan to increase combined cycling and bus lanes transport by 10 km per year (I hope this will be dominated by cycle lanes!). However, I note that the Te Aratai cycle connection has not been identified as a cycleway for construction in the LTP. As the parent of two students who cycle along Ensors/Aldwins road, including through the Ferry Rd intersection, every day to get to school - and I also cycle this route when I need to attend the school - I can speak first-hand how dangerous that section of the journey from Hillsborough to Te Aratai is. I also know that concerns about safety are also a barrier preventing more students cycling to school. The Te Aratai cycle connection has already been designed and approved by Council, and was designed to improve safety for students, staff and other residents cycling on Aldwins and Ensors Roads. I strongly urge the council to include, and prioritise, the construction of the Te Aratai cycle connection in the LTP to improve safety of students who bike to school and to encourage other, which will help meet council targets for cycleways and cyclists.

3484 - Prue Stringer

Cycleways are expensive, but "build it and they will come". The proposed cycleway linking Te Aratai College/Linwood High with other cycleways should be built, making it safe and attractive for students to bike to school...starting a lifelong habit. The busy road outside the College is dangerous and not conducive to students taking up biking.

3497 - Cerys Fletcher

No. Council's delays to Major Cycle Routes are hugely disappointing. There needs to be an accelerated, rather than delayed, approach to rolling out cycleways, to give current cycleway users increased choice and safety when transporting themselves across the city, and to encourage new users the confidence to hop on their bikes for their daily commutes. Successful cycleways in recent years which cost Council very little but make my regular commutes orders of magnitude safer include the Ferry Road cycleway, and the Park Terrace/Rolleston Avenue Cycleway. Even temporary cycleways with mobile infrastructure would speed up the growth of our city's cycle network and provide ratepayers with more travel options, safer trips, and an easy way of building exercise for mental and physical health into their daily routines.

Council should also continue the rollout of the MCR. This should be done by returning the funding models to the following projects: 26611 – Major Cycleway – Wheels to Wings Route (Section 1) 23101 – Major Cycleway – Nor'West Arc Route (Section 3) 26604 – Major Cycleway – Ōpāwaho River Route (Section 1) 26606 – Major Cycleway – Ōpāwaho River Route (Section 2) 26605 – Major Cycleway – Ōpāwaho River Route (Section 3) 23100 – Major Cycleway – Heathcote Expressway Route (Section 2) 26607 – Major Cycleway – Southern Lights Route (Section 1) 26601 – Major Cycleway – Ōtākaro Avon Route (Section 1) 26602 – Major Cycleway – Ōtākaro Avon Route (Section 2) 26603 – Major Cycleway – Ōtākaro Avon Route (Section 3) 1986 – Programme – Major Cycleway – Northern Line Cycleway 47031 – Major Cycleway – South Express Route (Section 2) 1341 – Major Cycleway – Nor'West Arc Route 1993 – Programme – Major Cycleway – Nor'West Arc The following Local Cycle Network and Cycle Connections programmes should be returned: Burwood Ward: 41852 - Cycle Connections Fendalton Ward: 44709 – Local Cycle Network Harewood Ward: 41853 – Cycle Connections – Wheels to Wings Waimairi Ward: 44696 – Local Cycle Network – North West Outer Orbital, 44707 – Local Cycle Network – Bishopdale & Casebrook Halswell Ward: 44710 – Local Cycle Network – Halswell to Hornby, 17059 – Cycle Connections – Little River Link Hornby Ward: 41849 – Cycle Connections – South Express, 44697 – Local Cycle Network – South West Outer Orbital, 44712 – Local Cycle Network – Springs Road Riccarton Ward: 41847 – Cycle Connections – Nor'West Arc, 44695 – Local Cycle Network – Inner Western Arc, 44698 – Local Cycle Network – Burnside to Villa Central Ward: 44693 – Central City Projects – Cycle Connections, 44699 – Local Cycle Network – The Palms to Heathcote Express, 44706 – Local Cycle Network – Avonside & Wainoni, 44713 – Local Cycle Network – Ōtākaro-Avon Innes Ward: 44701 – Local Cycle Network – Northern Mid Orbital, 44702 – Local Cycle Network – Northern Outer Orbital, 44703 – Local Cycle Network – Northwood Cashmere Ward: 41850 – Cycle Connections – Southern Lights, 44711 – Local Cycle Network – Opawa, Waltham & Sydenham Heathcote Ward: 41844 – Cycle Connections – Heathcote Expressway, 41851 – Cycle Connections – Ōpāwaho River Route 63365 – Central City Projects – Active Travel Area

- 17.2. We request that the Ōpāwaho Heathcote River Route cycleway be given greater priority for construction.
- 17.3. We request that the cycleway connection to Te Aratai College be funded in the current year. This is an easy win for the community to reduce risk, reduce emissions and increase cycle usage in the area.
- 17.4. We request that the local cycle connections that were removed from the LTP after withdrawal of government funding are replaced back into the LTP and funded by Council, in particular the following:
 - 17.4.1. Halswell Ward: 44710 – Local Cycle Network – Halswell to Hornby, 17059 – Cycle Connections – Little River Link
 - 17.4.2. Hornby Ward: 41849 – Cycle Connections – South Express, 44697 – Local Cycle Network – South West Outer Orbital, 44712 – Local Cycle Network – Springs Road

 - 17.4.4. Heathcote Ward: 41844 – Cycle Connections – Heathcote Expressway, 41851 – Cycle Connections – Ōpāwaho River Route
- 17.5. We request that the Council investigates cheaper design and quicker cycleway construction methods as are being rolled out to effect in Wellington so as to make the most of available funding while achieving the greatest coverage of this active transport option.

- 17.5.1. The result, however, must still be separated cycle paths as they are the only way to ensure safety for all people who cycle.

3523 - Kate Hedworth

Curtail funding for road improvements. Put this money into active and public transport instead.

3525 - Andrew Hey

I'd like more investment in cycle infrastructure >>> and bringing forward planned upgrades.

3526 - Keith Bond

Build more cycleways.

Spend more on cycleways.

3529 - Marc Duff

Would like to see less funding on cycleways until roading issues from the past are addressed and deep kerb channelling is addressed.

3542 - Beatrix Gilling

The draft plan also is spending an enormous amount of money on carriageway renewals and not looking so much at expanding our cycle route network, making cycle changes with road renewals will keep future costs of cycleway development down.

The delays to major cycle routes are irresponsible. We already have the highest regular cyclist population in the country, and to not invest in expanding that shows a lack of foresight from the council. Looking to even quick rollouts of cycle routes as Wellington and Seville in Spain have done, or even the Park Terrace cycleway has done for a cheap way to improve the city cycle network.

3550 - Sam Hewitt

[Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Greater Christchurch Partnership]

The council should ruthlessly prioritize active and public transport infrastructure funding over car infrastructure. Planning cities for the car will bleed the coffers of any city dry. Our long term plan should be for how we want our cities to look in the future, not how they are today. I would like to see more funding allocated to active and public transport infrastructure, particularly with regard to mass rapid transit and cycleway expansion.

3558 - Patrick Kennedy

The commitment to finish less than half of the remaining Major Cycle Route network in the next decade is simply not good enough. It should not take 20 years to deliver 120km of cycle infrastructure in a city with 2,500km of roads. The Park Terrace cycleway is testament to this. I would be happy with "cheap and cheerful" solutions (armadillos, wheel stop barriers, planters, bollards, etc.) to help deliver the entire network more quickly. Fund the Arts Centre!!!

Delaying the Major Cycle Routes programme is irresponsible. At a time when we need to be reducing emissions, targeting the largest single source of emissions (transport) is vital. The success of the programme is obvious to anyone who looks at it objectively. It doesn't have to cost massive amounts of money either, and can be done very quickly (Park Terrace/Rolleston Ave for example).

There is also a massive lack of bicycle parking outside of the city centre. This is a major disincentive to using bicycles to perform many day to day tasks. Once you leave the central core of the city, there are oceans of free car parking spaces, while most street have no bike parking facilities whatsoever. Repurposing a handful of unused car parks could make life so much easier for people who choose to cycle.

The recently proposed (and already consulted on) safety improvements which appear to have been cut need to be added back into the plan - Simeon St cycleway and Milton St/Coronation St crossings, Ensors Rd safety improvements, etc.

[Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)], [Transport > Transport (Operations)]

Why aren't we leaning in on this? 10km of bike lanes and bus lanes per year is a pittance. We should be preparing to integrate with this plan by supercharging our public transport and active. It's not like we don't have the space. The best cities in the world are always easy to get around. If we want people to come here, we shouldn't force them into renting or buying a car just to participate in society.

3575 - Anna Hansson

I really do love the cycle ways that are separated as I do feel safer. However I recognise there is a cost associated with those both monetary and it causes a lot of drivers to feel resentful towards cyclists. Also, to be fair, a lot of cyclists completely ignore the bike lane specific lights and many other bike rules and guidelines. As such it may be more effective for now to do more bike lanes through paint and no physical separation.

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration>Strategic Transport]

Overall though I am supportive of encouraging more active and inclusive forms of transport.

3582 - Cody Cooper

There is no cycling connection between Halswell and Hornby. Build it. This could be done fairly trivially by marginally widening the path on Dunbars Road to connect with the Awatea Road shared path and Little River Link / Quarryman's Trail cycleways.

3585 - Rachel Fulton

[Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]

There should be more money allocated to cycling infrastructure and public transport. As an active person, who enjoys being outside, it's still challenging for me to cycle around Christchurch because there are not enough safe and well connected cycle lanes. More people cycling means more healthy residents, and less pollution. If there's more investment in public and active transportation there won't be the need for more road maintenance.

Living in somerfield the bike to work is faster than driving. I can be in a bike lane almost the entire route. This should be an option for all of Christchurch, not only to reduce their transport costs, but improve their wellbeing. Uplift in mood after a walk or bike is incredible and helps me wind down after work and psyc up on the way in.

There is far too much focus on roads, and not enough on cycle and pedestrian infrastructure. Transport emissions are Canterbury's largest emission source, making up 53.8% of total emissions. With climate change being the most important issue of our generation, we need a council willing to take leadership and make decisions that will help lower our cities carbon footprint, and that starts with our largest emission source.

I would like to see completion on the major cycle routes included in the long term plan.

3606 - Mark Dowers

I am strongly in favour of building cycleways and better transport infrastructure, but the big over-engineered cycleways are an enormous waste of money. Come up with a plan that doesn't get rid of so much on-street parking and reduce efficiency for residents.

3613 - Catherine McLeavy

Reduce amount on spent on >>> cycle ways unless these are fully off road.

Only spend on cycle ways if they are fully off road. On road cycleways are too dangerous.

3614 - Lin Roberts

- Cycling: The Major Cycle Routes (MCRs) have been delayed. These need to be sped up. If the cost of cycling infrastructure is prohibitive at this current moment, then it would be worth looking at the work done in Wellington (and other cities around the world, including Seville) around rolling out a cycle network faster and cheaper. There is a good article from The Spinoff about this (Wellington's massive cycling upgrade is ambitious, fast, and surprisingly cheap | The Spinoff), but the basic idea is rolling out cycleways fast by putting up plastic hit sticks and barrier arms, and being flexible. This is similar to the cycleway rolled out on Park Avenue.
- I understand the following Climate

Emergency Response Fund projects have been cut, and these need to be added back in:

- o The cycle link along Aldwins Road and Ensors Road, making it safer for students to bike to Te Aratai College, which will reduce congestion.
- o The cycle connection on Cashmere Road, between Hoon Hay Road and Oderings Garden Centre.
- o The cycleway along Simeon Street, which will connect cyclists to the Little River Link, Quarryman's Trail and Barrington Shopping Centre, and improving cycling connections for neighbourhoods such as Aidanfield and Ngā Puna Wai.
- o The upgrade of intersections of Aldwins/Ensors/Ferry and Aldwins/Buckleys/Linwood.

- o A cycle-friendly environment along Smith Street so people can cycle safely to Te Pou Toetoe: Linwood Pool and Te Waka Unua School on Ferry Road.
- o A new cycle route in Richmond that will connect cyclists from the north to the south of Richmond.

- Transport makes up 54% of Christchurch's gross emissions; cars alone are 22%, whilst utes and vans are 10%. There were also 462 premature deaths attributed to human-made air pollution in Christchurch in 2016. The bulk of this air pollution is caused by exhaust fumes from fossil fuel vehicles.
- We need to focus on reducing these emissions and deaths. We can do so by:
 - o Continue/accelerate the rollout of the cycleways, with highest priority on the City to Sea Pathway/Otakaro Avon River Route (especially Section 1 Fitzgerald to Swanns Rd Bridge which keeps getting deferred), and the North-East cycle route – these cycleways will service areas which are currently underserved by existing infrastructure. Note the detailed recommendations re cycleways in answer to the previous question on capital spending. (Note that given that the draft GPS would prioritise areas for cycling which already have proven volumes of cyclists present, we're probably more likely to get central government funding if we prioritise the Southern Lights/Opawaho River Route due to the high cycling rates in south Christchurch, or possibly cycle connections to the existing MCRS.)

3616 - Mark Webster

The current cycle ways are already poorly used. Building more services in this area, without understanding WHY more people don't use them is a waste of our money.

3618 - Chrys Horn

The delays to the Major Cycle Routes (MCRs) programme are unacceptable and irresponsible. The current cycleways have significantly increased cycling. Please make sure that this successful network which is clearly excellent value for money is completed quicker rather than slower. Not only do many many people commute to work everyday, I also see a lot of families out and about on their bikes at weekends – Those families don't get into the City where the cycle counters are, but they do many short trips in the local area. Can we look at testing potential new cycleways and footpaths with cheaper builds.

Likewise the approach that has been used for the cycleway on Park Terrace and Rolleston Avenue works well and feels safe (although one has to be careful of pedestrians wandering into them without looking first. Using the methods seen on this cycleway could get cycleways put in more quickly and for less initial capital spending.

Ensure that the rollout of the Major Cycle Routes programmes, is continued without delay. Cycleways give residents choice about how they can travel at a time when petrol and car running costs are increasing, and our collective health is suffering from lack of physical activity, increasing heat because of our carbon emissions, and air pollution created by motorised vehicles. An important focus is on finishing the partially complete projects of the Nor'West Arc and Wheels to Wings cycleways. Please give a higher priority to progressing the Ōtakaro-Avon River and North-East Cycle Routes, which would serve areas that have little existing infrastructure. The Southern Lights cycleway will connect up a community that has already shown high willingness to change mode from car to bike and as such is a good investment for the city as a whole. I also request that the following Local Cycle Network and Cycle Connections projects in my local ward be reinstated to the LTP 2024/2034: Halswell Ward: 44710 – Local Cycle Network – Halswell to Hornby 17059 – Cycle Connections – Little River Link Hornby Ward: 41849 – Cycle Connections – South Express 44697 – Local Cycle Network – South West Outer Orbital 44712 – Local Cycle Network – Springs Road Riccarton Ward: 41847 – Cycle Connections – Nor'West Arc 44695 – Local Cycle Network – Inner Western Arc 44698 – Local Cycle Network – Burnside to Villa I'd like to see similar initiatives in other wards reinstated too - but I personally know less about them.

3619 - David Fuffy (Richmond Residents' and Business Association)

We understand work is planned for a cycle way from Linwood to meet with the Otakaro green spine (in Richmond), without including neighbouring communities in this plan. This is shortsighted and disappointing from our perspective where we have a community calling for better enhancement of well overdue capital spent in Richmond. It would be best if this is widely planned out for the whole inner east area, instead of one suburb. With the huge increase in the amount of new and refurbished social housing as well as private developments, this would enable the community board to create better amenities in the other east areas of their ward.

362 - Christine Stiles-Pickard

I think the huge investment in cycle ways is a noble and beautiful concept but maybe there should be other priorities at this point

3621 - Morgane Honore

Rather than defunding and delaying the MCRs program, it should be accelerated. Implementing a "cheap and cheerful" approach, similar to what was done on Park Terrace and Rolleston Avenue, could significantly expedite the rollout of cycleways at reduced initial capital costs. This approach would enable more people to access safe cycling infrastructure more quickly, encouraging active transport and reducing reliance on cars.

Prioritize the continuation of the Major Cycle Routes (MCRs) program without further delay. The MCRs play a crucial role in promoting cycling as a safe and sustainable mode of transportation. Funding models for the MCRs should be restored to ensure the timely completion of various sections, including the Wheels to Wings Route, Nor'West Arc Route, Ōpāwaho River Route, Heathcote Expressway Route, Southern Lights Route, and Ōtakaro Avon Route. Revive the Local Cycle Network (LCN) and Cycle Connections programs across different wards. These programs aim to improve cycling infrastructure and connectivity within neighborhoods, promoting active transportation and enhancing community well-being.

Reinstate separate projects aimed at improving travel choice and amenities in busy areas including Central City Projects for Active Travel Areas.

By implementing these measures, we can create a more sustainable, accessible, and vibrant transportation network that meets the diverse needs of our community while reducing congestion and promoting healthier lifestyles.

3622 - Jono de Wit

Major Cycle Routes programmes should be continued without the additional delays in this draft LTP. Make sure the Nor'West Arc and Wheels to Wings cycleways are prioritised as they are well progressed in design for the remaining sections. Local cycle connections should be brought back to increase the network effect of the MCRs. These projects will provide vital links to businesses/workplaces etc that are near cycleways and also links between cycleways which will be a game changer for the network effect.

* I would like way finding on cycleways to be improved. There has recently been more signs installed but they are missing some important destinations like Riccarton mall and central Riccarton shops on the new signs on the South Express cycleway.

* I would like more bike parking to be installed around the city, mostly in the central city and at town centres where there are destinations for people to bike to.

* I request that future MCR corridors are protected and action taken to ensure that the terrible result on the Northern Line at the north end of Saint James Park is not repeated. It has recently become a dangerous blind corner because the property that sat empty for years had a new housing development built and there is now a fence right on the path as it goes around a bend which means cycleway users can not see around the bend. Council should have been aware that this was a potential risk and either bought a corner of the property or required the owner to not block views for cycleway users.

* I request the following Climate Emergency Response Fund projects be added back to the capital programme. These are vital projects and should not be dumped just because the current government has removed funding: * The Cycle Link along Aldwins Road and Ensors Road, making it safer for students to bike to Te Aratai College, a move which will reduce congestion at peak times. * The Cycle Connection on Cashmere Road, between Hoon Hay Road and Oderings Garden Centre. * The Cycleway along Simeon Street, which will connect cyclists to the Little River Link, Quarryman's Trail, and Barrington Shopping Centre; and improve cycling connections for neighbourhoods such as Aidanfield and the sports facilities at Ngā Puna Wai.

Choices 2022 – Richmond Neighbourhood Greenway * The Salisbury Street project to make it two way and add a cycleway should be brought forward. Council should work with Foodstuffs as they own land which should be developed as a supermarket in this area which has bad access to supermarkets.

Less on cycleways

3636 - Kay Robertson

I want more money spent on cycleways, less on motor vehicle transport. I want to see more support for active and public transport. Reducing our greenhouse gas emissions should be paramount.

My main mode of transport is a pushbike - has been for years. It was one of the reasons I chose to live in Christchurch. Every year, the cycle lanes get better. Even my partner now cycles quite a bit, which he hadn't done for decades. E-bikes have enabled even more people to get back to 2 wheels. This is fantastic to see and I would encourage the Council to push for a 'stretch target' for more people cycling. The proposed target only add 500 cyclists per year. Given how many people are moving to Christchurch, as a percentage of total residents - that goal is probably moving backwards. Basically - if you build it, they will come. We see this time and time again. Don't listen to the nay-sayers who likely haven't been on a bike or a bus since they first got their driver's licence. Build the city of the future - that means more lanes for things other than cars and utes. With densification, we need to prioritise the alternatives. Otherwise it will just be grid-lock. So, I want to see the Major Cycle Routes as soon as possible. We don't need all the fancy kerbing - we can reduce the cost by using barrier sticks and changing the paint on the road - basically put the cycle area immediately by the kerb and any end to end parking between the cycleway and the driving lane. Not what we have now (including Opawa Road which was just redone) where the cars are parked by the kerb and the cyclists are in the open-door/push you into oncoming traffic zone. Just swap those around and paint the road accordingly. I want to see all of these cycles ways and cycling improvements ASAP: The cycle link along Aldwins Road and Ensors Road, making it safer for students to bike to Te Aratai College, which will reduce congestion. The cycle connection on Cashmere Road, between Hoon Hay Road and Oderings Garden Centre. The cycleway along Simeon Street, which will connect cyclists to the Little River Link, Quarryman's Trail and Barrington Shopping Centre, and improving cycling connections for neighbourhoods such as Aidanfield and Ngā Puna Wai. The upgrade of intersections of Aldwins/Ensors/Ferry and Aldwins/Buckleys/Linwood. The safety improvements will include the installation of safe speed platforms to slow people down as they enter an intersection so they can stop in time if they need to. >>>A cycle-friendly environment along Smith Street so people can cycle safely to Te Pou Toetoe: Linwood Pool and Te Waka Unua School on Ferry Road. A new cycle route in Richmond that will connect cyclists from the north to the south of Richmond. Since I live in Opawa and I can tell you there are a lot of cyclists in this area. I use many of these routes and these proposals will make it much, much safer for all of us - especially children trying to get to school without getting killed.

I would also like to see the Okataro Avon Route, the North-East cycle route, and the City to Sea Pathway prioritised. These parts of the city have been neglected when it comes to cycleways. They need this infrastructure as well.

3639 - Stephen Burgham

Of the $1.6 billion allocated to Transport, more should be allocated to providing cycleway infrastructure and pedestrian-friendly facilities

3645 - Sophie McKenzie

Make sure the rollout of cycle lanes is continued. As well as making sure programs for model shift continue, e.g. cycle skills.

3646 - Thomas Blakie

3652 - Andrew Hamlin

Do what's necessary to make the city practicably run. Don't spend on lavish walk ways or cycle ways.

3655 - Dan Manton

More money should be going towards public transport and support cycling, walking and other active modes of travel. Supporting more public transport and cycling will allow Christchurch to economically grow and reduce impact on environment / mitigate negative effect of emissions has on climate.

Too much money on serving the needs of cars compared to cycling infrastructure.

3656 - Liam Blackett

Support investment in completing cycleway network, particularly routes in northwest and northeast which are lacking. Increasing usage is becoming evident particularly beyond recreation and commute e.g. cargo bikes and families. Shame to see that the network is only proposed to be complete 20 years after it was proposed. Would be good to see expedited work here.

3658 - Tom Logan

2. Improve cycleways connectivity especially around schools (especially primary schools), the university, and the inner city. While the focus on major arterial cycleways is important for commuting, enabling our young people to travel safely by bike is critical and often schools are some of the most dangerous due to traffic volumes. 3. The delays to the Major Cycle Routes (MCRs) programme are unacceptable and irresponsible. This programme needs to be accelerated rather than defunded and delayed. The "cheap and cheerful" approach to the cycleway rolled out on Park Terrace and Rolleston Avenue could be used to speed up the cycleway rollout with much reduced capital costs initially. This would allow people to have access to more safe cycling infrastructure more quickly. 4. The cycleway design on Park Terrace is excellent and has been a pleasure to use on a daily basis.

3660 - Alice Shanks

I would benefit if the western end of Opawaho-Heathcote and the Southern Lights cycleway projects be completed earlier. It would make my cycles use safer and prompt me to cycle more, helping to reduce my use of a car or bus. Improving the Colombo-Strickland-Somerfield corner through the Beckenham shops is critical to the cycleway network. I feel scared and vulnerable when I stand at the lights, sandwiched between the stationary Colombo Street straight-through traffic and the moving curbside lane turning into Tennyson Street. Cycle-friendly crossings of Colombo and Tennyson Streets, would be very helpful for schoolchildren cycling to school to Beckenham, St Peters, Hillview, Waltham, and Ruldolf Steiner Schools and the students to Cashmere who currently wobble across Colombo Street amongst the morning traffic..

3672 - Neil McKenzie

Please don't delay cycleways. I note several in the 10 year year plan. From my experience they are well used. I wish I could cycle from my house (near Morrison Ave) to the Bishopdale shops. I find that the section along Harewood Road is dangerous. With the two lanes of cars each way the the car drivers are looking at the car in the next lane and not the cyclists. There is also very little room for the cyclists. Please don't delay this section of cycleway.

3681 - Tara Daellenbach

[Transport > Roads (Capital)], [Other/Special Interest Topics > Public Transport]

Transport speeding overwhelmingly favours travel by vehicle, when what we really need is a more diverse approach that includes more cycleways and more support for public transport

3683 - Max Sullivan

[Other / Special Interest Topics > Public Transport] , [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design & Urban Regeneration > Strategic Transport]

In terms of transitioning, this means much more investment into sustainable transport systems like bus, cycling and (ideally) passenger rail.

3690 - Jono de Wit (Greater Ōtautahi)

The delays to the Major Cycle Routes (MCRs) programme are unacceptable and irresponsible. Ōtautahi Christchurch is home to the two highest electorates where people cycle to work (Ilam and Christchurch Central). It is also home to the highest electorate for people who cycle to study (Ilam). The success of the existing network is proof that this investment is absolutely good value for money. This programme needs to be accelerated rather than defunded and delayed. If Councillors see the cost of active transport infrastructure as prohibitive at this current moment, then it would be worth looking at the work done in Wellington (and other cities around the world, including Seville) around rolling out networks faster and cheaper. These are excellent examples, and the basic ideas can include rolling out cycleways fast by reallocating road space, putting up plastic hit sticks or bollards and barrier arms, and being flexible. This is a similar approach to the cycleway rolled out on Park Terrace and Rolleston Avenue and would have the benefit of allowing people to have access to more safe cycling infrastructure more quickly and for less initial capital spending. It would allow staff to consider longer-term plans before committing significant capital to any project.

Transport makes up 54% of Christchurch's gross emissions (cars constitute 22%, whilst utes and vans make up 10%). There is not enough of a focus on reducing these figures. We suggest that the Council consider:

- * The continuation, without additional delays, of the rollout of the Major Cycle Routes programmes, with a focus on completing the partially complete projects of the Nor'West Arc and Wheels to Wings cycleways.
- * Place a higher priority on progressing the Ōtakaro-Avon River and North-East Cycle Routes, which would travel through areas currently underserved by existing infrastructure.
- * Place a higher priority on the Southern Lights cycleway which will serve a community that has already shown high willingness to change mode from car to bike.

The removal of the majority of the Local Cycle Network (LCN) and Cycle Connections programmes from the Draft LTP Capital Programme presents an unacceptable delay and risk to our city. This programme is designed to aid in both feeding users onto the Major Cycle Routes (MCR), and as significant improvements to local cycle infrastructure. Some of these improvements would provide missing links from MCRs to popular destinations which are nearby but not served by the MCR itself, such as Westfield Riccarton from the South Express. Without these improvements, the usefulness of the cycleways is greatly reduced for some people who are not willing to bike unless they can get all the way to their destination safely on a cycleway. There is also a higher likelihood of serious injury or death to cyclists in our city than there should be. The removal or deferral of these projects is not inline with Strategic View 3 "Ensuring Resilience to the Impacts of Climate Change and Natural Hazards", or Strategic View 4 "Planning and Investing for Sustainable Growth" or their respective Strategic Responses and Action Areas given in the council's Infrastructure Strategy (pp.14-16) document attached to this Long Term Plan. Cycleways - reassess location (prioritise school and commuting routes), design and construction (eg, use Park Terrace model until monitoring establishes actual route needs and most cost-effective design).

3699 - John McCombs

There should be increased investment in the protected cycleway network, especially in areas where cycleways server schools. We want a city for the future (look at Paris, Amsterdam, Barcelona etc), not one echoing to 1960's.

3700 - Ian Cumberpatch

I support cycling and agree with promotion of this for all the obvious reasons, however I do not support the extravagant cycle way developments delivered and proposed across greater Christchurch. The costs both financial and material are unwarranted at the time when we are still struggling to develop our EQ damaged City. Priorities need reviewing and realistic needs and outcomes reconsidered, some projects that should be scaled back, ie cycle ways.

3701 - Rod Hay

Notwithstanding the cycling improvements proposed, I would support greater investment in cycling infrastructure, with the proviso that work is done to limit the cost of each cycleway (the Park Terrace model is a good one that could be followed elsewhere) in order to expand the network at lower unit cost.

3704 - Logan Cane

Please do not delay the major cycle routes due to a lack of funding. Christchurch has seen a 30% increase in cycling city wide and a 40% increase in the city centre over the last 10 years due to the investments so far. It is something worth doing, and developing viable alternatives to travelling by car will save the council money in the long run due to a decrease in road maintenance.

Please bring back all major and local cycleway programs. They are a drop in the bucket compared to building roads. If cycle lanes aren't politically tenable, more seperated cycleways with access given to cyclists could be a viable short-term alternative.

3706 - Ellie Stevenson

we should invest more in cycleways. My dad can't stand cycleways, but when you look at their actual impact on car traffic compared to how strongly our most dogged voters feel about them, it's minimal at best even in the short term. In the long run, it is of course better to enable demand for cycling rather than driving to rise, and it's also just common sense that a bicycle tread does a lot less damage to a cycleway than a Land Cruiser does to a road in terms of maintenance costs the Council, and therefore the ratepayers, will have to foot the bills for.

The reason why I say no (capital programme prioritisation) is that Major Cycle Routes (MCRs) are being dialed back on, when the sooner we make cycling viable and safe city-wide, compared to right now when many (and especially younger people) don't want to risk cycling and entering the war with motorists, the sooner we'll start to see uptake to gradually fill out those cycleways and leave the roads freer for those still driving.

3712 - Zeta Pringle (Coalition for safe accommodation in Christchurch)

Cycle system implementation has had major effects on business in the past . The council planners need to be mindful in the future of the direct cost to bio while reading and cycleways are constructed. We cannot understand why other roading have not used other than major routes

3720 - Eddie Newman

The bridge across the Avon near the Hospital is dangerous as a shared path. A dedicated bike lane in the centre of the bridge would greatly for pedestrians and cyclists. It needs to be more than just a painted line as most people ignore this. Eventually a separate bridge or clipons may need to be considered.

3723 - Don Babe

[Transport > Roads (Capital)]

There is still 5 times as much being spent on roads as cycleways. A great quote from an overseas source is that the best car lane is a cycle lane as it frees up road space for those still using their cars. Road safety is a small part of the spend but there are still too many (greater than 0) people being killed on roads in the Council area. There does not seem to be much concentration on efforts to reduce this total.

3725 - Richard Smith

The delays to the Major Cycle Routes (MCRs) programme are unacceptable and irresponsible. The success of the existing network is proof that this investment is absolutely good value for money. This programme needs to be accelerated rather than defunded and delayed. The Council should look at ways in which these can be rolled out more quickly and cheaply. The Park Terrace and Rolleston Avenue cycleway is an example of what could be done, and there are examples in Wellington.

Transport makes up 54% of Christchurch's gross emissions (cars constitute 22%, whilst utes and vans make up 10%). There is not enough of a focus on reducing these figures. We suggest that the Council consider: - The continuation, without additional delays, of the rollout of the Major Cycle Routes programmes, with a focus on completing the partially complete projects of the Nor'West Arc and Wheels to Wings cycleways. - Place a higher priority on progressing the Ōtakaro-Avon River and North-East Cycle Routes, which would travel through areas currently underserved by existing infrastructure. - Place a higher priority on the Southern Lights cycleway which will serve a community that has already shown high willingness to change mode from car to bike. –

The removal of the majority of the Local Cycle Network (LCN) and Cycle Connections programmes from the Draft LTP Capital Programme presents an unacceptable delay and reduces the effectiveness of the already built cycle infrastructure. We need a full network for cycling to succeed. For some people a gap in the network prevents them from cycling as they are not confident to go on roads that do not have what they see as "safe" infrastructure. To this end, we request that the following removed Local Cycle Network and Cycle Connections projects be reinstated to the LTP 2024/2034: Waitai Coastal-Burwood-Linwood Community Board: Burwood Ward: 41852 - Cycle Connections - Ōtakaro-Avon Route Waimāero Fendalton-Waimairi-Harewood Community Board: Fendalton Ward: 44709 – Local Cycle Network – Greers Rd Harewood Ward: 41853 – Cycle Connections – Wheels to Wings 12692 – Belfast Park Cycle & Pedestrian Rail Crossing Waimairi Ward: 44696 – Local Cycle Network – North West Outer Orbital 44707 – Local Cycle Network – Bishopdale & Casebrook Waipuna Halswell-Hornby-Riccarton Community Board Halswell Ward: 44710 – Local Cycle Network – Halswell to Hornby 17059 – Cycle Connections – Little River Link Hornby Ward: 41849 – Cycle Connections – South Express 44697 – Local Cycle Network – South West Outer Orbital 44712 – Local Cycle Network – Springs Road Riccarton Ward: 41847 – Cycle Connections – Nor'West Arc 44695 – Local Cycle Network – Inner Western Arc 44698 – Local Cycle Network – Burnside to Villa Waipapa Papanui-Innes-Central Community Board Central Ward: 44693 – Central City Projects – Cycle Connections 44699 – Local Cycle Network – Palms to Heathcote Express 44706 – Local Cycle Network – Avonside & Wainoni 44713 – Local Cycle Network – Ōtakaro-Avon Innes Ward: 44701 – Local Cycle Network – Northern Mid Orbital 44702 – Local Cycle Network – Northern Outer Orbital 44703 – Local Cycle Network – Northwood Waihoru Spreydon-Cashmere-Heathcote Community Board Cashmere Ward: 41850 – Cycle Connections – Southern Lights 44711 – Local Cycle Network – Opawa, Waltham & Sydenham Heathcote Ward: 41844 – Cycle Connections – Heathcote Expressway 41851 – Cycle Connections – Ōpāwaho River Route Within the Draft LTP Capital Programme,

Wayfinding for cycleways should be improved. The current signs are lacking in detail and missing some important landmarks/destinations. For example many signs on South Express do not include Riccarton mall or central Riccarton shops

3726 - Cliff Mason

Rather than dedicated cycleways (especially those aimed at recreational cycling) would prefer alternative use of existing roadways.

3727 - Carl Fox

My caveat on this approval is the poor procurement processes of Council particularly around cycle lanes. I am in principle in support of cycle lanes and making Christchurch more cycle friendly, but my observation is there are strong lobby groups that are making poor choices e.g. Wings to Wheels. This will have the impact of making a safe and convenient route for only a few cyclists but in the process will detrimentally affect two roads and the businesses on one of the roads. A cheaper solution exists that will have all of the benefit for cyclists none of the downside for the businesses and would improve one road (Sawyers Arms Road) and not significantly detract of the other (Harewood Road). The consultation would appear to have been for show only and the decision was pre-determined. This is only one example of poor decision making. Nor should cycle lanes cost as much as they do per lineal meter!

While the actual amounts being requested need to be verified and justified the return on investment for the rate payers is significantly greater than the number of cyclists likely to be using the Wings to Wheels cycle lane. Again I am not against the cycle lane just the excessive expenditure and the likely poor outcomes. The savings could be redirected from Wings to Wheels to these two attractions or add $2/month onto the rates.

3735 - Natalie O'Connell

Not enough on cycleways, all MCR's need to be completed ASAP and all others completed too. This will address many other Council ambitions like increasing cycling and reducing emissions.

3736 - Matthew Moore

Increase operational spending on major cycle routes

3737 - Elsie Stockman

More should be spent on bike lanes and less on truck/heavy car traffic

3738 - Finn Jackson

I cycle to work most days and love it. The cycleway programme has allowed cycling to become my main mode of transport - something which wouldn't have happened if I hadn't moved to nearby the Quarryman's Trail cycleway in 2020. My only critique is the speed of the rollout - it's taking a long time, which conflicts with the advice of the Climate Change Commission to prioritise completing cycling networks in our major cities by 2030.

In light of this, I'd like to see us shift to a new rollout model similar to Wellington or Rolleston Ave - a quick reallocation of road space using low-cost materials, with the permanent infrastructure coming later. This model has a lower upfront cost and is simpler to deliver, meaning more can be built in a shorter space of time allowing for faster completion of the network. This will get more people on bikes, more quickly. In addition to the projects listed below, I would like to see priority given to the construction of a shared path along Hendersons Road between Westmorland and Sparks Road, and of a separated cycleway alongside Selwyn Street between the Quarryman's Trail and Christchurch South Intermediate.

I support the proposed spend on the following major cycleways, and request that where possible they be bought forward: - Southern Lights MCR - Ōpāwaho River MCR - Ōtākaro Avon MCR - Nor'West Arc MCR - Heathcote Expressway MCR - Northern Line MCR - South Express MCR - Wheels to Wings MCR. In addition, I strongly support the following local cycle network and cycle connections. Where they have been removed from the LTP, I request that they be added back in. - 41850 - Cycle Connections - Southern Lights - 44704 - Local Cycle Network - Opawa & St Martins - 44711 - Local Cycle Network - Opawa, Waltham & Sydenham - 41851 - Cycle Connections - Ōpāwaho River Route - 41844 - Cycle Connections - Heathcote Expressway - 44697 - Local Cycle Network - South West Outer Orbital - 68430 - Ferry Road Active Transport Improvements - 59181 - Central City Projects - Antigua Street Cycle Network (Tuam-Moorhouse) - Te Aratai cycle connection - Simeon Street cycle connection. Finally, I support the proposed spend on public transport. In particular I strongly support: - 73854 - Programme - PT Futures - 75363 - Programme - Mass Rapid Transit

3744 - Francine Bills

Support active transport & walking by making safety the top priority. Cycleways: Wheels to Wings and cycleways such as this should proceed, but to a much less costly design. Then there can be more funding spread over more streets to make them safer both for cyclists and pedestrians. For a St Albans example, you should be making more plans to separate our children on bikes, scooters or foot, from the traffic on and near Cranford St. NOTE: I have attached further details of my submission on cycleways at Step 9.

For a St Albans example, you should be making more plans to separate our children on bikes, scooters or foot, from the traffic on and near Cranford St.

So all my suggestions rest on the basic premise that pedestrians, cyclists and kids on scooters must be kept separate from traffic as much as possible, because mistakes will always happen. You can't rely on young children behaving sensibly at intersections.

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?]

CCC Needs to massively increase its capital spending program ASAP. There are many individual projects which need increased funding to safeguard our future: -Major cycle routes specifically Nor'West Arc finished by 2025, Northern Line finished by 2025, Wheels to Wings finished by 2025, South Express finished by 2025. -Memorial Avenue bike lanes must be built by 2025 for the safety of school students.

3749 - Charles Berridge

There is no obvious spending allowance for footpaths or cycle lanes.

375 - Alex McNeill

Transport should focus on incentivising people to get out of their cars, through efficient bus systems and safe cycle and walkways. It's so important even if funding is cut from NZTA-WK.

3758 - Mads Churchhouse

I believe there isn't enough capital funding allocated to active transport, particularly cycle infrastructure.

I do not support the delays to the Major Cycle Routes. Christchurch has the top two electorates where people cycle to work (Ilam and Christchurch Central). It is also home to the top electorate for people who cycle to study (Ilam). The city is ideal for cycling and much of the city's growth is dependent on adequate and affordable transport. Cycling has a major part to play and it is critical to get the bones of the network down in a timely manner.

Continue without delay the rollout of the major cycleways program. In particular the Nor'West Arc and Wheels to Wings cycleways Place a higher priority on moving forward the Ōtakaro-Avon River and North-East Cycle Routes, which would travel through areas currently underserved by existing infrastructure. I travel and exercise on Ōtakaro-Avon River path frequently, it could be such a fantastic asset for the city. Already I see commuters, but this would expand massively with adequate infrastructure. I would like to see all of the Local cycleway network and cycle connections projects be re added to the LTP capital programme. These networks would be important feeder routes and remove the last point of friction from many potential cycle trips. To that end I request the following projects be reinstated to the LTP: Waitai Coastal-Burwood-Linwood Community Board: Burwood Ward: 41852 - Cycle Connections - Ōtakaro-Avon Route Waimāero Fendalton-Waimairi-Harewood Community Board: Fendalton Ward: 44709 - Local Cycle Network - Greers Rd Harewood Ward: 41853 - Cycle Connections - Wheels to Wings 12692 - Belfast Park Cycle & Pedestrian Rail Crossing Waimairi Ward: 44696 - Local Cycle Network - North West Outer Orbital 44707 - Local Cycle Network - Bishopdale & Casebrook Waipuna Halswell-Hornby-Riccarton Community Board Halswell Ward: 44710 - Local Cycle Network - Halswell to Hornby 17059 - Cycle Connections - Little River Link Hornby Ward: 41849 - Cycle Connections - South Express 44697 - Local Cycle Network - South West Outer Orbital 44712 - Local Cycle Network - Springs Road Riccarton Ward: 41847 - Cycle Connections - Nor'West Arc 44695 - Local Cycle Network - Inner Western Arc 44698 - Local Cycle Network - Burnside to Villa Waipapa Papanui-Innes-Central Community Board Central Ward: 44693 - Central City Projects - Cycle Connections 44699 - Local Cycle Network - Palms to Heathcote Express 44706 - Local Cycle Network - Avonside & Wainoni 44713 - Local Cycle Network - Ōtakaro-Avon Innes Ward: 44701 - Local Cycle Network - Northern Mid Orbital 44702 - Local Cycle Network - Northern Outer Orbital 44703 - Local Cycle Network - Northwood Waihoru Spreydon-Cashmere-Heathcote Community Board Cashmere Ward: 41850 - Cycle Connections - Southern Lights 44711 - Local Cycle Network - Opawa, Waltham & Sydenham Heathcote Ward: 41844 - Cycle Connections - Heathcote Expressway 41851 - Cycle Connections - Ōpāwaho River Route >>> Within the Draft LTP Capital Programme, I request that the funding models for the following programmes revert to the Current Amended LTP 2024-2034 funding allocations: 26611 - Major Cycleway - Wheels to Wings Route (Section 1) Harewood to Greers 26612 - Major Cycleway - Wheels to Wings Route (Section 2) Greers to Wooldridge 26613 - Major Cycleway - Wheels to Wings Route (Section 3) Wooldridge to Johns Road Underpass 23101 - Major Cycleway - Nor'West Arc Route (Section 3) University to Harewood (Note: only move the funding back to earlier years 2024/25 and 2025/26 but keep the increase of total funding to $21,704,400) >>> 26604 - Major Cycleway - Ōpāwaho River Route (Section 1) Princess Margaret Hospital to Corson Avenue 26606 - Major Cycleway - Ōpāwaho River Route (Section 2) Corson to Waltham 26605 - Major Cycleway - Ōpāwaho River Route (Section 3) Waltham to Ferrymead Bridge 23100 - Major Cycleway - Heathcote Expressway Route (Section 2) Tannery to Martindales 26607 - Major Cycleway - Southern Lights Route (Section 1) Strickland to Tennyson 26601 - Major Cycleway - Ōtakaro Avon Route (Section 1) Fitzgerald to Swanns Road Bridge (OARC) 26602 - Major Cycleway - Ōtakaro Avon Route (Section 2) Swanns Road Bridge to Anzac Drive Bridge (OARC) 26603 - Major Cycleway - Ōtakaro Avon Route (Section 3) Anzac Drive Bridge to New Brighton (OARC) 1986 - Programme - Major Cycleway - Northern Line Cycleway 47031 - Major Cycleway - South Express Route (Section 2) Craven to Buchanans 1341 - Major Cycleway - Nor'West Arc Route - Annex, Birmingham & Wrights Corridor Improvement 1993 - Programme - Major Cycleway - Nor'West Arc 17060 - Cycle Connections - Uni-Cycle >>> 59181 - Central City Projects - Antigua Street Cycle Network (Tuam-Moorhouse)

1. Although the current government has no interest in a green transition and is actively discouraging modes of transport that would support decarbonisation, I encourage the Council to take a leadership role in supporting more cycling and pedestrianisation. 2. The attention given to safety is very important and should include properly designed cycleways with decent barriers - not just lines painted on the road. Low speed limits around schools, built-up housing and shops are also very important. 3. While there is often an outcry from businesses when cycleways and foot traffic are prioritised, in fact, all around the world it's very clear that these modes of transport are beneficial for businesses. There is always an initial outcry, but once the improvements are in place, very few people wish to return to road design that prioritises car travel. 4. Active modes of travel would be more popular if there were more green corridors through the city and more street trees. These make cycling and walking a pleasant experience and encourage people to get outside and enjoy the natural environment. These are also important for encouraging biodiversity, which is taking a hit with the disappearance of gardens as housing becomes denser.

3772 - Sue McFarlane

I question the significant amount being spent on further cycleways for the city. I'd like to better understand how many people use the cycleways regularly. Are there such statistics? I am a recreational cyclist but would not cycle in the city.

3773 - Elizabeth Benson

The shared cycleways are a hazard for most users. A pregnant person, an elderly person, a disabled person, a parent with young children cannot walk down them safely. I think this is a poor investment due to it being a poor idea that does not take into account these obvious safety issues. As a cyclist it is also frustrating to have to go slow/ride around people in the way etc. Any further investment should keep footpaths and cycleways separated.

[Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)], [Transport > Operations]

I would like to see more spent on improving active transport modes, and less for car-focused transport. We should be spending a greater proportion of the transport budget on active and public transport - things like cycle lanes, safer pedestrian crossings, city-wide bus priority measures. This will help reduce our car dependency, which is good for the climate, good for our health, and good for saving money! If we can spend more on public and active transport, then our existing streets will last longer and we can reduce the spend on road renewals. I am lucky enough to have one of the major cycle routes go past my house to places that I often want to go, and that has helped increase the number of times we take the bike and decrease the number of times we take the car. This is because we can travel safely, and frankly it is much more enjoyable! It is really important to me that everyone in the city has the same access to safe cycle options that I have. And, I would really like to see the connections to our major cycle ways prioritised to make it easier to get to more places.

Overall I think the balance is about right. However, I would like to see increased focus on reducing our carbon emissions by improving active and public transport modes and reducing the spend on roads for cars.

3795 - Bede Cunningham

less on cycle ways that impact traffic flow.

3798 - M-Webb User

Need more walking paths and cycle ways to connect neighbourhoods and provide safer spaces for walkers and cyclers.

3799 - Morgane Honore (Richmond Community Garden Trust)

Transport

Most of our gross emissions come from transport, we must reduce that and the best way to do this is to have a range of active transport happening but we need safe infrastructure to achieve this, this infrastructure does not have to cost millions of dollars, temporary and light solutions can be put in place whilst funding is found for more permanent solutions.

3801 - Victor (aka Vince) Eichholtz

Get on with finishing the Major Cycle Routes asap. Big supporter of cycling (+ public transport), but unfamiliar with the new North-east cycle route.

3802 - Matthew Baird

[Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

No, there are three reasons for this: >>> 2. Insufficient climate mitigation projects The quickest way to reduce our climate impact is by reducing our transport emissions. As above, more investment in public and active transport will encourage more people to make the switch. Personally, more separated cycleways mean I am able to safely and confidently bike more places with my 3 year old (who loves cycling!).

[Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]

We need to be encouraging mode shift to active and public transport. We can do this by building more cycle infrastructure (to make cycling safer) and bus lanes (to make buses more reliable).

High transport emissions mean high air pollution, there were 462 premature deaths attributed to human-made air pollution in Christchurch in 2016. We need to rapidly reduce transport emissions. We can do this in a few ways: 1. Work on densification to reduce urban sprawl and car-dependency. 2. Disincentivise car usage by prioritising public transport with more bus lanes. 3. Make cycling more attractive and safer by adding more cycleways. >>> The Major Cycle Routes have been delayed. Please reverse this and complete the following routes by 2025: Nor'West Arc, Northern Line, Wheels to Wings, and South Express. The east has a distinct lack of cycleways meaning it is unsafe for most cyclists to shift to active transport. For this reason we need to also prioritise the Ōtākaro Avon River Route and the proposed new north-east cycle route. Memorial Ave desperately needs bike lanes as it is currently a very unsafe route to bike along. Memorial Ave services many schools, and students deserve a safe active transport option. The following Climate Emergency Response Fund projects have been cut, and these need to be added back in: - The cycle link along Aldwins Road and Ensors Road, making it safer for students to bike to Te Aratai College, which will reduce congestion. - The cycle connection on Cashmere Road, between Hoon Hay Road and Oderings Garden Centre. - The cycleway along Simeon Street, which will connect cyclists to the Little River Link, Quarryman's Trail and Barrington Shopping Centre, and improving cycling connections for neighbourhoods such as Aidanfield and Ngā Puna Wai. >>> - A cycle-friendly environment along Smith Street so people can cycle safely to Te Pou Toetoe: Linwood Pool and Te Waka Unua School on Ferry Road. - A new cycle route in Richmond that will connect cyclists from the north to the south of Richmond. If cost is the barrier to this work getting completed, consider taking a look at Wellington. They've managed to put in massive, connected cycle infrastructure at much lower cost than expected by being more flexible and semi-permanent (similar to what was one on Park Ave). This would be a model to prove routes and usage before investing further - building more public support.

3819 - Jessica Halliday

I would like to see CCC commit to the completion of the Major Cycle Routes (first approved in 2013): - Wheels to Wings Papanui ki Waiwhetu - Ōtākaro Avon River Route (specify this as the commuter route to New Brighton) - Nor'West Arc - South Express - Ōpāwaho River Route - Southern Lights - Northern Line (including Railway crossings) - Heathcote Expressway (Scruttons Road Railway crossing) - Little River Link Route (Rail Crossing)

Bring back Local Cycle Network (LCN) and Cycle Connections programmes.

The following Climate Emergency Response Fund (CERF) projects need to be added back in as part of the council capital programme: The Cycle Link along Aldwins Road and Ensors Road, making it safer for students to bike to Te Aratai College, a move which will reduce congestion at peak times. The Cycle Connection on Cashmere Road, between Hoon Hay Road and Oderings Garden Centre. The Cycleway along Simeon Street, which will connect cyclists to the Little River Link, Quarryman's Trail, and Barrington Shopping Centre; and improve cycling connections for neighbourhoods such as Aidanfield and the sports facilities at Ngā Puna Wai. >>> A cycle-friendly environment along Smith Street so people can cycle safely to Te Pou Toetoe: Linwood Pool and Te Waka Unua School on Ferry Road. The new cycle route in Richmond that will connect cyclists from the north to the south of Richmond.

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?], [Strategic Direction > Climate Change],
[Other/Special Interest Topics > New Brighton Suburban Master Plans / Oram Avenue]

No, I believe more needs to be done to ensure we have safe cycle ways for ALL Chch residents (NOT just those outside of the East). More needs to be done to address the long term impacts of climate change. The less we prioritise this now the more it will cost us in future and it will be younger generations carrying the cost of the current selfish decisions. More also needs to be done to support and revive our eastern suburbs. They took the brunt of the Earthquakes and are still waiting on so much to be repaired. The revitalisation of New Brighton, and particularly the mall, should be a top priority for council.

We need to prioritise safe cycleways across ALL Christchurch. The eastern suburbs are severely lagging behind on this front. We have made some significant progress towards making Chch more safe and accessible but we need to continue this!

The tiny fraction we were spending on cycle ways is now reduced to basically nothing. With the govt pulling funding the council has to step up! The reason there are so many pot holes is because there are too many cars! If we want a long term fix to the problem everyone complains about we need to address the real cause. Once we have cycleways they will pay for themselves

[Transport > Transport (Operations)]

Safe and easy to use cycleways are the key here. The cost of more roads, highways and endless maintenance we can never keep on top of is all we have to look forward to if we keep prioritising cars of bikes and people!

3826 - Kate Cleverly

[Transport > Footpaths & Streetscape (Capital)]

Footpaths and roads in Halswell need more investment.

The suburb is growing rapidly and is expected another 3000 houses in the next few years yet the infrastructure is insufficient for the volume of people and traffic.

Large areas are without connected footpaths, accessing the cycleways is dangerous and there is a distinct lack of safe crossing points across the major roads that transect the suburb.

3830 - Brenda Banning

I do cycle frequently and find the cycling infrastructure OK.

I think the Ōtākaro Avon River Route should be high priority

3837 - Dermot Coffey

[Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]

Given that over half Christchurch's emissions derive from road transport, it is clear that there should be a significantly higher spend on active transport and measures to support public transport such as bus lane development. There are some areas where I would suggest increasing funding or specifically developing certain projects, particularly the "paused" cycleway development on Aldwins and Ensors Rds which should be funded for completion in the first triennium- it has been designed and extensively consulted on already, would close an existing gap in the network and, most importantly, allow students in Te Aratai College to cycle (and walk) more safely to school.

As mentioned, a significantly higher proportion of transport spending should be on active transport and supportive of public transport

I would recommend the following - inclusion of the already-consulted on, planned cycleway on Ensors and Aldwins Roads to be funded to completion in the first triennium. - a significantly higher proportion of the transport fund should be allocated towards cycleway improvements with the listed major cycleways (Nor'West Arc, Northern Line, Wheels to Wings and South Express as well as Ōtākaro Avon River, Ōpāwaho Heathcote River, Southern Lights, Little River and new NE Cycle Route) being completed without delay. This shift in funding will be necessary as a result of the current central government's likely decision to defund active transport. - Reinstatement of the Local Cycle Network and Cycle Connections programmes as crucial access and feeder routes to the major cycleways -

3839 - Samantha Dryden

Major cycle routes, >>> should be prioritised more, meaning they should receive more financial investment and be brought forward in time.

These are all good things, but I think even more could be invested into >>> bike lanes,

3841 - Kate Hodgins

I would urge this council to continue to invest in completing the cycleway and pedestrian networks. In particular, having safe intersections and expanding local cycleways. St Martins, where I live, has a very high percentage of commuting cyclists (students and workers) and attracts many cyclists who are accessing the popular port hills tracks. However, the cycleways for our neighbourhood are not scheduled for implementation until the end of this decade. I have lived here for 20 years and this has not changed- it has always been "another 10 years away". Not only do we lack safe cycleways, but to access the central city, cyclists have to cross the busy Brougham street intersection, a known accident spot, where vehicles regularly turn on a red light. Active transport improvements for Brougham/moorhouse don't appear on the plan until even later- early 2030s. >>> but CCC also need to complete safe connections for cyclists or the wider investment in cycle ways will be wasted. As a recent commentator said, you wouldn't expect someone to move into a half built home- neither would you expect someone to use a half built cycleway. I would like to see investment in the Brougham/Moorhouse active transport improvements brought forward to as soon as possible.

3844 - My-Linh Dang

Reconsider the way bike lanes are designed so costs are reduced. $199m on cycling projects is excessive in light of strains on household incomes.

3845 - Wolfgang Rack

better integration of cycleways in the road network.

3846 - Rebecca Finch

Transport funding must prioritize the biking, busing and walking culture we want to be promoting in a climate emergency. Not roads for car or trucks.

Specifically I would like to see the Simeon St cycleway funding included in the CCC budget, as this gvot has pulled funding for this project. I do think some of the cycleways are and suggest something like what has been done outside the museum and along Rolleston Avenue, that is a really cool way to do a cycle way. >>> More signage encouraging drivers to give way to cyclists to shift our culture of entitled car drivers.

3853 - Geoff Curtis

There should be more money allocated to cycling infrastructure and public transport. As an active person, who enjoys being outside, it's still challenging for me to cycle around Christchurch because there are not enough safe and well connected cycle lanes. More people cycling means more healthy residents, and less pollution. If there's more investment in public and active transportation there won't be the need for more road maintenance.

The delays to the Major Cycle Routes (MCRs) programme are unacceptable. This programme needs to be accelerated and have increased funding. Not to be defunded and delayed. There are several options to make cheap and quick cycleways to get going such as that on Park Terrace. This would allow residents to have access to more safe cycling infrastructure more quickly.

I think we should do everything we can to expand bike lanes and public transport

3856 - Portia Bishop

Please do not delay the major cycle routes programme. Once again in reference to the "save now, spend later" sentiment I mentioned, would you not rather it be the opposite? There is plenty of research out there to support the benefits of cycleways, including monetary ones. - The Park Terrace and Rolleston Avenue cycleways' "cheap and cheerful" implementation could be mirrored in order to reduce initial capital costs while still providing benefits.

The following Climate Emergency Response Fund (CERF) projects need to be added back in as part of the council capital programme: The Cycle Link along Aldwins Road and Ensors Road - safety and traffic congestion improvements especially for students at Te Aratai College The Cycle Connection on Cashmere Road, between Hoon Hay Road and Oderings Garden Centre. The Cycleway along Simeon Street, >>> A cycle-friendly environment along Smith Street so people can cycle safely to Te Pou Toetoe: Linwood Pool and Te Waka Unua School on Ferry Road. The new cycle route in Richmond that will connect cyclists from the north to the south of Richmond.

3862 - Katharine Metherell

If cycle ways are to be invested in, then make sure they are connected, for example on the section of Cashmere road near Oderings the cycle path starts and stops (or either cars are parking on it and no enforcement of this is in place), they also need to be safe if a cycle path is to service a school make sure that there is sufficient paths that correspond with the enrollment zones.

3868 - Don Gould

On cycleways, yes it wouldn't be a presentation with out that. CCC needs to get busy and deliver more where people have actually asked and it is agreed and completely stop in spaces that the public living in the area has expressed objections. For my part, I tried getting from my home in Richmond to an office on Victoria Street last week and I won't be doing that again, it was frightening. The network is broken beyond belief. I agree with those who have called for a stop to the gold plating. I am concerned about the public perception and I am concerned about the climate impact of building these over engineered spaces. It's not healthy to have such public anger out there around a single issue. The CCC has allowed a single small but powerful and motivated lobby group to drive anger of a single issue into the community and that's not ok within the LGA and the CCC needs to address this. With respect to community funding, and LTP issue that causes concern every planning cycle. More work needs to be done with partners who use CCC as a seed to pull in more funding and add a degree of credibility to their projects. I see that some projects are simply 100% or mostly funded by CCC and that's not OK with me.

3873 - Angela Curl (Transport, Society and Environment Group, Department of Population Health, University of Otago Christchurch)

We suggest that there is too much capital spending allocated to road maintenance. Capital investment in transport should be focussed on pedestrian and cycle infrastructure. Existing cycle infrastructure has increased the rate of cycling - this will reduce the need for road maintenance in the longer term, have substantial health and wellbeing benefits and mitigate climate change.

Reductions in funding and delays to major cycleways are not consistent with the commitments to a green and liveable city. We call for more funding to be reinstated for major cycleways.

3875 - Maureen McCloy

On page 31, cycling looks like an add-on, in a way that footpaths don't. I'm concerned that if cycling's an add-on then it's discretionary and could be removed or trimmed back. You say yourself that getting more people cycling is key - so there needs to be a strong commitment to making further investment. Separated cycle lanes are critical and a few painted lines on the road won't make it safer for cyclists or help them feel safer. Why? One reason is that vehicles have become much larger and wider and drivers seem to struggle to keep their vehicle within their lane.

3876 - Dave Evans

No. There is insufficient emphasis on cycling infrastructure provision and climate adaptation. Oil prices are rising as the remaining oil reserves are becoming more energy intensive to extract (reference below). This process will accelerate and eventually increasing costs will force people out of their cars. This increase in fossil fuel costs will also drive up the prices of electric cars so don't expect there to be a wholesale transition to them. We need to be transitioning from private car transport to public and active transport and our road infrastructure priorities need to adapt. The rapidly deteriorating climate will require accelerating adaptation and provision for that needs to be increased too. <https://www.resilience.org/stories/2019-03-12/the-real-energy-return-of-crude-oil-smaller-than-you-would-have-imagined/> <https://link.springer.com/article/10.1007/s41247-016-0016-6>

Cycleway building must continue in order to encourage nervous cyclists out of their cars.

I'd very much like to have the cycleway along Ensors and Aldwins Roads to Te Aratai College go in. I live near there and even though I am a confident cyclist I avoid cycling along both Ensors and Aldwins Roads. Park Terrace is a good model of a cycleway that was rolled out quickly and at a relatively low cost. I expect there are ways robust cycleways can be installed without a massive investment in concrete.

3879 - Douglas Horrell

[Transport > Footpaths & Streetscapes (Capital)]

Please allocate more spending away from building and maintaining more roads, and toward completing the cycleway network and adding more routes. Please also spend more on safe footpaths and cycle paths in areas like Halswell, (especially on Cashmere Road from the quarry to Hendersons Rd which is very dangerous at present).

3881 - Anne Scott

No. I would like to see more investment in cycle infrastructure over the LTP and particularly in the next 3 years. It has the best return on investment, and it is key in delivering our climate goals. Road maintenance is important but too much is allocated relative to cycling.

Needs much higher expenditure on cycleways, including NorWest Arc, Wheels to Wings, Te Kaha surrounding streets, (including Ara). I support all the projects in the Spokes submission. I would also like an extension of the UniCycle to Avonhead Park, a separated cycleway on the 700m section of Northcote Road between QEII shared path and Vagues Road. Cycleways are very good value for money, particularly benefiting health, wellness and climate change.

3887 - Michael Patterson (Commodore Airport Hotel Ltd)

We really do believe that the cycling journey down Memorial Avenue should be made safer. the Commodore previously presented on this but in broad terms our concept is to simply restrict parking on Memorial Avenue to up to 3 hours, so with fewer cars parked on the Avenue then the Layby would be available for safer cycling trips.....without needing an expensive Cycle Way.

Our concern for Transport is around how unsafe the cycling journey is along Memorial Avenue. As previously stated if parking were to be restricted to say 3 hours then the Road Lay by would be more available for cyclists. I know that this is the view of many who work at the Airport too.

Again I see that cycling could be made much safer along Memorial Avenue with Parking restrictions. Cyclists can deal with occasional cars being parked but when there is a continual line up it means that cyclists are pushed into the pathway of cars.

3897 - J E Thomas

Not sure that all projects are value for money. Cycle ways in Hornby?

3908 - Cathy Harlow

I'm a cyclist. I cycle to work. I cycle to the gym. I cycle to do my shopping. I cycle for fun at the weekend. My default is to cycle and options like taking the bus or using my car are 2nd and 3rd place. And I LOVE the protected cycle lanes that the Council has built. Thank you. They make a HUGE difference to my life in terms of physical safety and feeling less stressed, particularly on my commute to work. And yet I urge you to reconsider your cycleway projects at this time. Don't stop!! Just, please, think about this in the current economic context. Minimise disruptions to existing road users, use economical materials and simpler designs. The Rolleston Ave temporary design style offers protection with less disruption and less cost. What's not to love? And, please, where there is a major route causing huge divisions in our City, think about alternative routes. (Yes, I'm looking at you Wheels to Wings). Cycleways don't have to go down the main/direct route. Yes, that adds to cyclist journey times but being able to cycle around is a beautiful privilege – once you get out of the mindset that you should do it as fast as possible (like poor deprived car drivers) you can really appreciate the trip. I want more cycleways. But I don't view car users as an enemy and I don't want them to view me as one either. Nor do I want to economically penalise people by making them pay for the type of cycleways we cannot afford at the moment. Don't let perfect be the enemy of the "good enough".

3913 - Mark Darbyshire

The section of Colombo Street between St Asaph Street and Moorhouse Ave is unsafe due to the lack of cycle lanes. I find it a scary section of road both when driving and when cycling, due to cyclists unexpectedly merging into traffic. I would like to see adequate cycle infrastructure for this key road in and out of the city centre >>> I support the following list of capital projects as also stated in the submission of Greater Ōtautahi. I support the continued rollout of Major Cycle Routes without additional delay by returning the funding models for the following programmes to what they are in the Current Amended LTP 2024-2034 funding allocations: 26611 – Major Cycleway – Wheels to Wings Route (Section 1) Harewood to Greers 23101 – Major Cycleway – Nor'West Arc Route (Section 3) University to Harewood 26604 – Major Cycleway – Ōpāwaho River Route (Section 1) Princess Margaret Hospital to Corson Avenue 26606 – Major Cycleway – Ōpāwaho River Route (Section 2) Corson to Waltham 26605 – Major Cycleway – Ōpāwaho River Route (Section 3) Waltham to Ferrymead Bridge 23100 – Major Cycleway – Heathcote Expressway Route (Section 2) Tannery to Martindales 26607 – Major Cycleway – Southern Lights Route (Section 1) Strickland to Tennyson 26601 – Major Cycleway – Ōtākaro Avon Route (Section 1) Fitzgerald to Swanns Road Bridge (OARC) 26602 – Major Cycleway – Ōtākaro Avon Route (Section 2) Swanns Road Bridge to Anzac Drive Bridge (OARC) 26603 – Major

3931 - David Moorhouse

You really need to complete the major cycle way programme more quickly than in 10 years as a comprehensive joined up network is required to ensure we continue with the modal shift we've seen over the last few years. Building more roads is always counter productive (like trying to lose weight by buying bigger trousers), where as provided safe affordable and convenient alternatives (cycle network and PT) allows people to make intelligent choices about how they travel. We're seeing this with many families opting to not buy a second car but instead by a family friendly eBike.

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Strategic Transport]

There have been too many cuts to scheduled cycle way and active transport improvements. 3947 - Dave Kelly

[Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

Needs more emphasis on climate change. A practical step in this regard is faster progress on the major cycleways.

The major cycleways program has been a real game changer for our family. My wife and I both now cycle from Beckenham to the University for work, because we can use separated cycleways in Roker St, Church Square, Hagley Park, Matai St and through Riccarton Bush. I have long been a cyclist but my wife would not cycle without these safer facilities, and increasingly I also avoid busy roads. The separated cycleways are beginning to link up which means they are starting to become a really viable safe alternative. They also represent perhaps the most effective cheap way that the Cit Council can facilitate reducing emissions. But unfortunately it seems that cycleways are seen as an easy target when something needs to be changed to save money. Given the total transport budget is $1.6 billion, it is very unwise to delay cycleways (which reduce motor traffic by modal shift) instead of delaying larger more expensive roading projects.

3954 - Andrew Metherell

QUARRYMANS TRAIL The programme includes some longer-term funding for the Quarryman's Trail Cycle Connections (project 41845), but it is not clear what that covers. I use this cycleway the missing connections which I consider should be prioritised are:

- Extension of the Quarrymans Trail along Sparks Road, to connect to Sutherlands Road and Halswell Shops. I consider this is a fairly urgent requirement. The current trail requires cyclists to use a narrow road shoulder along the very busy Sparks Road which is very inconsistent with the trail connecting to the CBD. Recent addition of section of basic shared path east of Milns Road on the south side Sparks Road seems like a really poor outcome considering the huge investment in the existing section between Halswell and Hoon Hay. The current seemingly low number of users on the section alongside Sparks Road will be because it serves a small portion of the Halswell catchment considering the growth areas around Halswell Quarry and south Halswell. This is even more important given the MOE is not planning a Halswell High School, increasing demand for cycling from Halswell to Hillmorton. Halswell Quarry is also a destination for mountain bikers and road cyclists use the area, so the extension will support safety.
- Simeon Street connection from Quarrymans Trail to Little River Cycleway – this is the natural route to connect between trails, but there is no safe crossing of Milton Street or Coronation Street, and cyclists currently have to make a very difficult crossing. I suggest improvements will also support safe access to Barrington Mall.

3957 - Anne Scott (Spokes Canterbury)

We need continued and increased investment in active and public transport, investing in the future rather than the past.

The Major Cycle Routes (MCRs) programme should be delivered faster. In the last five years cycling journeys have increased 35% according to the cycling counters. The actual uptake is even higher as the counters significantly undercount journeys in the suburbs on the MRCs, and do not count cyclists on the roads. This success shows that the investment is very good value for money. Every cycle journey reduces congestion and emissions.

Extensions to cycleways that are currently not funded could be done by rolling out cheaper infrastructure by reallocating road space using bollards similar to the cycleway on Park Terrace and Rolleston Ave. We can learn from the experiences in Wellington and other international cities. The most important part is getting cyclists and pedestrians across busy intersections and roads, and ensure the road surface is of reasonable quality. For example, funding the pedestrian/cycle crossing on Milton Street to connect Simeon Street with the cycleway on Roker St would be a significant improvement in safety for all active transport users including cyclists and pedestrians. On other roads adding posts, smoothing over the chip seal and rotating drain covers would be a good start.

Christchurch is already feeling the effects of climate change through sea level rise, increased flooding events and fires on the Port Hills. Although both adaptation and reduction will be needed, it is cheaper to reduce emissions than to adapt to climate change. Transport makes up 54% of Christchurch's gross emissions. The health effects and costs of fossil fuel vehicles should also be taken into account. It is not a coincidence that New Zealand has the highest car ownership and one of the highest asthma rates in the world. A recent study in Neurology has linked PM2.5 particulates from diesel exhausts and other traffic-related air pollutants to Alzheimer's disease. Anything we can do to reduce single occupancy vehicle use reduces the long term costs to all New Zealanders.

Spokes believes the Council should:

- Prioritise active transport including better cycling and walking infrastructure. • Provide safe, frequent and reliable public transport (PT)
- Build a denser city and restrict urban sprawl. Disincentivize development in areas without services, including cycleways or PT; or on productive land.
- Create more bus lanes, and prioritise buses in intersections.
- Bring forward the Greater Christchurch Spatial Plan and MRT
- Create an express bus trial of the proposed MRT route using the proposed stops to see if this is the best solution and to gauge demand.

- Continue with the Safer Speeds program as it has been proven to reduce deaths and serious injuries and therefore helps to increase active transport use.
- Continue to work towards the aims of a 15-minute city as a key way to reducing emissions and create a liveable city
- Provide children with safer ways to get to school. One of the best ways is to remove parking within 50m of a school entrance and prioritise active ways of getting to school. Wellington is trialling closing a road at the entrance of a school and some countries close the road at school start/finish times. A study in Warsaw showed that closing the road at schools during the morning rush hour reduced NO2 concentrations by more than 30%. We support the funding of programmes that lower speeds, create safe crossings, and priorities separated cycle facilities.

The removal of the majority of the Local Cycle Network (LCN) and Cycle Connections programmes from the Draft LTP Capital Programme presents an unacceptable delay and risk to our city. This programme is designed to aid in both feeding users onto the Major Cycle Routes (MCR), and as significant improvements to local cycle infrastructure. Some of these improvements would provide missing links from MCRs to popular destinations which are nearby but not served by the MCR itself, such as Westfield Riccarton from the South Express. Without these improvements, the usefulness of the cycleways is greatly reduced for some people who are not willing to bike unless they can get all the way to where they want to go safely on a cycleway. There is also a higher likelihood of serious injury or death to cyclists in our city than there should be.

The removal or deferral of these projects is not in line with Strategic View 3 “Ensuring Resilience to the Impacts of Climate Change and Natural Hazards”, or Strategic View 4 “Planning and Investing for Sustainable Growth” or their respective Strategic Responses and Action Areas given in the council’s Infrastructure Strategy (pp.14-16) document attached to this Long Term Plan.

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design & Urban Regeneration > Strategic Transport]

We also request that in line with advice from He Pou a Rangi - Climate Change Commission given to the Government in April 2023 (2023 Draft advice to inform the strategic direction of the Government's second emissions reduction plan), and the 2024 Draft advice on the fourth emissions budget period (2036–2040) that none of the above projects related to aspects of the Major Cycle Routes, Local Cycle Network, or Cycle Connections programmes be scheduled for completion no later than 2030. This advice also recommends “the completion of Rapid Transit Networks any later than 2035”, which we also advocate for.

Protect future MCR corridors. This will prevent parts of future MCRs from being constructed to poor quality. For example, the Northern Line at the north end of Saint James Park has recently become a dangerous blind corner because the corridor was not protected and a new housing development built a fence right up to the corner of the property adjacent to the cycleway which blocks visibility.

The following Climate Emergency Response Fund (Way Safer Streets) projects have been cut, and these need to be added back in:

- The Cycle Link along Aldwins Road and Ensors Road, making it safer for students to bike to Te Aratai College, a move which will reduce congestion at peak times.
- The Cycle Connection on Cashmere Road, between Hoon Hay Road and past the Oderings Garden Centre to Hendersons Road (and extended to Ferniehurst St to join Nor'West Arc and Ōpāwaho River route, and through to the Sparks Road Wetlands)
- The Cycleway along Simeon Street, which will connect cyclists to the Little River Link, Quarryman's Trail, and Barrington Shopping Centre; and improve cycling connections for neighbourhoods such as Spreydon, Barrington, and Somerfields and the sports facilities at Ngā Puna Wai.
- A cycle-friendly environment along Smith Street so people can cycle safely to Te Pou Toetoe: Linwood Pool and Te Waka Unua School on Ferry Road, including a crossing at the Linwood Canal.
- The new cycle route in Richmond that will connect cyclists from the north to the south of Richmond.
 - 71496 – Richmond CRAF – Neighbourhood Greenway Cycleway 12
 - 72758 – Transport Choices 2022 – Richmond Neighbourhood Greenway

In addition, Spokes would like to see:

- Extending the Uni-cycle MCR to Avonhead Park past Merrin School (where a major injury to a cyclist occurred recently outside the school)
- A separated cycleway down Northcote Road (700m) connecting the QEII Shared Path and the Northern Line (as requested recently by children attending St Bedes). There are five schools in this area and a high number of people cycling. The opening of Pak'nSave has increased the traffic in this already busy area.

The Council should plan to fully fund these programmes as it is highly unlikely the current government will provide co-funding in the short term. The Council should also be proactive in designing and consulting on shovel-ready projects in anticipation of political change when the current government recognises the political and economic cost of not meeting our international obligations on emissions. It is much better to retain investment in New Zealand rather than buying billions of dollars of credits from other countries.

The LTP must make provisions to install bus and bike lanes on every single road more than two lanes wide.

Other cycle lanes such as Memorial Ave and Ferry Road must be permanentised or built.

Therefore, we ask that every single capital investment is scheduled for completion by 2025, and rates raised accordingly.

Even if this is not possible, the MCRs must all be completed by 2025.

- CCC needs to increase its capital spending program right now. Individual projects which need funding in 2024 or 2025, to avoid the bow-wave effect, include:
 - Major Cycle Routes (MCRs)
 - Nor'West Arc must be finished by 2025
 - Northern Line must be finished by 2025
 - Wheels to Wings must be finished by 2025
 - South Express must be finished by 2025
 - Memorial Ave Bike lanes must be built by 2025, because Burnside High School students, and students at other schools serviced by Memorial Ave such as Westburn and Cobham, should be able to have safe commutes.

[Transport > Transport (Operations)], [Transport > Roads (Capital)], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Strategic Transport]

I think the percentage or vision of how to budget between vehicle transportation/public transportation vs cycleways for a very select few to use is incorrect. How Christchurch is so spread out, the growth of Christchurch is hugely to the out lying areas not central. CCC needs to focus on improving the quality of the roads, the flow of the roads PRIOR to spending huge amounts on cycleways that bring no income/major benefit to Christchurch. The design of roads/subdivisions is very poor which creates ongoing funding issues because the time wasn't spent back at planning stage, instead a very large bill occurs 10years down the track when local residents are complaining about (speed,traffic issues, car crashes) but no allowance or thought was put into this at planning stage even when residents brought it up.

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Public Transport]

I don't think cycleways are the future of Christchurch. The design of Christchurch does not suite what you're trying to achieve compared to say some European cities that are much more compact. The existing public transport system is very poor. I think the money you're wanting to spend on all these new cycleways ($219mil) would be much better spent on improving public transport that way actually improve areas of businesses if people could better access them. If you look at the budget of public transport vs what you're proposing for a very select few cyclists ($219mil vs $101mil) shows that you have it all wrong.

Yes- the Westmorland Cycle link was affected by the Government's last minute withdrawal of funding. I would like to see this prioritised and added specifically into the council's LTP.

If we are sincere in planning for a viable future, we have to get serious about reducing our GHG emissions, and therefore about the transport sector. The private car must be discouraged. Transport especially public transport and cycleways are key parts of this and are very important to our future

534 - Russell Hignett

[Strategic Direction>Additional savings and efficiencies]

Slow down provision of cycleways and simplify design. Present policy involves over engineering and excess costs. If cycling use increases at rates suggested by some, then modification or expansion could be considered as increase result. To build and spend in the hope that volume of cycling will increase is wrong. Let the demand and use drive the project.

540 - Ross Allen

[Strategic Direction>Climate Change; Transport>Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]

Given that there is an increasing understanding by UN IPCC scientists that climate change is not in fact an urgent crisis but is more of a very gradual long term issue, which will no doubt permeate through to national policies in due course, the Govt and Council determined targets of 2030/2050 etc will be pushed out - eg what's happening in Europe right now. Hence the cycleways programme could be extended out some years in order to reduce costs in the earlier years. The same argument applies for public transport - I support investment in improving public transport but it's not necessary to upgrade to the extremely expensive electric buses so rapidly.

570 - Greg Partridge

If the Council are truly concerned about being fiscally responsible with Rate Payers money, you should scrap the Wings to Wheels cycleway along Harewood Road, freeze the City to Sea cycleway through the Red Zone, and put a hold on building any more cycleways around the city. I'm not opposed to cycleways, but I am against money being poured into projects that aren't essential and won't be well utilized by a significant proportion of the population. The Rolleston Avenue / Park Terrace cycleway demonstrates an example of how the CCC have spent money on a cycleway that for most of the day absent of cyclists. Its also an example of how the Council are failing to demonstrate fiscal prudence in terms of how the CCC are spending public money on for want of a better term "woke", "nice to have" infrastructure, rather than focusing on fixing already existing infrastructure that isn't functioning to its optimum capacity. To demonstrate fiscal responsibility towards ratepayers, the CCC should put a halt on building more cycleways, and instead be focusing on supporting and improving existing public transport.

If the Council truly aims for fiscal responsibility, it should reconsider projects like the Wings to Wheels cycleway along Harewood Road and the City to Sea cycleway through the Red Zone. Putting a halt on building more cycleways and focusing on improving existing public transport, such as buses, would be more prudent.

You have and are spending far to much on cycleways that aren't necessary. Examples such as the City to Sea, the Wings to Wheels and the Little River Link are "nice to have's", they are not "Must Have's". The Rolleston Ave / Park Tce cycleway is a glaring example of a cycleway that sits empty for a huge proportion of the day. It is an absolute waste of Rate Payers money when right alongside of it sits a very wide grass berm and footpath that if carefully repurposed would have served the needs of cyclists more than adequately. The CCC should be putting a halt on building more cycleways and focus instead on improving the existing public transport, in conjunction with ECan.

In 2023, 54% of Christchurch emissions came from transport. This needs to be reduced at pace. The best way to achieve this is promoting more active and public transport. More cycleways need to be built to connect our existing network. This can ensure our city can be the New Zealand city that leads action on mixed modal transport models, while reaping all the benefits. I will be attaching a proposal for mixed-modal transport around the Moorhouse Avenue and Colombo Street intersections.

[Transport > Roads (Capital)], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Strategic Transport]

Too much money being spent on carriageway maintenance. More money will need to be spent on building and maintaining cycleways. While I can appreciate the honest anxieties and cautious curiosity towards more room for cycleways, pedestrian spaces, and removing carparks, these options bring a plethora of benefits to civil society and local businesses. Chiefly, these are productivity and health (both physical and mental), as space is prioritized to moving more people efficiently, and less air pollution is created. With 3300 premature deaths coming from air pollution in NZ each year, this is our opportunity to ease pressure on the health sector and increase life expectancy.

597 - Ashleigh Dickson

[Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure]

Money spent on cycle ways should be with consideration that users of cycle ways must feel safe. Some decisions on cycle ways leave me to think I would never take children on those cycle ways because they are unsafe. Strategic decisions should be made about creating routes removed from road traffic. Additionally bus stop technology often fails and you cannot use this to determine when the next bus is coming. We are a high use household for buses with my husband taking the bus every day to get to work. If cycle ways from our house to the university were available, we may use bikes more than buses. However at this time he'd need to get down busy roads to access these which are unsafe for our family

630 - Kate Cater

And we should also spend a lot more on cycleways.

Please, more cycleways. The trial in Park Tce is great, traffic flows well and it should be permanent with more of these over the city.

I support CCC's active transport initiatives to improve and increase safer, dedicated cycleways but this should be speeded up. Children cycling to school and families to go on outings together. The success of an always busy Coastal Pathway, is a testament to encouraging recreational and commuter cycling and walking away from traffic.

635 - Ashley Campbell

In general, I believe delaying the major cycle routes further is a mistake – cycles cause much less damage to roads than cars do and cause significantly less congestion. So, it makes sense to prioritise these. One way to prioritise them would be to continue implementing them using temporary, lower-cost materials, with a view to making them more permanent over time. For example, the low-cost implementation on Park Tce works well – let's see this approach used throughout the city to speed up the plan implementation. This also allows for changes and fine-tuning before permanent structures are built. I particularly want to see this approach used to get separated cycle lanes into the East, which is sadly lacking in such facilities. The commuter route to New Brighton (not the OARC) and a new route to the Northeast of the city could easily be implemented this way – especially given that on much of Pages Rd there is ample road reserve land to get going now.

Bike paths - need more but not so flash. Why not have one side ~~path~~^{off the} footpath for biking & one side for walking - safer for walking. Also, if west + south sides always biking & east + north walking. That way faces could be on the walking side & the biking side would be unimpeded.

The bike path up Harewood Rd needs rethinking. The school at the top means parking is needed. Why hasn't Warrakei Rd been considered - it no longer has the same access to films Rd so less traffic - no schools etc.

Expecting everyday individuals to fully understand this plan with the detail required to provide an informed decision is optimistic. Public consultation appears to be rather inefficient and my confidence in the current council is not great considering the opinions vary greater between councillors and agendas. Wheels to Wings is a prime example and it appears to have been wasted effort due to the vast delays due to consultation efforts. Infrastructure that continues to support climate change efforts like bikeways are super important but yet there is too much pandering to those who are wedded to their vehicles. We as rate have to a level of trust in the council to make the right decisions.

699 - Helen Reddecliffe

I think that a greater investment in cycleways will ultimately lead to less cars on the road - and eventually less road maintenance costs. Has this been factored in? Wear and tear on cycleways must be a fraction of wear and tear on roads.

I feel that having quality and affordable bus services in Ōtautahi is really important, and as a cyclist I'd like to see the development and maintenance of cycleways, as cycling is my main mode of transport. More could be done to encourage Christchurch people to cycle more regularly. I'd like to see more cycling only pathways as it does not always seem very safe on shared cycle/walk paths. Some of the cycle routes in and around Hagley Park are not all that safe, such as the intersection on the corner of Park Tce and Harper Ave seems particularly problematic. It would be good to see a full review of cycle ways in that area.

[Transport>Footpaths & Streetscapes (Capital)]

On living in this nice area close to Quarry Park, it's a shame that we don't have a safe access from our subdivision to the park to walk with the kids and our dog. There is no footpath along the Cashmere Road to the park and I believe there is 50 or 60 km speed limit for the cars there, which makes the walks to the park very challenging and not pleasant.

This is the first point (budget for new footpaths) I decided to emphasize. Or if you can look into an alternative way to access the park from our subdivision please.

Also Sutherlands Road leading to Quarry Paddocks has no footpaths at all, cyclists don't have enough space, making the share of the road which is not in a great condition either, very challenging. Ideally to have a cyclist / foot path along Sutherlands Road and to the left to Sparks Road. This would also allow the kids to bike to school.

More cycleways directly relating to schools so children can safely bike, scoot etc from home. The change in traffic during school holidays is a good indication of the number of students who drive or are driven to school and back. Secure parking for bikes in town and malls might help

Most of these are good, but there needs to be more investment in public transit and cycleways. Until there is a certain critical mass of cycle ways, most people will feel unsafe cycling. Footpaths and cycleways are currently absent from four key sections of Henderson road, Cashmere Road and Sutherland road in the Halswell area. Section 1: Corner of Henderson and Cashmere Road (the bend near these roads) Section 2: Sutherland road (Halswell) Section 3: Corner of Cashmere Road and Sutherland road (Halswell) Section 4: Cashmere Road (near Ennerdale Row road) (these sections are listed in the order of importance) Despite their popularity among cyclists, these sections lack the necessary infrastructure, posing significant safety risks. Urgent action is required to implement even temporary footpaths and cycleways in these areas to prevent potential accidents and save lives. Each of these sections spans a relatively short distance, ranging from 100 to 200 meters. Consequently, the investment required for establishing footpaths and cycleways would be minimal compared to the potential benefits in terms of safety and well-being. Addressing these critical areas with appropriate footpaths and cycleways is not only a matter of safety but also a cost-effective measure that can significantly enhance the overall infrastructure of the Halswell area.

I hear that the cycle way by Te Aratai College has been frozen with its funding. usage has increased hugely for cycling at the school, I am a teacher at Te Aratai College and I feel scared and frightened doing duty on Aldwins road due to fear that car drivers will drive too quickly and have an accident with one of my students. I want the Te Aratai cycle way to be restarted. A safe Christchurch is vital.

More cycle lanes and busses would be good. In particular, I would like to see the North-West arc, the northern line, the wheels to wings, and south express cycleways to be completed. Furthermore, express funding to build the following Ōtākaro route, Ōpāwaho route, "Southern Lights", little river link, and the north-eastern cycle route would be much appreciated.

If car parking charges are to be introduced into the city parks as a user pays principle on top of vastly increased rates, then perhaps cyclists should be levied to help pay for the exceedingly expensive cycleways they have exclusive use of.

[Transport>Roads (Capital)]; [Transport (Operations)]

Our roading network is a shambles with widespread temporary disruptive roadworks and permanent redesigns increasing congestion rather than reducing it. A prime example is Wings to Wheels which is strongly opposed by the local residents who will be most disadvantaged by its construction. Halving the volume of traffic, eliminating on street parking, putting in expansive cycleways for cyclists who are rarely seen on that road makes little sense. Those going to the airport to travel will have luggage and those who work there are likely to be in uniform or require work vehicles for tools etc so cycling will never be there preferred or suitable option. It is highly likely the environmental impact during construction of this expensive project will vastly outweigh any climate savings made from its subsequent use. Worse still, how are emergency service vehicles expected to negotiate this major arterial route when there is virtually nowhere for vehicles to pull over to let them pass? Save the money and make the roading surfaces better and safer for all users rather than for an elite few. Ease congestion rather than creating it.

1190 - Callum McGlinchy

Ensure value for money. Some cycleways have cost excessively

1230 - Carlana Limmer

Cycle Lanes are under-utilized and although it is seen at Government level to be contributing to the environment to have less cars on the road, this will not be the case. Only a very small percentage of residents will use the cycle lane and of those who do, it will be for recreational purposes and will not take a proportionate number of cars off the road on a regular day-to-day occurrence, for example, people cycling to work or school or university. This is a huge investment and other cities, such as Auckland proves that the cycle-ways do not get used.

Value the most - major event funding, parks and foreshore. With rubbish and recycling, some portion of these costs should be user pays on their rubbish collection to save some of the costs allocated here. Losing the investment into creating more cycle lanes, and reducing the spend on libraries as these are not utilized or needed as they were prior to the hugely growing on-line resources which people can access for free.

(Reducing road size for separated cycle lanes) I see so many cyclists not abide by the road rule, riding through red lights and most road cyclists don't use the cycle lanes because it slows them down. Cycle lanes are good for commuting but that is a very small percentage. But hey, you've already wasted that money.

129 - Barbara Harding

Currently, I have people 'working' on cycle lanes on Ilam Road, a project started nearly one year ago by a different firm, then restarted (some of the work being altered and discarded) with a new company who seem to spend far more time standing around with 8 watching the 2 working staff members. I am totally in favour of a cycle track, but the cycle track is far too fancy and the costs presumably ridiculous. Why not just have a line and green for cycle area, with some posts, like in Rolleston Avenue?

Christchurch is a pretty flat city and cycle lanes would encourage more people to cycle. I personally won't cycle as I have to travel along busy main roads to get to my place of work and I have been knocked off my bike 3x in my life and now no longer feel safe. Fuel prices are on the rise and cycling would be a more liveable option, plus reduce the congestion and improve the air quality We live in a country and city that is prone to significant weather events and this is only going to increase in frequency and severity and we need to be better prepared to mitigate the structural damage, the health and social impact that these events create. 2087 - Emma Norrish (Waipapa Papanui-Innes-Central Community Board)

The Board again refers to the early engagement on 'what matters most', which reflected that travel choice is high among residents' priorities in the Central ward, being among the top two, along with climate change. The Board does perceive that the draft LTP appears to be retreating from the current amended LTP in some respects which suggests negative impacts on local cycle network connections, which would be disappointing for parts of the community. It also noted, in connection with the Minister of Transport advising Council at the end of last year that CERF funding is no longer available for the majority of the projects in Council's CERF programme that the Te Aratai College pedestrian and cycle access project is affected, and it is unclear whether this will be addressed.

The Board also indicated in its Plan it would continue to support the greenway cycleway to link Richmond to the central city; we appreciate that an extension of the greenway beyond the area the Board are able to support with the CRAF funding has been hindered by the government's announcement that no further funding from the Climate Emergency Response Fund for projects that are part of the Transport Choices programme will be approved.

Public transport and local activities that benefit the wider community and our overseas travellers are much better to focus on.

3581 - Steven Barbour

I am a strong supporter of cycling facilities for Christchurch commuters. Sadly, the vast majority of cycling expenditure seems to be on recreational cycling. While recreational cycling is fine, I do not see why that gets such significant expenditure when other, equally worthy, recreational pursuits get absolutely nothing. Moreover, there must be much greater analysis of whether we are getting value for that expenditure - what little there is, is so vague as to be useless.

Ōtautahi is such a great place to live. I've loved living here for the past 13 years, and I'm looking forward to the rest of my life here. The things that make it great are the things we need to protect by investing in them and not shying away from difficult decisions. E.g. ease of getting around without relying on a car - boost our bus and bike infrastructure. Easy to access green spaces - continue tree planting. Reliable drinking and storm water - invest in upgrading our systems so that they are resilient against climate change. Yes, this rates increase is expensive during this cost of living crisis. We need to be careful to support our less well-off ratepayers.

As are safe cycleways, and efficient bus systems. [Coder note: So important]

3850 - Stephanie Remington

Cycleways and clogging our roads! Wasting money on overengineered roading and cycleway plans, reducing street parking for residents and not putting traffic lights in where residents want them. The council knows best apparently, but doesn't listen to the ratepayers!

3852 - Chris Coey

The current push on cycle ways is due to central government funding, take out that funding, would the council continue with these items? This aspect has also in the past influenced poor placement of traffic lights which could have had had better results. The proposed Harewood Road cycle way has been strongly opposed by the local community, yet the council does not listen, use this cost saving and just add traffic light to the Harewood Road / Breens intersection.

3856 - Portia Bishop

Related to this there is too much focus on road maintenance in comparison while not as much focus on cycle infrastructure. - The cost of a well-invested cycle infrastructure produce numerous benefits related to health and the environment- furthermore, increasing active transport (alongside PT) means less traffic on the road and less wear-and-tear.

3858 - Jennifer Berridge

There is no obvious spending allowance for footpaths or cycle lanes.

I find myself disappointed that the current standard of new road design that includes cycleways is merely a painted path. This is not safe enough for many cyclists especially on some of the roads that have cycleways, be that due to space, speed limits or general visibility on those roads. I would like to see more options for independant travel become viable. There are options, but they are not yet safe, or frequent enough for more people to take advantage of them.

[Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]

How many empty cycle lanes and empty buses do we need to have around Christchurch? As mentioned this council is anti car and actively make it harder for cars to operate. A good example of this is removing lanes and creating congestion.

932 - Cheryl Hoskins-Wilder

The school safety on the roads should be a big priority, not only does it make it safer for kids but it keeps traffic flowing. Currently I drop my kid at Te Aratai as I don't feel safe with them biking on aldwins road. The bus service also isn't a direct link from heathcote so it's not suitable having long wait times in rain, and walking for 15min round the busy roads. When I drive down this road there are many cyclists from the high school. I end up driving slow behind them as there is no safe room to pass. It's a very busy street with many trucks with the construction site. It relies heavily on drivers being extra vigilant. I have seen a number of close calls with impatient drivers. I have started biking after 20years of not owning a bike. The cycle way to sumner makes it easier to bike rather than drive and a much more relaxing life style. I keep hearing how the 70s were so great with a laid back lifestyle, and yet it's the same generation pushing for more cars on the road. The emissions are increasing and the culture is to increase cars. Why are we not honoring the lifestyle of slowing down and enjoying life instead of rushing to the next best thing.

Footpaths & Streetscapes (Capital)

General Comments

190 submissions were received addressing footpaths & streetscapes (capital).

53 comments supported, and 17 comments opposed.

107 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 18 comments provided general feedback addressing footpaths & streetscapes (capital).

Officer Response

Support:

There is significant strong support for enhancing pedestrian safety and infrastructure across various locations, with specific projects mentioned like Hornby, Linwood, and Te Kaha pedestrian improvements. Submitters are keen on maintaining existing footpaths while expanding the footpath network to improve connectivity, particularly in Halswell and North Christchurch. There is also a call for footpath repairs in previously developed areas such as East Christchurch, Halswell, and Northwood. Additional support focuses on proactive planning for new trees, ensuring accessibility on footpaths, particularly in the Central City, and investing in enhancing the overall streetscape aesthetic. Submitters in support of pedestrian improvements focused clearly on concerns with climate change and in enabling the choice of alternative modes.

Against:

Despite the support, there is some opposition concerning pedestrian-focused improvements, submitters primary opposition centred around reducing overall spend and focusing on maintaining what we have. Some submitters are concerned with the presence of footpaths in new streets, and the specific improvements around Te Kaha. There is also resistance to investing in streetscapes and concerns about the practicality and necessity of widening footpaths, suggesting a division in community priorities regarding pedestrian infrastructure.

Other:

Other considerations include specific calls for improving pedestrian crossings near Oaklands School on Ensign Street and adding pedestrian crossings on Halswell Junction Road. There is a suggestion to ensure footpaths are available on both sides of streets, pointing to a need for comprehensive pedestrian accessibility and safety across the city.

Footpath Condition

Council is working towards implementing a network-wide footpath condition surveying programme using basic AI (artificial intelligence) and algorithms (smarter systems). This will help us to update the footpath renewal programme with the most recent condition data as well as identifying the areas where the treatments depreciated faster than normal. This will enable us to investigate other underlying issues which might have caused the problems and avoid them through early intervention in the future. To address the lag in condition surveying for footpath, council commissioned a survey of 40% of the network covering the eastern suburbs and central city in 2022/23. The results of the survey showed that 92.6% of footpaths already surveyed were rated as being between very good and fair condition.

The condition assessment on the remaining 60% of the network is currently underway using a new innovative approach to provide a defensible and repeatable process to prioritise our short to medium term maintenance and renewal works going forward with greater assurity of investment levels (budgets) required and return on investment outcomes (improved asset life and reduced safety concerns). This approach is expected to provide an in-house, reliable and cost-effective alternative for footpath condition surveying for the council. In addition, as a part of the city streets maintenance contracts, a large amount of on the ground assessment is undertaken to address the make safe activities across the network. At this stage we cannot identify specific sites that will be addressed next season. The feedback from the Annual Plan on specific sites (e.g. St Asaph Street, Brooklands Area) will be fed into the staff process to prioritise sites for renewal. A footpath renewal programme is normally available at Road and footpath resurfacing map : Christchurch City Council (ccc.govt.nz). It is expected that the new footpath resurfacing programme will be available at this link by 1 July 2024.

Roving Footpath Crew

Christchurch City has 2792km of footpaths in the transport network, with approximately 12.5km added to the network annually via the completion and vesting of subdivisions. Resident satisfaction with footpath condition is low (less than 50%) and this is a factor that is consistently seen as an area of improvement for Council. Council receives on average 1,500 customer service requests a year relating to footpath condition. Approximately 70% of these will require some action to be undertaken by the maintenance contractors. The remaining 30% are closed with no action required as they do not breach the contractual service criteria or are the responsibility of a third party.

In addition there are roving footpath crews which address footpath concerns raised by residents as customer service requests using existing contractor resources. The crews are tasked to specific locations following service requests, and subsequently inspect the whole street to either remediate all jobs within their assigned scope, or report jobs for future planning if they fall outside their scope. We need to build on the success of this strategy and pro-actively address faults and issues before they escalate to more expensive fixes or unsafe conditions for footpath users.

Berms and Vegetation management

Rural mowing maintenance covers an informal turf standard that typically focusses on rural areas, and is based on a keep in check and mitigation of the build-up of vegetation. This is currently scheduled up to 5 times per year based on seasonal growth demands. Maintenance covers areas on hillside verge /berm /banks that are deemed to become a potential fire risk, and areas that fall outside of the general mowing techniques (tractor mounted side reach arm mowing and or scrub cutting by hand) generally covers areas on the port hills and Banks Peninsula. This is currently scheduled up to 4 times per year, dependent on seasonal growth demands.

Residential grass berm frontage mowing is based on a standard of keeping the grass in check only and may not always meet the expectation of resident's. Council's expectation is for the resident of the adjoining berm /verge to maintain their own frontages as best as possible, where possible. Requests for mowing will be covered under reactive one off mows, dependent on workloads and budget considerations, and may sometimes be added to permanent rounds assessed on a case by case basis. Scheduled berm mowing currently allows for mowing up to 10 times per year, dependent on seasonal growth demands.

Road landscape amenity turf assets are generally areas of turf that require a higher level of mowing i.e. small reserves/ urban connections (alleyways/ walkways), or larger berms that residents are not willing or able to maintain, frontages to subdivisions, etc. This is currently scheduled for up to 16 times per year dependent on seasonal growth demands. Amenity gardens /streetscape vegetation control within legal roads is scheduled for servicing monthly, and is typically median island, boundary side and or kerb side formed street scape plantings. However, vegetation areas which are more informal are also covered if deemed applicable.

Natural hillside vegetation control is scheduled once per year, where identified. Areas generally fall within the Port Hills, including Banks Peninsula, but also greater Christchurch as required. If the case arises that less maintenance is required and not currently identified within inventory, these sites are covered under response teams that carry out reactive maintenance on a case by case basis (generally via residents). If sites are deemed to require more long term maintenance, they are added to inventory of scheduled maintenance regimes, and /or removed if circumstances change.

Any changes to these frequencies will have a significant impact on operational expenditure.

Accessibility

Council has adopted the One Network Framework (ONF) road classification which is implemented by Waka Kotahi at a national level. The ONF recognises the importance of place as well as movement for prioritising transport activities. Place function has a direct relationship with pedestrian access and accessibility which takes into account the importance of places like hospitals, schools, and commercial centres. The renewal and reconstruction programme uses the ONF classification as one its criteria for prioritisation of our transport improvement works.

Following an accessibility sector hui in early 2021, Council's then Accessibility Regulatory Working Group introduced an annual funding sum of $100,000 in order to address individual matters raised by accessibility sector representatives that were hampering access for persons with a wide range of mobility impairments. That funding sum has continued through the 2022/23 Annual Plan and was managed by Council's Community Partnerships and Planning unit, through direct liaison over its allocation with Council's newly appointed accessibility portfolio holder, Councillor Aaron Keown. Many of the measures installed under that fund have been within the public roading environment and have been raised directly by accessibility sector representatives. Going forward this fund will be managed by the Traffic Operations Team to allow for rapid implementation.

City-wide, Council's transport and streets capital and operational works programmes seek to progressively improve accessibility for persons with a wide range of mobility difficulties through roading and footpath improvements that are consistent with best practice standards outlined in the Waka Kotahi (NZTA) Pedestrian Planning and Design Guide, now superseded by the new Pedestrian Network Guidance website.

Accessibility is a key consideration in all capital works undertaken in the Transport Unit with improvements being incorporated where feasible. Council also ensures such standards are achieved in new subdivision areas, through the vesting of new roading assets following independent safety auditing of new roading and access infrastructure – with those audits often identifying opportunities to implement improved accessibility arrangements that conform to current best practice.

New Footpaths

There is widespread concern regarding the lack of footpaths in some areas, these are primarily near new developments where the developer has delivered footpaths adjacent to their development and Council needs to connect this to the existing network. The new footpath programme will address these gaps. Staff are working to identify and prioritise this programme. Prioritisation will consider volume of use, connectivity, traffic volumes on the adjacent road and location in relation to access to key destinations.

Existing projects are continuing to deliver a shared path in Gardiners Road, and pedestrian improvements as part of the Active Transport package in Ferry Road, and in Glandovey and Idris Roads. Further Active Travel funding has not been included in the draft LTP.

Halswell Junction Road Pedestrian Crossing

Concerns have been raised by submitters about the safety of crossing Halswell Junction Road, particularly for Knight’s Stream school children and people accessing Knight’s Stream Park. Staff have reviewed the safety concerns and undertook site visits to investigate what measures would be warranted to improve safety.

As a result of the investigations the following actions have been taken to improve safety:

- Permanent warning signage has been installed on approaches to the pedestrian crossing points to improve awareness of the possible presence of pedestrians, including children.
- Median island vegetation has been lowered to improve intervisibility between pedestrians waiting to cross and approaching road users.
- As part of the approved Interim Speed Management Plan, a variable 30km/h speed limit is being installed on Halswell Junction Road. This will cover the approaches to both Albert Willis Avenue and Denali Street and the nearby pedestrian crossing points. This is anticipated to be installed by the end of September 2024.

Te Kaha Streets

The streets surrounding Te Kaha that have been identified for an upgrade include Madras Street (Moorhouse to Latimer Square), Tuam Street (Madras Street to Fitzgerald), Lichfield Street (Manchester to Madras), Barbadoes Street (Hereford to Tuam) and Lichfield Street (Barbadoes to Fitzgerald). These streets have been identified as being a key pedestrian connection to Te Kaha.

The objective of the proposed upgrades is to ensure a positive and safe pedestrian experience for those accessing Te Kaha as well as ensuring the continued function and operation of the wider transport network for other users. The improvements will support the needs of the Central City, in line with An Accessible City (AAC) Phase 3 network transformation.

The delivery timeframe is required to tie-in with the completion of upgrades to the water, waste and stormwater networks associated with the increased development of the east frame and the construction of Te Kaha. The proposals for these streets include upgrading footpaths, improving signalised intersections and ensuring the area’s stormwater network requirements align with Te Kaha’s designs.

The projects have been tendered, a report will go to Council in May for guidance on the way forward in light of uncertainty around NZTA funding.

In response to Councillor Andrei Moore's letter requesting feedback on aspects of living in Halswell. 1. The lack of pedestrian and cyclist safe spaces alongside parts of Sparks Road and Sutherlands Road is a major safety issue for the many residents of the Halswell Downs, Glendore, Benrogan, Muirhill and Quarry Paddocks subdivisions. Acknowledge the construction of some footpaths is planned, but is contingent on developers doing the do. Prior to these many developments, Sutherlands Road was a rural road and probably fit for purpose, but with the areas urban development in the last decade (ish) it is now way behind being suitable and safe. Reducing the speed on Sutherlands would be an improvement, but this is nothing in comparison to footpath, their construction is a must for this community. 2. At the terminus/end of the Quarry Mans bike trail at the road crossing lights opposite the Halswell Zone Substation for cyclists continuing along Sparks Road (i.e. away from town, towards Sutherlands Road and beyond), there is minimal space at the road's edge here for cyclists and vehicles to safely share the road. Again this infrastructure is aged and not fit for purpose, and improvements needed. Not advocating the same for the opposite side of the road (i.e., city bound) as cyclists should be encouraged/directed to use Milns Road and connect with the Quarry Mans trail etc. 3. Te Kuru Wetland, thank you what a fabulous community asset this is and will become. Some benches around the reserve will be a real bonus for some of its many (and growing number of) users. Thank you and ka kite ano.

Fix the footpaths so that more people will feel able to safely walk to their bus stop, and kids can scooter or skate to school (footpaths in my street are a disgrace and not in a safe condition). Keep doing the safer streets, lowering speed limits - people driving through might not like it, but the communities living in these areas do. It's a lovely flat city but still people don't feel safe cycling - so do more to make that mode safe.

2715 - L.F. Blake

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)], [Transport > Roads (Capital)]

With an aging population with reduced mobility, less should be spent on cycleways and/or less expensive and disruptive ways to have cycleways should be investigated. There is much to do on maintaining our existing roads and footpaths, which should be a higher priority than cycleways, as they impact on many more people.

2764 - Chris Ford (Disabled Persons Assembly (DPA))

The primary issue that was identified by the disabled people who participated in these discussions was the need to prioritise footpath maintenance so that they are accessible and safe for disabled people.

DPA is pleased to see that $58 million has been allocated to footpath and cycleway renewals and that a further $20 million has been allocated to the creation of new footpaths in the next LTP, representing a proposed total spend on footpath and cycleway infrastructure of $78 million.

Improved footpath maintenance ensures that disabled people can not only participate in their communities but enjoy a better quality of life. Community participation also helps keep health care costs under control for both government and individuals, as disabled and non-disabled people have a greater ability to engage in recreational, sporting, leisure and community activities leading to better health and wellbeing outcomes for everyone.

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

We strongly support the proposed spend of $78 million on new cycleway and footpath developments over the next ten years.

Our recommendation is that most of this spend be devoted to the maintenance of existing footpaths and the creation of new paths and cycleways in areas where there is population growth.

Footpaths must be built according to universal design standards and the New Zealand Transport Agency – Waka Kotahi's 'Pedestrian Network Design Guide.'¹

Building accessible walking and cycling infrastructure to these standards means that Council will save money from the outset in terms of maintenance costs (especially during the lifespan of the LTP) and ensure that injury rates remain negligible to nonexistent on the city's footpaths and cycleways.

To ensure that injury rates remain low, we would like to re-emphasise the need for cycleways and footpaths/walking tracks to be built separately but parallel to each other so that collisions are avoided between pedestrians and cyclists, something that is a major concern to disabled and older people.

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Strategic Transport], [Transport > Road (Capital)], [Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure]

- I request further funding to be given to 75051 Programme - New Footpaths. There are many locations around the city where footpaths have never been built (e.g. in Halswell and Casebrook/Harewood) and there has been no investment in filling in the gaps for many years. This severely hinders accessibility for those outside of a car. I am very supportive of this new programme and would like funding for it to be increased much more to a level required to make a significant dent in the number of footpaths required.
- I request more funding to be made available for small pedestrian safety and accessibility improvements such as pedestrian refuges and kerb build outs in under-served areas. I support existing projects which include these types of improvements.

2848 - Glen Koorey

Other transport projects will also greatly enhance the environment for walking and cycling and should not be held up, including the city-wide speed management programme, the Pages Rd bridge replacement, and Te Kaha surrounding streets.

3003 - Sonya Hodder (Spreydon Neighbourhood Network)

There is very little mention of footpaths in the Plan compared to cycleways and other modes such as scooters. [Transport > Operations], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)], [Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Strategic Transport]

Accessible public transport options for all people is a very high priority, as is spending on footpaths and cycle routes. We would encourage CCC to stand firm on its vision of an accessible Christchurch, regardless of any pressure upcoming from the Government (for example to invest more in new roads of "significance" or increase speed limits, especially those in urban areas). An extensive, well-maintained and accessible public transport network ensures that all people can participate in city life, and also makes it easier for older people, and families, to access other services (for example, medical appointments, or schooling).

Our transport network must be inclusive, and developed with that eye for accessibility. Better designed bus-stops, and a more family friendly environment at the Bus Exchange, would assist in this area. We are excited by the proposals for an increased cycling network and greater attention to options for those who no longer drive (and for those who, given the opportunity, would prefer to use public transport more).

I am very concerned about the risk of changes in govt policy re: funding for transport plans, in particular, multi-mode transport. For me, a safe, robust, connected cycle system means I actually spend MORE in more businesses, as it's quicker and safer (and more enjoyable) to cycle to different areas of the city. It is crucial to maintain the highest levels of proposed funding for footpath and cycleway renewals, and for new cycleways ($199 M over 10 yrs) and $20M for other proposed cycle and pedestrian improvements. This will ensure that Christchurch can support the projected growth, meet stated goals for a liveable city, and meet climate resilience targets for reducing emissions.

93. Recreation Aotearoa submits its support for the proposed investment in Public Transport (Page 31). We also support the investment by Christchurch City Council in walking and cycling routes. 94. Recreation Aotearoa supports the Councils commitment to investment in supporting cycling (page 31), in particular. Recreation Aotearoa has long supported Active Transport initiatives across the motu. As such, we support proposed investments in completing the listed existing projects and commencing the listed new projects.

Investing in public spaces, streetscape and making them more usable and vibrant is an investment in economic development as well as community development.

We know that wise public investment in streetscape and usable public spaces attracts private investment in buildings and businesses. Shutting up shop by not investing in public spaces will significantly and detrimentally affect business growth and economic development in your patch and leave your centers tired and unappealing.

While your community is doing it hard with high interest rates and cost of living, a modest investment in usable public spaces shows that you care for your local community.

I live in the Halswell area and frequently run around the urban area. From my experiences I strongly urge that allowances should be made in the LTP for 5 missing links as shown below, and described in subsequent pages.

Sparks Rd wetlands is a great recreation asset to the local area. However, to reach this reserve from the Cashmere Rd area and Westmorland one has either to drive, or walk along the edge of the very busy Hendersons Rd, trying to avoid being hit by cars on one side, or falling into the deep boxed drain on the other. The well developed pad along the sloping grass road verge indicates many people do want to get to the Sparks Rd Wetlands from this direction. A footpath is desperately needed along the line indicated in red. It could be gravel if necessary, consistent with the paths in the wetland. Length approx. 360m.

The Cox's Quaifes Stormwater facility on Quaifes Rd provides a valuable recreational asset for what is becoming an intensively urban part of Halswell. The area between this wetland and Sabys Rd is now almost entirely built up, and yet there is no footpath along Quaifes Rd beyond the new subdivisions of Glengael Drive and the Sabys Estate opposite. A footpath along the line indicated would overcome the need for people to walk on Quaifes Rd, or drive to the wetland. Length approx. 390m.

Halswell Quarry Reserve is a great CCC owned recreational asset. While people drive to the reserve from all over town, many Halswell people walk to the Quarry, and this needs to be encouraged. There is no footpath along busy Cashmere Rd for the section indicated with the red line above, from Sutherlands Rd till almost the Quarry entrance. People living on the south side of that stretch of Cashmere Rd, or in the new subdivision on the north side of the road, accessed from Sutherlands Rd, must either walk on the side of busy Cashmere Rd, with its crests and bends, or get in the car and drive to the Quarry. Cashmere Rd is also well used by cyclists. I strongly urge the Council to make an allowance for a footpath along Cashmere Rd, or possibly a cycleway/footpath, for at least the 550m indicated.

Halswell is a suburb seeing rapid urban expansion, with many new subdivisions and their associated footpaths. Along with urban growth, the CCC has also been developing some impressive cycleways and recreational wetlands in the area. All this rapid expansion leaves various minor gaps in the local walking and cycling network. I understand that each new build pays a significant amount as a development contribution, and that there are expected to be over 3000 new homes in Halswell. Hopefully the CCC can find the funds to fill these minor gaps.

I support more efficient transport and particularly improvements for the safety of pedestrians and cyclists. I would like to see the footpath and road improved on Port Hills Road between Bridle Path Road and the round-about where it joins Martindales Road. I reported this in a snap-solve-send some months back but didn't get any feedback. I don't see this section of road mentioned in the Long term plan for road renewal. Vegetation encroaches on the footpath which slopes and is broken in places. Cars parked on either side of the road make it a duck and dive road to drive down or up. The other day I went to drive from Bridle Path Road and make a left turn into Port Hills road. A car was on the wrong side of the road coming towards me. Yet I have observed sections of footpath being replaced where I did not think the footpath was not bad enough to need replacement eg Remuera Avenue, Lower Cashmere.

1468 - Jenelle Hooson

I would like to signal my belief that there needs to be more investment in the footpaths and roads in the Halswell and Kennedys Bush area. There has been a significant increase in the amount of houses in the area and whilst the new areas have new and effective footpaths and roads, other existing areas are being negatively affected. For example, I live on Kennedys Bush Rd and there are areas of this road which require attention. For example, near the bottom of the hill the edge of the road is damaged. This damage is made worse by heavy rain as well as increased traffic with more building and construction happening up the road. Areas of Cashmere Rd, from Halswell Quarry heading toward Cashmere, are also facing similar issues.

1512 - Denis McMurtrie

[Strategic Direction > Additional Savings & Efficiencies]

As a caveat it is important we spend our money wisely with coordination with the various working groups and more buy in from the rate payer. For footpath renewals, I'd like to see improvements in the footpath between 68 Palatine Terrace and the intersection of Buxton Terrace. Currently there's no footpath for this stretch, which is used by many children to and from Beckenham School. Cars speed through this section, and access is worse out of hours when the residents are parking on street.

Roads in and around Halswell in particular Miln Rd needs to be brought up to Urban standard. This road was rural and has now come into being urban with the massive growth of new subdivision and the heavy traffic associated with new builds. Missing footpaths and adequate drainage i.e. kerb and channelling.

I do believe investment in roading / sidewalks, water and wastewater can be significantly reduced through better planning and coordination between these areas. Currently there is a significant amount of money wasted where the same streets are being ripped up and resurfaced on multiple occasions within short succession through efforts to improve each of these services individually - rather than improving all at once, and saving on time, cost and overall disruption.

1827 - John Rice

There is a lack of footpaths on Cashmere Road between between the Sutherlands Basin Car Park and Halswell Quarry Reserve. There are only two short areas of footpath, one coming up to the top of the hill from Barnfields Close. The second is from Kitcheners Knoll Road almost to the corner of Sutherlands Road. The 2 remaining sections seriously require a footpath for the safety of pedestrians. From the top of the hill (above Barnfields) to Kitcheners Knoll, pedestrians and cyclists are quite vulnerable with cars coming up the hill wanting to pass cyclists and a blind corner at the top. The section from Sutherlands road to Halswell Quarry Reserve is equally dangerous and unpleasant for pedestrians and cyclists. I ask that the section of Cashmere Road from the Sutherland's Basin car park to the Halswell Quarry Reserve be immediately made a 50km/hr zone to attenuate the safety issues previously mentioned. Given the number of cyclists, runners and pedestrians now using this road and the number of properties with drive ways entering onto this road, a 50km/hr speed limit is warranted to immediately improve safety. On many occasions vehicles are exceeding the current 60km/hr speed limit. Given it may be sometime before footpaths can be installed, a much lower speed limit is a quick and easy start to improving safety for pedestrians and cyclists.

Though I believe the Council can stop building new roads and work at improving the sustainable transport network including prioritising the quality of the pedestrian experience (e.g. footpath widths, even surfacing, planting, trees for shading, connections/build-outs to reduce the crossing distance). The pedestrian experience is important for supporting cycling and public transport use as everyone is a pedestrian at some point in the journey. It can also help to reduce private car use because if footpaths were more attractive to use, people would be less likely feel like they need to drive short distances (particularly between neighbouring though disconnected retail parks which are very prevalent land in Ōtautahi).

In addition, greening streets with trees and other plants should be prioritised. Tree-lined streets slow traffic, creating safer environments and producing lower emissions. They make walking and cycling more attractive and reduce urban heat islands. They have a great positive impact on transport networks, community health and wellbeing, and reduce green house gases.

I would encourage higher capital spend on transport projects that encourage walking and cycling and climate resilience projects. This would likely mean slightly higher rates increases up front, but if done right should lead to less operational and capital spend being required in future years.

Broadly speaking I agree with the changes, however, I would prefer to see increased spending on capital projects for active transport (e.g. cycling) and on capital projects to decarbonize and promote climate resilience. I would support higher rates increases for this.

It is not safe for walkers, especially children and the elderly to walk around easily or safely. There needs to be safer ways to get across both Sabys and Halswell Junction road. My daughter was hit by a truck crossing Sabys road during 5pm traffic the week before Easter. There are many trucks travelling through from Lincoln/Prebbleton etc or just trucks for all the building that is in this area. The volume of vehicles and two lanes on Sabys means people wave children across one side but then there is turning traffic coming around quickly eg trucks off Halswell Junction. Opposite Halswell school is also very dangerous with more traffic building up due to more homes etc coming out onto this road. There needs to be lights and a safe crossing rather than just a traffic island. The traffic must be made to stop for pedestrians or cyclists rather than the hit and miss or traffic just speeding up around this area. The other area of concern for us is the development of safe pathways for pedestrians. There needs to be paths on both sides of Quaifes road and out from Sabys to Candys road too. All these areas are getting developed for housing so pathways should be part of all this new development. My daughter and many dog walkers, families walking to the parks or walking to the bus, or dairy and shops. When on her paper rounds many of the current pathways and Halswell roads are needing repair. There is a lot of damage or patches but these just fracture in cold weather and cause more trip hazards. It is also difficult for people on electric scooters to get around places like Country Palms. Roads and pathways need to be safe for all users. Christchurch is an amazing place to live but needs to keep up with the correct infrastructure and ongoing maintenance

In response to Councillor Andrei Moore's letter requesting feedback on aspects of living in Halswell. 1. The lack of pedestrian and cyclist safe spaces alongside parts of Sparks Road and Sutherlands Road is a major safety issue for the many residents of the Halswell Downs, Glendore, Benrogan, Muirhill and Quarry Paddocks subdivisions. Acknowledge the construction of some footpaths is planned, but is contingent on developers doing the do. Prior to these many developments, Sutherlands Road was a rural road and probably fit for purpose, but with the areas urban development in the last decade (ish) it is now way behind being suitable and safe. Reducing the speed on Sutherlands would be an improvement, but this is nothing in comparison to footpath, their construction is a must for this community. 2. At the terminus/end of the Quarry Mans bike trail at the road crossing lights opposite the Halswell Zone Substation for cyclists continuing along Sparks Road (i.e. away from town, towards Sutherlands Road and beyond), there is minimal space at the road's edge here for cyclists and vehicles to safely share the road. Again this infrastructure is aged and not fit for purpose, and improvements needed. Not advocating the same for the opposite side of the road (i.e., city bound) as cyclists should be encouraged/directed to use Milns Road and connect with the Quarry Mans trail etc. 3. Te Kuru Wetland, thank you what a fabulous community asset this is and will become. Some benches around the reserve will be a real bonus for some of its many (and growing number of) users. Thank you and ka kite ano.

Within this, it would be wonderful to promote more greenways or walkways throughout the city. For example, the City Promenade is a fantastic walkway for locals and tourists, and more of these walkways would promote active transport to access the many local businesses throughout the city centre. There are points along the walkway, however, which are broken up, so it would be a huge improvement if these were updated to be continuous.

This could be partially funded through development contributions.

Don't dig up the roads for new cycleways, this is completely unnecessary, use existing footpaths, remove the grass berms and replace with pavement as in town. Apparently overseas they use removable plastic berms, which require a fraction of the time to install, and could be used to extend the existing footpaths if necessary. Make them dual purpose, saving the cost to residents without lawnmowers an added cost and keeping our streets tidy with no overgrown eyesores where property managers haven't bothered to maintain them.

GZ values green spaces and urban forest land, but also advocates for greening streets with trees and other plants. Tree-lined streets help slow down vehicles, and slower traffic emits fewer GHGs. They also make walking and cycling more attractive by providing a prettier landscape and shade, as well as help reduce urban heat islands. Altogether, greening our cities has a great positive impact on transport networks, community health and wellbeing, and reducing GHGs in the atmosphere.

As someone who walks at times with a grandchild and have had experience in health and disability field I think we need to consider children and elderly more in how our people get around safely. There are some footpaths that simply run out to no footpath. There are some footpaths that are too difficult to life a stroller or walking frame over. Look at each suburb, bike and walk around it then you would find out what I mean. The design is paramount to ensuring safety. A safety island near a stop sign that no vehicles stop at makes it dangerous to cross. The safety islands are too small for a couple with a baby and dog (s) or a cargo bike to wait. So if traffic dont stop at a sign or go the slow speed how can we feel safe. The signage needs to be clear when speeds lower to 30 or 40.

and pedestrian and wheelchair access throughout the city. A city should be designed and built for people, not for cars. There is an alarming trend in new housing developments for footpaths to be on just one side of the road. This means that a person in a wheelchair, a parent pushing a pram, and young children on bikes or scooters have to immediately cross the road when they leave their property. Foot paths should be required on both sides of the road in any new housing development.

[Transport>Cycleways (Capital)]; [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration>Strategic Transport]

I am not a resident of Christchurch, but work in Christchurch 3 – 4 days per week and volunteer with a Christchurch-based community organisation. My interest is particularly in transport as a means of reducing my own environmental impact and because I strongly dislike the waste of time and energy created by congestion. On the majority of workdays my transport into Christchurch is on the bus (along with my spouse) and my transport to my workplace is on my bike. I also cycle as part of my work with people with intellectual and physical disability and having safe places to cycle as part of our transport rather than only being able to cycle recreationally is beneficial for both physical and mental wellbeing, as well as being more cost effective. Investment in footpaths and cycleways is important for transport and for recreational users, contributing to healthier people who are more connected to the places they spend time. There is a lack of recreational seating in some newer developments, such as Aidanfield and around Ngā Puna Wai. This can make facilities less accessible as there is no opportunity to rest or enjoy the surroundings. Ensuring transport is multi-modal, allowing connection to different modes of travel for different parts of the journey is important. Reducing the number of single occupant private vehicles will go a long way towards making Christchurch a more liveable city and impacts across the well-beings.

3576 - Noeline Allan (Cass Bay Residents Association)

Cass Bay is a growing suburb, with 3 more subdivisions being developed. There is currently no footpath between Kaikomako Place and Mariner's Cove and further on to Cass Bay Heights and other properties on Governors Bay Road. This means that pedestrians have to walk along the side of what is a very busy road with logging trucks and other large vehicles as well as cars. Visibility is also limited by the bends in the road. We request that a roading engineer's assessment is done of Governors Bay road between Bayview Place and Cass Bay Heights to make pedestrians safer, particularly when crossing the road to access Steadfast Reserve where it is impossible to see traffic approaching from both directions and you have to rely on listening for vehicles. Electric cars make this more difficult. Now that the reserve is proving popular with walkers both for Cass Bay and further afield this is becoming a more urgent health and Safety issue.

3577 - Marie Byrne

I note the inclusion of the Active Transport line item for Ferry Road. While I applaud this I would also like this prioritised for addressing pedestrian safety across Ferry Road in the Phillipstown area and to NOT defer this for another year. It has been distressing for the Phillipstown community that this has repeatedly been deferred. This is telling our community that our safety is not of a high priority. It should be of the highest priority – much higher than introducing nice to have amenities. With Kainga Ora's proposed development on the former Bell, Lamb and Trotter site off Ferry and Olliviers Road, where there are an additional 35 units in the pipeline, there will be even more need for safe pedestrian movement considerations. This will also put pressure on other vehicle traffic movements in an area that has a number of no-right turn restrictions. Please consider the two photo attachments. One shows the aftermath of an accident where an elderly pedestrian was killed trying to cross Ferry Road in Phillipstown. The other taken less than 50 metres away, shows a car stopping to allow a wheelchair user to safely cross Ferry Road. Note the deterioration of the pavement which forces users such as this and parents with prams to try and cross on a diagonal to reach the small haven in the median strip.

There is far too much focus on roads, and not enough on cycle and pedestrian infrastructure. Transport emissions are Canterbury's largest emission source, making up 53.8% of total emissions. It is my understanding that there is little to nothing for the area of Halswell, one of the fastest growing areas of our city. Yes, much of what is required will be covered by the land developers. However, there will be gaps in the Halswell transport infrastructure due to the increased development and the change in the way the people now reside on the land. Such as missing safe crossing zones for school children, missing links in footpaths, current roadways with increased use and traffic types that it was not built for. Consideration also needs to be given to the impact on the roadways from the developments in the Selwyn district that will impact the Halswell area. The further Prebbleton and Lincoln develop, in particular towards the Port Hills, there will be an increase of usage on roads such as Saby's Road and the supporting roadways.

We need at least some money in the budget for new footpaths to connect up footpaths in places where they don't already do so. Cyclists: It has been advised that cyclists on Cranford St should move to the cycle lanes on Rutland St etc, but that's impractical for those living on the east side of Cranford. So, some simple adaptations on Cranford could make cycling safer. 1. When approaching the Cranford/Westminster intersection, cyclists should be guided onto the footpath, indicated with green paint, to share the crossings with pedestrians. The pedestrian crossings should be widened to accommodate this, and a cyclist push button provided. 2. Instead of guiding cyclists back into Cranford traffic if they have turned the corner, the Cranford St footpaths between Westminster St and Edgeware Rd (and elsewhere?) should become shared footpaths. You'd have to weigh up whether to keep the narrow grass berms which do provide separation from the road, or whether to remove them to widen the shared footpath

"New Footpaths" - Location:- New footpath on Hills Road beside the park just north of Innes Road. There is a grassed area in Hills Road near Innes Road, opposite Mairehau High School, that is frequently used by people of all ages, which is dangerous - slippery and uneven. Since the Orbiter route was changed it is used more frequently. It is becoming increasingly dangerous as people now need to drive their cars and park them opposite the High School to catch a bus in Innes Road. It is also necessary to walk on the road at times, which is quite dangerous as large trucks coming around the corner make it very unsafe. It is not suitable to cross over Hills Road on to the other side of the road where there is a footpath. {That was suggested in previous correspondence with the Christchurch City Council. It is just not "what people do!!!!!!} It would be appreciated and is needed for safety reasons, by all users of this area as a path, that it be developed as a proper sealed path. New footpaths – Project 75051 Cashmere Road footpath (Halswell Quarry to Sutherlands Road), approximately 650m
My number one personal concern, shared by many in my immediate community is asking the Council to construct a footpath on Cashmere Road between the Halswell Quarry, and the existing path just east of Sutherlands Road. It is not clear if any budget is allocated for this, and if it is it appears it won't be achievable in the budget in the next few years. I would suggest this is higher priority than footpath renewals. This is an "urban" road, flanked by residential properties who rely on it for access, and connecting residential subdivisions and public reserve areas. It is apparent that a footpath has not and will not be provided as part of adjacent development, and it is up to Council to fund it. We are forced to use the narrow gravel and overgrown grass berm on a daily basis, within cm of passing vehicles. This section of road is curving, goes over a small hill, and has narrow traffic lanes, and has poor road marking. It is subject to sun strike, speeding vehicles, has almost no lighting, and has poor drainage (often ponding in places). There is zero standard infrastructure provision for pedestrians, and zero room for error by drivers or pedestrians. A footpath is desperately needed as there are many residents relying on it for direct access to the wider community, and others in the area use it for recreation and dog walking, particularly to access the Halswell Quarry and Te Kura wetlands. Our experience is feeling very nervous, and being totally reliant of drivers to see us, and make good driving decisions. Unfortunately, many don't and are happy to either whizz by at speed, or cross over the yellow centreline and hope no one comes the other way. This may have been (barely) acceptable when considering priorities 10 years ago when there was almost no development in the area and minimal traffic, but now there is a large and growing residential community. I consider Council lack of action on this required project is totally inconsistent with the Council proposed level of service for safety of pedestrians.. If it wasn't so unsafe, I would encourage Council staff and Councillors to walk along this section of road, think would you be happy with a young child walking to school on it, and then consider if it is worth the risk of leaving it as is, or including as a specific project line item in the capital budget. Even if you don't walk it, take a look on google, and I hope you will come to the conclusion it needs to happen, and quickly. New Footpaths - Others I consider Council should look to front foot planning of road upgrades in growth areas so that adhoc sections of footpath are not done, resulting in poor walking access until such time as every section of land has been developed. Even a temporary footpath, with costs recovered through development contributions would be better than no footpath connections.

In line with my general concerns around new footpath provision in Halswell to address existing and future safety issues, I suggest the following additional Levels of Service provisions. Transport - Safety, Access and Environment Level of Service – Access (p106). Pedestrian Infrastructure for Access There is a target about being within 15 minutes of four of five basic services. However, this does not mention provision of the footpath infrastructure to further support this. I suggest an additional Level of Service target is provided relating to removing gaps in the footpath network to ensure urban zoned households dwellings are connected to key destination types by safe and direct infrastructure for walking. This should help Council prioritise addressing gaps in footpath infrastructure particularly where households are already within 15 minutes of many of the basic services but cannot safely access them by walking.

We request further funding to be given to 75051 Programme - New Footpaths. There are many locations around the city where footpaths have never been built and there has been no investment in filling in the gaps for many years. This severely hinders accessibility for those outside of a car, including young children cycling on the footpath. We are very supportive of this new programme and would like funding for it to be increased much more to a level required to make a significant dent in the number of footpaths required.

Cycling in the last month in NZ by age and gender Source: Dept of Transport Household travel survey (2020-2023)

Unfortunately, Department of Transport did not record how many people were pedestrians in the last year, but it can be assumed to be over 90%.

From your data there will be $20 million for new footpaths and a share of $78 million for footpath renewals and pedestrian improvements. And perhaps some of the cycling paths will be designated “shared paths”.

Waka Kotahi has the below speed ranges for shared paths. I do not consider e-scooters to be ‘active’ travel. Regardless, is it not obvious that pedestrians cannot safely share paths with these modes of transport which travel much faster and have much more bulk? A pedestrian, regardless whether they are running or walking would risk serious injury if hit at speed by someone on an e-bike with the combined weight of e-bike and rider possibly being over 150kgs. There are also many people who are too afraid to go for a walk if their only option is to share path space with fast, bulky vehicles permitted on these paths.

Although some people who will be pedestrians to get from one point to another, there are others who are on paths for their health and wellbeing. Particularly on the flat in Christchurch, it appears that any path that can be used by pedestrians is a 'shared path'. No one polices cycling on footpaths and with so many 'shared' paths cyclists tend to treat all footpaths as 'shared'. There is a need for pedestrian-only spaces.

Research has shown that there is more benefit from exercising in natural environments than in urban environments. There are alternative streets that those on cycles, e-bikes, e-scooters and the like could use instead of going through Ernie Clark Reserve. If it were to be for pedestrians-only the path could be made pedestrian-friendly and with use only for pedestrians there would be more pedestrians using it. The atmosphere for pedestrians would be much improved. In winter it is less exposed to wind so not as cold and in summer the tree canopy keeps it cooler than urban streets. I ask that you make this pedestrian-only so those who are afraid to use "shared" paths will have an option for exercise. And consider other pedestrian-only places too, like Little Hagley.

The street footpaths for pedestrians are not pedestrian-friendly. They go up and down for every driveway, are often at a camber and the asphalt surface is hard and is often cracked so a trip hazard. There is lots of clutter sometimes – hire bike and scooters, bins on bin days and often developers encroach onto footpaths. There are pedestrian-friendly path materials that are porous, hence no need for a camber, use recycled rubber so have some give to stretch over tree roots where asphalt would crack, and falling on the path would be less painful. Can CCC at least trial these? With all the redevelopments is it possible for CCC to require developers to slope the end of driveways so they are just below the road kerb height resulting in the footpath not having sideways dips at every driveway. Even better would be a design where the footpath design had preference for pedestrians over vehicles crossing. With high front or side solid fences at the front of properties there is little visibility of pedestrians by drivers. Electric cars being quieter make their approach from a driveway silent to pedestrians.

Pedestrians wait longer at intersections than any other mode. Even if another pedestrian has pushed the button to cross the intersection parallel on the other side of the road, the lights will not give the green person on your side. At other intersections pedestrians are held in the middle of the street in a cage structure in all weathers to wait for the next pedestrian green light. As pedestrian infrastructure is not reevaluated regularly, but doing what has happened for decades, being a pedestrian in urban areas is challenging and can be risky.

Improved street lighting; the light bulbs are poor and shine down not out. This applies throughout Christchurch, as does the poor street signs, too small, often obscured, and neither the lighting or the signage are helpful for tourists and local visitors to ChCh and Halswell. Visitors to the CBD have said that the CBD is unwelcoming, and certainly not a great impression with the half dead cathedral; it is appalling that it remains as it is, yet the famous Paris cathedral has been resuscitated within five years, and Japan can rebuild after their earthquakes and tsunamis within a very short time. The Draft Long Term Plan indicates the CCC has budgeted to spend $1,283,000 over the next two years on Street Tree Renewals: $593,000 in 2024/25, and an additional $690,000 in 2025/26. There is however no money at all being allocated in the Long Term Plan to increase the green infrastructure (i.e., the planting of trees along existing Christchurch streets), for the subsequent 8 years of the Long Term Plan. The entire 10-year budget for street tree renewals, equates to fractionally more than the budget allocated to a single street renewal project (Stater Street in Richmond – which is being paid for via central government through the Christchurch Regeneration Acceleration Facility (CRAF) funding package for transport projects. When compared to the enormous sum of $164,078,000 that the CCC has allocated to spend throughout the full duration of the Long Term Plan on Christchurch cycleways, the budget for street tree renewals (and planting of additional street trees throughout Christchurch), is a shamefully small! Given the fact that the tree canopy coverage of our city is incredibly low, and that on the CCC website you state that that “trees provide vital benefits, shield us from cold in winter, remove pollutants from air and water, contribute to a more walkable liveable and sustainable city, create greener, vibrant and more enjoyable neighbourhoods, improve urban ecology and help mitigate climate change, play an integral part in reinforcing our identity as the Garden City, and with the current challenges being faced through climate change, the vital role which trees play in sequestering carbon, cooling through shade and managing stormwater has never been more important”. With that in mind, more budget allocation should be directed towards ongoing street tree renewals and planting of additional street trees for the full duration of the 10 year Long Term Plan. This is crucial for the long term future environment of Christchurch. Rather than building incredibly expensive and unnecessary cycleways (eg, $16,900,000 on the Wings to Wheels cycleway, and $30,698,000 on the Otakaro Avon cycleway), the Council should be spending that money on planting additional trees across Christchurch (not just in parks), maintaining and protecting trees, and educating the public (and the environmentally bankrupt developers who have continued to clear felling our city of its trees), on the enormous benefits that trees provide to the urban environment, to wildlife, to us as residents, and to us as a city.

On living in this nice area close to Quarry Park, it's a shame that we don't have a safe access from our subdivision to the park to walk with the kids and our dog. There is no footpath along the Cashmere Road to the park and I believe there is 50 or 60 km speed limit for the cars there, which makes the walks to the park very challenging and not pleasant.

This is the first point (budget for new footpaths) I decided to emphasize. Or if you can look into an alternative way to access the park from our subdivision please.

Also Sutherlands Road leading to Quarry Paddocks has no footpaths at all, cyclists don't have enough space, making the share of the road which is not in a great condition either, very challenging. Ideally to have a cyclist / foot path along Sutherlands Road and to the left to Sparks Road. This would also allow the kids to bike to school.

Footpaths and cycleways are currently absent from four key sections of Henderson road, Cashmere Road and Sutherland road in the Halswell area. Section 1: Corner of Henderson and Cashmere Road (the bend near these roads) Section 2: Sutherland road (Halswell) Section 3: Corner of Cashmere Road and Sutherland road (Halswell) Section 4: Cashmere Road (near Ennerdale Row road) (these sections are listed in the order of importance) Despite their popularity among cyclists, these sections lack the necessary infrastructure, posing significant safety risks. Urgent action is required to implement even temporary footpaths and cycleways in these areas to prevent potential accidents and save lives. Each of these sections spans a relatively short distance, ranging from 100 to 200 meters. Consequently, the investment required for establishing footpaths and cycleways would be minimal compared to the potential benefits in terms of safety and well-being. Addressing these critical areas with appropriate footpaths and cycleways is not only a matter of safety but also a cost-effective measure that can significantly enhance the overall infrastructure of the Halswell area.

The roading spend needs to include provision for more zebra crossings, particularly around schools and medical centres. While spending money on something like a rainbow pedestrian crossing is a nice to have, it is not essential compared with the above. Footpaths need to remain a priority. General Comments 371 submissions were received addressing public transport (infrastructure).

127 comments supported, and 33 comments opposed.

187 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 42 comments provided general feedback addressing public transport (infrastructure). Making public transport more accessible was a priority for many submitters, and some wanted planned work to be brought forward.

Officer Response

Feedback from submitters on public transport infrastructure predominantly supports enhancing bus priority measures and bus stop facilities to improve public transport efficiency, accessibility, and attractiveness.

The main themes identified in the submissions are:

Bus priority measures

There is strong support for enhancing public transport infrastructure. Many submitters advocate for more bus lanes to improve public transport efficiency and reducing long term traffic congestion. There's a focus on increasing convenience for bus users, making public transport a more attractive option for daily commutes. Many submitters noted that the current public transport system is unreliable, and the travel times are too long.

Some submitters express concerns that bus lanes exacerbate traffic congestion by reducing space for cars, especially on major roads. A few critics question the effectiveness and utilization of bus lanes, suggesting that they do not see enough bus traffic to justify the dedicated lanes. There are calls for better enforcement of bus lanes to ensure they are used effectively.

Bus stops

The general consensus supports improving bus stop infrastructure to make public transport more appealing and accessible to the wider population. The call for modernised and well-located bus stops with increased shelters is strong, particularly to boost comfort and accessibility. Several submitters highlight the need for more bus shelters, especially in weather-exposed areas. Some submitters expressed concerns about the physical condition of bus stops, including outdated shelters and seating, pointing to a need for modernisation and maintenance.

Sustainability and environmental impact

The submissions reflect a strong preference for prioritising environmental sustainability and quality of life through improved public transport and encouraging less car usage. The overall sentiment supports initiatives that contribute to cleaner, greener, and more liveable cities.

Financial considerations

Many submitters argue that more funding for public transport is essential for a growing city. They believe that investing more now will yield long-term benefits in terms of reduced traffic congestion, and improved public health. These arguments are often paired with calls to boost spending on bike lanes and pedestrian areas, and to cut funding for car-centric infrastructure like parking and roads.

Some responses highlight the economic burden on taxpayers, expressing concerns about the impact of rising costs on the general public, especially in the context of broader economic pressures. Additionally, a few submitters raise concerns about buses frequently running empty, questioning the efficiency of current service levels in relation to actual demand.

Environment Canterbury's Submission

Environment Canterbury is supportive of the proposed $101 million investment in Public Transport. It notes the need for ongoing collaboration and information sharing between ECan and CCC to deliver our shared PT Futures programme.

Environment Canterbury are responsible for the costs and delivery of public transport services in Christchurch. Council is responsible for the provision of public transport infrastructure within the road corridor. All of the planned upgrades fall under the PT Futures business case which was endorsed by the Council and the Greater Christchurch Partnership in 2020.

The planned PT Futures work programme addresses many of the submission responses. The following is an overview of detailed activities planned over the 1-5 year and 5-10 year horizons to life public transport performance and patronage.

Work programme: PT Futures

The PT Futures investment programme will initially focus on improving intersection efficiency, accelerate shelter installations and optimise the bus lanes we already have. The planned investment will also support Environment Canterbury's frequency uplift and contribute to a sustainable, efficient public transport system.

In subsequent phases of the PT Futures programme, the addition of several new bus priority lanes will be proposed on the network. These lanes are aimed at improving travel times and reliability for bus passengers.

Detailed Activities (1 – 5 years) :

Upgrades to Bus Terminuses and Stops:

- Upgrading terminuses and bus stops along routes 1, 7, and 5, including line marking enhancements and accessibility improvements. This work aligns with ECan's planned increased bus frequency.

Shelter Installations:

- Acceleration of the installation of new shelters, both advertising and non-advertising. At this stage, funding for non-advertising shelters has been secured through the Transport Choices CERF Linwood upgrade project.
- The advertising shelter contract will go out for tender in 2025, allowing for the renewal and addition of advertising shelters where appropriate.
- Bus stop upgrades to address community requests has a two-year programme. (ID#50462 Delivery Package – Public Transport Stops, Shelters and Seating Installations).

Integration of Real-Time Bus Information:

- To improve reliability, we will be integrating real-time bus information with the SCATS traffic signal system to prioritise buses at specific intersections. This technology will allow the extension of a green signal at traffic lights, granting additional time for late running buses to pass through an intersection.

Intersection Upgrades:

- Installing right turn green arrows at signalised intersections to improve traffic flow on key bus routes.

Bus Priority Lanes:

- Installing small sections of bus priority lanes in targeted areas to enhance travel times and reliability.
- Conducting a comprehensive review of existing bus lanes to improve enforcement and efficiency.
- Construction of a bus priority lane on Lincoln Road from Curletts Road to Wrights Road. This is a separate line item in the LTP (ID#917 Lincoln Road Passenger Transport Improvements and ID#66294 Public Transport CRAF – Bus Priority, Lincoln Road).
- Developing a scheme design for bus priority on Riccarton Road between Matipo Street to Waimariri Road (ID#66288 Public Transport CRAF – Bus Priority Scheme Design Riccarton).

Public Transport Wayfinding Strategy:

- Developing a public transport wayfinding strategy and bus stop infrastructure guidance.

Optimisation of Bus Priority Measures in the City Centre:

- Identifying low cost opportunities to improve travel time and reliability within the city centre.
- This may include intersection upgrades, smart signals, and general traffic wayfinding to redirect traffic away from public transport corridors.

Detailed Activities (5 – 10 years)

Council staff are also moving forward with plans for several part-time bus priority lanes as outlined in the Indicative Business Case for the PT Futures programme. Alongside these lanes, the network will see the addition of enhanced bus stops at key activity centres to better accommodate passengers, making it easier to transfer between routes and to improve accessibility. Additional shelters, real-time display units, and multimodal facilities, such as secure bike parking, will also be introduced to enhance the network. We will also look at upgrading the interchange to cope with additional buses on the network.

The following bus priority lanes are proposed under the PT Futures programme:

- Bus Priority - Riccarton Road, Matipo to Waimariri
- Bus Lane Priority - Clarence Street
- Bus Lane Priority - Selwyn Street
- Bus Priority - Cashmere Road
- Bus Lane Priority - Buckleys Road
- Bus Priority - Ferry Road
- Bus Priority - Gloucester Street
- Bus Lane Priority - Papanui Road_Main North Road
- Bus Priority - Shirley Road
- Bus Lane Priority - Riccarton Avenue
- Bus Lane Priority - Colombo Street
- Bus Lane Priority - Main South Road
- Bus Lane Priority - Hills Road
- Bus Lane Priority - Park Terrace
- Bus Lane Priority - Kilmore and Sailsbury

Some of these bus priority lanes may be brought forward to the 1-5 detailed programme pending further cost benefit analysis, frequency uplifts, budget availability and the project timing of MRT.

Continued supportive infrastructure will also be implemented in response to community requests and to align with route changes and frequency uplifts completed by Environment Canterbury, ensuring a cohesive and efficient public transport system.

You have mentioned you are making management changes to your delivery of services. It is important you are honest with residents about what is coming and that is higher and higher costs as we try to move to more sustainable development. It seems the past 4 years of NZ green field developments and urban sprawl has turned up 4.9% rise in GHG emissions in 2021, by households with so much private car use to access work. The express bus lanes for morning and evening commuting along sensible routes is a must. The future is not to replace every car with an ecar it is to create a dignified rail system that brings Rolleston and Northlake residents into a dignified train stations within the city boundaries. The borrowing is not a good idea but decentralising services such as solar electricity for business for daytime use, sewerage and water treatment by subdivision not pumping to one big place that at capacity may leave all residents in the poo, rather than a small number when the smaller systems might fail. Spend the money as if you are thinking about the next 4 generations not as if you are fixing and reacting to problems from yesterday.

Prioritizing Public Transport and Bike Lanes: A hallmark of modern urban planning is the prioritization of safe, efficient public transport systems. This strategic focus not only alleviates traffic congestion but also contributes to improved air quality and fosters healthier lifestyles among residents. From a personal standpoint, the absence of comprehensive cycle lanes exposes cyclists to daily hazards. Recent incidents, such as the unfortunate accident involving a fellow cyclist, underscore the urgent need for enhanced safety measures. Therefore, I implore the Council to allocate resources towards the development of an interconnected, protected cycleway network. Such infrastructure enhancements would not only encourage cycling as a viable mode of transportation but also mitigate the risks associated with vehicular traffic. Moreover, it is imperative that all future road development and renewal projects integrate dedicated bike lanes and prioritize pedestrian safety as fundamental objectives rather than mere afterthoughts. This proactive approach aligns with the overarching goal of fostering sustainable urban mobility while safeguarding the well-being of all road users.

21. NPHS Te Waipounamu also supports CCC's proposed investment into public transport infrastructure. Public transport is a critical means for many people to access education, employment, social services, healthcare and nutritious food, which is important for health and wellbeing and to mitigate social exclusion¹⁶. Lack of, or inadequate public transport can have material impacts on the wellbeing of individuals and communities. For example, in Aotearoa New Zealand a lack of transport was identified as a barrier to visiting a GP for disabled adults, adults living in more deprived areas, Māori and Pacific people of all ages and women compared to men. In Waitaha Canterbury, 2.9% of people aged over 15 years had experienced an unmet need for GP services in the past 12 months because they were unable to access transport.¹⁷

As

Too much emphasis on "choice" of transport options. We should be >>> investing heavily in public transport, as these options scale far better than car infrastructure as population grows. As per induced demand: make alternatives to driving more favourable than driving, and you'll get fewer cars on the road. [Transport > Roads (Capital)] [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

Please consider induced demand in your planning. Investing in cycling and public transport has the possibility to shift commuters away from driving. With its flat terrain, Christchurch could very realistically become a cycling heaven with enough investment. Road spending should be focused on safety, maintenance and traffic calming rather than expansion. Increase support and enforcement of businesses to install adequate bike parking.

G. Project 917 Lincoln Road PT improvements (Curletts to Wrights) is scheduled for starting in 2024/25 and completion in 2027/28.

- a. Bus route Halswell #7 is a key route connecting Halswell to the central city and beyond, and is designated for “uplift” to a 10 minute frequency.
- b. Although we have repeatedly submitted that this work is being delivered too slowly, it appears planned to integrate with the section Dunbars-Curletts being delivered by Waka Kotahi.
- c. City Council must not allow any of this work to be delayed. We have repeatedly highlighted the problem of buses such as Halswell #7 and Wigram #60 running substantially behind schedule during peak travel periods, because single-occupancy vehicles are clogging the roads.
- d. Helping make the buses both faster and more predictable has three components. One of these is bus priority lanes, another is passengers knowing exactly when their bus will arrive, and the remaining component is speeding up the transit of buses by giving them priority at signalised intersections.

e. The project also includes separated cycling infrastructure, and this is essential for providing a safe route to Hillmorton High School as our local high school.

Action requested (9): approve the funding proposed in the Draft LTP for Project 917 Lincoln Road PT improvements (Curletts to Wrights), including the proposed timeline and the separated cycling infrastructure.

Really glad to see there is more focus on cycling and public transport. Our population is ageing and they are not all going to be able to safely drive themselves around - there are already too many who should have their licenses removed but get the doctor's sign-off. We need alternatives so that everyone, even those incapable of driving safely, can participate in society. More/safer bike lanes, more buses and better infrastructure, and it needs to cover the entire city so that everyone has access. Its a no-brainer because active transport also improves health outcomes and those options also reduce CO2 emissions. Would be great if we can look into ways to reduce the time taken for non-car trips so that its a more attractive option - for example, bus and cycle priority signals at intersections.

No. As a city that should be looking into the future and that in the past have under-invested in public transport and active transport, and in a world of climate crisis, there is a need to invest more in cycling infrastructure and public transport. Cycling infrastructure requires less maintenance than roads and has numerous health and environmental benefits. Transport is Christchurch's highest emitting sector at 54% of gross emissions. I therefore believe a lot more of the spending in the transport capital spend programme must support a mode shift towards active and public transport (e.g., transferring more road space to becoming designated bus lanes, increasing the distance of protected bike lanes, etc.) I suggest creating a priority list for cycleways if national government funding dries up. The east side of the city is massively underserved in terms of bike infrastructure and therefore should be prioritised in this case.

The worst thing would be if the extra busses come but they end up getting stuck in the same traffic as everyone else.

3706 - Ellie Stevenson

More bus lanes, please! The most important qualities that determine whether or not people grab the bus are knowing that it's near them, that it'll reliably show up on time, and that it'll take them where they want to go. Given the dizzying array of lives lived by the hundreds of thousands of Christchurchers, the more lanes you throw down, the more this will apply to, the more value for money we get out of our buses, and the quieter and faster-flowing our roads become for the motorists who have fewer other drivers to "compete" with. Accessible public transport options for all people is a very high priority, as is spending on footpaths and cycle routes. We would encourage CCC to stand firm on its vision of an accessible Christchurch, regardless of any pressure upcoming from the Government (for example to invest more in new roads of "significance" or increase speed limits, especially those in urban areas). An extensive, well-maintained and accessible public transport network ensures that all people can participate in city life, and also makes it easier for older people, and families, to access other services (for example, medical appointments, or schooling).

Our transport network must be inclusive, and developed with that eye for accessibility. Better designed bus-stops, and a more family friendly environment at the Bus Exchange, would assist in this area. We are excited by the proposals for an increased cycling network and greater attention to options for those who no longer drive (and for those who, given the opportunity, would prefer to use public transport more).

I approve the spending on bikeways and public transport. Our roads are too congested and children should be able to get themselves around safely by other means beside their parents driving them. The number of high school students driving themselves to school and adding to congestion is insane!

Strengthening the public transport infrastructure will make it more functional, and therefore a more viable option for people who are currently reluctant to use it. Fully support this.

As long as we aren't prioritising bike lanes with full on concrete build and busses that are overpriced and bound to be expensive to replace in 10 years time, then sure transport second. Focus on drivers, we have nice roads to drive here as long as you avoid peak times.

Spending money on bus infrastructure is wasteful. Forget about upgrading bus kiosks (stops), changing roading design for buses.

People want cars. They do not want public transport, unless they are wanting it subsidised, ie a free ride. "We propose spending $101 million on new bus infrastructure improvements, including new bus lanes and shelters, intersection changes, and renewals over the next 10 years." slash this spending. Bus lanes squeezed into roads causes commuter chaos. How many roads can you save from being stuffed up if you spend nothing?

Overall, there is far too much spending on road maintenance and not enough spending on cycleways and bus lane infrastructure.

Cycleways and bus lanes are a low cost (in many cases just road paint!) way to encourage commuters to bike and take public transport, which is the easiest way to reduce transport emissions. People must feel safe (cycleways) and that buses are a viable option that doesn't add too much time to commutes. Far too much spending is on road maintenance. In the last LTP there were 15 cycleway projects that were approved and are not completed that have disappeared from the new LTP. I suggest adding those and additional projects in, particularly if CCC has any desire to stick to their emissions reductions goals.

3585 - Rachel Fulton

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

There should be more money allocated to cycling infrastructure and public transport. As an active person, who enjoys being outside, it's still challenging for me to cycle around Christchurch because there are not enough safe and well connected cycle lanes. More people cycling means more healthy residents, and less pollution. If there's more investment in public and active transportation there won't be the need for more road maintenance.

3699 - John McCombs

3868 - Don Gould

Stop spending on anything to do with busses. Look at the business case which is now done and look to new technology coming on.

Technology is changing members. We are on the dawn of seeing driverless vehicles of all kinds. We already have a growing number of e-vehicles in our domain, from scooters, bikes, mobility devices to cars and trucks. We need end bus travel in the city in the next decade. That technology is now at horse and cart stage. The day will be with us before this LTP term (10 years) is done that we will order up personal transport. Building low quality (and they're all low quality) 'bus stops' across the city has a carbon footprint. They're not fit for the public and we know it. More and more people with mobility issues are now addressing those issues with mobility vehicles. Recently I meet a man who will never drive, who was riding a mobility device with a 50km range. The business case for buses is done, we just haven't woken up. The impact on our carbon footprint is massive. When a bus pulls in to traffic it adds to congestion as we let them in. As they pull out we slow. We have more than their share of roadway set aside just for them in to many places, causing people to demand more roading to be built, not less.

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

I agree with the plan on looking after roads and footpaths in principal, however you need to bring costs down. Cut this back a little and make savings for rate payers. Cycle ways need to be cut completely. $200 million on cycle ways is a disgrace when people can't afford it. This is a nice to have. It is in no way necessary. People are not being injured and killed due to the current roads that don't have cycleways. You have a proposed cycleway near my house and there is not one incidence of anyone being hurt in the past five years whilst on a bike on this road, yet you say its for safety. Its not. Cycleways are pet projects by certain councilors with too much power. Just stop. Ask people if they want them - if you make an effort to get responses from all the public rather than just the activists that seems to answer these surveys, you will find that most think this is wasteful spending. However, every person in Christchurch knows you have no intention of listening in regard to cycleways. $100 million on new bus infrastructure needs to be cut back a little. Bus shelters are a nice to have - people can bring an umbrella, rates payers don't need to be paying for these when we are already broke. Put intersection changes on the back burner. While the rate payers have no money, this isn't needed. Buses are mostly empty anyway. See where we are in 5 years then put this back on the table.

Investing in roads and transport infrastructure, as well as protecting and upgrading water networks, are critical for the sustainable development and prosperity of the city. These projects not only enhance the quality of life for residents but also contribute to economic growth and resilience. Borrowing for such projects with long-term value can be prudent, especially when considering the intergenerational benefits they provide. Ensuring that debt repayments are spread fairly across generations is essential for equitable distribution of the costs associated with infrastructure investments. However, it's crucial to monitor the debt levels carefully to avoid overburdening future generations with excessive liabilities.

1751 - Matthew Tolan

[Transport - Cycleways (Capital)]

More investment in public transport and cycling infrastructure. The more options people have to travel without driving, the more money the Council can save in the future. We also need to contribute to reduce emissions, and reducing private car transport is a key part of that.

1781 - Charlotte McGregor

[Transport - Cycleways (Capital)]

I see when it comes to transport your prioritising cycle ways. I think it would be beneficial to look into increasing bus lanes. I've been bussing to work this year and it takes me an hour and 20 minutes to get home on the bus compared to 40 minutes in the car. That doesn't make public transport very attractive. I'm doing this because I actively want to be sustainable and because it's cheaper. However, most people do not think this way. If taking the bus didn't take twice or sometimes three times as long as commuting by far more cheaper than petrol. There was no mention of bus lanes in this plan and I urge you to consider changing this. Adding bus lanes will encourage more people to use public transport which is more economical and sustainable.

Again please prioritise bus lanes over cycle lanes. More people would convert to bussing compared to cycling if it was better and just as convenient as driving. Everyone willing to bike to work is already doing so. If we want more people on public transport it needs to be more enticing. Traffic is awful and there's road works on every single route I take to work. Busing takes me an hour and 20 minutes on a good day. The only reasoning I bus is because a stop it right outside my house and I consciously make the decision to try and be more sustainable. But it's awful. I can't recommend it. I wish I could. People park in the few bus lanes we have on Lincoln road and it takes so ridiculously long. Bus lanes would entice more people to take public transport. It's already so much cheaper than petrol but it's not convenient enough for the public.

1801 - Quinton Hurley

[Transport > Roads, Cycleways]

Priority lanes for buses and T3/4 lanes would be a good start in addition to cycleway separation i.e. putting simple painted cycleways between parking and footpaths as a cheap alternative (cyclists are less likely to be doored on the passenger side of cars).

2200 - Janna Robinson

I'm agreeable with the priorities. Unfortunately you won't get anyone agreeing to ride public transport until it's user friendly and accessible. At the moment, it is much easier to drive a car. Also it's great to try and limit people using cars, but many parents need their cars to pick up their kids after school/day care. Riding a bus to do that is not practical and then to try and get them home after that. Most families have both parents working to afford to live so some thought should be given to this when increasing cycle lanes and bus lanes and reducing roads for cars. We don't have the population for fully subsidised public transport.

2202 - Patricia Jamieson

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?], [Transport > Carparking (Capital)]

I don't think so. It seems there wasn't as much forethought in the city planning when it comes to congestion and rejuvenating interest in the city center, with public transport being under-funded and car parks taking over the city center and creating a barrier to entry. People would rather not visit the central city with the heavy road usage, exorbitant parking fees and unreliability and availability of public transport, which leads to more funding being poured into campaigns to bring people back to the city center that could have been spent on other things.

This is important as we work together to support public transport needs with continuing population growth and increased public transport patronage in Greater Christchurch.

We note that it is unclear in your LTP what projects are under the PT Futures investment programme and this is impacting the ability of New Zealand Transport Agency, through the Regional Land Transport Plan, to easily identify the whole PT Futures improvement programme across partners.

DPA welcomes the proposed $101 million spend on transport infrastructure improvements including new bus lanes, intersection changes and renewals.

DPA recommends that new bus infrastructure – especially bus stops – be built to universal design and best practice accessibility standards to ensure that they are fully accessible to everyone, including disabled people.

Ultimately, DPA believes that by collaborating with Environment Canterbury in improving public transport provision, the CCC will make what contribution it can to reducing carbon emissions at a time when the policies of the new government will make the achievement of that target more difficult.

Recommendation 1: that new public transport infrastructure – especially bus stops – be built to universal design and best practice accessibility standards to ensure that they are fully accessible to everyone, including disabled people.
Recommendation 2: that the CCC (in partnership with ECan) makes the utmost effort to invest in environmentally friendly, accessible public transport options.
Recommendation 3: that Council proactively engage with the disabled community over all public transport upgrades as part of a co-design process.

2823 - Aurora Garner-Randolph (School Strike For Climate Ōtautahi)

Road spending is not worth it unless it also supports pedestrians, cyclists, and public transport users.

2827 - Carley Dove-McFalls (Generation Zero Ōtautahi)

Transport is Christchurch's highest emitting sector at 54% of gross emissions. We therefore believe a lot more of the spending in the transport capital spend programme must support a mode shift towards active and public transport (e.g., transferring more road space to becoming designated bus lanes, increasing the distance of protected bike lanes, etc.)

2830 - Fiona Bennetts

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Strategic Transport], [Transport > Road (Capital)], [Transport > Footpaths & Street Scapes (Capital)]

- I request the council to work further with ECan to align investment in public transport services and infrastructure. The following public transport related investments should be prioritised: ○ Construction of more bus lanes to reduce delays caused by traffic jams ○ More bus signal priority at intersections to reduce delays for buses and prevent red-light running ○ Construction of many more new and better bus shelters ○ Better technology for upcoming bus signs including installing LCD screens with real time information at well-used bus stops

2832 - Riley Neupauer (University of Canterbury Green Party)

[Fees and Charges > Car Parking (parks), Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure, Transport > cycleways (capital), other/Special Interest Topics > Public Transport]

The parking charge proposal is a frivolous undertaking that would bring in a negligible amount of revenue, consequently doing much more harm than good for our communities. With options for city parking being limited and often inaccessible, there are many residents of Ōtautahi who already struggle to patronise local common spaces, and increasing the cost of these facilities would only further hinder availability. A more sustainable option would be to provide better transport alternatives to and from key locations, such as consistent bus routes and usable bike lanes in the surrounding area. This would reduce the space taken up by empty lots and parked cars, improve congestion, and allow more people to visit the lovely greenery of Christchurch.

2835 - Emma Rodriguez Dos Santos

This area is a massive spend in the both capital and operational budgets. The priorities for someone like me on the east-side are >>> getting buses that run to TIME. Upgrading bus stops, other 'infrastructure' (what does that even mean?) and street furniture etc. is all irrelevant if the buses don't turn up when they should!

[Transport > Roads]

roading and public transport need a greater level of investment

2922 - Zak Morrison

The Draft LTP proposes to spend $1.6 billion on transport over the next ten years, which includes maintaining and improving the existing network of roads and footpaths, and making it easier and safer for residents to choose how they get around. However, there is a strong case for enhancing public transport options further, including the installation of more bus lanes and better enforcement of existing bus lanes. Improved public transport infrastructure is essential for reducing congestion, lowering emissions, and providing equitable travel options for all residents. Therefore, it is recommended that the Council prioritizes the expansion and enforcement of bus lanes to facilitate more efficient and reliable public transport services.

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

In conclusion, while the Draft LTP 2024-2034 demonstrates a commitment to addressing key transport infrastructure needs in Christchurch, there is a clear opportunity to enhance the plan by prioritizing public transport options, accelerating the MCRs programme, reinstating the LCN and Cycle Connections programmes, and funding separate projects for improved travel choice and amenities. Doing so would not only improve safety and accessibility for all modes of transport but also support the city's environmental, health, and economic objectives. It is imperative that the Council considers these recommendations to ensure that the transport and cycleway projects truly reflect the priorities and needs of Christchurch residents.

2938 - Rhiannon James

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)], [Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

My concern is that there is still salaried council employees and contracted specialists working on projects that we are not privy to and we presume that these projects have been put on hold, when we have no funds to support these projects in the short term? Ie: W2W cycleway? More spent on developing a more efficient user friendly bus-transport system and less time in departmental/internal engineered cycle way development and wasteful consultations.

3011 - Annette Marchant

Public Transport is most important, more people living out of town but working in town. They should not have to travel by car.

3015 - Alexandra Cox

Bussing is cold, inconvenient, slow, sometimes unsafe and degrading. I will never be able to reap the benefits of my rates making car-drivers journeys more comfortable - however almost everyone can bus. Considering the aging population is actively lowering the number of abled bodies capable of driving themselves funding should be prioritised towards public transport - this includes more, well trained and well paid bus drivers. I shouldn't be made to feel like a 2nd class citizen who comes second to people privileged enough to be able to drive - cars should be a luxury, not the default, else the city becomes inaccessible to those who cannot physically obtain/afford that luxury. There is currently no safe route between Papanui and the airport without a car

3031 - Lee Osborn

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration>Strategic Transport]; [Transport>Cycleways (Capital)]; [Strategic Direction>Have we got the balance right?]

Transport initiatives such as more reliable public transport and facilitating safe cycling are good but even more could be done. Christchurch is perfect for cycling, being flat and with a mainly dry climate. We should prioritise cycle lanes that physically protect cyclists and promote our city as a "cycle city" for sustainable tourism. Currently we would be inviting tourists to risk their lives on most of our roads. Cycleways are expensive but they will never be cheaper and reduce car travel.

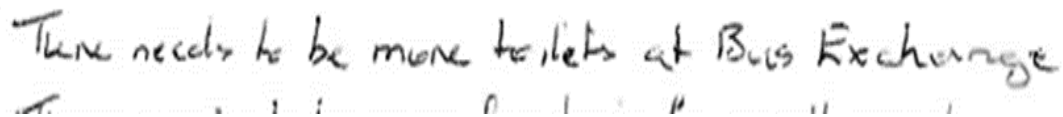

3036 - John W. Thacker

I'm not sure I agree with the value being spent on transport. There are many areas in the city that do not have public transport or easy access to public transport. For example, to get to Halswell quarry (a large park with great views of Christchurch, an asset to the city and community), the nearest bus stop is on Halswell Road near Village Lane, then it's a 2.5Km walk. In and around the Halswell quarry in the last 5 years and ongoing with hundreds (thousand?) of homes built or being constructed now. All of these homes are over 2km from that bus stop. There are many new areas in Halswell also not well serviced by public transport.

3411 - Marian Krogh (Protect Our Winters NZ)

This money would also be better spent on public transport. The more public transport is used, again, the less roads will need to be maintained.

[Coder note: Money to be spent on road maintenance]

Transport is the number one source of greenhouse gas emissions (54%) in Christchurch. Therefore a lot of money should be spent on reducing these emissions and encouraging a mode shift out of private cars to public and active transport. Too much money is being spent on roads with the goal of serving cars only. These roads need to be repaved and repaired much more often than cycle lanes.

There is far too much focus on roads, and not enough on cycle and pedestrian infrastructure. Transport emissions are Canterbury's largest emission source, making up 53.8% of total emissions. With climate change being the most

• Transport makes up 54% of Christchurch's gross emissions; cars alone are 22%, whilst utes and vans are 10%. There were also 462 premature deaths attributed to human-made air pollution in Christchurch in 2016. The bulk of this air pollution is caused by exhaust fumes from fossil fuel vehicles. • We need to focus on reducing these emissions and deaths. We can do so by: o Disincentivise private vehicle usage, and provide better public transport options, including creating more bus lanes, which have worked well on Lincoln Road.

I would like to see more spent on improving active transport modes, and less for car-focused transport. We should be spending a greater proportion of the transport budget on active and public transport - things like cycle lanes, safer pedestrian crossings, city-wide bus priority measures. This will help reduce our car dependency, which is good for the climate, good for our health, and good for saving money! If we can spend more on public and active transport, then our existing streets will last longer and we can reduce the spend on road renewals. I am lucky enough to have one of the major cycle routes go past my house to places that I often want to go, and that has helped increase the number of time we take the bike and decrease the number of times we take the car. This is because we can travel safely, and frankly it is much more enjoyable! It is really important to me that everyone in the city has the same access to safe cycle options that I have. And, I would really like to see the connections to our major cycle ways prioritised to make it easier to get to more places.

3819 - Jessica Halliday

Provide better public transport options, including installing more bus lanes and better enforcement of bus lanes and extending the timeframes that bus lanes are operational for down major arterials - it is ridiculous to end them at 9am or 6pm - add another hour.

3826 - Kate Cleverly

[Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure]

Public transport is poor at best with the bus routes not meeting the needs of the community - many people live over 2km from the nearest bus stop so cannot access public transport.

Many bus stops are on the wrong side of busy roads (eg Lincoln Rd stop for Aidanfield) making them dangerous for children and the elderly.

3837 - Dermot Coffey

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

Given that over half Christchurch's emissions derive from road transport, it is clear that there should be a significantly higher spend on active transport and measures to support public transport such as bus lane development. There are some areas where I would suggest increasing funding or specifically developing certain projects, particularly the "paused" cycleway development on Aldwins and Ensors Rds which should be funded for completion in the first triennium- it has been designed and extensively consulted on already, would close an existing gap in the network and, most importantly, allow students in Te Aratai College to cycle (and walk) more safely to school.

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Public Transport]

Bus services are irregular and not convenient for many residents (bus stops are well over the recommended half KM from most homes). This means many local trips are, by necessity, taken by car, causing unnecessary congestion, pollution and impact on parking. Suburbs within 5 km of the city centre, such as St Martins, should be the "low hanging fruit" for encouraging more people out of their cars and onto alternative modes, yet many residents have no option but to drive themselves and paying for parking. CCC need to work much closer with ECAN to resolve the bus network gaps,

3844 - My-Linh Dang

There should be more money allocated to cycling infrastructure and public transport. As an active person, who enjoys being outside, it's still challenging for me to cycle around Christchurch because there are not enough safe and well connected cycle lanes. More people cycling means more healthy residents, and less pollution. If there's more investment in public and active transportation there won't be the need for more road maintenance.

I think we should do everything we can to expand bike lanes and public transport

The section of Colombo Street between St Asaph Street and Moorhouse Ave is unsafe due to the lack of cycle lanes. I find it a scary section of road both when driving and when cycling, due to cyclists unexpectedly merging into traffic. I Include potential bus stops in planning so that developers meet the cost. Transport - buses is almost irrelevant to those of us disabled and who therefore have difficulty using buses. Safer roading, fixing potholes, adjusting speed with road humps and sensible placement of crossings would be great.

482 - Graham Townsend

[Transport > Roads, Cycleways]

If we are sincere in planning for a viable future, we have to get serious about reducing our GHG emissions, and therefore about the transport sector. The private car must be discouraged. Please: More bike lanes, more bus lanes, no more big road building projects. The eastern suburbs are still very poorly served by cycleways.

[Strategic Direction>Climate Change; Transport>Cycleways (Capital)]

Given that there is an increasing understanding by UN IPCC scientists that climate change is not in fact an urgent crisis but is more of a very gradual long term issue, which will no doubt permeate through to national policies in due course, the Govt and Council determined targets of 2030/2050 etc will be pushed out - eg what's happening in Europe right now. Hence the cycleways programme could be extended out some years in order to reduce costs in the earlier years. The same argument applies for public transport - I support investment in improving public transport but it's not necessary to upgrade to the extremely expensive electric buses so rapidly.

579 - Rosemary Neave

b. Effective Transport – CCC has its role to play in ensuring Public Transport is the quickest most convenient option.

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

Money spent on cycle ways should be with consideration that users of cycle ways must feel safe. Some decisions on cycle ways leave me to think I would never take children on those cycle ways because they are unsafe. Strategic decisions should be made about creating routes removed from road traffic. Additionally bus stop technology often fails and you cannot use this to determine when the next bus is coming. We are a high use household for buses with my husband taking the bus every day to get to work. If cycle ways from our house to the university were available, we may use bikes more than buses. However at this time he'd need to get down busy roads to access these which are unsafe for our family more investment in public transport, cycle lanes and active transport.

611 - Kate East

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Greater Christchurch Partnership]

Public transportation is key for Christchurch to link our suburbs and inner city. We need fast and reliable transportation. Bus lanes are a great start, but we also need the government to invest in our city and build light rail. I know this is out of the scope of this draft, but we need to be advocating and pushing for our city to develop and grow, not more of the same old that hasn't and won't work. We have an opportunity to replicate the success of Melbourne's public transport sector. Our population is only growing so we need to plan for the future we WILL have, not some convenient ideological view of "the good ol days" where you could "find a car park in town..."

621 - Sophie Morton

Please invest in more bus lanes regardless of the government priorities

637 - Bernice Swain

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

How will the transport expenditure make a difference to our public transport system and the congestion created by the every growing subdivisions and the people who occupy them? Not enough parking now block parking except for wheelchair bring in bus only running from multiple places. Stop the bottlenecks.

649 - Andrew Khor

Make public transport easily available so that people can take transport instead of drive to city centre

674 - Carey Poulter

I think serious consideration needs to be given to putting a dedicated bus lane in St Asaph Street from the Bus Exchange to the Interchange at the Hospital. It would encourage more people to use the bus if they didn't have to wait so long after work for buses that are held up by the traffic in St Asaph Street. Numerous times I have been waiting for the bus after work and it will be 5 minutes away and then the time constantly changes as the bus gets stuck in traffic. Perhaps one bike lane could be taken away and the other made two way or just have a footpath on one side of the road.

713 - Matthew Irving

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

How many empty cycle lanes and empty buses do we need to have around Christchurch? As mentioned this council is anti car and actively make it harder for cars to operate. A good example of this is removing lanes and creating congestion.

So would more bus shelters, A new seat has just been put in at my bus stop, but no shelter, it is one of the few between my place and the city that doesn't have one. I don't know why. Also a bus shelter across the road would be helpful too as people often wait there for an airport bus. Prioritising roads and rubbish are very important too.

Comments from our members relevant to this question include: (1) The Transport spend SHOULD INCLUDE reinstatement of the Shuttle or its equivalent. We are very disappointed that the agreement signed between the former Mayor and CEO of ECan to investigate a 6 month trial has been scrapped, seemingly without even consulting with elected representatives of each body. We know that ECan holds the responsibility for this, but we also know that CCC covered the costs of the original Shuttle and could do so again. We have said several times that the Shuttle does not need to be free, if that is a stumbling block. The important ingredients are (1) a known loop route to regularly-used services (2) 10 - 15 minute schedule and (3) easily identifiable buses and bus stops, as before. The benefits include (1) moving central city residents and visitors into and around the CBD without relying on cars, thus reducing congestion and emissions (2) helping to achieve several Strategic Priorities and two Outcomes in particular ("green, liveable city" and "thriving prosperous city") and (3) catering for the increasing number of people living in and near the Central City, likely to increase even more as intensification ramps up. Please note that in all our consultations on Life in the Central City, the Shuttle has been the highest priority; only two members have ever disagreed.

Please see comments above about the importance of reinstating the Shuttle or its equivalent. VNA members also have supported the cycleway initiatives, but several commented that some are over-engineered. Making them a bit simpler would save money without reducing the expansion or addition of more cycleways. Residents in our neighbourhood who are regular cyclists are particularly supportive of the Park Tce initiative and hope it is permanent. We're also aware that research suggests more roads / wider roads do not solve the problem of congestion (just the opposite) and it certainly does not reduce emissions. We URGE the Council to take any actions within its responsibilities to improve public transport and reduce reliance on private vehicles.

As our population grows and ages, we need a more comprehensive mix of accessible transport options such as improved public transport, dedicated, safe & joined up cycleways, slow-zone areas for safe inner-city & suburban pedestrian activities, and improved footpaths (wider, fewer cracks, tree root trip hazards) so they are safer for low-vision people, the elderly.

Transport is a problem. There is no point in putting a bus shelter at my bus-stop because so few people catch it. I could go into reasons why but not enough time. The fact is that the plan is not working.

3497 - Cerys Fletcher

To encourage use of public transport, the bus needs to be quicker, or as quick, as driving. At present, a lack of bus lanes and bus lane enforcement means this is in no way a reality. As someone who regularly spends over an hour (each way) commuting to Hornby from Sydenham and back again, it is apparent the difference that better bus lane infrastructure and enforcement would make to trip times. This is particularly obvious in places like Riccarton Road, Colombo Street, and Lincoln Road/Halswell Road, where the lack of a bus lane, a poorly enforced bus lane, or a bus lane which is only available during specific hours, means that what should be a quick trip down a straight stretch of road takes huge amounts of time and causes missed connections with other buses.

3498 - Lucas Tomasi

Public transport is really important if we get people to switch from personal cars to busses it will save heaps on road repairs.

Ōtautahi is such a great place to live. I've loved living here for the past 13 years, and I'm looking forward to the rest of my life here. The things that make it great are the things we need to protect by investing in them and not shying away from difficult decisions. E.g. ease of getting around without relying on a car - boost our bus and bike infrastructure. Easy to access green spaces - continue tree planting. Reliable drinking and storm water - invest in upgrading our systems so that they are resilient against climate change. Yes, this rates increase is expensive during this cost of living crisis. We need to be careful to support our less well-off ratepayers.

Public transport is poor at best with the bus routes not meeting the needs of the community - many people live over 2km from the nearest bus stop so cannot access public transport. Carparking (Capital)

General Comments

57 submissions were received addressing carparking (capital).

2 comments supported, and 7 comments opposed.

40 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 9 comments provided general feedback addressing carparking (capital).

Officer Response

Parking Supply

Submitters indicated that they wanted to see a continual focus on infrastructure such as cycling, walking and mobility parking while others supported that there was a need for appropriate levels of parking.

Council has a Central City Parking Policy and also a Suburban Parking Policy, which both provide a framework to manage and address parking-related issues in our city. They outline policies to address competing demands for public space in our streets and aims to make our city a more vibrant, attractive, place to live, work, shop and socialise.

We aim to continue utilising these policies as we manage competing demands for street space in the city. Our top priorities for on-street parking space are safety, movement, and mobility parking, followed by other types of parking. We will apply this framework as we continually review and manage Council owned parking in the city as it evolves and grows.

Council regularly reviews the use of central city on-street and off-street parking to ensure that the demand is met by an appropriate level of supply.

Private car parking

Submitters provided feedback relating to privately managed car parks (E.g. Wilsons Parking) within Christchurch and that the Council should run these in their place.

Private car parks are required to be covered by consent. It is up to individual organisations such as Wilsons Parking to work within our legislative framework and to decide if operating a car park is a good commercial decision for them. As long as private car parks such as those operated by Wilsons are consented and operated within their consent conditions, we are limited in what we can do to change the status quo. A number of private car parks have time bound consents and as such over time the number of at grade car parks within the CBD will be reduced.

Parking compliance

Our parking compliance team generally operate 7am to 6pm during the week and 8am to 4pm over weekends. The parking compliance team do not work public holidays. Outside of these hours Allied Security are contracted to action blocked vehicle entrance complaints or serious road safety obstructions by way of towing. Officers are appointed by Council and possess a basic warrant that authorises them to tow vehicles when required. Infringement evidence is obtained and sent through to the parking compliance team to issue an infringement notice so that Council can recover costs. In addition to this, after-hours enforcement is conducted on a case-by-case basis. Our parking compliance officers deal with a range of issues, as catered for through current legalisation, including:

- Parking infringements
- Expired or WOF & REGO not displayed on a vehicle.
- Bus lane enforcement
- Blocked driveways

Warranted Council officers are not authorised to issue to moving vehicle violations other than for driving in a special vehicle lane (e.g. bus lane).

The infringement fees are not set by Council, they are set by statute and therefore can only be increased by Central Government.

Support

2761 - Annette and Michael Hamblett

We support these fees and charges. We regularly visit the Botanic Gardens and support the proposal to charge for parking there. We've seen evidence that the parking is regularly not just used by garden visitors. A parking charge of $4.60 for 3 hours is modest and should be manageable for people on low incomes. We support the additional 0.31% rates increase for the first year.

[Transport > Roads (Capital)], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Strategic Transport]

Not entirely, I feel that funding transport infrastructure that encourages greater car use rather than moving as many trips as possible to public transport, cycling, scooting, walking etc is short sighted and unsustainable (we cannot simply keep building more roads and parking buildings - it's expensive and exacerbates traffic issues).

2826 - Dan Scott

[Rates > City Vacant Differential]

Car parking development must be banned on currently vacant land. In addition, the multitude of private car parks littered throughout our city centre are a problem that must be addressed, and the City Vacant Differential rating is a tool that can be used to address this. These parks simply generate wealth for a select few while also serving to entrench car dependency in our city's structure and going against the work towards a transport mode shift that the Council should be prioritising

Here's a thought. We've always had a shortage of parking near the hospital, so why not take a slice off the Hospital Corner Playing Fields (corner of Riccarton and Hagley Ave) and turn it into a large open car park and then charge people to park there - but make sure the money goes to council and not Wilsons.

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?], [Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]

I don't think so. It seems there wasn't as much forethought in the city planning when it comes to congestion and rejuvenating interest in the city center, with public transport being under-funded and car parks taking over the city center and creating a barrier to entry. People would rather not visit the central city with the heavy road usage, exorbitant parking fees and unreliability and availability of public transport, which leads to more funding being poured into campaigns to bring people back to the city center that could have been spent on other things.

Parking for Commuters Our neighbourhood and adjacent areas close to Hagley Park (including Lowe Street area) are increasingly being used during the day for street parking by commuters coming in from the west or south, leaving their cars and heading into the city on foot, scooters or by bus. Funding should be allocated to set up the 'old' Blenheim Road land on both sides of the railway for public parking so that residents and businesses have access to street parking near their homes and businesses during the day.

Remove on street parking from any road with a speed limit of 50km/hr or above (you'd never travel at that speed in a carpark). Instead have 'pay & display' parking with market rates (airport parking / Wilson's parking style) for anyone (including residents) to use.

If transport means cycle lanes No.... What is increasing in Christchurch cars or bikes? The need for roadside parking is increasing with the lack of affordable housing, more homes have two or 3 generations of family members sharing all needing to park vehicles. Or renters who have 2-6 cars at some properties. The Christchurch council has in its wisdom decided to more than halve on street parking to allow for the occasional bike rider. I can where are these people supposed to park! I can see in a few years millions being spent to revert back to open roads. Not everyone is as fortunate as me to have a private driveway to park on. Do this is for the greater good not for selfish reasons.

Not enough parking now block parking except for wheelchair bring in bus only running from multiple places. Stop the bottlenecks.

736 - Helen Westrupp

Why would you get wilsons to manage the A&E car park, rather than the coucil and make money for that? Surely stadium parking will cover the costs as it can be utilized when the stadium is not in use.

935 - Rob Davies

Whats your vision for BP (new track) & flash sealed carpark above Little River? To encourage tourism? Those who like the outdoors go anyway. Why did you buy this farm without consulting those (public) who pay? Not more than 1 car has ever been seen in said carpark. Such gross mismanagement of our money.

967 - Audrey Baldwin

We need to pay for things somehow. If possible, it would be great to have less Wilson's Carparks and replace them with CCC parks to create more income. Stop that money going offshore. However I understand that this is easier said than done.

Not Stated

1274 - Phillip Bewick

The new stadium not having underground parking is a joke. When the new swimming pool on Moor House has a massive car park.

281 - Selwyn Gamble

If it was up to me I would take over Wilson car parks with Council car parks, nobody likes paying for car parks but at least a car park paying to Council is a car park paying back into the city.

315 - Sophia Pegg

[Transport > Roads]

The focus needs to be solely on infrastructure and roading. We need to provide quick and easy access through the city and enough parking to go along with it. The current situation at the Christchurch hospital is appalling and yet we seem to have enough resources for more cycle ways.

3231 - Colin Foster

More parking spaces in Hagley park and for the alternative access areas to the Bottle Lake Park (like had been identified in the earlier management plan for areas like Bower Ave access point.

525 - Bruce Bascand

Likewise the Court Theatre - although I can't see where patrons to the Issac Theatre Royal, The Piano and The Court Theatre are going to park. Re-neging on a promise to fund a carpark was an appalling decision.

However, the hospital parking issue is still not solved and needs attention.

534 - Russell Hignett

[Fees and Charges>Car Parking (Parks)]

Yes I accept introduction of parking charges at certain parks. This could encourage greater use of public transport. Parking for hospitals and for children's sporting events should be excepted.

Officer Response

Support: There is strong support for enhancing urban mobility and accessibility in various ways. Key areas include improving accessibility with reflective tape on bollards, promoting alternative transportation modes like ebikes, scooters, and public transport, and enhancing alternative night travel options. Infrastructure improvements such as the Pages Road Bridge and wider New Brighton works are well-regarded, along with proposals for lower speed limits, speed bumps, and raised pedestrian crossings. Significant advocacy exists for sustainable transport solutions such as trains, light rail, and efficient freight connectivity. Additional projects like the Central City Shuttle, electric vehicle charging infrastructure, and various road safety measures around schools and residential areas receive strong backing.

Against: Opposition focuses on concerns over urban planning and transport management inefficiencies. Submitters are concerned with a perception of excess of signage and road humps, high traffic management costs, and overall spending prioritisation—favouring transport over arts, culture, and environmental conservation. There is dissatisfaction with the maintenance levels, efficiency of speed zones, and quality of workmanship in road repairs. Additionally, the expenditure on projects without government funding or subsidy is also questioned, as are the effectiveness and noise associated with traffic in the CBD.

Value for Money

The focus of this directive is to provide the desired balance between asset performance, cost, and risk. To provide assurance of these outcomes, we collect and collate data, interrogate data, processes and outputs, we establish performance criteria to match of desired levels of service, we defined and risk manage our critical infrastructure, we set revenue and investment requirements to meet variable service delivery options, we condition and performance rate our assets to pro-actively address maintenance and renewal requirements, and we ensure improved whole-of-life value from our assets whilst meeting our community and corporate objectives. This strategy is captured in our Transport Asset Management Plan so that our ratepayers can openly interrogate our investment story and rationale, our activities and the cost associated, and how we best manage our risks going forward.

The new Government's draft General Policy Statement on Transport has put uncertainty on NZTA contribution towards a number of projects, however it does support Council's priority of prioritising looking after the assets we currently have. Further work with Council and NZTA will be required going forward to confirm delivery of the capital programme as further certainty is provided.

Procurement

Council's Transport procurement aligns with NZTA guidelines, the evaluation system of tenders ensures the best value for money while also considering quality and disruption to the community.

One Pass Approach

To prevent occasions where new work has been completed by the transport team and then dug up by other utility service providers, Council has invested in the National Forward Works Viewer (FWV) programme, allowing every utility service provider the opportunity to populate their portal with the works proposed for the following year and beyond. This allows all participants to 'clash detect', the opportunity to investigate works committed by others for starting dates, nature, extent, and proximity of works, and contact person for further liaison. With this information in hand, joint communications, shared knowledge and services, deferred or accelerated works, or joint contractor engagements can be negotiated for cost efficiencies and more effective programmes. To ensure that this approach to reducing reworks or trenching through newly re-established transport assets, officers will drive greater liaison between all service providers to share their respective work programmes and regularly update the programmes in the FWV.

Accessibility

Council has adopted the One Network Framework (ONF) road classification which is implemented by Waka Kotahi at a national level. The ONF recognises the importance of place as well as movement for prioritising transport activities. Place function has a direct relationship with pedestrian access and accessibility which takes into account the importance of places like hospitals, schools, and commercial centres. The renewal and reconstruction programme uses the ONF classification as one of its criteria for prioritisation of our transport improvement works.

Climate Change

Completion of the Major Cycleway Network is expected to continue the trend of increased cycling volumes that has been evident since construction of the network began. This contributes positively towards emissions reduction and also with lowering the number of vehicles on the road assisting in managing congestion. Two projects from the active transport programme remain funded being Ferry Road, and Glandovey and Idris Roads. The strong feedback received about level of connectivity in the footpath network is addressed with the inclusion of a new programme for new footpaths. The first year will focus on developing a prioritised programme before implementation of works in year 2 and beyond.

Any project that requires the removal of a tree is required to replant two trees for every one removed ideally in the street but if this is not possible then at another suitable location.

EV charging facilities are provided at Council carparks for parks and facilities and at the Litchfield Street and Art Gallery carpark buildings.

Electric Scooters/Central City

We are continually monitoring our capped speeds of shared e-scooters and e-bikes, so that risks to vulnerable road users are minimised.

A study for Auckland Transport found that serious injuries to pedestrians, cycles, and scooters (as collected by hospital admission data) was about 8 times that of serious injuries captured by NZTA/Police. We are aware of this emerging research and have set strategic direction through the draft Ōtautahi Christchurch Transport Plan to further investigate and respond to this issue.

Staff from Environment Canterbury and Council have been working collaboratively to understand what the existing problem is in terms of transport accessibility and availability for central city users, and whether there is a gap in the market which a central city shuttle service could fill. A Resident group has indicated it might offer a service for shopping trips, but the new walkability, scooters and existing bus services (plus home delivery options for groceries and bulky goods) suggest that needs are mostly met for now. The central city is well serviced, with 1800 trips per day, and Environment Canterbury is working on improving the frequency, as well as already working on the wayfinding project to educate people as to the options available to travel around the city. Noting that the rebuilt central city is much more compact, especially to the south.

Since the pre-earthquake shuttle service was in operation, the central city has transformed with the completion of An Accessible City projects, which have improved walking accessibility around the central city. Additionally, new transport options, such as shared micro-mobility services (via e-scooters and e-bikes); and, a number of new public transport Metro services have been introduced to supplement existing active, public and private transport mode options. Gold card holders are able to utilise free bus travel after 9am. Metrocard holders receive two hours of unlimited travel in the same zone on a single fare. All other passengers are able to use one free transfer within 2 hours. Neither the current PT Futures programme, nor any other currently approved strategies, include provision for a central city shuttle service. The current and planned Metro service provides a public transport connection for central city users, and based on current information, a central city shuttle service would duplicate and overlap with existing and planned public transport services and infrastructure.

Staff note that a central city shuttle service is unlikely to attract central government funding for capital investment or operational support and would therefore be fully ratepayer funded.

Connectivity of Lyttleton Port – Airport – Commercial centres – State Highways

Previous projects have raised both the use of passenger rail and rail for moving freight. Passenger rail is a factor that will be a consideration as part of the MRT that is being undertaken in conjunction with Environment Canterbury and NZTA. Freight on rail has been raised as a consideration, especially with projects such as the NZTA Brougham Street upgrade. There are no work streams planned to address this at this stage.

The draft LTP includes budget for improvements to the Pound Road corridor as a result of the high number of large vehicles using this route.

Evans Pass Road includes more limited funding for carriageway repair works. This road has stood up better than expected post the opening of the repaired Sumner Road and the original funding allocation is considered unnecessary at this time.

Safety

The implementation of the Safe Speed Neighbourhood programme is underway. This includes reducing the speed limits around schools. Also planned are several projects to address safety at intersections and other hot spots across the city. This is being delivered through the minor safety programme of works.

2854 - Annabel Turley (Christchurch Central City Business Association)

We suggest that the Council explore all options for savings and to ensure an efficient and effective spend of ratepayer money to reduce the proposed rates increase. Areas we suggest the Council consider the following:

- Capital projects – projects such as the Gloucester St trial road layout was an unnecessary project and wasteful spending. We strongly encourage the Council to relook at spend on all projects and ensure that they have a return on investment and go through robust processes.
- Efficient use of resources – >>>Street Upgrade for Te Kaha The CCBA does not support $34 million to be spent to upgrade the streets surrounding Te Kaha. Spending on this project is extravagant and unnecessary in the current climate

2865 - Natalie Henderson

As above How can transport get 1.6 billion while parks, libraries etc get only a small fraction of that? Get people out of their cars and reduce the spending on transport.

Fail to see that councils need to spend 24.9% on transport. Are there any opportunities to work closer with the regional council in this area? Is there any duplication of resources? Hard to be more constructive on this subject without understanding what revenue generation is possible in these areas.

3738 - Finn Jackson

The proposed delays and cuts to walking, cycling and public transport projects fly in the face of our rapidly approaching 2030 emissions reduction targets. Transport accounts for 54% of our city's emissions. By deferring these projects, the Council is deferring climate action and the significant co-benefits to human health, water quality and Council finances that would accompany it.

3948 - Stefanie Innes

You are wasting again so much money on things that the public don't want.

3971 - Joseph Fullerton

The transport funding is wildly inappropriate. The Transport Activity Plan and Transport Asset Management Plan admit that the allocated funding cannot be used, for example, when it is allocated to road resurfacing. On top of that, CCC is willfully incurring excessive costs as a Road Controlling Authority by allowing super-30kmph speeds in the city and 20+tonne trucks. Before any further money is allocated to transport, CCC must look into reducing the financial burden of transport by introducing a programme of bike lanes and bus lanes citywide, and reduced speeds of 10kmph as a default citywide speed limit.

3993 - Hans Jorgen Andersen

Active transport is my priority. A personal story: We moved away from chch for 10 years, which included the earthquake and 8 years of the recovery. We by far and away prefer to travel around chch by bike. 2087 - Emma Norrish (Waipapa Papanui-Innes-Central Community Board)

Trial of a central city shuttle: The Board advocates for a trial of a central city shuttle as flagged in its Board Plan, drawing from its understanding of community interest in such a service, and noting it as a great gateway initiative to bringing more people to the central city, being more inclusive of those with accessibility issues, and helping people to become more accustomed to using public transport as a lower emission travel choice, also reducing the amount of cars into, out of, and around the CBD. Additionally, with so many significant changes to the inner city – new buildings (e.g. the library, the soon to be opened Court Theatre, Riverside, and a number of large hotels across the CBD), a shuttle should make it easier for people to travel around the inner city and have a positive experience. This can only further help promote the city as a great place in which to work, live, play and visit.

Central City Attraction and Accessibility: The Board also highlights the reference in its Board Plan to advocating for a trial of a central city shuttle. The Board understands this would need to be funded, but wishes to support such community ideas that engage residents with the central city as an area of metropolitan significance the Council has substantially invested in. The Council would be enabling equitable accessibility around the central city with this initiative, recognising that the significant change and development in the city requires innovative thinking and plan implementation. The city should be a vibrant, innovative and accessible place for visitors and locals to ensure it can thrive and attract people to support local businesses and be ambassadors for our city in promoting “excellent experiences” to others.

The Board has heard from its communities that are dealing with flooding during coastal tides, and the increased extreme weather, as well as natural disasters that lead to damage of key Council infrastructure. The Board urges the Council to expedite its response to natural disasters to address these issues promptly. With the Council's current response timeline the Council will experience a backlog of repair work due to the increasing frequency and intensity of climate change-related events resulting in significantly higher costs for the Council. The Board received a briefing from Te Rūnanga o Koukourarata about tidal and weather flooding that is regularly occurring in Koukourarata Port Levy effecting roading, stormwater and utilities infrastructure as well as damage to private property. The Board have come to the conclusion that the Koukourarata Port Levy flooding requires coordination, strategic leadership and collaboration between stakeholders and would recommend having a community led working group with Council units, like what happened and is still happening to address Wairewa Little River flooding.

I agree with the results of the consultation undertaken by the Victoria Neighbourhood Association (which I am the Secretary of) that strongly supports the return of the Shuttle or something like it. Given that ECan appears to have no commitment at all to it, I am urging you to step up again and fund it out of the public transport allocation. For central city residents (and many visitors, from what I experienced with the previous Shuttle), it is one of the best ways to improve life in the central city. I used it often to go to supermarkets (not accessible from where I live unless I take two buses each way, with a walk between stops), to work and just into town if for any reason I couldn't walk or bike. I know that many of my neighbours now DRIVE to Edgeware or Northlands, rather than shop or do errands in the CBD because they find it more accessible. They used to go there by Shuttle. As more apartments are built, there will be even more people living here. Congestion will become unbearable if they all drive into town.

2476 - Reuben Scott (Simeon Park Community Group)

Supporting slower speeds policy and initiative which was recently voted out to wait for new government direction. This should be a council led decision to increase active methods of transport. It costs minimal amounts to do too.

2514 - Jeannie Murtagh

Prioritise eastern suburbs - driving through Fendalton and Merivale and then through Aranui and New Brighton are like driving through two different cities - where are the trees and well maintained footpaths on the east? How about prioritising plantings along Pages Road - after all it is one of the main routes to a lovely beach. The only eastern suburbs that seem to get attention are Sumner and Redcliffs - the places where the rich live.

[Grants & Funding > Arts Centre Funding]

No, why was the roundabout at Clyde/Ilam redone, there had not been major accidents there? Put the money towards the Arts Centre funding

2586 - Leeann Watson (Business Canterbury)

Priority consideration should be given to projects which:

- Enhance connectivity between the Port of Lyttelton, commercial centres, the Christchurch International Airport, and state highway corridors north and south of the city.
- Enhance resilience while at the same time delivering or at least enabling sustainable economic growth opportunities for the future.
- Are backed by a strong business case centred around sustainable economic growth, which can be measured against performance and productivity metrics.
- Consider the impact on cost or delivery timelines from leveraging alternative funding and financing measures such as public-private partnerships, private investment, value capture, and user pays.

Business Canterbury agrees that (as noted in ‘Our Draft Long Term Plan 2024-2034 – Volume 1’) the potential negative economic effects of a poor transport environment worsen “Traffic congestion and delays [which] can result in productivity losses, hamper the economic recovery and growth of the city and subregion.” That said, when looking at transport projects listed in the draft LTP, there is a significant focus on access corridors for active transport but there should also be a standalone and ongoing freight access and efficiency programme to ensure that as a hub for the South Island, our roads are efficient and fit for purpose. With a focus on network planning and improvements to the network noted as key deliverables, more consideration needs to be given to the role that efficient transport infrastructure plays in sustainable economic growth.

2639 - Callum Ward (Waihoru Spreydon Cashmere Heathcote Community Board)

Evidence tells us that transport has the most significant impact on carbon emissions, therefore Council’s stated focus of the budget reducing greenhouse gas emissions through making changes to the way we travel needs to be enacted. The Board strongly encourages Council to prioritise projects that enable residents to use safe active transport means.

264 - Raizel Reyes

Perhaps look at the spending allocated to speed signs being installed in places that do not make sense. Excessive road humps on a stretch of road.

2673 - Ben lamond

You should get Wilson’s out of the city cause all they do is overcharge for carparks in empty building lots just so investors can land bank but you won’t because they are in your back pocket

Hold roading contractors to account for poor workmanship and shoddy repairs this should be across every aspect of the council framework. Too often repairs are done to only fail not long after. Ensure value for money from every aspect, review existing contracts, cancel wasteful contracts ensure assets are returning funds to the city, if not get better ceos hold them to account.

270 - Virginia Ferguson

Implementation of speed cameras and fines at specific high-traffic, high-risk areas could generate more revenue for the city as well as keeping speeding low in the suburbs.

2734 - Sharon McDonald

[Three Waters > Other]

Drinking water in this city should not be a problem neither should stormwater. When new subdivisions are built surely the infrastructure is put in properly and connected up correctly. An inner city circular bus route that links access to such things as the Art Gallery, CCC, Turanga, The Botanical Gardens, ARA, and the bus terminal would also help equity of access to city attractions.

2809 - Susan Thorpe

Electric Buses

Ref the transport plan, a recent NZ study has questioned the lack of any risk planning by authorities for electric buses which may catch fire on bridges or in tunnels, causing significant loss of life to those trapped in them and near them. CCC would be wise to withdraw all advocacy for electric vehicles and buses in particular, as they are incredibly dangerous when batteries self combust in the chemical reaction called THERMAL RUNAWAY. There may be only seconds' warning before the fire is out of control, with no time for passengers to vacate, and flames shooting out explosively up to eight metres. They are particularly dangerous in tunnels or on bridges. As an example, three electric bus fires in January 2024 in London caused 1800 electric buses to be withdrawn prior to investigation.

It is essential that the 'adults in the room' at CCC ignore the climate zealots in its midst, and firmly reject further electric vehicle advocacy, before a tragedy strikes vulnerable passengers in these explosive, unpredictable 'virtue signalling' vehicles. In addition it is essential that CCC urgently investigate risk planning for the potential of thermal runaway in Christchurch's existing electric bus fleet.

- * Axe unnecessary $1.318 billion Long Term Plan climate spend
- * Remove all policy based on discredited RCP 8.5 extremes with 1% probability.
- * Terminate all climate mitigation measures based on RCP 8.5.
- * Withdraw advocacy of electric vehicles / buses, to avoid future thermal runaway disaster.
- * Instigate risk planning for potential 'thermal runaway' electric bus accidents.
- * Reverse all 'traffic calming' speed restrictions which disadvantage people's efficient movement.
- * Withdraw funding of expensive 'speed bumps,' which 'virtue signal' fake environmental concern.
- * End unnecessary cycleway expenditure after multi million dollar blowout.
- * Remove unsightly and disruptive bollards from Park Terrace.
- * Place cycleway on Avon River bank.
- * Reinstate normal traffic flow to Park Terrace and affected environs.
- * Deactivate 2 in 3 lights on the Northern Bypass Motorway cycle track.
- * Retire CCC from Climate Emergency declaration as declared by former Mayor.
- * Phase out further references to climate 'emergency' from CCC documents and handouts.
- * Withdraw support from agricultural CO2 and methane alarmism.

[Strategic Direction > Climate]

No. The balance is completely wrong in all the sectors that matter. In transport, too much focus is placed on the upgrading and repair of car/private vehicle infrastructure, especially considering transport is the largest emissions source in Christchurch. We need to be structuring our budget to induce a mode shift towards active and public transport. This is crucial to meeting our emissions reduction goals as a city, makes our city more accessible to those in vulnerable or lower socioeconomic groups, and on top of this means that we need to spend less money on revitalising our roads due to less vehicles using them! This should include a mix of increased prevalence of (and width of) footpaths, more cycleways, more bus lanes and looking into potential options for bringing passenger rail back to Christchurch.

2836 - Jillian Frater

[Parks > Paths & Walkways, Public Convenience, Other]

I support greater collaboration between the transport team and the parks team at CCC, more shared tracks and paths, better signage for bicycles along recognised routes, better cycle parking at key destinations in the city

293 - Monique van Veen

With so many excellent venues open in the city (or under construction) I wonder whether we've adequately considered transport solutions for getting to events that often occur in the evening. I believe right now most residents, myself included, drive into the city to attend evening events, given significant lack of other viable late night transport options. When all venues are operational there will be limited carparking available in the central city, with thousands more people trying to get in. I don't see this reflected in the plan and would like to know where Council's thinking is around evening and weekend public transport solutions.

I'd like to see more transport planning considerations for when all these excellent venues hold events in the evening, because right now most residents drive into the city to attend evening events, given significant lack of other viable late night transport options.

3011 - Annette Marchant

Good but could be better, especially from outer suburbs and dormitory areas

3094 - Daniel Smith

Transport spending should be heavily prioritised towards low-carbon transport options and away from car-centric infrastructure

3127 - Dianne Downward

Council processes need an overhaul – Aranui had bollards and planter boxes put in place without first consulting the community and then having to remove them because the community didn't want them, this cost millions for no gain.

Ideology needs to stay out of decisions. Road cones have become meaningless as they are often far from any actual work being done. Drivers then begin to dismiss them which is contrary to their purpose. $5 per cone per day, One small site = 50-100 cones so that equals $250-$500 per day, multiplied by the number of work sites there are, and the cost becomes huge very quickly. Cones are necessary but need to be managed so they are not left at the site for days/weeks before or after any work takes place. This is a clear waste of ratepayers money and is a clear case of mismanagement which has to stop.

3129 - Skye Arnopp

3315 - Jill Hargreaves

3392 - Stephen Wood

Planning should consider the "network" available for each transport mode. Just as for public transport we consider the walking trips that begin and end every bus journey, a bicycle network is not only about the major cycle routes, or on-road cycle lanes on arterial roads, as you also need a road environment that cycles can use in the first mile, last mile phases of each journey. Safer speeds, and room for on-road or shared path cycling is needed to fill this need.

The other idea I've been thinking about it whether the Council as a road controlling authority has a duty to make roads as safe as they can where they have the power to do so, e.g in the way they design and build roads and set speed limits on them. It's not 100% clear whether you could make a case under the Health and Safety at Work Act 2015 for this, but it certainly looks possible to me. See attached discussion paper. It's an area of NZ law that has not yet been tested, but it might influence how Council proceeds or not with roading projects and decisions that affect public safety.

need to put a limit on spending for the projects associated with the new Te Kaha stadium eg the footpaths. The minimum spend should be applied to make the complex accessible and it should never increase to $47m (The Press, April 19 2024, p1).

The apparent wastage on transport issues concerns.

3529 - Marc Duff

For many years have brought issues around Hornby Streets, Footpaths, Intersections etc before the next long term plan would like to see investment in a Hornby wide plan around our roading network done with consultation with the residents to really nut down, what are the issues and what is the priority list in terms of getting these done and then we can look at getting some of these into the next Long Term Plan. At the moment the approach on the Hornby Roding network is very adhoc and as a result we are getitng ad hoc results. Would like to see a joint working party between Waka Kotahi, City Council, KiwiRail, Schools, Business and Residents. Just ask that funding be confirmed for this and a written commitement to the working party. Taking everyone involved or impacted on the journey together will see greatly consencious amongst the community and trust.

3567 - Rachel Briggs

The balance doesnt seem right. Less on cycleways, more on public transport options. Or focus on only a couple of cycleways and reduce the rate jncrease and fixing deteriorating roads - but securing contractors that do it right the first time, rather than make significant mistakes and then cost more to fix.

3569 - Sarrah Walters

Greater consideration needs to be given to bus users in construction areas and a strong partnership with the service provider is needed to provide a more integrated and cohesive experience. On more than one occasion work at the Christchurch Hospital stop resulted in boarding points being moved but these were very poorly publicised.

3599 - Hayley Guglietta

transport is the major cause of emissions we must find ways to integrate all sorts of transport options and I believe this can be achieved with more costs effective solutions

3610 - Eric Stierna

More consulting should be conducted with businesses and technology providers to collect user insights, establish targets and develop incentives to change commuter behaviour. Businesses spend ridiculous amounts of money providing parking for employees and customers. There should be more funding put into developing a tools that help the council and businesses understand employee and customer transportation needs/behaviours and align new infrastructure spending on addressing these needs while shifting behaviours away from driving private vehicles.

3652 - Andrew Hamlin

I think keep it simple and do not get too carried away with upgrading roads and transport infrastructure. There has been some good work towards this shift and cycleways and safer walkways are good but sometimes it can be a bit overdone. I do not think that CCC should be spending lots on cosmetic design of materials that cost more to make a walk way look more appealing to the eye. Trees are a good investment but certain tiles and material used should be cost effective and robust to last . Fit for purpose meaning that it will be practicable and easier to maintain in the long run. If its cheaper in the long run to seal a path or road then dig it up if maintenance is needed then do that . If its cheaper in the long run to invest in tiles that can be removed for maintenance and replaced afterwards then do that. I don't think its wise to get hung up on what looks better as we have many things through out the city that already draw attention to visitors.

3668 - Gavin Hardie

Additionally I would like to see funding for trees in streets included in 'transport' or somewhere in capital expenditure. We have to get more shade into the city, especially urban areas and in lower decile areas where there are wide streets. Trees in streets will naturally slow traffic and make it safer for cyclists and walkers as shade keeps us cooler on hot summer days.

Fund trees in streets, we need more trees in streets, fund trees in Howard st, narrow the big wide street making it safer for bikers, and children walking to school. There are many streets like Howard st which could do so much with trees being planted and some paint in the roads.

Plant more trees in streets for example could be part of the transport/roading budget. It's very important to get more trees, not just in parks, but in our streets. Everyone is happier and cooler with tree-lined streets!

Provide a central city shuttle trial similar to the previous yellow buses to service key destinations around the city. This will reduce the number of vehicles in the city.

Spokes supports:

- facilitation of greater collaboration between the transport team and parks team when renewing or creating facilities. Pathways with the potential to connect areas through the use of shared pathways are being replaced with like-for-like rather than being widened to a useable width as the opportunity arises, and the entrance ways upgraded and signed. The current practice is leading to increased tension between groups of users as the number of cycling and active transport increases.
- More shared tracks that allow walking, cycling and other active transport methods including those that facilitate access to nature for those that choose to use cargo bikes, trikes and mobility devices
- Track entrances that allow access for mobility devices, cargo bikes and trikes that can be longer and wider than a typical bike, and can often be used by a person with less coordination making it difficult to fit through tight spaces. Barriers and bollards should also have reflective tape for low vision people or when there is low light.
- Better signage at entrances and along the route. The signage should indicate it is a nature route rather than a commuting route by slightly different design.
- Cycle parking particularly at toilets and key destinations. For example, Lyttelton needs more cycle parking, particularly near the new Museum.

- Addition of a park and cycle facility at the Gondola stop to reduce demand on cycle racks on the buses.

Train/Tram travel over the coming years is critical. We need to increase spending and utilise the existing infrastructure better. train tracks exist in the three road pinch points (some of the busy roads - the travelers are not CCC rates payers. [Revenue > Other], [Rates > City Vacant Differential]

I ask that the CCC investigate alternative income streams, particularly from activities or industries that emit a significant proportion of our greenhouse gases. Those might include such things as congestion charges for private cars parked in high density areas, a departure tax on airline tickets, a levy on cruise ships using our ports, and increasing the Vacant Differential rate multiplier (and/or extending that charge to the entire city)

492 - Lyndon Telfer

[Three Waters > Other], [Parks > Heritage (Capital)], [Parks > Foreshore]

The underutilization of Christchurch bus services indicates a need for the CCC in conjunction with ECan to increase public transport patronage rather than investing in non-essential projects. Transport is a Joke.

2087 - Emma Norrish (Waipapa Papanui-Innes-Central Community Board)

As noted in its Board Plan, the Waipapa Papanui-Innes-Central Community Board identifies that a city with a good transport network is vital for a connected and accessible community. The Board seeks to ensure that community safety is at the forefront of all transport decisions, including the need for safe speeds and safe streets for all of our residents. It supports a network of safe and productive streets and roads that balance the needs of residents and people travelling by foot, bicycle, car, public transport, micro-vehicles and more.

Intensification and development impacts on the transport network: The Board signalled an intent in its Plan to take a measured, 'big picture' view of local transport issues, including considering the impacts of intensification about which it remains very aware and concerned. Again it is a balance between supporting fiscal prudence when it comes to Council spending and recognising/advocating for what the community sees as important transport issues and/or projects. The Board recently fed back to staff that the Capital Programme can be difficult to navigate in terms of understanding the true impact of some projects, for example the difficulty seeing where the costs on the Council to support new housing developments such as in the Cranford Basin/Grassmere Street area of East Papanui, will ultimately be offset by government infrastructure funding, or other sources. This is key to having a clearer picture of what costs will be borne by the Council and ratepayers over the longer term.

What the local community has said matters: The community feedback from the Board area in the 'what matters most' early engagement on this LTP suggested prioritising climate change, roads and footpaths, and travel choices, so the Board would like to reiterate this. The Board also recognises the reliance of the local economy on a well-functioning transport network through the busy Board area; the importance of keeping children safe around schools; and, with climate change being a top priority from 'what matters most' for much of the Board area, the time-sensitivity of prioritising projects that will lower emissions.

The Board (taking cues from its Board Plan) has advocated for pedestrian safety on the Springfield Road corridor, and improved efficiency along the Langdons Road corridor; the Board awaits clarification on where these matters sit in larger programmes.

The Board again refers to the early engagement on 'what matters most', which reflected that travel choice is high among residents' priorities in the Central ward, being among the top two, along with climate change.

2256 - Peter Scott (Environment Canterbury)

We thank you for your continued support and contribution to the work of the Canterbury Regional Transport Committee. This includes the Committee's recent focus on preparing the Canterbury Regional Land Transport Plan (RLTP) 2024-34. Investment is planned to almost double over the next decade in the region's land transport network. This highlights the significant investment that central and local government need to make to create an innovative, resilient and low emission transport system that helps Canterbury thrive for generations.

2312 - Christian Schipani

I am keen to see more funding allocated towards cycling infrastructure and public transport.

2326 - Amanda Booth

We are not spending the right balance on transport. As a country we are over-reliant on (old) cars. I would focus on getting people to drive less in suburban areas - less driving means less maintenance. Focus expenditure on having good roads on bus routes, good shelters etc,

2368 - Alaine Percasky

I don't feel that Electric cars are popular enough or good enough to use yet.

The council should not have removed so much inner city parking after the earthquakes. For example on the left hand side of Durham st in the inner city. Parking buildings were erected at huge expense and no one uses them because they are so expensive. The pedestrian experiment on Gloucester st near Turanga is a disaster. it is dangerous for pedestrians because it is unclear whether or not that area is still a road. It has also taken out the 2 ten minute parks outside Turanga which were very useful. Please return this area to a normal street environment.

I have seen many staff waiting uselessly beside roadworks alongside Breezes Road recently (march 2024) while the rubbish near them lies in the grass having been "mowed" into smaller pieces instead of being picked up. How is this an efficient use of rates. Surely there is a kaupapa amongst staff to maintain a pride in the city streets. Why couldn't those waiting roadworkers pick up the rubbish as part of their roadworks?

335 - Wayne Bates

Money has been poured into the area of Pages Road near the bridge, where millions has been spent and now down the estuary end of the red zone further completely unnecessary work is being done at great cost to the rate payer. New Brighton area is always last to get any work done of any significance, the roads are disgusting the footpaths worse and yet the cyclists fly around on lovely paved roads, absolutely bonkers. New Brighton has had a lot of promises but absolutley no action, WAKE UP. Get the new bridge as a first priority so East coasters can be as safe as the rest of the city. There is about 2 current councillors who would get my vote next election, the rest including the new mayor who made all sorts of promise before the election have proved absolutely useless.

Find some new planners who can plan the cities roads better as it currently is it is a nightmare

3425 - Hugh Dacre

Keep it simple. Deliver the essentials. We have too big a backlog to deal with since 2010 to deliver the kind of solutions which are appearing in some places. The recent roundabout "refurbishment" in Avonhead is a classic example. After all the expenditure we still have a couple of roundabouts which do exactly what they did before.

3435 - Alex Cornford

I want cleaner air. Less dangerous diesel fumes and particulates

3453 - Zeta Pringle

The transport seems to see our city still being full of road cones. My impression is there is more around since the earthquake.

347 - Catherine Webber

Personally I feel strongly that cyclists all need to be identifiable but that's not a LTTP issue.

In the last decade there has been hundreds of thousands of dollars lost on paid on-street parking that has been removed in favour of cycle lanes or traffic calming in village plans. They do not make money! The Rolleston Avenue off-street parking lot that was bringing in a nice amount of annual revenue and providing a valuable service to the public was gifted to the Ravenscar Trust who contribute nothing near the amount of the car park used to.

3479 - Rhys Glenjarman

Ensure road maintenance is being done in an ethical way with oversight on contractors to ensure the city is getting what is promised at an appropriate cost. It is discussed amongst citizens that they believe the road infrastructure cost is being purposefully inflated by contractors. Public information for such costs should be easy to find and forthcoming on all major and significant road works to ensure proper maintenance standards are being upheld and contractors and council members should be monitored by an independent auditor to ensure proper ethics are being maintained. This will improve trust in local government and increase pride in chch

3490 - Peter Minten

Central governments have proven to be unreliable on transport! Which is understandable given the different priorities they have.

353 - John Mayhew

Road workers who stand around playing with their cellphones all day doing zero work are another obvious example [Coder note: ways to reduce costs]. Simple clearing up jobs requiring just a few minutes with a broom and shovel don't require numerous vehicles, trucks and machinery, road cones and stop/go staff which often takes days or weeks plus I would imagine numerous management staff to shuffle paperwork in some back office.

354 - Vivienne Allan

St Asaph St remains a disaster area. Cyclists are encouraged but pedestrians are not. The city centre is a mass of lane changes and there isn't enough parking in the city centre hence the preference for suburbs and malls. All in all, little change. Such a shame. We could have been the best of the best post quake. But we aren't and we are paying a big price for it.

3556 - William Tuckey

Cars don't scale. Eventually the inhabitants of this sprawling city will need to realise everyone can't drive everywhere all the time .

3582 - Cody Cooper

Please fix the streetlights not working down the end of Wilmers Road. This has been reported several times across multiple years. I've had staff call about it but no resolution. Surely it's not that hard or expensive to change a lightbulb.

3697 - Jennie Brittenden

Scooter riders are dangerous and often think that they are bulletproof. I don't think scooters are safe and should be discouraged.

3716 - Phillipa O'Loughlin

Too much being proposed at $1.6 billion however it is a long term plan.

[Coders note: in relation to transport]

3744 - Francine Bills

CCC have proposed solutions such as a raised platform at intersections, but separation measures are better. Cranford St is in reality too narrow for four lanes. Even a bus in the bus lane is too close to the footpath. The following suggestions should apply to intersections. Pedestrians: 1. Increase the amount of time between traffic lights turning red and pedestrian cross signs lighting up. 2. The problem with traffic crossing Cranford travelling east or west on Westminster St is that there is no dedicated straight through lane. Therefore, to avoid the frustration, anger and dangerous driving of traffic that can see a green light but can't move, there should be a red light for all traffic while there are pedestrians crossing Cranford. When the traffic light turns green, traffic can move freely without giving way to pedestrians. 3. Yellow rubber pavement strips are too close to the road. Pedestrians need to be persuaded to stand further back from the road. This is true of most Chch intersections. (I have seen people trip on these knobby strips – poor design I think.) 4. There could be a line with 'Stand behind here' painted on the footpath. 5. The pedestrian push button should not be on the same pole as the lights. Kids love to keep pushing the button for fun and are inclined to stand next to the pole/swing round it etc. Therefore there should be a separate short pole with the push button well back from the road.

No improvements to public transport that I've seen. Traffic congestion has increased, roading and repairs need to improve.

3860 - Kate Cleverly (Halswell Community Hub)

Transport and connections should be looked at from a holistic approach and how they work together. Neighbourhoods within Halswell are not well connected or accesible meaning a large number of people are reliant on cars to get around. If we are to reduce emissions in the area we need better links and connections - safe footpaths, safe road crossing points, frequent, usable bus services which connect the whole community, not just some parts the connection of street trees to reserves is poorly planned.

3968 - Joseph Fullerton (UC Climate Action Club)

Since the Transport Asset Management Plan and Transport Activity Plan are clear that road resurfacing will be much more expensive going forward, CCC must reduce the cost of road resurfacing by reducing wear-and-tear on the roads, which it can only do by reducing car traffic and especially by reducing truck traffic.

3969 - H Bloomer-Law

Transport investment should prioritise cycling, pedestrians, and buses so that the roads we do have are uncongested for essential car transit.

1. Submitters indicated that education and awareness programmes should be used to support waste reduction, repurposing, and recycling.

Any changes to the current waste education and awareness programmes would have an impact on the comms and marketing activity as well as the regional waste coordination activities.

Council currently operates a number of waste education and awareness programmes that update the community and respond to emergent issues, for example, kerbside standardisation. The education and awareness programmes are reviewed annually.

The annual waste education and awareness comms and marketing budget is $203k. Comms and marketing rely on external support from media outlets and technical specialists, for example, videographers.

Waste education and awareness programmes are provided in a range of accessible media formats including, print, social and digital. We currently track web page views and active users of the kerbside collection bin app. The annual web views were 1,019,845 and the active bin app users were 72,127 as at May 2024.

Waste education and awareness programmes that focus on reduction can have an impact on climate action.

Waste education and awareness programmes that promote avoidance of littering and illegal dumping can be related to guardianship / kaitiakitanga.

2. Submitters indicated that waste to energy (incineration) should be considered for the management of residual waste.

A number of Canterbury councils including Christchurch City Council have a long-term agreement to use Kate Valley landfill for the management of residual waste. This agreement is contingent on Kate Valley landfill having available consented airspace for the disposal of residual waste. The landfill current consented airspace will last until the end of the 2030s. Additional airspace that can be consented in the future would last beyond the end of this century.

3. Submitters commented on improving odour management in relation to Bromley organics processing plant and transfer stations.

The organics processing plant in Bromley is scheduled to be closed in 2027 when a new organics processing facility based in Hornby becomes operational. The Bromley facility manufactures compost. The Hornby facility will utilise anaerobic digestion and biofuel processing to manufacture biofuels (solid and gas) and a liquid fertiliser.

Odour management at the transfer stations is based on loading residual waste dropped in the pits into sealed compactor units prior to transportation to Kate Valley landfill. Odour management forms part of the transfer station master planning being conducted during the next LTP.

4. Submitters commented that dump fees should be kept realistic.

Waste fees and charges are based on a combination of general rates, targeted rates, waste disposal levy income and user pay gate fees. Waste fees and charges are influenced by a number of costs including landfill disposal fees, contract costs, debt servicing and general overheads. Landfill disposal costs are influenced by a number of factors including two Central Government policies related to emissions and the waste disposal levy. Landfills offset the site emission profile by buying and surrendering carbon credits. The carbon price has risen from less than $10 to more than $80 per tonne over the past decade. The waste disposal levy is a charge applied to all tonnage sent to landfill for disposal. The waste disposal levy has risen from $10 to $50 per tonne in the last decade. A further increase to $60 per tonne is scheduled for July 2024.

5. Submitters in support of continuing kerbside audits.

Kerbside wheelie bin audits are now a function of the Kerbside Collection Contract.

6. Submitters commented on approach to illegal dumping.

Council is taking a systems approach to the cause and effect of illegal dumping. This will involve working across multiple Council units that are impacted by the costs associated with illegal dumping.

7. Submitters wanted to see compostable packaging processed as an organic material.

Compostable packaging can contain plastic based materials which limit the ability to process it with other organics.

8. Submitters were in support of establishing a new organics processing facility at Hornby.

The new organics processing facility, to be based in Hornby, will process the kerbside organics and transfer station green waste into biofuels (solid and gas) and a liquid fertiliser.

9. Submitters were in support of closing the Bromley organics processing plant.

The Bromley organics processing plant is expected to close by 2027 contingent on the availability of the new organics processing facility based in Hornby.

10. Submitters concerned with battery disposal.

Information on battery disposal is provided on the council website EcoDrop transfer stations and recycling centres: Christchurch City Council (ccc.govt.nz).

11. Submitters interested in services that would promote repurposing over dumping.

The repurposing of household goods is being considered in relation to service and infrastructure requirements as part of future work programmes. This type of service requires transport logistics, warehousing, repair networks supported by an appropriate public interface to manage booking requests (collection and delivery).

12. Submitters concerned with kerbside uplift frequency / bin size.

Changes to kerbside wheelie bin size and frequency of uplift will be considered during the next tender process. Making these changes at this point in the current Contract would likely prove cost prohibitive. The tender is scheduled for release during 2027 and the new Contract will commence from April 2029.

13. Submitters concerned that other parts of the supply chain should take responsibility for resource recovery.

Central Government are continuing to support the introduction of mandatory product stewardship schemes that will see the whole supply chain take fiscal and physical responsibility for recovering resources at the end of their usefulness. Council is involved in supporting product stewardship schemes under development for packaging, tyres, electronic waste, farm plastics, refrigerants, and paints.

14. Submitters would like council to issue wheelie bin latches as a follow on from a current trial being funded by the Community Waterways Partnership.

The current wheelie bin latch trial is due to complete in August 2024. A staff report will be provided after the trial is completed. The staff report will comment on whether the bin latches have made a material difference to controlling litter in high wind situations. It will also detail the cost implications of any options proposed.

15. Submitters want to see a reduction in emissions across the waste portfolio.

The emission profile associated with waste includes transportation to landfill and disposal at landfill. Transportation emissions are managed through enhanced payloads and fuel efficiency of the vehicles that transport waste to landfill. The waste fleet continues to be upgraded as the technology improves aligned to vehicle renewals. Landfill emissions generated from the waste biodegrading are managed by landfill gas capture systems which can use the gas as a fuel to produce electricity. Council also promotes the reduction of waste through its education and awareness programmes.

16. Submitters wanted to see greenwaste sites established in Diamond Harbour and Lyttleton.

Council currently provides a kerbside organics service to both Lyttleton and Diamond Harbour. The city transfer stations at Metro Place, Bromley and Parkhouse Road, Wigram also accept greenwaste deliveries. There are no plans to establish separate greenwaste collection sites in Lyttleton or in Diamond Harbour.

2087 - Emma Norrish (Waipapa Papanui-Innes-Central Community Board)

It is also noted that streetside dumping of inorganic waste (like old mattresses) has been a significant frustration in Central ward particularly. Like graffiti, it creates an environment that impedes the development of safe communities, and has a gateway effect toward other antisocial behaviours. Clearance via community efforts and reporting (such as Snap Send Solve) has significantly reduced the activity and the Board encourages the continuation of this service.

More onus should go on reducing plastic use in Christchurch. I would recommend CCC lobby government on setting stringent requirements on business to reduce and remove the use of plastic in a expediated timeframe. The harms of microsplastics are only starting to become known and it could be the next major health issue of our generation. I would also support Council targeting large waste

The council needs to take a more active approach in solid waste and resource recovery. Outsourcing it is not good enough. For example, we need legislation on what we as consumers can be sold for packaging and more responsible disposal methods. We also need education on how to best deal with waste as well. Changing the rules of what can be put in each bin is not good enough. We need to take direction from more developed countries like Japan who do curbside collection of all sorts of waste responsibly sorted at home.

3575 - Anna Hansson

Please continue as is. Do not decrease service please. The green bin needs to go weekly and I couldn't do with less than fortnightly pick ups for red and yellow. Is there a future project for green energy and green waste management? Big investment but the more buildings can move to renewable energy source's and better waste processing (including composting toilets), the better... right?

1164 - Andrea Davis

Use less, place a check in person at the entrance of each transfer station to direct the trailers to resource recovery before they go through the kiosk to the pit. There are thousands of tones of unwanted house hold items that get dumped while they could be re-homed. Recycling is a necessary evil to over consumptions of bad packaging descions made by unsustainable industries. Consumers need to begin to sit in not take away. Refill your cleaning products, refill your milk bottles. Make some changes to your consumption and save money,

1176 - Jamin Thomas

Reducing the cost of the larger bins for rubbish or green.

1191 - Ava Johnson

Responsible Waste Management: • Advocating for expanded curbside composting programs and increased support for recycling initiatives to minimize landfill waste and reduce single-use plastics.

120 - David Thorpe

I believe way too much goes in the red bin / general waste at the tip - I see it. More should be spent on education an advice as to what and why more should be recycled.

1216 - Glenn Maguire

[Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]

Maybe a more efficient way to get waste from Chch to Kate Valley would be rail. This would create much less cartage on our roads. Using our rail corridors for public transportation would be great e.g. a train from city to Rolleston.

1224 - Amanda OBrien

Bigger bins or multiple bins for large families in all sizes not just recycling

1229 - Cassandra Albert

Waste minimization efforts should include expanded composting and recycling programs.

Redirecting financial resources towards holding waste-generating industries accountable is imperative. Implementing higher taxation rates on these sectors is a pragmatic approach to addressing the waste management challenges they have contributed to.

1230 - Carlana Limmer

[Strategic Direction > Additional Savings & efficiencies], [Grants & Funding > Events Ecosystem Funding], [Parks > Parks Maintenance], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)], [Libraries > Libraries (Operations)]

Value the most - major event funding, parks and foreshore. With rubbish and recycling, some portion of these costs should be user pays on their rubbish collection to save some of the costs allocated here. Losing the investment into creating more cycle lanes, and reducing the spend on libraries as these are not utilized or needed as they were prior to the hugely growing on-line resources which people can access for free.

1265 - Jill Banbury

Hopefully, the Hornby facility will work more efficiently than Bromley. The rubbish collection service is great although I think maybe more education needed for bins for some.

1329 - Lynda Whitlow

It sounds like there is still an issue getting the right items in recycling so a lot goes directly to landfill. I don't have confidence that all the effort I put in to making sure my bins are what they should be, that they don't just get included in the general rubbish due to contamination. It's a bit dispiriting.

133 - Alan Mears

Look at More private/public partnerships

135 - Jac Call

Make is cheaper to dispose of garden rubbish for residents. Better still, a large green bin/small red bin as this reduces actual waste going to landfill therefore less outlays, And the yellow bin should be small like green bin as more cannot be recycled.

1352 - Lin Klenner

Please invest in Food waste dehydrators like Te Pae in all major council facilities as it reduces truck traffic, time to de-compose,space, smell and is the way forward :-)

1365 - Valerie Grose

I would like to see more for recycling and information about what happens to it. I am a passionate soft plastic recycler and I want to know what happens to it.

139 - Paul Tait

Keeping smeels down and realistic prices for dump fees

1395 - William Wallace

More needs to be done to reduce non-recyclable packaging. Glass should be returned in place of plastic for bottles - and the Chinese-owned bottling plant at Belfast ought to be paying market rates for the water they are extracting from our aquifers.

1413 - Tania Brewer

We need to recycle better and educate more on what is recycleable and promote recycleable vendors.

1431 - Carissa Ptacek

Boring until it's not functioning well and than really important, can't state much on what's proposed but from lay person seems reasonable. Only question, not sure if there is a way to education/subsidies home compost etc to reduce amount of rubbish sent

1464 - Jeffrey Packard

Waste creating industries should be made responsible for all trash/waste that they introduce into the system, whether that be individually wrapped plastic on vegetables, or cans of coke. Something like the reusable bottles in Germany's beer industry should be an example.

1474 - Céira Dernhagen

[Strategic Direction>Have we got the balance right?]

Responsible Waste Management: Christchurch should be a leader in waste minimization. I propose: Expanded curbside composting programs to significantly reduce landfill waste. Increased support for recycling initiatives and education on reducing single-use plastics.

We should be spending more money on holding the creators of the waste responsible. Waste creating industries should be taxed at a higher rate to deal with the problem they created.

150 - Jeremy Foate

Current service inadequate. Resource recovery should be improved.

1500 - Warwick Schaffer

- Trucking solid waste miles and then dumping it into landfill seems costly, wasteful and environmentally damaging. Even the 'recycling' seems to be patchy. Can an incineration plant be build to burn it and generate power at the same tiem?

1508 - Mb Brennan

The dumping of rubbish and waste on the roadside especially in rural areas is unfortunate and costly. Can the perpetrators be tracked down somehow. I had the details once and the council told me they could not follow up on it ??? perhaps roving secret cameras or even a once a year free voucher for green waste or household rubbish that can be accessed from the council for tenants or those who cannot afford the trip to the dump.

1512 - Denis McMurtrie

Waste and recycling is a very important area for council involvement. In the beginning we must encourage products that can be easily recycled and of quality that can be repaired rather than easily thrown away after little use. This is an area perhaps for private enterprise which council help. Certainly the council should be looking now for possible future areas of disposal.

1540 - Isabel Carlyon

Introduce flexible rates for different bin sizes, so that people can reduce their rates by opting for smaller bins. Are all options being explored in terms of revenue stream from waste?

1541 - Maurice Adler

Solid Waste. Is the money really needed to be sent on this.

1543 - John Mowat

In a recent trip to Germany I noted the solid waste is incinerated, and the plastics from nappies etc were burned in a Plasma furnace, the heat was used to make electricity and the pollution was minimal. Note: A plasma rubbish disposal facility was to be built at Westport but was abandoned and another is going through resource consent to be built in Waimate. Please consider costing the burning of rubbish instead of landfill.

1544 - Daana Watson

I wish we could do more to encourage people to recycle. Within my neighbourhood, I still see inappropriately placed items in yellow bins instead of red, which contaminates the whole bin. And people who "dump" items on roadside as getting it to recycling/rubbish centre to dump is too expensive. Maybe we could have "communal" collection points to encourage people to take large items there, instead of on kerb?

1545 - Jasmine Arps

Our green bin could be fortnightly to save $ on collections.

1567 - Sarah Pritchett

You don't mention reuse on page 32, only recycling. Please invest in washing facilities and other infrastructure that enables more reuse and repair for reuse! Focus on the top of the waste hierarchy to reduce the generation of waste. Aim to be a repair city and support businesses who implement reusable packaging systems!

1623 - Oliver Mould

Keep on looking for new initiatives and making sure we make good use of captured methane from landfill.

1691 - Jesse Newman

Please can Living Earth start accepting the deluge of compostable single-use items or can council start ensuring the sellers of these products provide composting facilities before they continue contributing what is basically landfill to the organic waste stream?

1697 - Chris Goodman upgrade green bins to the 240L size to stop green waster going into the landfill.

1702 - Laura Xavier

Transport should be de-prioritised in lieu of better waste management and communal spaces funding. [Transport > Other] [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > City Planning]

A more comprehensive recycling plan should be put in place, some countries are able to recycle so many different varieties of plastic which does not happen in NZ.

1732 - Carole Logan

No where near enough on waste & recovery, think about the environment & our future

1756 - Kieran Sweetman

Maintaining services is critical

1764 - Chris Conwest

With the nationalization we have lost some aspects of recycling that should continue. Tagging beg recycling has been good in my area to shame the people who don't do their part.

178 - Fiona Patchett

I believe the Council would spend less on collection of rubbish dumped illegally if the cost of legally dumping rubbish at the local dumps was reduced.

1837 - Rosalie Griffith

Changes in uses of the bins needs more advertising in local newspaper and mailbox especially if co-ordinating throughout N2

184 - Rebecca Nicholls

More info about recycling would be of value. When u say 'don't crush cans' or similar edicts I'd like to have a website that says WHY? I'd like to get it right but would like to know WHY I'm complying.

1849 - Amy Brewer

Important

191 - Jenny Harlow

Not sure that it comes under this but I recently found that the organics plant processes "commercial" organics waste eg carcasses from businesses - maybe if we did not do that we could deal with residential organics waste in a way that causes less issues for residents? I am not sure why we need to help businesses dispose of dead animal waste?

1912 - Emma Borrie

Environmentally conscious management is very important

1927 - Donna Gillatt

Improve recycling. Almost anything can be recycled. Only use produces that can be recycle or repurposed. Encourage businesses to supply product that is built to last, not throw away.

1928 - James Daniels

Recycle glass separately

1944 - Peter Salvesen

You need to find a proper solution to recycling as so much of it ends up on the waste anyway

1945 - Lucy Howell

The CCC must consider how its waste management practices impact different communities. Waste management processes are often intertwined with environmental racism (for example, the Bromley transfer station and Organics Processing Plant in Bromley is near low income and marginalised communities) and this is not acceptable. Policies also need to be implemented that reduce commercial and household waste (eg stricter regulation and bans of single use plastic.)

1968 - Kelly Osborn

Maintain the current services only

1977 - Nicholas Lealand

We should be spending more money on holding the creators of the waste responsible. Waste creating industries should be taxed at a higher rate to deal with the problem they created.

Responsible Waste Management: Christchurch should be a leader in waste minimization. I propose: Expanded curbside composting programs to significantly reduce landfill waste. Increased support for recycling initiatives and education on reducing single-use plastics. Lifting Up

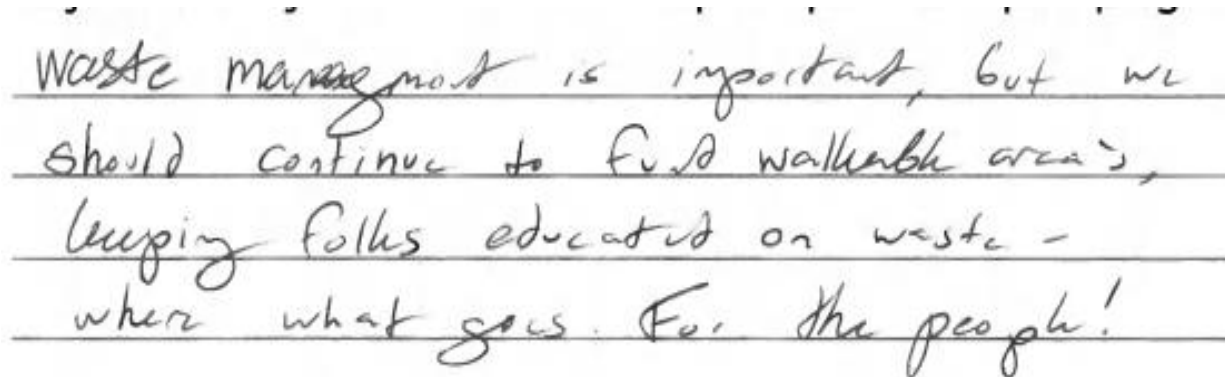

1979 - Julie McCloy

Please introduce some days per year of collection of large items. it has to be better than the constant kerbside and red zone dumping and more cost efficient than those random pickups required.

1991 - Stevie Florent

The Council should consider how its waste management practices impact different communities, especially low income and marginalised communities. Furthermore, implementation of stricter bans on single-use items and plastics would be welcome.

2011 - Lauren Sturm

Waste management is important, but we should continue to fund walkable areas, keeping folks educated on waste - where what goes. For the people!

2028 - Karyn Haugh

Not run right either. Take a look at Selwyn bigger bins and more days to empty. Xmas and summer with red bin fortnightly it bloody stinks let alone the small size. Failed at that too. The Green bin for the Garden City should also be the size of the Yellow!

2055 - Joanne Byrne

Consider a rubbish collection for big items to assist those who can't get to the dump. It will reduce the expense of having to clean it up anyway.

2058 - Janita Patrick

I appreciate our council bin collection greatly. I would like to understand why paper cannot go in the green bin now though. I do find there are still many people who don't know how to distribute their rubbish - education is key here

2060 - Liv van Workum

I don't think there is enough priority being put to >>> efficient waste management.

I think better education and engagement needs to be provided within waste and recycling in Christchurch. Currently I know many who are keen to properly sort their waste, but don't feel they actually have a clear indication of what can and cannot go where. I'd also like to see our recycling depots potentially look into the possibility of tetrapak recycling, as more people turn toward plant food and in general, I see these cartons in the bin now more than ever.

2119 - Andrew Cooper

Cut all services except red waste rubbish collection

214 - John Hinchey

[Grants & Funding > Events Ecosystem Funding], [Three Waters > Water Supply (Capital)], [Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

Reduce bid funding. We have more important areas to spend our ratepayer dollars on. Better solid waste processing away from Bromley: reducing the waste in our water supply through constant leaks: encouraging business to convert to electric vehicles to drive down city air pollution: etc.

2183 - Hali Stauffer

4. Responsible Waste Management: Christchurch should lead in waste minimisation efforts. To achieve this, I propose:
- Expanding curbside composting programs and supporting recycling initiatives to reduce landfill waste. - Educating the community on reducing single-use plastics and embracing sustainable practices.

I advocate for a shift towards holding waste-generating industries accountable. Allocating more funds to tax these industries at a higher rate is crucial to tackling the waste problem they've contributed to. By incentivizing responsible waste management practices among these industries, we can work towards a more sustainable and equitable approach to solid waste management and resource recovery.

22 - Grace Colcord

The mess we make does need to be looked at, and be taken with care. Although, waste is not always waste. Instead of validating peoples tendency to make more trash then repurpose ourselves, I think lessons can be learned here instead of enabling the problem. Especially within food waste.

2214 - Paul Kruger

2355 - Iain Sanders

2396 - Sam Jenkins

I think Christchurch should have an inorganic waste collection, similar to how auckland does and provides you the ability to do it once per year. There's a surprising amount of rubbish dumped around christchurch, and making it easier for people to dispose of things is likely the best way to reduce this

2491 - Heidi Warren

Waste to energy projects

2493 - Inder Singla

Reducing and recycling waste should be up in the priority.

2515 - Jane Hopkins

You could save money by encourage residents to compost at home - perhaps offering a compost bin to residents and having workshops on composting.

2540 - Jocelyn and Caroline Papprell and Syddall

With respect to waste, we'd like to see more work done by CCC through policies and practices, to reduce the amount of commercial and household waste going to landfill.

2595 - Nicola Hely

Separating organic waste must be enforced - keeping this out of landfill would reduce emissions and it is easy. I fear many of my neighbours do not use their green bins.

2603 - Ron Brooks

ban the sale of plastic not recyclable and put deposit on all glass bottles. bring back milk bottles and delivery. then recycling will work with suppliers and manufacturers will pay for cleanup and responsible products not the tax payers.

2639 - Callum Ward (Waihoru Spreydon Cashmere Heathcote Community Board)

- The Board would like to see the bin-lid clips in use city-wide, and in particular across the Port Hills and requests Council put a programme in place to achieve this.

Encouragement of waste minimisation, with less frequent collection of red and yellow bins (reduction of collection costs), and people should be encouraged to change to a smaller waste bin, reflected in reduced rates. I put my red bin and yellow bin out only about every 3 months.

2733 - Georgia Macaulay

MORE! Recycling - we need ways to repurpose these materials as opposed to shipping them off overseas to be processed when those facilities overseas are so inundated that they end up throwing out a lot of what they receive. Lets build our own processing facilities so we aren't so reliant on other countries. Also, a better way to deal with waste rather than the dumps. Imagine living in 10 or 20 years from now knowing everything is built upon garbage?

2738 - Patricia (Patsy) Eastwood

Look into ways to reduce waste going to landfill, tissue paper, tea bags and paper towels that used to go in the green bins now have to go into the red bins? Surely when the new 'country wide' consolidating of what goes where was looked at, the different areas that allowed lids, and small containers etc to go into recycling bins, and tissues etc into green bins should have been checked out and made standard over the whole country, instead of relegating them all to the red rubbish bins heading to landfill?

275 - Phillipa Callick

Waste reduction and the adoption of environmentally positive disposal technologies is key.

2756 - Stephanie Defregger

Smarter ideas in waste programmes. Teaching courses about food waste and how to create less waste.

2817 - Emma Twaddell (St Albans Residents' Association)

Waste and Re-cycling: To help minimise waste, the three bin sizes should change: the larger size should be for organics, and the smaller size should be for red rubbish and recycling. This would help to change the habits of the public and force them to re-think, and producers will be forced to re-think as well. People believe that if packaging etc is recyclable it's ok. But that's no longer true. Support local waste reduction projects in communities.

2827 - Carley Dove-McFalls (Generation Zero Ōtautahi)

GZ urges the CCC to consider how its waste management practices impact different communities. Waste management processes are often intertwined with environmental racism (for example, the Bromley transfer station and Organics Processing Plant in Bromley is near low income and marginalised communities). 2922 - Zak Morrison

The Draft LTP proposes spending $137 million on solid waste and resource recovery over the next ten years. This includes improvements to recycling and transfer station infrastructure and aftercare management for closed landfills. While these initiatives are commendable, there is an opportunity to further reduce the amount of waste sent to landfills by implementing community engagement programs that educate residents on the environmental impact of organic waste and promote waste reduction practices. Community Engagement and Education: - CO2 Emissions from Organic Waste: Organic waste in landfills generates methane, a potent greenhouse gas. By informing the community about the CO2 emissions associated with organic waste, the Council can encourage composting and other waste diversion practices. This approach aligns with the Wellington Long Term Plan 2024-2034, which includes community engagement programs to reduce landfill emissions. - Waste Minimization: Community engagement programs can also focus on waste minimization strategies, such as reducing single-use plastics, promoting recycling, and encouraging the use of compostable materials. These programs can be tailored to different community groups and delivered through various channels, including schools, community centers, and social media. - Incentives and Recognition: The Council could consider implementing incentive programs to recognize and reward households and businesses that significantly reduce their waste footprint. This could include discounts on waste services or public recognition of their efforts. Recommendations for Enhancing Solid Waste and Resource Recovery: Based on the considerations above, the following recommendations are proposed for inclusion in the Draft LTP: - Implement Community Engagement Programs: Develop and implement community engagement programs that educate residents on the environmental impact of organic waste in landfills and promote waste reduction and diversion practices. - Expand Educational Outreach: Increase educational outreach efforts in schools and community groups to instill sustainable waste management practices from an early age. - Introduce Incentive Programs: Explore the introduction of incentive programs to encourage waste reduction and recognize the efforts of residents and businesses in minimizing their waste output. Enhancing the focus on solid waste and resource recovery through community engagement and education is essential for reducing the amount of waste sent to landfills and mitigating the associated greenhouse gas emissions. By incorporating these recommendations into the Draft LTP, the Christchurch City Council can demonstrate its commitment to environmental sustainability and actively engage the community in achieving waste reduction goal

I encourage the CCC to implement policies that reduce commercial and household waste. For example, please consider introducing stricter bans on plastics and single-use items like takeaway cups.

2953 - Quentin Kelly

Solid Waste and resource recovery. Make the creators of waste pay a tax for operating in the city, and return all their waste to them for management. Get rid of chinese junk shops selling plastic shit that just becomes landfill. Promote the use of paper, cardboard, tin and aluminum cans and glass, plastic is toxic and cannot be recycled here like most things that go right into the red bin. I put my red bin out once a month maybe and even then it will be under half full.

Promote an e-waste recycling program like the Molten Media people who have been doing a real service to the city. Get people learning skills in repair as most electronics are thrown out for minor things, and with the number of near or below poverty line families in this city, everything helps.

Get tough on recycling and who is actually causing the waste and literally charge them for producing products that end up in landfill. Set some standards, keep strict to them for success, penalize those breaching the requirements. Waste is a huge problem, and most of it is created just to be landfill. That has to stop.

3011 - Annette Marchant

Resource recovery - better and more attractive arrangements for depositing unwanted items and for buying these by other people (as in some other centres) would be good, and would reduce fly-tipping.

3023 - Carolyn Brown concentrate on reducing waste and encouraging recycling/re use initiatives. People need to use less, not increase levels of waste. Home composting for example.

3031 - Lee Osborn

Recycling is great in theory but unless work is done to find genuine uses for materials they end up being stockpiled or dumped. Emphasis should be on reducing items disposed of. Making changes like attempting to stop people leaving lids on, squashing aluminium cans and placing teabags and paper in green bins need to be communicated much more strongly or you are wasting your time and setting up to fail.

307 - Rata Jamieson

More funds could contribute to the organics recycling programme to potentially compost cardboard and compostible plastics in Otautahi. Currently there are no city-wide initiatives on recycling compostible plastics - which cannot be recycled through the soft plastic recycling processes.

Christchurch should also implement policies that reduce solid waste, encourage local recycling initiatives, such as a local compostable plastics processing plant and local cardboard recycling. It should incentivise reuse of glass and plastic bottles and implement bans on takeaway cups and plastics.

I would like to see more initiatives to recycle locally - for example a local cardboard processing plant, a local compostable plastics recycling plant, seeing washable bottles, initiatives run by the council to recycle lids and other plastics, etc.

3094 - Daniel Smith

Implementation of a kerbside soft plastics recycling would be great given this is a large amount of the plastics used for food packaging.

3096 - Hamish Mitchell

Ditch recycling and burn everything. Think long term and get on with it.

3129 - Skye Arnopp

Raise priority of waste and recycling initiatives.

Please invest in local specialist recycling and waste recovery!!! It will pay dividends both in job creation and local industry, and even open new pathways to local manufacturing! Let's have less imported and more locally owned and operated.

313 - Isabell Booth

There could be a lot more done to recover waste & divert from landfill especially from building sites. I am next door to a residential new build. There is metal, wood waste, building products & packing cardboard that could be reused/recycled all dumped into one skip. Whynot ask the young people of our schools to put their brainpower into devising ways to make it easier for tradies & other landfill depositors to streamline their recyclable/reusable waste into streams of recovery. Its their future that is affected by what is decided today.

3240 - Sarah Brunton

I'd like investment into promoting reducing the amount of rubbish we produce. Therefore reducing the amount that goes to landfill. How can we create a circular economy whereby the the responsibility of disposing or recycling a product falls on the producer of the item? How can we empower our community to Refuse, Reduce, Reuse, Repurpose, Recycle? Can we promote fun facts on bus backs, bill boards etc? e.g. "Did you know the clean glass bottles you put in your recycling bin are made into aggregate for our roads?" Or "The plastic you put in your rubbish bin will still be here when your future grandchildren have their own children" Or "Every small change you make matters- thank you from kids of the future"

3283 - Elizabeth Clarke

Continue as now.

3363 - Brodie Marra-Stevenson

Stop shipping our recycling overseas. Let's start charging companies who sell/produce products that create waste in our city, coca-cola, foodstuffs etc. the cost it takes to recycle said product. Let's push upstream.

3366 - Robert Manthei

We need to continue to encourage recycling, reduced throw away, and a greater awareness of over-consumption (of everything from food to clothing). Education here is essential. The CCC should begin to pressure retailers to demand far less packaging on the goods they sell, and encourage consumers to leave packaging behind--at the point of purchase. That would make the problem the retailers' and they would quickly pass on their concerns to manufacturers.

3375 - Sarah Hadley

Encourage composting and make recycling easy

338 - Jennifer Riley

I think the city also needs to take the lead in removing large items by offering large organics pickup, hazardous materials pickup and appliance pickup to keep our community safe and compliant to environmental regulations.

3380 - Victoria Lukiyanyuk

Closing of the landfill is a smart move forward.

3411 - Marian Krogh (Protect Our Winters NZ)

Waste reduction is a low hanging fruit. POW recommends the council implement policies to reduce both commercial and household waste by enforcing separation of organic waste and imposing bans on single use items. The CCC needs to consider how its waste management practices impact different communities, for example, the Bromley transfer station and Organics Processing Plant are near low income and marginalised communities

3415 - Allan Taunt

There needs to be more pressure manufacturers and consumers to reduce waste. Recommend more education campaigns with incentives for the public and dialogue with central government to encourage implementation of a nationwide strategy to reduce waste.

3423 - James Upton

A live-able city objective should encourage close to home recycling (e.g, compost bins) and a city wide drive to encourage recyclable packaging

3453 - Zeta Pringle

Waste management is always a cost rate payer pay for a proportion of the cost . Education is the best way to avoid additional cost for disposal of potent recycling going to rubbish. More could be done on this space more recycling would be desirable and more green waste composting too.

3479 - Rhys Glenjarman

Resources should ideally be recoverable where possible. This is a significant task that will require funding and dedication, but more and more citizens are concerned with environmental impact and want a good future for themselves and their children. Many will be happy to pay slightly more to realise that future.

3483 - Jo Bethell

I encourage a focus on waste minimisation initiatives - and ensuring that contamination of recycling collected is minimised to ensure the materials are recycled - as spart of the solid waste and resource recovery.

3490 - Peter Minten

I am missing certain proposed action point or initiatives on Reducing waste! I believe the council has a certain role in educating us to reduce waste. An option the council could do is making people “user pay” for the amount of waste like what happens in most of the EU countries.

3497 - Cerys Fletcher

Landfill waste must be minimised as much as possible. Our city produces a staggering amount of waste; to minimise this, organic waste should not be approved to be sent to landfill, where it produces CO2 emissions as it breaks down. Organic waste can be converted into resources like compost and mulch, something which could be used in places like the Ōtautahi Red Zone to help regenerate and rewild it. Similarly, better education is needed in regards to sorting of waste materials into Yellow, Red, and Green wheelie bins. Recent changes in bin categories for things like certain numbers of plastic container, newspapers, pizza boxes, and teabags have caused confusion and no doubt resulted in contaminated/incorrectly sorted wheelie bins and waste disposal trucks. Funding should therefore be allocated towards ensuring the public are aware of recycling/waste sorting practices, and promoting ways for them to reduce or repurpose their waste.

350 - Chris Hoopmann

Campaigns to reduce landfill and encourage recycling and composting.

3501 - Malcolm Long (Ōpāwaho Heathcote River Network)

12. The Community Waterways Partnership is currently funding a trial of wheelie bin latches as a means to reducing litter from high winds affecting red and yellow bins awaiting collection. Although the trial will not be completed until August this year, it is already obvious that there is enthusiasm amid residents for such latches to be made available for those who wish to use them.

- 12.1. We request that $50,000 be made available each year 2025 - 2028 for a supply of wheelie bin latches to be available on request from Council Service Centres.

3586 - Rachel Geddis

Id love to see more of our waste repurposed for use around the city.

3598 - Kyle Sutherland

Fines should be introduced for those who continually do not correctly engage with our waste and recycling system, therefore costing ratepayers far more than citizens who do recycle, use green bins correctly. This will help reduce costs and increase compliance.

3601 - Bridget Allen

there needs to be further education on how to reduce waste in going into the landfills.

3614 - Lin Roberts

We value the collection service for waste and organic and inorganic recyclable materials. As national standardisation of what can be recycled is rolled out, I look for increased/improved communication on what can go in the yellow and green bins, alongside information on what other options there are. E.g. a number of recent articles have quoted council spokespeople saying that soft plastics cannot be recycled, meaning they cannot go in the council yellow bin, but failing to mention that they can be recycled via collection bins at New World, The Warehouse, and Countdown. There are also outlets for many other smaller waste streams (eg wine bottle lids, aluminium can tabs, batteries, plastic lids) – I have slowly identified places to dispose of almost all our waste items, but it would be really helpful if CCC published a simple guide and kept it regularly updated (e.g. on their website). Our household produces very little red bin waste. One of the bulkiest items in our red bin is plastic netting which had been used by CCC contractors to protect seedlings on the Port Hills. As a biodiversity volunteer, my husband's team weeds and maintains these plantings, and frequently the netting is disintegrating and needs to be replaced. Use of more sustainable plant protection barriers would cut out this waste stream.

Maybe a bigger spend on waste recovery?

Paramount that we get this right for our environment and for our residents

Greater clarity on this, but also helping consumers make better decisions in this area is imperative

Minimizing Landfill Waste: With a significant amount of waste being sent to landfill each year, it's crucial to focus on minimizing this impact. Approving the sending of organic waste to landfill should be avoided whenever possible, as organic waste can be composted or converted into valuable resources.(i.e Christchurch Red Zone could do with compost and mulch to help the fruits trees) Improved Waste Management Practices: There is a need for better monitoring and regulation of waste companies, especially concerning unacceptable practices such as those exhibited by Wasteco. Strengthening oversight and enforcement mechanisms can ensure that waste management practices align with environmental and community standards. Construction Waste Sorting: Construction waste represents a substantial portion of landfill waste. Implementing measures to sort and divert construction waste for recycling or repurposing can significantly reduce the volume of waste sent to landfill. Microplastic Monitoring: Microplastic pollution poses a significant threat to waterways and ecosystems. Better monitoring and management strategies are needed to prevent microplastics from entering waterways and mitigate their environmental impact. Encouraging Responsible Waste Disposal: Making general waste disposal more expensive can incentivize individuals and businesses to reduce waste generation and prioritize recycling and composting. Additionally, providing financial support to local groups and communities to manage organic waste and educate the population on proper waste management practices can help foster a culture of sustainability. Investing in Education and Infrastructure: Funding should be allocated towards educating the public on recycling practices and promoting waste reduction initiatives.

3623 - Jessica Adams

This should be an area where the Council spends effectively and develops innovative ways to manage waste. There should be incentives for residents who manage waste and recycling well. If residents are doing the Council work eg keeping streets clean, mowing berms etc then there should be access to larger green bins on the same basis as the Yellow and Red ie a one-off charge not an annual large charge.

3626 - Connie Christensen

We need to invest in future proof recovery, sorting and reuse solutions. This is a must and should be done on a regional/national scale!

3627 - Patrick O'Kane

While we would like to reduce rubbish to landfill, I think offering the larger red bin for a fee will assist a lot of households and generate a small amount of income. Presently a large number of residents and businesses are simply using third party waste collection services instead meaning rubbish is going to landfill regardless and the council is losing out on extra revenue they could be collecting as part of the normal day to day collections.

3634 - Peter Cooper

Get these services back in house and run efficiently. Being ripped off at the moment. All the rubbish going to Kate Valley should be going by rail, cheaper and better for the environment.

3636 - Kay Robertson

Can we please have wheelie bin latches like other cities have? On windy days, particularly with the plastic recycling bins, the plastics can get blown away before they get in the truck. A good portion of that rubbish ends up in the rivers, estuary, beaches and ocean. It would keep our street cleaner as well.

3648 - Yvonne Russell

People should be looking at their own waste and recycling behaviour . Take away meals and online shopping is making a lot of the waste , these things are wrapped or boxed for delivery and then become unwanted waste . Maybe give a discount in rates to those who opt for once a month rubbish collection instead of twice as happens now .

Increase the cost of waste disposal to encourage individuals and businesses to reduce waste production and focus on recycling and composting. Additionally, offer financial assistance to local groups and communities for managing organic waste. 3787 - Deb Donnell

With the recent changes to solid waste and resource recovery, I've given up trying to sort what little can now be put in the green or yellow bins, and most goes in the red bin. No doubt you'll get your inspectors to come and audit my bins - which is another financially wasteful exercise. Any improvement you can make in this area, without wasting money, will be good. Just don't throw money away on unnecessary middle and upper management and consultants.

3798 - M-Webb User

Waste minimisation and resource efficiency needs to be the norm across all sectors of business. More effort to divert waste from landfill too.

I would encourage the council to consider policies that disincentivise the creation of commercial and residential waste like stricter bans on plastics and single-use items such as takeaway cups.

The processing of green waste for composting and soil remediation should be a priority to improve our sustainability.

Need to ensure recycling is managed properly and not just shuffling the problem to others.

3846 - Rebecca Finch

Dumps are huge methane emitters so we need to devise a way to reduce and stop this form of ghg emissions. I think a campaign to help people to stop buying plastic's and to home compost or reduce rubbish. I think we could redcue the size of the red bins to small for all households.

385 - Francesca Brown

Looks fine - got to do this. One thing I would say is I was very disappointed with the recent article in the Star newspaper - that is taking a punitive approach to people leaving waste on the street. It looked like a very narrow view of "people who dump rubbish are bad" - lets get CCTV cameras and the police involved. What I would like to see here and more off elsewhere is a systems thinking approach to investigating problems and solutions - I feel like we could come up with a much more cost effective solution to this aspect of waste by doing this. If systems thinking is not something the council is familiar with I suggest getting some training in using this technique. It will change your outlook on complex problems like people dumping waste and encourage solutions that are much ore community focussed and have better outcomes.

3852 - Chris Coey

More work needs to be done to recycle other items like tin lids (could be extracted from recycled material using a large magnet) and finding ways to recover more plastic items before these items breakdown into the soil and contaminate the water supply.

3865 - Maxine Donovan

Difficult to keep up with what can or cant be recyclable, but definitely would want to see less going in red bin. Perhaps areas in shopping centres say whereby you can taje your tops of containers like Richmond Garden and Climate Action Campus have going. Bigger Green bins would be good and not be an extra charge. Having to take extra greenery to dump is expensive.

3877 - Hilary Quayle

I read on newswire about the huge cost to ccc for collecting rubbish from berms. More could be done to educate/prosecute people who do this. I think the assumption of many is if you have things you no longer want put it out on the street and ccc will collect it. Wheres the incentive to do the right thing and use the ecodrops?

758 - Annabel Inglis

But only if do a red bin collection every week if we miss one it's a whole month between collections. Once a fortnight its not enough.

Recycling is still in infancy and more effort required. Less public bins but more public education about people taking rubbish home.

What I'm hearing all waste is going to a hole in ground. Are all plastics being recycled and are they sitting in the plants collecting dust as we can't get rid of them. 1490 - Carolina Nery

Another critical area that requires proper allocation of funds is waste management, which is currently inadequate. Asking people to support investments they can't visibly see in action is unreasonable. I have friends working in various sectors of this city, so I'm aware of the situation.

153 - Lindsay Strang

Can't get away from it. RR seems to be efficient.

1533 - Mark George

Needed to reduce the long term footprint of our being here. As you encourage the use of battery powered vehicles what are your plans for dealing with the waste materials given their much shorter lifespan?

1620 - Daisy Sinnadurai

1711 - Eluishia Hart

We pay rates and often our bins get accidentally missed and then we have to pay to dump it. Not good enough organics composting and soft plastics recycling are key components of this.

1785 - Rosaria Ferguson

1816 - Sarah Cook

I have a big issue especially with recycling and did contact the CCC to discuss this and was disappointed with my very late reply it basically said read the website and did not answer my questions. So as I said before I feel Christchurch is now gone backwards with recycling so not sure money is well spent here.

[Three Waters > Taumata Arowai Requirements], [Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?]

Lianne Dalziels legacy is chlorine in our drinking water and years of stench from refuse and compost. This plans appears to improve on that BUT it is up to individual councillors and ccc staff to execute the plan through actions and decisions that are best for the majority of ratepayers and the long term wellbeing of the region. This means ignoring the lobbying from liquor sellers, polluters, and those proposing sale of our strategic assets.

2585 - Susan Macann

I think you underestimate the spending on waste and resource recovery, we're increasing our consumption of everything and that will generate more waste.

2761 - Annette and Michael Hamblett

The Council has to deal with the city's solid waste but the amount we send to landfill is very concerning. We wonder what the Council is investing to reduce what goes to landfill. In the 1990s the mantra from the Council was "zero waste by 2020". We're now 4 years past that.

2867 - Elyse Middleton

Focus should extend out to correcting damaged environments eg fire damaged port hills

2957 - Lisa Keen

A serious look at recycling needs to happen!! Farr too much is thrown into landfill when upgrading our centres will help to recycle more waste than currently

307 - Rata Jamieson

The CCC should consider how waste management impacts low income and marginalised communities. The organics processing plant is in Bromley - which directly impacts those communities. This is an example of environmental racism which CCC needs to consider.

3123 - Kate Markman

Moving towards a circular economy will be key, I hope this fits in here

314 - Vaughan Kirkland

This works well as is.

3222 - Mark Rayner

The costs involved to take land fill items out of the city. The cost to the public to dump at transfer station encourages pump to dump illegally. The curb side service is as good as anywhere else in NZ.

3234 - Rhys Pryde-Wall

Is there proper auditing on what actually happens with recycling? I know I asked a while back about what happens with plastic recycling and was essentially informed "we don't really know once it goes on a boat" We make a conscious effort to reduce rubbish in the red bin, however when we asked for a smaller bin we were told we would let have any cost saving- people should be rewarded for reducing waste going to landfill

325 - Kathleen Clinton

Concerned with battery disposal (lithium) or lack thereof of suitable planning around

326 - Greg Dodds

Important – no reduction in spending on these.

3292 - Gabrielle Heath

Why are rubbish collections not done early in the morning before vehicles and cyclists are also using the roads?

338 - Jennifer Riley

What exactly is 'resource recovery'? You need to make this clearer.

340 - David Wilkinson

Does eco central need to be publicly owned?

3425 - Hugh Dacre

We need to do a better job on recycling. The limitations on what can be recycled are embarrassing when compared to other countries.

3435 - Alex Cornford

there is nowhere free to deposit large recyclable materials etc.

3466 - Mark Stapleton

Encourage and enforce waste disposal and recycling

358 - Tamara Dauvergne

Appalling what happened in Bexley

3581 - Steven Barbour

I am constantly disappointed by work in this area. The new national standard for kerbside recovery means we are recycling even less than before. There seems to be no ambition to improve that situation. Also, charging users to recycle is incredibly lacking in an understanding of what humans will and will not do - you are just creating a generation of fly-tippers.

3582 - Cody Cooper

Introduce an annual day where residents place goods on the road side encouraging diversion from landfill by re/upcycling then collect anything left over. This will discourage unauthorised dumping and reduce waste overall. Start enforcing littering penalties.

3585 - Rachel Fulton

Council should enforce the separation and collection of organic waste. Keeping this out of landfill is easy, and will reduce GHG emissions.

3599 - Hayley Guglietta

I have given up on even commenting on this topic anything the community suggests is ignored so we will probably just continue beavering away to reduce waste, educate and provide community based solutions while you waste time, money and increase emissions.

3615 - Janine Clarke

Waste Removal - again there are obvious public health needs for this to be to a high specification with due consideration made to recycling where that is appropriate

3671 - Linda Nicolson

I didn't read this in depth

3743 - Ben Ellis

Improvements to recycling and organics processing to reduce the quantity sent to landfill would be great. The current program / team seem to be doing their best there.

375 - Alex McNeill

Very important to have sound recycling systems in place for those items which make sense to recycle. Dealing with waste is a necessary evil; keep it from contaminating more land than it has to.

3825 - Justin Barton

3850 - Stephanie Remington

This needs attention, we are sending way too much to landfill.

3852 - Chris Coey

4027 - Rona Buttimore

Bromley issues should have been sorted by now.

4032 - Paul Dietsche

Greater focus on recycling

458 - Christine Cockle

We need to get honest about recycling. Wasting 3 litres of water to wash an oj bottle or a tomato can for recycling is simply virtue signalling. The water is far more precious than any value (if any) in council recycling so it would make more sense to opt for re-useable containers. Add to that that people are employed to inspect yellow bins for transgressions and punish you by refusing to empty your bin. It's hard to see how this could be effective. Easier to chuck everything in the red bin and not risk censure. Gathering the green waste to sell is a winner.

459 - Aaron Watson

There is no urgent issues here

526 - Stephen French

I continue to be impressed with the current measures to deal with waste and recycling. Unfortunately, some people do not differentiate their waste and a change of requirements has contributed to the problem. Please bring back disposing of glass with separate clear, brown and green so that better recycling can occur.

529 - Don Reekie (Parkstone Musical Appreciation Group)

The disposal of red waste and generation of power is a successful achievement and good practice.

533 - Judith Livingstone

As the city becomes more populated we must encourage business to repair this throw away society is hopeless for the future

I would really like to see New Zealand become a leader in waste and resource recovery. we have a few great examples around the country from wanaka waste busters, raglan extreme zero waste and many others. We are a large city with a lot of waste streams and we have some great actors such as eco drop and eco shop, creative junk and living earth but in order to properly take care of our own waste we need more. If we were to limit the materials coming into this country to ones that are bio degradable and truly recyclable (and financially profitable) we could create jobs around the processing and separating of the two valuable materials. right now it seems most of the energy is in separating landfill destined materials from recyclable materials. this is so inefficient and should be redesigned. you know what needs to be done. I'm not an expert but I'm a resident that is getting really frustrated with the lack of inniative in doing what needs to be done. our red bins are getting fatter and fatter and we cant go on burying our problems.. Beyond that I and many of my community show a lot of interest in buying second hand and using second hand materials to retrofit our houses. I would love if finding the right materials was easier.

[Spending > Capital Programme (General)], [Three Waters > Water Supply (Capital)], [Three Waters > Waste Water (Capital)], [Transport > Public transport Infrastructure (Capital)]

Drinking, Storm, and Waste water, sustainable public transport, and Waste and Recycling services all need significant attention and innovation if they are going to be future proofed. The city council need to get the basics right and do them well before embarking on big projects.

[Other/ Special Interest Topics > Creating a Climate Adaption Fund], [Resource Recovery > Otautahi Christchurch Regional Organics Processing Facility], [Spending > Te Kaha]

Most of the program is good but there a couple of glaring issues. Firstly our solid waste and resource recovery needs a massive overhaul. Frankly it's not good enough and needs to be a much higher priority. We also need much better solutions for recycling - locally and for a wider range of material.

I also think we need to look to what is happening internationally with recycling, and aim as a city to have a world class local recycling scheme. We should have a day or two each year where large rubbish (e.g broken furniture, mattress, sports equipment) get collected from the roadside. I am aware of schemes like this overseas, and know it helps mitigate roadside dumping especially in areas of high deprivation where people have no way of transporting these items to the dump.

Not sure why we will be spending as much on recreation and sport as we do on Solid waste & recovery (712m vs 768). The latter is a far more pressing issue for Chch and every other community.

3372 - Jenny Bond (Te Tuna Tāone)

This is critical as pollution into our waterbodies comes from waste, recycling and organic material not being properly disposed of.

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > City Planning], [Resource Recovery > Ōtautahi Christchurch Regional Organics Processing Facility]

I urge the CCC to consider how its waste management practices impact different communities. Waste management processes are often intertwined with environmental racism (for example, the Bromley transfer station and Organics Processing Plant in Bromley is near low income and marginalised communities). I also encourage the CCC to implement policies that reduce commercial and household waste (e.g., stricter bans on plastics and single-use items such as takeaway cups).

$64m on recycling stations is excessive. Has Council considered how much rubbish that is placed in the recycling bins ACTUALLY get recycled? The reality is that most of it does not get recycled due to contamination... Do not spend any money on new projects. Delay them until the city is in a better financial position.

Can you please actually recycle things. It seems to me all you are able to recycle is paper and hard plastics.. Upgrade the recycling centres. I'm pretty sure we can recycle 80% of our waste. We should allocate more resources towards making the producers of waste accountable. Industries that generate waste should face higher taxes to address the environmental issues they contribute to.

1737 - Tim O'Sullivan

Recycling should be abandoned if the cost of the recycled material is more than the cost of new material. A cost is an indicator of the price of resources input into the production of the recycled items. If the cost of recycled items is more than the cost of new items then there is a waste of resources involved in the production of the recycled items.

1771 - Jimmy Hua (Cantebery Court Motel)

Since the whole country is poor at recycling, why does the CCC not invest in a plant that that is a closed cycle and produces energy? Is done elsewhere; we have two universities that are local that can provide additional Kiwi ingenuity. 2733 - Georgia Macaulay

More money on waste and refuse, lets find a way to stop us from just burying everything in the ground.

2835 - Emma Rodriguez Dos Santos

I worry that we're spending high amounts on this operationally and that it is not scrutinized appropriately and enabling non-NZ businesses to profit from its delivery. The capital spend of 2% seems possibly not enough for developing the future new site at Hornby to replace Bromley and this should be an area for growth, not being done 'on the cheap'.

2971 - Nikita Todd

No, climate change is going to require more adaptation/mitigation and spending should start sooner (later start is stated in the Vol 2 page 6, 36 etc). Expectations of timing of impacts are presented in a way that pushes out need for change rather than giving lower impacts that will occur soon.

The current plan makes it difficult to track exactly how much is being allocated to climate change as the budget figures tend to include climate related spending in with other spending on relevant areas such as transport, waste water management, flood preparedness, and so on.

Coastal retreat and active transport are the most transparent areas but active transport receives less funding than needed and delivers on safety and affordability for many ratepayers. Active transport spending is a cheaper way to manage and avoid impacts than building or roading upgrades to meet more challenging conditions such as hazard impacts from climate change.

Waste management infrastructure may require new responses but there is little detail on this making it difficult to comment.

Creation of wetlands is positive, but may be linked to greenfields urban development which also create more emissions than infill housing within the existing city footprint.

Acting sooner will always be cheaper in the long run than responding at the last minute and gives better intergenerational equity.

The development of the organics processing facility at Hornby is supported but only if the liquid portion is appropriately managed in terms of moisture, nutrients and emissions.

The development of the organics processing facility at Hornby is supported but only if the liquid portion is appropriately managed. The current proposal to regularly truck the liquid for up to 25km to dispose of it on farmland is questioned. Disposal on to class 1 soils that typically do not require irrigation for several months of the year is potentially problematic in terms of excess moisture and nutrients seasonally. As an intended long-term management solution, movement of the liquid by truck is questioned. Piping to a productive constructed wetland in a contained area might be more appropriate.

General Comments

184 submissions were received addressing parks maintenance.

53 comments supported, and 13 comments opposed.

85 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 37 comments provided general feedback addressing parks maintenance.

Officer Response

Submissions supporting LTP proposal to retain current levels of funding:

Responses mostly supported the proposed levels of maintenance in parks due to their belief in the importance of parks for the city. Several responses praised the work of parks staff and the standard of maintenance.

Submissions wanting a higher level of funding for parks maintenance than proposed in the draft LTP:

A number of submitters suggested a higher standard of maintenance, arguing that the current level is not enough. Themes in this area included:

- Perceived neglect of particular areas
- Too much planting of grasses
- Perceived issues with various carparks
- More emphasis needed on native regeneration
- More rubbish bins

Submissions wanting a lower spend on parks maintenance than proposed in the draft LTP:

Some submitters wanted to see less maintenance in parks in order to reduce costs more generally. To achieve this, they had a number of suggestions:

- Avoid engaging in major new capital projects
- Involve the community in planting days
- Stop mowing the Red Zone
- Stop using contractors
- Plant low maintenance plants

Park staff have already explored a range of options for reducing costs as part of the LTP. However, reducing parks maintenance would not be welcomed by a large number of residents as well-maintained parks are highly valued.

All the suggestions made by the respondents are already in place, as detailed below.

Specifically:

- The capital project plan has been carefully reviewed and proposed to be spread over a larger number of years
- Council Community Partnership Rangers look for opportunities to partner with local residents to enhance their parks spaces wherever possible.
- The Red Zone is planting around 50000 native plants per year and reducing our mowing areas/costs.
- A decision was taken in 2023 to bring the parks maintenance in-house to reduce use of contractors.
- New landscape specific project managers have been employed to renew gardens with the most appropriate plant species, including low maintenance varieties.

The wildflower fields and long grass trials along rivers were a step in the right direction for me. I would also like to see more big forest trees planted in appropriate places (retention basins, reserves along motorways, drainage spaces eg around Wigram. And i would like to see shady deciduous broad canopy trees planted alongside footpaths in new parks and reserves. Natives are wonderful, and the more the better, but their growth habit is not particularly umbrella like. Reserves like Sparks Rd Wetlands and Te Kuru Wetlands are wonderful developments but very hot and exposed to walk in, in fine weather and during the summer. The odd big shady tree along the paths would be wonderful.

[Parks>Other]

The Council plays an important role in maintenance and welfare of many parks and reserves in Christchurch and Banks Peninsula. I believe this must be continued, and adequate funding needs to be put in to our environmental projects and welfare of Te Taiao.

Parks and maintenance need more funding. Christchurch used to be the Garden City. At some point we need to focus on maintaining our recreational spaces.

If adequate ongoing internal resourcing for Council to meet their obligations to control these threats on Council land is not available, incursion of plant pests will potentially undermine the investment CCC (and many others) have already made in achieving biodiversity gains over many years.

1654 - Jane Ross

There is too much wilderness gardening. It is messy and harbours rats. Good nectar producing plants for bees such as hebes are ripped out and replaced with grasses. Grasses have their place but they sure can burn as on the Port Hills. They also harbour exotic weeds which reseed onto residents properties.

Comments: The maintenance of parks, heritage could be reduced.

2898 - Jack Allan

I have some reservations about taking the maintenance of Parks and Reserves back under Council control. I don't believe that will reduce costs or result in operational efficiencies - quite the contrary. Contracting out increases competitive pricing and private operators are generally (need to be!) more efficient.

542 - David Miller

[Parks > Biodiversity & Ecological Restoration]

The discussion document about spending proposed on the coastal environment doesn't mention maintenance of the CCC-owned land around Banks Peninsula, including CCC's responsibility to control spread of weed pests that could become a serious problem in coming years.

746 - Lara Flavell

Its been highlighted mowing the redzone lawns is a wasteful cost > lease the land out for moveable tiny homes or to farmers etc. It may be a small cost but all the wasteful spending adds up.

Engage the local communities with rates rebates when they chip in to improve the parks , heritage and coast lines. Admit to the public that you cannot maintain all of the parks to a high standard and engage the thousands of retired gardeners who would like a break on the massive rate bills that will force them out of their homes.

1221 - Lynette Sessa

Happy with the parks however not happy with the fact that so many rubbish bins have been removed from parks . Especially dog parks, they should have a few bins and no one wants to walk a fair distance to find a bin and I am horrified to see that many people just leave their dog poo bags lying around the forest. If you placed more bins they would be used.

[Parks > Foreshore], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Coastal hazards adaptation & adaptation planning]

Coastal environments serve as our primary shield against the ravages of storms and floods. Beyond their protective role, these habitats are essential for fostering recreation and supporting vibrant tourism industries.

Parks, as quintessential green spaces, serve as hubs for community connection and leisure activities. It is imperative that we allocate funds judiciously, prioritizing investments in initiatives that nurture the health and resilience of our coastal ecosystems.

Any expenditure on recreational pursuits that degrade the environment, such as golf, must be adamantly opposed. Our focus should be unwaveringly directed towards safeguarding and enhancing the ecological integrity of our coastal areas for the benefit of present and future generations.

2396 - Sam Jenkins

Christchurch is known for its parks, and many of them are looked after but only in a business as usual state - other than footpath renewal around Hagley park, it seems more should be spent on preserving and encouraging use of our parks and natural environment.

Need to keep better care of them. Not cared for appropriately eg rubbish, gardening

2615 - Virginia Wright

I would not like to see Chch removing dozens of rubbish bins from public places as Auckland City Council are in the process of doing. Keep our streets clean,

268 - Kathryn McNeil

I love our parks and beaches and respect the work done to keep them looking great. Could costs be constrained by involving communities more in their upkeep - thousands of people are planting trees in the former red zone areas, would they do the same for their local park? (I would if I knew it would help keep rates increases down.)

2835 - Emma Rodriguez Dos Santos

This should be increased in proportion of operational spend budget and maintained at reasonable rates for capital spend. A lot of volunteer hours go into plantings and helping rangers maintain coastal areas and CCC could not manage without their input and they are under-valued by the top bosses. The parks are a precious resource and can appear a bit tired, which can lead to communities feeling dis-invested in. >>> [Parks > South New Brighton & Southshore Estuary Edge]

I would really like to have skilled people working on our parks and waterways as many plantings get destroyed by mowers running them over whipper snipping them. It would be great to have people who loved nature. Many thanks to the council for acting so quickly to pick up rubbish dumped around sensitive areas. Rubbish dumping by rivers and gutters is getting worse. Our waterways are getting degraded. Thanks to the council for helping rescue fish and eels/tuna this year on Opawaho when they got caught in the weed cutter. Could we have a flexible system so you dont waste money paying contractors mow grounds when they dont need to. I do not approve of money going into herbicides like Round Up. Can we please protect our biodiversity as the impact on bees is well known . Investing in native plantings and community groups working in parks and rivers has helped erosion and bringing more birdlife. Pest Control is needed. Cat curfews too.

I would like to see our beaches and estuaries being patrolled more with broader restrictions on dogs in sensitive areas. Too many dogs on beaches now sadly and I am a dog lover but I think our wildlife needs better protection from dogs and cats. So, more park Rangers. More council workers collecting rubbish from the beaches, rivers and estuary.

Enclosed rubbish bins near any waterway, beach or wetlands

We need to reduce our waste. We could do with a reduce littering campaign or programme to reduce littering and dumping near rivers, wetlands and beaches Limit Takeaway outlets as MacDonald's waste is regularly found in gutters near me eg Woolson and Linwood both were permitted MacDonalds. Covered rubbish bins only. Remove open bins specially near rivers and beaches. In sensitive areas and holiday times more frequent clearing of rubbish, especially Sumner and New Brighton.

Review contractors in parks and reserves and poor quality of the workers doing the mowing and weedeating. They need to be able to identify native plants.

Review the use of Roundup.

For the parks, I would like to see investment and improvement to the Washington Way Skatepark. This includes purpose sports lights, upgrades to make it national / international standard. Skateboarding is now an Olympic sport and Christchurch has many up and coming skateboarders especially young women (12-20) how are travelling nationally and competing, however, Christchurch does not have all the facilities. Repurpose some of the land at Washington way near the main bowl and install a vert ramp (say, 3.3-3.6 m high 18 m wide). This could then be used for NZ Nationals and bring in skaters from across NZ and Australia and their families and the contributions to the local economy. The main bowl, cut the vert walls near the big cradle from 0.9 m to 0.45m and put pool coping on it to improve the bowls overall function. A vert ramp could also be installed at Bromley (Cypress Gardens). Wycola and Linwood would be a good location to create a new Park style configuration (similar to Gisborne / international style).

it is currently council policy to leave invasive species (hedera helix/english ivy being the worst, but also privet growing in rosebushes is not taken out) in public council gardens because they 'look good'. This creates a massive annoyance for people living around said gardens because the weed seeds get into our gardens. It is also a terrible practice because soon the entire city will just be covered in invasive species as it is company policy to ignore certain weeds, or just trim/tidy the edges of them and treat them as 'part of the garden', rather than the invasive weedy species that they are. I would rather we keep our name and reputation as the garden city, rather than a terrible future as the ivy city. Please change your policy so that your contractors must control the weeds, or fail their audits when they do not.

Clear rubbish bins and put in at least one bin at the parks.

3827 - Ken Morison

[Parks > Parks Maintenance]

I'd like you to think much more about Banks Peninsula and not just CCC owned reserves as part of our heritage.

You need to enable private land owners who are making the Peninsula a better place through native regeneration, weed control (e.g., wilding pines, spur valerian, pig's ear, gorse, barberry, elderberry, sycamore) and pest control.

The Parks and Foreshore section implicitly concentrates on the old smaller Chch city boundaries while ignoring the wonderful Peninsula asset.

I am especially concerned that the CCC does not yet seem to be using the Resource Management (National Environmental Standards for Commercial Forestry) Amendment Regulations 2023 to control pine planting on Banks Peninsula (BP) for carbon credits. It is just so wrong to plant pines on BP when the area is so much better suited to native plants. The Port Hills fires have proved this twice. While pine planting is not illegal the CCC must develop a visual for a natural BP. One day we will have the wonderful BP National Park. The CCC can use these regulations to restrict pine planting.

3834 - Matt Stewart

[Spending > Our Proposed Spending]

Operational spending should be prioritized, especially park up keep. If CCC is already struggling with tree maintenance, and CCC is proposing to significantly increase the trees in the parks, are our parks going to turn into unmaintained forests?

3925 - Douglas Horrell (Packer St Park and Community Garden)

Packer Street Park and Community Garden submission to CCC Plan

Since 1996, Packer Reserve at 125 -129 Packer Street, Edgewater has been cared for jointly by CCC and Packer Street Park and Community Garden Inc under the old "Adopt-a-park" scheme. Ours is the oldest community garden to occupy a Christchurch City Council Reserve. It has been in existence for 28 years.

Since the 2012 earthquakes several of the big trees in the park have died or are dying and a complete review of the plantings needs to be done with view to managing and where appropriate replacing dead and dying trees.

We would like CCC to do this review with us and to draw up a plan for the removal of the dead and dying trees and for their replacement in due course.

Over the years the Packer Street Park and Community Garden has served our neighbourhood well. This Christmas, together with the St Albans Choir, we'll celebrate our 28th Carols in Packer St Park. Every week we hold two working bees – an opportunity to knit in new local people, share gardening skills and hospitality. Throughout the year we hold composting workshops and other activities to promote sustainable living and upskill residents.

Thank you for considering our submission to the Long Term Plan.

Comments: Levels of service need attention. There are too many issues not attended to early enough leaving them to "snowball" and become huge jobs - weeding, vandalism, broken assets. Bench seats are often covered in lichen and need repainting. The icon of Christchurch - "the Pier" looks great from a distance but is a bit shabby when tourists take a closer look.

- Coastal issues - maintenance of beach access ways and dune control needs more regular work. The consented manmade dunes in front of He Puna Taimoana, the foreshore playground & ramp need to be lowered to comply with consent, stop sand blowing over fences, and to keep sight lines open. Where else can you drive up and see the surf!!

4017 - Angela Nicholls

Fine dog owners who don't have their dogs on lead in parks or put up bigger signs to make them more aware. You could collect a bit of income from fines.

4033 - Juliana Venning

[Three Waters > Three Waters (Operations)]

An example of getting it wrong is failing to maintain both clean waterways and Parks as clean and safe amenities. In the latter case contracting out rubbish collection/bin clearance results in no service in weekends when typically there's the greatest numbers of persons utilising Parks for recreation, sports games, dog walking, family time. Residents are left cleaning up glass, drug utensils, condoms, waste and getting 'freedom campers' (long term nuisance on Edward Avenue with old vans) to move on and to take their rubbish, seems not feasible from CCC point of view. Cease using glyphosate in all areas for the good of bees, birds, children, dogs, people. Also stop allowing astroturf to be used to replace natural landscaping as it is toxic and a danger to children and animals. We have only around 13% tree cover, Wellington has about five times that, we need to stop consenting builds that do not replace destroyed established trees with concrete and astro turf wastelands.

I live nearby the Avon river but lack of maintenance and planting of flaxes etc. are making it more difficult to access. I have always driven the "long way" so that I can enjoy this, but this and removing the adjacent roads are making this impossible. The way to gain support for maintaining our natural assets is to make them easily accessible. This is also true regarding access to the city. The reason why shopping malls are so successful is that their owners know how important access is so they supply huge, free, car parks

492 - Lyndon Telfer

No problems with spending money on maintaining parks but no to expensive upgrades.

631 - Cynthia Roberts

[Parks > Biological & Ecological Restoration]

Support funding proposals for Parks and Foreshore. Your summary on p32 lists the built/infrastructure aspects, particularly for sporting and recreational needs, which is important. However, more emphasis needs to be put on protecting what remains of our native bush remnants, particularly on Banks Peninsula. The work of rangers, in managing the impact of smothering pest plants (old man's beard, boneseed, banana passionfruit, pigs ear), and animals (goat, pigs, deer still decimating large tracts of regenerating bush) and supporting community groups in new plantings, fencing, stock control, maintaining walking tracks the work is enormous. Greening the city and Banks Peninsula mitigates the affects of climate change, sediment flow into streams, harbours and estuaries and must be properly funded.

Grass:

There has been a little in the news lately (its not a new idea (6)) that grass should not be cut and let grow. Things a never that simple but there is definitely and opportunity.

The cost of cutting grass, particularly in the Spring is significant and it does have a significant carbon footprint related to the fuel burned.

I propose that where possible, grass should be replaced with shrubs and trees. The CCC is doing a magnificent job already with your planting programmes. Much more must be done though. The carbon absorption of shrubs and trees is many times that of grass with the additional benefit of significant carbon absorption in the soil. Sure, there will be a capital cost in the conversion but there will be ongoing savings. There will be a maintenance cost, but I will come to that later.

In addition to carbon capture, the additional vegetation will home important insect and bird life to add to our biodiversity.

Fundamentally, the planet must reverse the trend of cutting down trees and replacing them with crops.

Environment enhancement and maintenance:

There is a cost to the above with planning, growing seedlings, planting, weeding and pest control but the spend is very, very important. Unfortunately, there is a growing list of noxious weeds that must be controlled. From what I see around the city, the CCC is very good at this already, but significant additional resource will be required. This would be available from freed up resource from roading and infrastructure build plus by the use of volunteers.

[Fees and Charges > Car Parking (Parks)]

If you decide to charge for parking outside parks then maybe you should first spend money on making the parks more appealing? Why are parks such as Bishopdale Park having to be "adopted" by Cotswold Primary School to help keep up the maintenance? Parking outside parks should never be a revenue for council when it is one of the few things people can do these days that don't cost money.

[Strategic Direction > Additional Savings & efficiencies], [Grants & Funding > Events Ecosystem Funding], [Resource Recovery > Resource Recovery (Operations)], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)], [Libraries > Libraries (Operations)]

Value the most - major event funding, parks and foreshore. With rubbish and recycling, some portion of these costs should be user pays on their rubbish collection to save some of the costs allocated here. Losing the investment into creating more cycle lanes, and reducing the spend on libraries as these are not utilized or needed as they were prior to the hugely growing on-line resources which people can access for free.

[Parks > Parks Maintenance], [Strategic Direction > Additional Savings & Efficiencies]

From the outside it appears that services are delivered inefficiently. Too many managers and too few empowered to work properly. For example 3 staff taking an hour to mow a verge it would take 1 private person 20 minutes to do.

We need these and we need to look after them. Keep up the good work.

Christchurch's long standing nickname as the garden city is really a misnomer at this point given our parks are often in poor condition and without appropriate infrastructure in them.

Focus on regeneration

2338 - Robin Schulz (Coronation Reserve Residents Group)

Since its development the Council has spent over $500,000 between about 2008 and 2020 on "supposed" development of the reserve. Due to mis management the Reserve became more overgrown, fire hazard, vermin infested etc. The monies were totally wasted. This area pays some 300% greater rates than that average over Christchurch (CCC own base figures). To see that amount wasted is unacceptable. Over the last 2 years following residents lobbying, the Council has provided some $600,000 approx to complete the development (which should have been done when Council issued a Section 224 C certificate to the developers). With the current budgeted amount this will complete the project and allow the Reserves Dept to carry out much more affordable annual maintenance. We would like to express our thanks and appreciation to the Council for the funding provisions and in particular the staff directly involved, particular their consultation, much appreciated.

2407 - Dave Evans

Maintenance is too often missed or substandard. The department needs professional leadership, not managerial supervision.

3611 - Sharon Dowers

As has been shown on previous surveys the maintenance of city parks and gardens is important. Contracting out their care was a failed experiment. Those responsible have to be directly accountable and have a commitment to our city. This is an example of why it is hard to say whether the issue is all about cost or whether it is partly about poor decisions being made about management or existing budgets.

3821 - Peter Guy

423 - Linda MacIntyre

Care more for the public's sanity|exercise areas. Maintenance is generally a total no go. There will never be enough native planting anywhere, especially streamsides and foreshores.

All council services must communicate and work on the same issues together. Example in a park, reserve etc one group does all of the maintenance on the same day, why waste time and expense coming back numerous times?

Playgrounds & Play Equipment

General Comments

42 submissions were received addressing playgrounds and play equipment (e.g. courts, workout equipment etc.)

9 comments supported, and 1 comment opposed.

32 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 2 comments provided general feedback addressing playgrounds and play equipment.

Officer Response

Submission supporting the LTP and Capital Investment Programme:

Most submissions received were supportive of the long-Term Plan and Capital investment programme in play spaces. While few raised maintenance concerns and called for play space renewals. There were also requests and support for youth play projects that are already included in the LTP. Furthermore, some submissions requested like-for-like replacements of the existing equipment, meaning a need to accommodate bespoke facilities wherever possible. An example of this would be the Thompson Park fort.

There was one significant submission regarding an upgrade of the skate facilities at Washington Way to include a vert ramp to meet current skate needs, particularly competitive skaters.

Many submissions personalised their response to a specific playground, highlighting the need to distribute resources and attention evenly across all playgrounds throughout Ōtautahi Christchurch.

A common theme was accessibility. Few submissions advocated for the development of new recreational spaces, particularly with a focus on inclusivity and community input.

Submission opposing the LTP and Capital Investment Programme:

Minor number of submissions mentioned the budget was excessive.

For all playgrounds, renewals occur at the end of their life to ensure they are safe. The worst condition playgrounds are prioritised first. We are currently working on a Playground Network plan to help with the prioritisation and demand of play space renewals. The intent is for this plan to guide investment from the next annual plan onwards.

Upgrades occur occasionally to cater for growth and are usually funded by development contributions. To provide variety, we are looking to include some elements of nature play in our renewals.

Specific parks mentioned with projects underway or under investigation are Quarry View Park, Templeton Domain, Botanic Gardens, Hunter Terrace, Bromley (Cypress Gardens Reserve Skate Ramp Renewal), Rawhiti Domain and Linwood Park.

An upgrade to Washington Way Skatepark could be accommodated from programme level funding brought back from FY 28 (yr 4) $2.5m to upgrade the facility for competitive skaters.

Accessibility is considered in all new park developments and renewals in accordance with our Parks and Waterways Access Policy. It is not always possible to make a fully accessible playground, but we try to achieve access to the playground and have at least some fully accessible items.

3576 - Noeline Allan (Cass Bay Residents Association)

We request that the playground in Cass Bay is renewed and improved as scheduled in 2025/26 and is not pushed back again as happened in the last LTP. This playground is very heavily used not just by locals but also the many people who visit the local beaches, at least as much as the one in Corsair Bay. School groups, scouts clubs, community groups and birthday parties all come to our playground. Parts of the play equipment date back forty years and lack of maintenance means we no longer have bench seats and we have lost some play equipment to vandalism and wear and tear. Access pathways are missing and there is no shade. We would like a playground that is assessible to everyone, including those with sensory, physical and neurological challenges.

[Parks > Parks Paths & Walkways]

We ask that the CCC investigate an easement being created from Mariners Cove (above number 45) into the adjacent reserve so that the residents from the 45 house in that area can have a track down to the beach, as was intended when the subdivision was first approved so they don't have a much longer trip via the roads.

When you upgrade a playground please think about accessibility and talk to people like blind low vision nz and autism nz about simple design modifications that might help people with disabilities. It doesn't need to be fancy or cost a lot to be made more accessible.

1462 - Sue Piercey

It is great to have some novelty children's playground equipment in a park. Many of the parks fitted /refitted recently seem to have the same standard plastic equipment. Some of the swings are now so low it requires uncomfortable bending down to push the child. 2087 - Emma Norrish (Waipapa Papanui-Innes-Central Community Board)

Papanui Youth Facility: The Board has particularly prioritised a youth facility in the Papanui/Redwood area in its Board Plan. There appears to be a significant budget reduction proposed for developing new recreational spaces (project 61804) and play spaces (project 73999) in this area, though this may be owing to the construction budget being absorbed into the parent programme (61782). The Board asks that the Council offer assurance in its Long Term Plan that it is indeed planning for the long term trajectory of our wards and particularly this area of future development. The Council resolved in its LTP 2021-31 to specify the project (noted as a Papanui Skate Facility at that time) as a separate line item, and this should be reinstated in full to show the construction component of the budget in the line item as well. This will enable a youth audit to proceed with confidence and clarity that this will be a meaningful engagement with youth in the area, exploring what would truly improve the space, and will confirm there is budget to complete this project in the future.

2295 - Katja Charmley

Furthermore, I believe it's time to prioritise upgrades to Hagley Park, particularly enhancing the playground and updating the summer pool facilities. These improvements would not only benefit locals but also enhance Christchurch's appeal as a vibrant and family-friendly city.

[Parks>Parks Spending (General)]

Walter Park is one that comes to mind as somewhere investment should be made to encourage building and infrastructure in the surrounding streets. There are new homes going up in the this area that is close to town and major bus routes. To encourage further residents to this area improving the playground and park conditions will significantly increase the desire for people to live there rather than further out with more travel requirements.

Thompson park to be kept as a Larger playground for Families to enjoy NOT a smaller playground *ensure the Thompson Park playground is replaced like fir like. This means large wooden platforms that adults, teens & children can all run around on together. It means a large double slide tgat adults, teens & children can go down together. It does not mean counting the 'number' of structures and putting in an equal number of structures and calling it the same. I want this funded. The proposed new structure excludes adults and teenagers from play. I cannot believe it takes a petition from public to get CCC staff to talk to community board. The CCC processes are flawed. This thompson park playgtpond is used by schools, youth alive afterschool care, families, visitors and should be funded for a full rebuild eaxctly the way it is, with wooden large platforms, large slides, tunnels, climbing etc. *i know balancing funding of projects is difficult. But the East of Christchurch us still trying to get back where it was pre eartquakes.

3443 - Anita / Jasper Darnell / Van Der Meer (Queespark Community Trust)

In terms of the Parklands / Queenspark Youth Play Space Development, In your LTP regarding the Parklands/Queenspark area your budget indicates that there is only a limited amount of funding allocated to this area. According to your plan in the next 10 years there is only plans to have $20,000 to develop the Parklands / Queenspark Area, that is just not enough to help the area continue to develop and change. The area has two primary schools and two high schools. We have changing demographic in our area prior to the earthquakes our community was mainly made up of home owners, with a small rental population, now the area has a larger group of rental homes, more social housing and caters for a diverse range of families. There is a need for newer developed playgrounds, regular maintenance and and parks to be developed and changed to meet the needs of our growing community. The development of these areas will help our community to thrive. After the covid time, several community meetings were held at the Pukeko Centre to discuus the growing antisocial behaviour of young people in our community, as a result of these meetings some new initiatives were developed and a motivation to help young people in our community. For example the Parklands Youth Centre was developed and begun by the Queenspark Community Trust for young people. It is a space where young people can come and gather with adults and older young people who want to spend time with them and create a postive environment for them to hangout after school. This is run in the Parkview Lounge and uses the Parklands Reserve play ground and basketball court which is behind the Parklands Community Centre. While some maintenance has taken place on the paths and the Basketball court area, the playground is becoming more and more run down and neglected. Some parents belief parts of it aren't very well maintained and therefore do not encourage use of it. Its great that Basketball gets played behind the recreation centre a lot more now due to the presence of this programm it makes the area feel safer for young people to come and freely use this space. The recent employment of a manager by Parklands United Sports Club has meant that the Parklands Reserve is getting a lot more use which also sees families using the park and playground more. But maintenance and development is still needed to further create a space for more rangitahi use this space safely and our tamariki. If we are wanting a healthier community we need to provide space and facilities that up to standard to encourage this to keep happening for our future young people. There are always things that can be developed more at the Parklands Reserve: -Having a seating area around the basketball hoop out the back of the recreation hall, seeing young people feel comfortable to hangout at the park is a good thing for an area that has felt anti social behaviour develop around Covid times. -Having a concrete table tennis table outside by the playground around the parkview lounge would be a great spot for young people to play a social table tennis game or having families play. - Upgrade to the old red tractor park in the parklands reserve would help young families play more and make it feel safe as when things get older families seem to use them less as it could be seen an dated or old. -Making a small concrete football pitch (half fenced around the pitch) next to the basketball court would be another great addition to the park and seeing young people and families interact with the community. -Upgrading the toilet block in the parklands reserve would also benefit the place feeling old and be mistreated.

Another area in our community that would benefit from investment is our Queenpark Reserve. While the addition of the disc golf area has seen more families and people of all ages use this. Other groups also use the playing fields, cricket over summer and rugby over the winter months means many people are using this space.

The play area is hidden from sight by a variety of bushes and surrounded by large trees and indadequate for the number of families that live close to it. The play area is a dark and cold area that has no rubbish bin or nearby toilets which also discourages families from spending time in this area. We would suggest that the Long term plan is not adequately resourcing this area to cater for our community at all. Parklands and Queenspark is famous for having parks within walking distance from any home, but unfortunately many of them are underwhelming and maintenance is non existant. If we wish to develop a healthier more enviromentally concious community then we need to be providing better facilities for our families, elderly and rangatahi to use. Our organisation strongly believes that more financial investment is needed from the long term plan for our area.

3619 - David Fuffy (Richmond Residents' and Business Association)

Richmond Park: This park has very old play equipment which should be considered for an upgrade. This is a well-used park which caters for tennis and cricket clubs and other regular physical activities.

Avebury Park: Despite resident consultation over the last few years, Council is proceeding with a replacement programme within the current LKTP budget which bears little to no resemblance to what the community asked for. Nonetheless, we gratefully accept the investment but request that there is a greater recognition of community wishes particularly in regard to the type of playground equipment to be installed.

3729 - Jennifer Ross

Want to ensure the funding for the upgrade to the Templeton Domain playground remains a priority and if possible, brought forward. The community in Templeton has been through a lot and the playground is now very dated and also unsafe in some places. As there is little available from a recreational viewpoint in this community, the update and improvement of this resource is vital.

3745 - Victoria Rathgen

Rawhiti domain and other kids play areas are falling apart and getting replaced with generic expensive small waste of money, keep like for like. Stop 'toddler' only playgrounds be inclusive of older kids...they do grow up to other stages. Put some cigarettes bins out as New Brighton beach and drains are being used as one.

3749 - Charles Berridge

Additionally, there is no playground in the subdivisions of Quarry View, Quarry Park, Quarry Gate, or Quarry Paddocks. This should be the responsibility of the subdivision developers. The original approved plan for Quarry Paddocks included a playground, a bridge over the waterway for access to Provincial Road, and a set of steps to access Cashmere Road from the subdivision. None of these items on the plan have been actioned.

3759 - Ben Connolly

More needs to be spent on playgrounds. As well as on green assets to support climate resilience.

I also want Parklands Youth Space budget reinstated (738k has disappeared from the draft LTP).

3790 - Melu Blackburn

The linwood skateboard park proposal for 600 k is a waist of money as people dont go to the current park it would be better spent to upgrade the Washington skatepark. I travel alot to compete in competitions in the north island and we dont have adequate training facilities for us to train. We dont have a vertramp or a destination skatepark up to the standard required to hold national competitions.

This especially the case for areas that will see large increases in demand for recreation infrastructure, within the term of the LTP

90. Recreation Aotearoa submits its support for the investment in Play by Christchurch City Council. It is essential that investment in Play infrastructure is applied to the growing population in new urban developments and under-active demographics in high deprivation communities. Recreation Aotearoa notes that co-design kaupapa for Play infrastructure often results in a desirable bias towards less structured and informal modes of play.

21 comments supported, and 6 comments opposed.

57 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 6 comments provided general feedback addressing sports grounds and facilities.

Officer Response

Submission supporting the LTP and Capital Investment Programme:

Many responses supported the Long-Term Plan and the $87 million allocated to Community Parks sports field development including the Draft Network Plan. They commented on the need for improvements or renewals in particular parks or fields, stating that a number of fields or playing surfaces are not in good condition, or hadn't kept pace with growth in the sports.

Furthermore, the support for the Long-Term Plan was underscored by submissions that emphasised the importance of sports for mental and physical wellbeing and bringing community together.

Many submissions supported the plan but requested that the implementation of the Sports Field Network Plan be brought forward in order to meet community demand.

Submissions opposing the LTP and Capital Investment Programme:

A few responses stated that proposed spend for sports fields was too high.

One response suggested better utilisation of school sports fields instead of providing more sports grounds as a way to resolve network pressure. Another suggested allowing clubs to maintain sports fields.

Other submissions included Roto Kohatu for canoe polo in particular.

We're proposing to spend $17 million on community sports fields excluding the proposed $55 million for the Sports Field Network Plan and the turf farm for Te Kaha. This funding is available for sports field renewals.

All parks' assets are regularly assessed and maintained or renewed as schedules and budgets allow.

Planning and investigation are underway for 65127 Akaroa Recreation Ground and Netball Courts renewal, with an allocated budgeted of $160k. Initial cost estimates indicate a shortfall of $190k, additional funding is still to be sourced.

There is $1.93 million allocated to 65241 Roto Kohatu Development. Funding is prioritised for new entrance way, Jetty, Slipway, Dive platform and Lake edge works. Consent from Environment Canterbury will be required to expand the Canoe Polo Courts.

Council has an obligation to provide and maintain sports field, which also require very specialised care beyond the scope of most clubs and schools.

There needs to be more action on artificial turf fields for football located in the city. Cashmere Technical has over 1700 members yet there are no artificial turf grounds in the city for the club to use. We need to travel to Kaiapoi, Selwyn or Hornby to use other clubs pitches. The current grounds available to the biggest club in the south island are essentially unusable after extended periods of rain.

The re-development of Lancaster Park would have provided an excellent opportunity for football in this city to have a home with artificial turf. Sadly this was not the case as it has rugby posts (because we don't already have enough?)

1429 - Mike Harvey (Christchurch Metro Cricket Association)

We support the spend of $87 million to help develop the network of community facilities. There is ever increasing pressure on sports fields and we need to ensure that these are fit for purpose for the future. We need to consider the changing climatic conditions and the changing demands of sports, who are delivering more opportunities across a larger period of the year. For example, the South Asian Cricket Community have demands on artificial cricket pitches from September - May each year and only take a break during the coldest winter months. We appreciate the efforts of XXX and XXX at the CCC in coordinating discussions with the sports codes so we can all contribute to the sports fields network plan

As a community sports organisation who provide cricket opportunities for 10000 players each season, we support the commitment for the continued investment into local parks and recreational facilities. A healthy community fosters a myriad of benefits, enriching the lives of its residents in numerous ways. Firstly, it cultivates a sense of belonging and social cohesion, fostering strong bonds among individuals. This sense of community promotes mental well-being by providing support networks and reducing feelings of isolation. Economically, a healthy community thrives, attracting businesses, investment, and talented individuals, which in turn spurs job creation and economic growth. Ultimately, the benefits of a healthy community ripple outwards, creating a positive environment where individuals can flourish socially, physically, and economically.

1510 - Jan Whitehead (Banks Peninsula Sports & Recreation Inc)

We highly support the allocation of circ. $170,000 put aside in LTP for redevelopment of courts at the sports complex in Akaroa

We are very grateful that there has been an allocation of circ. $170,000 in the Christchurch City Council Long Term Plan to go towards fixing the courts at the sports complex in Akaroa. These courts have languished in a very poor state for many many years and are totally unfit for purpose.

We support whole heartedly Council's plan to see the redevelop these courts into a safe multipurposed facility that is available for all to use. We are delighted to work in partnership with Council to see this project through to completion.

We would like to see this project get underway (as tentatively indicated by CCC staff) this year and would like Council to prioritise any extra funding that is needed to complete the ground works for the three courts and the asphaltting of two of the courts.

Our group is working hard to secure the funding we will need to complete the AstroTurf court and are receiving good support from our community.

We have been working with Council staff for 6 ½ years now and would really like to see these courts brought back to being a complex that we can all be proud of.

It's especially important to maintain and improve the sports fields as it's been shown that children and their families that are involved in sport are less likely to be getting into trouble or exhibiting risky behaviours as well as the obvious health benefits of exercise.

I write in support of consideration to be taken into the LTP in regard to Nunweek Park, Harewood.

Our Club, Marist Albion Rugby Club Incorporated is a regular user of Nunweek Park and believe that it has capacity to be used and utilised more by us along with others.. It is one of the largest usable green space area for sport and recreation in the North West of Christchurch, but the current issues restrict our ability to maximise its usage.

These are:

1. the two public toilets that are on the park are inadequate for the numbers that use the space, and are in poor condition.
2. The changing sheds are not fit for purpose
3. Field / grass issues including inadequate drainage unplayable surfaces in the winter months.

We request that the CCC work with the Norwest Sport and Community Hub to look at options to invest in Nunweek Park and upgrade the facilities so they are fit for purpose and do remedial work on the field so that it can be utilised fully

The North West of Christchurch is in urgent need of better grounds and facilities and it makes sense to maintain what we already have.

Grassed areas just requires expesneive and pointless on going maintenance with regular mowing. I would like to see a real focus on maintaining and improving the sports fields across the city. I believe it is vitally important to get children and young adults out on the football pitches/rugby fields all winter. So often grounds only hold up for a few weeks and then the cancellations begin. I would love to see another Nga Puna Wai over in the North West.

work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment. Thank you in advance for helping to get better football pitches and facilities for everyone in Christchurch.

I'm submitting because I'm involved in the sport of Canoe Polo in Christchurch. Our plea is simple yet urgent: prioritise funding for the development of canoe polo courts and facilities at Roto Kohatu. Canoe polo is more than just a sport; it's a dynamic activity that fosters water confidence, promotes kayaking skills, sharpens ball-handling ability, and cultivates teamwork. We run weekly school leagues, club leagues, and various tournaments. We currently have 30 teams playing in three different weekly competitions. However, our current situation is dire. We've reached a critical juncture where our current facilities are unable to keep pace with the growing interest and participation in our sport. Following the earthquakes, we successfully transitioned from an indoor winter pool to an outdoor summer lake. This transition brought certain advantages, such as better access to two courts. However, the growth of our sport has outstripped the capacity of these facilities. With only two courts we face constant pressure during competitions and training sessions. We're forced to cap team numbers, shorten game times, and restrict training sessions, hindering the growth of our sport. We are forced to travel to the North Island for major tournaments due to our insufficient capacity to host them locally. The lack of adequate infrastructure reflects poorly on our community. While other regions like Hastings boast world-class facilities, we struggle to provide even the basic necessities for our players. The absence of changing rooms forces our athletes to undress in public view - an embarrassing and unacceptable situation particularly for school aged and female players. Lack of storage space for kayaks further hampers our ability to thrive. We're encouraged by the Council's commitment to funding sports and recreation activities. However, the allocated budget falls short of addressing our pressing need. While hundreds of millions are earmarked for other sports fields and facilities, we find ourselves overlooked, with a mere fraction allocated to Roto Kohatu (ID65241), a very popular water sports and recreation venue with immense potential. We're not asking for special treatment; we're simply requesting equitable support to meet the demands of our growing community. We urge the Council to prioritise the development of canoe polo facilities as outlined in the Roto Kohatu management and development plans. By investing in our sport, you're not only supporting physical activity, but also attracting sports events, fostering high-performance athletes, and facilitating a pathway to national representation. Your support today will shape the future of our sport and empower generations to come. I have attached a picture of the world class Hawke's Bay facility at the Mitre 10 Sports Park. It shows 4 permanent courts, adequate storage, close access to changing rooms and bathroom facilities and adequate room for expandable temporary stadium seating.

The east-west shared path through South Hagley Park desperately needs upgrading. It provides a key link to the South Express MCR at Deans Ave, and carries relatively high numbers of pedestrians, cyclists and micromobility users at peak commuter times as well as at peak times of recreational use of South Hagley Park. However, the path is under width for a shared path (particularly for the volume of users) and worsened by its poor condition that includes a substandard historic trench reinstatement on the north side of the path that presents an uneven surface which is difficult and hazardous to negotiate for all path users. In winter months especially, the depressed section of the trench reinstatement fills with water and mud, and mud often encroaches onto the south edge of the path also. Many of the paths around the periphery of South Hagley Park have been upgraded in recent years, but not this one. I couldn't see it identified as a specific project in the draft LTP, but see that other parts of the South Express MCR are included as well as proposed works to upgrade / resurface playing fields in Hagley Park. Perhaps a path upgrade could be included in those projects.

My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. I live close to Bishopdale park which provides both summer and winter fields for various sports. The state of the fields in March and April were embarrassing. The goal areas for football were solid concrete blocks devoid of grass and were dangerous to those who had no choice to play on them. Little to no preparation had gone into these fields. The goal mouths for football ironically are outside of the area used for cricket so no excuse for the council not to invest some time and effort in regrassing these hard worn areas yet No aeration, no fertilising and no watering has happened. Then with a little rain, the hard dirt turns to mud and provides a different danger to players. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. No. Allocating just $23 million to museums and art galleries over the next 10 years, compared to $100 million to sports fields is not an adequate balance in money allocation to our cultural environment. In terms of our natural environment, allocating just $2 million to biodiversity is extremely unbalanced, as conservation of our native species is vital. To work towards our 'Predator Free by 2050' goal, we need to allocate more time and monetary resources.

Thanks

2236 - Julyan Falloon (Sport Canterbury and Sport New Zealand (Joint Submission))

With the lease at Hagley Park relating to outdoor courts, due to expire in 2026, we support the ongoing activation of this space for sport and physical activity purposes.

The city is blessed with plenty of sports fields but their availability and condition varies, in very dry or wet weather. Sport Canterbury and Sport New Zealand commend Council's ongoing investment into sports fields and strongly advocates that Council continues to maintain the quality of these fields to at least the same level that they are at now.

Artificial sports turf has the ability to increase capacity and address condition concerns. With non-water based artificial turf on the horizon, this will also reduce water consumption across the city. Sport Canterbury and Sport New Zealand commend Council for engaging with sport through the planning to develop high quality artificial sports turf via the Sports Field Network Plan.

Increasing numbers of New Zealanders are choosing active recreation, often 'pay for play' over traditional sport as it allows them greater flexibility to fit activity around their work and family commitments without fixed time commitments that often go with traditional sport training, particularly team sports, and competition. Sport Canterbury and Sport New Zealand support Council's commitment to investment in, and prioritisation of, a number of initiatives that support active recreation, such as:

It is fantastic to see such a commitment from CCC and PSC whole heartedly endorses this inclusion in the LTP. What foresight to continue to have a robust field network plan which will meet the needs of the city now and into the future. In saying this, I would like to highlight one concern we currently have regarding the outdoor court space and specifically the Hagley Park courts. The potential removal of these courts, or a notable portion of them, will have quite drastic negative implications on the sport of netball and community level engagement.

Equity

While there is an understanding of the additional courts recently added, or near to be completed, within the network of available courts all of these are very high spec indoor facilities that incur great cost to the end user. We currently do not charge our team participants entry fees to participate in our events and activations that make use of the courts at Hagley however, a shift to using higher spec indoor facility courts would result in either additional costs passed on or a reduction in the opportunities for our members. The reduction in total number of courts also adds access potentially more challenging.

Schools as Consumers of sport

Our current access to and use of Hagley Park as a venue for a large number of our events is directly connected to the current courts. Our ability to offer many codes at a single venue at minimal or no venue cost has wide reaching positive impact on the accessibility for our member kura. Our events and activations act as an entry point for many into a wide range of community sporting opportunities and as such play an important part in the process of building long term physical activity participation in our tamariki. It is vital that we are able to host hubbed opportunities that involve large numbers of participants to ensure we are removing or limiting the impacts of other very real barriers wherever possible. These barriers include adult support requirements and transport costs as to very obvious examples.

Long term future for netball

We have a real concern for the long-term future of the sport should the reduction or removal of the courts. Our contribution to the growth of tamariki netballers is very real and would drastically diminish with this court number change. We currently have more than 200 teams playing in our three Winter Weekly Sport offerings annually. These are 6 or 10 week competitions for year 5-8 tamariki. We also include one day tournament style netball opportunities and have more than 60 teams of the same age group participating in these opportunities. Access to the 34 outdoor courts at Hagley is imperative to the hosting of these opportunities. We will of course alter or adapt what we offer and how we offer it in the future should the number of courts reduce however there is no way in which we will be able to activate as many participants in these new models. We would like to again congratulate CCC on their commitment to sport and physical activity in our region. We appreciate how accepting and supportive CCC is and we enjoy working alongside you to ensure a range of quality physical activity experiences are made available for our tamariki. We are committed to continuing this relationship and playing our part in the long term development of tamariki through physical activity opportunities.

It is one of the largest usable green space areas for sport and recreation in the North West of Christchurch, but the current issues restrict our ability to maximise its usage. These are: 1. the two public toilets that are on the park are inadequate for the numbers that use the space, and are in poor condition. 2. The changing sheds are not fit for purpose 3. Field / grass issues including inadequate drainage unplayable surfaces in the winter months. We request that the CCC work with the Norwest Sport and Community Hub to look at options to invest in Nunweek Park and upgrade the facilities so they are fit for purpose and do remedial work on the field so that it can be utilised fully The North West of Christchurch is in urgent need of better grounds and facilities and it makes sense to maintain what we already have.

The redevelopment of QEII Park is a big need for the East side of Christchurch. It is great that this is in the LTP, however, there is a huge need for greater access and better quality sports fields in the East. There are limited training fields and opportunities for clubs and teams, especially floodlit spaces, to allow for effective and efficient training. Clubs are making the most of what they have access to, but when operating correctly, social, and in particular kids sport is growing, but there then becomes a lack of fields to be able to use. At our local club we are having to have teams play home games in the City Centre at Hagley Park due to a lack of pitches in the East! The master plan for QEII Park is great, and would help with some of these things, but over the last 8 years the fields at QEII Park have deteriorated as they do not have the same uptake they did 8 years ago (yes this was post earthquake and so not an excuse!). Living local to QEII, when we moved in the sports fields were well kept, they were green, flat and very inviting to play on. Other than mowing and a bit of work the up keep has dropped meaning that access to fields like this are no longer available and shows another poor image on the east.

[Recreation, Sports & Events > Rec & Sport Operations]

Sport and recreation is an area where you may be able to reduce spending. I am sure there is plenty of pressure to supply further sports facilities, but this is an area which could grow to grow at a rapid rate, as more sports are introduced, and more children are encouraged to become a part of them. Maybe more school grounds could be used for weekend sport, rather than providing more sports grounds?

[Transport > Roads (Capital)], [Parks > Sports Grounds & Facilities], [Transport >Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)], [Grants & Funding > Other Contestable Funds]

Too much money is allocated to road and sport field maintenance. Road maintenance would be better spent investing in active transport and public transport infrastructure. This is especially true to cycling, where the benefits on public health and safety are numerous, and costs are low. Sport field maintenance could better be spent on improving biodiversity funding through actions such as increased regenerative planting and support for biodiversity funds.

3036 - John W. Thacker

More levies should be introduced to make Sports bodies more accountable all around. Facilities need more input of cash from them to ensure being more independent of council.

3226 - Paul Cottam (East Christchurch Shirley Cricket Club)

The East Chch Shirley Cricket Club wishes to advocate for two matters to be included in the Council's Long Term Plan. Firstly, the club thanks the Council for allowing the club to install a junior artificial pitch, the John Grocott Oval (JGO), in recent years on the old bowling club site at the western corner of Burwood Park. This pitch has been a well-used, huge success for our club to allow hardball junior cricket to be played at the Burwood Park, making a vital contribution post-quake to a local network of artificial pitches for junior cricket in the Shirley-Burwood area. The club has also worked hard to place and top dress soil around the pitch and outfield areas to create a good playing surface. The Council has helped via its parks maintenance programme of weed control and seed and fertiliser work, which it will hopefully continue. What we desperately need some help with is a long term solution to irrigating the outfield, which sits a little higher than the adjacent adult outfield (Burwood Two) and so can dry out more. We've gotten by in the last two seasons by manually using some k-lines that we sourced from a golf club and connect to an outlet (master valve) in the adjacent outfield, although this is a short term answer and we've been lucky that we haven't really had a very dry summer in the last couple of years. In addition, we would like to remind the Council that there are deficiencies in the irrigation of other areas of Burwood Park. The Council has spent money reseeding areas of the park but these have not taken due to lack of water. By January each year the outfields are very dry and dusty with extensive weed growth. We accordingly request that the Parks capex budget in the LTP include irrigation for the Burwood Park Pitch Two outfield be extended to the John Grocott Oval outfield that caters for junior cricket, and to investigate the extending of irrigation to cover dry and bare areas in the other cricket grounds of Burwood Park. The second matter we'd like to see in the LTP is for maintenance and repair work on the artificial nets on the eastern side of Burwood Park to be included in the Council's Parks opex budget. The Council's earlier work on replacing the surface inside the nets and, especially, creating a quality run-up surface to the nets has resulted in a very good training facility for both our junior players and the wider community. It is a well-used facility that is a very good cricket asset in the East. That said, the nets do need some ongoing repairs and maintenance to both the nets themselves and the artificial surface inside the nets, which is showing signs of wear. It is not a safety issue yet for our juniors, although replacement will need to be planned for in the near future. We are keeping a watching brief on it. The club has received a quote for $12,960 to replace this surface. We accordingly request that provision be made in the Parks opex in the LTP for repairs and maintenance of the artificial cricket nets at Burwood Park, and work with the club to determine an appropriate year for this work. The Club thanks the Council for its support of cricket, especially for juniors, at Burwood Park and looks forward to working with Council on these matters.

I submit on behalf of Mainland Canoe Polo (MCPA), the regional sports organisation for the exhilarating sport of canoe polo. I also submit on behalf of all school aged players currently playing canoe polo in Christchurch.

Our plea is simple yet urgent: prioritise funding for the development of canoe polo courts and facilities at Roto Kohatu. Canoe polo is more than just a sport; it's a dynamic activity that fosters water confidence, promotes kayaking skills, sharpens ball-handling ability, and cultivates teamwork.

We run weekly school leagues, club leagues, and various tournaments. We currently have 30 teams playing in three different weekly competitions. However, our current situation is dire. We've reached a critical juncture where our current facilities are unable to keep pace with the growing interest and participation in our sport. Following the earthquakes, we successfully transitioned from an indoor winter pool to an outdoor summer lake. This transition brought certain advantages, such as better access to two courts.

However, the growth of our sport has outstripped the capacity of these facilities. With only two courts we face constant pressure during competitions and training sessions. We're forced to cap team numbers, shorten game times, and restrict training sessions, hindering the growth of our sport. We are forced to travel to the North Island for major tournaments due to our insufficient capacity to host them locally. This becomes extremely expensive, and as a result we see players drop out of our sport because we don't have facilities locally that allow them to progress. This prevents young athletes from having the chance to develop and represent at a regional, and potentially national level.

The lack of adequate infrastructure reflects poorly on our community. While other regions like Hastings boast world-class facilities, we struggle to provide even the basic necessities for our players. The absence of changing rooms forces our athletes to undress in public view - an embarrassing and unacceptable situation particularly for school aged and female players. Lack of storage space for kayaks further hampers our ability to thrive.

We're encouraged by the Council's commitment to funding sports and recreation activities. However, the allocated budget falls short of addressing our pressing need. While hundreds of millions are earmarked for other sports fields and facilities, we find ourselves overlooked, with a mere fraction allocated to Roto Kohatu (ID65241), a very popular water sports and recreation venue with immense potential. We're not asking for special treatment; we're simply requesting equitable support to meet the demands of our growing community.

We urge the Council to prioritise the development of canoe polo facilities as outlined in the Roto Kohatu management and development plans. By investing in our sport, you're not only supporting physical activity, but also attracting sports events, fostering high-performance athletes, and facilitating a pathway to national representation. Your support today will shape the future of our sport and empower generations to come.

3752 - Simon Blackburn

Christchurch has a thriving skateboard scene. We have local youth competing at a national level both male and female. However, we are hugely under-resourced when it comes to training facilities. We have a young lady aged 12 currently ranked 2nd in NZ for vert skateboarding, however, Christchurch doesn't have a vert ramp for her to train and progress to a higher level. We run a coaching platform for up-and-coming skaters of which we have a number of kids aged 10 to 17-year-old all traveling to the North Island regularly to compete, but we lack the training facilities for these kids to progress. Christchurch is unable to hold a national-level competition because our main park, Washington, isn't up to the required specifications for a national event. We need a vert ramp and an international-level skatepark able to host a national-level competition and for our community to be able to progress.

3755 - Kieran Abraham

Can we please expand the canoe polo lake at Roto Kohatu to hold four courts. This will be good because then we can run national events in the area and bring lots of people in and expand the sport. We also need more space just to run the local events properly.

Re LTP and Nunweek Park The Northwest of Christchurch is in urgent need of investment towards our grounds and facilities, and it makes sense to maintain what we already have to increase the use of our existing parks.

The Norwest Sport and Community Hub encourages CCC write for consideration to be taken into the LTP regarding Nunweek Park, Harewood.

Nunweek Park is one of the largest usable green space areas available for sport and recreation in the Northwest of Christchurch, but the current issues restrict our ability to maximise its usage. These are:

- The two public toilets that are on the park are inadequate for the numbers that use the space and are in poor condition.
- The two current changing sheds are inadequate for the numbers that use the space and are not fit for purpose
- Field / grass issues including inadequate drainage result in unplayable surfaces in the winter months.

As a hub we have engaged with the the clubs and community groups in this area and we request that the CCC work in partnership and support and enable the Norwest Sport and Community Hub to look at options to invest in Nunweek Park and upgrade the facilities so they are fit for purpose, including carrying out remedial work on the fields so they can be better utilised.

921 - Jeremy Curwin (Canterbury Cricket)

As an anchor project, Hagley Oval has been a huge asset to the city at a time when many sporting events and international teams had been unable to visit and play in the city. By focusing on Te Kaha, it feels like Council are moving on to the next shiny stadium and forgetting that for the last 8 years Hagley has been the main sports venue able to bring international and national visitation to the city. Cricket has been able to provide a platform for the world to see and visit Christchurch. Since it was built the Oval has hosted one men's world cup (2015), one Women's World Cup, including a semi final and final (2021), one Men's Under 19 World Cup (2018) and numerous International fixtures including the visits of India, Australia and England on several occasions providing huge financial benefits to the city. If the city does not remain competitive around the bidding process then these opportunities will diminish and the city, and the game of cricket, will be worse off for it. Cricket is recognised as the biggest summer sport in New Zealand with 16,000 players across the region. These current players as well as the past and future players draw inspiration from being able to watch their heroes perform on the biggest stage, and Hagley Oval provides that platform. This season alone over 30,000 people watched the Blackcaps play Australia in a Test and 16,000 watched them play Pakistan in two T20 fixtures. It would be such a waste for this not to happen again.

The Wainui Residents Association (WRA), an incorporated society founded in 1974, represents the community of Wainui, which is a small rural coastal community located on the western side of the Akaroa Harbour, 30 minutes drive from the nearest township of Akaroa and 90 minutes from Christchurch. We own and operate the Wainui Community Centre on the site of the former Wainui School on Wainui Main Road.

>>> We note that of the two Wainui Domain tennis courts, the bottom court has recently had the lines repainted, but the top court has not. WRA has recently held a working bee to tidy up the courts and cut back a considerable amount of overgrown vegetation, but aside from the recent painting, there is little to no surface maintenance carried out by council. We would like to ask if these courts are on an asset renewal schedule for resurfacing at some point, and if so, when is this programmed for?

>>> Broadly, the issues set out above correspond to council's projects and programmes in the areas of Parks and Foreshore, Recreation and Sport, and Climate Change, and we request that funding for these projects is accommodated for in the council's 2024-34 LTP.

2799 - Dot Lovell-Smith

I can't believe that the new stadium is going to be used for an equal number of female sporting events as it is for male events. Perhaps we need twice as many sports grounds open to be able to do this?

Parks Paths & Walkways

General Comments

24 submissions were received addressing parks paths & walkways.

11 comments supported, and 1 comment opposed.

12 comments suggested what could be done differently.

Officer Response

Submissions supporting the proposed LTP funding for paths and walkways:

Written feedback highlighted the importance of parks paths and walkways being in good condition, and appreciation for some of the new planned pathways. A number of pathways in the draft LTP were mentioned specifically as being supported (e.g. the Head-to-Head Walkway and Orton Bradley Park to Charteris Bay and Pūharakekenui Source to Sea Walkway).

Submissions opposing the proposed LTP funding for paths and walkways:

There was one submission suggesting that paths should not be funded, with funding redirected towards public infrastructure. Other submissions indicated they would like more of particular types of paths, specifically for horse riding and accessibility, but did not indicate whether they wanted more funding spent on this or whether they simply wanted these types of paths prioritised as part of the proposed budget.

The proposed LTP draft includes provision for all the paths and walkways raised by written submitters, either through the foreshore development plan, the regional parks development plan or in the next round of renewals. Accessibility of paths is considered as part of parks planning processes and implemented where possible.

No concern that Bronco Playground will have asphalt paths on two sides close to the playground that bikes and scooters will be able to travel fast along very close to the playground.

Child safety and pedestrian-only natural quite spaces are not considered as cycling always comes first. Please reconsider

Montgomery Spur Reserve: This spur is not far from the base of the Port Hills but has been lost to pedestrians on the lower section by being taken for mountain biking. About $90,000 was spent on a mountain bike track compared with about $7000 for a pedestrian track that does not go to the knob at 285m above sea level which would give 360 views at a much lower elevation than the crater rim. The Management Plan has the Kowhai Track to include this high point but that has not occurred, perhaps because the zigzag of the mountain bike track would have to be realigned. Additionally, the Kowhai Track has 6 gates with catches that are difficult to reach from one side. An alternative would have been to have a cattle stop like on Rapaki Track or kissing gates. The first section off Rapaki Track is shared with the mountain bike track, which is narrow and too dangerous to share. While the mountain bike track has sweeping curves the Kowhai Track section just past the mountain bike section requires a more gradual curve as it is too steep.

We are fortunate to have the Port Hills tracks which are on the whole maintained as natural tracks. But recently $23,000 (from memory) was spent destroying the natural path in Coronation Hill Historic Reserve by digging it out and filling the area with gravel and dirt material foreign to the area. This was a “downgrade”, not an “upgrade”. A few years ago, wooden steps were added which are not as safe to negotiate as the strategically placed stones that they replaced on a short uphill/downhill section. Natural surroundings are better for wellbeing and please CCC don’t waste money by urbanising our natural spaces. When we venture into natural spaces we should expect that sometimes our footwear may get muddy, wet or dusty. If an area must be avoided it is better to build a boardwalk that can be completely removed when decayed than use loose foreign materials that will be scattered.

There are often plans for “upgrades” to pedestrian paths and spaces that become “downgrades” because CCC keeps wanting to urbanising natural spaces or add paths for wheels and expect this to be improvements for pedestrians. Especially, when running there is the impact on the surface with every stride and while for fast times a firm surface is desirable, for training to prevent wear and tear and injury most training is best done on natural surfaces. Another reason for pedestrians to need their own spaces and paths. Feet and wheels require different path surfaces and design.

In 2022 I made some FOI requests regarding Somerfield Park. In my and a few others’ opinion the paths in the park did not require replacing as they were in a much better condition than some of the footpaths nearby. CCC had sub-contractors complete the works. I asked for the plan, but the FOI reply was that there was no plan as it was just replacing what was there. The FOI reply was that there were no new paths and no paths were widened. I have now found old photos that shows another path was added and a photo showing a path was widened by the gate. I am at a loss as to how my FOI reply was that there was no plan of works for a job done by external contractors. Who approved to add the extra path and widen another? What was the extra cost? The reply also was very late in being answered. (FOI’s 573427 and 548926). I am concerned that proper procedures were not followed and replies were false.

The east-west shared path through South Hagley Park desperately needs upgrading. It provides a key link to the South Express MCR at Deans Ave, and carries relatively high numbers of pedestrians, cyclists and micromobility users at peak commuter times as well as at peak times of recreational use of South Hagley Park. However, the path is under width for a shared path (particularly for the volume of users) and worsened by its poor condition that includes a substandard historic trench reinstatement on the north side of the path that presents an uneven surface which is difficult and hazardous to negotiate for all path users. In winter months especially, the depressed section of the trench reinstatement fills with water and mud, and mud often encroaches onto the south edge of the path also. Many of the paths around the periphery of South Hagley Park have been upgraded in recent years, but not this one. I couldn't see it identified as a specific project in the draft LTP, but see that other parts of the South Express MCR are included as well as proposed works to upgrade / resurface playing fields in Hagley Park. Perhaps a path upgrade could be included in those projects.

The Pūharakekenui Source to Sea Walkway will be included as a Parks and Heritage item in the long term plan. The SLLT is working with landowners to develop appropriate riparian margins to accomplish this vision, but there are some properties that need to be purchased in order to finish the walkway connections. Completing the Source to Sea walkway will create a substantial natural habitat corridor and add a significant quality of life amenity for the people of Christchurch. With the major ecological restoration project Project Kōtare due to finish in 2027, the latter half of the ten-year plan is an ideal time for the Council to begin developing the walkway so the people of Christchurch have the best access to this natural asset. Land acquisition costs will likely continue to increase in the future, increasing the importance of investing in this community asset sooner.

[Strategic Direction > Other Policy Matters]

The GBCA also supports the Head to Head Walkway, this will provide valuable recreational opportunities for the residents of Christchurch and fit well with the Te Pātaka o Rāikuhautū/Banks Peninsula Destination Management plan. Although the focus for the Destination Plan should be on green tourism where visitors and Canterbury residents spend time and money in the area.

[Grants & Funding > Request for additional grants & funding]

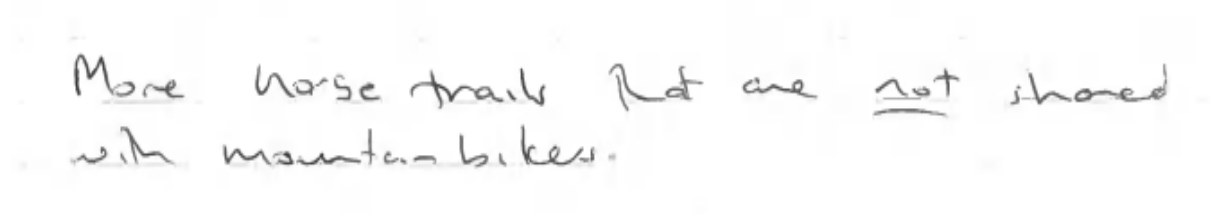

The GBCA also asks that the loan to the Governors Bay Jetty Restoration Trust for the restoration of the jetty is fully resolved by Council. The jetty is now an important asset for Christchurch residents and visitors who regularly visit the jetty, including enabling kayaking for children and walking the Governors Bay foreshore track. The foreshore track needs greater maintenance to improve access for the wide range of people who currently use it from across the city.

Halswell Quarry Reserve Halswell Quarry reserve is a major asset to the south west of Christchurch. My family use it several times a week and it is unique to Christchurch. It is becoming more and more popular, and I consider it is important it continues to receive suitable funding consistent with its use to maintain and develop the park facilities. No specific line item is included for capital improvements, which could include the need for upgraded toilet facilities, trails, and lighting, so I hope that it includes sufficient operational budget available.

Foreshore

General Comments

84 submissions were received addressing foreshore issues.

27 comments supported, and 10 comments opposed.

37 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 11 comments provided general feedback addressing foreshore issues.

Officer Response

Majority of the submission received were supportive of the Long-Term Plan and capital investment programme, reflecting a community desire for the Council to protect our coastal environment.

There were requests to allocate budget and resources on:

- Wainui Slipway and breakwater
- Flood mitigation
- Climate change adaptation
- Erosion
- Accessible access to Sumner beach
- Wainui changing sheds
- Naval Point development

Submissions opposing the Long-Term Plan and Capital Investment Programme:

Some argued the budget was excessive while others believed it was not enough.

The draft Long-Term Plan has approximately $62 million, including $22 million on Te Nukutai o Tapoa Naval Point development and $23 million on Akaroa Wharf, for renewing existing assets.

The Plan includes various initiatives for foreshore development, such as coastal land protection, revegetation, and amenity planting. The allocated funding includes $116k from the 61724 Coastal land protection, revegetation and amenity planting and $4.4 million from 61746 Coastal and Plains Planned Asset renewals.

The Plan also includes conservation work within parks and foreshore areas, including habitat restoration, ecological restoration, and threatened species management within the Regional parks operational and capital budget.

Wainui Slipway and breakwater

Specific projects such as the Wainui slipway and breakwater are under investigation, with potential funding drawn from the 41949 Marine planned structure renewals programme.

Flood mitigation

The Council is engaged in adaptation planning, particularly in vulnerable areas, with a focus on Lyttleton Harbour.

Climate change adaptation

Parks management are mindful of the need to adapt to the effects of climate change. All of our Regional Foreshore work is targeted towards climate resilience.

Erosion

As above.

Accessible access to Sumner beach

Although no specific budget has been allocated, Council has undertaken some planning work to improve the accessibility at Sumner beach.

Wainui changing sheds

The changing shed is currently being boarded up ready for demolition.

Naval Point

Naval Point development plan implementation continues as per the current LTP.

The Impact that requests would have on other activities:

- Reducing the allocated budget
 - Work in coastal environments is needed to protect the foreshore area and provide for recreational facilities. Reducing budgets would lead to a decline in the upkeep of foreshore areas and limit the amount of maintained recreational facilities.

[Parks > Parks Maintenance], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Coastal hazards adaptation & adaptation planning]

Coastal environments serve as our primary shield against the ravages of storms and floods. Beyond their protective role, these habitats are essential for fostering recreation and supporting vibrant tourism industries.

Parks, as quintessential green spaces, serve as hubs for community connection and leisure activities. It is imperative that we allocate funds judiciously, prioritizing investments in initiatives that nurture the health and resilience of our coastal ecosystems.

Any expenditure on recreational pursuits that degrade the environment, such as golf, must be adamantly opposed. Our focus should be unwaveringly directed towards safeguarding and enhancing the ecological integrity of our coastal areas for the benefit of present and future generations.

This approximately 100 year wall should be recognised as a heritage feature and included in Council's heritage budget to ensure it is maintained and protected we request that it is registered as a heritage feature and budget allocated to maintain as such.

2639 - Callum Ward (Waihoru Spreydon Cashmere Heathcote Community Board)

The Board supports the following matters concerning Parks Facilities, which is a key Community Board Plan priority: • Working towards accessible access to Sumner beach

2789 - Veronika Mealings (Wainui Residents' Association)

The Wainui Residents Association (WRA), an incorporated society founded in 1974, represents the community of Wainui, which is a small rural coastal community located on the western side of the Akaroa Harbour, 30 minutes drive from the nearest township of Akaroa and 90 minutes from Christchurch. We own and operate the Wainui Community Centre on the site of the former Wainui School on Wainui Main Road.

>>> The changing sheds on the Wainui main beach have been in an unusable state of repair for many years, and we have asked on numerous occasions for this to be addressed. Community Board Advisor Liz Beaven recently summed the situation up well in an email dated 14 March 2024 to the BPCB: “Staff have been contacted by the community with concerns about the condition of the changing shed at Wainui on the seashore near Wainui Main Road Reserve. Staff have looked at the building and noted the unreinforced block walls and the large cracks that daylight can be seen through. There is a fall of over a meter from the broken handrail to the beach. The roof and gutters have rusted through. It will be boarded up in the next day or so. The building does not have a seismic assessment. Staff will assess the building further and update the Board on the future of the building.” If the changing sheds are not going to be remediated to a usable state, we ask that they be demolished and removed, as remaining in situ represents a continuing environmental, health and safety risk and an eyesore on our beautiful and popular beach.

>>> Broadly, the issues set out above correspond to council’s projects and programmes in the areas of Parks and Foreshore, Recreation and Sport, and Climate Change, and we request that funding for these projects is accommodated for in the council’s 2024-34 LTP.

2890 - Finn McIntyre (University of Canterbury Sustainable Design Society (UC SUSD))

Although the current LTP shows a good balance of capital spending across the 10 year period, more emphasis must be put on the mitigation of climate related issues by developing plans to reduce emissions and create environmental adaptation strategies. This will ensure Christchurch will be resilient to prevalent risks such as sea level rise (predicted 20 cm by 2048 <https://www.searise.nz/maps-2>), coastal erosion, flooding, wild fires, etc. Additionally, as previously mentioned, it is critical that the capital spending on programs to reduce emissions comes early enough to target the dates set out in national and international guidelines.

2953 - Quentin Kelly

Parks, Heritage, Coastal? Sumner and Brighton have had little to no money spent on the areas themselves. I see the never ending road works on the road to sumner which should have been done right the first of the 3 times it has been dug up causing non stop congestion. Someone got it right finally though and looks great. This should have been done 5+ years ago. Brighton is a dump when it could be something special. Get a tram or train from the beach to the city. Build a proper boulevard for cars, light it up, make an esplanade to walk across (see what Timaru did? Jealous much?)

Coastal? What has the council done for New Brighton? Actually, those hot pools are pretty awesome. I will give you that. Cashless though? I do not play that game and a LOT of people do not like that either. I buy a monthly pass so I am not put off by that oversight. I heard it was supposed to be bigger but there was a problem? Maintain the standards there and keep it in regular maintenance. More umbrellas and up the cafe/sun experience to something classy. Sumner esplanade needs some work. A lot of work. Maintenance and standards would be nice, some consistency. It hasn't been touched in 20+ years or more. A lot of people go there, it is a nice place. Keep it that way but keep it accessible too. Take a trip to Adelaide and visit places like Hove, Brighton, Christies Beach, Glenelg, Hallett Cove etc. Do the 20km walk through every beach to see what Brighton and Sumner need. Maybe make a new beach with new experiences.

[Three Waters > Water Supply (Capital)], [Parks > Public Convenience]

Not from my perspective of a Wainui Banks Peninsula ratepayer. There are several projects the Council has been considering for Wainui, but none are mentioned in the LTP. There was no mention in any of the detailed capital expenditure documents about the Wainui slipway and breakwater repairs, nor the necessary drinking water treatment improvements to make the supply compliant with the protozoa requirements of the rules (mentioned in the Akaroa Mail late last year), nor the new public toilet block on Stanbury Reserve. So where will the funds come from for these significant expenditure projects, or do we assume they are not going ahead in the next 10 years?

748 - A Robinson

[Three Waters > Water Supply (Capital)], [Parks > Public Convenience], [Transport > Roads (Capital)], [Parks > Parks Maintenance]

o Wainui doesn't have many of the services/infrastructure of a city, but we do expect the same standard as the city in the essential services we have such as safe drinking-water, well-maintained and safe rural roads, well-maintained and safe public facilities (eg, public toilets, wharf, boat slipway and breakwater, tennis courts), used by visitors (many from metropolitan Christchurch) and ourselves. We could not find mention in any of the detailed capital expenditure documents about the Wainui slipway and breakwater repairs, nor the necessary drinking water treatment improvements to make the supply compliant with protozoa requirements, nor the new public toilet block on Stanbury Reserve.

761 - Carol Groves

If you are spending money on drinking water could we please have drinking water access for us here in Wainui and for our visitors who come to visit. We do not have access to a public drinking fountain at all. Speaking of the costal environment, we are getting battered by more stronger storms due to global warming and our breakwater was damaged over a year ago and is not fit for purpose. Of particular concern is the constant disturbance of wading birds by dogs. The Estuary Trust regularly receives reports of dogs disturbing birds, particularly on the tidal flats at low tide. General Comments 156 submissions were received addressing biodiversity and ecological restoration in parks and reserves.

49 comments supported, and 10 comments opposed.

95 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 16 comments provided general feedback addressing biodiversity and ecological restoration.

Officer Response

Submissions supporting LTP Proposal to retain current level of funding:

There were a few responses indicating support for the $2 million spend due to the importance of biodiversity. Staff are unsure what the $2 million quoted is referring to.

Submissions supporting an increased level of funding compared with the LTP proposal:

The majority of respondents supported an increase to the proposed funding levels. Responses emphasised the importance of this work due to climate change and due to not losing the gains already made in the last decade. Submitters suggested that funding should be reduced for sports fields or from Te Kaha to support biodiversity.

The areas they wanted increased funding for were:

- more planting of trees

- wildflowers for bees
- creating an urban forest on the East
- support for private landowners working on biodiversity
- control of landowners planting conifers and conifer/wilding pine control more generally
- funding for the regeneration of the Port Hills following the 2024 fires
- $40,000 per year for estuary edge predator control.
- A centralised biodiversity team in Council.
- The Environmental Partnerships fund given its importance in contributing to ecological restoration

The Draft Long-Term Plan includes $3.6 million within the Regional parks capital budget for ecological restoration and pest control programmes.

Approximately 500k per annum for 10 years in grants for biodiversity initiatives.

Biodiversity management and ecological restoration is incorporated into a number of separate LTP line items, particularly in Regional parks, 3 Waters and the Ōtākaro Avon River Corridor (OARC). Some examples of capital programmes that include a focus on ecological restoration are: Takapūneke Reserve Development, Coronation Reserve Development, Ōruapaeroa Travis Wetland Restoration Development and Seafield Park/ Brooklands Te Riu O Te Aika Kawa Lagoon Restoration. If we total all capital projects in the draft LTP with an element of ecological restoration, it totals approximately $145 million over 10 years.

In addition, there are several projects which already include the aspects where funding was requested:

- The Urban Forest Plan facilitates the planting of more trees.
- Community Parks has been trialling wildflower gardens in parks and these have been successful and will be continued.
- OARC planting will feel much like an urban forest in the East once it is completed.
- The Port Hills management plan is currently being finalised and will include fire-resistant planting.
- The biodiversity fund is included in the draft plan, increasing from $400k this year to $552k, then $511 from 2027. This supports private landowners with biodiversity projects.

Banks Peninsula, including the Port Hills, is a real gem when it comes to biodiversity, playing a key role not just locally but for the greater Christchurch area and beyond. It's like a biodiversity superhero, spreading the good stuff around and locking away carbon, making a massive contribution to Christchurch's dreams of being a greener, more climate-resilient city. Plus, the perks of preserving and boosting biodiversity are something everyone, now and in the future. A big shoutout to the CCC for already throwing support and funding behind important projects like Te Kakahu Kahukura and Pest Free Banks Peninsula, which show just how much can be achieved when we all work together. When it comes to the big plans for 2024/2034, it's all thumbs up for making the city and the Peninsula greener and more liveable, with a strong push for climate resilience, better care for the environment, and giving the nod to nature-based solutions and indigenous biodiversity. Special props to strategies aiming to green-up the city, look after our water, and keep our tree canopy lush. There's also a plea to not forget about the little guys—the private landowners—who are super keen to do their bit for biodiversity and could do with a bit more financial help to make even bigger strides.

I think this is an important area to spend money on. I live near the Groynes and there has been an incredible amount of native planting there. With the Groynes and more native planting near Northlands mall, we now have bellbirds and fantails in our garden again. The native planting will help the native flora and fauna and also with climate change. Good work! I also think the trials of wildflower that you did were excellent and I hope you can make it more permanent.

1517 - Felix Harrison

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?], [Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

No. This Council's main priority should be investing in regenerating and enhancing its Biodiversity and using nature-based solutions to protect against natural disasters brought on by the climate crisis. Examples of these include riparian planting and conversion of low lying unsuitable areas to wet-land. Making more green spaces within the city as forests help to reduce the load on our storm-water systems. The Avon corridor is a good start. However more is needed. Planting on Horomaka should also be a main priority. Aiming to get this reforested as this will help protect against droughts and fires. Not to mention the animal life, carbon sink, tourist potential, local community asset, and intrinsic value in this goal.

1548 - Robert Love (Selwyn District Council)

SDC supports funding for biodiversity related projects which seek to protect and restore ecosystems.

I work as a tour guide around NZ, we don't spend any time in or around Christchurch. I would really like for this to change. I see so much potential in this city and its surroundings. Investing more in improving our coastal areas especially in Whakapapa and replanting the natives that would have been there before we came would be a good start. I think these maintained nature spaces can be a great draw card to open up avenues of tourism but we are not doing enough. our hills are bare and we are prioritizing sheep and shipping over reestablishing what would have been a pretty spectacular place before us humans came and stripped it for our own benefit. parks, heritage and coastal environments are the perfect place to restore that balance and spread out from there.

I live up on Scarborough hill and I look over the port hills where I also spend a lot of time. it makes me sad to think about how lush and green and full of biodiversity this landscape could afford and has in the past. I'm guessing it's not an easy solution. As a tour guide and developing to be a tour operator, I see so much potential around us but we need to invest money and intention into walkways, bike paths and reforestation.

1734 - Fergus O'Neill

[Strategic Direction > Performance Framework], [Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

Yes, cost reductions should not come from service cuts, or cuts to climate change or biodiversity programme.

1792 - Laura Parkes

I would like to see this include naturalisation of some areas, also called “re-wilding”. The planting of natives and naturalisation of human-invaded areas is essential to the preservation of our environment and our native species.

Naturalisation of human-invaded areas and better legislation surrounding cat registration and breeding would go a long way towards helping our environment thrive.

• The Port Hills needs to be planted in native bush to draw down CO₂ from the atmosphere, increase biodiversity, & reduce the risk of ^{wild} fires. Community groups are already doing this, but they need more support & funding.

[Parks>Tree Canopy]

• Create more green areas which increases biodiversity which helps draw down CO₂ & create a healthier climate. This is especially important on the Port Hills where there is a big fire risk with the invasive grass - needs to be turned into an eco-sanctuary like Zealandia in Wellington. Make Ōtautahi green again. Also really important we do this in the city so that people don't feel so nature-deficient because that's currently how I feel living in Chch... & it's sad!!! More native bush please.

[Other/Special Interest Topics>Public Transport]; [Strategic Direction>Have we got the balance right?]

No there needs to be better funding for services. We need a better bus system ~~so that that~~ is more efficient so that it doesn't take me 1 hour to get to the Port Hills. There is also a HUGE mental health crisis in Ōtago - this is partly due to the lack of native bush areas that are key to our overall health. We need more native bush in urban areas - e.g. green corridors like in Palmerston North.

Parks and Greenspace

22. NPHS Te Waipounamu supports CCC's investment in green spaces for community recreation and also as a means to provide protection for communities from impacts of climate change. NPHS Te Waipounamu notes the importance of greenspace and trees in the context of climate change, particularly to reduce potential heat-related illness and mortality from rising temperature and in a heatwave event.¹⁸ Urban communities are at risk of the urban heat island effect as many of the materials used in urban settings – brick, concrete and steel – trap heat and increase the overall temperature experienced in urban environments.¹⁹

23. NPHS Te Waipounamu strongly supports investment in the Urban Forest Plan. Further, NPHS Te Waipounamu supports native planting. Native plants play a crucial role in stabilising soil, offering long-term flood and erosion control, and can also provide beneficial shade for communities and habitat for native species. Prioritising native biodiversity planting can support native ecosystems and enable a healthier environment.

The Council needs to allocate additional funding to effectively implement the biodiversity strategy, as less than half of its actions are currently being realized. >>> Investing in biodiversity should coincide with a heightened emphasis on planting native species in suitable environments. I support removing of grassed areas that are not used for sport or recreation in our parks and replace with planting and flowers that are good for the bees. 2794 - Christina Troup

Increase investment in Biodiversity on Banks Peninsula To keep moving in the right direction, Christchurch City Council should expand the network of land under restoration, pest control, weed control on Banks Peninsula. Having such a of diversity of habitat types, the Peninsula is a biodiversity hotspot, with a great range of indigenous plant, bird, reptile and invertebrate species that are scarce or absent on the surrounding plains, as well as its own endemic species. On the Port Hills and Banks Peninsula an impressive number of long-standing, well-coordinated volunteer groups work hard to put up a defence against the threats to biodiversity from weeds and animal pests – which are currently accelerating in their impact. Investment from the Council to support their work is multiplied many times because of their hard work and commitment. Improved environmental and biodiversity outcomes can be achieved when streams and steep country unsuitable for grazing is fenced off to allow recovery of indigenous habitat and reduce sedimentation into waterways and coastal waters. Support to farmers to make it easier to make that decision – for example grants for fencing for new conservation covenants – should be increased. It is worth noting that other regions in New Zealand with such significant biodiversity values have land in held by the Department of Conservation providing the appropriate protections – however on Banks Peninsula much of the land protection has been thanks to committed private landowners, with a relatively small area overall in DoC or Council protection.

2799 - Dot Lovell-Smith

I fully support any spending on increasing the bio-diversity in the city. It fits into the idea of building a collaborative and confident city and in the plan to have a carbon neutral city. Research shows that thriving green spaces improve the mental and physical wellbeing of a city population and provide creative challenges for young people to interact with the environment.

2830 - Fiona Bennetts

We are in climate and biodiversity crises. start acting on it.

2832 - Riley Neupauer (University of Canterbury Green Party)

Biodiversity is one of these valuable investments that Council should be more heavily prioritising. According to the current LTP proposal, this sector would only receive a marginal $2 million, with $400,000 for the private land Biodiversity Fund. These figures are wholly insufficient, meaning that integral resources will be stretched sparingly thin over the next decade. Correspondingly, the dedicated personnel tasked with caring for our flora and fauna will be greatly strained as they attempt to reach target objectives.

[Spending > Capital programme, Parks > Biodiversity & Ecological restoration, Strategic direction > climate change]

- Biodiversity, flood protections, and most other crucial environmental services are heavily underfunded, which calls into question whether CCC truly understands the gravity of the climate crisis. There should be a much greater emphasis placed on upholding the natural health of Ōtautahi; these environmental programs have the potential to greatly benefit our green city, but this improvement cannot be fully achieved without ample investment

2868 - Jonty Coulson

[Grants & Funding > Other Contestable Funds]

Sports fields currently have $100 million worth of funding in the LTP, where biodiversity only has $2 million. Against the backdrop of the biodiversity crisis this is unjust, and funding must be reallocated to support biodiversity. The biodiversity fund should be increased tenfold from the proposed $400,000, and the community partnership fund should be reinstated and given increased funding. Alongside implementing this, the council should robustify it's biodiversity related workforce, including more waterway ecologists and moving biodiversity management out from under the parks team to allow a primary focus on biodiversity outcomes.

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Creating a Climate Fund], [Parks > Biodiversity & Ecological Restoration], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Strategic Transport], [Fees & Charges > Car Parking (Parks)]

It is vital for the city council to understand that spending money now means saving money in the future. As a result cost reductions cannot come from cuts to climate change, biodiversity or active transport programs. All of these will have positive returns in the long term. The council should instead extract value from existing assets such as the parking charges to botanic gardens and Hagley park mentioned earlier.

The significance of biodiversity and green spaces in urban environments cannot be overstated. They play a crucial role in enhancing the ecological, social, and economic fabric of cities. 2. Biodiversity I was shocked to discover that funding for biodiversity is only $2m, compared with a whopping $100m for sports fields. These priorities are completely backwards. We don't need perfectly manicured sports fields, but we absolutely need thriving biodiversity. Humans are part of an ecosystem, and we rely on that ecosystem for our survival. Please take some of that outrageous funding out of sports fields and use it to significantly increase biodiversity funding. Please increase funding for biodiversity to: - Implement of the actions in the biodiversity strategy (less than half of which are currently being implemented).

We also need to focus on biodiversity in our public green spaces. Money can be taken from sports field funding and added to the Biodiversity Fund to make sure we take proper responsibility for caring for the other species that share our spaces.

3129 - Skye Arnopp

We should be investing as much effort as possible in caring for the environment, not simply abandoning our posts. Nature is necessary for our survival.

3209 - Anouk Minnaar

The biodiversity strategy needs more funding allocated for implementation. Introducing more tree cover and creating green pathways in urban areas will lead to a reduction in surface temperatures and an increase in value and appearance; overall an attractive asset to local communities.

3336 - Margaret Lovell-Smith

3669 - Rachel Howells

Banks Peninsula is uniquely placed geographically and ecologically as a biodiversity hotspot. Because biodiversity is mobile, Banks Peninsula acts as a seeding node, and a storehouse of carbon for Greater Christchurch and the wider Canterbury area.

Banks Peninsula contributes significantly to CCC's aspirations for a Greener Liveable Climate Resilient City.

Biodiversity is a public good and all current and future generations of Christchurch residents benefit from its protection and enhancement.

Concerned that the draft LTP is not explicit about the need to control weeds which threaten local ecosystems. If adequate ongoing internal resourcing for Council to meet their obligations to control these threats on Council land is not available, incursion of plant pests will potentially undermine the investment CCC (and many others) have already made in achieving biodiversity gains over many years.

I do not support $20 million expenditure on Takapūneke Reserve which based on my reading of the management plan has limited use by limited number of people.

1658 - Justin Fletcher (Predator Free Waimairi Beach)

Who are we: Predator Free Waimairi Beach (PFWB) is a volunteer organisation with a membership of just over 100 residents undertaking backyard trapping in suburban Waimairi beach and the associated council owned dunes area under a volunteers agreement held with CCC. We have removed over 1000 rats, possums, mustelids and mice from our community in the past 18 months and are also undertaking work with council rangers to support native planting and weed control in the dunes area. Indigenous Biodiversity: We are delighted to see that enhancing biodiversity is recognised as both a community outcome 2024-34 and a strategic priority 2022-25. It is also great that there is a Biodiversity Strategy and that several areas are recognised as Sites of Ecological Significance. Regrettably, despite being acknowledged as a priority, it does not appear that the LTP contains the necessary targeted resourcing to achieve these admirable biodiversity goals. Improving biodiversity has been widely acknowledged as an important issue by central governments across the political spectrum with a national goal of being predator free by 2050 announced by the Key Government in 2016 and supportive initiatives such as Jobs for Nature funding more recently under the Ardern government. Biodiversity has also seen considerable investment from almost all other local governments with dramatic returns (e.g. Wellington and Dunedin). Closer to home, our local regional council is making moves to increase its investment in biodiversity with ECAN proposing a portfolio of new initiatives to be supported by a targeted rate. In contrast, the CCC LTP acknowledges the importance of biodiversity but then fails to plan to sufficiently support it. Our experience to date is that our zones of ecological significance (such as the Christchurch Coastal Strip) are dominated by pest animals (rodents, possums, mustelids & lagomorphs) and pest plants (e.g. blackberry, willow). Some attempted is being made to overcome this by employing hard working park rangers however they appear totally under resourced to overcome the challenges at hand. Given the vision aspired to it would be great if biodiversity work was appropriately resourced within the LTP by undertaking more pest animal and plant control (especially in recognised zones of ecological significance) and more indigenous planting to restore native habitats. It is great to see efforts being made to eradicate pests across large areas of banks peninsular - if CCC were looking for a similar model project to display what can be achieved to residents in urban Christchurch then the natural waterway borders around Southshore spit might make this area an excellent place to start.

[Grants & Funding > Other Community Grants & Funding]

Enhancing biodiversity and adapting to climate change will require sufficient expertise, labour and operational funding. If, for example, it is left to your excellent park rangers to undertake the necessary activities (such as predator control and planting) then they will need to be appropriately supported by plenty of energetic hands to do the doing and have access to wise minds (e.g. ecologists) to offer expert guidance. It is great to see that there is a Biodiversity Strategy and I hope that there is also a supporting team that oversees its implementation. Given that CHCH residents entrust CCC to look after many of our ecologically important areas it should follow that CCC should find a way to adequately undertake this work and that this is supported by ratepayers. It may be that some of this work is best carried out by non-council staff in which case funding for initiatives such as the Community Partnership Fund will need to be improved. Alternatively, a model that may prove itself successful is the targeted funding that has supported the Banks Peninsula Conservation Trust and Riccarton Bush with these areas becoming rare biodiversity success stories within our territorial authority.

You are prioritising things well to a degree. However, there is a severe lack of spending in regards to biodiversity and conservation, which will be receiving roughly $2 million for the next 10 years. In your plan it states in your "community outcomes" that one of your priorities in your "green and liveable city" that "protect and regenerate the environment, especially our biodiversity, water bodies and tree canopy." I struggle to see how this priority will be met with the limited funding dedicated towards biodiversity.

- Sports fields have $100 million worth of funding in the LTP. Biodiversity only has $2 million. We are in the middle of a biodiversity crisis, so this negligence from council is a serious problem; CCC must immediately provide more biodiversity funding.

- The Biodiversity Fund (used to support biodiversity work on private land) must be increased from the proposed amount, $400k.
- - The council team of 2 waterways ecologists has been reduced to 1 which means there is even less capacity to ensure council projects are resulting in good outcomes for waterway health. This must be rectified.

We are making this submission about the weed pest Pig's Ear (Cotyledon Macrantha) and we are asking CCC to partner with us in a collaborative experiment with 3 elements in order to:

1. Establish a rigorous monitoring programme with third-party assistance (e.g., Lincoln University), in order to:
 - a. establish the location of infestations across the catchments,
 - b. monitor the impact of control methods, including boom and topical spraying, and
 - c. monitor biodiversity impacts of both control and non-control approaches over a period of three years. (The submitters have made an application to the Community Biodiversity Fund for financial support for monitoring.)

Discussion with experts in biodiversity monitoring suggests that monitoring undertaken by commercial firms with necessary expertise would cost $10-$12 thousand annually. The submitters have applied to the CCC Biodiversity Fund seeking support for this specific element of the project.

2. Ask the Christchurch City Council, as 'owner' of the sea cliffs in which the greatest infestations and seed-banks for Pigs Ear spread exist, to undertake control by helicopter boom spraying of infested sea cliffs between Menzies Bay and Little Akaloa.

3. We, as the productive landowners, will implement pasture spraying inland from the sea cliffs at our own expense for the duration of the experiment.

While I support and commend the Council in its efforts to deliver on the Community Outcomes & Priorities, I believe the balance is not right and needs to be improved in the area of funding and the definition of associated performance targets/outputs for Regional Parks [Vol. 1 p. 72]. The Level of Service for our "Extensive network of resource-based Parks that are of regional or ecological significance" is under serious threat from introduced animal and plant invasive species, yet these (and other) ever-present and increasing biosecurity threats are given no attention as if "biodiversity" were a given in which the public can have opportunities "to experience, protect, learn about and enhance scenic, cultural and environmental values". While regulated pests get attention under the Regional Pest Management Plan, non-regulated but invasive animals and plants are a major threat to the ecological significance of these parks and neighbouring land, and an increasing burden for Council staff and environmental community groups. My point is that funding needs to be increased 1) to Regional Parks to allow staff to effectively manage biodiversity including the control and/or eradication of invasives, and 2) to community groups who support and work to enhance biodiversity, including through the control of pests and invasives, in association with Council staff and on neighbouring private land. There is abundant information that others can provide on the increasing threat introduced species pose; Council staff do a fantastic job but they need greater financial support. Community groups that help to conserve biodiversity and reduce biosecurity threats for the public good also need sustained or increasing grants, not reductions, for the foreseeable years. There has been a successful environmental partnership through the EPF, which I hope will be maintained and steadily grown.

[Grants & Funding > Other Community Grants & Funding]

As I have written earlier (in the "Have we got the balance right?" section), I believe the Regional Parks and community groups that depend, or are heavily reliant, on Council support through such mechanisms as the Environmental Partnerships Fund (EPF) need to be recognised as requiring greater priority for funding. This because the biodiversity on which Regional Parks and associated private land dedicated for nature conservation is under increasing threat through the spread of invasive introduced animals and plant, a situation that only going to get worse through environmental change and extremes associated with climate change. Staff and volunteers do a great job but I think they will need more funding now and in coming years.

[Parks>Other Red Zone Areas]

I would like to see alternatives to mowing all the redzone areas eg areas of Morgans Valley and along Bridle Path road that are now mowed could be planted in native trees to help stabilise the land and to suck up emissions rather than creating emissions mowing them constantly.

1513 - Hugh Wilson (Maurice White Native Forest Trust)

I'm anxious that conservation, biodiversity and walking initiatives are adequately funded and supported in both Christchurch City and particularly on Banks Peninsula, with the Peninsula's huge value and potential in these respects, and with the looming crisis and catastrophe of climate change.

[Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

Really really make sure that you put climate change right up there as an urgent priority, and prioritize the protection and restoration of Banks Peninsula's unique biodiversity and ecosystems. This is HUGELY important.

1515 - Andrew Douglas-Clifford

There are gaps in biodiversity funding that are crucial to address, especially with central government cutting funding. Such funds include the sustainability fund and waterways restoration budget. Biodiversity staffing and resources also need a boost - current management is not sufficient for the biodiversity crisis that is just as looming as the climate crisis.

Biodiversity should be funded more as we are not on track.

1522 - David Alexander

$21 million for the Takapūneke Reserve, I think these funds should come from a targeted rate for Akaroa, or through parking fees/donations.

1532 - Kit Doudney (Avon-Heathcote Estuary Ihutai Trust)

Other wetland restoration zones

We strongly urge the Council to proceed as quickly as possible with wetland restoration in the Bexley wetlands (especially the area formerly known as Pacific Park) and in the lower Ōpāwaho/Heathcote Rivers (where saltmarsh and saltmeadow should be protected and enhanced). There are opportunities in those areas to start protection and restoration activity. The Estuary Trust is also willing to help the Council on the ground in these areas. Work done now will be a significant contribution to the future resilience of the city in the face of climate change.

Estuary Edge Predator Control

We ask the City Council to increase the Regional Parks budget by $40,000 per annum for predator control work on the Estuary/Ihutai edge. Since September 2021 the Estuary Trust has managed predator control in ecologically vulnerable areas of the estuary edge. This has been funded by Jobs for Nature, but funding finishes in September 2024. A professional pest control company was contracted to do this work and to date, more than 3,900 pest animals (mustelids, hedgehogs, rats and mice) have been trapped. Early results show pied stilts have resumed nesting at MacCormacks Bay and there are increased numbers of teal chicks reaching maturity, as well. An extra $40,000 per year would cover the basic costs of recruiting, training and supervising small teams of volunteers to continue the trapping in areas where predators threaten rare species. The Estuary Trust can donate sufficient traps for this work.

1668 - Simon Mitchell

I would like to see more investment geared towards restoring the port hills to natural bush.

1683 - Anne Forne

I have concerns about • the 21 partner Port Hills-focused Te Kakahu Kahukura (TKK) programme losing funding at a time when it is most needed. Post another Port Hills fire the important role of this community-driven programme in supporting landowners has never been more clear. If appropriately resourced this community-led programme can support: ecological recovery from fire damage; proactively plan for fire risk mitigation of existing and future indigenous biodiversity across the Port Hills; and establish an ecologically robust Port Hills forest that is a biodiversity hub for Christchurch City, with significant climate resilience benefits. • the Council's grant via the EPF to Pest Free Banks Peninsula elimination and feral ungulate programmes has been discontinued. When removing funding the effects on the ground are significant: re-incursion of animal pests will occur and the investment of CCC – not to mention the incredibly hard work of so many in our communities - will have been for nought. This negative impact will also be felt for years on land owned by the Council. • the removal of an EPF grant supporting the Banks Peninsula Conservation Trust's operational costs means their organisational focus has to shift towards securing new funding to “keep the lights on”. This puts pressure on the BPCT's ability to provide the leadership support and facilitation for collaborative community-led programmes like TKK and Pest Free Banks Peninsula. • the draft LTP is not explicit about the need to control weeds which threaten local ecosystems. If adequate ongoing internal resourcing for Council to meet their obligations to control these threats on Council land is not available, incursion of plant pests will potentially undermine the investment CCC (and many others) have already made in achieving biodiversity gains over many years.

The CBRC asks the Council to investigate and implement to provide financial support for the restoration of Steadfast Stream, with a focus on fish passage. We ask funding is put aside to restore the stream for fish passage. At the moment fish passage is inhibited by a range of human-made alterations to the stream bed inhibiting the natural flow of water. This is an opportunity to restore a Whakaraupō stream as part of the continuing restoration of the Steadfast Reserve.

Banded kokopu can be found in the lower reaches of the stream within the residential area. The CBRC is willing to help Council improve fish passage within the whole catchment. Restoration of the whole catchment will slow the flow of water, improve fish abundance and diversity, and will also contribute to the future resilience of the area by slowing water from the expected heavier rainfall

We also ask the Council to increase the Regional Parks budget to support the continued predator control and planting and maintenance work carried out in Steadfast. Since 2021 the Kai Mahi for Nature Team based at Rāpaki had been helping to remove invasive willows and with maintenance, but this team funding ceased at the end of March. Significant work is still required to manage invasive plant species within Steadfast. Willows take away water that would naturally end up in the stream and so making it more difficult for fish passage.

but would like to see a stronger focus on the ecological restoration of Christchurch and recognition of the importance of restoration and regeneration to help with resilience to climate change

1844 - Shelley Washington (Rod Donald Banks Peninsula Trust)

- Integration of Banks Peninsula Ecological Vision into the Council's biodiversity work including:
 - Continued provision of the Christchurch Biodiversity Fund to support protection of high value indigenous biodiversity on private land.
 - A greater focus on controlling weeds that threaten local ecosystems so that CCC can protect its investment in biodiversity on Council land and not undermine the conservation efforts made by adjacent private landowners (and others).

- Retention of public land that has biodiversity, carbon sequestration and recreational benefits and funding for purchasing land for that has high recreation, biodiversity, carbon sequestration values.
- Increased support for other groups and organisations that work together to deliver biodiversity and climate change outcomes, including carbon sequestration through natural regeneration, regenerative tourism and low-carbon recreational opportunities.
- Support for landscape scale regeneration, restoration and fire management in collaboration with Banks Peninsula Conservation Trust, Te Ahu Pātiki Charitable Trust, landowners, Te Kāhahu Kahukura and other community groups.
- Planning protection of cultural and natural landscapes and sites of ecological significance.

We thank you for the opportunity to submit on this Plan. We would value the opportunity to speak in support of our submission at the hearing.

1950 - Shanae Kirk

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?], [Parks > Sports Grounds & Facilities], [Art Gallery & Museums > Museums (Capital)]

No. Allocating just $23 million to museums and art galleries over the next 10 years, compared to $100 million to sports fields is not an adequate balance in money allocation to our cultural environment. In terms of our natural environment, allocating just $2 million to biodiversity is extremely unbalanced, as conservation of our native species is vital. To work towards our 'Predator Free by 2050' goal, we need to allocate more time and monetary resources.

1959 - Brad Waldon-Gibbons more planting of waterways and reserves with native plants and encouraging biodiversity outcomes.

2012 - Nick Boyd

2060 - Liv van Workum

I don't think there is enough priority being put to >>> considering biodiversity

2106 - Courtney Reid (Pūharakekenui Styx Living Laboratory Trust)

[Three Waters > Stormwater & Land Drainage (Capital)]

SLLT strongly supports the following: The commitment to ongoing capital investment into ecological enhancement and stormwater management in the Styx Catchment. Ongoing investment is necessary to retain and build ecological values, especially in the context of increasing development in the catchment.

SLLT strongly suggests that Council consider the following: More evenly spread out spending for ecological improvement projects, most notably 65209 (Styx River Pūharakekenui Regional Parks Restoration) and 65238 (Coastal Plains Threatened Species and Habitat Management). While the Trust strongly supports the initiatives, we note that in each case more than half of the allocated funds are earmarked to be spent in the final three years of the long term plan. (<https://draftbudget.bubbles.orbviz.com/public/Parks%20&%20Heritage/Regional%20Parks/65209> <https://draftbudget.bubbles.orbviz.com/public/Parks%20&%20Heritage/Regional%20Parks/65238>) The Trust is concerned that this could leave these necessary investments highly vulnerable to being deferred. More evenly spreading this investment over the ten year plan would ensure import ecological investments occur, and building this capacity earlier will also pay long term dividends for the inherently slow process of ecosystem recovery.

Also for the trust to be able to access external funding is better for gaining supplemental funding for smaller community groups like the Styx Living Laboratory Trust. The Trust also suggests that a connection be made between where funding is being allocated currently in the Draft LTP and reallocated to where the Trust believes it is needed, for example Community Parks sports fields at $85 million and OARC $108 million, compared with the entire Styx catchment area and surrounding areas at $3 million.

If / when plan changes become necessary, the Council should avoid or limit cuts to ecological projects or the flexibility to do ecological investment within capital works projects. Ecological investment needs to happen alongside urban development to avoid ecosystem degradation. Ecological restoration is also unique in that the value of restored areas increases rather than declines over time, as ecosystems recover from damage and species return. This means early investments provide significant long term benefits that cannot be achieved when these programmes are deferred.

2143 - Vicky Anderson

Extension of existing and increasing native habitats - native trees/wetlands/coast and native tree corridors for bird and all fauna - pest and weed control - predator proof fenced areas - Wellington has excellent examples of projects, meaning they have native birds through out the city including central city - all work that encourages native species (and added benefits e.g. flood protection, less run-off into rivers etc) - public education (as currently on social media): warnings about invasive species, reporting etc More support for proven authentic community groups (especially voluntary groups). Heritage isn't so important to me personally. Keep some key sites/buildings but don't over-spend on restoration that is too costly.

22 - Grace Colcord

Important, especially within protection. Which sometimes mean to stop interfering with the natural life, and fund into restorative groups to protect and sustain our Whenua rather than constantly build.

2269 - Lyn Leslie (Te Pātaka o Rākaihautū Banks Peninsula Community Board)

The funding that focusses on Pest Management on Te Pātaka o Rākaihautū Banks Peninsula and the city is important to the community and the partnerships involved. The Board wishes the retention of all funds relevant to pest management and continue to be accessible to the community.

2362 - Rosalee Jenkin

I would like to see more funding allocated to increasing urban tree cover and other biodiversity measures.

2385 - Ezra Mussa

[Grants & Funding > Other Community Grants & Funding]

BIODIVERSITY Sports fields have $100 million worth of funding in the LTP. Biodiversity only has $2 million. We are in the middle of a biodiversity crisis, so this negligence from council is a serious problem; CCC must immediately provide more biodiversity funding. The Biodiversity Fund (used to support biodiversity work on private land) must be increased from the proposed amount, $400k. The council team of 2 waterways ecologists has been reduced to 1 which means there is even less capacity to ensure council projects are resulting in good outcomes for waterway health. This must be rectified.

2391 - Mitchell Rogers

Consider parks with 'meadow' environments rather than just mowed grass. This could be more native planting which can promote further biodiversity and habitats. Avoid sprays in these areas.

2465 - Nicky Snoyink (Forest and Bird)

Christchurch City Council (CCC) has, as a core function, a responsibility to sustainably manage the natural and physical resources in its rohe. This is to meet the reasonably foreseeable needs of future generations; to safeguard the life supporting capacity of air, water, soil, and ecosystems; and to avoid, remedy, or mitigate any adverse effects of activities on the environment. CCC has a function to maintain biodiversity.

Forest & Bird seeks that the Council consider managing and increasing biodiversity across all aspects of its functions to allow for a more strategic and coordinated approach. Forest & Bird were dismayed by the dis-establishment of the Council's Natural Environment Team. Ensuring that in-house ecological expertise is properly resourced will limit the amount spent on external consultants and ensure that biodiversity can be monitored and enhanced across all Council functions.

Council needs to seriously consider re- establishing a team that would bring together properly resourced in-house ecologists and relevant policy staff in order to achieve the goals set out in the Biodiversity Strategy, and in particular increase climate resilience with nature being central to achieving resilience. This oversight would not be simply focused on Parks but include 3 Waters, Drainage etc.

Forest & Bird seeks that a dedicated and on-going funding is allocated to meet Council obligations set out in the RMA (1991) and to properly achieve the goals set out in the Council's Biodiversity Strategy.

Nature is in crisis, and coupled with increasing climate disruption there has never been a more important time for the Council to champion the Biodiversity Strategy and ensure this is properly monitored. Central government Jobs for Nature funding provided some additional resources for Council, it is understood that this funding assisted in increasing weed management for example.

Increasing tree planting is a laudable goal, however Forest & Bird considers that protecting and enhancing rare and threatened ecosystems that exist on private land is vital. It is difficult to recreate if these ecosystems are lost or degraded.

Forest & Bird submits that Council take the opportunity for the strategic purchase of threatened ecosystems when opportunities arise. For instance saltmarsh and wetland ecosystems and regenerating forests. . These are integral in managing the impacts of climate disruption as well as protecting and enhancing threatened species that exist within them.

2508 - Oliver Hutchison

[Parks > Tree Canopy]

Funding should be increased to implement the biodiversity strategy, including planting street trees and creating urban greenways.

2639 - Callum Ward (Waihoru Spreydon Cashmere Heathcote Community Board)

3. The Board wishes to ensure sufficient operational spending is set aside for the Pest Plant Plan, and for the work to be coordinated across units. This relates in particular to pest plant control along the Ōpāwaho Heathcote River Corridor, where land is owned and managed separately by Parks, Transport and Three Waters. Having an internal resource coordinating pest management with these three departments, and involving community groups such as the OHRN, would deliver far better value for money and better outcomes for the river than the current piecemeal approach.

The Board supports the following matters concerning Parks Facilities, which is a key Community Board Plan priority: • In 2014 there was an opportunity for Council to purchase the ecologically significant land at Kennaway Farm, which was not taken up. The recent Resource Consent, ecological and now legal issues created by the Portlink industrial complex has identified for the Board, the need for Council to have a policy and process that enables the purchase of strategic ecologically significant land as it comes up for sale (ref. Port Link). The Board requests that Council investigate this.

- That $150,000 be put aside for 10-year strategy weed control of Sycamore trees in the Ōpāwaho Heathcote River and Port Hills environments.

2647 - Penny Carnaby

I would like the biodiversity operational expenditure to be increased by at least 25% and request that the Environmental Partnership fund (EPF) be reinstated.

- Concerned that the draft LTP is not explicit about the need to control weeds which threaten local ecosystems. If adequate ongoing internal resourcing for Council to meet their obligations to control these threats on Council land is not available, incursion of plant pests will potentially undermine the investment CCC (and many others) have already made in achieving biodiversity gains over many years.

Protecting and Enhancing the Port Hills for People to Enjoy

The Society's long-term vision includes restoring native vegetation to the gullies of the Port Hills including wetlands, shrublands and broadleaf-podocarp forest. Reforestation of the gullies will create ecological corridors, provide habitat for native fauna, reduce erosion and sedimentation, improve freshwater values, enhance community wellbeing, improve resilience to extreme weather events, sequester carbon and restore mahinga kai values. These landscape-scale projects require a collaborative approach, with councils, hapū, community organisations and private landowners working together.

Strategic Direction for Biodiversity

We note that a 2023 internal Council stocktake of biodiversity management actions identified that while the Christchurch City Council's Biodiversity Strategy 2008 - 2035 sets a clear strategic direction and work programme for biodiversity management across Christchurch and Banks Peninsula, this is hamstrung by the lack of biodiversity staff operating at a strategic level. Instead, biodiversity management operates on a siloed basis through ecological staff within individual Council asset groups. As a consequence, there is no one in Council responsible for pushing biodiversity management in a holistic, integrated manner. We consider this a significant weakness in the Council's approach to biodiversity management, and request that a team at the strategic level be established to provide a "home" to biodiversity management at the Council, and that ecological staff numbers within asset groups be increased to reflect their importance in taking frontline action to enhance our biodiversity.

In addition, we are concerned that while the Council in general has good intentions in relation to biodiversity management, there is a wider problem with resourcing these good intentions. A clear example of this is the internal Pest Plant Management Plan, which is being finalised but cannot be implemented due to lack of funding. Controlling weeds on Council land is an important first step towards enabling wider restoration of our indigenous ecosystems. We request that the Council add funding to the LTP to enable this plan's implementation.

[Full attachment available]

Council must allocate more funding to implement the biodiversity strategy.. Evidence shows there are tangible benefits to increasing tree cover in urban streets and creating green urban pathways, including reducing urban surface temperatures, and increasing appearance and value. They are also an attractive asset to local communities and can provide significant social and visual benefits to the overall appearance of any given street.

2756 - Stephanie Defregger

Parks need to have more native plants. Reforesting of the Port Hills with native plants.

2796 - Annelies Pekelharing

[Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

Plantations. I guess this is really ECAN's domain, but I am too late for my submission. This really matters to me. We have just survived the logging operation of a bloc of pinetrees above us, which was extremely unsettling and disturbing. As we live in regenerating bush it was not a pleasant sight to have a bloc of pinus radiata grow next to our 104ha covenant. The emissions in roading, the travel to and from the site to the harbour, the gigantic machines operating, run off, all point to a totally wrong undertaking in a time where CO2 emissions need to come down drastically. It is incredible landowners do not need resource consent at present to grow a bloc of pinetrees, and the high value of carbon credits actually encourages this. Banks Peninsula is not suitable for the growing of pines. I submit that the consent to plant pine plantations will have to pass many more hurdles. And that carbon credits will be more lucrative for the planting of indigenous vegetation.

Biodiversity Strategy

We do not support removal of the $340,000K biodiversity fund, we are in a biodiversity crisis. Now is not the time to remove this fund. We would like to see the fund's criteria changed so that it is not just focused on private land as it makes it nearly impossible for most of our urban groups to apply. Greater in-house resources for biodiversity rather than contractors and to enable the biodiversity team to be embedded and active throughout all departments.

The biodiversity strategy needs to be integrated with the climate change strategy.

2924 - John Gibbs

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Creating a Climate Fund]

I believe that Climate Change shouldn't need to be a separate category - expenditure on adaptation and mitigation should be embedded in every activity. As long as it is labelled separately everyone else thinks it has nothing to do with them. Ditto the other/equally important big challenge facing us - biodiversity.

[Spending > Capital Programme (General)]

Second there is continued treatment of the Environment as a separate entity and one couched in terms of costs rather than potential returns. I live on the Banks Peninsula - the Environment is part of our infrastructure and it is an important asset and driver of the local economy. I see tourist businesses that are reaping the benefit of 30 years of consistent investment in the environment. I see numerous businesses that wouldn't exist if we had continued to damage our flora and fauna. And no amount of investment would be able to bring them back. A large part of the hospitality and retail business in Akaroa is driven by people who come here to enjoy the natural world. The demand for 'nature' , if you will , will continue to grow - globally - The Peninsula could be well placed as a biodiversity hot spot. However, as I mentioned these investments take time to bear fruit (just like lots of other investments in infrastructure). Stopping a programme doesn't just put it on hold - its often the equivalent to taking a write off of all the expenditure to date. Perhaps the best example is the pull back from eliminating possum during the TB scare - farmers tell me that the job was nearly done and a small additional expenditure would have seen that become a reality and we wouldn't be spending millions of dollars on it today. So please rethink your approach to the environment - it is important infrastructure that drives our economy.

2939 - John Thomsen

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > City Planning], [Parks > Tree Canopy]

Also we consider the city needs more green space and trees but excess residential development should not be consented without extending its planting of trees to negate the effect of felling in lush semi rural spaces that are fast becoming part of our city urban sprawl. Also we are wishing to promote the vast beauty of the port hills , and to encourage more bird life, (Kereru, tui) and native species like the skink, we must seriously consider how much we wish to develop on this hill spaces without serious consenting, mitigation from the developers, so as to avoid harm to our wild life and vegetation and green spaces for enjoyment.

3031 - Lee Osborn

[Strategic Direction>Climate Change]; [Strategic Direction>Have we got the balance right?]

Not with regards to the environment. In a climate crisis and with central government reducing funding for predator control and conservation in a short-term thinking way for political expediency, it is imperative that any long term planning focuses on this. It is much more important than events, flash buildings and other nice-to-haves which won't be much use on a damaged planet.

[Spending>Our Proposed Spending]

It depends what was meant by core infrastructure and facilities. We should reduce spending on events that benefit vested interests and stick to core council activities, boosting some such as predator control which, oddly, hardly rates a mention in the ten year plan.

[Strategic Direction>Climate Change]; [Other/Special Interest Topics>Tarras Airport]

There should be more emphasis on predator control, climate change mitigation and reduction and conservation. If CCC was serious about environmental concerns (e.g. you are one of very few cities to include cruise ship emissions which is great) you would stop the ludicrous Tarras airport proposal.

[Parks>Wharves & Jetties]; [Parks>Foreshore]

It is not clear from the consultation document what funding the coastal and foreshore environment will receive beyond sorting out the Akaroa wharf. Given the classification of the Christchurch Coastal Strip as a zone of ecological significance and the biodiversity and climate goals of the LTP more must be done here. Park rangers appear totally under-resourced. It would be great if biodiversity work was appropriately resourced within the LTP by undertaking more pest animal and weed control.

304 - Timothy Sjoberg

I am happy with the proposed balance but would like to see more money go towards restoration and predator control. Research indicates that if a community has a joint project such as community trapping, they become more connected which builds resilience in challenging times, people spend more time outside which is proven to increase mental and physical health and once biodiversity is protected it is able to thrive which again feeds that community with good news. I do think its embarrassing that Christchurch, the city that my two young children grow up in are not exposed to more nature birds, that Christchurch is one of only a handful of New Zealand cities that does not have a functional Tui population, that we are surrounded by native assets such as Banks Peninsula, the coast, rivers and streams yet the native biodiversity is low because of predators and lack of native vegetation able to sustain bird, lizard and invertebrate numbers.

[Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

I would prefer to see more money going into increasing biodiversity and building resilient communities. Predator control enables restoration planting to grow faster, nature vegetation is needed to slow the increase of climate change and the impacts severe weather events have, and will continue to have on Christchurch.

Biodiversity

5. Under the Resource Management Act 1991, the Council has statutory obligations to maintain indigenous biodiversity. A CCC Biodiversity Strategy 2008 - 2035 is currently operational although it needs updating.

- 5.1. However, since the disestablishment of the Natural Environment Team, there has been little impetus to complete strategic actions in the Biodiversity Strategy. A 2021 stocktake of council biodiversity management actions, up-dated in 2023, indicates that only 50% of strategic actions have been completed.
- 5.2. The lack of strategic focus on biodiversity means that Council ecologists are working in siloed asset groups - Three Waters and Parks. We note that the number of ecologists employed by the Council has, alarmingly, dropped from 6 to 3.5. At a time when the pressure on biodiversity has never been greater, this dearth of ecological expertise puts the effectiveness of the Council's biodiversity response at risk.
- 5.3. While the Council has a well-meaning attitude towards supporting biodiversity, as evidenced by statements in its Strategic Priorities, the consequence of not having biodiversity organised and represented at a strategic level means that there is insufficient integration and co-ordination of action across the Council responsibilities in the biodiversity area.
- 5.4. Evidence of this is witnessed in the current state of pest plant management, outside of Regional Parks. There is no co-ordinated whole-of-city overview or action to monitor pest plants despite a comprehensive Pest Plant Management Plan, drafted in 2022, that includes a whole-of-Council monitoring and co-ordination aspect. This plan, while being used by the Regional Parks team, otherwise languishes in an unadopted draft form due to the lack of strategic recognition of the importance of the whole-of-Council implementation of it.
- 5.5. It was disappointing, but illustrative of a lack of strategic vision for biodiversity, that a Councillor amendment to the LTP "Invests $120,000 in FY 2024/25 to implement the Council's Pest Plant Management Plan currently being finalised." was not agreed to, we understand, after push-back from senior management.
- 5.6. Also perhaps indicative of the issue with biodiversity finding a suitable strategic position, there is no separate funding allocation for pest plant management in Three Waters. In our opinion, there is insufficient attention to the actual task of managing weeds in waterways, apart from the continual harvesting of aquatic plants for drainage purposes.
 - 5.6.1. Removing, where possible, or limiting the spread of weed species on riverbank margins through targeted programmes should be funded in its own right.
- 5.7. Also indicative of a lack of strategic heft for biodiversity within strategic planning is the level of biodiversity grant funding available. When the pressure from pest plants throughout the city has never been higher, increasing the level of funding available is an obvious requirement to assist landowners in the city's fight against weeds that respect no public/private land boundaries.

- 5.9. We request that an appropriate allocation is made in the current LTP for the finalising, adoption and, most importantly, the whole-of-council implementation of the draft Pest Plant Management Plan. Review the decision on the Councillor amendment to fund this.
- 5.10. We request that an appropriate allocation is made in the current LTP for the re-establishment of a strategic-level Natural Environment and Biodiversity team to monitor and implement the Council's own Biodiversity Strategy and to provide strategic direction for biodiversity protection.

3573 - Joyce Yager

Parks: There are an excessive number of natives being planted, many are quite ugly. Christchurch was known as the Garden City but now it's ugly. There are very few places now one is able to sit by the riverbank as they've been planted out in excessive quantities of natives and grasses, whether they're Carex secta, Anemanthele lessoniana or whatever they are, they are now home to rats and mice which makes for a most uncomfortable time of relaxing by the river. Plant them at the beach, but leave the cities riverbanks free. Amusingly, the photo on pg 12 shows the river with an open riverbank on one side and unattractive grasses on the other, including beautiful daffodils. Straight away I can see what is a pretty, inviting, people friendly, spot.. and it's Not in amongst the natives. Stretching out beside the river and fighting with rats is Not a pleasant thought.. or action. The grasses planted at intersections too are dangerous. They grow high and hinder visibility and obstruct the view. They are not maintained therefore ought to be removed for safety.

3636 - Kay Robertson

Indigenous biodiversity needs to be protected and restored, but I don't see actually being prioritised in the LTP. Council staff needs to be given more resources and direction to priorities biodiversity protection - specifically our indigenous species. This means plants, birds, reptiles and insects. We need to prioritise the control of three things: predators, weeds, and pollutants entering our rivers & estuary. That's sediment, plastics, zinc, copper and other pollutants.

We generally think of the built environment when we're talking about capital, but we need to think of the natural environment as capital as well. It is one of the 6 capitals and it is really the most important one. We are the guardians of one of the most unique habitats and species in the world. We are also one of the most weed infested places in the world. Introduced predator species assault our native birds, reptiles and insects. I really want to see more done to bring back the native birds - like Wellington has done. There are big efforts on Banks Peninsula and the Summit Road Society, but in Christchurch city it is largely volunteer groups. We need paid coordinators and organisers. There's an army of willing volunteers out there, but they can't carry the load on their own. Volunteers' circumstances change, they move away, some die. For a consistent program, with continuity that will achieve results, the Council needs to back it financially. Wellington has shown what's possible. We can do it too - but the Council needs to step up and provide the necessary support and leadership.

3645 - Sophie McKenzie

CCC needs to allocate more funding to implement biodiversity strategies, e.g., creating more urban green paths and tree cover; this also allows local communities to come together.

3651 - Kate Innes

Increased funding of the actions proposed in the council's biodiversity strategy

3658 - Tom Logan

Council must allocate more funding to implement the biodiversity strategy. The benefits of urban greening include (<https://www.planning.org/publications/report/9245695/>) 1. Heat mitigation and shading (this is critical that we plan for this with sufficient time for the trees to grow) 2. Reduction in urban flood risk 3. Ecological and biodiversity 4. Mental and physical wellbeing improvements 5. Improved economic and amenity values

3660 - Alice Shanks

I wish the Council to put regulations in place to control the location and impacts of exotic tree plantations registered in the ETS as permanent forest. The regulations need to include the obligation to plant to reduce seed spread, maintain firebreaks, and remove wilding trees, and control pest animals (possums, deer, goats, pigs, wallabies) and agricultural and biodiversity weeds. On 3 November 2023 changes were made by MPI to give Councils more power to decide where new forests are located, and the regulations now apply to both plantation forestry and exotic continuous-cover forests (carbon forests) that are deliberately established for commercial purposes. The National Environmental Standards for Commercial Forestry wishes to see all forests are well-managed to ensure any adverse effects are managed. For example, assessing wilding conifer risk, establishing setbacks from roads, dwellings and waterways, and managing harvests. For Banks Peninsula the spread of wildings and who is responsible for their removal requires addressing through Council regulations to prevent the cost of ongoing control of spread of wilding exotic trees being paid by ratepayers. Likewise the increased fire risk from flammable exotic forestry needs to be addressed by the Council to prevent the costs of controlling fires and recovery being a growing burden to ratepayers. <https://www.mpi.govt.nz/biosecurity/exotic-pests-and-diseases-in-new-zealand/long-term-biosecurity-management-programmes/wilding-conifers/> "In the wrong place, certain species of conifers are a major threat to New Zealand's ecosystems, land, and farms. Their seeds can be blown many kilometres by wind, and quickly infest vulnerable landscapes in affected regions. They spread into farmland, the high country (including above the native bush line), and public conservation land. If not contained or removed, these wilding conifer trees compete with native plants and animals for sunlight and water. Within a few years they can severely alter natural landscapes and obscure the views New Zealand is famous for. Controlling the spread of self-seeded wilding conifers is important if we're to protect our ecosystems, iconic landscapes, and farms. Control will also help with water conservation in some regions, particularly the South Island high country." I have experienced the impact of Pest-Free Banks Peninsula when I visited the Ōnuku hostel. The bird song was huge and humbling. All it took was the removal of predators. Investment of rates into biodiversity will create natural "events" that will attract visitors to Christchurch and Banks Peninsula. Ocean tours, Geopark, farm visits, forests with walks and birdsong, mountain-bike trails community engagement in weed and pest volunteer programmes is what will make young people come home and stay here.

3690 - Jono de Wit (Greater Ōtautahi)

Council must allocate more funding to implement the biodiversity strategy (less than 50% of actions are currently being implemented). An investment in more trees and biodiversity should go hand in hand with an increased priority in the planting of native plant types in appropriate circumstances.

Biodiversity * Biodiversity is only $2million in the LTP * Sports fields have $100 million over the LTP. Can we take some from this? * Gaps in biodiversity funding. * Jobs for Nature – who will pick up that work? Ends in 2025. This focuses on public land. We need funding to continue that work

3701 - Rod Hay

The Consultation Document is disappointingly silent on biodiversity protection and enhancement, despite the fine efforts of the small number of well-qualified CCC biodiversity experts. I volunteer up to 200 hours per year supporting the biodiversity team, providing ongoing protection

One small area is the use of contractors to plant shrubs and trees on the Port Hills. With others, I volunteer to weed and protect these plantings, but much of our time is spent repairing and replacing plant cages that have been inadequately installed. Without our volunteer work, much of the investment in restoration of native vegetation would be wasted. A modest addition to the excellent and hard-working CCC biodiversity team to supervise contractor would ultimately save money and resources.

3753 - Helen Shaw (Lyttelton Reserves Committee)

Investing more in native planting in parks and reserves will assist with managing the effects of climate change by reducing runoff and erosion.

3759 - Ben Connolly

More needs to be spent on biodiversity,

For more funding for biodiversity and for this to be better integrated into all work streams across council.

Need more budget for weed and pest management to be proactive and not just reactive. The Jobs for nature funding provided an opportunity to do more work in this space but that funding has come to an end. >>> An increase in focus and resources is required by councils to address ongoing biodiversity decline and implement national direction and shared regional approaches. Continued work on Significant Natural Areas (SNAs) Biodiversity funding and staffing require immediate attention, alongside the necessity for better coordination and integration of biodiversity efforts within the council's strategies and teams. Better integration of biodiversity strategy with the climate change strategy Concerns have been expressed regarding the fate of Significant Natural Areas (SNAs) and the need for continued progress irrespective of government direction. There's an emphasis on the importance of natural regenerating forests and cost-effective measures such as land acquisition for regeneration. How are we implementing the biodiversity strategy? Ad Hoc and mostly by default, No-one is championing this, nor monitoring it (was the role of the Natural Environment Team) Ideally we need an "all council ecological team" as there is no integration of work streams across different asset groups within council such as Parks, Transport, Land Drainage, Property etc. Continue with SNA work, acquire strategic land, adequately manage pest plants and pest animals, actively protect and restore threatened ecosystems, Need funding for implementation of the biodiversity strategy and resources. Especially strategic land acquisition Additional council funding for biodiversity needs to be included in the LTP if the key projects are to go ahead. This includes keeping existing budget lines, adding budget for additional work and staff, and to implement the biodiversity strategy. Limited budget for pest / plant management from a bio-diversity perspective. The current budget is inadequate to manage pest plants in our natural areas, and therefore we are losing the battle >>> The natural environment team was disestablished – need to reinstate the Natural Environment team or establish a cross-council biodiversity team.

3791 - Sandra Beltman

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Vertical Capital], [Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?], [Grants & Funding > Orana Park Funding]

I feel that there has been overinvestment in sports facilities and big ticket new building projects generally, when more needs to be done for managing the base health of our environment, and existing flora and fauna. Including Orana Park, a place that many of us identify with from childhood and as parents, and an amazing achievement for a city the size of Chch, it is one of places of pride.

3798 - M-Webb User

and The Port Hills and the peninsula protect from erosion and plant in natives for fire resilience and encouraging flora and fauna to thrive.

3802 - Matthew Baird

Biodiversity: Funding for biodiversity is a pitiful $2m in the LTP. Compare this to the $100m for sports fields in the LTP. Biodiversity is critical to healthy ecosystems and waterways, and this has positive flow on effects to people. There are significant gaps in our biodiversity funding, with only 50% of actions being implemented.

Biodiversity management currently sits under the parks team, which limits their ability to work across council and focus on biodiversity outcomes strategically. Please look into setting up a biodiversity team that operates across all teams and is integrated within the climate strategy (to make up for the loss of the Natural Environment Team). Please also ensure sufficient staffing with appropriate expertise (e.g. the CCC used to have two waterways ecologists but now, worryingly, only has one.) Regardless of central government direction, please continue to progress Significant Natural Areas work.

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > City Planning], [Strategic Direction > Climate Change], [Three Waters > Waterways Quality & Compliance (Operations)]

Sustainable management is crucial.

Better protection of high value soils for food production is also needed.

Also both the climate crisis & the biodiversity crisis need to be better recognised, such as in management of council/public lands across the city including riparian areas.

3827 - Ken Morison

[Parks > Parks Maintenance]

I'd like you to think much more about Banks Peninsula and not just CCC owned reserves as part of our heritage.

You need to enable private land owners who are making the Peninsula a better place through native regeneration, weed control (e.g., wilding pines, spur valerian, pig's ear, gorse, barberry, elderberry, sycamore) and pest control.

The Parks and Foreshore section implicitly concentrates on the old smaller Chch city boundaries while ignoring the wonderful Peninsula asset.

I am especially concerned that the CCC does not yet seem to be using the Resource Management (National Environmental Standards for Commercial Forestry) Amendment Regulations 2023 to control pine planting on Banks Peninsula (BP) for carbon credits. It is just so wrong to plant pines on BP when the area is so much better suited to native plants. The Port Hills fires have proved this twice. While pine planting is not illegal the CCC must develop a visual for a natural BP. One day we will have the wonderful BP National Park. The CCC can use these regulations to restrict pine planting.

3859 - Sally Widdowson

I'm also concerned that there should be some control to prevent widespread private conifer plantation. This has been encouraged to gain carbon credits but is inherently harmful due to the invasive nature and the need to then spend large amounts of money and time with wilding pine elimination.

3875 - Maureen McCloy

Also, >>> greater biodiversity protection should be high priorities - I am concerned about the significant deterioration of our natural environment, that has occurred within my lifetime, and the state we are leaving it in for those who come after us.

Reducing emissions is the number one priority for me, and that will help balance the needs of today's residents with the needs of future generations. Protecting our indigenous biodiversity is an important part of that, but I don't think there is sufficient emphasis on that in the draft LTP.

I would like to see more allocated to biodiversity and climate change.

The balance is wrong when we spend $2M on biodiversity and $100M on sports fields. There are a lot of good projects ending in 2024-2025, Jobs for Nature, Community Partnership fund, Waterways restoration. I suggest $50M on biodiversity and $50M on sports fields would be a better split.

477 - Niki Davidson

Transport > Transport (Operations)

I dont know where this fits but there needs to be a greater focus on weed control ie sycamores, wilding pines etc on roadsides and private property in Banks Peninsula. They are dominating many roadsides and preventing native species from growing. Natives will do a much better job of erosion control and biodiversity enhancement than the weed species. Money spent on trimming would be better spent on long term removal.

[Parks > Parks Maintenance]

Support funding proposals for Parks and Foreshore. Your summary on p32 lists the built/infrastructure aspects, particularly for sporting and recreational needs, which is important. However, more emphasis needs to be put on protecting what remains of our native bush remnants, particularly on Banks Peninsula. The work of rangers, in managing the impact of smothering pest plants (old man's beard, boneseed, banana passionfruit, pigs ear), and animals (goat, pigs, deer still decimating large tracts of regenerating bush) and supporting community groups in new plantings, fencing, stock control, maintaining walking tracks the work is enormous. Greening the city and Banks Peninsula mitigates the affects of climate change, sediment flow into streams, harbours and estuaries and must be properly funded.

934 - Warren Pettigrew

I am a [REDACTED] and now committed to conservation. I try to do at least 2 days per week of voluntary weeding somewhere on Banks Peninsular with a primary focus on old mans beard in Sugarloaf Reserve.

Theme:

Because for various rarely discussed reasons, the world-wide cost of living is going to steadily increase. Local government and national government spend will decline over time. It will be just too easy to spend money on nice to have infrastructure that gains votes and short-lived smiles rather than boring old conservation. Without conservation, humanity as we know it, has no future.

The present draft indicates no significant change in conservation spend, but the pressure will be on.

My submission promotes cost saving opportunities to allow additional and continuing spend on conservation. It presents proven ideas for carbon absorption and reduction of CO₂ emissions to go a small way to counter societies ongoing CO₂ (rising) emissions.

Fundamentally, our present way of living and expectations are absolutely unsustainable. Business as usual is not an option. There is no planet B.

CO₂ levels are increasing in a straight-line rate despite electric cars, massive solar and wind farms and all sorts of international initiatives.

SUMBISSIONS:

Infrastructure:

Cutting spend

The quickest and easiest way to cut spend is to reduce the spend on new infrastructure, primarily buildings and roads. When our children and grandchildren look back at history while very likely living in poverty and ask what did their parents/grandparents do wrong? Why was so much money spent on roads and fancy buildings when a climate catastrophe was looming?

Sure, ratepayers won't be happy that their roads are slow and rough but for the future of civilisation, people must be discouraged from driving rather than encouraged. As for new airports, say no more!

I am sorry that there are no quantified facts, just ideas and principles most of which are not my own (see references) but just put together as opportunities to save CCC spend and enhance the environment. Spend reduction in some areas won't be popular with many citizens (7), but measures to ward off climate instability and resource reduction are essential.

Not Stated

Increasing urban greenery and vegetation would be a nice way to improve the urban environment. Also allocate funding to meet biodiversity goals.

- Biodiversity is a public good and all current and future generations of Christchurch residents benefit from its protection and enhancement.

☒ We are concerned that the draft LTP is not explicit about the need to control weeds which threaten local ecosystems. [Strategic Direction > Other Policy Matters], [Grants & Funding > Other Community Grants & Funding]

An area of focus needs to be on environmental weeds, and by environmental weeds I am making the distinction from agricultural weeds, ie weeds that are invading our native ecosystems. When driving around the country you can see that the war on many of the environmental weed species has already been lost, but here on Banks Peninsula we have a chance to get many of the weeds under control before they get out of control (old man's beard, banana passionfruit, sycamore, pampas, honeysuckle, wilding conifers, etc). What I would like to see is a single organisation responsible for devising and implementing a Banks Peninsula wide weed strategy.

Because currently we have ECAN, CCC, DOC, LINZ, Waka Kotahi all going in different directions and lacking an overall coherent strategy. Such an approach has been very successful in other areas, such as Nelson (Project De-Vine Environmental Trust). I also support conservation covenants as way to protect our native forests, wetlands and other unique ecosystems, and support funding to help their establishment and ongoing maintenance. Another focus I believe we need to have is on pests. The work that Pest Free Banks Peninsula is doing towards eliminating possums has been transformational in the areas through which they have been working. We need to be continuing supporting this effort until possums have been eliminated from Banks Peninsula. Similarly, the work that has been done on eliminating goats from the peninsula has been hugely successful. We need to leverage off these learnings in order to achieve the elimination of pigs and deer, as these ungulates are very damaging to our native forests and ecosystems. Of these two (pigs and deer), pigs would be the first priority due to (1) they are very damaging to both ecosystems and farms (2) they have an extraordinary high reproduction rate – two litters of a dozen or more piglets per litter, resulting in rapid, exponential growth.

I am in support of the Council's continued provision of the Christchurch Biodiversity Fund to support protection of high value indigenous biodiversity on private land. Moreover I would support the fund to be increased to support the work that private landowners and charitable trusts do to protect and enhance the biodiversity in the region.

Officer Response

Submissions supporting LTP Proposal for funding public conveniences:

Those in support indicated support for projects already in the draft LTP, in particular Barrington Park.

Submissions suggesting other alternatives:

The majority of submissions commented on particular facilities that submitters believed needed to be renewed or built. They were not opposing the funding but suggesting that certain projects should be prioritised within this funding envelope. The specifics were:

- Toilets at: Wainui, Bromley, Parklands, Hagley Park, Francis Reserve, Birdlings Flat and Little River
- More water fountains in general
- A desire for more/better/continued rubbish bins in parks

Submissions opposing LTP Proposal for funding public conveniences:

There were no submissions that opposed funding public conveniences. As noted above, submitters preferred to focus on how the funding should be used.

The Draft LTP includes $5 million for public convenience renewals across the first 3 years of the programme. This represents 6% of the overall capital budget for buildings and structures.

Parks receives a very large volume of requests in this area. As we have limited budget, all requests need to be carefully prioritised to ensure we meet the greatest needs. This highlights the need to accelerate planning for this service to ensure council stays abreast of maintaining levels of service and managing growth.

Toilets:

We are aware of concerns with the toilets at Wainui, Hagley Park, Birdlings Flat and Little River and are either investigating or actioning these through existing programmes. Bromley and Parklands are not currently scheduled for renewal as their condition assessment did not highlight them as problematic. If the condition assessment changes or the use of the parks greatly increases, then these would be considered. Francis Reserve is a neighbourhood park. Councils policy is to provide toilets within sports parks and significant metropolitan destination parks only at this time.

Water Fountains:

Water fountains are generally provided in sports parks where there are a high number of recreational users.

Rubbish bins:

New Smart bins with larger capacity have replaced old style litter bins. This approach targets litter removal where needed in high use parks and encourages park users to dispose of their rubbish in their Council provided red, green, and yellow bins at home.

Community Partnership Rangers currently work with community groups to better inform them of the need to respect green spaces by taking their rubbish with them. The shift from old style litter bins to smart bins had reduced bin overflow, reducing loose litter in parks.

In house maintenance commences on the 1st of July including refuse management. The team will be collecting data on volumes over the first 12 months of the programme. This information will be used to inform targeted decision-making regarding bin locations in the future.

We own and operate the Wainui Community Centre on the site of the former Wainui School on Wainui Main Road.

>>> Long-time resident XXXXXXXX was part of the team who built the toilet block in Stanbury Reserve over 40 years ago. He presented a deputaion on the state of the facility to the Banks Peninsula Community Board in March 2023. These toilets are of key importance to the bay, as they are the only public toilets servicing the beach and foreshore area in Wainui and get considerable use especially when the populaion swells in peak times. As a result, some urgent maintenance has been carried out which was quite welcome, but a number of actions have been put on hold pending a decision on the future of the building as to whether it will be renewed or refurbished. We ask that we be updated with any developments on this.

Halswell Quarry Reserve Halswell Quarry reserve is a major asset to the south west of Christchurch. My family use it several times a week and it is unique to Christchurch. It is becoming more and more popular, and I consider it is important it continues to receive suitable funding consistent with its use to maintain and develop the park facilities. No specific line item is included for capital improvements, which could include the need for upgraded toilet facilities, trails, and lighting, so I hope that it includes sufficient operational budget available.

Not from my perspective of a Wainui Banks Peninsula ratepayer. There are several projects the Council has been considering for Wainui, but none are mentioned in the LTP. There was no mention in any of the detailed capital expenditure documents about the Wainui slipway and breakwater repairs, nor the necessary drinking water treatment improvements to make the supply compliant with the protozoa requirements of the rules (mentioned in the Akaroa Mail late last year), nor the new public toilet block on Stanbury Reserve. So where will the funds come from for these significant expenditure projects, or do we assume they are not going ahead in the next 10 years?

But not completely. Since the earthquakes, I have been trying to draw attention to the terrible state of the toilets in Hagley Park. Go and see for yourself, and decide whether you think it is up to scratch. Post Covid was another perfect time to address this issue before tourists started coming back to our city. o Wainui doesn't have many of the services/infrastructure of a city, but we do expect the same standard as the city in the essential services we have such as safe drinking-water, well-maintained and safe rural roads, well-maintained and safe public facilities (eg, public toilets, wharf, boat slipway and breakwater, tennis courts), used by visitors (many from metropolitan Christchurch) and ourselves. General Comments 20 submissions were received addressing wharves and jetties.

4 comments supported, and 2 comments opposed.

9 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 5 comments provided general feedback addressing wharves and jetties.

Officer Response

Submissions supporting LTP Proposal for funding wharves and jetties:

Several submissions supported the spending, particularly for Akaroa Wharf, noting the increased tourist use.

Submissions opposing LTP Proposal for funding wharves and jetties:

The most common topic raised was Akaroa Wharf. Several submissions questioned why spending $23 million was necessary, others questioned the spending given expected sea level rises and one questioned the design.

Submissions suggesting alternatives:

Several submissions made suggestions for other areas they believed required attention, but almost all of these are already under investigation or included in a different part of the LTP.

Akaroa Wharf is heavily used by tourists and recreationalists and the $23 million is the cost identified by specialist quantity surveyors to complete the necessary work to allow it to cater for the increased numbers. Exact costs and the finalised design will be known once the work goes out to tender, and the construction will reflect the desire for cost efficiencies.

$22 M to be spent on Navel Point development when the sea level is rising in the harbour and Naval Point is at sea level. This makes no sense. Ok so what idea like to see and what I have been proposing is a jetty or kayak ramp in spencerville. We get over 16,000 people use that camp ground in just December January. The Styx river is under utilised. I see people trying to put kayaks in with limited access. We would like something that is like on the Avon river where everyone can utilise it (including disabled). ADDITIONAL SAVINGS AND EFFICIENCIES

Kaitiakitanga:

The Trust proposes that to continue the successful partnership arrangement it has enjoyed with Council, that upon the transfer of the jetty ownership back to Council in 2027, that the Trust continue as a kaitiaki of the jetty.

The jetty is the pride and joy of Governors Bay residents, not only for the obvious reasons being its recreational uses, but because the community came together over the last 9 years with a common vision and purpose. The engagement of the community during those 9 years have been the building blocks.

Whilst the ownership will transfer back to Council, the Trust and community will always retain a sense of ownership of the jetty and with that comes the desire to protect it for future generations.

The Trust is also in the process of completing the design phase for the relocation (to the base of the jetty) and renovation of the 1923 Canterbury Yacht and Motor Boat Club building. Resource consent has been obtained, and now the Trust is progressing the design in order to obtain building consent. Further fundraising is required to complete this project, but once completed the facility will provide further opportunities to complement the use of the jetty. It will also allow the Trust to have more of a presence at the jetty for the purposes of security and protection.

Upon the transfer of the jetty back to the Council, the Trust intends to establish a maintenance and repair fund for the jetty. It is envisaged that a minimum agreed amount will be fundraised each year (for example, by annual events such as Santa photos and a kayak race, as well as sale of merchandise) and deposited into this fund. The fund will be used for minor maintenance and repairs, noting that such costs will be minimised due to the voluntary nature. It will also maintain a growing balance in the event of future unknown repair costs.

Benefits of proposal:

The result of the Trust being appointed the kaitiaki of the jetty will mean reduced and possibly nil OPEX expenditure for Council in relation to the jetty. For the community, it meets its need to protect and further provides opportunities to continue our engagement and collaboration to meet the community's shared vision.

2/ (2356) Akaroa Wharf replacement. It has been locally stated that the cost has risen to $30,000,000 Yet the DLTP only set aside $23,201,000. Why is this now notably delayed replacement been underfunded. This requires sufficient funding.

2789 - Veronika Mealings (Wainui Residents' Association)

The Wainui Residents Association (WRA), an incorporated society founded in 1974, represents the community of Wainui, which is a small rural coastal community located on the western side of the Akaroa Harbour, 30 minutes drive from the nearest township of Akaroa and 90 minutes from Christchurch. We own and operate the Wainui Community Centre on the site of the former Wainui School on Wainui Main Road.

>>> The Wainui slipway and breakwater sustained major damage in a storm that occurred in March 2023. The slipway and access has been largely repaired, for which we are thankful however the breakwater's fate remains unknown. The breakwater was constructed circa 1980 and was originally somewhat longer than it is now. It has weathered many storms over the decades with liŝle maintenance and no formal assessments undertaken. Council commissioned a breakwater damage assessment in September 2023 from WSP (attached). To date, no remediation plans have arisen from this report that we are aware of. Given the importance of this structure to the Akaroa Salmon operation, hundreds of recreational users and enabling community resilience by guaranteeing water access in the event of road failure, we would implore council to include funding for these works in the 2024-34 LTP.

Akaroa Wharf

There is no other wharf currently being planned or built in NZ that uses traditional piled construction and a fixed height deck. So it is a brave move to plan to spend $23.2 m on this wharf, and in the process take an expensive bet on what global sea level rise is going to deliver for us in the next decades. In the news reports it is certainly all climate doom, with accelerating warming and disappearing ice, and the rate of sea level rise accelerating. Clearly a time for extreme caution when considering long-term coastal infrastructure.

If you look at the maritime user analysis, this project is primarily about boats accessing floating finger wharfs, with the main wharf being simply a structure that provides access to those floaters. Maritime experts who have looked at this project cannot understand why a fully floating structure is not being considered. We suspect that it is because imagination and innovation are not at the top of the tool box for council planners and their chosen consultants.

We suggest you go and have a look at the new Kennedy Point Marina, on Waiheke Island, where there are floating car parks and breakwaters that cover an area four times the size of the proposed Akaroa wharf. The construction uses floating concrete caissons, over 8000 tonnes in total, all recently built in NZ under licence from a Swedish company who are global leaders in this technology.

A fully floating structure, with a mix of mooring anchors and piles, would be a better solution from almost any angle. Cheaper, less disruptive to build, immune from sea level rise issues, and providing far superior vessel berthing arrangements at all states of the tide.

The amount for the Akaroa Wharf is interesting in light of the climate crisis. What are you trying to encourage? Are the commercial fishing boats contributing to the cost? Are boats low emission? Why are we encouraging tourism and recreational use (I assume people will drive to Akaroa) that negatively impacts on the climate?

2395 - Rebecca Clarkson (Ahi Mokopuna Limited Partnership (trading as Akaroa Salmon))

Ahi Mokopuna Limited Partnership (trading as Akaroa Salmon) is making a submission to the Christchurch City Council (CCC) Long Term Plan 2024 – 2034 to signal the need to take a strategic approach to provide sufficient and suitable wharf capacity to serve increasing recreational and tourism activities in the Akaroa Harbour, as well as enable the long term sustainable growth of the aquaculture and fishing sectors.

Akaroa Salmon has conducted a Point of Entry Business Case which sets out the strategic need to provide an alternative to Wainui Wharf, which was not designed as a commercial structure and is becoming an operational constraint for aquaculture operators. It finds that both the Wainui and Akaroa wharves are seeing increased demand, which is resulting in tension between commercial and recreational users. With aquaculture production forecast to increase, the existing wharfage options in Akaroa Harbour will soon be a constraint to growth.

Two viable options have been identified, either ensuring that the Akaroa Wharf redevelopment meets the needs of current and future operations or forming a partnership to provide a new fit for purpose wharf with dedicated land side infrastructure and a new road at Tikao Bay. Both of these options have the potential to ensure that both recreational and commercial use can be provided for into the future. The Business Case is appended to this submission.

Akaroa Salmon intend to engage further with stakeholders including CCC, Ōnuku Runanga, Wairewa Runanga and the Tikao Bay Māori Trust to discuss these options further. However, at this stage it is important to signal the problems and opportunities identified within the Business Case and ensure that sufficient funding is available in the Long Term Plan to pursue the most viable option.

General Comments

155 submissions were received addressing the proposed capital expenditure on heritage, including heritage items, parks and gardens.

45 comments supported, and 32 comments opposed the proposed spending.

56 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 27 comments provided general feedback addressing the proposed expenditure.

Officer Response

In the next 10 years we propose spending $51 million on heritage items.

Submissions supporting LTP Proposal:

Supporters of the proposed heritage funding highlighted the importance of retaining our history for future generations and the potential income generation from tourism. Projects highlighted as of particular importance to fund were the Canterbury Provincial Chambers, Robert MacDougall, Cuningham House, Canterbury Museum and Takapūneke Reserve. Canterbury Provincial Chambers were particularly supported by a number of submissions as of very significant value, and Takapūneke Reserve was also highlighted as being of enormous cultural significance.

Submissions wanting an increase from the LTP proposal:

Supporters wanting an increase stated the importance of protecting our heritage, stating that this amount was not sufficient for the work required. Several raised a concern that the $20 million allocated to the Provincial Chambers was insufficient, and that a more accurate assessment by an expert should be made and more funds allocated.

Submissions wanting a decrease from the LTP proposal:

Those who opposed the heritage funding argued that Christchurch should aim to be a more modern city, or that retaining heritage is too costly with little return. Projects specifically mentioned as not worthy of funding were Yew Cottage in Akaroa, Robert MacDougall and the Provincial Chambers. One submission suggested deferring Canterbury Museum, another suggested deferring the Provincial Chambers and Robert MacDougall.

Several submissions suggested that funding from the parks heritage parks should be reprioritised for the Arts Centre.

The proposed LTP capital Heritage budget represents 0.8% of the total LTP budget, which allows heritage to be supported. We are constantly exploring external funding for heritage work, including corporate sponsorship, however the Reserves Act limits the available sponsorship options in park and very few external funds support heritage.

While some projects were highlighted as particularly important to fund or not, the only project that was mentioned by more than one respondent as unimportant was Yew Cottage.

While deferring capital projects is always possible, parks have already evaluated our capital programme in detail and determined which projects we can defer with the lowest level of impact.

While some of this budget could potentially be reallocated to other capital heritage projects, this would have an adverse effect on completing projects highlighted by the community as important.

2069 - Christine Whybrew (Heritage New Zealand Pouhere Taonga)

We appreciate the extensive programme of repairs and restorations that has been implemented within the city over the past ten years. We also note the Plan's acknowledgement that there is more to do. 10. HNZPT supports the significant repair projects involving heritage buildings that have been identified for implementation over the course of the new Plan.

In particular:

- Canterbury Provincial Chambers: HNZPT is supportive of the decision to begin the restoration works on these Category 1 buildings, which have been protected by legal statute since 1928, when the New Zealand Government first passed legislation to protect an historic building. The buildings are the only purpose-built Provincial Council buildings still extant in New Zealand and they are a part of the Gothic Revival architectural character of Christchurch that was such a defining feature before the Canterbury earthquakes. They are a key part of the history and identity of this part of the central city. The allocated budget will provide a solid start to returning them to a condition appropriate for their heritage status.

- Cuningham House: HNZPT is supportive of the proposed budget to refurbish this Category 2 listed building and glasshouses to enable it to be fit for purpose. This is a widely visited built heritage feature within the setting of the Christchurch Botanic Gardens and the refurbishment will enhance visitor experience and enable the greater appreciation and understanding of the plant world, in line with the Botanic Gardens' primary goal.

- Robert McDougall Art Gallery strengthening: HNZPT is supportive of the proposed budget for the base isolation and structural strengthening works to this Category 1 highly significant historic place. The building is important to Christchurch for its previous association with international, national and regional exhibitions, artworks and artists, and architecturally and aesthetically for its NeoClassical style. Technologically it is significant for what was a nationally and internationally significant natural lighting system. As part of the wider redevelopment, these works will stabilise and ensure the building is more resilient to future seismic events.

- Former Municipal Chambers: HNZPT is supportive of the budget contribution to complete the repair and refurbishment of this Category 1 building, significant nationally as the first purpose-built premises for use by the Christchurch City Council. It is architecturally significant for its design by Samuel Hurst Seager in the Queen Anne style – a break from the predominant Gothic Revival style of other major public buildings in Christchurch. This style and the building's location make it a prominent public landmark by the Ōtakaro Avon River and it will be a positive move to bring it back into use again.

We also support the proposed budget earmarked for works to a number of Category 1 buildings including the Sign of the Takahē, and the Sign of the Kiwi.

Heritage

DPA supports the proposed $51 million budget for heritage item upgrades. Our main ask is that each of the proposed upgrades to the Canterbury Provincial Chambers, Botanic Gardens and Robert McDougall Gallery are made fully accessible.

DPA notes the restrictions which apply to making heritage buildings accessible for everyone, including disabled people, under legislation. We would like to see these provisions changed once accessibility legislation is passed so that un-necessary restrictions/barriers are removed so that disabled people are able to access and enjoy heritage spaces and places along with everyone else.

Recommendation 7: that Council proactively engage with the disabled community over each of the proposed heritage facility upgrades as part of a co-design process.

These areas are so important for the wellbeing of our communities - they are free and accessible to all and bring the community together whether at the beach, on the sports fields or walking the many wonderful trails in the Port Hills. The current draft plan does not put sufficient emphasis on the protection of heritage buildings in Christchurch. Many building owners are not able to bring heritage buildings up to code or to maintain them adequately. The council needs to provide sufficiently significant grants to help improve or maintain heritage buildings. In addition, contributions need to be made to restore key heritage buildings that are important for the city, irrespective of who owns them. These are the Christchurch Cathedral, the Arts Centre, and the Provincial Council buildings. Christchurch needs to keep some key heritage buildings. I think the council should: >>> (2) seek to fund the refurbishment of the Canterbury Provincial Council Buildings and the Peterborough Centre; >>> These buildings represent and embody Christchurch's heritage and make the city a desirable and vibrant place. With the earthquakes we lost a great deal of these buildings, meaning those which remain are precious. With respect to the Cathedral, personally I am not religious, however, I think it is an important symbol of the city. As a young and recent home owner (with a young family as well), buying a house here was a vote of confidence in what makes our city special. I would be open to the idea of increasing rates so that we could invest further in buildings and events which make our city more attractive and better place to live. This would be an additional financial burden but would be worth it to live in (and raise a family in) a more vibrant city. All in all I think the council should be brave and have a bold vision for our city (which may involve spending a bit more).

There is no mention of protecting our heritage assets which can never be replaced if allowed to deteriorate. These assets are very much part of what / who we are as Cantabrians. Please look closely at the rebuild of Europe after the 2nd world war....could they "afford" to repair their heritage buildings? You, as a council, have a duty of care to protect this heritage and will benefit from tourism over the long term. Visitors to not come to visit sewage treatment plants so there needs to be balance.

2624 - Colin Ong

Has the Council more fully explored the possibility of corporate sponsorship of and naming rights of some facilities and heritage sites? If sponsorship is not in full, at least some partial subsidy will bring some relief to the expense needed to maintain and upkeep them.

2626 - Mike White JP (Akaroa Bowling Club Inc)

Despite Council's indication that Yew Cottage would be "refurbished and made suitable for residential use," no progress has ever been made toward achieving that outcome. The cottage had now been unoccupied for at least 12 years without any serious attempt to maintain it. Today it appears to be in a perilous state of repair, and, as months go by it is steadily worsening. The Yew tree on the property after which the cottage appears to have been named is dying.

The Christchurch City Council's Draft Long Term Plan 2024 to 2034 contains provision (entirely in the 2024/5 year) for a spend on this Cottage of $50,188 for "conservation works." I understand that sum is largely committed to keeping the vegetation around the building under control, a good part has been spent, and it takes no account of the stated aim of making the cottage suitable for residential (or indeed any other) use.

Given that there is absolutely no financial provision over the next ten years to progress any form of improvement to Yew Cottage the obvious implication is that it will continue to deteriorate. That deterioration can be expected to be exponential.

In any event, and whether now or in twenty years, further public expenditure on this building is not justified, particularly given the potential costs involved. Its retention (whether on the current site, or by attempting to relocate it) would add no value to our community generally, whilst the land would be of significant utility to the bowling club and its members. It is currently an eyesore and it should be demolished.

Flooding: In recent times the area surrounding the Cottage and the bowling green has been subject to flooding. The bowling green has suffered at least one serious flooding event. Both cottage and club will almost certainly be seriously compromised by flooding in the future. In the case of the bowling green this could be mitigated by replacing the fencing between 42 Rue Jolie and 40 Rue Jolie with an appropriate structure - something the Club is keen to do if the cottage were no longer on this land and the club was able to lease it as was originally contemplated.

I have attached a photo of a flooding event in July 2022. There is a further example from June 2013 within the report of Dave Pearson Architects prepared for the CCC in that month. That report also includes several photos of the condition of the building at that time, nearly eleven years ago. A report today would paint a sadder picture, and one doesn't need a particularly vivid imagination to foresee a situation in 2034 if nothing is done.

So, the Akaroa Bowling Club wholly supports Council's determination NOT to spend any further public money on this building EXCEPT that we urge Council to provide for, and to commission the demolition of Yew Cottage this year, and to make that land available to the Club to lease as was agreed with the Akaroa County Council in 1981.

Health and Safety issues notwithstanding, there is a willingness and capability within the Club's membership to progress such a demolition if that was a course Council chose to adopt.

In the case that public consultation on the future of Yew Cottage is undertaken, please note the Akaroa Bowling Club Incorporated wishes to be heard.

Heritage Matters

Introduction

Christchurch's heritage buildings and the spaces around them are an integral part of the identity of Ōtautahi Christchurch. Icons such as the Arts Centre, Christ Church Cathedral and Canterbury Provincial Council Buildings are to Christchurch what the Sydney Harbour Bridge and Eiffel Tower are to Sydney and Paris. They are an important part of our history.

The Canterbury Earthquakes had unanticipated catastrophic effects on these buildings, including financial effects that are potentially crippling to the buildings' owners, City ratepayers and the Council generally. It is easy to comprehend the resistance by many to any further public money being allocated to the task of restoring these buildings.

A considerable amount of money has already been spent on restoring the Arts Centre and Cathedral. The question is: do we as a community sink further money into these buildings or pull the plug?

Strategic Context

Part of the answer to that question is found in a recent report commissioned by the Christ Church Cathedral Reinstatement Limited (CCRL)¹. The Report states:

The Cathedral reinstatement will unlock the full value of these investments and support the wider regeneration of Christchurch. It will also strengthen social cohesion and contribute to New Zealand's earthquake engineering capability²

I consider that this statement equally applies to the Arts Centre and Provincial Council Buildings. (I am pleased to see that money has been allocated in the Long-Term Plan to the Provincial Council Buildings' restoration.) The Report also observes that:

Another potential major source of benefits is the additional spending of tourists who decide to stay longer in New Zealand in order to visit the Cathedral. We estimate that the reinstated Cathedral could result in additional tourism spending of up to $20.8 million per year. Visitor activities account for only a small fraction of the benefits. Paid visitor activities such as climbing the tower or participating in a guided tour provide $0.8 million to $2.1 million per year in benefits, whereas unpaid visitor activities such as viewing the Cathedral interior or attending services or events provide $0.9 million to $3.7 million. We identified other types of benefits but could not quantify them. There has been around $1 billion of private and public sector investment in the streets around Cathedral Square since the earthquake, and a further $1 billion is planned for the next 10 years. The Cathedral reinstatement will unlock the full value of these investments and support the wider regeneration of Christchurch. It will also strengthen social cohesion and contribute to New Zealand's earthquake engineering capability.

In short, the restoration and on-going operation of the Cathedral, Arts Centre and Provincial Council Buildings are strategically important in Central City Revitalisation, and the broader wellbeing of Greater Christchurch and Aotearoa New Zealand. The question becomes not whether to fund these projects over the course of the LTP, but how. Increasing rates is not a palatable answer for many ratepayers and other sources of funding are needed.

Funding and Financing Options.

Councillors are aware there are limited funding options it can call on and other sources need to be found. These need to be innovative and widen the suite of options. They include the following:

- Presenting a business case to Central Government either for direct funding, or develop new funding sources eg returning GST derived from tourism expenditure in Greater Christchurch or imposing an accommodation levy;
- Approaching local and overseas sources eg using recognised New Zealanders to make a case to UNESCO, the Royal Family, overseas philanthropists and other parties;
- Issuing heritage bonds;
- Imposing a levy on overseas visitors arriving on cruise ships and at Christchurch International Airport.

These are medium to long term options and do not meet immediate requirements. This can only realistically be met through additional borrowing or reallocation of planned expenditure. For example, it seems almost certain that some transport projects, including major cycleways, will not be able to proceed because of the withdrawal of expected funding subsidies by Waka Kotahi. These projects could be deferred and some Council funding redirected to help meet the immediate needs of the Arts Centre and Cathedral.

A big thank you to the Council for its role in the restoration by Box 112 of the Queen Anne-style former Municipal building beside the Avon and Worcester Boulevard Bridge. Also for the Council restoring its 50 plus badly damaged heritage buildings, including the Town Hall, after the earthquakes. These deliver significant benefits to the city in terms of public image and direct economic benefit.

[Borrowing & Debt Management > Rating for Renewals]

Council should reduce its capital programme for works that are not urgent. Every ratepayer knows that it is far cheaper to wait a while and pay cash than max out the credit card. We suggest that the Council trim capital expenditure asset out below:

- Parks (Vol 1, page 186). Provincial Chambers. $19,500m is allocated concurrently with ongoing work on the McDougall, Cuninghame House, and the Canterbury Museum. This concentration of heritage spending puts pressure on the Council's finances and the construction industry, which prefers a steady stream of work. Deferral till the museum is completed makes sense all round.

2838 - Graham Erikson

Pursue Government for a greater share of national tax take to support >>> in particular listed heritage buildings. [Spending > Te Kaha] [Revenue > Central Govt Grants & Funding]

2936 - Ian Lochhead

Post-quakes heritage still needs significant support but it is not clear what this is. The only identified item is $20 million for the Canterbury Provincial Buildings which is manifestly inadequate given the exceptional heritage value of the site and the fact that virtually nothing has been done to improve the buildings since the immediate post-quake securing. A concerted effort should be made to complete restoration of the timber sections of the buildings within the time frame of the LTP. The complete absence of heritage grants until 2031-32 is completely irresponsible; Christchurch is known internationally for its significant heritage buildings and to provide no support for heritage grants for the next six years will undermine the significant gains in supporting heritage that have been achieved since 2011.

2945 - Lynne Lochhead

I believe that the funding proposed for the Provincial Buildings is inadequate. The level of funding is insufficient to complete the restoration of the wooden section which as the only remaining Provincial Council Buildings in the country should be a heritage priority for the Council, with the longer term goal of restoring the stone chamber. No city can truly claim to be a cultural powerhouse while it allows such a key element of its heritage to remain unrestored.

3059 - Jarrod Coburn (The Ferrymead Trust)

We are obviously very invested in the future of heritage, and in our local community. For example, we support CCC's efforts to reclaim the wetlands in Ferrymead. And we support any contribution by ratepayers to preserve the stories and history of Ōtautahi.

3089 - Trevor Lord

Increase to $1 billion the budget for parks, heritage assets & the coastal environment . Lift the heritage category to cover restoration of the Provincial Buildings, Cathedral, and Arts Centre, all of which are currently civil embarrassments in terms of condition in prime visitor areas (costing significant monies in terms of negative impacts on these areas). Heritage grants of $40 million should be on hand contestably for wider application.

3717 - Sam Hampton (Te Pātaka o Rākaihautū Banks Peninsula Geopark Trust)

Our heritage extends beyond the stated "from buildings and trees to stories and traditions". Our surrounding landscapes, our geoheritage, should be further recognised, within its natural forms, historical importance, cultural significance, and ecological value. The values are of importance within a Geopark, and if UNESCO accreditation is sought, then council recognition and preservation of these features is required. The Geopark spans across many of the itemised components (pages 29-31). The Geopark provides a mechanism to celebrate our Heritage and many of the Parks, reserves, and foreshore of Banks Peninsula, the Port Hills, and surrounds. It provides a platform where visitors can connect with their surroundings. The Geopark conveys knowledge of our place, connecting people to that place with knowledge, spanning from geology, flora and fauna, traditional values, heritage, conservation, and communities.

3935 - Michael Healey

I work as a heritage consultant in Christchurch. Canterbury Provincial Chambers (Stage 1) – $20 million is woefully inadequate. By my reckoning, starting work on the stone chamber's restoration is firstly a tactical mistake. I intuited this after speaking to Tony Usher last year; was it his recommendation or a capitulation to these mean times' economics? I cannot say for sure, but it was conveyed to me that the stained glass windows were not intended for reinstatement. Still, in a rather sentimental gesture that I appreciated, Tony intended to collect the despoiled comes, repurposing them in a future clear-pane window. I was naturally disappointed not to be able to read Tennyson and Longfellow, whose poems, although now out of fashion, embellished the chamber in a room that I consider to be the soul of our city's early foundation, no doubt there are other issues along these lines we could discuss. My suggestion, plainly put, would be to restore this pièce de résistance after staging the smaller timber sections first. I suggest an advertising and public relations campaign, perhaps a public launch on the forthcoming New Zealand Heritage Week. The international heritage status of the building is our first obstacle; note the inclusion of the public archives already! I recall when the Prince of Wales visited recently, and I had the opportunity to spend some time with his architectural entourage from INTBAU, where I raised issues of windows, encaustic tiles, and potential royal patronage, amongst other things. Above all, the project would benefit from a business plan; I would share a vision to establish tenancing actions of the building with sympathetic trades in the heritage industries and education sector. Perhaps some of these proposals would maximize synergies and sow the public engagement that best serves our needs. I'm leading a working group feasibility study into the potential for inscribing the Canterbury Provincial Chambers as a UNESCO listing. I would request further consultation on this issue.

4005 - Janet Lockyer

The Robert McDougal Art Gallery has been superceded by the new Art Gallery. We also have several smaller art galleries in the city so I don't see the need to fix it up.

as such I think you can glean I have a slightly lower tolerance for extra spending restoring very old and unused buildings for the sake of heritage. I feel christchurch has plenty other 'old' things like the university, etc and the trams which provide a connection to our history, and so don't need every old building restored just because it's old. there are plenty of beautiful new buildings in our city like the library and convention centre which not only have plenty of potential for use, but also are built to withstand earthquakes!

[Recreation, Sports & Events > Events]

The Long Term Plan must include funding to support the Council's heritage schedule to incentivise owners to maintain their buildings. We don't want all the effort, care and money that has gone into their widely admired restoration and reuse to be in vain. Let's keep the standards high.

The Plan should continue to support funding for community groups to participate in the popular annual Heritage Festival. Without help these groups will not be able to contribute and the Festival will become less accessible, less diverse and the poorer for it. That will send a message that our Council doesn't value our city's past and the people who built it. Our heritage gives people a sense of place, identity and pride and is important. It sets our city apart from other New Zealand cities and it is a duty of the Christchurch City Council to take a lead in respecting our past by valuing what has gone before and what makes our city what it is today.

Ōtākaro Avon River Corridor Regeneration

General Comments

68 submissions were received addressing the proposed spending (capital and/or operational) on Ōtākaro Avon River Corridor Regeneration.

24 comments supported, and 12 comments opposed the proposed spending.

27 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 5 comments provided general feedback addressing the proposed spending.

Officer Response

We propose spending $185 million on the Ōtākaro Avon River Corridor.

Submission supporting the Long-Term Plan Proposal of $185million to the Ōtākaro Avon River Corridor (ORAC):

Most respondents commended the improvements in the ORAC, particularly praising the ecological restoration and planting of natives.

Submissions opposing the Long-Term Plan Proposal of $185million to the Ōtākaro Avon River Corridor:

Some respondents questioned whether $185 million was necessary to spend in the current fiscally challenging environment and suggesting slowing this work down.

Other specific points raised included:

- The desire for a rowing facility and/or other river-based recreation opportunities
- Opposition to the pathway along the Western shoreline of the Avon-Heathcote Estuary due the negative effects this would have on birdlife
- Suggestion that the red zone be made into a golf course or grassed
- Suggestion that the red zone be made into an urban orchard
- Making it cat free to protect biodiversity
- Establishing a permanent co-governance entity

The OARC Regeneration Plan went through many years of consultation and was approved by central government - we are mandated to deliver it, and the estimates for its delivery are just under this figure. Around a third of this budget has been funded by central government and Christchurch Earthquake Appeal Trust (CEAT). We are always looking at ways to deliver in the most efficient manner. However, there are significant consenting, decontamination/land rehabilitation and power network reallocation costs that we cannot avoid. As part of our ecological restoration work in the Corridor, we are working on a number of applied science projects, with the aim of saving money and emissions, or sequestering carbon (or both).

The desire for a rowing facility

We are also working with the Flatwater Clubs to create a long-term Hub that allows for them to expand as needed based on their membership.

Opposition to the Western shoreline pathway

Consultation is planned for the Estuary Green Edge Pathway.

Making the red zone into a golf course or grassed

Operationally, mowing the 602ha OARC in perpetuity creates significant Non Capital Operational Expenditure (OPEX) costs and carbon emissions. Planting this out in natives as per the Regeneration Plan reduces these costs over time as the plants become self-sustaining and allows for emissions offsetting, which is a further financial saving to Council.

Suggestion of an urban orchard

Food production and mahinga kai is an underpinning objective of the Regeneration Plan, and will be a component of most of the parks projects as they are constructed. There may also be third party involvement, via the activity areas. We also actively support a number of community gardens throughout the Corridor, and will continue to do so.

Making it cat free to protect biodiversity

Fencing the area to make it cat-free would be problematic. Our ranger carries out extensive trapping to remove pests, and while this cannot include cats, it does reduce predation. Feedback from our biodiversity team is that urban cats tend to be well fed and their overall impacts are relatively neutral as they keep rats/mice/mustelid populations down.

Establishing a permanent co-governance entity

Work is well underway to establish the permanent Co-Governance entity, and this is expected to be in place later this year.

We support the funding and program of works for the OARC projects and restoration. We wish to thank the teams involved in this over the past 12 months. We have worked closely with the project team and community partnership rangers, the level of collaboration has improved with our organisation and the wider stakeholders since it has transitioned to CCC. This can be seen in the outputs and collaborations across the OARC. Our organisation finally has the confidence to shift our lens to the health of the entire catchment.

We support the continuation of the co-governance group and associated funding to be set aside.

Ōtakaro Avon River Corridor

We have heavily invested in the Regeneration of the OARC. As a pioneer project, in 10 years we have gone from strength to strength and become an important hub and gateway for people working and using the corridor.

The award winning Richmond Community Garden is now 3 acres of food produced for the community, a food forest, natural play spaces and 24/7 learning we call the whole of the Richmond Red Zone Riverlution where we now have at least 30 individuals and groups contributing to the Riverlution Eco Park and family trail. We now have a fully consented cafe that will soon be operational and we are well underway in establishing our precious plastics social enterprise, our goal is to be as self-sufficient and sustainable as possible while continuing to deliver amazing events, workshops and space.

We have established a productive working relationship with the Red Zone projects team and Community Rangers to collaboratively deliver our OARC related projects, provide information at our events, undertake our Ōtākaro trapping project and work through issues as they arise. We value these relationships and being part of the project design process that impacts us, such as the city to sea pathway. Funding isn't always what we need sometimes it is just support, resources and great communication.

We wholeheartedly support the work beginning on the city to sea pathway it brings with it safe cycle crossings for our community and provides our social enterprise projects with a greater audience for success,

3809 - Johnathon Ridden

On the natural environment front, there are several great community groups and trusts enhancing the city on the smell of a oily rag. I oppose funding being allocated towards a pathway along the western shoreline of the Avon-Heathcote Estuary as this area is extremely important for shorebird and waterfowl species that utilize this area. Funding should be redirected towards funding in other locations such as Horseshoe Lake Reserve, South New Brighton reserve or the Southshore Spit tip.

Restoration of the Avon-Heathcote Estuary should be a priority. I would support the inclusion of a dedicated ecological restoration budget for South New Brighton Reserve to support wilding pine control, additional native plantings, maintenance of existing and future plantings, and mammalian predator control.

[Parks > Parks Maintenance], [Parks > Parks Paths & Walkways]

All three [Coder note: likely referring to Parks, heritage or the coastal environment] are very important in my view. If there were to be any scaling back of activity I think that the Red Zone is an amazing space as it is. Some development to improve accessibility is desirable, the rest can happen over extended time as funding is available. Recent improvements to paths in Hagley Park are very much appreciated. The park is our lungs, and our outdoor living room. It needs to remain pristine at whatever cost.

Increasing numbers of New Zealanders are choosing active recreation, often 'pay for play' over traditional sport as it allows them greater flexibility to fit activity around their work and family commitments without fixed time commitments that often go with traditional sport training, particularly team sports, and competition. Sport Canterbury and Sport New Zealand support Council's commitment to investment in, and prioritisation of, a number of initiatives that support active recreation, such as:

Implementation of the Ōtākaro Avon River regeneration programme particularly the widening and deepening of the river for the safety and enjoyment of river users.

CCC must be more serious about its Te Tiriti commitments. For example on Vol 1, page 126, it says that a mitigation for urupa being threatened by sea level rise is that historic confiscations took place. This is absurdly inappropriate, and CCC must immediately put money into protecting these historic sites as it would for Pākehā cemeteries. CCC must immediately instate a Māori ward. Since CCC has now had several years of preliminary work on the Ōtākaro Co-Governance Entity, and CCC has maintained control over an awa of significance to mana whenua for decades, the Ōtākaro Co-Governance entity should be established in 2024 or 2025 at the latest.

[Borrowing & Debt Management > Rating for Renewals]

Council should reduce its capital programme for works that are not urgent. Every ratepayer knows that it is far cheaper to wait a while and pay cash than max out the credit card. We suggest that the Council trim capital expenditure asset out below:

- Parks (Vol 1, page 185 U) has a huge programme of renewals, much of which is not funded from rates, and a huge programme of new capital works, especially related to the Avon-Otakaro Corridor. In addition to $108m for ecological restoration under renewals, there is another $13m for the same purpose and $75m for Pathway, Landings and Community Spaces. This work is desirable but not urgent. $50m could be deferred whilst still allowing for good progress.

There should be very little money spent on a walkway from the city to the sea in the red-zone. There are already well-used tracks for both bikes and walkers; there is no need for a multi-million dollar walkway with fancy signage, paving and expensive lookouts. Yes, advertise such a track but do not overspend on what is already a pleasant, challenging series of trails.

I believe the Red Zone will be in future a fantastic attraction for both locals and visitors, however I question how much seems to be spent on it in its current state. Perhaps sow the whole thing in wildflowers and then cut down on the mowing to reduce costs?

3619 - David Fuffy (Richmond Residents' and Business Association)

The OARC traverses the entire length of Richmond. It is an important recreational space and is the most activated part of the whole corridor due to the work of volunteers who predominantly live in Richmond. We support the funding allocation set aside for both the infrastructure work and ecological restoration work in the OARC, as this work is critical to cleaning up our urban waterways and the protection of properties that surround the corridor. The regeneration of the OARC will enable areas like ours to see immediate benefit from the regeneration thus meeting the need to replace lost amenity, reconnect communities and improve the security for the remaining neighborhoods. We wish to see in the annual plan provision for the Richmond Landing on the Richmond side of the River and funding of a community led landscaping plan around the Medway Bridge to capture the significant history it represents. This is lacking in the current Bridge installation. We now have all 3 pieces of the old bridge and would like to help design an art piece that reflects the earthquake story, and is a feature to bring people into the OARC. To ensure a robust implementation plan of the OARC, continued funding of a co-Governance model must be in place with CCC, the community and Iwi. We urge that respect be shown towards the stakeholders and the history leading up to the Regeneration plan and that the council staff work collaboratively with mana whenua and citizens thus capturing the energy and local knowledge of the people.

3693 - Lynette Wills

The East side of the Avon River from Fitzgerald Avenue to Kerrs Reach must be cared for in a manner that looks like the CCC Cares for it. Currently the Avon River on this east side of the Avon River is overgrown with weeds, dead trees, and is full of hazards making it unsafe for citizens - both on the river canoeing or wanting to walk on the river bank to the water's edge (for whatever reason.. retrieve a ball, whitebait, get a sick duck or after a car crash,) etc.. Why is the Avon River on the East of Christchurch being cared for by the CCC in a different way to the West of Christchurch?

Officer Response

Submission supporting the LTP and Capital Investment Programme:

Submissions all supported or appreciated the planting of natives and alternatives to mowing, with the public able to use the land for recreation.

Submissions opposing the LTP Capital Investment Programme:

Some suggested saving money by reducing spending generally in the red zone, or deferring some of the spend.

Other topics raised included:

- Creating a food orchard within the Red Zone
- Removal of fruit trees
- Fire Resistant planting on the Port Hills
- Preventing further building
- Reducing mowing to reduce costs
- Rewilding instead of disposing of Port Hills properties
- Support for an ecosanctuary

The Ōtākaro Avon River Corridor (ORAC) Regeneration Plan went through many years of consultation and was approved by central government. We are mandated to deliver it, and around a third of this budget has been funded by central government and Christchurch Earthquake Appeal Trust (CEAT). Much of the work is required to protect from flooding, or to meet the conditions of our Global Stormwater Discharge Consent. We are always looking at ways to deliver in the most efficient manner. We are also looking at ways in which its delivery could generate economic returns for the city, or uncover new ways of doing things that save Council money more broadly. Implementation of the plan will allow us to reduce mowing, saving emissions and OPEX costs, as well as reducing the impacts of future inflation. Looking more broadly, most of the spend in the remaining red zone is on restoration planting, which will reduce maintenance costs over time.

Creating a food orchard within the Red Zone:

Food production and mahinga kai is an underpinning objective of the Regeneration Plan, and will be a component of most of the parks projects as they are constructed. There may also be third party involvement, via the activity areas. We also actively support a number of community gardens throughout the Corridor, and will continue to do so.

Removal of fruit trees:

Our red zone team do not remove fruit trees unless they have died/are unsafe or if it is required for project work (uncommon, and gets done as part of overall site works). It is possible that Land Information New Zealand (LINZ) removed some via the house demolition process, but this would have been some years ago.

Fire Resistant planting on the Port Hills:

We have a planting programme scheduled that will get underway next planting season to put around 220 of the Port Hills red zoned properties back into native bush. This will incorporate fire resistant planting, as outlined in the Port Hills management plan which is soon to be finalised.

Preventing further building:

The OARC Regeneration Plan envisages a small amount of housing - either along the edges of the Corridor (edge housing) or in trial housing areas. No decisions have been made to date on how these will be delivered, but these areas do form part of the District Plan.

Reducing mowing to reduce costs:

Our red zone leases are typically to community groups for community benefit, and are at a peppercorn rental as these groups utilise volunteer time and do not have capacity to pay commercial leases. Where we do have purely commercial leases, these are charged at standard commercial rates. Both of these reduce mowing costs as the lessee maintains the site.

Rewilding instead of disposing of Port Hills properties:

Ecological potential was one of the criteria that we assessed in creating the disposal list, and we have tagged around 220 properties for planting via this process. The 40 or so properties on the disposal list were deemed to have very limited ecological potential.

Support for an ecosanctuary:

We are working with the proponents of the Waitakiri Ecosanctuary as they develop up their proposal.

I do not support any disposal of council-owned properties. I support native plantings in red zone hills properties. The Port Hills is almost entirely deforested and council should set an example with these properties to begin to re-wild the Port Hills.

3652 - Andrew Hamlin

One think that some people I have spoke with were upset that many of the fruit trees have been cut down in the red zone so Im not sure why but also was disappointing to see individuals pillage the trees and hearing that fruit and nuts were being used commercially.

South New Brighton & Southshore Estuary Edge

General comments

28 submissions were received addressing the proposed expenditure (capital and/or operational) on South New Brighton & Southshore Estuary edge).

10 comments supported, and 1 comment opposed the proposed expenditure.

13 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 4 comments provided general feedback addressing the proposed expenditure.

Officers Response

Submissions supporting LTP Proposal:

Numerous submissions raised concerns regarding the neglect of South New Brighton and Southshore, emphasising the importance for investment in the New Brighton area. Submissions highlighted that Estuary protection should be a priority. Moreover, submissions were particularly supportive of any foreshore development work.

Submissions opposing the LTP proposal or suggesting alternatives:

There were no submissions opposing the proposal or suggesting alternatives.

The Long-Term Plan includes various initiatives for foreshore development. The allocated funding includes $116k from the 61724 Coastal land protection, revegetation and amenity planting and $4.4 million from 61746 Coastal and Plains Planned Asset renewals. Resource Consent has been lodged for the Estuary Edge protection work, and we will progress construction once Consent has been granted. Construction budget has been split over the next three years in the Long-Term Plan, with 26/27 being the final year. If we can deliver it more quickly (which depends on consent processing times) we will bring these funds forward.

ChristchurchNZ currently leads the New Brighton Regeneration Project, which aims to make New Brighton a great place to live, work, visit and invest by coordinating the delivery of large-scale developments and key residential projects, and working with local businesses and the community on a range of business development and placemaking initiatives. Completed projects in New Brighton include the streetscape upgrade to better connect the centre with the foreshore; the beachside playground and splash pool and He Puna Taimoana open-air hot pools. Progress has also been achieved in growing the centre function and its immediate residential catchment via new retail, hospitality and leisure development within the mall and residential development on Seaview Road and Beresford Street.

The Draft Long-Term Plan includes two significant capital projects, both identified in the New Brighton Centre Master Plan. Those being the Brighton Mall Upgrade and the New North-South Corridor Oram Ave.

[Other/Special Interest Topics > New Brighton Suburban Master Plans / Oram Avenue], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Urban Design]

The Eastern coastal Suburbs, including New Brighton, South New Brighton and Southshore have been largely abandoned. There is a very deliberate and inequitable attrition of services including lack of rubbish collection, lack of adequate roading, asphalt and wastewater repairs and facilitated deforestation of South Brighton reserve and erosion of the Estuary edge, en masse funneling of Australian deportees and people newly released from Correctional facilities into the local backpackers and delays in the Brighton Business plan - with the aim of coastal retreat. There is stark inequity in resourcing for the lower lying and geotechnically less stable but higher socioeconomic zones of Sumner, Redcliffs and Ferrymead. The Southshore spit and Estuary should be the showcase of Christchurch, and the irony is the pictures on the first 2 pages of the draft long term plan are of the Brighton Pier!!!!

2037 - Beverley Nelson

In addition, please look after the wooden 'boardwalks' over the dunes at South New Brighton. Some are broken, all are wonky, and one I saw recently is downright dangerous (split, splintering and bolts exposed).

2354 - Chantelle Chalmers

Instead of spending money to help with future erosion in South New Brighton, a 'new' walking track has been created to allow for erosion. I feel that we need to work on a long term plan, not a quick fix.

3389 - Megan Roulston

1. Ensure funding is available and budget set aside for cost escalations or design cost increases for the Southshore Estuary Edgy legacy earthquake repair. This needs to be implemented on the ground as soon as consent is granted. The community has been waiting for too long. Until this is built on the ground I continue to have no faith in CCC processes. This unnecessarily elongated process completely turned me from a highly engaged citizen to a citizen who doesn't believe or trust in the process.

3760 - Simon Watts (SouthShore Residents Association)

Unable to identify in this form where we can strongly advocate for the Southshore Estuary Edge/Earthquake Recovery project including ensuring that funds for this project remain in the LTP, including small additional funding to allow the differences in now out-of-date estimates for the project (part of the formal Council resolution) and current costs.

Please accept this note as an attachment to your filled web-form. This is a response on behalf of The Southshore Residents Association, (SSRA), and because hence I have only responded to those questions for which I have a mandate from SSRA, otherwise I have recorded "no comment".

We have two key messages to The Council re this LTP Consultation Document:

1. We strongly advocate for the funding for the Southshore Estuary Edge/Earthquake Repair project which is currently in the LTP to remain in the LTP, and not be lost. Additionally, as you are aware, when Council adopts a resolution (as in this case), the estimate for the project is, (one assumes), correct at that date. However, we understand that those costs have increased over the years since the resolution, and respectfully ask that the extra funding now required by this project be forthcoming from an appropriate budget.

Tree Canopy

General Comments

134 submissions were received addressing tree canopy.

72 comments supported, and 3 comments opposed improving the tree canopy. Most submitters supported further investment into growing the tree canopy across the city.

47 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 15 comments provided general feedback on the tree canopy.

Officer Response

Submission supporting the LTP:

Responses praised the Tree Canopy work already completed and were supportive of the Long-Term Plan proposal to implement Phase 1 and 2 of the Urban Forest Plan, with the allocated budget of $18 million.

Submissions cited the importance of incorporating trees into urban planning, such as planting on streets to reduce urban heat, sequester carbon emission, enhance biodiversity, and improve community health and well-being.

Few submissions stated that they would like to see more native plantings and an increase in tree cover, particularly on the Port Hills.

Submissions opposing the LTP:

One submission opposed the Long-Term plan by suggesting we abandon the Urban Forest Plan as there are enough projects currently implemented, such as the 2 for 1 tree replacement. Additionally, they claimed that the Plan is just a way of padding external party and consultant pockets and that instead Council should add extra tree plantings projects.

Christchurch's canopy cover currently sits at approximately 13.56 percent. The Council's Urban Forest Tree Planting program aims to increase canopy cover across the city to 20 percent. The program was established using the Government's Better Off fund. The proposal in the Long-Term Plan for $18 million over ten years will allow the program to continue once the Better Off funding has been exhausted.

The Urban Forest Tree Planting programme includes plantings of native species, as most appropriate for each site. Staff will prioritise this as part of the implementation of the Urban Forest Plan. The draft plan also includes habitat restoration on the Port Hills and Banks Peninsula.

The Impact that requests would have:

The current requirements for replacing every tree removed with two trees is only designed to replace what is lost. Having an additional target for all projects to include trees will not deliver the increase in canopy sought through the urban forest plan. Furthermore, projects may not be in areas which require the largest increase in canopy. The proposal for the Urban Forest Plan is to increase canopy cover across the district with a focus on areas with existing low canopy cover.

[Parks > Biodiversity & Ecological Restoration]

Parks and Greenspace

22. NPHS Te Waipounamu supports CCC's investment in green spaces for community recreation and also as a means to provide protection for communities from impacts of climate change. NPHS Te Waipounamu notes the importance of greenspace and trees in the context of climate change, particularly to reduce potential heat-related illness and mortality from rising temperature and in a heatwave event.¹⁸ Urban communities are at risk of the urban heat island effect as many of the materials used in urban settings – brick, concrete and steel – trap heat and increase the overall temperature experienced in urban environments.¹⁹

23. NPHS Te Waipounamu strongly supports investment in the Urban Forest Plan. Further, NPHS Te Waipounamu supports native planting. Native plants play a crucial role in stabilising soil, offering long-term flood and erosion control, and can also provide beneficial shade for communities and habitat for native species. Prioritising native biodiversity planting can support native ecosystems and enable a healthier environment.

We need to move to a more native new plant 'palate' rather than white carpet roses that look untidy and unattractive. Native plants tend to be less work/maintenance. I support the greening of Christchurch, eg more shade, and would be interested in the "National park city" concept - Adelaide does this well and its amazing.

2308 - Sarah Elicker

Bring forward the Urban Forest Plan with green zones, more trees, canopy & diversity. We are supposed to be the Garden City but that only seems to apply to a few wealthier suburbs. Tree-lined streets slow down drivers, and slower drivers are safer drivers, and emit less greenhouse gases. They also make walking and cycling more attractive, by providing shade on hot days, reducing air pollution, and are nicer to look at. Roads connect neighbours primarily, vehicle access is secondary.

2344 - Sarah Elicker (Te Huarahi Linwood Avenue School)

Please bring forward the Urban Forest Plan with more trees, green zones, and canopy to protect and enhance children's futures.

>>> Research demonstrates the tangible benefits of expanding tree cover in urban areas and establishing green urban pathways. The Urban Forest plan, which involves lining streets with trees and increasing the number of green corridors, not only reduces urban surface temperatures but also enhances the aesthetic and value of neighbourhoods. Moreover, the environmental impact of augmenting tree cover and green spaces cannot be overlooked. [Parks > Biodiversity & Ecological Restoration] [Parks > Sports Grounds and Facilities]

I would like to see much more funding for installing green spaces and planting trees in urban areas. Doing so offers so many benefits like reducing heat, increasing shade (critical as the climate warms), and well documented mental health benefits. [Planning & Transport, Urban Design, & Urban regeneration > Urban Design], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)], [Grants and Funding > Other Contestable Funds]

- Council must allocate more funding to implement the biodiversity strategy (less than 50% of actions are currently being implemented).
- Evidence shows there are tangible benefits to increasing tree cover in urban streets and creating green urban pathways. Lining our streets with trees and other plants and increasing the number of green corridors, as part of the Urban Forest plan will have the effect of reducing urban surface temperatures and increasing appearance and value. They are also an attractive asset to local communities and can provide significant social and visual benefits to the overall appearance of any given street.
- This is all notwithstanding the environmental impact of increasing tree cover and green spaces. An investment in more trees and biodiversity should go hand in hand with an increased priority in the planting of native plant types in appropriate circumstances.

2845 - Erin Todd

Increasing the tree cover in the city and creating green urban pathways is essential and requires more funding to implement a coherent biodiversity strategy.

2848 - Glen Koorey

Keep planting more trees! They are an important climate mitigating tool, as well as providing great cover for residents and visitors when it is wet.

2852 - Aaron Ghattas

Regarding climate change, the only technology our planet has to easing climate change are trees. There is nothing else. The weight of a tree is equal to that of the CO₂ and water that has been sequestered from our atmosphere.

2858 - Daniel Parkinson

Street tree planting. The council is starting to do great work planting more trees in parks. But there are many streets, particularly in older suburbs, that have excessively wide roads. There is plenty of space to plant more trees e.g. Rosebery St in Spreydon that would reduce urban heating and water run-off and beautify areas. It would also narrow streets and help to slow down traffic. Reducing intersection widths with more trees helps to reduce the speed of cornering cars and improve pedestrian safety.

2868 - Jonty Coulson

Increased tree cover within the city is also vital to reducing urban surface temperatures whilst beautifying the city.

Benefits of Increasing Tree Cover and Green Urban Pathways: - Environmental Benefits: Urban trees and green spaces contribute significantly to reducing air pollution, absorbing carbon dioxide, and providing shade, which helps mitigate the urban heat island effect. They also support stormwater management and enhance biodiversity by providing habitats for wildlife²³⁴⁵. - Health and Well-being: Exposure to green spaces has been shown to have a positive impact on mental health, reducing levels of depression, anxiety, and stress. Furthermore, green spaces encourage physical activity and social interaction, contributing to the overall health and well-being of residents²³⁴⁵. - Economic and Social Benefits: Green spaces can increase property values and attract businesses due to their aesthetic appeal and the quality of life they offer. They also foster community engagement and provide educational opportunities about nature and sustainability⁴⁵⁶. Recommendations for Funding Allocation: Given the myriad benefits associated with biodiversity and green spaces, it is recommended that the Christchurch City Council allocate more funding towards the implementation of the biodiversity strategy and the development of green urban pathways. Specifically: - Enhance Tree Canopy and Green Pathways: Increase investment in planting and maintaining urban trees and developing green pathways. This includes setting specific targets for tree canopy coverage and creating more community gardens and parks.

Green Urban Pathways and Tree Cover: The LTP underemphasizes the importance of green urban pathways and increasing tree cover, which are crucial for reducing urban heat and enhancing the aesthetic and economic value of the city. The Urban Forest Plan, which aims to increase tree lining along streets and develop green corridors, should be a priority as it aligns with the global movement towards sustainable urban living and can significantly contribute to the city's climate resilience. >>> - Enhance Green Infrastructure: Prioritize the implementation of the Urban Forest Plan and other initiatives aimed at increasing green spaces and tree cover in urban areas. This not only supports environmental goals but also enhances the liveability of the city.

2939 - John Thomsen

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > City Planning], [Parks > Biodiversity & Ecological Restoration]

Also we consider the city needs more green space and trees but excess residential development should not be consented without extending its planting of trees to negate the effect of felling in lush semi rural spaces that are fast becoming part of our city urban sprawl. Also we are wishing to promote the vast beauty of the port hills, and to encourage more bird life, (Kereru, tui) and native species like the skink, we must seriously consider how much we wish to develop on this hill spaces without serious consenting, mitigation from the developers, so as to avoid harm to our wild life and vegetation and green spaces for enjoyment.

2942 - Will Taylor

I particularly like the funding for green spaces and increased canopy cover

2947 - Katia De Lu

(d) Planting more trees and other plants along our streets. Tree-lined streets slow down drivers (reducing greenhouse gas emissions and making our streets safer), make walking and cycling more attractive (by providing shade on hot days), reduce air pollution, and just make our city a nicer place to be.

1. More planting I strongly support urban forest land and green spaces, and also more plantings along streets (see my earlier comments). Greening our city makes it more attractive, reduces urban heat islands, improves community health and wellbeing, and absorbs greenhouse gas emissions. Let's do more of it!

3035 - Claire Coveney

As Otautahi expands having recreation areas, places to relax, walk should include canopy trees for shelter. Trees need to be grouped together in a community to support each other during storms. Our Parks need to include larger indigenous tree forests. Saying that having a beautiful park such as Risingholme in my community and a native forest, King George Reserve (needs renaming) on the Opawaho I experience the health benefits mentally and physically of living close to large trees and a tiny forest. Otautahi had a green belt. Fertile soil. It has gone under to development and motorways and wildlife has been killed. What will this council do to protect our soils, trees and wildlife with clear felling of sections and increasing traffic causing more noise and air pollution? We need trees to absorb both. Not mitigation. Real trees. Not topiary bushes. Real trees.

Providing shade is also important as the summers are getting hotter.

Every community not just the red zone needs canopy trees to absorb carbon emission for health and wellbeing.

More trees in our urban spaces can improve people's mental wellbeing and lower temperatures in the city. Furthermore, if tall trees are built close to roads, research has shown that it can psychologically trick drivers into driving slower at a safe speed.

3706 - Ellie Stevenson

Christchurch has huge opportunities given the red zone and our generally not too intensive or "entrenched" nature as a city just yet compared to many others. Please, please spread tree coverage as far and wide as you can, even if you get a few sour people complaining about shade in their backyard. They can choose to go out and appreciate the world, but for many Christchurchers, it's practically unfeasible to go out into your nearby parks or walkways because you're just too exposed to the sun (especially when combined with concrete!) or otherwise aren't comfortable with the lack of privacy. This is genuinely one of the most underappreciated and valuable things any local government can change their minds on for the better, anywhere, and I say this as somebody who despises pinus radiata (obviously, the more native trees we can plant, the better). There are policy courses we can disagree on, like our avenues of transport, but foresting our cities is such an absolute must. Just a huge value gain. If you feel disappointed or grumpy that kids these days don't get out and play like they used to, giving them trees is the number one way to make them feel like there's a space for them outside again.

The proposal to increase tree cover across the entire city is fantastic and should continue to be implemented. Where possible, natives should be used and encouraged.

3759 - Ben Connolly

I strongly support more spending for projects over the 10 years on projects that have a direct impact on climate change mitigation: >>>• Urban forest – $18 millio

3770 - Jane Higgins

It's great to see the Urban Forest Plan in the LTP.

3780 - Jack Halliday

Increasing tree cover on trees, especially the central city, is very important to me.

3783 - Arthur McGregor

I love all our greenspaces! I particularly support improving tree cover.

3799 - Morgane Honore (Richmond Community Garden Trust)

Urban Forest Plan and Parks

We wholeheartedly support the Urban Forest plan as these urban parks are a critical biodiversity connector for the ongoing restoration of the OARC, OHRC, Banks Peninsula, Travis and other large restoration projects across the city.

3802 - Matthew Baird

More trees: As mentioned earlier, more trees and shrubs on residential streets will make them a nicer place to be. It would also be nice to have more green spaces and urban forest land. More trees have a positive impact on community health & wellbeing and reduced emissions.

3809 - Johnathon Ridden

This needs continued support and investment across the board and can not be compromised or cut back. Investing in a urban native forest is highly beneficial to become an ecotourism destination.

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Creating a Climate Fund]

We have been kicking this one down the road for several decades and are now seeing the impacts e.g. Port Hills fires (if we invested in removing highly flammable exotic species from residential areas, if would save money i.e. plant less flammable native forest!). This will provide a return on investment.

- Increasing appropriate tree cover in urban streets and creating green urban pathways. Lining our streets with trees and other plants and increasing the number of green corridors, as part of the Urban Forest plan will have the effect of reducing urban surface temperatures and increasing appearance and value. They are also an attractive asset to local communities and can provide significant social and visual benefits to the overall appearance of any given street.

The Urban Forest Plan focuses on aspects such as shade and street trees rather than carbon sequestration. We agree with proposed Plan Change 14 that seeks financial contributions from new developments to increase tree canopy cover on private property.

4264 - Sam Newton (Recreation Aotearoa)

97. Recreation Aotearoa recognises and supports the efforts being made to build resilience to and reduce climate change effects. Specifically, we commend the plan to plant more trees via the Urban Forest initiative. The development of 'green corridors' has our support, to the extent to which it improves the quality of the user experience within green spaces. However, we note with concern that the Draft LTP predicts that the emission reduction targets will not be met.

526 - Stephen French

the climate change mitigation component of the LTP is pathetic. The two big items (public transport and cycleways) are business as usual and really belong in the transport section. That leaves $18 million for the urban forest (which over ten years is peanuts). Even the LTP document says this allocation won't enable the city's climate change goals to be met. But it won't even generate movement towards those goals (as we've seen already since 2019). So is the council giving up on its climate goals?

1225 - Josh Brown

Would like to see more money committed towards the Urban Forest Plan as this will be an massively important factor for the city going forward, both in terms of psychological benefits of more "green space" for citizens, and also as a way to reduce the temperature of the city as climate change becomes a more pressing issue (ie. urban forests have lower temperatures than unforested urban areas).

1290 - Aric Thorn

I think you should be thinking more about the Port Hills. Trying to reduce fire by planting more natives and NOT planting any pines on any council controlled land. Far more green fire breaks need to be planted on the urban/rural fringe. I think grass lands/grazing on the Port Hills is a ridiculous concept. This should be phased out and more trees planted in grassland areas. The trees would slow the spread of fire and help sequester more carbon helping the council achieve it's carbon emission outcomes which at the time of writing are not going to be met.

Funding for parks in Riccarton We note that there is no capital expenditure allocated to parks in the Riccarton Ward in the next 10 years. There are increasingly few trees in Riccarton, and with housing density set to increase further, outdoor open space for trees etc and play areas is desperately needed. Funding should be provided not only for existing parks but also to develop pocket parks in all neighbourhoods by purchasing land that becomes available.

2591 - Bronwyn Hayward

I do suggest if we are building an “urban forest: we think carefully about the way Barcelona has developed city refugee spots- targeting low income areas without trees first -especially where there are many young families such as Hornby and think about the cobenefits of cooling, mental health, flood protection etc – trees are also a potential offset source but we should note that as temperatures rise we are uncertain about the long term impacts on natural planting- however getng shade and green space into areas that currently lack significant planting and tree coverage by prioritising the lowest income areas can yield the highest community benefit

Emergency preparedness is a Board Priority, and spending on the Port Hills with reducing fire risk in mind is important to the Community Board. The Community Board would like to see the Urban Forest Plan extended to include more trees on the streets, road reserve and along waterways. 2734 - Sharon McDonald

Stop getting rid of all the trees and if you do this replant immediately with the trees that will help our environment.

2799 - Dot Lovell-Smith

As developers continue to cut down established suburban trees to build more and more housing there needs to be more thought put into preserving and increasing the amount of green space and the numbers of trees and forests. In the south west, land like the Old Wigram airbase needs to be intensively planted with a variety of exotic and indigenous trees to develop a bush or forest environment, and most parks and streets need to have an increase in the number of trees to provide shelter and shade for pedestrians and indigenous fauna.

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > City Planning]

Here, I think more money is needed and stronger rules over tree canopy retention are needed. One example, Sparks Road in Halswell, had many mature trees felled for housing, and while the developer may have to replant trees in their sections, it will take 30 years or more to regain that tree canopy. Many of those trees were on or near the boundary where fences are now placed, those mature trees could have been saved and incorporated into the landscape with a little planning.

The LTP refers to protecting and regenerating the city's tree canopy. I agree that trees are very desirable subject to 2 caveats: (1) Planning rules, including the proposed intensification rules provide for building recession planes to protect neighbour' access to light and sun but do not protect residential dwellings from neighbours' trees. As a result many homeowners have their access to sun light compromised or blocked by neighbours' trees. Could the Council think about introducing limitations on trees in residential areas so that owners are required to keep them trimmed to within a reasonable recession plane? (2) In some places in NZ Sycamore trees are treated as noxious weeds because they send out so many seedlings which turn into trees within a short time, whereas CCC protects them. They should be eliminated to prevent the city being overrun by these pests.

I would like to see stronger regulations and guidelines around the planting of pine (or other non indigenous species) forestry on Banks Peninsula. Currently, land owners can plant pines pretty much anywhere they please. Whether its "permanent" forestry for carbon or plantations for harvesting, both have severe impacts locally. With so called permanent forestry its clear that investors will not take responsibility for the long term negative consequences - they can benefit from the carbon credits then leave problems for the next generation. The purchase of land for forestry, in particular by foreign investors, where higher than normal market rates for land are being offered are obviously very tempting for land owners when sheep and beef returns are relatively low. And especially when these offers involve the less productive farming land- how can a landowner turn down that sort of offer? This is happening and needs to be stopped. Many of the negative impacts are clear from recent events in Hawkes Bay but I recognise that some forestry will always be part of the rural scene. In which case its even more important to control and thing well ahead. 1.Pines or any non-indigenous forestry significantly changes the character of the landscape with minimal benefits , other than financial for the initial investors. Banks peninsula is recognized locally and internationally as having a unique character. Ratepayers money is currently used for enhancing the biodiversity and valuing the character and yet, on the other hand, tracts of non indigenous forestry are appearing throughout the peninsula diminishing the great work done by landowners and organizations like BPCT. 2. There needs to be tighter controls and requirements to prevent ongoing spread of wildings and follow through from regulatory authorities to ensure wildings aren't spreading. I live near a hillside harvested 4 years ago, owned by a non-present overseas person and it has had no attention what-so-ever since harvesting. It is now a hillside thick with human height wildings. Its a huge fire risk and will have no future harvestable qualities given the lack of care. 3. Harvest plans must be tightened and should involve staged harvesting so that at no time are there large tracts of bare, erosion prone land. The negative impacts of bare, harvested areas is clear to see in the Okuti River during rain events. 4. Only areas that can be accessed by the required machinery and therefore can realistically be harvested should be allowed to be planted. Even so called permanent forestry needs to be accessible in the long term. It won't be "permanent" in the true sense of the word and therefore more long, long-term planning is required. There are examples of impossible to harvest plantations currently on the peninsula - no more please. 5. Shading of neighbour's properties needs to be taken into account - planting setback from boundaries needs to be increased and enforced so that mature trees, with their height many times that of natives, do not cause unwanted shading. In summary I would like to see the negative consequences of forestry taken much more seriously, with some very long-term thinking to prevent these plus, higher recognition of the long term benefits of indigenous forest cover which will add to the specialness of Banks Peninsula; a place that many of us, whether living here or just visiting value so highly.

570 - Greg Partridge

The Council's delayed action in implementing the Urban Forest Plan (years after having declared a Climate and Ecological Emergency), focuses primarily on increasing the number of trees on Council owned land. Yet again the CCC through the Urban Forest Plan, are enabling wealthy property developers to in effect buy their way out of environmental vandalism, given them a green light to continue the destruction of the existing urban tree canopy. This reflects a broader failure of the CCC to demonstrate good guardianship by not having implemented far more stringent and bolder regulatory goals to protect the existing urban tree canopy coverage on privately owned land now and for future generations of residents and elected City Councils who will have to deal with the impacts of a climate emergency and the prospect of urban heat islands. Preserving existing trees not only benefits the environment but also enhances city resilience, biodiversity, and sustainability, all of which align with the CCC's documented environmental goals, yet proposed stormwater retention ponds on a block of land between Avonside Drive and Lychgate Close in Linwood threaten additional tree loss, despite viable alternatives. The Council have plans to construct stormwater retention ponds on a strip of land between Avonside Drive and Lychgate Close, which will require the removal of 60 native trees located between 112 and 118 Avonside Drive. However, nearby there are two very large open spaces which would both be viable locations for the stormwater ponds to be situated: 1. The southern area of neighbouring Beverley Park (the former site of the Linwood Bowling Club). No trees would require felling to make way for stormwater retention ponds on this very vacant and barren site. 2. The neighbouring area of vacant land which stretches from the south side of Lychgate Close toward Trinity Lane, i.e. 170 to 184 Stanmore Road. Although this site is not completely barren of trees, there exists only a very small number, all of which are on the extremities of the site. Both of those sites are owned by the CCC. Both sit further back from the Avon River, and unlike the block of land between Avonside Drive and Lychgate Close which suffered significant land damage and lateral spread, will be less susceptible in future earthquake damage, therefore reducing the liability of financial risk faced by the CCC in terms of future costly repairs. Page 4 of the proposed Draft Long Term Plan states that the CCC are wanting the community to supporting the Councils goals "to reduce emissions, build climate resilience and protect and regenerate the environment, especially our biodiversity, water bodies and tree canopy." It goes on stating the CCC have set goals so that: "Ecosystems supporting biodiversity are protected and restored," and "Our urban forest thrives with healthy, diverse and resilient trees." If the CCC are living by those statements and your goal for Christchurch to be a "green, liveable city", then place the stormwater ponds on the two suggested alternative sites. Allow members of the local community to add more native trees to the grove of 60 native trees already growing between 112 and 118 Avonside Drive, alongside all of the other very well-established trees either side of those properties. All of those trees will provide ground stability to the land and will reduce the probability that the land will crevasse again like it did during the February 2011 earthquake. All of those trees will naturally filter stormwater pollutants if left to grow. They will prevent stormwater runoff, sequester carbon and will provide increased tree canopy habitat for native birdlife and insects. All of those trees and the additional native trees, which members of the community have already purchased with the intent to plant on site this tree planting season, will add to the urban tree canopy of our city. Leave them to grow to maturity, rather than removing them. They have long-term environmental value.

Protecting the existing well-established trees of our city: There is little in the Long Term Plan regarding this critical topic (particularly regarding trees on private property), and nothing in terms of increasing the awareness of Arbor Day and its significance. In 2019 the CCC declared a Climate and Ecological Emergency, and yet with less than 15% tree canopy coverage, Christchurch has the shameful title of having the least percentage of tree canopy cover of any major city in New Zealand. Ours is even less than that of New York, London, Sydney, Melbourne, Singapore, Vienna, and many other large international cities, all of which have a much higher percentage of tree canopy cover than what Christchurch does. In spite of that glaring fact however, and that it has been repeatedly brought to the attention of the CCC, the Council have continued to do nothing about launching a city-wide annual Arbor Day Awareness Campaign, to not only bring about public attention to the huge list of benefits that trees provide to the urban environment, to a city's economy, to the wellbeing of a city's residents, and the obvious benefits to a city's natural environment, but to educate, entice and encourage residents and business owners to protect and nurture existing trees, and to plant additional trees on their properties. Please allocate money in the Long Term Plan budget for this to happen consecutively for the next five years. Street Trees and Arbor Day: The Long Term Plan lacks focus on increasing the tree canopy coverage across Christchurch and increasing public awareness of Arbor Day. That lack of focus does not sit well in terms of the Council's goal of climate resilience and overall city livability.

The Draft Long Term Plan indicates the CCC has budgeted to spend $1,283,000 over the next two years on Street Tree Renewals: $593,000 in 2024/25, and an additional $690,000 in 2025/26. There is however no money at all being allocated in the Long Term Plan to increase the green infrastructure (i.e., the planting of trees along existing Christchurch streets), for the subsequent 8 years of the Long Term Plan. Rather than building incredibly expensive and unnecessary cycleways (eg, $16,900,000 on the Wings to Wheels cycleway, and $30,698,000 on the Otakaro Avon cycleway), the Council should be spending that money on planting additional trees across Christchurch (not just in parks), maintaining and protecting trees, and educating the public on the enormous benefits that trees provide to the environment, to wildlife, to us as residents, and to us as a city. When compared to the enormous sum of $164,078,000 that the CCC has allocated to spend throughout the full duration of the Long Term Plan on Christchurch cycleways, the budget for street tree renewals (and planting of additional street trees throughout Christchurch), is a shamefully small! The Long Term Plan lacks focus on increasing the tree canopy coverage across Christchurch and increasing public awareness of Arbor Day. That lack of focus does not sit well in terms of the Council's goal of climate resilience and overall city livability. Protecting the existing well-established trees of our city: There is little in the Long Term Plan regarding protecting existing well established trees, particularly on private property, and nothing in terms of increasing the awareness of Arbor Day and its significance. The Council's focus seems to be on upgrading already functional roads, despite the unnecessary expense that burdens ratepayers, as seen with Gloucester and High Streets in the central city. Meanwhile, numerous other roads in Christchurch are poorly repaired post-earthquake, uneven, or inadequately maintained by the CCC. For instance, London Street in Richmond showcases these issues, with its poor condition causing ground vibrations that affect nearby houses due to its uneven and bumpy surface. The mid-section of London Street also suffers from poorly patched potholes that continue to deteriorate. Instead of investing millions in unnecessary upgrades to already functional roads and vanity projects in the central city, the Council should prioritize repairing and resurfacing streets like ours, ensuring better use of the roading budget and addressing ratepayers' concerns about poorly maintained roads.

Increased tree planting and cover has numerous benefits. Studies have shown the importance of tree canopy cover for mental and emotional wellbeing, helping reduce antisocial behaviour; crucially, it also helps combat the 'heat island' effect which impacts areas with large amounts of concrete and non-green space. Creating green pathways can help encourage native fauna into our city and residential areas.

3614 - Lin Roberts

- We also need to green our streets with trees and other plants, as part of the Urban Forest plan. Tree-lined streets slow down drivers, and slower drivers are safer drivers, and emit less greenhouse gases. They also make walking and cycling more attractive, by providing shade on hot days, reducing air pollution, and are just nicer to look at.

3621 - Morgane Honore

Increasing tree cover in urban streets and creating green urban pathways not only enhances the aesthetic appeal of our city but also provides numerous tangible benefits. Research indicates that green spaces can help reduce urban surface temperatures, mitigate the effects of climate change, and improve air quality. Additionally, green areas serve as valuable habitats for wildlife, contributing to biodiversity conservation efforts.

3690 - Jono de Wit (Greater Ōtautahi)

Evidence shows there are tangible benefits to increasing tree cover in urban streets and creating green urban pathways. Lining our streets with trees and other plants and increasing the number of green corridors, as part of the Urban Forest plan will have the effect of reducing urban surface temperatures and increasing appearance and value. They are also an attractive asset to local communities and can provide significant social and visual benefits to the overall appearance of any given street. This is all notwithstanding the environmental impact of increasing tree cover and green spaces.

375 - Alex McNeill

Ōtautahi is such a great place to live. I've loved living here for the past 13 years, and I'm looking forward to the rest of my life here. The things that make it great are the things we need to protect by investing in them and not shying away from difficult decisions. E.g. ease of getting around without relying on a car - boost our bus and bike infrastructure. Easy to access green spaces - continue tree planting. Reliable drinking and storm water - invest in upgrading our systems so that they are resilient against climate change. Yes, this rates increase is expensive during this cost of living crisis. We need to be careful to support our less well-off ratepayers.

3856 - Portia Bishop

- Increase tree covers in urban streets- good for reducing surface temperatures, providing shade in summer, and provide visual benefits

396 - Daniel Jackson

I would like more trees. It's always sad to see them get cut down and not replaced with more.

529 - Don Reekie (Parkstone Musical Appreciation Group)

[Parks>Parks Maintenance]

Parks and tree cover is excellent in Christchurch. Standards should be at least maintained.

78 - Michele Laing

Every neighbourhood needs canopy trees and biodiversity

8 - Justin Yudistira

-Ensure funding to increase tree cover

Sports Field Network Plan

General Comments

313 submissions were received addressing the Sports Field Network Plan.

34 comments supported, and 62 comments opposed. Many submitters urge the council to bring funding forward.

53 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 165 comments provided general feedback addressing the Sports Field Network Plan.

Officers Response

Submissions supporting the Sports Field Network Plan

A large number of submissions expressed strong support of the 85.6 million allocated towards the Sports Field Network Plan, due to:

- Addressing pressure on the current network
- Ensuring Christchurch's facilities are of similar standard to other areas (including all-weather turf to allow playing in the rain)

Most of these submissions argued that the Sports Field Network Plan is a high priority and should be brought forward.

Submissions opposing the Sports Field Network Plan

A very small number of submissions opposed the plan, for the following reasons:

- Sports clubs should raise funds themselves
- The sports field network plan should be abandoned along with all capital projects in order to save costs
- The allocated budget for sports fields was too high and should be split in half with the other half given to biodiversity, which they saw as a higher priority

Submissions requesting increased funding for sports fields

A few submissions suggested that funding needed to be larger in order to ensure there were enough high-quality surfaces to play on all year round.

Many submissions detailed concerns with provision for particular sports, particularly football, netball, hockey and rugby league and were uncertain whether the plan would meet demand.

The $85.6M of funding has been carefully staged to avoid over-promising and under-delivering. In particular, the provision of 12 all-weather artificial turfs will require a time-consuming and complex decision and consenting process which makes it difficult to bring forward. That said, the LTP funding mechanism does allow funding to be brought forward from future financial years for a faster delivery of facilities should that become possible.

The purpose of these turfs will be to take pressure off, and therefore protect, the natural turf fields during times of drought stress and inclement weather. Areas where supply cannot meet demand in the city will be clearly identified and prioritised for investment.

The prioritisation of projects implemented through the Sports Field Network Plan will be agreed in consultation with the regional sports organisations using regular seasonal meetings and an objective decision-making framework. This process will help ensure that community sports clubs, through their regional organisations, will continue to have a voice as the plan is delivered. This will ensure that individual sports will have their needs met.

The Sports Field Network Plan only includes traditional outdoor sports played on natural turf. Therefore, netball and hockey are not included in the Plan. However, once the netball lease for the outdoor courts at Hagley ends, we aim to engage a large number of sports in future development discussions to ensure all outdoor sports users have a say. School Sport Canterbury and Primary Sports Canterbury are already part of the Regional Sport Organisation decision making group on the Sports Field Network Plan so will be able to contribute to the discussion and decision making about the future of these outdoor courts. There are several multi-use surface options that could be considered for this site.

Nearly all of the submissions on the sports field network plan supported the investment with the majority requesting bringing forward the delivery of the programme, particularly the artificial turf hubs.

Option

The Council could bring forward capital from outer years to enable delivery of the first tranche (2-3) of artificial sports turfs with a target opening in the first 2 years of the Long-Term Plan and the next 2 within the first 4 years of the plan, with all works completed within 8 years. Staff believe this is a deliverable programme.

This accelerated approach acknowledges the concerns raised in feedback within the majority of the submissions received.

I agree with the LTPs outlining of a potential 12 all weather sports pitches which would greatly enhance sport in the city

Good afternoon Andrew Coastal Spirit FC are joining forces with all other clubs across Christchurch to ask the City Council to spend some much needed money on the sports fields and facilities across the city. To make our voices heard as loudly as possible, we need you to please make a submission to the Council to ask them to include funding for sport facilities and fields in their Long Term Plan. To make your submission, please follow the instructions below... Click here: Consult24 \(ccc.govt.nz\) Enter your name and email in Section 1 Skip to Section 8 where under 'Anything Else' you can add your comments about Community Parks Sports Field Development Programme funding (copy the paragraph below...) Of course, we encourage you to comment on Sections 2-7 if you have other things to say. When done, please click Submit in Section 10 by 21 April My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment. Thank you in advance for helping to get better football pitches and facilities for everyone in Christchurch. Kind regards. Andrew Eastwood

Specifically, the east has long suffered from having such an intense cost of "re-build" that has gone to vertical infrastructure or key projects like QE2 rebuild, that it has left sportsfields almost completely derelict and unplayable. The Broadhaven reserver is one of those areas, which each week hosts 100's of kids, but isn't up which has over the years seen many kids from the east, moving across town for sports.

Please keep the funding for the Sports Network Plan in the Long Term plan. I played in football in Masters. coached my sons team when he was 5. Now is now 18 playing for Halswell premier and coaching a kids team. The fields at Halswell domain are dangerous, sometimes unusable and not acceptable for modern sport.

2556 - Jacinda Valentine (Netball Mainland a business Unit of Netball New Zealand)

This submission is provided by Jacinda Valentine, Relationship Manager on behalf of Netball Mainland a business unit of Netball New Zealand, and the affiliated Zone Regional Sports Organisation for all Netball Centres in the Mainland region. This submission would like to endorse the 87 million dollars of funding tagged to 'Community parks sports fields development' within the CCC 2024 - 2034 LTP. Netball has thrived for the last 103 years with the outdoor court infrastructure, based at Hagley Park. Netball Mainland would like to thank and acknowledge the support from CCC with Christchurch Netball Centres(CNC) recent indoor stadium build located at Ngā Puna Wai Sports Hub, this has increased indoor court capability in Christchurch and we are looking forward to the addition of Parakiore indoor courts into the wider network in 2025. It is Netball Mainland's understanding in 2026 the Lease for the Hagley Park Outdoor Netball Courts is concluded between CCC and CNC. The Lease asks that the outdoor courts be dug up and returned to their original form of grass. This space would then sit under the "Sports Field Network Plan" that is proposed in the LTP. It is Netball Mainland's opinion that Hagley Park Outdoor Courts are a key strategic infrastructure for Netball for the wider community of Netball and have key benefits for CNC, School Sport Canterbury and Primary Sports Canterbury if they were able to continue to be used for Netball and any other court-based sport and recreation activity past 2026. Key barriers to participation in Sport are Cost and Transport. Hagley Park Outdoor Courts currently reduce both of these barriers because of their hubbed nature to allow multiple sports/activities to be run at the same time at Hagley Park and due to the volume of courts in one location. As a Sport, Netball is looking forward and thinking about how we can be agile with our infrastructure environments for modern users of the game over the next 10 years. With costs continually increasing for the use of indoor courts, there is a place for outdoor courts to remain in the wider infrastructure system to ensure equity of access exists in Christchurch. Low-cost infrastructure will enable the wider Sporting organisations to continue to offer Netball in a range of ways. Indoor Netball surfaces are superior for Premier and High-Performance offerings, however outdoor court surfaces are just as valuable for the wider Netball players in particular, junior age groups, schools and Netball trainings. Netball Mainland had a 7% increase in Participations in 2023 (NNZ Membership Return 2023) CNC had 6104 Participations in 2023 an increase of 5% (NNZ Membership Return 2023) and will continue to use Hagley Park Courts for their junior programme on Saturdays as part of their winter season. All club teams also have the opportunity to train on the outdoor courts as the 10 indoor courts at Ngā Puna Wai will not meet all training needs. "Secondary School Sport use every court in the city (including schools) to cater for their 170 teams that play at 3.15pm through winter. The network of outdoor courts are imperative for their level of activation." says Jon Derry SSC. "Primary Sport Canterbury consistently run at capacity for Netball, all outdoor courts at Hagley are in use." says Michael Wilson Primary Sports Canterbury. With the current number of Netball participations at CNC, post 2026 the 10 indoor courts at Ngā Puna Wai plus 9 indoor courts at Parakiore will not accommodate CNC winter Netball season. CCC develop, maintain and fund sports fields for multiple sport users across Christchurch. Netball has been a sport that has predominately paid our own way developing and maintaining infrastructure over the last 103years of the Canterbury/Christchurch Netball Centre. This has been in part due to the support from CCC around Hagley Park Courts, it would be great to ensure Netball can continue to run in a sustainable cost-effective way. Netball Mainland see Hagley Park Outdoor Courts as a key piece of infrastructure to continuing this legacy for our predominately, womans and girl membership and lovers of the game.

I look forward to continuing to work with CCC staff around opportunities for Netball and court-based sports/activities. It would be great to see Court Sports like Netball be included and be able to contribute to the wider thinking of the Sport Field Network Plan. I would also welcome the opportunity to talk to Councilors on the impact of Netball if these courts were removed or replaced with something else, without an alternative outdoor court option.

2569 - Jon Derry (School Sport Canterbury)

This submission is provided by Jon Derry, Regional Sport Director on behalf of School Sport Canterbury and pertains specifically to the inclusion of 87 Million dollars of funding tagged to 'Community parks sports fields development' within the LTP. Firstly, I would look to strongly endorse the inclusion of this funding with the LTP and I commend the council for having the foresight to continue to plan to have a robust field network plan that will meet the city needs into the future and enable suitable spaces for physical recreation through 'sport'. I would however take this opportunity, to express concerns at the potential marginalisation of outdoor court spaces, specifically the loss of the Hagley Netball Courts and the impact it will have on both the sport (netball) and bulk school based participation. Long term provision of Netball There is no doubt that Netball Centre and 10 indoor courts at Nga Puna Wai, in addition to pending 9 courts at Parakiore will be great for the city, it will not provide the sole answer to the provision of netball across the city and outdoor spaces will still be required within the network. In terms of numbers on Wednesday afternoons as part of sec Secondary School Sport we use every court in the city (including schools) to cater for our 170 teams that play at 3.15pm through winter. The network of outdoor courts are imperative for this level of activation. We will of course evolve our model, but to replace 35 courts with 10 provides significant challenges. Equity Of greater concern, even if we could accommodate all these teams, is the cost of participation. For you refence we currently charge $25 per team per season (17 weeks). Based on a team of ten, a season of netball costs each student $2.50 (Anything the school charges for coaching and transport is additional to this) we do everything possible to keep the cost of participation in our programmes as low as possible. If we are required to charge an additional $50 per game to cover the cost of playing indoors, we will marginalise the schools / players we are striving to reach and keep engaged the most. For participation based more social teams they simply don't need to be playing indoors. Hockey and its transition to turf, provides a real example of this, though the sport is thriving there are schools and demographics not well represented within the sport. Schools as consumers of sport Free or low cost access to multiple outdoor courts that can be used for netball (in addition to sports) has significant benefits to school sport at both a primary and secondary level. As we know travel costs and the logistics of travel are significant, and if we are going to reduce the barriers for school partners to provide opportunities for their students, we must consider their ability to send buses to one location for students to play multiple sports. Making venues like Hagley traditionally and NPW increasingly, great venues for mass weekly sport participation and festivals of youth sport. Of note, for secondary schools, sport wholly sits outside of the curriculum, so the MoE are not supporting the provision of space for 'sport'. That's not to say it's any councils responsibility to fill this gap, but in terms of the activation of rangatahi, schools are great enablers, within the community sport system. Though this issue would sit outside the 'Field Network Plan' which pertains to green space, it can't be looked at in isolation. The unintended consequences of increase indoor court provision will have a detrimental impact on access and equity of netball provision at a community level. If it's not realistic to retain long term access to outdoor courts at Hagley, I would encourage CCC (and netball partners) to use the principals of Places and Spaces planning (Hubbing, Co location and Partnership) to think about future provision for outdoor netball. In reality, this is a complex challenge with many stakeholder, I would fully endorse a collaborative and innovative approach to identifying solutions in order to keeping our young people engaged in sport and activity. I would again, like to take this opportunity to endorse the allocation of funding within the LTP to increase the capacity of quality of outdoor field spaces including multi use artificial surfaces. At this point I also think its worth thanking council for the ongoing commitment to make green space free of charge, this significant investment absorbed annual by CCC, is a huge enabler of youth sport participation and is not taken for granted by a very grateful network. If you would like to talk further about the needs of schools as consumers of sport, or the downstream impact of a reduction of outdoor netball courts, I would be more than happy to talk to any relevant party. Thank you for your consideration of this submission and my thanks to CCC, and particularly the CCC Rec and Sport team as a long-term and valued partner of School Sport Canterbury.

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring councils, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment. There is a huge need for greenspace for our citizens to play, train, watch and enjoy Football. In many areas of Christchurch the pitches become unplayable after a few bouts of rain which causes disruption and cancelations. This in turn feels like wasted $$ for many players, SUBs and fees to play when facilities are below par compared to other cities and neighboring councils, this results in a drop in participant numbers. Not the best for a fit and healthy community Thank you for the opportunity to make my voice heard in this extremely important topic in my life.

2709 - Matthew Gallen

I strongly support the Community Parks Sports Field Development Programme with an $85.6m investment . Prioritizing this will boost community, recreational, and sports outcomes in our city, aiming to create up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs with changing rooms and better grass fields. Quality sports fields are vital for a livable city, but Christchurch lags behind neighboring councils, impacting safety, attracting investment, and growth. The current plan delays most of the $85.6m investment. Given the strain on existing facilities, it's crucial to speed up this investment. I urge the Council to reconsider the timeline and invest sooner to meet the pressing need for better sports infrastructure.

I wholeheartedly endorse the Community Parks Sports Field Development Programme, which includes an $85.6m investment. Prioritizing this initiative will greatly enhance our community, recreation, and sports facilities, particularly through the installation of up to 12 floodlit all-weather turf fields complete with changing rooms. The significance of these all-weather turf fields cannot be overstated. They offer consistent playability regardless of weather conditions, ensuring year-round access for athletes and enthusiasts alike. This investment promises to elevate our city's appeal, not only by providing top-notch facilities but also by fostering a healthier, more active community. I urge the Council to expedite the majority of this much-needed capital investment to realize these immense benefits sooner rather than later.

2745 - Kate Latimer (Eastern Community Sport and Recreation Incorporated)

Rawhiti Domain has seen a lot of private investment in the area from Eastern Community Sport and Recreation Inc's project which include Eastern Canopy, Softball Diamond, new lighting towers and lights for Thomson Park and Cricket Pavillion plus upgrades to the NB Rugby Club operated as Eastern Hub. We have increased participation and community engagement in the area through advocacy and support of the Member clubs. We have brought American Football Canterbury to Thomson Park and they have joined ECSR as well as New Brighton Community Gardens. We are supporting a wide cross section of the community so see that development and upgrades to Rawhiti Domain and surrounding carparks, trees and facilities is essential. The toilet block at the rear of the Canopy is very old and unsafe place with no lighting. The road way and street lighting need urgent upgrades as the Eastern Canopy is used heavily during evening hours for sports training along. Thomson Park lighting and Eastern Canopy have increased the volume of sport participations considerably over the past three years since the last LTP. We have over 1500 members utilizing our facilities as well as other public engaging in the free and paid activations and programmes that ECSR and member clubs are providing. With the introduction of new sports like Pickleball at our venues we are seeing more uplift in pay2play access. Security in the Rawhiti Domain is key for many of the users with inadequate lighting at the parking places and overgrown bushes surrounding the play spaces.

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city, in particular in the Northwest of Christchurch. I request that CCC work with Norwest Sport & Community Hub to look at specific options to upgrade community sport and recreation facilities in Northwest Christchurch. Floodlit all-weather turfs, changing rooms, improved toilet facilities and improved playing surfaces with adequate drainage and irrigation would maximise the use of current playing fields and free up much sought after indoor space for other users. The Northwest of Christchurch is in urgent need of better grounds and facilities to support an increase in participants that reflect the growing population in the area.

[Full attachment available]

I am writing on behalf of Papanui Redwood Association Football Club (AFC) to wholeheartedly express our unwavering support for the implementation of the Sports Field Network Plan currently under consideration by the Christchurch City Council. We firmly believe that this plan is crucial for addressing the dire shortage of sports fields and facilities in the Northwest area, ensuring the well-being of our community, and nurturing the passion for football among our youth.

The reasons behind our endorsement of this plan are as follows:

1. Severe Shortage of Fields and Pitches: The Northwest area of Christchurch faces a stark reality - there is a glaring insufficiency of fields and pitches. Our club's facilities are stretched to their limits, struggling to accommodate the growing demand for football games and training sessions. The current overuse of our pitches threatens their quality and sustainability.
2. High Demand in the Northwest: The Northwest area is witnessing rapid growth in its population, accompanied by a surge in the interest in football. This region has the most pressing need for additional playing fields and artificial surfaces. The Sports Field Network Plan acknowledges this demand and endeavours to bridge this gap, ensuring that all residents have equal access to sports facilities.
3. Limitation on Club Growth: Despite the evident enthusiasm for football within our community and the surrounding areas, our club faces stagnation due to the shortage of fields and facilities. The inability to expand our club hampers our mission to provide a platform for young athletes to develop their skills and passion for the sport.
4. Community Impact: The lack of adequate sports infrastructure is not just a concern for our club but has wider implications for the community. With insufficient fields and facilities, more and more children are being denied the opportunity to participate in organised sports like football. This has far-reaching consequences for their physical health, social development, and the sense of belonging that sports bring.

We firmly believe that the Sports Field Network Plan is a step in the right direction. It is a proactive response to the pressing issues facing our community, and it embodies a vision for a healthier and more vibrant Northwest area. By investing in additional sports fields and facilities, we can secure a brighter future for our club and ensure that more children have the chance to experience the joys and benefits of playing football.

Thank you for considering our perspective. We eagerly anticipate the positive impact that the implementation of this plan will bring to our community and stand ready to assist in any way possible to help bring this vision to life.

Many, like me, have played football in Christchurch for most of their lives. At our age, running on hard surfaces hurts. Summary Points

- Coastal Spirit Football Club (Coastal Spirit) strongly supports the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785) and the $85.6m investment planned.
- With increasing membership, strong community programs, and an under-pressure field network we would like to see the investment brought forward to ensure that new fit-for-purpose fields & facilities are established quickly.
- The proposed investment is a minimum required investment to bring Christchurch into line with other similar and neighbouring communities in terms of the level of investment made in sports fields.
- Coastal Spirit's interests would be represented by Mainland Football who we understand would like to speak at the hearing.

Coastal Spirit would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP).

Our submission specifically relates to our strong support for the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the LTP) and the need to prioritise this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city.

Our sport, like many of those that require outdoor flood-lit spaces is faced with a significant shortage of fit for purpose participation facilities. With an increasing membership base, and strong community programs driving access and availability of football into under-represented communities, the current network of facilities has been under serious pressure for well over a decade.

Currently, playing numbers are so severely restricted due to the lack of facilities that Clubs have no option but to close off registrations during the winter season. Despite this, participation continues to grow placing immense strain on facilities and volunteers alike.

The development of a network of suitable participation facilities is vital to all the community and development outcomes that benefit the residents of Christchurch. This network needs to include an appropriate number of community-owned all-weather surfaces, with floodlight and changingroom infrastructure, supported by a well-maintained grass field network. The establishment of this network would bring Christchurch into line with other major cities in Aotearoa, and with our neighbouring councils, Waimakariri and Selwyn.

Below we have limited our submission on the LTP to answering the questions in the submission form that specifically relate to the Sports Field Development Plan.

What Matters Most?

The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth.

New infrastructure investment in Selwyn and Waimakariri already make these regions considerably more attractive to live and play, resulting in some having to / choosing to travel out of the city several times a week to participate in football. Wellington undertook its field network review a decade ago and now has a well-established network of high-quality artificial turfs.

A collaborative confident city – improved sports fields will support more residents to actively participate in community sport and provide more opportunities to connect with each other.

A green, liveable city – useable green space is critical to making Christchurch a liveable city. Much of our green space for sport is inaccessible during the winter months.

A cultural powerhouse city – sport is a cultural unifier and football is a truly global sport, that connects communities. The recent FIFA Women’s World Cup demonstrated the power of sport and its ability to connect multiple communities together.

A thriving prosperous city – a high quality network of all-weather pitches is a strong indicator of a thriving prosperous city and demonstrates innovation and willingness to make good investment in high-quality facilities. Football attracts people to live and work in a community, as it is a global sport.

Capital Programme

We strongly support the $85.6m set out in the LTP for the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development on the basis that this includes at least $50m committed to the establishment of the Our Sports Field Network Plan for Ōtautahi Christchurch. This plan includes the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields.

We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current Sport Field Network is under significant strain and has been for several years. Our sport is growing significantly, and this is before the true impact of the FIFA Women’s World Cup is seen on participation rates. Our community and the residents of Christchurch are changing their habits in sport participation from the traditional Saturday afternoon window to other times during the week. Currently we are unable to support this desire for change as we simply do not have access to an adequate amount of well lit, fit-for purpose, all-weather surfaces. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed Capital investment

The establishment of this network would bring Christchurch into line with other major cities in Aotearoa, and with our neighbouring councils, Waimakariri and Selwyn.

We strongly support the $85.6m set out in the LTP for the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development on the basis that this includes at least $50m committed to the establishment of the Our Sports Field Network Plan for Ōtautahi Christchurch. This plan includes the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields.

We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current Sport Field Network is under significant strain and has been for several years. Our sport is growing significantly, and this is before the true impact of the FIFA Women's World Cup is seen on participation rates. Our community and the residents of Christchurch are changing their habits in sport participation from the traditional Saturday afternoon window to other times during the week. Currently we are unable to support this desire for change as we simply do not have access to an adequate amount of well lit, fit-for purpose, all-weather surfaces. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed Capital investment.

Below is a submission suggested by our Football Club being CTFC that we submit to the council, I couldn't write it any better and 200% agree with it I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

I strongly support the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785) and the $85.6m investment planned. Currently I see massive underinvestment in sports fields to enable participation in sports and recreational activities. My children play football and the sports fields available to play football in Ōtautahi Christchurch are woeful, especially in comparison with other regions. Especially as football (soccer) is one of the fastest growing sports in the country, yet the facilities provided in our city are not keeping pace with the demand or the numbers.

I strongly support the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785) and the $85.6m investment planned. Our city desperately needs more and better quality sports playing and training grounds. Especially for football which is one of our fastest growing sports yet our available playing fields at the moment are woefully inadequate and often of very poor quality.

As above, I wish to reiterate again my strong support for the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785) and the $85.6m investment planned. Again, I wish to strongly support the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785) and the $85.6m investment planned. This investment is desperately needed for the young people in our city especially to be able to better participate in sports and recreational activities.

1440 - Mike Whitty (High School Old Boys Association Football Club)

High School Old Boys Association Football Club (HSOB AFC) submits:

1. Our submission specifically relates to the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785), with an $85.6m investment as set out on page 188 of the LTP (the Programme).
2. We support the Programme.
3. We have viewed and support the Mainland Football submission in relation to the Programme.
4. There is a need to prioritise this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. As such we seek to have the investment brought forward as soon as possible.
5. With ever increasing football participation across the city, it is important to continue to invest in fit for purpose fields and facilities to ease the current pressure on the existing field network. Football, like many of those sports requiring outdoor flood-lit spaces etc., is faced with a significant shortage of fit for purpose fields and facilities.
6. We understand that currently, playing numbers are so severely restricted due to the lack of facilities that Clubs have no option but to close off registrations during the winter season. Despite this, participation continues to grow.
7. The development of a network of suitable participation facilities is vital to all the community and development outcomes that benefit the residents of Christchurch. This network needs to include an appropriate number of community-owned all-weather surfaces, with floodlight and changing-room infrastructure, supported by a well-maintained grass field network. The establishment of this network would bring Christchurch into line with other major cities in New Zealand.

Below we have limited our submission to answering the questions in the submission form that specifically relate to the Sports Field Development Plan.

What Matters Most?

The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth.

New infrastructure investment in Selwyn and Waimakariri already make these regions considerably more attractive to live and play, resulting in some having to travel out of the city several times a week to participate in football. Wellington undertook its field network review a decade ago and now has a well-established network of high-quality artificial turfs.

A collaborative confident city – improved sports fields will support more residents to actively participate in community sport and provide more opportunities to connect with each other.

A green, liveable city – useable green space is critical to making Christchurch a liveable city. Much of our green space for sport is inaccessible during the winter months, due to poor quality surfaces.

A cultural powerhouse city – sport is a cultural unifier and football is a truly global sport, that connects communities. The recent FIFA Women’s World Cup demonstrated the power of sport and its ability to connect multiple communities together.

A thriving prosperous city – a high quality network of all-weather pitches is a strong indicator of a thriving prosperous city and demonstrates innovation and willingness to make good investment in high-quality facilities. Football attracts people to live and work in a community, as it is a global sport.

Capital Programme

We strongly support the $85.6m set out in the Programme on the basis that this includes at least $50m committed to the establishment of the Our Sports Field Network Plan for Ōtautahi Christchurch. This plan includes the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields.

Summary Points

- FC Twenty 11 Inc. strongly supports the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785) and the $85.6m investment planned.
- With increasing membership, strong community programs, and an under-pressure field network we would like to see the investment brought forward to ensure that new fit-for-purpose fields & facilities are established quickly.
- The proposed investment is a minimum required investment to bring Christchurch into line with other similar and neighbouring communities in terms of the level of investment made in sports fields.

FC Twenty 11 Inc. would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP).

Our submission specifically relates to our strong support for the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the LTP) and the need to prioritise this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city.

Our sport, like many of those that require outdoor flood- lit spaces is faced with a significant shortage of fit for purpose participation facilities. With an increasing membership base, and strong community programs driving access and availability of football into under-represented communities, the current network of facilities has been under serious pressure for well over a decade.

Currently, playing numbers are so severely restricted due to the lack of facilities that Clubs have no option but to close off registrations during the winter season. Despite this, participation continues to grow placing immense strain on facilities and volunteers alike.

The development of a network of suitable participation facilities is vital to all the community and development outcomes that benefit the residents of Christchurch. This network needs to include an appropriate number of community-owned all-weather surfaces, with floodlight and changing-room infrastructure, supported by a well-maintained grass field network. 1470 - Matt Holmes (St Albans Shirley FC)

St Albans Shirley FC – Submission in Support of the Capital Programme Sports Field Network Plan for Ōtautahi Christchurch

SASFC members, coaches and committee stand firmly behind Mainland Football in urging Christchurch City Council to reconsider the current proposed investment timeframe within the 2024-34 Long Term Plan (LTP) to bring forward the majority of this much-needed capital investment as a matter of priority.

We as a club recognise our city has undergone a significant transformation since the 2011 Canterbury earthquakes and commend Council on the work which has been completed at our home ground at St Albans Park, providing us with a quality sand-based, natural turf playing surface.

However, our experience has been one of restricting use of the park, rather than satisfying the considerable (and growing) demand from local community teams as well as our own coaches and players to use it. We have come to appreciate that natural sand-based turf will not tolerate repeated use during the winter months, so we have been forced to accept that, in order to preserve the playing surface for an entire season, we must limit use of the turf to tolerable levels. In effect, this means denying use to a growing number of players. This is a serious issue for us when looking to satisfy the burgeoning demand for participation in winter season football.

The current Sports Field Network across the city is under significant strain and this has been worsening steadily for a number of years. Our sport was growing significantly even before the impact of the 2023 FIFA Women's World Cup and we anticipate participation rates will continue to expand in the short-to-medium term. Crucially, this growth will be thwarted unless we are able to properly accommodate demand for quality playing surfaces. In 2024, our club is already beyond capacity in this respect, even as Elmwood Park returns online.

The obvious solution is the provision of much more resilient, floodlit all-weather turf across the city. SASFC are fortunate to have English Park on our doorstep, which we have been able to secure on Friday afternoons for our First Kicks and Fun Football (under-5 to under-8) programmes. These programmes have delivered consistent, high quality results and an extremely enthusiastic membership. As a result however, they have been consistently over-subscribed at every enrolment since 2021. Crucially, we are unable to expand the programme due to the massive demand for the all-weather, floodlit pitch on English Park from other clubs across the city, largely because it is the only all-weather, floodlit pitch in the city of Christchurch. It is effectively impossible to meet this demand if we are to maintain the standards that have been key to its success.

Of course, we strongly support the $85.6m set out in the LTP for the Sports Field Network Plan for Ōtautahi Christchurch, in so far as this includes the establishment of up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. This is precisely what the sport needs right now. However we were disappointed to learn that this investment is largely phased towards the back-end of the LTP 10-year period. We submit that this would be ten years too late for many young participants and could seriously impact uptake in the sport.

SASFC supports Mainland Football in urging Council to recognize the pressing need to prioritise the capital investment in the Sports Field Network Plan within the Long Term Plan.

1525 - Caroline Mason

I strongly support the $85.6m Community Parks Sport field development programme (ID61865) and prioritising this work. Establishing 10 floodlit artificial playing surfaces and improving existing grass surfaces is essential if Christchurch is to achieve its aim of being a highly liveable 21st century city. Our sports communities risk falling well behind our counterparts in other parts of the country due to the poor state of many of our grounds and facilities. Unless this investment is made in a timely way (i.e within the next few years) we risk losing several generations of players at all levels in a variety of codes.

I support the proposed investment in improving playing facilities as outlined in the Community Parks Sports Field development plan. Christchurch has lagged behind other centres in NZ in terms of the quality of community based playing facilities, particularly for football which is one of the largest participation sports in the city. Investment in artificial floodlit playing surfaces is long overdue.

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supported by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

Please keep the funding for the Sports Network Plan in the Long Term plan. The sports fields desperately need investment so that we & our tamariki can participate in sport, both during the week & at the weekend, throughout the season, rather than being stopped by the rain and poor pitches which can become a health & safety issue after the rain. It's so important for all of us to have our children involved in sports and outside enjoying our incredible city and maintaining these fields is vital.
