The Mainland Football Referees Committee is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan). We strongly support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. Our support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. Mainland Football referees volunteer to support football players demonstrate their skills in competitive matches that are safe for the players. The establishment of a quality sports field network is a critical part of creating a highly liveable 21st century city. Based on our observations as referees in the Mainland Football region, Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

1835 - Analisa Elstob

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

1935 - Mohamad Azim Taqizada (Coastal spirit fc)

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city.

My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment. Thank you in advance for helping to get better football pitches and facilities for everyone in Christchurch. Kind regards.

1948 - Deb Simpson

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

2020 - Josh McGirr

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly livable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighboring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

2040 - Ben Loader

We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

2208 - Cameron Erskine

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

2222 - Terri Collier

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

2280 - Andrew Pragnell

Summary Points • New Zealand Football strongly supports the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785) and the $85.6m investment planned. • With increasing membership, strong community programs, and an under-pressure field network we would like to see the investment brought forward to ensure that new fit-for-purpose fields and facilities are established quickly. • The proposed investment is a minimum required investment to bring Christchurch into line with other similar and neighbouring communities in terms of the level of investment made in sports fields. New Zealand Football would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). Our submission specifically relates to our strong support for the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the LTP) and the need to prioritise this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within the city. Our sport, like many of those that require outdoor floodlit spaces is faced with a significant shortage of fit for purpose participation facilities. With an increasing membership base, and strong community programs driving access and availability of football into under-represented communities, the current network of facilities has been under serious pressure for well over a decade. Currently, playing numbers are so severely restricted due to the lack of facilities that Clubs have no option but to close off registrations during the winter season. Despite this, participation continues to grow placing immense strain on facilities and volunteers alike. The development of a network of suitable participation facilities is vital to all the community and development outcomes that benefit the residents of Christchurch. This network needs to include an appropriate number of community-owned all-weather surfaces, with floodlight and changing-room infrastructure, supported by a well-maintained grass field network. The establishment of this network would bring Christchurch into line with other major cities in Aotearoa, and with the neighbouring councils, Waimakariri and Selwyn. Below we have limited our submission on the LTP to answering the questions in the submission form that specifically relate to the Sports Field Development Plan. What Matters Most? The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. A collaborative confident city – improved sports fields will support more residents to actively participate in community sport and provide more opportunities to connect with each other. A green, liveable city – useable green space is critical to making Christchurch a liveable city. Much of the green space for sport is inaccessible during the winter months. A cultural powerhouse city – sport is a cultural unifier and football is a truly global sport, that connects communities. The recent FIFA Women’s World Cup demonstrated the power of sport and its ability to connect multiple communities together. A thriving prosperous city – a high quality network of all-weather pitches is a strong indicator of a thriving prosperous city and demonstrates innovation and willingness to make good investment in high-quality facilities. Football attracts people to live and work in a community, as it is a global sport. Capital Programme We strongly support the $85.6m set out in the LTP for the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development on the basis that this includes at least $50m committed to the establishment of the Our Sports Field Network Plan for Ōtautahi Christchurch. This plan includes the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current Sport Field Network is under significant strain and has been for several years. Our sport is growing significantly, and this is before the true impact of the FIFA Women’s World Cup is seen on participation rates. The community and the residents of Christchurch are changing their habits in sport participation from the traditional Saturday afternoon window to other times during the week. Currently we are unable to support this desire for change as we simply do not have access to an adequate amount of well lit, fit-for purpose, all-weather surfaces. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed Capital investment.

2435 - Johanna Borella

Example Submission My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

2512 - Iain Manson

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supported by improved grass facilities. The establishment of a quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

2527 - Charlotte Matthews

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

2633 - Steve Potter

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

2691 - Ian Ebbs (South West Sports & Recreation Hub Inc)

these recreation activities are crucial for our families in Christchurch, anything you can do to make them more accessible or of better quality for users is a benefit. Specifically we encourage you to keep & bring forward the proposed investment in the Community parks sports fields. The quality of these is so poor in places that they are a health & safety risk and the effects that rain has on them during the winter can make them unplayable for huge amounts of time. Closing fields during the week, to protect them for the weekend, reduces the time that people can play sport during their week and missed games at weekends are a common occurrence during the seasons. We must invest in our sports fields now to provide the opportunity for people to be more active, more often.

>>>

Our hub, called SWISH was developed to encourage and support all forms of community-based sport and recreation in the South West area, our 10 member clubs are all growing & have over 4,000 members in Hornby, Hilmorton, Hoon Hay, Wigram & Halswell. The development of this part of the city, is putting pressure on the clubs, facilities & fields that are not designed to cope with the numbers of people who want to engage in this area. We encourage you to spend some of the developer contributions that have been collected from the huge growth in the south west on Facilities, Lights & Sports Fields to meet our growing needs and to provide quality sport and recreation spaces for all. SWISH support the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields, this will enable players to train & play more often, home & away. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance, we feel Christchurch needs to invest to provide fit purpose playing surfaces. Our members us & their members tell them, that the current sports network is under significant pressure and we need the investment to be brought forward as soon as possible, please make sure increased access to better facilities is a priority.

2724 - Megan Herd

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. I note that the $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

2925 - Stan de Rooy (Selwyn United Football Club)

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. As a club Selwyn United has benefitted immensely from the establishment of a turf at Foster Park in Rolleston. Turfs provide a high use facility that doesn't need resting due to overuse or wet weathr, allowing continuous use without degradation of the playing surface. I note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network of football fields is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

3044 - Tony Smail

Part of the plan includes a $85.6m investment in sports fields, largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current sports network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

3103 - Philippa May

A sports centre so close to the hospital where parking is already at a premium.

3256 - Ian Goodwin

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of a quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the back end of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

>>>

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of a quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the back end of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

3664 - Gemma Woods

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

3684 - Alison Lomax

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment. Thank you in advance for helping to get better football pitches and facilities for everyone in Christchurch.

3787 - Deb Donnell

Stop all plans or work on the big projects, including >>> Community parks sports field development – $87 million

3919 - Debbie Newman

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

3932 - Nigel Newman

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

976 - Matt Holmes

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

Other

1003 - Paul Farrelly

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

1004 - Hiroko Lowe

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

1057 - Helen Marginson

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

1058 - Steven Matthews

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

1059 - Simon Talbot

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment. Thank you in advance for helping to get better football pitches and facilities for everyone in Christchurch. Kind regards.XXX

1064 - George Hart

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

1065 - Diane Gillians

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

1080 - Rene Bovendeerd

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

1182 - Jae Youn Lee

Please keep the funding for the Sports Network Plan in the Long Term plan. The sports fields desperately need investment so that we & our tamariki can participate in sport both during the week & at the weekend throughout the season, rather than being stopped by the rain and poor pitches which can become a health & safety issue after the rain.

Halswell Domain is a pivotal facility for young and old at Halswell United Football Club. I see too often every year, trainings having to be cancelled because although the weather on the day may not be too bad, the fields have taken a beating the days before where training on it will ruin it.

Already, we see irrigation/drainage problems which I have reported through Snap,Send, Solve multiple times with other members of the club and no action still has been undertaken. If funding was to decrease for what I believe is already overlooked, then I see the future of sports being heavily impacted as a result.

1211 - Lisa Clunie

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

1231 - Carmen Foster

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

1236 - Guy Mortlock

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring councils, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

1237 - Jaime Duggan

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

1238 - Amber Bennett

Have more Community Parks Sports Field Development Programme funding!!!

1239 - Bailey Jordan

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city.

Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

1243 - Megan Denison

Community Parks Sports Field Development Programme funding: My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

1246 - Tim Elstob

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. Having 3 children who play football and are now high school age and want to continue to encourage healthy people, it is apparent that there is a massive lack of quality playing and practice facilities. Specifically fields that can be used in all weather and in the evenings. We desperately need these this year! but acknowledge that asap is probably more realistic. Healthy people, playing sport stay out of trouble, and out of hospital. Cravo type facilities would be ideal that could then revert to cricket in summer. Although football is now played for almost 12 months of the year and such facilities would undoubtedly be used for all 12 months. As my children are female I also note the significant safety concerns training in the evenings in poorly lit or unlit parks when nobody else is around. A large multi pitch location with floodlighting where say 6 teams could train at once would be ideal. I would urge the CCC to reconsider the current investment timeframe and capitalise on the current boom that football is having (post Womens World Cup and Phoenix success) and bring the spend forward.

1247 - Amika Wellesley

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city.

My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. I note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. I urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

1385 - Bernice Kilkelly

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

1458 - Karyn McKnight

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

1522 - David Alexander

$87 million for community parks sports field development, I think the community sports clubs should be able to raise those funds.

1531 - Olivia Waddell

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

1625 - Liz De lange

I have been a football coach for 6 years and over that time the already substandard fields have got considerably worse. Last season at spreymon domain I had to cone off multiple sections of the field so that my team didn't twist their ankles in holes. Recently did a practice at Edmonds Park and was appalled by the state of the field. It was like a dust bowl. I don't know how we are going to keep our kids from not having injuries on this field. It is beyond embarrassing. There is not enough fields and the fields that are there are poor. My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supported by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

1626 - Sam Bunn

Please keep the funding for the Sports Network Plan in the Long Term plan. I have been a part of Halswell United Football Club for approx 10 years, over which time I have seen the quality of the grounds deteriorate significantly due to overuse and reduced council input to improve those grounds.

The sports fields (particularly in the Halswell area) desperately need investment so that we & our tamariki can participate in sport both during the week & at the weekend throughout the season, rather than being stopped by the rain and poor pitches which can become a health & safety issue after the rain. 10 years ago, Halswell Domain was promised to have major renovations to the grounds to improve the extremely poor quality - this has still not happened (with a last report stating that one of our grounds has been recognised as being incredibly poor but there will be nothing done due to no funds being available) There is a massive need for more investment - this area in particular is the largest growing in Christchurch and I am seeing in the news recently that a further 1300 houses are to be built in the area which puts a further strain on these recreational areas.

1811 - Mick Stephenson

With regard to the provision made within the Long Term Plan (LTP) for development of all-weather, floodlit football pitches across Christchurch, I would like to submit my support for the strong recommendation made by Mainland Football and my local football club, St Albans Shirley FC, that the investment be made as a matter of urgency, rather than towards the end of the Plan. Our sport has grown rapidly over the past few years and is in danger of becoming unsustainable, unless improvements to the Sports Field Network are made in the very near future.

1869 - Bill Cowen

I have worked as a volunteer in sport for 45 years. I am the President of the largest sports club in the South Island, Cashmere Technical FC - we have over 1750 players and we constantly struggle for reliable green space and also floodlit grounds for training and playing. We currently pay approximately $100,000 annually to hire and maintain green space. Garrick Park owned by the Woolston Club, Whittington Avenue owned by ARA Institute, English Park and Nga Puna Wai owned by CCC and Yaldhurst owned by Slava Meyn. This is extraordinarily challenging and quite wrong we are a community sports club not a land owner. I have engaged with CCC staff for over 45 years on this topic and yet we still remain in a precarious position. The vast majority of CCC community fields we use are unreliable these include Centennial Park, Barrington Park, Spreydon Domain and Hillsborough Park. I strongly support the Community Sports Field Development Plan (ID61875) and the $85.6 million planned investment set out in page 188 of the LTP. Of particular need is the proposed 12 community owned floodlit artificial surfaces. Christchurch is the most poorly provisioned main city in the provision of these reliable surfaces by population and sooner than later provision of these badly needed facilities will allow our Christchurch residents to deservedly enjoy and develop as currently our Selwyn and Waimakariri neighbour's do. The Recreation and Sports Activity Management Plan is part of the current LTP which states that the CCC is aiming to get 'more people more active more often' The provision of these surfaces will go a long way towards achieving this great goal. Whilst provision of these surfaces is for the greater community, unquestionably our sport has fallen behind in provision of players to National Teams - our talented youngsters deserve the same opportunities as those from the other main centres and I have no doubt we can correct this when these surfaces are provided. I am happy to speak in support of this much needed initiative.

1981 - Daniel Herd (Cashmere Technical Football Club)

Summary Points • Cashmere Technical Football Club strongly supports the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785) and the $85.6m investment planned. • We would like to see the investment brought forward to ensure that new fit-for-purpose football pitches are established quickly – and upcoming generations of players don't miss the opportunities to play on these pitches. • The proposed investment is a minimum required investment to bring Ōtautahi Christchurch in line with other similar and neighbouring communities in terms of the level of investment made in sports fields. • Cashmere Technical Football Club would like to speak at the hearing. Cashmere Technical Football Club would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long-Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). Our submission is specifically related to our strong support for the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the LTP) and the need to prioritise this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. Cashmere Technical Football Club is known to be the largest community sports club in the South Island, with more than 1,700 football playing members across all age ranges. We are faced with a significant shortage of training and playing facilities that are fit for purpose, as are most other clubs in the city. This adversely impacts the fitness and wellbeing of our community and the positive experience for thousands of footballers from age 4 through to Masters, social grades, community and school football, and the development of footballers within our region. The establishment of a network of suitable training and playing facilities is vital to all the community and development outcomes set by Mainland Football and affiliated clubs. This network needs to include an appropriate number (circa 12) of community-owned artificial training and playing surfaces, with floodlight and changing room infrastructure, supported by a well maintained, grass field network. The establishment of this network would bring Ōtautahi Christchurch into line with other major cities in Aotearoa, and with our neighbouring councils Selwyn and Waimakariri. This also supports the Recreation and Sports Activity Management Plan as part of the current Council LTP (2015 – 2025) which states that the Council is aiming to get “more people more active more often”. Providing more training and playing pitches of a suitable quality will allow greater opportunity for more people of all ages to participate in sport and recreational activities, such as participation in football which is one of New Zealand's fastest growing sports. Below we have limited our submission on the LTP to answering the questions in the submission form that specifically relate to the Sports Field Development Plan. What matters most? The establishment of a quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Ōtautahi Christchurch is at serious risk of falling even further behind its neighbouring councils, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. New infrastructure investment in Selwyn and Waimakariri already make these regions attractive to live. Wellington undertook its field network review a decade ago and now has a well-established network of high quality, artificial turfs. A collaborative confident city – improved sports fields will support more residents to actively participate in community sport, and provide more opportunity to connect with each other. A green, liveable city – useable green space is critical to making Ōtautahi Christchurch a liveable city. Much of our green space is inaccessible during the winter months, as it is grass and there are few all-weather alternatives. A cultural powerhouse city – Sport is a cultural unifier and football is a truly global sport, that connects communities. Just look at the recent FIFA Women's World Cup successfully held in New Zealand (and Australia). A thriving prosperous city – a high quality network of artificial pitches is a strong indicator of a thriving prosperous city and demonstrates innovation and willingness to make good investment in high-quality facilities. Having high quality sporting and recreational facilities attract people to live and work in a community. Participation in healthy activities is the most important outcome for our community, and we fully support this being at the heart of the Sports Field Network Plan for Ōtautahi Christchurch. In saying that, we should not ignore the role of high-performance sport in contributing to community perception and wellbeing, and the passion for the city that we live in. Quality grounds are critical to producing top quality athletes. Christchurch (and the South Island as a whole) is currently seriously under-represented in New Zealand National football teams throughout every age group, while Wellington, with its established turf network is over-represented. Capital Programme We strongly support the $85.6m set out in the LTP for the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development on the basis that this includes at least $50m committed to establishment of the Our Sports Field Network Plan for Ōtautahi Christchurch published in 2023. This plan includes the goal of establishing 12 floodlit artificial playing turfs (complete with changing rooms) around the city, supported by investment in improved grass playing fields. We note that the $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that our current generation of developing footballers are going to miss out on the use of these facilities through their formative years. We therefore urge the Christchurch City Council to reconsider this time frame, so the majority of these facilities are in place sooner than later. Ideally, we would like to see the largest possible amount of new infrastructure being in place by 2026/27 at the latest.

2053 - Anna Chisholm

Please put our fields first. Kids need sport and it's so good for them to get out in Winter with their mates. Please support Nomads, we missed out on 5 games last season. Kids so disappointed.

2058 - Janita Patrick

I strongly support the community parks sports field development (ID61785) to further develop positive community, recreational & persistence sport within our city. My support is based on the establishment of 12 floodlit all weather turfs as in the current climate there are only 2 alternate fields when football games are cancelled due to rain as a women's football player in the Sunday division but we continually pay very high rates to use the fields & facilities. The current network of fields is under significant pressure and we often play in sub par fields- one of our team twisted her ankle due to essentially being stuck in the mud during our game at Burwood park.

2059 - Bex Roberts

Work to upgrade Western football club facilities and bring them up to standard would be epic they are currently waterlogged and substandard.

2150 - Dennis Wang

As the parent of a junior footballer from Halswell United Club, I kindly request that Halswell Domain, our home sports field, stay in our city's Long Term Plan (2024-2034). Halswell United is my XXX enlightening football club. XXX began her football life in the Halswell Domain when XXXX. However, many football matches held in the winter seasons were often interrupted by bad weather in the past four years. Although the club managed to maintain the ground conditions as much as possible, many footballers and other sports players in Halswell and nearby regions lost considerable chances of playing their favourite sports games. So, I am writing to you to help keep the City Council's funding for the Sports Network Plan in the Long Term Plan (2024-2034). This means our sports field can get continuous capital investment so that all the players can participate in sports throughout the wet winter season. Meanwhile, other parents and I can worry less about our kids' health and safety issues after the rain. XXX and I love Halswell United very much, and we expect to play in the Halswell Domain, our beautiful sports home, year by year.

2163 - Ben Kendrew

Our family are avid users of parks and recreation facilities in Chch. With 3 kids using football fields and netball courts multiple times a week all year round, I strongly encourage the Community Parks Sports Field Development Programme. Many fields in Chch are worse for wear, even before winter sets in - we need quality grounds for all ages and levels of community sport, especially as this region has long been home to very strong sports community

2320 - Martin Field-Dodgson (Mainland Football)

Summary Points · Mainland Football strongly supports the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785) and the $85.6m investment planned. · With increasing membership, strong community programs, and an under-pressure field network we would like to see the investment brought forward to ensure that new fit-for-purpose fields & facilities are established quickly. · The proposed investment is a minimum required investment to bring Christchurch into line with other similar and neighbouring communities in terms of the level of investment made in sports fields. · Mainland Football would like to speak at the hearing. Mainland Football would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). Our submission specifically relates to our strong support for the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the LTP) and the need to prioritise this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. Our sport, like many of those that require outdoor flood-lit spaces is faced with a significant shortage of fit for purpose participation facilities. With an increasing membership base, and strong community programs driving access and availability of football into under-represented communities, the current network of facilities has been under serious pressure for well over a decade. Currently, playing numbers are so severely restricted due to the lack of facilities that Clubs have no option but to close off registrations during the winter season. Despite this, participation continues to grow placing immense strain on facilities and volunteers alike. The development of a network of suitable participation facilities is vital to all the community and development outcomes that benefit the residents of Christchurch. This network needs to include an appropriate number of community-owned all-weather surfaces, with floodlight and changing-room infrastructure, supported by a well-maintained grass field network. The establishment of this network would bring Christchurch into line with other major cities in Aotearoa, and with our neighbouring councils, Waimakariri and Selwyn. Below we have limited our submission on the LTP to answering the questions in the submission form that specifically relate to the Sports Field Development Plan. What Matters Most? The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. New infrastructure investment in Selwyn and Waimakariri already make these regions considerably more attractive to live and play, resulting in some having to / choosing to travel out of the city several times a week to participate in football. Wellington undertook its field network review a decade ago and now has a well-established network of high-quality artificial turfs. A collaborative confident city – improved sports fields will support more residents to actively participate in community sport and provide more opportunities to connect with each other. A green, liveable city – useable green space is critical to making Christchurch a liveable city. Much of our green space for sport is inaccessible during the winter months. A cultural powerhouse city – sport is a cultural unifier and football is a truly global sport, that connects communities. The recent FIFA Women's World Cup demonstrated the power of sport and its ability to connect multiple communities together. A thriving prosperous city – a high quality network of all-weather pitches is a strong indicator of a thriving prosperous city and demonstrates innovation and willingness to make good investment in high-quality facilities. Football attracts people to live and work in a community, as it is a global sport. Capital Programme We strongly support the $85.6m set out in the LTP for the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development on the basis that this includes at least $50m committed to the establishment of the Our Sports Field Network Plan for Ōtautahi Christchurch. This plan includes the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current Sport Field Network is under significant strain and has been for several years. Our sport is growing significantly, and this is before the true impact of the FIFA Women's World Cup is seen on participation rates. Our community and the residents of Christchurch are changing their habits in sport participation from the traditional Saturday afternoon window to other times during the week. Currently we are unable to support this desire for change as we simply do not have access to an adequate amount of well lit, fit-for purpose, all-weather surfaces. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed Capital investment.

2339 - Rick Hellings (Otakaroa Football Club)

As the Independent Chair of Otakaro FC I would like to make a formal submission on behalf of Otakaro FC in regard to the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 – 2034 (the LTP). ☒ This submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan). ☒ We support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sports outcomes within our city. ☒ We support the goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs (together with suitable changing facilities) around the city supported by improved grass facilities. ☒ We note that the $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the back end of the 10 year period. Christchurch currently has a severe shortage of allweather facilities. Delaying the investment to the back end of the ten year period would result in the next one to two generations of young sportspeople missing out on their use during their formative years. To avoid this delay, we urge the Council to reconsider the time frame and bring forward the timing of this investment In summary the establishment of a quality sports field network is of the utmost importance to Christchurch City and to the wellbeing of its inhabitants and Otakaro FC wholeheartedly supports the Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785) included in the CCC Long Term Plan.

245 - Talei Howell-Price

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

2450 - Daniel Herd

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. I note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

2588 - Brendon Miller

I am a football referee, former coach and parent of a junior football player. My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The level of junior participation in football outstrips the capacity of the available playing areas in several parts of the city. Halswell is a particularly good example where the rapid growth has increased playing numbers. The grass fields at Halswell domain drain poorly and also suffer the wear and tear of having multiple matches played on them on Saturday as well as being used for training during the week. The result is a poor quality surface which affects the youngest players most significantly. Deploying an artificial pitch in this location would allow a reduced load on the grass pitches and these could be usefully upgraded to sand based turf. I also note that pitches such as Hanson park and Barrington Park suffer from significant unevenness and poor drainage. These facilities are used for junior play and these inadequacies hinder player development. Providing a mixture of artificial and sand based turf would alleviate these issues and allow more players to participate on a similar footprint. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. I note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. I urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment

2607 - Stuart Woodhouse

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

2790 - Jodi Gauci (North West Sport and Community Hub Inc)

I write in support of consideration to be taken into the LTP regarding Nunweek Park, Harewood. Nunweek Park is one of the largest usable green space areas available for sport and recreation in the Northwest of Christchurch, but the current issues restrict our ability to maximise its usage. These are: 1. The two public toilets that are on the park are inadequate for the numbers that use the space and are in poor condition. 2. The two current changing sheds are inadequate for the numbers that use the space and are not fit for purpose 3. Field / grass issues including inadequate drainage result in unplayable surfaces in the winter months. We request that the CCC work with the Norwest Sport and Community Hub to look at options to invest in Nunweek Park and upgrade the facilities so they are fit for purpose, including carrying out remedial work on the fields so they can be utilised fully. The Northwest of Christchurch is in urgent need of better grounds and facilities, and it makes sense to maintain what we already have.

2898 - Jack Allan

The plan includes a $85.6m investment in sports fields, largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current sports network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment - especially in high growth areas such as Halswell.

>>>

I believe more could be allocated to support Sporting Groups in their endeavours to provide improved facilities in high growth suburbs. Nearly all current facilities are stretched with present numbers, let alone providing for the substantial projected increase in the population and participants. We have amazing groups of volunteers that can maintain these new facilities but they need all the support they deserve.

>>>

I believe that there should be better quality & more locations to be able to play Sport in Hornby, Hoon Hay, Hillmorton, Wigram & Halswell. We believe the council should look at spending some of the developer contributions from all the growth in & around our areas to improve our recreation locations & facilities, including lighting - and amend the ridiculous time (9pm) restriction - at least on tennis courts in domain locations.

2908 - Murray Ralfs (Burwood Association Football Club Incorporated)

Sports grounds need more attention.

>>>

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). This is on behalf of the Burwood Association Football Club. Our submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and we support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. Our support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

3200 - Georgina Woods

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

3848 - Richard Young

Wet weather makes a lot of the city parks unsuitable for use during even slightly wet weather. Better drainage and more quality playing fields should be prioritised especially for our young players. Bringing forward this investment would be money well spent.

3881 - Anne Scott

[Parks > Biodiversity & Ecological Restoration]

The balance is wrong when we spend $2M on biodiversity and $100M on sports fields. There are a lot of good projects ending in 2024-2025, Jobs for Nature, Community Partnership fund, Waterways restoration. I suggest $50M on biodiversity and $50M on sports fields would be a better split.

3882 - Jodi Gauci

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city, in particular in the Northwest of Christchurch. I request that CCC work with Norwest Sport & Community Hub to look at specific options to upgrade community sport and recreation facilities in Northwest Christchurch. Floodlit all-weather turfs, changing rooms, improved toilet facilities and improved playing surfaces with adequate drainage and irrigation would maximise the use of current playing fields and free up much sought after indoor space for other users. The Northwest of Christchurch is in urgent need of better grounds and facilities to support an increase in participants that reflect the growing population in the area.

>>>

The Northwest of Christchurch is in urgent need of better grounds and facilities to support an increase in participants that reflect the growing population in the area. There has been so many 'green spaces' created but they are not playing/sports surfaces or suitable for use in wet weather or winter.

3891 - Christopher Gauci

My submission is in strong support of the Programmed – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this program is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth.

We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of this much needed capital investment.

>>>

To Whom It May Concern My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city, in particular in the Northwest of Christchurch. I request that CCC work with Norwest Sport & Community Hub to look at specific options to upgrade community sport and recreation facilities in Northwest Christchurch. Floodlit all-weather turfs, changing rooms, improved toilet facilities and improved playing surfaces with adequate drainage and irrigation would maximise the use of current playing fields and free up much sought after indoor space for other users. The Northwest of Christchurch is in urgent need of better grounds and facilities to support an increase in participants that reflect the growing population in the area.

>>>

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city, in particular in the Northwest of Christchurch. I request that CCC work with Norwest Sport & Community Hub to look at specific options to upgrade community sport and recreation facilities in Northwest Christchurch. Floodlit all-weather turfs, changing rooms, improved toilet facilities and improved playing surfaces with adequate drainage and irrigation would maximise the use of current playing fields and free up much sought after indoor space for other users. The Northwest of Christchurch is in urgent need of better grounds and facilities to support an increase in participants that reflect the growing population in the area.

6899 - Mark Beatson (Canterbury Hockey Association)

The Canterbury Hockey Association (CHA) acknowledges the strong relationship it has had with the Christchurch City Council (CCC) for many decades. That relationship remains critical to CHA, to ensure it has sufficient playing facilities to accommodate the increasing number of participants in Christchurch, and across Canterbury.

>>>

For the current participant numbers, hockey has adequate playing facilities, but this will become stretched within 3-5 years at the predicted growth rate. Playing facilities are severely lacking in the eastern and south-eastern sectors of the city.

CHA is willing to forego the construction of a third turf at NPW on the proviso that a suitable replacement is constructed in the eastern – south eastern sector of the city.

In light of the above, CHA submits the following recommendation for inclusion in the Christchurch City Council's Long Term Plan + CCC and CHA work together to source a suitable parcel of land to construct a hockey turf in eastern or south eastern Christchurch, with the potential for alternative uses as a community sports facility when not required by hockey.

[Full Attachment Available]

889 - Rene Bovendeerd (Nomads United AFC)

Nomads United AFC would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). Our submission specifically relates to our strong support for the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the LTP) and the need to prioritise this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. Our sport, like many of those that require outdoor flood- lit spaces is faced with a significant shortage of fit for purpose participation facilities. With an increasing membership base, and strong community programs driving access and availability of football into under-represented communities, the current network of facilities has been under serious pressure for well over a decade. Currently, playing numbers are so severely restricted due to the lack of facilities that Clubs have no option but to close off registrations during the winter season. Despite this, participation continues to grow placing immense strain on facilities and volunteers alike. The development of a network of suitable participation facilities is vital to all the community and development outcomes that benefit the residents of Christchurch. This network needs to include an appropriate number of community-owned all-weather surfaces, with floodlight and changing-room infrastructure, supported by a well-maintained grass field network. The establishment of this network would bring Christchurch into line with other major cities in Aotearoa, and with our neighbouring councils, Waimakariri and Selwyn. Below we have limited our submission on the LTP to answering the questions in the submission form that specifically relate to the Sports Field Development Plan.

>>>

The establishment of a quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly livable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth.

New infrastructure investment in Selwyn and Waimakariri already make these regions considerably more attractive to live and play, resulting in some having to / choosing to travel out of the city several times a week to participate in football. Wellington undertook its field network review a decade ago and now has a well-established network of high-quality artificial turfs.

A collaborative confident city – improved sports fields will support more residents to actively participate in community sport and provide more opportunities to connect with each other.

A green, liveable city – usable green space is critical to making Christchurch a liveable city. Much of our green space for sport is inaccessible during the winter months.

A cultural powerhouse city – sport is a cultural unifier and football is a truly global sport, that connects communities. The recent FIFA Women’s World Cup demonstrated the power of sport and its ability to connect multiple communities together.

A thriving prosperous city – a high quality network of all-weather pitches is a strong indicator of a thriving prosperous city and demonstrates innovation and willingness to make good investment in high-quality facilities. Football attracts people to live and work in a community, as it is a global sport.

>>>

We strongly support the $85.6m set out in the LTP for the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development on the basis that this includes at least $50m committed to the establishment of the Our Sports Field Network Plan for Ōtautahi Christchurch. This plan includes the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current Sport Field Network is under significant strain and has been for several years. Our sport is growing significantly, and this is before the true impact of the FIFA Women’s World Cup is seen on participation rates. Our community and the residents of Christchurch are changing their habits in sport participation from the traditional Saturday afternoon window to other times during the week. Currently we are unable to support this desire for change as we simply do not have access to an adequate amount of well lit, fit-for purpose, allweather surfaces. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed Capital investment.

966 - Sarah Lunam

Your fields that you have in canterbury need a lot of work. They are not good enough for sports Women and Men to play sports on. They flood, they get rock hard causing serious injury and with winter sport football and rugby can be cancelled for weeks because of the holding of water on the pitch. We are way behind other councils with this and we need to have artificial turf pitches to protect them. Its definitely been lacking for a long time. Its time to sort this out.

>>>

I think you are not investing into what is required so as a rate payer id like to see my money being used to build more sports facilities and artifical turf pitches for football and rugby. Protect our kids and give them good, safe, well maintained pitches, not the flooded, hard, dry dangerous pitches you currently have. This is urgent and it is serious and should be addressed. Im emergency there were so many injuries on the 6th of april that may have been less if your pitches were not so hard.

>>>

Fix the sport pitches. Build the artifical turf you proposed for nga puna way as this is important for canterbury, for entertainment and for development for players to become a professional level.

>>>

Nga puna way also is important.

>>>

Nga puna way needs to have football artificial turf. Use the land, finish off the development.

>>>

Yes finish off football turfs for nga puna way. We had the womens world cup here, create some legacy for that and put money into football.

969 - Rachel Brodie

More money needs to be invested in parks where footy ect is played such as haswell domain. When it rains we miss out on playing

981 - Stephen Montgomery

There has been massive growth in Halswell in the last five years but there has not been any increase in the quality or quantity of parks mon which sport is played. Halswell Domain is a perfect example. This is a highly utilized domain both used by the public and sports codes. The quality of the football pitches particularly in winter is very poor due to poor drainage. This has been anon going problem for years but nothing seems to be done about it. Halswell United is a vibrant growing club that needs help in both a clubhouse upgrade and the introduction of better football fields which should include at least one artificial one.

>>>

Halswell Domain needs upgrading particularly when it is used in the winter. It's a health and safety issue with the amount of water that doesn't drain a way.

999 - Anita Andrew

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

Not Stated

6907 - Michael Smith

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment. Sport is already becoming more and more expensive and harder to justify for working adults, to then have multiple games per season cancelled due not only to bad weather but to a lack of available grounds is really making me lose the desire to continue playing football.

6908 - Fay Isherwood

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment. All my 3 kids use the current facilities, it would be so great to have some amazing facilities in the community to support ongoing connections and focus on physical wellbeing of our kids and wider community!

6909 - Marcos van Dam

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) I am involved as both a football player and a football coach, and it is very difficult to train or play in winter due to field closures (or very muddy pitches). Floodlit artificial grass pitches would alleviate the problem.

6910 - Andrea Wylie

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment. These are important community facilities that allow our young people to be able to participate in sport and all the positives this brings with it.

6911 - Brandon Wilson

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city.

Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. I note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment. My focused support is for a Cashmere Technical artificial surface for its 1750 members (Largest Football club in the South Island)

6912 - Hayley Dijkstra

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment. Please help keep our fields, sport is such an integral part of a kiwi kids upbringing, we encourage outdoor play vs inside screens. Promote sport, wellbeing and the community!!

6913 - David Cooper

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment. My son is currently playing for the 15th Grade academy team at Cashmere Technical. He has often said that there is a need for a Football Turf facility and better grass facilities in our community. Playing Football is only continuing to grow in Christchurch and throughout New Zealand since the Womens World Cup. This would support our up and coming athletes and also provide great facilities to host more events in the future, including the Womens World Cup.

6914 - Alistair Pullin

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). Every year, many weeks of the season are lost to unplayable pitches - there is clearly space to be used - let's get into it and help improve the experience for the next generation of player. My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supported by improved grass facilities. The establishment of a quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We strongly urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment. As a father of 3 boys who are mad keen on football and who play for Cashmere Technical I am writing with my thoughts and broad support for the long term plan and a desire for it to be implemented as quickly as possible. Thanks for reading and all your efforts in making this plan work.. My name is Alistair Pullin and I am Christchurch resident - living at 15 Thorrington Road in Beckenham. I also play for the masters football team... masters, as in 45 age group rather than any particular skill set!!

6915 - Richard Sutcliffe

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of a quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We are a football playing family, we volunteer, play and coach for our football club and are closely connected to many clubs around the city and neighbouring districts. There are many thousands of players waiting and in need of this ground investment and we note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. For thousands and thousands of kids between 8-16 a 10 year strategy means they will have been without quality grounds for their entire development. I coach at the Academy development level and we would train twice a week plus the game on saturday. Last season there was an entire 4 week period of the season where I was only able to coach my team once and we had no games because the grounds were always closed. That month is vital for playing development, having floodlit all weather pitches would have been a significant boost to their season. Every year there is a similar story. The pitches are needed now, this season, next season and the season after that, so I ask that the council brings forward this investment for the benefit of the thousands of enthusiastic, hard working children and young adults who deserve the opportunities that players in other districts and other cities around New Zealand have.

6916 - Ashlie Gauld

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment. This is a matter of high importance if we want our club and our players to continue to develop and enjoy their football!

6917 - Mario Bianco

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. I note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. I strongly urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment. My name is Marie Bianco and my 12 year old son plays 12th grade football for Nomads United AFC. My son has played since he was 4 years of age and every year his season is disrupted with games having to be cancelled due to the condition of the fields at Tulett Park. Once the rainy weather begins the fields there become unplayable and the players miss practices and games as they are closed by the Council.

6918 - Belinda Belchef

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment. I would like to see more tuff pitches as more urban dwellings are becoming smaller space for people and families. Sports and recreation and social activities are important for wellbeing and interaction which is why it's important to have space where people can develop skills in sports.

6919 - Louis Sutcliffe

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. I'm a 15 year old who has played for almost 7 years now, and every year I find the season being heavily disrupted to the the lack of pitches in a good condition. I hope this investment can be brought forward so players like me don't miss out on the benefits and opportunities that come with it We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

6920 - Andrew Beuzenberg

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment. The club that I have long played for and have long volunteered for has outlined to me some of the proposed plans, As a city we cannot allow for sports to be under or slowly funded, they're probably the best kind of recreation for the city to invest in and the community that springs up around it is something that we can be proud of. There's no point in being the garden city if you can't do anything fun or good in the garden. I cannot stress how important sports are to the city, especially to the young people. People have little time for things nowadays and organized team sport is good for the community, fitness/health and most importantly the development of the youth. Of the things that people might make time for, having a sports experience that isn't terrible is really important, we can't retain people when the playing experience is unenjoyable due to pitch conditions. We know that climate change is going to change the ways that we interact with the outside world (with the east coast getting wetter during football season), and assuming that there will be a bunch of good grass fields is folly, we need artificial pitches if we want reliable sports and we need well lit pitches to ensure that people can actually have the time for the sport. Last year we had many spells of long interruptions due to pitch conditions and weather combined, put simply it didn't feel like a season, just a group of loosely interspersed games. If young people are going to get the most out of football, especially in regard to developing their social skills in a unique environment, we can't have so many large gaps in what should be a sustained progress - you wouldn't allow for english or math classes to be missed for a couple weeks in a row several times a year. Frankly whilst a great big stadium is great and we need it, sports will die a slow death without faster and sustained funding. You recognize how important sports are commercially and the premier teams as a community project. But decent pitches for local football/rugby is probably far more important to the lives of almost all of your citizens than any stadium they'll never get to play on will be. Don't give them something to watch that they'll never get the chance to enjoy themselves, let them play.

6921 - Richard Hayman

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. I note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. I urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment. My name is Richard Hayman & I am a Masters Football player & parent of a high performance player who is my daughter.. My personal experience is some winters we cannot play for extended periods due to ground conditions which prevents people wanting an active lifestyle young & older from doing what they love. We need more floodlit artificial turfs to enable football and to cope with demand. The sooner the better!!

6922 - Andrew McPherson

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. I urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment. As someone that has played Rugby in my youth and now coached community football for Nomads AFC. I have never witnessed such poor conditions of sport fields than over the past 5 years (worse year on year). It is so disappointing as I and the boys that I coach have had to endure such poor ground's (Tulett Park) to a point of having to find another space to train for the majority of the season and also loss of matches. Due ground closure and lack of lighting. Also it should be noted over the past 4 years the Mainland competition hasn't been fully completed due to lost days. On a personal not it has now got to a point where my son no longer wants to play football on mud, so is lost to sport. This I place at the feat of the council and due to lack of investment or forethought all of which is at odds of community well-being and interest's of the very people you are charged to represent. thank you for considering my submission

6923 - Anton Witteman

I am concerned that the funding to maintain our parks and sports grounds is insufficient to provide a safe facility to actually play sport on. Some of the grounds that I play football on are not of a high enough standard to be able to play an enjoyable game without having concern for health and safety. In the summer the grounds are so hard that they have a very negative effect on your body and in the winter the grounds get so sodden that they are unplayable thereby resulting in numerous game cancellations throughout the season. Our football fees are very high, with a portion being paid to the Council, for ground maintenance, but we see no improvement in the grounds from 1 season to the next. I would like to see in the LTP that funding is increased to bring these grounds up to a better standard and that the funding for the Sports Network Plan is in the long term plan. The sports fields desperately need investment so that we & our children can participate in sport both during the week & at the weekend throughout the season, rather than being stopped by the rain and poor pitches, which can become a health & safety issue after the rain. I hope that you give due consideration to my thoughts as well as those of numerous other people who will no doubt provide similar feedback as I have.

6924 – Redacted Redacted

We are writing to ask that you please keep the funding for the Sports Network Plan in the Long Term plan. As a family who all regularly use the sports grounds around Christchurch we find that many of them (especially in the winter months) are affected to a point where participation in sport becomes jeopardised. The sports fields desperately need investment so that participants of all ages can continue to take part in sport both during the week & at the weekend throughout the season. The constant disruptions by rain causing fields to flood make it hard to get consistency during the season and as coaches we find that we sometimes lose kids to the fact that games haven't happened for weeks and they would rather play indoor sports to compensate. Paying fees for the season is not cheap for an active family, we prioritise this as we believe being active and healthy is important, however when games are called off due to the ground conditions it becomes frustrating that we are unable to get value for money for our season. The last few seasons have been particularly frustrating as we have had senior premier games called off and results not count as referees have deemed the pitch conditions are unsafe. Trying to reschedule matches on limited artificial pitches is beyond tricky and becomes expensive. Please strongly consider keeping sports field upkeep on the spending agenda so that we can all remain active and enjoying the parks of our city for many more years to come. Thanks for your time reading this.

6925 - David Nicol

A strong need to support sports is to help give our youth the feeling of belonging to something. Without it many get lost . There can be a close line for our youth between being involved in sport or involved in crime. It's a win win to help the youth choose sport

6926 - Graeme Woods

I would like to suggest the CCC look at developing and or providing all weather grounds at Halswell Domain for football (soccer). I have played football for Halswell Utd AFC down at Halswell Domain since 1997. During the winter months we find the grounds are often closed due to surface water or water logged grounds. There is no drainage to these grounds and even when the rain stops the grounds are generally not suitable to play football for many weeks if not months. This happens from June through to August when the rain comes in. Providing all weather grounds for trainings and games would be massive for those who play football, for the club and for the whole community. Also additional flood lighting for night trainings and the ability to host evening games would be massive.

6927 - Catherine Anderson

I have been made aware that the upkeep and improvement of our sports grounds are in jeopardy. I am writing to urge you to fund the upkeep and improvements needed to keep the sports grounds available now and in the future. My son plays football and unfortunately last session many of the training sessions and even games had to be cancelled due to the poor condition of the grounds. It is so important for our young people to have access to these local grounds. Not just for the sake of football but all that goes with it such as community involvement, health and mental health as well as all the benefits of being part of a team. Young people need these local sports opportunities that rely on volunteers to keep going. Without them the community will suffer and young people will seek other opportunities that are not so desirable. Please fund improvements to our local sports grounds and make it a priority in the long term funding plan.

6928 - Simon Lynn

Please keep the funding for the Sports Network Plan in the Long Term plan. The sports fields desperately need investment so that we & our tamariki can participate in sport both during the week & at the weekend throughout the season, rather than being stopped by the rain and poor pitches which can become a health & safety issue after the rain. Halswell domain is an asset for the whole community that isn't getting the care and attention , slitted , cored , sanded so it is level , fertilized properly so all grass grows even . It is so boggy in places during winter due to lack of care and maintenance

6929 - Victoria Niha

Please keep the funding for the Sports Network Plan in the Long Term plan. The sports fields desperately need investment so that we & our tamariki can participate in sport both during the week & at the weekend throughout the season, rather than being stopped by the rain and poor pitches which can become a health & safety issue after the rain. My son plays football and constantly slips over if its wet and its annoying missing games as field becomes boggy and unusable. Its also terrible spectators sinking in the ground in gunboats. Funding needed please.

6930 - Katie Pottinger

Please keep the funding for the Sports Network Plan in the Long Term plan. The sports fields desperately need investment so that we & our tamariki can participate in sport both during the week & at the weekend throughout the season, rather than being stopped by the rain and poor pitches which can become a health & safety issue after the rain. We are being left behind here in Halswell with sports facilities and grounds. Halswell Domain needs a massive over haul and the possibility of an all weather soccer pitch. Massive club in our area Halswell United but our grounds just arnt suitable for our top teams with the grounds often being closed after a small amount of rain.

6931 - Kirsten Smith

Could you please ensure the funding for the sports network plan stays in the Long Term Plan. Our children play football in winter (Halswell) and the sports fields need continued funding/investment to maintain the pitches and fields for our kids.

6932 - Gary Webster

Please keep the funding for the Sports Network Plan in the Long Term plan. The sports fields desperately need investment so that we & our tamariki can participate in sport both during the week & at the weekend throughout the season, rather than being stopped by the rain and poor pitches which can become a health & safety issue after the rain. At Halswell Domain the playing surfaces become waterlogged, extremely soft underfoot and particularly dangerous to the players. There have been many examples of pulled, strained or torn muscles and tendons due to the conditions underfoot Not to mention the opportunity that is missed teaching children to play football on uneven sodden pitches which hampers the opportunity for them to learn new skills and the enjoy the sport they have chosen to play

6933 - Nathan Young

I am writing to urge you to maintain funding for the Sports Network Plan in the Long-Term Plan. As a coach (Mens 1st Team) and player at Halswell United AFC based at Halswell Domain for the past 15 years, I have witnessed firsthand the critical need for investment in our city's sports fields. The deterioration of pitches across the city, particularly at Halswell Domain, has become a significant barrier to participation in sports. This not only impacts our enjoyment but also raises serious health and safety concerns. My Experiences at Halswell Domain: Deteriorating Pitches: Over the past 15 years, the condition of the pitches at Halswell Domain has noticeably worsened. This week alone, a council tractor created a large divot in a waterlogged area, rendering it unusable for training games. Over the past 4 years there have been numerous instances of mowers cutting sprinkler heads leading to water leaks and rendering pitches unplayable. This does not include when mowing has been done immediately after heavy rain leaving track marks over the pitches. Safety Concerns: The uneven and poorly maintained surfaces pose a significant risk of injuries to players of all ages. Limited Playability: Heavy rain often makes the fields unplayable, significantly impacting training schedules and weekend games. This not only disrupts participation but also discourages residents, especially young people, from getting involved in sports. Importance of Investing in Sports Fields: Investing in our sports fields is an investment in the health and well-being of our community. Accessible and well-maintained fields will: Encourage participation in sports fosters a healthy lifestyle and reduces the risk of chronic diseases like obesity. Promotes community engagement: Sports bring people together, fostering social bonds and a sense of belonging. Develop young talent: Proper facilities are crucial for nurturing local sporting talent and creating a strong sporting culture. I strongly urge you to prioritize funding for the Sports Network Plan in the Long-Term Plan. Specifically, I request immediate action to address the deteriorating conditions at Halswell Domain and other affected fields across the city. Thank you for considering my submission. I would be happy to provide further information or participate in any discussions regarding the Sports Network Plan.

6934 - Kevin Joseph Sullivan

Please keep the funding for the Sports Network Plan in the Long Term plan. The sports fields at Halswell Domain desperately need investment so that we & our tamariki can participate in sport both during the week & at the weekend throughout the season. During mid winter these fields are dangerous and it is frustration for all when closed by the rain and poor pitches which can become a health & safety issue.

6935 - Zural Cosgrove

Please keep the funding for the Sports Network Plan in the Long Term plan. The sports fields desperately need investment so that we & our tamariki can participate in sport both during the week & at the weekend throughout the season, rather than being stopped by the rain and poor pitches which can become a health & safety issue after the rain. As a Halswell player I train there a lot and play games there also I use the pitches there all year round going to the Halswell domain with my mates after school and on the weekends is a good use of my time

6936 - Sean Cosgrove

I am writing this email in support of future funding for maintenance of the Halswell football pitches. My son who plays for the Halswell Football club, His friends are always there using the grounds all year round, I think that it would be wise to keep providing support for the on going maintenance of this well used sports ground.

6937 - Emma Van Kekem

Emailing as a mum of 2 football-loving boys. Please continue/increase the funding for the sports fields in Halswell, especially the main field at the Halswell Domain behind the pools. It is seriously embarrassing hosting other teams when the fields are basically mud with no grass. I've often heard other teams complain about the field quality, and it's really difficult to play in pools of mud (not to mention the damage to the washing machine after). Sport is such an important part of physical and mental health, having a proper field provides kids with basically free access to exercise, which surely must be a priority for you

6938 - Craig Wilson

Just a quick email on the Long Term Plan. Our kids play soccer at Halswell Domain. In winter it gets so boggy it's almost impossible to play on and has to be closed often during the season. I'd like to see the funding for sports grounds included and kept in place for the Long Term Plan so our kids can enjoy sports through out the season and have higher quality surfaces to play on. It's so good to have them outside and not stuck inside on screens!

6939 - Mark Coster

Please keep the funding for the Sports Network Plan in the the Long Term plan. My kids have been participating in Winter sports for over 5 years and every year it gets worse and worse - with grounds closed due to poor conditions from the fields inability to drain properly. While not isolated to Halswell, we are based there at Halswell Football club. However, for most of the winter season we are unable to use these fields and facilities due to their waterlogged nature. I see these poor field conditions as being a health and safety hazard, as the sodden fields make slips and falls more likely. In addition, it doesn't provide an ideal environment for the kids to focus on their training and skill.

6940 - Emma Morris

With regard to the provision made within the Long Term Plan (LTP) for development of all-weather, floodlit football pitches across Christchurch, I would like to submit my support for the strong recommendation made by Mainland Football and my local football club, St Albans Shirley FC, that the investment be made as a matter of urgency, rather than towards the end of the Plan. Our sport has grown rapidly over the past few years and is in danger of becoming unsustainable, unless improvements to the Sports Field Network are made in the very near future. My son has played football since he was four years old and absolutely loves the sport playing in the top grade for his age the last few years. We feel it is crucial to give our children and up and coming players the fair playing fields they deserve here in Christchurch.

6941 - Melita Elley

With regard to the provision made within the Long Term Plan (LTP) for development of all-weather, floodlit football pitches across Christchurch, I would like to submit my support for the strong recommendation made by Mainland Football and my local football club, St Albans Shirley FC, that the investment be made as a matter of urgency, rather than towards the end of the Plan. Our sport has grown rapidly over the past few years and is in danger of becoming unsustainable, unless improvements to the Sports Field Network are made in the very near future. I wholeheartedly endorse the below statement as a mother of an 11 year old son and a 9 year old daughter who are both football mad. More quality fields are desperately needed and an investment into children's sport which keeps them healthy and productive should be a council priority.

6942 - Yujing Yang

My name is Yujing Yang. My son is playing for Halswell United AFC. Please keep the funding for the Sports Network Plan in the Long Term plan. The sports fields desperately need investment so that we & our tamariki can participate in sport both during the week & at the weekend throughout the season, rather than being stopped by the rain and poor pitches which can become a health & safety issue after the rain.

6943 - Glenda Spillance (The Belfast Sports and Community Centre Inc)

I am writing this submission in support of Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID61785) The Belfast Sports and Community Centre Inc. (Belfast Rugby, Belfast Netball, Belfast Touch) wholly support the Norwest Sport and Community Hub in actively seeking options to upgrade sport and recreational facilities in then Northwest of Christchurch. The Council has the perfect park at Sheldon Park in Belfast to invest in creating floodlit all weather turfs, changing rooms (upgrading existing ones at Sheldon Park), etc. The Belfast Area is one of the fastest growing communities in Christchurch and bigger and better facilities are required to meet demand. We wish to appeal to you for the prioritisation of this work to develop the sports fields in this area to ensure that we can meet the needs of all sports. Belfast Rugby Club has 300 players, Belfast Touch has 1000 players, Belfast Netball has 180 players. All of these players need good surfaces to train on, good facilities (changing rooms and toilets) etc. The Belfast S&CC Inc. Board of Directors and the Belfast Rugby Club Executive Committee and the Belfast Touch and Netball Committees all support the Norwest Sport and Community Hub's ambition to create and/or better fields, facilities etc.

6944 - James Anderson

Please keep the funding for the Sports Network Plan in the Long Term plan. The sports fields desperately need investment so that we & our tamariki can participate in sport both during the week & at the weekend throughout the winter sport season, rather than being stopped by the rain and poor pitches which can become a health & safety issue after rain. Halswell Domain is of particular interest as it is used by a large number of football teams every night, and needs investment to ensure that the ground stays in a useable condition for the whole of the winter sports season.

6945 - Kieran Kavanagh

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

6946 - Lias Tamaki

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

6947 - Dee Cameron

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

6948 - Stuart Anderson

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

6949 - Lesley Nicol

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

6950 - Kate Dunn

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

6951 - Blayne Slabbert

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

6952 - Hayley Haig

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

6953 - Stuart Oldham

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment

6954 - Fraser Angus

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment

6955 - Rachel Cook

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long-Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

6956 - Neil Murphy

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any

highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

6957 - Anneliese Carlson

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

6958 - Graham Bint

I would like to make a formal submission, specifically to the Community Parks Sports Field Development Programme (ID 61785) My submission is in strong support of the programme with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the plan. My support for the programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs and improved grass facilities. I urge the council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment and growth.

6959 - Neil Savage

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of a quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the back end of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment

6960 - Ian McPherson

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of a quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the back end of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

6961 - Hayden Beaumont

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. I note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. I urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

6962 - Robin Fox Berthault

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

6963 - John Thompson

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. Whilst I live in the Waimakariri District I'd like to point out that I play my sport in the city and spend a lot of leisure time and disposable income in the city. I also work in the city. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

6964 - John Comper

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of a quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. This is particularly important for our children, focused on their screens and burdened with excessive mental health. Playing and training for sport is the green light to a better future. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the back end of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

6965 - Kate Gee

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work

to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of a quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the back end of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

6966 - Angela Awad

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

6967 - Kevin Williams

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment

6968 - Tim Chapman

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of a quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the back end of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

6969 - Julie Jorgensen

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

6970 - Garbhan Coughlan

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

6971 - Lyle Matthysen

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

6972 - Sam O'Neill

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

6973 - Federico Zamperini

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supported by improved grass facilities. The establishment of a quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

6974 - Lisa Young

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

6975 - Megan Reilly

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

6976 - Glenn & Ana Connor

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

6977 - Federica Meurisse

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supported by improved grass facilities. The establishment of a quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

6978 - Matt Jansen

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

6979 - Rose Imms

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any

highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

6980 - Stephanie Garrett

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

6981 - Marian Quartey-Abu

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritizing this work to develop positive community, recreational, and performance sports outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of a quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st-century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighboring councils in providing safe, fit-for-purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10 year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much-needed capital investment.

6982 - Dan Schwarz

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long-Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs

around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

6983 - Kaito Ito

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supported by improved grass facilities. The establishment of a quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

6984 - Nina Sandys

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

6986 - Daniel Johnson

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work

to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

6987 - Malaika Smith

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. I urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

6988 - Chris Sandys

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

6989 - Roy Myatt

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

6990 - Rufus Turner

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

6991 - Dean Hamilton

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment

6992 - Nequita Giesteira

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

6993 - Joanna Kelly

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

6994 - Russell O'Brien

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

6995 - Fern O'Brien

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

6996 - Aaron Wairepo

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

6997 - [REDACTED]

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

6998 - Jack Hallahan

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

6999 - Stacey Ryder

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment

7000 - Tracy Hickling

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

7001 - Simon Rooney

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

7002 - Paul Stewart

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

7003 - Malaika Smith

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. I urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

7004 - Louise Webster

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

7005 - Aimee Phillips

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

7006 - Ryan Foley

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

7007 - James Greenly

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

7009 - Erica Pinion

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

7010 - Ralf Donkers

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

7011 - Luka Donkers

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

7012 - Brendon Ward

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing youth are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

7013 - Jackie Batten

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

7014 - Simon Tedder

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

7015 - James Kelly

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

7016 - Oscar Kelly

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritizing this work to develop positive community, recreational, and performance sports outcomes within our city. My support for this program is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supported by improved grass facilities. The establishment of a quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st-century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that the next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on the use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

7017 - Rohan McGlinchy

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

7018 - Claudia Townshend

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

7019 - Melissa Barbosa

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

7020 - Emma Harrison

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

7021 - Julia Kornienko

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

7022 - Stephen Mitchell

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

7023 - Simona Wallwork

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

7024 - Simon Hassett

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city.

Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

7025 - Susanne Ziswiler

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

7026 - Donna Docherty

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

7027 - Pip Riley

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. I note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. I urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

7028 - Jo Glendinning

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034. My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

7029 - Shane Verma

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

7030 - Drew Evamy

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034. My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of a quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the back end of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

7031 - Simon Anderton

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

7032 - Dan Andrew

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

7033 - Chris Stoddart

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID

61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of a quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

7034 - Liz Seaman

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

7035 - Janine van Dam

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

7036 - Tony Cribb

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

7037 - Daniel Guirgis

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

7038 - Daniel Mawhinney

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

7039 - Carna Mytton

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

7040 - Tim Sewell

Please keep the funding for the Sports Network Plan in the Long Term plan. The sports fields desperately need investment so that we & our tamariki can participate in sport both during the week & at the weekend throughout the season, rather than being stopped by the rain and poor pitches which can become a health & safety issue after the rain.

7041 - Zander Edwards

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment

7042 - Craig Johnson

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

7043 - Tony Joseph

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long-Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of a quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the back end of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

7044 - Joseph Young

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

7045 - Wayne Holdem

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID

61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

7046 - Michael Roan

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. I note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. I urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

7047 - Steve Daly

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

7048 - Zach Hill

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

7049 - Finn Batten

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

7050 - Matthew Boon

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

7051 - Tayanita Scott

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of a quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the back end of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

7052 - Gareth Evans

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

7053 - Liz Brading

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

7054 - Emerson Ryder

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

7055 - Theodorus (Dennis) Sanders

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

7056 - Andrew Dimond

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on the goal of establishing up to 12 floodlit all-weather turfs, complete with changing rooms, supported by improved and well-maintained grass playing fields. The establishment of a quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch has already fallen well behind its neighbouring councils in providing safe, fit for purpose playing surfaces, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the back end of the 10-year period. The current network is under significant pressure and the need for increased access to facilities is a priority. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward the majority of this much needed capital investment.

7057 - Michael Yoder

I would like to make a formal submission on the Draft Long Term Plan 2024 -2034 (the LTP). My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61875, with an $85.6m investment set out on page 188 of the Plan) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city. My support for this programme is based on its goal of establishing up to 10 floodlit artificial playing turfs around the city, supporting by improved grass facilities. The establishment of quality sports field network is of the utmost importance. It is a critical part of any highly liveable 21st century city. Christchurch is at serious risk of falling well behind its neighbouring council, and its main city rivals for commercial and visitor investment, and growth. We note that $85.6m investment in the LTP is largely phased towards the backend of the 10-year period. This means that it is likely that next one to two generations of developing footballers are going to miss out on use of these through their formative years. We urge the Council to reconsider the investment timeframe and bring forward most of the investment.

7058 - Claire North

With regard to the provision made within the Long Term Plan (LTP) for development of all-weather, floodlit football pitches across Christchurch, I would like to submit my support for the strong recommendation made by Mainland Football and my local football club, St Albans Shirley FC, that the investment be made as a matter of urgency, rather than towards the end of the Plan. Our sport has grown rapidly over the past few years and is in danger of becoming unsustainable, unless improvements to the Sports Field Network are made in the very near future.

7059 - Mark Zourzouvilis-Carey

With regard to the provision made within the Long Term Plan (LTP) for development of all-weather, floodlit football pitches across Christchurch, I would like to submit my support for the strong recommendation made by Mainland Football and my local football club, St Albans Shirley FC, that the investment be made as a matter of urgency, rather than towards the end of the Plan. Our sport has grown rapidly over the past few years and is in danger of becoming unsustainable, unless improvements to the Sports Field Network are made in the very near future.

7060 - Lucy Cameron

With regard to the provision made within the Long Term Plan (LTP) for development of all-weather, floodlit football pitches across Christchurch, I would like to submit my support for the strong recommendation made by Mainland Football and my local football club, St Albans Shirley FC, that the investment be made as a matter of urgency, rather than towards the end of the Plan. Our sport has grown rapidly over the past few years and is in danger of becoming unsustainable, unless improvements to the Sports Field Network are made in the very near future.

7061 - Fiona Carey

With regard to the provision made within the Long Term Plan (LTP) for development of all-weather, floodlit football pitches across Christchurch, I would like to submit my support for the strong recommendation made by Mainland Football and my local football club, St Albans Shirley FC, that the investment be made as a matter of urgency, rather than towards the end of the Plan. Our sport has grown rapidly over the past few years and is in danger of becoming unsustainable, unless improvements to the Sports Field Network are made in the very near future.

7062 - Hadley McLachlan

With regard to the provision made within the Long Term Plan (LTP) for development of all-weather, floodlit football pitches across Christchurch, I would like to submit my support for the strong recommendation made by Mainland Football and my local football club, St Albans Shirley FC, that the investment be made as a matter of urgency, rather than towards the end of the Plan. Our sport has grown rapidly over the past few years and is in danger of becoming unsustainable, unless improvements to the Sports Field Network are made in the very near future.

7063 - Nathan Kreft

With regard to the provision made within the Long Term Plan (LTP) for development of all-weather, floodlit football pitches across Christchurch, I would like to submit my support for the strong recommendation made by Mainland Football and my local football club, St Albans Shirley FC, that the investment be made as a matter of urgency, rather than towards the end of the Plan. Our sport has grown rapidly over the past few years and is in danger of becoming unsustainable, unless improvements to the Sports Field Network are made in the very near future.

7064 - Alice Walsh

With regard to the provision made within the Long Term Plan (LTP) for development of all-weather, floodlit football pitches across Christchurch, I would like to submit my support for the strong recommendation made by Mainland Football and my local football club, St Albans Shirley FC, that the investment be made as a matter of urgency, rather than towards the end of the Plan. Our sport has grown rapidly over the past few years and is in danger of becoming unsustainable, unless improvements to the Sports Field Network are made in the very near future.

7065 - Nicki Falconer

With regard to the provision made within the Long Term Plan (LTP) for development of all-weather, floodlit football pitches across Christchurch, I would like to submit my support for the strong recommendation made by Mainland Football and my local football club, St Albans Shirley FC, that the investment be made as a matter of urgency, rather than towards the end of the Plan. Our sport has grown rapidly over the past few years and is in danger of becoming unsustainable, unless improvements to the Sports Field Network are made in the very near future.

7066 - Rebecca Minnell

With regard to the provision made within the Long Term Plan (LTP) for development of all-weather, floodlit football pitches across Christchurch, I would like to submit my support for the strong recommendation made by Mainland Football and my local football club, St Albans Shirley FC, that the investment be made as a matter of urgency, rather than towards the end of the Plan. Our sport has grown rapidly over the past few years and is in danger of becoming unsustainable, unless improvements to the Sports Field Network are made in the very near future.

7067 - Tony Hampton

With regard to the provision made within the Long Term Plan (LTP) for development of all-weather, floodlit football pitches across Christchurch, I would like to submit my support for the strong recommendation made by Mainland Football and my local football club, St Albans Shirley FC, that the investment be made as a matter of urgency, rather than towards the end of the Plan. Our sport has grown rapidly over the past few years and is in danger of becoming unsustainable, unless improvements to the Sports Field Network are made in the very near future.

7068 - Emily Cook

With regard to the provision made within the Long Term Plan (LTP) for development of all-weather, floodlit football pitches across Christchurch, I would like to submit my support for the strong recommendation made by Mainland Football and my local football club, St Albans Shirley FC, that the investment be made as a matter of urgency, rather than towards the end of the Plan. Our sport has grown rapidly over the past few years and is in danger of becoming unsustainable, unless improvements to the Sports Field Network are made in the very near future.

7069 - Leon Kotzee

With regard to the provision made within the Long Term Plan (LTP) for development of all-weather, floodlit football pitches across Christchurch, I would like to submit my support for the strong recommendation made by Mainland Football and my local football club, St Albans Shirley FC, that the investment be made as a matter of urgency, rather than towards the end of the Plan. Our sport has grown rapidly over the past few years and is in danger of becoming unsustainable, unless improvements to the Sports Field Network are made in the very near future.

7070 - Molly Daly

With regard to the provision made within the Long Term Plan (LTP) for development of all-weather, floodlit football pitches across Christchurch, I would like to submit my support for the strong recommendation made by Mainland Football and my local football club, St Albans Shirley FC, that the investment be made as a matter of urgency, rather than towards the end of the Plan. Our sport has grown rapidly over the past few years and is in danger of becoming unsustainable, unless improvements to the Sports Field Network are made in the very near future.

7071 - Daniel Chiplin

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city, in particular in the Northwest of Christchurch. I request that CCC work with Norwest Sport & Community Hub to look at specific options to upgrade community sport and recreation facilities in Northwest Christchurch. Floodlit all-weather turfs, changing rooms, improved toilet facilities and improved playing surfaces with adequate drainage and irrigation would maximise the use of current playing fields and free up much sought after indoor space for other users. The Northwest of Christchurch is in urgent need of better grounds and facilities to support an increase in participants that reflect the growing population in the area.

7072 - Geoffrey Chiplin

My submission is in strong support of the Programme – Community Parks Sports Field Development (ID 61785) and I support prioritising this work to develop positive community, recreational and performance sport outcomes within our city, in particular in the Northwest of Christchurch. I request that CCC work with Norwest Sport & Community Hub to look at specific options to upgrade community sport and recreation facilities in Northwest Christchurch. Floodlit all-weather turfs, changing rooms, improved toilet facilities and improved playing surfaces with adequate drainage and irrigation would maximise the use of current playing fields and free up much sought after indoor space for other users. The Northwest of Christchurch is in urgent need of better grounds and facilities to support an increase in participants that reflect the growing population in the area.

7073 - Kirsty Mortell

With regard to the provision made within the Long Term Plan (LTP) for development of all-weather, floodlit football pitches across Christchurch, I would like to submit my support for the strong recommendation made by Mainland Football and my local football club, St Albans Shirley FC, that the investment be made as a matter of urgency, rather than towards the end of the Plan. Our sport has grown rapidly over the past few years and is in danger of becoming unsustainable, unless improvements to the Sports Field Network are made in the very near future.

Parks Spending (General)

General Comments

256 submissions were received addressing spending on parks.

110 comments supported, and 29 comments opposed spending.

102 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 18 comments provided general feedback on parks spending.

Officer Response

Submissions supporting LTP Proposal's funding for parks:

The proposed LTP parks budget was supported for the following reasons:

- Wellbeing (mental and physical health) benefits
- Protecting the environment
- Iconic for Christchurch as the garden city
- Outdoors important for NZ to attract visitors
- A desire for a Dog Park in Southwest Christchurch

Submissions opposing the LTP Proposal's funding for parks:

Those who thought the spend could be less simply focused on the need to reduce costs in general.

A number of responses suggested keeping maintenance at the same level but not starting new projects or deferring planned projects. A few suggested specific areas where spending could be cut, such as golf (or any activities that are harmful to the environment), dog parks and Naval Point. Others suggested creating or raising fees for camping and freedom camping. Some suggesting partnering with community organisations and offering more education programmes.

Staff have carefully considered how to retain current maintenance levels without increasing costs. For example, Council recently undertook a revision of the costs associated with tree maintenance work through the contract tender process in 2023 and will bring community parks maintenance activities in-house from 1 July 2024.

The capital programme has been carefully examined and prioritised to ensure it is a deliverable programme. While currently one third of the capital budget is allocated to renewing assets and two thirds on new projects, capital spend has been spread over a greater number of years to maximise affordability.

There is $50k allocated in the draft LTP for FY27 for the planning and design of a New Dog Park - Southwest Christchurch. Should development proceed it will be funded from # 61783, Community parks New Development, budget $105 million over the 10-year plan.

In terms of the areas suggested for cutting:

- Community demand for dog parks remains strong so these remain a priority.
- Golf courses are not run or maintained by Council.
- The fees charged for usage of parks have already been reviewed, with some increases in the proposed LTP.
- Our community rangers already seek out as many opportunities as possible to partner with community groups.

Support

1008 - Angela McPherson

Very important

1031 - George Tylee

I strongly support this investment.

1082 - Rachel McRae

As well as the botanic gardens. I'm very short, and I've had drivers etc not see me , even when I'm crossing on a green crossing light. Thank you!

[Coder note: Supports funding of botanic gardens]

1258 - John Chrisstoffels

[Libraries > Library (Capital)], [Art Galleries & Museums > Art Gallery (Capital)]

alongside other important creative and cultural utilities such as libraries, art galleries and parks, that ensure the wellbeing and mental health of our city.

1273 - Anthony Moore (The Elms Hotel Ltd, T/A Hotel Elms Christchurch)

An important thing to fund

[Coders Note: relates to parks, heritage and the coastal environment]

1278 - Tim Marsh

has merit

[Coders Note: in reference to parks, heritage and coastal environment]

1282 - Kelvin Lynn

I suppose these proposals.

131 - Helen Peate

Important

1324 - Anaru Matai

Very important

1329 - Lynda Whitlow

keep up the good work on all of these

1355 - Andrew McCarthy

I don't want to see funding for CCC Rangers cut.

1365 - Valerie Grose

The environment needs to thrive in our city as well as the foreshore, the natural environment is essential to peoples mental health

1433 - Helen Thomas

[Recreation, Sports & Events > Pools (Capital)]

I am a resident and live in papanui. I have lived in Christchurch for 9 years and have been impressed by the level of continual improvement and investment in the city's facilities such as swimming pools and parks.

1456 - Henry Bersani

Continue to protect and grow these - these are the things that make a city livable!

1508 - Mb Brennan am supportivve of parks and heritage , they are our gifts to the future and the present

151 - Marg Flyvbjerg

Yes, these are important

1523 - Jonathan Burn

A great way to spend this money. It's a shame there's not a bit more in the budget for these areas

1572 - Olive Easterbrook

[Libraries > Libraries (Capital)], [Three Waters > Other]

We should definitely continue to fund libraries, parks and waterways.

>>>

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Cathedral]

I support this apart from the cathedral

1589 - Barry Miller

Parks and gardens i am all for . More green spaces.

161 - Sam Apps

Agree

1619 - David Hera

Equitable Green Spaces and Food Forests: Access to nature should be a universal right. Here's why it matters to me and what we can do: Personal Insight: My proximity to a park profoundly benefits my mental well-being and connection to nature. Foraging in local green spaces has become not only a hobby but a practical response to rising food costs. Solutions: Boost funding for parks and natural reserves across all neighborhoods. Launch an extensive food forest initiative on public lands to enhance community self-sufficiency and food security.

1623 - Oliver Mould

You appear to have the balance about right.

1648 - Andrew Bowman

This is all fantastic.

1669 - Sandra Ballantyne

[Libraries > Libraries (Capital)]

We need libraries and parks etc to maintain a good environment for us all to live in

1692 - David Bluck

[Recreation, Sports & Events > Pools (Capital)], [Grants & Funding > Orana Park Funding], [Parks > Parks Spending (General)]

Give money to things that make Chch a good place to live. >>> entertainment places, parks

1695 - Jordan Wyatt

Broadly support

1724 - Jo Hikuroa

It's so important for our parks, foreshore and heritage to be maintained. Our children need to be able to play outside in safe spaces that reflect the natural beauty that is Aotearoa

[Coders Note: related to parks, heritage and coastal environments]

180 - Kevin McSweeney

Probably ok

1944 - Peter Salvesen

Parks and coastal environments should always be looked after properly anyway.

1951 - James Beck (Eco Church New Zealand)

[Transport > Other], [Three Waters > Other]

The investment into parks, water and transport is incredibly important.

>>>

This is incredibly important for our ongoing climate resilience.

1965 - Grant Bowater

Important to maintain as it is vital for community well-being.

1989 - Hannah Collins

Crucial for Christchurch

1991 - Stevie Florent

Green spaces and urban forest land are valued and critical.

2034 - Kevin Walker

These are critical for a livable city.

2057 - Alicia Moggre

Looks great

2103 - P Stark

keep working on our parks and green spaces we are the garden city

2112 - Matt Easterbrook

I support funding this

2166 - Wendy Everingham

I support money being spent on parks

2198 - Andrew Smith

Supportive

2235 - Cara Paterson (Creative New Zealand)

We further tautoko Council's commitment to invest in parks and foreshore. As Council works on delivering these significant projects to maintain and develop the city's green spaces, we encourage Council to build on its strong track record of incorporating arts and culture elements within infrastructure projects. This includes working with mana whenua to incorporate ngā toi Māori elements in community parks, and on the foreshore, to share stories of cultural and historical significance in the rohe.

2243 - Catherine Birch

I agree with it

2388 - Guy Tapley

I believe the balance is about right.

2404 - Grant MacLeod

Good to see.

2417 - Victor Vergara

wonderful

2448 - Barrie Uren

ok

2479 - Jacqui Raymond

[Libraries > Libraries (Capital)] , [Recreation, Sports & Events > Recreation Centres (Capital)] , [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

I am very happy with keeping the spending on core facilities and infrastructure such as libraries and community sports facilities like Jellie Park, cycling pathways, Botanic Gardens. These things are essential to having a safe and happy community.

2498 - REDACTED REDACTED

I think this area is important.

2506 - Logan Brunner

I am excited for the proposed park projects.

2533 - Steven Muir

I support the development of the projects & costs involved

2695 - Dave Gardner

i'm happy with this

2727 - Aleesa Royds

we need these they are an important part of the community

2733 - Georgia Macaulay

Parks yes,

2734 - Sharon McDonald

Parks and waterways yes.

>>>

I agree that work has to be done but make sure that it is worked within the budget

2831 - Sebastian Denize

[Libraries > Libraries (Capital)], [Grants & Funding > Art Centre Funding]

I am against the council defunding our libraries, The Arts Centre, parks, and gardens. I am particularly against the defunding of the small amount the Arts Centre costs, in light of the huge amount the stadium is getting.

2840 - Matthew Carter

I'm impressed by the Parks and Reserves services funded by the council. I support the trials of grit surfacing in parks, and wildflower plantings. I have used the Snap-Send-Solve app on several occasions to flag fallen tree branches or risk of a dead branch falling, and the council's response has been good. I am happy the council proposes to continue services at parks and libraries without cut-backs or disruption. They are important shared community spaces and CCL provides valuable access to a wide range of physical and digital resources.

2847 - Colleen Philip (Sustainable Ōtautahi Christchurch)

Sustainable Ōtautahi Christchurch strongly support the move away from 'contracting out' for parks and bringing more 'in house' in this and other areas.

2923 - Amanda Peter

key really - protection of landscape

2934 - Monica Richards

Goid

2949 - Graeme John Marriott

I'm happy with what you are proposing

3012 - George Laxton

I support getting money into these and getting places that people can escape into nature has many other benefits from stress relief to shading and a place to play and hang out (third place)

3021 - Viane Makalio

I believe this is important and think it is fair what is proposed.

3055 - Josephine Drysdall

I support funding our taonga parks, and coastal environments. Public and shared spaces are vital to sustainable, healthy, educated, and inclusive communities.

314 - Vaughan Kirkland

Keep up the good work on parks.

3169 - Barbara Brown

[Rates > Residential Rates], [Transport > Roads (Capital)], [Three Waters > Three Waters (Operational)], [Parks > Heritage (Capital)], [Parks > Foreshore], [Art Galleries & Museums > Art Galleries (Capital)], [Other/Special Interest Topics > Social Housing], [Art Galleries & Museums > Museums (Capital)], [Grants & Funding > Art Centre Funding], [Other/Special Interest Topics > Cathedral]

Areas I would like to see greater allocations made to are: Parks, Heritage and Coastal Environment; Art Gallery and Museums; Housing and Libraries. Specifically I would like to see the Arts Centre being funded. I would like to see our parks and gardens having bigger budgets, specifically the Botanic Gardens. Compared to botanic gardens in other cities ours are shabby.

>>>

[Transport > Roads (Operational)], [Three Waters > Three Waters (Operational)], [Parks > Heritage (Capital)], [Parks > Foreshore], [Art Galleries & Museums > Art Galleries (Capital)], [Other/Special Interest Topics > Social Housing], [Art Galleries & Museums > Museums (Capital)], [Grants & Funding > Art Centre Funding]

As in my introductory statement, I think that we need to review operational spend on Transport and Three Waters, and prioritise Parks, Heritage and Coastal Environment; Art Galleries and Museums; Libraries and Housing. I think we should have a larger social housing portfolio.

>>>

I support increased funding to these areas.

3187 - Debbie Hamilton

[Libraries > Libraries (Operations)], [Recreation, Sports & Events > Rec & Sport (Operations)], [Grants & Funding > Arts Centre Funding]

But don't change that especially supporting community such as libraries parks pools the Arts Centre most importantly

322 - Richie Connell

Iconic. Must be supported.

326 - Greg Dodds

No reduction in spending on these.

3291 - Jess Kikstra

[Transport > Cycling], [Three Waters > Waste Water], [Recreation, Sports & Events > Rec & Sport (operations)], [Libraries > Capital], [Other/Special Interest Topics > Creating a Climate Fund]

Capital program: Yes, particularly supportive of spending on cycling and active transport. I would also support behavior change programmes and consideration of incentives to encourage more people to bike. Supportive of improvements to waste treatment, parks and foreshore, recreation, libraries, and adapting to climate change.

3325 - Adele Geradts

People must have >>> parks >>> (These provide places for communities to meet and interact).

>>>

$920 million on parks, heritage and coastal

>>>

parks, >>> are important and need to be maintained at the current or higher levels.

>>>

We need parks

3346 - Lynette Bay

Parks are important - sport and recreation. Projects need to be prioritized. What is urgent and what can be done at a later stage?

3380 - Victoria Lukiyanyuk

This seems adequate.

3412 - Alicia Harbison-Price

I support the funding assigned to the numerous projects that will improve the green spaces of our city. This is important for climate change and to increase biodiversity in the city.

3423 - James Upton

Maintaining current commitments to Parks, Foreshore and Heritage is aligned with making Christchurch a great city to live and invest in.

3474 - Timothy Lambert

all good

3483 - Jo Bethell

I encourage enhancing of our greenspace - for recreational but also biodiversity purposes

3535 - Anna Harper

This seems reasonable. Again given the cost of living focus on the essentials, not the nice to know. Parks are essential, key culture of Christchurch, the garden city.

3552 - Alice Neylon

This is fine.

[Coders Note: Response to spending on parks, heritage or the coastal environment]

3673 - Theo van Woerkom

[Three Waters > Three Waters (Operations)] , [Transport > Transport (Operations)]

Three waters, transport (esp. cycleways) and parks - yes

3694 - Jane Pairman

Yes I support this

3738 - Finn Jackson

I strongly support the development of the Port Hills Plan. It's long overdue, so I'm very happy to see that work is proposed to begin in 2024/25.

3740 - Nicky Sharples

Important to spend money on s houses in ChCh now have less land and parks used as populations backyard.

3759 - Ben Connolly

I support rolling renewal programme for playgrounds, pathways, and green assets (programmes are reviewed and confirmed with Community Boards annually).

3764 - Jack Gibbons

I support >>> parks funding in general. Every day I use the city's parks, usually multiple different ones. Day to day this is a large quality of life improvement for me. The Avon corridor is such a long section of the city that it will benefit many many people.

3816 - Annette Bolton

Support this.

3826 - Kate Cleverly

Any investment in parks and public spaces can only be a good thing. Parks, trees and urban forests are important aspects to peoples health and wellbeing.

3829 - Tamzin Roe

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?], [Parks > Parks Spending (General)], [Transport > Roads (Capital)], Resource Recovery (Operations]

There are some clear straightforward plans in terms of parks, roading, infrastructure, wastemanagement etc.

3845 - Wolfgang Rack

This is what we are known for. Parks, Heritage, and coastal environment should be a focus.

3849 - David Peddie

Continue to maintain parks and foreshore.

3860 - Kate Cleverly (Halswell Community Hub)

Any investment in parks and public spaces can only be a good thing. Parks, trees and urban forests are important aspects to peoples health and wellbeing.

3875 - Maureen McCloy

Yes this work all needs to be funded.

3949 - Fay Brorens

I am very pleased with our (no or low cost) >>> Parks

3970 - Allannah Lovelady

Great spending balance.

450 - Allison Husband

OK

454 - Jude Rogers

Yes, these need prioritising.

464 - Mary McCammon

all very important

468 - Genevieve Bergin

No, it's good to fund these

477 - Niki Davidson

I fully support expenditure on natural elements as, for a healthy community, there needs to be a lot more awareness of the value of nature and the environment in individual overall health and therefore community health. Being able to access (by walking) some form of natural park or reserve within less than 10 minutes of everyone's home and the encouragement to do so is becoming a more and more important factor as we realise the negative impacts of urbanisation.

486 - Neil McConachie

Happy with the proposals

493 - Andrew Douglas

All for this.

[Coder note: for context proposed capital spend on parks]

504 - Angela Templeton

[Libraries > Libraries (Operations)], [Grants & Funding > Arts Centre]

Agree with spending on libraries and parks and similar facilities, but please don't forget the Arts Centre

615 - Michael JasonSmith

I agree with the priorities for parks, heritage, and the coastal environment outlined in the Long Term Plan.

636 - Ben Taylor

I support doing more actions under the parks and foreshore , these are important areas for the city

653 - Jane Cartwright

a priority for me

657 - Murray Peacock

All this is fine

663 - Sam Chow-Tan

Acceptable

[Coder Note: relating to parks, heritage or the coastal environment]

694 - Lucia Rivas

Important

752 - Vivienne Hewson

Totally in favour of spending money necessary to maintain and improve our parks and green spaces heritage and coastal areas

782 - Áine Smyth

This is good

877 - Helen Hessey
all ok

880 - Peter Kim
No issue.

Oppose

1068 - Redacted Redacted
same, just reduce spending. dont do one park, save $20m

1206 - Makenzie Haberfield
Put less money towards this

1272 - Sarah Hogan

Given the recent new cost estimates for the Cathedral, and the current levels of debt and other infrastructure challenges, I am opposed to such large sums being spent on this at the moment.

[Coders Note: Relates to parks, heritage or the coastal environment]

1335 - Julie Turner
No money for this

1358 - Rob Noster
Stop wasting money currently on dog parks

17 - Sandra Pilet
Leave them till you actually have money to spend

1968 - Kelly Osborn
Again stop spending!!!! are anything of these things essential? We should be maintaing the current assests only not creating new ones to spending money that we don't have as a city.

1995 - Joanne Kundan

Not sure this needs to be a priority?

2009 - CW Young

[Three Waters>Other]; [Libraries>Libraries (Capital)]

Three Waters, Parks/Heritage/Coastal Environment and Libraries need a haircut.

2136 - Clara Carey

The spending on parks seems proportionately high, given the proposed rates increase and that it appears that much of the spending is going towards new projects. While these new projects are important, particularly the OARC project, given the current financial climate these may be an area of cost saving for CCC.

>>>

the spending on parks seems proportionately high at a superficial level

2403 - Andrew Woodfield

[Transport>Cycleways (Capital)]

Stop wasting money on unnecessary things, like the $1m bridge and $700m Plus on bike lanes for a pathetically small number of people (Seen anyone using them when it's wet? Nope, nor have I)

2629 - Sarah Smith

[Spending > Te Kaha] , [Libraries > Libraries (Capital)]

Far too much money going into parks, Te Kaha and the libraries.

28 - Geoff Egan
Costs too high

2824 - Hannah Mason

[Grants & Funding > Arts Centre Funding]

I would like to see spending on parks decrease. While they are a precious part of our city, the amount of spending planned is disproportionate and could be implemented more slowly.

29 - Hayley Young excessive spending

3769 - Dawn Smith
Seriously not needed.

3844 - My-Linh Dang
$820m on these projects is excessive. Any spending should be minimal to maintain services. Look at reducing costs.

3869 - Cam Parsonson

Reduce parks expenditure esp. in botanic gardens, defer landscaping projects.

>>>

Reduce expenditure at botanic gardens including new works. Reduce staffing by 10%

3916 - Laila Jansone (Renew Brighton Charitable Trust)
We do not support this as priority

393 - Kathryn Russell

Need to limit this spend

3993 - Hans Jorgen Andersen

- $870 million on parks, heritage & the coastal environment (13.4%) TOO MUCH

4004 - Nathalie Le Bras

Less park spends --> find ways to decrease spends.

404 - Annelise Bryant

Cut cost on parks, heritage & the coastal environment. Focus on the people.

422 - Nias Kitchin

Again u are over spending money u don't have. Maintenance. Yes. Big projects no! As a city we don't have the money. It's like your spending a credit card u can't afford to pay and expect struggling citizens to not eat to pay for.

437 - Chrystal Gray

It doesnt need sorting. Wasting money on stupid shit focus on the country where you have already put petrol, food and mortgages rate up as it is.

715 - Hayley Barrett

$820 million, are you insane? We cannot afford this. Upkeep the current parks, but stop spending money on things we don't have to have. Yes, parks are lovely, but we are broke. We cannot afford to spend millions of dollars on these vanity projects. Cut this spend at least in half, if not more. Other than maintaining our current parks, none of this needs to be done.

>>>

Cut back on parks spending to be just about upkeep, no new parks projects.

747 - Euan Gutteridge

This doesnt seem essential at present.

818 - Bevan Phillipson

No wasteful spending plan.

893 - Peter Murphy

[Parks - Heritage (Capital)], [Parks - Spending (General)]

Parks/heritage and library cost should be cut

>>>

Cut costs!!!

>>>

[Libraries - Libraries (Operations)]

Libraries and Parks

Other

1043 - Shafali Verma

[Strategic Direction > Additional Savings & Efficiencies], [Spending > Te Kaha], [Libraries > Libraries (Capital)], [Transport > Roads (Capital)]

Yes, For instance, while its not stable economy you probably wont need to spend on Te kaha, librarians and keep it to the minimum for the additional parks and roadworks.

1054 - Jasmine Neale

[Transport > Roads]

Use the [Coder note: Cycleways] money to fix damaged roads and upgrade parks.

1107 - Claire Gullidge

More on parks, heritage, coastal environment

1132 - Gavin Fitzgerald

Spend less here. .

>>>

[Strategic Direction>Additional Savings & Efficiencies]; [Recreation, Sport & Events>Rec & Sport (Operations)]

Money spent within sports and recreation and parks,heritage and coastlines.

[Coder note: reduce money spent on these areas]

>>>

[Recreation, Sport & Events>Rec & Sport (Operations)]; [Libraries>Libraries (Capital)]; [Spending>Our Proposed Spending]

Generally speaking yes, however Parks,Heritage and Coastal along with Recreation and Sport needs less spent on it and Libraries (Community Hubs) need more spent on it.

1167 - Anja Luecht

[Transport > Other]

I think you should spend less on transport and more on parks.

1229 - Cassandra Albert

[Spending > Te Kaha]

The Te Kaha project appears to be misaligned with current community priorities and resource allocation. Instead of investing in this initiative, funds could be redirected towards expanding green spaces, which offer a range of health and recreational benefits to the broader populace.

>>>

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)], [Recreation, Sports & Events > Rec & Sports (Operations)]

By prioritizing investments in amenities like bike lanes, recreational centers, parks, and outdoor programs, we can promote healthier lifestyles and community engagement while utilizing resources more effectively.

1232 - Heather Young

[Spending > Capital Programme (General)], [Parks > Biodiversity & Ecological Restoration],

Increase the proportion of spending on Christchurch's accessible coastal suburbs and their associated reserves (Brighton, South Brighton, Southshore, North Brighton): Reasons: 1. Preserve cultural heritage (Maori used the Estuary and Spit for kai moana for centuries), 2 Climate change adaptation, 3. Preserve East Australasian flyways, ecosystems for migrating birds such as Godwits (maintain biodiversity) 4. Tourism's greatest future growth is in areas of natural beauty and significance

1288 - Olesia Martins da Fonseca

Maybe should be done more?

1323 - Mark Hubbard

Hagley Park, great. Heritage and Coastal environment: stop. Public will look after those.

1362 - Pablo Rodriguez

Coastal areas serve as our initial defense against storms and floods, while also being crucial for recreation and tourism. Parks provide green spaces for community connection and leisure activities. Funds should not be allocated to environmentally harmful recreational pursuits such as golf.

>>>

[Three Waters > Stormwater & Land Drainage (Capital)]

Rain gardens, biodiversity and green spaces included in stormwater management plan

1430 - Dan Hartwell

[Parks > Biodiversity & Ecological Restoration]

More investment in mountain bike infrastructure, biodiversity work, especially in port hills

1460 - Jihee Park

keeping things beautiful is important to live in the city, once again, you are wasting money.

1463 - James Kettle

More to be spent here

1464 - Jeffrey Packard

Money should only be spent on environmentally positive projects that have a direct and additive impact on the long term sustainability.

1474 - Céara Dernhagen

[Parks>Playgrounds & Play Equipment]; [Parks>Other]; [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration>City Planning]; [Strategic Direction>Have we got the balance right?]

Equitable Green Spaces and Food Forests: All residents deserve access to nature. I support: Why it's personal I work at a desk. I am lucky enough to have a park very close to my house. My mental health, connection to nature and source of play is greatly enhanced by the green space outside my house. Foraging is one of my greatest pleasures and helps mitigate the soaring costs of groceries. Solutions Increased funding for parks, playgrounds, and natural reserves in every neighborhood. Development of a comprehensive food forest program on public lands, promoting community self-sufficiency and food security.

1490 - Carolina Nery

While both parks and cultural investments are crucial, suggesting that funds should be shifted from one to the other is absurd. It's unfair to place the population in such a dilemma.

1499 - Ben Davidson

We know how important nature and outdoor spaces are to quality of life and general wellbeing so I think this needs more priority in the plan

1517 - Felix Harrison

I think more should be spent on parks. Provided they are done in ways that Honour the biodiversity of this land (natives) the culture and herriage of tangata whenua are done on consort with mana whenua and prom ote mahinga kai. Rather than another rugby field. It can be low maintenance cost comons. Rewild the city. Nature does best when we leave it alone.

1626 - Sam Bunn

I don't believe enough finance has been put towards recreational areas - particularly in the Halswell area which is experiencing significant growth!

>>>

I'd like to see more resources put towards sports and recreation

1658 - Justin Fletcher (Predator Free Waimairi Beach)

[Parks > Otakaro Avon River Corridor Regeneration]

It is great to see some ecology programmes seeing significant capital funding such as the Ōtākaro Avon River Corridor, Urban Forest Implementation and Red Zone Ecological Restoration. It would be great if the budget for acquisition of ecologically important property could be increased.

168 - Brydie Lauder

not enough emphasis on this! this all needs more funding!

1687 - Sarah Cooper

[Transport>Cycleways (Capital)]

New Brighton needs a focus. Sumner got a beautiful bike path but New Brighton is the very poor cousin

1692 - David Bluck

Give more money to this [Parks, heritage or the coastal environment]

1702 - Laura Xavier

[Libraries > Libraries (Capital)] [Community Facilities > Halls & Community Facilities (Capital)] [Transport > Roads (Capital)] [Grants & Funding > Arts Centre Funding]

More money should be invested in parks,

1814 - Jenny Atkin

I've seen a lot of projects that I don't really know how essential they are at this current time. I believe we need to explore ways to reduce costs and focus only in the core aspects that are absolutely required in the present, and postpone unnecessary things for the future.

1832 - Greer Nakaroti

most Cantabrians love & utilise the outdoors- put more resources in here to draw in more tourists/ domestic immigrants

1889 - Grace Rotherham

Increase Green spaces in our city!

1904 - Maria Lee

[Grants & Funding - Arts Centre Funding], [Libraries - Libraries (Operations)]

City's need public services such as libraries, parks, and the arts, don't cut their funding.

1927 - Donna Gillatt

13.4% on parks, heritage and coastal environments of which you the local and national government are trying to shut us away from.

>>>

This is public land, stop closing it off and selecting only certain groups that can enjoy and use it.

1960 - James Beck (The River Ōpāwaho)

[Grants & Funding > Other]

Creating pathways for community organisations - like The River Ōpāwaho - to partner with the council to achieve its goals is an essential aspect of achieving these outcomes. Making sure that there is funding available and processes established to be able to partner with community organisations is essential. Especially for the Urban Forrest plan and the Food Resilience Policy.

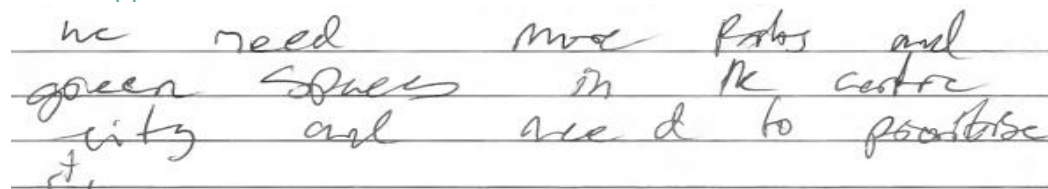

1977 - Nicholas Lealand

Parks are green spaces for connection and recreation. No money should be spent on environmentally degrading recreational activities like golf.

1996 - Iain Nicholls

This is an area where efficiencies should be sought.

2018 - Pippa Marshall

we need more parks and green spaces in the centre city and need to prioritise it.

2143 - Vicky Anderson

More on park and coastal environment.

2183 - Hali Stauffer

[Spending > Te Kaha)

Te Kaha project is not a wise allocation of funds. It's a sign of poor city planning and seems to completely disregard community needs. Instead, resources should be directed towards expanding green spaces for community use, promoting activities beneficial to our health and the health of the natural environment, such as enhancing bike lanes and initiatives to encourage outdoor engagement. We should prioritise investments that foster well-being and community participation rather than limiting, exclusive, expensive projects.

2257 - Tammy Beale

More focus on environment

2304 - Stephanie Burke

This stuff doesn't need to be done fast - good things take time, put a little aside each budget.

2327 - Charles Shaw

Libraries, parks and swimming pools need to be given priority as they enhance mental, physical or spiritual health.

2353 - Anthea Lees

[Recreation, Sports & Events > Pools (Capital)]

Please invest more in public spaces such as parks and outdoor swimming pools. New Brighton is a great example. A brand new playground has provided lots of play areas for young families.

2368 - Alaine Percasky

I am not against the Parks, heritage or the coastal environment program, but this should be put on hold until the economy is more stable.

24 - Kaaren Mathias

[Transport > Cycleways]

However I believe we are proposing to underspend on active transport - more money should be assigned to these and also to parks and recreation opportunities

>>>

More funding is great

2429 - Neil Ricken

Parks spending should be limited to the maintenance of existing spaces.

2445 - Joseph Davidson-Labout

more spending on environment

2462 - Mark Cox

also the amount of parks spent on areas in Merivlae and Fendalton is laughable.

2475 - William Porter

Need more money to our parks and especially dogs parks

2507 - Bronte Barber

- It is interesting to believe that it will cost over 820mil to main and develop parks/foreshore spaces - I would like to hope this is the absolute maximum and not all will be needed as the CCC work efficiently to keep costs low.

2519 - Charlotte Withington

[Parks>Playground & Play Equipment]

Walter Park is one that comes to mind as somewhere investment should be made to encourage building and infrastructure in the surrounding streets. There are new homes going up in the this area that is close to town and major bus routes. To encourage further residents to this area improving the playground and park conditions will significantly increase the desire for people to live there rather than further out with more travel requirements.

2585 - Susan Macann

more on parks, heritage and coastal environment

2603 - Ron Brooks

the parks are ok now as is heritage and environment.

2682 - Scott Savage

While having pretty flowers in parks is nice to look at, maybe cutting back for a few years on the nice to haves means we could focus on implementing the must haves and help keep costs down.

>>>

Reduce costs where possible. E.g. if it ain't broke, don't change it (At least until we get ourselves out of the s@&t with debt)

2690 - Robbie Dobbie

Parks & Heritage yes, Coastal need more detail.

2709 - Matthew Gallen

Should spend more on improving residents quality of life in improving services, parks, and recreation services

2750 - Helen Johnstone

While it is great to see many projects around our parks & costal environment, maybe some of these could be delayed or pared back to reduce costs.

2758 - Christopher Seay

Allocate more funding to preserve our unique biodiversity and increase tree canopy throughout the city.

2764 - Chris Ford (Disabled Persons Assembly (DPA))

Parks and foreshore

Disabled people enjoy the opportunity to get out and about within the city's parks and foreshores and greatly value having these places and spaces made more accessible and inclusive so that we, alongside non-disabled people, can enjoy them on an equitable basis.

DPA supports the spending proposals outlined in the LTP covering park upgrades including to the Ōtakaro Avon River Corridor, Te Nukutai o Tapoa – Naval Point development, Akaroa Wharf and Takapūneke Reserve.

DPA also supports funding for the parks rolling renewal programme covering playgrounds, pathways, and green assets. We have submitted on many of the above projects calling for them to be built to accessible, universal design standards.

Recommendation 5: that all new park and foreshore facilities be built to universal design and best practice accessibility standards to ensure that they are fully accessible to everyone, including disabled people.

Recommendation 6: that Council proactively engage with the disabled community over all park and foreshore facility upgrades as part of a co-design process.

2823 - Aurora Garner-Randolph (School Strike For Climate Ōtautahi)

Parks and the coastal environment must be protected. Lawns should be mowed less, regardless of the money saved by doing so.

2835 - Emma Rodriguez Dos Santos

I would like to see more spend on coastal/parks services

2841 - Hunter Craig

[Parks > Heritage (Capital)]

I'm part of the rock climbing community and the Port Hills are fantastic, I don't believe those are maintained by the council though, but some funding to the bolting community might be nice. Bolts keep us safe while enjoying the outdoors

2922 - Zak Morrison

- Promote Green Infrastructure: Invest in green infrastructure projects that integrate nature into urban planning and design, such as green roofs, rain gardens, and permeable pavements, to enhance ecological resilience and reduce environmental impacts. - Community Engagement and Education: Support initiatives that raise awareness about the importance of biodiversity and green spaces, and involve the community in planning and conservation activities. This includes educational programs and volunteer opportunities. Allocating more funding towards the implementation of the biodiversity strategy and the enhancement of urban green spaces is essential for creating a sustainable, livable, and resilient Christchurch. By prioritizing these areas in the Draft LTP 2024-2034, the Christchurch City Council can ensure that the city continues to thrive ecologically, socially, and economically. The benefits of such investments will be enjoyed by current and future generations, making Christchurch a model for sustainable urban development.

294 - Michael Brantley

Delay all park development

>>>

Delay. Not the time ...$$$

297 - Michael Crabtree

Reduce costs

304 - Timothy Sjoberg

I would like to see CCC spend more investment into the Parks and environment sector.

3099 - Stephen Miller

Minimize expenditure wherever possible. NZ has more than enough open space and natural beauty to satisfy anyone.

3123 - Kate Markman

These need to be a focus, especially as the garden city

3126 - Janel Atlas

So important.

340 - David Wilkinson

[Parks > Tree Canopy]

some of the capex in parks could be deferred whilst cost pressures are on, but not the urban forests program - this is important to make life bearable in the summer in the future, I would extend large tree planting to all streets too, perhaps offer to cost share with residents, giving those who don't want a large tree outside their house an option out.

3415 - Allan Taunt

The natural environment is important for the wellbeing of people in our city. Ōtautahi is "The Garden City", if we are to be honest, we have much mahi to do to live up to this title. We must make a far stronger commitment to preserving and re-establishing the natural environment. This challenge has been made even more difficult due to the effects of climate change (the port hills fires are testament to that). I am not knowledgeable in the funding required, but I strongly recommend you understand the requests from environmental groups that present submissions.

3464 - Serena Smith

Spend more on this, obviously for climate change reasons. This is important 100%.

347 - Catherine Webber

[Spending > Te Kaha, Capital Programme (General)], [Libraries > Libraries (Capital)], [Resource Recovery > Resource Recovery (Capital)]

The spending of $870 million on parks, heritage & the coastal environment, $286 million on Te Kaha, $140 million on libraries, $137 million on solid waste and resource recovery is good but surely if you tried a lot harder these things could be maintained without rates increases.

>>>

Parks, Foreshore and Heritage are some of my favourite things and I feel that no expense should be spared to maintain Parks, Foreshore and Heritage but surely this can be done without rates rises. Perhaps there needs to be a crackdown on freedom campers, charge them exorbitant fines for their freedom camping in prohibited areas. Use money from freedom camping fines to put towards these costs. Stop spending outrageous amounts on EV's & electric motorcycles for Park Rangers. Increase camping ground fees. You may be proposing raising rates yet I see that you still only pay much of your public facing staff the minimum living wage of $26 per hour, which in itself is a disgrace. I don't know how people are expected to survive on so little.

3472 - Erica Alexander

Focus more on parks and recreation as it'll help fund tourism

3480 - Martin Robertson

Parks and heritage good. Not convinced about coastal

353 - John Mayhew

No more increased spending. Reduce.Reduce.Reduce.

3541 - Ashleigh Smith

There should be more funding in this.

3573 - Joyce Yager

I suggest additional funding for parks, heritage, and coastal environments and transport funding should be much more heavily weighted to emissions reduction projects (e.g., cycleways and bus infrastructure).

>>>

I suggest much more spending for coastal environments, including projects for community education and community marine environment engagement.

3598 - Kyle Sutherland

Increase funding for parks and foreshore.

3616 - Mark Webster

This is important, but needed much greater clarity around exactly WHAT you are going to do

3652 - Andrew Hamlin

Again I have mentioned in previous comments that parks services can be reduced. The public will just have to harden up and get use to the fact that these things cost quite allot of money to maintain so we should understand that the council will do what's necessary to help make the city run more efficiently.

I would say more on parks and heritage as christchurch has the potential to become nzs first national city park and in order to do this focus should remain on biodiversity enhancement and community involvement with our natural environment.

3694 - Jane Pairman

More access to outdoor recreation - it is so beneficial for mental and physical well being.

3700 - Ian Cumberpatch

Parks, Foreshore and Heritage are all important - a balance approach over the longer period is required to provide for future population growth.

3800 - Rachel Barker

In summary, I support operational priorities of: >>> Parks,

>>>

Spend MORE than $870b on parks, heritage & coastal environment (the percent is too low!)

>>>

Fully support expenditure on parks, heritage and coastal environment

3825 - Justin Barton

Some of the big projects may need re-evaluating for changes in demographics and preparing for another global financial crisis/uncertainty.

3831 - Rick Jones

Parks and Heritage and the Coastal Environment are important to the city ... but "not at any cost"
Plant more trees rather than cutting them down. Investigate all spending and always ask: Do we need to do this?

3879 - Douglas Horrell

Please spend more on >>>, parks

3893 - Joe Pope

More efficiency and long term thinking

3895 - Margaret Trotter

Our parks, >>> are the soul of this city. People need to be able to access these facilities and they need to be affordable.

3915 - Redacted Redacted

Capital would be better spent on >>> parks, heritage and the coastal environment.

3931 - David Moorhouse

Our parks and public gardens are the lungs and living rooms of the city, ensure they are funded adequately

3942 - Soongseok Yoon

Keeping the heritage and other environment can be connected with the high number of traveller and visitor to Christchurch.

3961 - Paul Robertson

Rationalise parks etc, maintain what have, forget about additional cost indigenous plantings, and other politically motivated plans.

3990 - Malcolm Smeaton

For example are new park developments really necessary?

3995 - Leah Callaghan

Comments: More money should be spent on parks, heritage in particular + Coastal environment

3996 - David Lough

* HALVE PARKS .

4013 - Benjamin Kelly

There needs to be more funding for parks.

4264 - Sam Newton (Recreation Aotearoa)

[Parks > Other]

86. Recreation Aotearoa cautions against deferred maintenance and upgrades of playgrounds, specifically. It is essential that planned investments in public toilets, walkways and connecting green spaces are implemented as planned. This especially the case for areas that will see large increases in demand for recreation infrastructure, within the term of the LTP

87. Recreation also submits its concern that cost escalation in undertaking these investments may be inadequately accounted for. Recent observations from around the motu, in both the PARS sector and others, have demonstrated that inflation in materials, labour and debt-servicing has placed considerable budgetary pressure on long term projects

[Full Attachment Available]

510 - Eleanor Sim

[Strategic Direction > Additional Efficiencies], [Grants & Funding > Arts Centre], [Libraries (Operations)]

We MUST continue to priorities, parks, libraries and places such as the Arts Centre. The Council staff do a GREAT JOB !!!! I understand that these things cost money and money is limited. Efficiencies must be sought at all levels where possible. There must be activities/ facilities that add to the heart of a city.

540 - Ross Allen

[Three Waters>Other; Transport>Other]

Too much on parks, heritage, coastal. These projects should be spread out over a longer period as they are not nearly as urgent as three waters and transport.

>>>

[Strategic Direction>Climate Change]

$820m on parks and foreshore over 10 years is a nice to have not an essential high priority. We already have excellent parks and gardens etc, unlike roads and three waters. I support all the projects listed, but not necessarily all to be completed within ten years. Also, the Councils earlier decision to fast track coastal adaptation plans for climate change is now turning out to be unnecessary. The impact of climate change is now recognised by scientists to be a very long term gradual process which means we have much longer to develop our plans as previously thought. A longer planning period would also allow much better public acceptance, and would also allow more time for improved data and evidence to support the plans. Rushed planning is likely to end up having to be redone later, hence money wasted.

579 - Rosemary Neave

[Parks > Tree Canopy]

We need to Increase park/parklets and canopy cover in the city to reduce heat, add amenity, especially in the east. Money from intensification to go to fund to support more parks/parklets

>>>

2. Increasing park/parklets and canopy cover in the city to reduce heat, add amenity, especially in the east.

618 - Natalie Dixon

East side looks terrible some days, north linwood park etc. Other parts of town get more care. Spend looks realistic

666 - Stephen Palfrey

Reduce the number of parks and reserves

708 - John Allen

more spending

905 - Redacted Redacted

[Three Waters - Three Waters (Operations)]

I think that too much is being spent on water and not enough on parks etc

Not Stated

1100 - Alistair McKinnon

Really hard to comment on the need for this based on the data in the plan, what is the demographic information, how much anticipated demand is there. These are nice to have and hard to argue against, however, do we 'need' them right now?

1497 - Alice Zhu

Why so much money on parks?

158 - Nathan Foord

Depends on exactly what the 860m gets us

1816 - Sarah Cook

Great resources for all to use if spent well

1864 - Kylie Williams

When do people have time to enjoy the outdoors most of the little people have that dont have 6 figure salaries are all working to make ends meet an pay rates that keep going up an get penalties when they miss a payment cause food and gaving a roof over their families heads is more important.

2055 - Joanne Byrne

Environment is key and should be a priority

2309 - Margaret Austin

Make sure we are a green city with lost of recreational spaces

2369 - Rachele Allan

Don't skimp on the environment or heritage.

2504 - Sarah van der Burch

Keep our environment as protected as possible for the next generations.

311 - Peter Clark

Stop trying to create some fantasy city that we can't afford.

3371 - Malcolm Frost

Generally the council seems to do an excellent job.

3498 - Lucas Tomasi

We need to put as much funding as we can into parks, cultral heritage and coastline. If we want tourists to spend as much time and money in Christchurch as possible there needs to be something for them to do.

3499 - Allana Paulin

It seems like a waste of money pulling down much loved older parks to replace them with boring new ones

46 - Karin Lange

Cannot possibly overdo/overspend on these!

482 - Graham Townsend

Critical infrastructure includes a liveable climate. Therefore reducing GHGs must have top priority.

730 - Doug Allen

Why is the costal environment so high, is this climate mitigation ?

742 - Mark Holland

Cant afford new shiny stuff

982 - Craig Newbury

Stay within strong value based budgets please.

Parks - Other

General Comments

245 submissions were received addressing Parks – Other.

31 comments supported, and 11 comments opposed.

144 comments made suggestions for what could be done differently, and 79 comments provided general feedback on Parks – Other.

Officer Response

Submissions supporting the LTP Proposal for funding parks:

Most submissions were supportive of the proposed funding for parks. Various comments and suggestions were received and some requests for further initiatives for improvements and intensification to be considered.

Submissions opposing the LTP Proposal:

One submission suggesting reducing the number of parks and reserves in Ōtautahi Christchurch.

Submissions suggesting alternatives to the LTP:

Some areas identified as important to fund within proposed LTP funding were:

- Community gardens/food foraging
- The need for a management plan to reduce fire risk in the Port Hills
- Equity of parks provision

Some areas for cost saving were also suggested:

- Building fewer bridges
- Reducing expenditure in Akaroa since two large projects are being progressed there (Akaroa Wharf and Takapūneke reserve)
- Taking a longer timeframe than 10 years to progress parks projects
- Drawing on more partnering with community groups
- Use peninsula-based contractors for Te Pātaka o Rākaihautū Banks Peninsula

The areas identified as important to fund are already within the proposed LTP. Specifically:

- Community gardens are supported by our community rangers and the Urban Forest Plan is also considering the planting of fruit trees and providing food foraging areas
- The Port Hills plan will include management of fire risk
- All parks planning processes take equity into account

The areas identified for cost saving are areas already considered by parks staff and implemented where possible. For example, our community rangers partner with community groups wherever possible and where we can, we try to draw on peninsula-based contractors.

Support

1436 - Victoria Andrews

I support the Council funding the Takapūneke reserve.

1526 - Ken Paulin (Akaroa Heritage Park Trust)

AKAROA HERITAGE PARK-- LONG BAY RD

1 The Park Trust is developing a heritage recreational reserve for the benefit of residents and visitors to the Peninsula. To date all special projects have been funded without asking for Council funding. Shelters built and composting toilet, as well as extensive plantings and walking tracks. Since 2012 we have had a Memorandum of Understanding between the Park Trust and the Council in which the Council assists with the maintenance , mainly grass cutting .

2. The park connects the Council's walkways, providing stopping places with full facilities, shelters, picnic tables and seats, and toilets, etc.

3. The Park provided for physical activities, in a beautiful natural environment with magnificent harbour and hill views.

4. There is a strong emphasis on education and environmental activities for children. Children's groups have their own areas where they plant and maintain their area of restoring forest.

THE NEW ENTRANCE, CAR PARK AND SAFE ACCESSWAY TO LONG BAY RD

1. What the Heritage Park has to offer is not obvious from the entrance. The proposal is to have this information on a sign board just inside the Park, and tidy up the fencing and planting to enhance the approach to the park.
2. The Heritage Park, and Akaroa Walkways, are seeing increasing usage , and the rough section of road side , is inadequate as a car park, and the exit to Long Bay Rd is dangerous.
3. Haphazard parking on an unmarked surface, can result in poor utilisation of the area. Sealing the area, and marking out the parks, will fully utilise the limited area.
4. Uphill exit from the existing parking area to the Long Bay Rd is dangerous. By restricting entry and exit with appropriate signage, this danger will be eliminated.
5. The Heritage Park Trust, and the Maurice White Native Forest Trust had made an application to the Council for grants to assist with the work over the last few years as the demand for a useable car park has increased. Council Staff recommended that the correct avenue for the funds request was through the Annual Plan process as the Heritage Park is a Council Recreational Reserve under the Reserve Act.
6. The Project has the full support of the Maurice White Native Forest Trust ((Hinewai) , and the Native Forest Restoration Trust (Curry Reserve). The Heritage Park Trust works closely with these Native Restoration Trusts to enhance environmental issues. A joint use car park will further develop this co-operation.
7. As there was a need to tidy up the rough section of Road Reserve used as an informal carpark, the Heritage Park Trust resolved to commence the project using its own funds.

To date it has formed and lightly metalled the car park, and marked out the parks in paint on the metal surface. (See photo attached) The frontage has been tidied, and the information sign board designed, and about to be erected. A barrier is about to be built, separating the uphill section of the car park from the Long Bay Rd, and a safe entry/ exit created.

COUNCIL'S LONG TERM PLAN

The request is that Council retain the metalling , dressing, sealing and marking out of the Heritage Park Car Park in the Long Term Plan, included as item 61795 of Heritage Parks, Planned Hard Surface Renewals.

As the existing metalled surface will unravel under turning traffic, the sooner it is sealed the better. However, the Heritage Park Trust will maintain the metal surface and try to organise the parking, but it will never cater for the increasing need by users of the Park and walkers , until it is sealed and parking bays permanently marked out. Sealing will also enable the exit to the Long Bay to be defined, to produce safe traffic movements.

1596 - Graeme & Margaret Bluett

[Grants & Funding > Orana Park Funding]

Maintaining open space and parks for recreation, enjoyment and well being is essential as well as habitat for animals, such as Orana Park.

161 - Sam Apps

Agree

2087 - Emma Norrish (Waipapa Papanui-Innes-Central Community Board)

[Grants & Funding > Other]

The Board is grateful for being able to effectively support our community through the continued funding of community grants and community development which facilitate a large number of groups and projects, to help address the issues that have required these initiatives. Community Funding and Partnerships: An example of the importance of maintaining the funding to partner with our community is the work being undertaken on the revitalisation of Petrie Park. The local community group, in conversation with residents, is doing amazing mahi to activate this space and the Board continues to support them to fulfil the vision for the park. We would strongly indicate that the support this community receives through board funding, and the time and expertise of the Parks

Unit which is critically important, should not be compromised by any aspect of the LTP. The project is an exemplar of what community can do, and how it can be made better, just by maintaining responsible, socially conscious levels of spending.

2269 - Lyn Leslie (Te Pātaka o Rākaihautū Banks Peninsula Community Board)

The Board supports maintaining and continued support of the historical aspects of Te Pātaka o Rākaihautū Banks Peninsula including but not limited to: Takapūneke /Akaroa/Okains and Lyttleton Museums. With the change of the school syllabus Te Pātaka o Rākaihautū Banks Peninsula has seen an increase in schools using Te Pātaka o Rākaihautū Banks Peninsula resources to tell the early history of New Zealand.

2312 - Christian Schipani

Christchurch is the most beautiful, clean, well kept city I've ever lived in. I am satisfied with the amount of events currently provided and attracted here. I care about climate adaptation, public transportation improvements, and care of our beautiful parks and surrounding nature.

2338 - Robin Schulz (Coronation Reserve Residents Group)

We support the completion of the partly developed Coronation Reserve. To not provide and complete the project will be a mismanagement of ratepayer funds. We congratulate the Council on the work and expenditure over the last 2 years and is gratefully appreciated. This work need to be completed in the next 2 years. We support the following line in the budget 405 Coronation Reserve Development 226 100 100 - - - - - 426 We assume that is $426,000 over the next 3 years.

2344 - Sarah Elicker (Te Huarahi Linwood Avenue School)

We strongly support the redevelopment of Linwood Park and would like to be involved in the decision-making process.

2387 - Jed O'Donoghue

Very pleased to see capital remaining for the Naval Point redevelopment. This has proved to be a boon for the area's development for the hosting of Sail GP.

2520 - Graeme Fraser (Diamond Harbour Community Association)

In particular I support the following capital items which will benefit my suburb: p187 ID:74021 Stoddart Point Youth Play Space Development p191 ID:65004 Stoddart Point Reserve and Kirk Park - Play Space Renewal p199 ID:60387 Diamond Harbour Village Improvements I hope to see some of these items spent in Diamond Harbour: p187 ID:65873 Regional Parks Development for Port Hills & Banks Peninsula Delivery Package p186 ID:61744 Programme - Regional Parks Port Hills & Banks Peninsula New Development p187 ID:65817 Port Hills & Banks Peninsula - Track & Reserve

Development p187 ID:75712 Port Hills and Banks Peninsula Habitat Restoration p188 ID:51300 Banks Peninsula Reserve Committee Developments p187 ID:61957 Plant Nursery Developments And I full support the following expenditure and would like to see it extended beyond 2027: P186 ID:408 Head to Head Walkway

>>>

In particular, we support the following capital items which will benefit our suburb: p187 ID:74021 Stoddart Point Youth Play Space Development p191 ID:65004 Stoddart Point Reserve and Kirk Park - Play Space Renewal p199 ID:60387 Diamond Harbour Village Improvements We support continued funding for the Head to Head Walkway which could bring economic and recreational benefits for our residents.

2583 - Lois Moore

parks are essential for public health and well being and serve all ages groups in our community. These should be fully maintained.

2639 - Callum Ward (Waihoru Spreydon Cashmere Heathcote Community Board)

2. The Waihoru Board wishes to ensure operational spending set aside for the Port Hills Plan is retained, and requests that a holistic model of working alongside the community, such as the Coastal Hazards working party is considered.

>>>

The Board supports the following matters concerning Parks Facilities, which is a key Community Board Plan priority: • Completion of the Hoon Hay Park pavilion project

2647 - Penny Carnaby

Support: • In support of Council working towards a green liveable city and advocates that all goals relating to climate resilience, protecting and regenerating the environment (especially indigenous biodiversity), water bodies, and tree canopy, apply to all of Banks Peninsula (including the Port Hills) as well as urban Christchurch. • In support of the following strategy documents that underpin the Draft LTP especially where nature-based solutions and enhancing indigenous biodiversity have been given preference: Ōtautahi Urban Forests plan; Te Pātaka o Rākahautū/Banks Peninsula Destination Management plan; Banks Peninsula Community Board Plan 2023-25; and Whaka- Ora/Healthy Harbour Plan.

2655 - Michele Mccaw

Love Travis wetlands.

2658 - Finn Jackson (Summit Road Society)

The Future of the Port Hills

The Summit Road Society strongly supports the development of a comprehensive, integrated Port Hills Plan. Having advocated for this over the past several Long Term Planning cycles, we are pleased to note that the Parks and Foreshore Activity Plan states that this will be developed over 2024. An integrated plan is essential to protecting the landscape, ecological, recreation and heritage values of the Port Hills, while accelerating ecological restoration, reducing anti-social behaviour and improving water quality in Te Whakaraupō/Lyttelton Harbour and the Ōpāwaho/Heathcote River. As a large landowner on the Port Hills, we look forward to being involved in this process.

[Full attachment available]

2836 - Jillian Frater

357 Naval Point Development Plan.

307 - Rata Jamieson

[Parks > Tree Canopy], [Transport > Transport (Operations), Footpaths & Streetscapes]

It is good to increase the amount of green space in the city as it helps reduce urban heat islands, and tree lined streets reduce traffic speed - which not only provides safer roads for cyclists, pedestrians, and children, but also slower traffic produces fewer GHGs - reducing carbon impact.

3129 - Skye Arnopp

We love hagley park, please keep supporting.

3145 - Leah Wild

Keep up the good work.

>>>

Really appreciate the work done to keep our parks as beautiful as they are.

3166 - Arwen Sommer

[Parks > Tree Canopy], [Grants & Funding > Arts Centre Funding]

I mostly like everything proposed in the Parks, heritage and the coastal environment aspect of the plan. I am very proud of our cities parks. I think continuing and expanding co-governance with Ngai Tahu regarding parks, river and coastal environments is absolutely key to making the most of these projects.

3235 - Thomas Caspari

Support schools with their environmental education programs.

3501 - Malcolm Long (Ōpāwaho Heathcote River Network)

New proposed level of service for LTP 2024-34	OHRN Comment
Parks and Foreshore
Greenspace increases with intensified population growth in urban development areas. Target: Neighbourhood parks are provided in urban areas at a rate of at least 1.9 ha/1000 population	Support However, funding must be increased to enable the creation of neighbourhood parks arising from brownfield developments and the application of Medium Density Residential Standards. See reference below to Project 61731.
Community Parks are managed and maintained. Target: Maintenance Plan key performance indicators are 90% achieved	Support Community groups maintaining community parks and reserves look forward to greater positive interaction with Council staff.

8. We support the allocation made to 61751 - Ferrymead Park Regional Development. This is an excellent project that will protect and enhance biodiversity within an important saltmarsh restoration.

3716 - Phillipa O'Loughlin

Should be a major priority.

3729 - Jennifer Ross

Key recreational resource that all people can access

[Coders note: relates to parks, heritage and coastal environment]

4016 - Joanne Zervos

Parks - support Q&E# master plan items, including Play ground (listed)
Rawhiti Domain hard surfaces overdue, SS Estuary Edge,
Sth. B. Community Centre Car Park Renewal, Cockayne reserve car park renewal, Cygnet St pipeline, more investment into Thomson Park - Play ground & facility for Freedom Campers.

4264 - Sam Newton (Recreation Aotearoa)

72. Recreation Aotearoa would also like to acknowledge the Christchurch City Council for their support and contribution towards the Greater Christchurch Spaces & Places plan, in partnership with Sport Canterbury and adjacent Local Territorial Authorities. Committing to and adhering to such a plan avoids duplication, enhances recreational opportunities, and ensures efficiency of expenditure at a regional level.

73. We also acknowledge the significant effort and commitment that has been made by Christchurch City Council in the formulation of the Community Facilities Network Plan and the various Park Management Plans.

>>>

81. Recreation Aotearoa submits its support for the $ 820 million investment in developing community and regional parks (Page 32). We also commend and support the underpinning of this investment by Spaces & Places plan and the Parks plans . The proposed investment will improve the availability of opportunities for active recreation.

>>>

82. Recreation Aotearoa is particularly supportive of >>> the Parks renewal programme for >>> green assets.

>>>

85. However, we can't help but notice and express our concern that there exist significant differences between what is documented in the Greater Christchurch Spaces & Places Plan and what is proposed in the LTP. Recreation Aotearoa submits that further consideration be given to incorporating much more, if not all, of the Spaces and Places Plan into the LTP.

>>>

99. As noted previously, we have significant concerns that material aspects of the Greater Christchurch Spaces and Places Plan and Parks Plans have been excluded from the Draft LTP. To the extent that this is due to the proposal to not increase the level of rating for asset renewals by what is called by the existing Financial Strategy, we would oppose this

[Full Attachment Available]

850 - Rhondda Poon

I love what the council and community is doing at the coast and the Travis wetlands.

852 - Ben Tyas

[Strategic Direction > Climate Change], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Strategic Transport]

Given the damning stat that Christchurch's on road emissions only decreased 1% since 2023, there should be significantly more attention to encouraging lower emission travel such as focus on safe cycling lanes rather than improving roading infrastructure which will only encourage more unsustainable vehicle activity. Acting on the urban forest plan is an excellent step and maintaining momentum allowing large scale roll out will be an excellent outcome for the city. These two points should see long term returns for the city, reducing the need for expensive climate change adaption and associated costs.

Yes, the parks teams are delivering exceptional outcomes for the city.

Oppose

1346 - Bianca McKinnon-Gee

Very important, but do we need the Naval Point reserve work right now? I think not.

2183 - Hali Stauffer

Parks, as green spaces, are essential for community connection and recreation, but it's imperative that funds are not allocated to environmentally degrading activities like golf.

2540 - Jocelyn and Caroline Papprell and Syddall

We do think some aspects of the capital programme are fairly prioritised but object the cutting of the spend on the purchase of land for neighbourhood parks. As we densify our city there is increasing need for open space, places with trees for apartment dwellers to escape to and enjoy. The purchase of vacant land for such purposes used to be a key strategy for CCC – we are disappointed that funds for that have been reduced.

2603 - Ron Brooks

Parks are expensive enough stop roping everything off.

2705 - Ian Le Page

3/ (1436) Takapuneke Reserve This reserve is not required to have further upgrading as the need for this cannot be justified within the present economic climate. The proposal will only put hardship on existing businesses in Akaroa need continued grants to compete with the present businesses. Funding as proposed in the DLTP should be withdrawn.

3061 - David Hawke (Halswell Residents Association (Inc.))

- a. Cancel Project 61789 Carrs Reserve Club Relocation, which has $190k allocated for 2024/25 and $3.97m for 2026/27.
 - i. The amount allocated for this project steadily creeps up, but nothing seems to happen. Originally the club was to move to Conservators Road in Macleans Island, but in the last Long-Term Plan we were told that the club's land use consent application for the move "remains on hold" while issues raised by Orana Park and Isaac Wildlife Conservation Trust "are worked through". Nothing seems to have happened.
 - ii. Immediately next door to the Kart track is a greyhound track. Relocation had $302k allocated in the 2021-31 Long-Term Plan, but this has disappeared from the current Draft.
 - iii. The Club has a lease until 2054. We think City Council should walk away from this project for the purposes of this Long-Term Plan in the same way that it has walked away from relocating the adjacent greyhound track, and leave the club where it is.

Action requested (3): Remove funding for Carrs Reserve Club Relocation (saving $4.2m);

3626 - Connie Christensen

Naval point can be cut.

3658 - Tom Logan

a. Cancel Project 61789 Carrs Reserve Club Relocation, which has $190k allocated for 2024/25 and $3.97m for 2026/27.

i. The amount allocated for this project steadily creeps up, but nothing seems to happen. Originally the club was to move to Conservators Road in Macleans Island, but in the last Long-Term Plan we were told that the club's land use consent application for the move "remains on hold" while issues raised by Orana Park and Isaac Wildlife Conservation Trust "are worked through". Nothing seems to have happened.

ii. Immediately next door to the Kart track is a greyhound track. Relocation had $302k allocated in the 2021-31 Long-Term Plan, but this has disappeared from the current Draft.

iii. The Club has a lease until 2054. We think City Council should walk away from this project for the purposes of this Long-Term Plan in the same way that it has walked away from relocating the adjacent greyhound track, and leave the club where it is.

3787 - Deb Donnell

Stop all plans or work on the big projects, including >>> Te Nukutai o Tapoa – Naval Point development – $22 million >>> Takapūneke Reserve – $21 million

4037 - Jo Kidd

Need to cut back on unnecessary spending such as new car park on Horseshoe lake road near Lake Terrace Rd until important infrastructure is under control

736 - Helen Westrupp

Mostly, however please don't factor the Naval point as part of the renovations. As we've seen in the past week, dolphins are more important than boats so the area will never be a money maker.

Other

1 - Aidan Sheard

The WW2 bunkers on the peninsula should be set-up as a council owned tourism loop. Pay for the map and visit them.

1129 - John Clemens

Take every opportunity to acquire open space neighbouring or complementing existing Regional Parks, especially on Banks Peninsula including the Port Hills for environmental benefits to the public through the conservation of biodiversity.

1156 - Brian Hutchinson

On banks peninsula we have two of your so called parks on our boundry, the wastage of time and money we observe over our boundry is shocking. On kaitorite spit the block of land has an excessive cost to us rate payers, the whole area by the lake must 100s of thousands each year, about 3 weeks ago i observed 3 chch council 4x4 utes plus 1 side x side motor bike come all the way out from chch with only 4 people in total in them, they got out here about 9.40 than prombly had morning tea, for over half an hour, the first ute with the bike on the trailer sat for over 10 mins waiting for the next 2 to turn up, why he could not unload the bike is beyond me. So at 10. 15 am the first bike drove off than the other 2 waited another 10 minuites before moving about 1 km down the spit. Than they probly had lunch then by just after 3.00pm they were heading home. This whole area is currently getting brand new fencing being done replacing perfectly good fences, when there is very limited grazing any way. This whole shut up area is turning into a mass of long dead grass ,which has turned into an enviroment the wildlife don't even wont to inhabit, instead they destroy our land over the fence. Over at te oka the wastage of money and time being spent is just as bad, never of these areas are even used by the rate paying residents. The council obviously has a budget it gives to these areas along witha fencing budget which your rangers have to spend or they lose it next year. So there is a total waste of time and money in just these two areas,so if this is happening here what is the cost to the rate payers over all your parks and areas. As your workers try to create jobs and work for themselves.

>>>

We could save millions of dollars by having a truthfull assesment of the true costs on parks etc to the rate payers, compared to the actual usage these areas are attracting. As i might see 2 or 3 duck shooters but no public use the Kaitorete spit area all year round

1158 - Sheryl Elson

I feel the dog parks on the east side dont get a fear chop

1191 - Ava Johnson

Equitable Green Spaces and Food Forests: • Personal Experience: Recognizing the vital role of nearby green spaces in enhancing mental health and providing access to nature and foraging opportunities. • Proposed Solutions: • Increasing funding for parks, playgrounds, and natural reserves across all neighborhoods. • Implementing a comprehensive food forest program on public lands to promote community self-sufficiency and food security.

>>>

enhance green spaces in historically underserved neighborhoods. •

1254 - Nikki Thebault

More fenced dog parks

135 - Jac Call

Sustainable parks is what we should have, change our ways, lead in the world

1362 - Pablo Rodriguez

I would also love to see more green spaces in all neighborhoods, prioritizing parks, playgrounds and public food forests to aid food sovereignty.

1373 - Luke Lagan

Invest more in the design of public parks and spaces. Council approval process for external design is of parks and subdivisions is appalling and slow.

14 - Luke Chandler

[Coder note: Provided for context. "I would also like to see us spend more money in the South-West, specifically Halswell for public transport infrastructure, and in Riccarton where spending on new facilities is lower than the rest of the city."]

This includes turning the Sockburn Service Centre Site into a public green space, and the start of a green spine of trees covering the old site, Sockburn Park, Taggart Park, and potentially purchasing land and houses in Takaro Ave and Epsom Road to create a green corridor.

>>>

More needs to be spend in the South-West. EG a green spine in Sockburn

>>>

Look at creating a green spine in Sockburn, with maybe a dog park (the fence has already been build so minimal money to be spent on that)

146 - Ray Spring

Cemeteries. May I suggest that Sydenham Cemetery is handed over to a group who would re-wild it. Not move existing graves or memorials but would plant suitable trees to encourage bird life. Fence it off and have a predator control system set up by the group. Funding from Lotto, etc. Killing any stray cats and rats. It is only a small area and would serve as a useful indication of how to maintain cemeteries at low cost.

1474 - Céira Dernhagen

[Parks>Parks Spending (General)]; [Parks>Playgrounds & Play Equipment]; [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration>City Planning]; [Strategic Direction>Have we got the balance right?]

Equitable Green Spaces and Food Forests: All residents deserve access to nature. I support: Why it's personal I work at a desk. I am lucky enough to have a park very close to my house. My mental health, connection to nature and source of play is greatly enhanced by the green space outside my house. Foraging is one of my greatest pleasures and helps mitigate the soaring costs of groceries. Solutions Increased funding for parks, playgrounds, and natural reserves in every neighborhood. Development of a comprehensive food forest program on public lands, promoting community self-sufficiency and food security.

>>>

[Parks>Foreshore]

Coastal environments are our first line of defense when it comes to storms and floods. Healthy coastal environments are also vital for recreation and tourism. Parks are green spaces for connection and recreation. No money should be spent on environmentally degrading recreational activities like golf.

1499 - Ben Davidson

[Fees and Charges >Other]

[Parks>Other]

Recreation and open spaces should be free in every respect, this is the 'cost' to the city of building a city.

1532 - Kit Doudney (Avon-Heathcote Estuary Ihutai Trust)

Development of the Linwood paddocks as a tidal wetland

We request that the project that we believe is already underway by Council is accelerated to develop the paddocks into a key tidal wetland connected to and benefitting the ecology of the Estuary in the same way that we have been working with Council in the Charlesworth Reserve, adjacent to the paddocks. The Estuary Trust is willing to help the Council on the ground by facilitating community involvement. Work done now will be a significant contribution to the future resilience of the city in the face of climate change.

>>>

Fly-tipping mitigation at the Mugford stream gravel carpark – build a fence

The Estuary Trust suggests the construction of a fence between the graveled rest area and Mugford stream to reduce the amount of household rubbish dumped in the area. Once the fence is built the ideal would then be to carry out planting between the fence and the stream to make the area aesthetically pleasing and enhance the aquatic environment of the stream.

>>>

Estuary Rangers

We are concerned about increasing amounts of human activity around the Estuary edge. In general we welcome the growing popularity of the estuary and its edges as places for recreation. However, this is coming at an environmental cost. Our own research has shown widespread ignorance and avoidance of simple regulations regarding dog control and human access to restricted places. In some cases, this can be put right by informal comments by uniformed Council staff such as rangers, in other cases it needs strict enforcement where offending is serious and persistent. For these reasons we urge the City Council to appoint at least two rangers with specific roles related to the Estuary. We acknowledge that this idea will need further research by the Council, but we strongly believe that given current trends this will become a critical issue within the next 3 to 5 years.

1536 - Peter Knight

Have designated beaches to walk dogs. Beaches spoilt by so many dogs on beaches. Unable to enjoy a peaceful walk. Dogs Hegley Park, taking away enjoyment of a beautiful place. Provide designated place for dogs. This this not acted on by Rangers, no use having restrictions. I noticed both the beach and park have signs, No Dogs, no one complies. Don't you wants locals and tourists to enjoy these places.

>>>

The beaches are terrible places to go and enjoy nature. Dogs everywhere. No compliance control. Have designated areas for dogs.

1543 - John Mowat

[Transport > Footpaths & Streetscapes (Capital)], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

the coastal trail will give added access to parks heratage and the coastal enviroment

1546 - Robert Fleming

[Transport > Transport Operations]

I'd like to see more emphasis placed on a more liveable city, even as the population density increases as it will do in the future. This means a good mix of public spaces, especially green space. It also means providing good transport options for those who wish to move around the city using active and public transport. Focussing exclusively on moving vehicular traffic as a priority not only reduces accessibility for many, but also reduces amenity as more green space is required for building roads. Expensive, futile and will only increase carbon emissions, rather than reduce them as has been campaigned on.

1547 - Graham Allan

[Three Waters > Stormwater & Land Drainage (Capital)]

if possible spend more on parks and drainage and possibly artificial gronds

1549 - Jessica Saunders

[Fees and Charges > Other], [Community Facilities > Halls & Community Centres (Capital)]

We should look into ways that we can use our current assets within the local communities and if they can't be used as buildings then possibly community gardens and charge a small fee for use of the allotments. It would help people who may not have space to have gardens and raise funds to put back into the coffers.

1585 - Rachel Smith

[Libraries > Libraries (Capital)]

We need to provide spaces such as libraries and parks that are open to everyone

1685 - Bowen Abaraham

We should focus lots of money into lake roto kohatu and the canoe polo facility

1692 - David Bluck

Get golf courses to do land swaps with red zone land. For example Waimairi Beach golf course could be relocated to the red zone. A huge housing development could be allowed. The golf course could then get a larger area, a win win [Revenue > Disposal of Red Zoned Land]

1852 - Jessica Lamb

* investment needed on localising our food system so that we don't have to rely fossil-fuel transport from other countries & places around Aotearoa. This means supporting young farmers & farmers who want to transition to biodiverse farming but can't because it's too expensive.

1865 - Tina Bond

Please support our community gardens

1876 - Mika Clapson

Do you have any comments on operational spending:

Continue to prioritise common, public spaces. Increase funding for green spaces & biodiversity!

1964 - Martin Ward

My name is _____ and I am submitting in support of the Regional Parks team and urge Council to increase their budget to reflect the greatly increased demands on their time and expertise over recent years and improve its opportunity to attract co-funding from community groups such as the Te Awa Kura/Barnett Park re-greening group.

The Regional Rangers annual operational budget has averaged $8,571,243 over the last 10 years with the current year's budget lower than the FY 21.

However this is not the effective spend as wrapped into that sum are staff costs and overheads and basic equipment such as vehicles. The effective spend on actual physical outcomes such as contractors, materials, consumables etc that reflect outcomes on the ground has a budget hovering around the $850,000 mark annually. This has not increased materially for many years and handicaps the Ranger team from achieving the best outcomes for the Council and the community. Ranger staff numbers have also been increased to reflect the demands on that team but budgets have not increased in a corresponding way.

Let me give you three examples of the Rangers contribution to our city and the multiplier effect of their work:

1. The Ranger team supports many formal and informal community groups such as our own as well as 13 Reserve Committees, at least 5 Trusts and many, many volunteers. This support includes 'technical' guidance from specialists (ecology, invertebrates, birds, flora and aquatic life), supply of eco-sourced native seedlings and the protective equipment needed to get them established, help with fencing to keep out unwanted stock, access to watering systems and advice on identifying and protecting rare plants species. The support takes the form of staff time and partnership activity including some direct funding for specific projects that may not have been possible without volunteers support.
2. Over the recent years the Ranger team has had an extended workload still catching up after the earthquakes and previously under developed locations like Kaitorete Regional Park and land at Wairewa. The final work required to make safe the very popular loop track in Barnett Park was completed less than six months ago when abseilers levered or blasted earthquake loosened rocks from above the tracks.
3. The Rangers rely on voluntary support for planting and plant maintenance, walking track maintenance and in our case actual cash which subsidises Council's contribution to the removal of persistent weed species such as boneseed and banana passionfruit which kill or suppress native plant growth in the Park.

In conclusion I wish to emphasise that investment in your Ranger team achieves a greater outcome than if they worked alone as their output is multiplied by their willing and specialised support and encouragement of volunteer groups across the city. I use the term investment in its most direct form as the money you spend on the team attracts activity that multiplies their output significantly.

And I don't see an "Environmental Partnership" grant sum in the draft LTP.

I wish to speak to my submission and answer questions from Councillors.

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Civil Defense and Emergency Management]

1.2 Droughts also create greater fire risks. The risks to human and animal life and health from fires are greatly increased when there are large monocultures of highly flammable trees (most conifers, such as Pinus radiata, and all eucalypts) near homes, gardens, roads and recreational tracks. Large wildfires are also – ironically – large producers of greenhouse gases. They therefore have to be counted as part of New Zealand's contribution to global heating.

1.3 Christchurch has experienced two major wildfires in the same place, triggered by the same weather conditions and fuelled by the same tree species in the past seven years. Fighting and containing those fires was incredibly expensive (tens of millions of dollars), many lives were at risk (and one was lost), and the land had not recovered from the 2017 fire before the next one hit it.

Recommendation 1.2 In March 2024 CRC made a proposal to the city councillors and community boards whose rohe covers the Port hills on creating effective fire risk reduction and containment policies and practices for Christchurch city. The full proposal can be found below, at Appendix I. Urgent action along the lines proposed is required now to prevent even more catastrophic fire events.

2 Storms and floods

2.1 Christchurch has not experienced a significant ex-tropical cyclone storm event since 1968. Cyclone Giselle was the worst storm on record to hit New Zealand to that date. In addition to the lives lost by the sinking of the Wahine ferry, three more were lost on land. Many farm animals perished in the related flooding in Canterbury, and there was huge damage to housing, forestry, and water and electricity infrastructure. Insurance payouts were the highest in New Zealand history to that date - $3,500,000 in 1968 dollars (over $73 million in today's dollars).²

2.2 Global data on tropical cyclones shows that while in a heating climate their frequency is not increasing, their severity and their reach into higher latitudes (north and south) is increasing. So even if such cyclones remain a largely annual event for New Zealand, their impact can be much worse (as shown by Cyclone Gabrielle in 2023) and they could reach further south more often.

2.3 Cyclone Gabrielle provided yet more evidence that monocultural forestry plantations on steep and erosion prone hill slopes create a huge risk when battered by storms, in addition to any fire risk the plantations may pose in dry weather. The risk comes from trees blown over by the wind; from forestry slash which enters waterways and causes direct and indirect risks to life from collisions and damming; and from soil, rocks and vegetation sliding from hillsides which lose cover.

Recommendation 2 Christchurch City needs to evaluate the storm as well as the fire risk from monocultural plantations on hillsides, and then take immediate steps in high risk areas (especially those near houses and roads) to replace dangerous vegetation on public land with suitable safe vegetation. It should also encourage private landowners to do the same; and not allow any plantings of high risk vegetation on high risk sites ever again.

[Full attachment available]

1977 - Nicholas Lealand

Equitable Green Spaces and Food Forests: All residents deserve access to nature. I support: Why it's personal I work at a desk. I am lucky enough to have a park very close to my house. My mental health, connection to nature and source of play is greatly enhanced by the green space outside my house. Foraging is one of my greatest pleasures and helps mitigate the soaring costs of groceries. Solutions Increased funding for parks, playgrounds, and natural reserves in every neighborhood. Development of a comprehensive food forest program on public lands, promoting community self-sufficiency and food security.

2060 - Liv van Workum

The city would also benefit from further investment in community projects and for things such as urban gardens which all can reap the benefits from during this cost of living crisis.

2087 - Emma Norrish (Waipapa Papanui-Innes-Central Community Board)

A key document that guides the Board's advocacy for its community is the Community Board Plan 2023-25, which it engaged with the community on at the start of this electoral term, taking full account of the feedback received, before adopting the Plan. In regard to the LTP, the Board agreed with the community that it would advocate for funding to be included/retained for specific projects as detailed within the submission points for the next question. The projects are: for Shirley Community Reserve to be capable of being shaped to the community vision

>>>

Though the Board recognises the difficulty of finding appropriate space in the heart of Papanui for new recreational spaces, the Board requests that clearer provision for green and recreational space be made in the LTP in areas earmarked for new housing developments. It would be reassuring for residents if the Council demonstrated adequate planning and budgeting for youth spaces in this area in light of nearby intensification, with Papanui developing as a higher density area. While the Board supports fiscal restraint to assist current residents, it does not support it to the extent of depriving future residents and the younger generation of the opportunity to retain levels of community amenity that directly impact wellbeing and social connections. Although there is likely to be an effect on overall budgets for new recreation and play developments, it is also vital to retain provision for community grants and community development budgets to contribute to this essential area. Our youth require the support that comes from these budgets to create initiatives which benefit their safety and wellbeing. Organisations like Papanui Youth Development Trust and Te Ora Hou, which the Board has supported through the Strengthening Communities Fund, serve an important role with their work and facilities, when Council is limited in what it can deliver for youth in the area.

>>>

Shirley Community Reserve: Shirley Community Reserve (projects 20053 and 74005) is a specific dedicated priority in the Community Board Plan. The community has been consulted several times over the last three terms regarding their vision for the future of the reserve, where a well used Community Centre stood before the Canterbury earthquakes. The Board supports funding being brought forward to be in line with a forthcoming Board decision. This will provide certainty to the community that this key space will be duly invested in and developed so it can be successfully activated. There is understood to be additional funding for the Parks-funded component of Shirley Community Reserve, available in the parent programme (61782), subject to the nature of the decision on its future of the reserve, theoretically suggesting the possibility of commencing with Parks-funded components ahead of where the Facility funding (20053) is currently sitting. Again, the Board would like to see the Parks funding drawn down from the parent programme into a separate line item, so that it may be visible and subject to a current decision-making process.

2106 - Courtney Reid (Pūharakekenui Styx Living Laboratory Trust)

The trust is concerned that overall the strategic property acquisition budgets across the city are wholly inadequate, and as a result the Council is not able to keep pace with increasing land values and will therefore not be able to achieve the aspirations of the open space Strategy, Biodiversity Strategy or Styx Vision.

2143 - Vicky Anderson

Is it necessary to have e.g. a Tree expert present when tree roots are in harms way? Can't the tree expert educate the workers or the key foreman on what to do? Again, frustrating seeing people present hardly doing any work. Wasteful.

2183 - Hali Stauffer

2. Equitable Green Spaces and Food Forests: Access to green spaces is vital for mental well-being and community resilience. As someone who values nature and foraging, I advocate for:- Increased funding for parks and natural reserves in every neighbourhood. - Development of community food forests on public lands to enhance food security and promote sustainability.

2214 - Paul Kruger

more green projects

2237 - Pepita Griffiths

Investments into Regenerative Agriculture and small time local market gardening initiatives to increase food resilience and local sovereignty, as oppose to Supermarket monopoly on food prices + access.

2246 - Karen Johnston

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > City Planning], [Other/Special Interest Topics > Civil Defense and Emergency Management]

We have had to evacuate twice because of the wild fires. We have lived at our property for 20 years. I'm not aware of what is now happening to try and prevent a further wild fire. With climate change we can expect many more fires. We are told that we have to protect our own homes by cutting trees away from our own houses. However, and as research has shown from Australia and as we observed in the first fire, wild fires spread from tree top to roof top thereby making a parched earth policy partly redundant. The issue is much bigger than personal responsibility and personal resilience efforts. It requires policies at the local level. The best policy would be to prevent housing in this area. This is already too late for us and the latest developments in the Cashmere Estate (where fires burnt in the first fire). Westmoreland is now only one paddock away from our house and there is a new subdivision (given consent many years ago) at the top of Worsleys Road (from Cashmere Road) as surveyors were surveying it late last year. Now that we are here what policies at a local government level are going to be put in place? Since the latest fire, I have seen no evidence of farming landowners, on our side of the valley, sowing grass and fencing and removing dead trees and former slash piles. In fact a statement from the Adventure Park was that the burnt trees in their land would not be harvested and removed. Is the council going to change the District Plan to stop pine plantations? Has a land management plan for the area been considered or perhaps taking over the land that sits with gorse and burnt trees and turn it into grass and/or native plants? Currently pine trees are being harvested by McVicar Holdings close to Dyers Pass Road. We see the logs coming out of the park but I wonder about the slash and what is being done to prevent the slash burning in a future fire. This area is very close to the Cashmere suburb.

2261 - Tony Hampton (Health New Zealand Te Whatu Ora – Waitaha | Canterbury)

Capital Programme: Parks, Heritage and Coastal Environment Ref. Page 186-191	Health NZ Waitaha Canterbury notes the capital investment signalled for upgrades and improvements in the Botanic Gardens. Health NZ Waitaha Canterbury supports the positive health and social benefits of the recreational use of this space and of Hagley Park. However, this space is adjacent to the Christchurch Hospital campus, and we raise the issue of increased traffic congestion in the area with construction works and the risk of disruption in terms of emergency access to the hospital and health facilities.	Recommend: Health NZ Waitaha Canterbury is engaged and well informed during the development and construction of these projects adjacent to the Christchurch Hospital campus.
--	---	--

>>>

Parks, Heritage, and Coastal Environments: Planning, Provision, Maintenance, Asset	We note the new service target to increase greenspaces in relation to intensified population growth in urban development areas. This new target acknowledges the growing demand for additional greenspace in areas characterised by medium to high population density and the positive health and social impacts of
--	--

Condition and Performance, & Biodiversity Ref. Page 71	greenspace for the community. This is something that Health NZ's public health team may wish to support and request CCC engagement.
--	---

2269 - Lyn Leslie (Te Pātaka o Rākaihautū Banks Peninsula Community Board)

The Board continues to believe savings can be made on repairs & maintenance and capital programme works within Te Pātaka o Rākaihautū Banks Peninsula by using peninsula-based contractors. As a consequence the savings can be found as well as increased responsivity times for immediate issues.

2305 - Monique Maynard

• Te Nukutai o Tapoa – Naval Point development – $22 million - WHERE / WHAT? • >>> Takapūneke Reserve – $21 million - WHERE IS THAT? WILL THIS BENEFIT OVER 50% OF RATEPAYERS???

2310 - Helen Broughton (Waipuna Halswell Hornby Riccarton Community Board)

The Board urges the Council to include provision for the revitalisation of Sockburn Park as this is identified as a priority in the Community Board plan and is much sought after by residents in an area that is lacking in useable greenspace. The Board suggests that the investigation a new Dog Park in South West Christchurch be retained in the LTP and brought forward to 25/26 to align with the Community Board Plan Priority.

2311 - Paul McMahon (Waitai Coastal-Burwood-Linwood Community Board)

In addition to the top five priorities, the Board wishes to highlight the following: • QEII Master Plan (56898, 56899, 58911 and 61787) – the Board supports the implementation of the plan but would like to prioritise the playground and the number 2 carpark and, if need be, to use the funding left over from the partial sale of QEII land to make sure that these things are not delayed.

>>>

- South Brighton Community Centre carpark renewal. • Cockayne Reserve Car Park renewal.
- North Ramp Retaining walls – street side need renewing. • Spencer Park flooding issues need to be remedied.

2355 - Iain Sanders

[Parks > Otakaro Avon River Corridor Regeneration], [Parks > Other Red Zone Areas]

Turn the Red Zone into a huge food producing area and orchard that can benefit and help the poor families in Christchurch especially with the closing of the food banks.

Offer free council training on foraging, on using wild weeds for medicine, etc.

2357 - Cori Sanders

[Parks > Other Red Zone Areas], [Parks > Otakaro Avon River Corridor Regeneration]

Turn the Red Zone into a huge food producing area and orchard that can benefit and help the poor families in Christchurch especially with the closing of the food banks. Offer free council training on foraging, on using wild weeds for medicine, etc.

2385 - Ezra Mussa

Further development of Green Spaces, over 90% of all new park plantings must be native plants.

2386 - Gail Ingram

[Libraries > Libraries (Operations)]

You must prioritise our public places, or at least the only public domain or commons we have left, which is the library. We should also be looking at funding more public spaces, especially because there is a cost of living crisis.

>>>

[Libraries > Libraries (Operations)], [Grants & Funding > Arts Centre Funding], [Parks > Heritage (Capital)]

More on libraries, fund the art centre, fund our public places - top priorities in a cost of living crisis. People need uplifting places to go, our heritage, places of education grow people and encourage visitors to the city.

2463 - Rebekah Tregurtha

I think there will continue to be an increase in the uptake of cycling as a mode of transport as e-bikes become more affordable. Some money to put some bike racks at Halswell Quarry would be good so that people are encouraged to bike there to go for a walk, rather than take the car.

>>>

I'm not sure where this fits, but Halswell needs a fenced dog park area (the new one in Prebbleton looks great and has separate areas for small and large dogs). However, I do wonder if several smaller areas would be better than one large one (or maybe both) so that people can walk there in their neighbourhood. I don't know if dog parks are noisy (I wouldn't want to negatively impact the neighbours) but I wondered if Ridder Reserve could be used as it is almost all already fenced, and/or a section of the Halswell Domain (already has carparking and toilets) or Westlake Reserve. Another option could be the grazed paddock that has a gate opposite 230 Kennedy's Bush Road. People would probably drive there and they would need to park on the roadside which is probably not ideal for getting a dog in and out of a car on a slope. I don't own a dog.

2500 - Carsten Knott

[Grants & Funding > Orana Park Funding]

Support organisations doing conservation work like Orana, Travis Wetland

2508 - Oliver Hutchison

More funding should be provided for volunteer-led community gardens, such as the Richmond Community Garden, and the Phillipstown Garden.

2514 - Jeannie Murtagh

[Parks > Parks Paths & Walkways]

Prioritise eastern suburbs - driving through Fendalton and Merivale and then through Aranui and New Brighton are like driving through two different cities - where are the trees and well maintained footpaths on the east? How about prioritising plantings along Pages Road - after all it is one of the main routes to a lovely beach. The only eastern suburbs that seem to get attention are Sumner and Redcliffs - the places where the rich live.

2518 - Claire Mulcock (Deans Avenue Precinct Society Inc.)

[Parks > Tree Canopy]; [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > City Planning]

Funding for parks in Riccarton We note that there is no capital expenditure allocated to parks in the Riccarton Ward in the next 10 years. There are increasingly few trees in Riccarton, and with housing density set to increase further, outdoor open space for trees etc and play areas is desperately needed. Funding should be provided not only for existing parks but also to develop pocket parks in all neighbourhoods by purchasing land that becomes available.

2540 - Jocelyn and Caroline Papprell and Syddall

We suggest savings could be made by allowing some urban parks to be re-wilded to provide improved habitat for bees & other insect, skinks etc. There is potential to re-wilding around the estuary area.

>>>

We would prefer to see support for an eco-sanctuary within Christchurch. We are the only major NZ city without a predator proof eco-sanctuary. It would be a draw-card for tourists while providing an amazing educational site for the children and young people of our city.

2595 - Nicola Hely

Cathedral Square is a place that often feels depressing with the lack of green grass, nature and trees. I often have no idea why Christchurch ever had the nickname the garden city, because it really could do a lot better. I feel that my suburb of Riccarton would be much better with more trees, and that more trees would bring mental health benefits which would ease some of the social issues present in the area. The same is true of the city centre.

2621 - Caroline Gray

More parks in East Christchurch- Phillipstown has only one.

>>>

Phillipstown requires parks and safe public spaces.

2639 - Callum Ward (Waihoru Spreydon Cashmere Heathcote Community Board)

The Board supports the following matters concerning Parks Facilities, which is a key Community Board Plan priority: • The Board seeks to hold a coherent overview of the proposed works on Parks facilities across the Community Board area, so that they can overlay the local knowledge shared with them as they interact in the community; and where it better meets the interests of the community, projects are able to be swapped within the programme. For example, Somerfield Park toilet renewal was identified in 2022 in poor condition but is not on the programme in, but the Victoria Park toilets received the same grade as Somerfield but are which are less urgent from a community perspective, are in the programme. The Board would like to see processes in place for the next LTP process.

>>>

The Board supports the following matters concerning Parks Facilities, which is a key Community Board Plan priority: • Working alongside local groups, such as the Addington Farm and the Friends of Addington Park in their vision to refresh Addington Park

>>>

- Support the superb work done by Port Hills Rangers and work already done and request additional budget for active land management to reduce fire risk, and the use of the unformed legal (paper) roads in the hills as fire breaks.

>>>

- An acknowledgement of the unmarked graves at Sydenham Cemetery

>>>

- Address the flooding issues at Sydenham Cemetery

2688 - Linda Sunderland (Comte de Paris Descendants Group Inc. and the Akaroa Cemeteries Group)

From: The Comte de Paris Descendants Group Inc. and the Akaroa Cemeteries Group

Submission: Request for a 'Global Consent' to Restore heritage Headstones in the Akaroa Cemeteries.

1. There are two groups working jointly alongside the CCC in the Akaroa Cemeteries – the Comte de Paris Descendants Group Inc. and the Akaroa Cemeteries Group. Together we represent the families and community of Akaroa.
2. Our aim is to protect the heritage of the cemeteries, ensure adequate burial space for the community and to maintain the cemeteries in a respectful manner befitting those buried here.
3. The Comte de Paris Descendants Group Inc. (descendants of the French and German settlers who arrived in Akaroa August 1840) advocacy to the CCC commenced in November 2010 following the September 2010 earthquake.
Reason: - the destruction and damage of several heritage headstones in the Akaroa Cemeteries.
4. Working with the Akaroa Cemeteries Group and the Council we have achieved much during these past 13 years – a new Memorial Entrance, four settler headstones restored by the CCC, new pathway, fencing, wilding trees removed from heritage graves, three interpretation panels erected, seating, an extension to the Catholic cemetery for all denominations, identified and updated the plot maps in all three cemeteries, placed new headstones on previously unknown graves – many children etc.

This year our groups would like to focus on restoring the remaining heritage headstones.

- Over time the CCC has offered to assist with more restorations.
 - In 2012 – 13 headstones were to be funded.
 - In 2016 the CCC requested we measure and assess further headstones of historical significance.
 - A folder of around 30 assessments and a priority list was handed into the Council.
 - 2. 2021 four headstones were restored by the Council with advice that there was no further funding for more restorations.
-
3. The number for restoration will be reviewed depending on historical significance, family involvement and complexity.

4. We have done the homework:
- Assessed the headstones as per Council requirements and submitted to the Council 2016
 - Explained the reasons why these heritage headstones are significant to the local and national history – written in the assessment documents.
 - Contacted families where possible – many are so old there are no longer contacts.
 - Had discussions with stonemasons.
 - Researched funding options .

So all we need from the Council is a 'global' consent to avoid unnecessary costs that would make this project extremely difficult to achieve.

Benefits:

- Respect and acknowledgement of those buried will be restored.
- The Council maintained cemeteries will be enhanced.
- Local and national historical knowledge will be restored – some of the headstones lie upside down.
- The information written on the headstones will be available for all to read – families, researchers, visitors etc.
- The history and heritage of these cemeteries will not be left to decay and be lost to society.
- The visitor experience in these cemeteries will be enhanced – there is a constant flow of visitors in these cemeteries as noted during our working bees.

There will be no cost to the Council.

It will be a win/win partnership.

We understand another Council has restored their headstones following the earthquakes using a 'global' consent.

It has already been demonstrated that our labour and fund-raising have created real benefits for the Council in these cemeteries.

We now ask that the Council provide this global consent to restore these headstones – valuable for many reasons.

It will be another benefit to the Council and the community from our groups.

2690 - Robbie Dobbie

Encourage home gardens for food. Not Richmond Community they have been given too much. Smaller incentives for home gardens

2693 - Tanya Markman

6. Extending the time frame for projects of lesser importance. Can the $21million assigned to Takapūneke reserve be extended over a longer time frame?

>>>

Community gardens. I applaud the time and money invested in setting up and supporting community gardens. Their positive effects are enormous, helping to not only feed people but creating positive social networks and hubs throughout the city and city satellites. Although they are currently run as 'not for profit' I see merit in the idea of them becoming fiscally independent. There is interest, I understand, from some quarters to 'grow' these community gardens further – perhaps into areas of the red zone within the eastern suburbs of Christchurch. I think this would be a great benefit to the city and to local communities and hubs in general. I do not think it a

2750 - Helen Johnstone

Maybe you could reduce the amount being spent at Naval Point and Takapūneke Reserve. Are there some aspects of these projects which could be pared down or simplified? With both the Akaroa wharf project and Takapūneke Reserve, that is a huge amount of money going into the Akaroa area is a short space of time.

2751 - Helen Holyoak

I think there are some quick wins for environment that could come from creative thinking. Ban plastic in graveyards. Offer more alternative and environmentally aware burial options. Small plots in centres where ashes buried and trees planted... there has to be more creativity involved finding some wins. Please please ban all plastic in graveyards. No one comes back to take away the plastic on flowers. Plastic flowers should be banned everywhere.... take a lead pls CCC on waste minimisation and reducing basic pollution. Roads are edged in litter!

2784 - Jenny Smith (Te Whare Roimata Trust)

Likewise, we advocate the need for greater greenspace and the development of pocket parks with the possibility of community gardens. We also advocate the need for greater greenspace in the new housing developments, improvements in existing play spaces, and greater connection to the Otakaro/Avon River corridor for the NE neighbourhoods of the Inner City East and for a safety lens to be applied when creating open spaces.

2796 - Annelies Pikelharing

Leisure time. Place for older(and youger) people to sit quietly away from noise in a sheltered environment. Parks all over the city, to get away from noise and absorb nature.

2799 - Dot Lovell-Smith

What about asking local schools or community groups to adopt a reserve or a park or street planting to help maintain it and control pests?

>>>

The section between Blenheim and Main South Rd which used to have the Sockburn council facility and the site of the old Sockburn swimming pool across the road could be set aside for community gardens, food forests, bush parks, with walkways and picnic spots. and a water playground like that at the Margaret Mahey playground on the other side of town.

2806 - Tony Fraser

Why are we spending $20 million on Takapuneka Reserve Development over the next 10 years - Use a longer timeframe to complete the task required.

2807 - David Close (Christchurch East Labour Electorate Committee)

Council should reduce its capital programme for works that are not urgent. Every ratepayer knows that it is far cheaper to wait a while and pay cash than max out the credit card. We suggest that the Council trim capital expenditure asset out below:

- Parks (Vol 1, page 186) $14m for new buildings in the Botanic Gardens. The glory of the gardens is that there are few buildings. Do we want more? Has the public been consulted?

2817 - Emma Twaddell (St Albans Residents' Association)

We would like to see the involvement of local residents in the on-going development of Westminster Park. We would like to ensure the old Edgeware Bowling Club site is utilised by community and supported by the CCC to add to the offerings of St Albans Park. We would like to see the council work more collaboratively with the Friends of our local parks.

2836 - Jillian Frater

[Transport > Other]

I support greater collaboration between the transport team and the parks team at CCC, more shared tracks and paths, better signage for bicycles along recognised routes, better cycle parking at key destinations in the city

2846 - Olwyn Ferguson

i think that if you start charging to get into the gardens a lot of families will not be able to afford it as a lot of families enjoy taking a picnic

i would also like to see schools learning to grow vegetables & then when the veges grow they can make their own meals for lunch which will work out cheaper * they would also get the satisfaction of seeing things grow.

2858 - Daniel Parkinson

Port Hills restoration planting and land acquisition. The walking and mountain biking tracks are a big part of Chch and the lifestyle for many people. More native planting will help to improve biodiversity, reduce run off and provide shade and fantastic scenery for the many residents and visitors who use the Port Hills. Land acquisition where appropriate (particularly in the Western side of the hills, near to new subdivisions in Hallswell, will help to preserve the hills and expand the network for generations.

2863 - Lynne O'Keefe

A more equitable use of the Development Fund for neighbourhood park greenfields in areas of high intensification such as St Albans.

2872 - Kim Money

I support all QE11 Master plan budgets to be retained and brought forward >>> I support Spencer Park holiday park renewals be retained and brought forward

2899 - Victoria Nebbeling

Planting edibles in parks for communities to enjoy.

2906 - Donna Thomsen

There is a need to respect and nurture our heritage with more assistance to voluntary organisations to maintain our oldest cemeteries and provide knowledge of our ancestors and early pioneers. Less red tape and possibly assistance to fallen headstones in the oldest cemeteries - ie: Akaroa, one of the oldest original pioneer cemeteries in NZ.

2936 - Ian Lochhead

Bracketing parks and heritage with coastal environment is misleading; these should be separate items to provide clarity around the spend on each, especially given the potential threat of sea-level rise and associated costs.

2993 - Nikki Staskiewicz

As a mara kai kaimahi I see such value in our wonderful gardens on so many levels - benefits are social, environmental, spiritual, physical, and mental in nature. Everyone needs a garden and nature connection in their life!

3047 - Mark Christensen (Project Oversight Group of Pest Free Banks Peninsula and Towards Pest Free Waitaha)

Towards Pest Free Waitaha

- Funding from 1 July 2024 for operational and health and safety protocols and training to enable community groups to support Council staff in undertaking effective pest control in Council reserves and other Council land.
- $30k for the provision of strategic planning and operational advice to the POG from 1 July 2024
- Professional pest control advice from 1 July 2024 on planning for the upscaling of a partly central government funded elimination project across the City, building on and linking with PFBP.
- Professional ecological advice in the 2024/2025 financial year on ecological regeneration priorities within the city part of the Towards Pest Free Waitaha area (similar to the Banks Peninsula Ecological Vision), as a precursor to more formal community and landowner engagement on ecological regeneration priorities beginning in the 2025/26 financial year.
- Standardised biodiversity outcome monitoring and GIS system, integrated with the PFBP system.

The POG recognises that there is much enthusiasm for pest control in the community across the City. However, that community effort has to date overall been uncoordinated and has varying levels of expertise and resource. The POG has secured funding from the New Zealand Predator Free Trust for 1 year for a Community Activator who is working closely with PFBP, the agencies including the Council, and now with many individual community groups. This is part of the work which POG has been leading on the initial planning for the Towards Pest Free Waitaha initiative. This initiative is intended to connect the community-based pest suppression activities which are part of the Pest Free Banks Peninsula/Te Pātaka o Rākaihautū vision, and to build on that experience and expertise by connecting its community-based pest suppression initiatives with others across the rest of Christchurch City and within the Selwyn and Waimakariri Districts. Supporting these groups across the city will enable a strategic approach to pest suppression, similar to what is happening in Wellington, Dunedin and other cities. Early and continued engagement with landowners/communities is critical. We consider that the community led, agency supported approach (adopted by PFBP) is fundamental to the establishment and ongoing success of Towards Pest Free Waitaha. POG recommends that this model be used for TPFW. The overall vision is to work towards implementing what would be one of New Zealand's largest landscape-scale pest suppression and elimination projects, linking Banks Peninsula with the Alps, between the Rakaia and Ashley/Rakahura Rivers. While the POG sees the extension of the proposed Environment Canterbury targeted rate for biodiversity across the urban part of Christchurch as a critical step in bringing this initiative to life, the targeted rate, by itself, will not be enough.

[Full attachment available]

3061 - David Hawke (Halswell Residents Association (Inc.))

D. Project 74029 New Dog Park – South West Christchurch has $50k allocated for 2026/27.

a. We strongly support this proposal, but it needs to happen sooner – the demand is there, right now, and has been for some time.

b. We have received strong support in our own community consultation for such a facility. We ran a survey in February 2023, which drew nearly 600 responses.

i. For example: 87% of respondents either own a dog, are responsible for exercising a dog, or have someone in their family who does this.

ii. 72% of respondents see a need for a Halswell dog park (strongly agree, or agree).

iii. We have already done some “consultation” which you may find useful; see the attached PDF with our dog park survey results.

c. We understand that the $50k allocation is primarily for determining a suitable site, and other preliminary activities.

i. With this in mind, we think City Council should not proceed with the sale of 32 Sutherlands Road in case this may be a suitable site.

ii. Other potentially suitable site that we are aware of include the former greyhound track in Carrs Road, and 6.3 ha of unused land (6.3 ha) in SE Halswell. The latter is contaminated (former pig farm then car wreckers); the owners bought it under the Overseas Investment Act in 1996 under the pretext of turning it into a market garden, but this never happened (and conditions were never followed up).

Action requested (5): bring forward Project 74029 New Dog Park – South West Christchurch to 2024/25;

Action requested (6): do not sell 32 Sutherlands Road until a site for the New Dog Park – South West Christchurch has been determined.

Action requested (5): bring forward Project 74029 New Dog Park – South West Christchurch to 2024/25;

Action requested (6): do not sell 32 Sutherlands Road until a site for the New Dog Park – South West Christchurch has been determined.

>>>

H. Projects that are missing:

a. A youth facility in the Sutherlands Road – Kennedys Bush Road – SH75 – Sabys Road – Quaifes Road area, to cater for growth that has already occurred.

i. There are already two skate parks in Halswell, both well used. However, they are (literally) miles away.

ii. We identified this issue in representations to our Community Board as part of their community plan process, and identified a potential site. They agreed with us, but nothing has happened.

iii. The reason this issue has popped up is that City Council consented comparatively low density urban sprawl across Halswell. We pointed out the issue over 10 years ago, in the planning process, but were ignored. Now is the time for City Council to pay up for its poor decision making.

iv. Developers pay for community facilities such as these, but they need to be in the Long-Term Plan. Here is your chance.

Action requested (10): add a youth facility (eg, BMX or skate park) to service growth that has already occurred in SE Halswell.

3092 - Kitty Moran

Are there parks we could/do prioritise over others to keep tourism flowing? One of the benefits of having all our main tourist attractions being near the CBD is that it's all walking distance with the added bonus of public transport. Therefore, I think we should focus more on the CBD, making it more accessible (not just for wheelchair users). For example, a small-ish expense that would make a huge difference for inner city tourism are city maps! I think that about 85% of the time I have been in the CBD on my lunch break I have provided directions to tourists. The key aspect of any project management is to identify the must have's/requirements, and what is a 'nice to have'/bonus. For savings, we should only be spending on the must have's and the immediate needs, then find other ways to fund bonus projects.

312 - Shane Binder

But I would also encourage this to be expanded to an increase in healthy street trees in berms, as the noted effects in stormwater capture, speed reduction, heat island dissipation, and pedestrian amenity should not just be limited to parks and reserves.

3134 - Kim Lister

Surely you can better raise the social services. Perhaps work for the dole scheme so you help mow parks and weed gardens. Upkeep places. Pay the council Campground staff less for cleaning and do we need that many staff at Spencer park ?

3325 - Adele Geradts

We need a fenced Dog park in Halswell. As a dog owner myself, my dogs can be reactive or easily distracted by other dogs or rabbits at the quarry, so while there is a off the leash area at the quarry, it's not suitable for many dog owners who are training their dogs or who have poor recall with their dog. I do use the dog park in Rolleston which is a 20minute drive away, and go to the Groynes which is also about 20 minute drive both have fenced dog parks but both are very busy in the weekends.

333 - Josephine Jilly Marshall (Christophers wife)

As the wonderful gardens are near to the Art Centre, one of main Christchurch's heritage sites. surely investment in both is wise to encourage people especially tourists to visit the city.

3363 - Brodie Marra-Stevenson

Ensure that spending is maximised in more deprived areas to increase access to parks etc.

3389 - Megan Roulston

2. Ensure budget in place for South Brighton Reserve carpark upgrade/repair.

3396 - Lucy King

Prioritise employment in these projects eg rivers and a lake for jobs sport wellbeing. 3 for 1.

>>>

Definitely a lake good for the economy can be part of existing plans. Like for Ashburton. For waka ama w weaving harakeke, cafes, hangi, eel farm etc. Employment with conservation and environmental care.

3411 - Marian Krogh (Protect Our Winters NZ)

The POW community values being outside. We would like to see more urban green spaces, forests and wetlands. We'd also like to see more green space and trees on streets. This would help slow traffic, provide shade and a pleasant environment for those who walk or bike.

>>>

More native trees, more native green spaces, more native biodiversity planted in appropriate locations and ecosystems. This also results in more climate resilience and plays are part in climate adaptation

>>>

Biodiversity Biodiversity is only $2million in the LTP Sports fields have $100 million over the LTP. Can we take some from this? Gaps in biodiversity funding. Jobs for Nature – who will pick up that work? Ends in 2025. This focuses on public land.

>>>

Within the Draft LTP Capital Programme, we ask for the following separate projects to be reinstated:
53733 – Heathcote Street Pocket Park & Pedestrian Development
53734 – Ferrymead Towpath Connection (FM5)

3414 - Chrissie Williams

Level of Service statement	Measures of success (What our community can expect)	Proposed level of service for LTP 2024-34	My Comment
Parks and Foreshore - Planning, Provision, Maintenance, Asset Condition and Performance, and Biodiversity
Deliver variety of Parks that are managed, maintained, and available for public use, (including access, play, and sports) that contribute to Christchurch's ecological health	Comply with Canterbury Regional Pest Management Plan (6.3.2.1)	Annual compliance 100% (nil notices of direction served by ECan)	While CCC has a statutory requirement to comply with this Plan, there are many other pest species – or organisms of interest – that the Council should be controlling or eradicating. In particular, removing, where possible, or limiting the spread of weed species on riverbank margins through targeted programmes should be funded in its own right.
Parks and Foreshore – Residential Red Zone
Delivery of Red Zone Areas Action plans (excluding the Ōtākaro Avon River Corridor)	Restoration planting of residential red zone land (new) ¹	New level of service with LTP 2024-34 At least 0.5 ha of restoration planting per annum	Support, but 0.5ha seems tiny
Parks and Foreshore - Ōtākaro Avon River Corridor (OARC)
Implementation of the Ōtākaro Avon River Corridor Regeneration Plan in a cost effective, ecologically sensitive & culturally competent manner	Effective permanent Co-Governance entity for the Ōtākaro Avon River Corridor (6.8.12.2)	2024/25: Permanent Co-Governance entity options assessment completed 2025-2034: Permanent Co-Governance entity operational	Disagree. The Permanent Co- Governance entity should be operational in 2024/25. There is no reason for it to take another year. 'The Co-Governance group operational 'was the target for 2023/24. This has not been achieved because of very poor coordination of the advice to the establishment committee, and obtaining expensive legal advice.

3415 - Allan Taunt

As a suggestion, I would encourage cycle parking near the Visitor Centre and the Playground. While bikes cannot be ridden within the Botanical Gardens area, for security, many people prefer their bikes to be locked close to where they are spending time.

3436 - Sara Campbell

Reinstate the following separate projects for their benefit of improved travel choice and amenities/safety for busy areas: 53733 – Heathcote Street Pocket Park & Pedestrian Development 53734 – Ferrymead Towpath Connection (FM5)

3476 - John Fletcher

i would like to see more enforcement of regulations at parks, beaches etc but am aware that this will involve costs.

3484 - Prue Stringer

Parks...we need more green spaces.

3496 - Bindy Barclay

As part of the heritage sector and parks infrastructure greater budget should be allocated to enable expert curatorial staffing for the botanic gardens.

3497 - Cerys Fletcher

Finally, the following separate projects must be reinstated. They provide ratepayers with more options for how they get around, and make it safer to travel through busy areas. These help support the development of a city that is built for people, and for them to be able to move through it safely, and with enjoyment. 53733 – Heathcote Street Pocket Park & Pedestrian Development 53734 – Ferrymead Towpath Connection (FM5) 914

3501 - Malcolm Long (Ōpāwaho Heathcote River Network)

7. The superpowers of the OHRN arise from the work of the community groups working in partnership with the Council in reserves within the river catchment. The funding of sufficient numbers of Community Partnership Rangers and their adequate resourcing is vital as this community initiative expands.
 - 7.1. We request continuation of adequate funding for Community Partnership Rangers and for plants and other resources that these rangers need to fulfil their response and assistance to community requests. The more that community groups can assist the council in the maintenance of reserves, the better it is for the Council as well as the communities involved.

>>>

11. The intention, as evidenced in the proposed change to the levels of service, to increase greenspace in conjunction with intensified population growth in urban development areas is commendable, particularly where it will improve the opportunity for Urban Forest planting in established suburbs. It may also be one of the few means by which stormwater in these suburbs may be treated before reaching the river. The mechanism for achieving increased green space will involve the Council in working with developers to reconfigure residential spaces.
 - 11.1. These opportunities only arise when brownfield developments are envisaged; largely they cannot be foreseen but the opportunity must be exercised when it presents itself otherwise another hundred or more years will go by before the same opportunity repeats.
 - 11.2. We support 61731 - Land Dev-DC funded-Neighbourhood Parks-Catchment 2-Suburban but we cannot understand why the allocation is so small when the opportunity is so exceptional and so fleeting.
 - 11.3. We request that much increased allocations are made to 61731 - Land Dev-DC funded-Neighbourhood Parks-Catchment 2-Suburban for every year in the LTP so that the community can take advantage of current housing intensification in established suburbs to achieve increased greenspace and stormwater treatment.

3577 - Marie Byrne

I support initiative that encourage community ownership of parks, such as the community plantings in Olliviers Reserve. However, in doing so, be clear at the start about expectations and what constraints there are. This includes educating/awareness for the community about CPTED considerations. The situation in Olliviers Reserve where community installed planters had to be ripped out should not have happened and has led to a drop off in community trust.

3610 - Eric Stierna

Continue to develop, expand and maintain our parks in collaboration with neighbourhoods, businesses and community groups. These are resources that we should highlight and use to bring our people together.

3613 - Catherine McLeavy

Users of specific assets should be asked to contribute eg naval paint. This will only benefit a few as opposed to a park which can benefit everyone.

3619 - David Fuffy (Richmond Residents' and Business Association)

Petrie Park: In 2020 we informed Council in our submission that we have been working alongside the Parks team at Petrie Park with local children and a vision from the community as to what this space might look like. We are delighted with the response and financial support from Council which has allowed this project to progress to include conceptual planning and onsite soil testing along with further collaboration from the Parks team during the planning of the planting programme. This work is progressing very slowly and a further allocation of budget to assist in achieving this would be much appreciated.

>>>

Richmond Village Green: The Green which is situated centrally within the commercial hub, is a high use park and is also utilized by the Jean Seabrook Memorial School (A school for children with severe specific learning disabilities). RRBA advocates for a budget to be applied to continued landscape enhancements of the park eg: fruit trees planted in the green area for community needs/use. (Reduction of the hedge height on Stanmore Road boundary to improve visual amenity.)

3621 - Morgane Honore

Reinstate separate projects aimed at improving travel choice and amenities in busy areas, including the Heathcote Street Pocket Park & Pedestrian Development, Ferrymead Towpath Connection

3622 - Jono de Wit

* I request the following projects be reinstated to the draft LTP because they will provide great improvements to accessibility, safety and mode shift from vehicles: * 53733 – Heathcote Street Pocket Park & Pedestrian Development * 53734 – Ferrymead Towpath Connection (FM5)

3634 - Peter Cooper

Get rid of the system of Park Rangers, get people out working and not driving around all day.

3635 - Jane Lila McKenzie

Naval Point: 4 Mill upgrade of Naval Point will now be a waste as there will be no more events if the dolphins remain in control.

3660 - Alice Shanks

Banks Peninsula (including the Port Hills) is uniquely placed geographically and ecologically as a biodiversity hotspot. Because biodiversity is mobile, Banks Peninsula acts as a seeding node, and a storehouse of carbon for Greater Christchurch and the wider Canterbury area. I would like to see the City Council make strategic purchases of land/farmland on Banks Peninsula to balance the cities carbon budget through natural regeneration of forest and at the same time provide more land for recreation for our growing city. In Somerfield town houses are sprouting like mushrooms in autumn. The convenience of no garden needs to be offset by more leafy green places to walk and community gardens. These people are sure to seek out all the benefits of being in nature, planting trees, growing fruits and vegetables. This requires the Council to employ rangers to oversee and provide guidance to community projects.

3668 - Gavin Hardie

$870 million on parks, heritage & the coastal environment (13.4%) >>> Provide monies to care for Avon River on East Side Fitzgerald Ave to Kerrs Reach in the same way as the Avon River in West Christchurch is cared for. >>> Ensure the Avon River on the East Side matches the WEST side of Christchurch - currently a forgotten and uncared for Weed Waterway.(see Avonside Drive east of Fitzgerald Ave to Kerrs Reach. >>> $870 million on parks, heritage & the coastal environment (13.4%)

>>>

The Avon River on the East Side must be cared for in the same manner that the Avon River on the West side of ChCh is look after. The river bank along Avonside Drive from Fitzgerald Avenue to Kerrs Reach should be maintained so it is not overgrown, full of weeds and dead trees and is safe for citizens of East Christchurch to enjoy. We don't want any drownings as a result of the CCC "NO CARE & NO WORK on the East side of the Avon River"

3690 - Jono de Wit (Greater Ōtautahi)

we also recognise and call for the following separate projects to be reinstated: * 53733 – Heathcote Street Pocket Park & Pedestrian Development * 53734 – Ferrymead Towpath Connection (FM5)

3693 - Lynette Wills

Greater attention must be paid to Heritage e.g. Arts Centre Restoration, ChCh Cathedral, The Provincial Chambers in Durham Street, and ensuring Hagley Park is retained as the 1977 Reserves Act outlines. Costly Professional and Commercial enterprises such as International Television Broadcasts etc of Cricket Matches in Hagley Park are not to be supported - Citizens who are Amateur Cricketers are to be encouraged only. via ChCh Ratepayers.

Hagley Park is also to be cared for and enjoyed by all Citizens. There is a need for CCC Councillors to develop a new Entertainment Area where large concerts etc with crowds of 35,000 people can be easily accommodated since Hagley Park is now no longer able to cope with such events.

3694 - Jane Pairman

More funding for a biodiversity strategy. More green spaces, more native trees, more wetlands. I adore being out in these places and from the number of people I see using them, so do many people and it benefits the environment.

3715 - Jason Bridgwater (Linwood Rugby League)

Lights are needed at Linwood park for night sports games as our people on the eastside have to travel to nga puni wai or rolleston for night games. Some of our families just cant afford this extra cost which stops there kids playing sport.

>>>

Lights at linwood park

>>>

Lights are needed at linwood park. We held the temporary housing there for years and now we have a league field here we need lights to host night games do families on the eastside dont have to travel as far as rolleston to play games. We need this for the future and to keep kids in sports.

3732 - Harry Stronach (Akaroa Ratepayers & Residents Assn Inc)

Takapuneke Reserve Development

On Page 186 of the LTP we see that there is an allocated budget of $20.6m over 10 years.

But what is it really all about? We don't know because the community, ie the people who are doing the paying, have not been informed or consulted.

Some people are saying that this will be major tourist attraction, but do we really want this to be created at the southern end of Akaroa? Or perhaps the plan is to spend most of the money on improving traffic flow and management through the Akaroa township?

3770 - Jane Higgins

I encourage the Council to consider increasing the number of pocket parks and reserves, as well as green corridors through the city. These are vital for ecosystem support and biodiversity.

3779 - Layling Stanbury

MORE WETLANDS (can't stress how important this is, for both flood prevention and for cleanliness).

3798 - M-Webb User

A greener city and providing for a climate change fund that will be needed for when we deal with sea level rise and land subsidence for coastal areas.

3801 - Victor (aka Vince) Eichholtz

The Te Nukutai o Tapoa – Naval Point development + Takapūneke Reserve development could both be delayed.

3824 - Di Lucas

[Strategic Direction > Climate change]

CCC needs to address climate change mitigation, resilience and adaptation. Resilience includes wildfire resilience. There are extensive areas of flammable landcover across the council area. I have seen no measures to address reducing their flammability to increase fire resilience. Plantations have been permitted or consented that pose serious threats as does extensive flammable vegetation connectivity. Measures to encourage, support and/or require increased wildfire resilience through vegetation change and ensuring adequate firebreaks as non-flammable areas are increasingly needed.

3877 - Hilary Quayle

Improving the resilience and connection round the harbour will cost a huge amount and should be ready for implementation.

3895 - Margaret Trotter

Parks, wildlife facilities, heritage parks support mental health as people can visit and be part of a greater community. If these are closed or too expensive to go to, again the divide of our community gets bigger. How are you supporting the volunteers who do so much for our city, get very little support from the CCC and are the heart of our city. What is your vision-the strength of this city is in looking after its people and providing rich environments for everyone.

3910 - Joshua Jones

Wetland development and fire risk management

3913 - Mark Darbyshire

Please ensure Atlas Quarter is adequately serviced with greenspace very nearby. The Eastern Frame alongside Manchester Street is too far away.

3941 - Georgina Stanley (Smith Street Community Farm Trust)

As a community food resilience trust we strongly support the integration of fruit and nut trees into parks planting, with particular focus on community parks and parks adjacent to schools. Recreational harvesting and the impact of having kai accessible in our local parks has a measurable impact on those who are food insecure.

3949 - Fay Brorens

I would like to see Healthy Streets, pocket parks, community gardens & community centers.

3954 - Andrew Metherell

Halswell Quarry Reserve Halswell Quarry reserve is a major asset to the south west of Christchurch. My family use it several times a week and it is unique to Christchurch. It is becoming more and more popular, and I consider it is important it continues to receive suitable funding consistent with its use to maintain and develop the park facilities. No specific line item is included for capital improvements, which could include the need for upgraded toilet facilities, trails, and lighting, so I hope that it includes sufficient operational budget available.

3957 - Anne Scott (Spokes Canterbury)

Spokes supports:

[Transport > Other]

- facilitation of greater collaboration between the transport team and parks team when renewing or creating facilities. Pathways with the potential to connect areas through the use of shared pathways are being replaced with like-for-like rather than being widened to a useable width as the opportunity arises, and the entrance ways upgraded and signed. The current practice is leading to increased tension between groups of users as the number of cycling and active transport increases.
- Better signage at entrances and along the route. The signage should indicate it is a nature route rather than a commuting route by slightly different design.
- Addition of a park and cycle facility at the Gondola stop to reduce demand on cycle racks on the buses.

[Full attachment available]

3976 - Elizabeth Pugh

Parks, heritage and the coastal environments yes savings.

3988 - Jerry French

- DON'T GIVE "TREE TECH" A MONOPOLY ON ALL COUNCIL WORK - I ASSUME THEY HAVE GROWN SUCCESSFUL ON COUNCIL TREE/GARDEN DUTIES.

Thank you for your submission.

3989 - Mary O'Connor

There are dog parks, and dogs are excluded from some areas to protect native fauna, but there are no dog-free parks to protect pedestrians. With the number of sports people, some being national representatives, using Nga Puna Wai can you please make the whole of Nga Puna Wai dog-free. As a pedestrian, dog bites are a constant fear and if bitten possible long-term negative consequences. Along paths where it is not possible to distance oneself from a dog, only small dogs should be permitted. Dog owners often do not understand what "under effective control" means.

4017 - Angela Nicholls

Turn some of the council reserves / parks into community gardens.

From "the simple things" January 2024, Magazine.

4022 - Ann Margaritis

[Three Waters > Stormwater & Land drainage (Capital)]

More spending on providing open areas to let water soak into the ground - especially off the Port Hills.

>>>

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > City Planning]

Retain as much “Green Belt” as possible around the City. Once gone, they are gone forever.

Land bank for future sports fields or leased as golf courses e.g. Corner Milns Rd and Halswell Rd.

4023 - Bethan Sommer

I've really benefitted from the bee garden areas around the parks. More programs to improve our health via improving the environment we live in.

>>>

In park botanical garden wheelchair access to the indoor gardens needs improved access!!

4042 - Graeme Curry

A submission to the CCC Draft Long Term Plan item 61795 Heritage Planned Hard Surface Renewals—

The Heritage Park has become a very popular destination for local residents, and visitors. The addition of walkers and trampers walking the Curry Track, using the carpark, it is now more often not adequate, due to cars parking randomly and not to an organised pattern. Since upgrading the car park by The Heritage Park Trust , we have attempted to paint white lines on the gravel with only limited success. These lines are necessary for the efficient use of parking in the available area.

When I was farming the property beside the Heritage park I often use to open the gate and let visitors park in my paddock. We sold the property 3 years ago to , so that area is no longer available, and as it is not regularly grazed, so would be a hazard with the dry grass being ignited by hot exhausts.

In my opinion it is essential this carpark is upgraded by tar sealing it with painted lines to maximise the parking, and before there is an accident due to lack of direction to the Long Bay Road. Cars park on the side of the road when the car park is full, which is dangerous

Graeme Curry Chairperson of The Akaroa Heritage Park Trust , and one of the of the Park

4043 - Bruce Hansen (Maurice White native Forest Trust)

MAURICE WHITE NATIVE FOREST TRUST DRAFT LONG TERM PLAN SUBMISSION 2024/34 ITEM 61795

Heritage Parks Planned Hard Surface Renewals

Akaroa Heritage Park

I am making this submission on behalf of the Maurice White Native Forest Trust who hold the title to the Hinewai Reserve and who are responsible for the maintenance of both the Hinewai and the Purple Peak Curry Reserves. (The title to the Purple Peak Curry Reserve is vested in the New Zealand Native Forest Restoration Trust).

The carpark on Long Bay Road serves visitors to both the Heritage Park and those who wish to walk the track on Purple Peak Curry Reserve which also leads over to the Hinewai Reserve.

In recent years the number of people using the carpark has increased considerably.

As submitted by the Heritage Park Trust there are two problems that currently exist that (a) create a potential hazard for those using the carpark and (b) prevent the carpark being used to maximum advantage:

- i. The present alignment of the entrance and exit from the carpark make it difficult to exit the carpark safely. Particularly for those travelling uphill on Long Bay Road. The exit requires a turn on a corner where the vision is severely limited. This would be improved if the exit could be re-aligned.
- ii. (With the surface being unsealed and not clearly marked people tend to park in a haphazard manner which means that the space is not maximized and entry and exit are more difficult.

We would support the allocation of funds that is indicated in the Long Term Plan as a way in which the safety and convenience of people using the carpark would be improved. With the increasing number of people visiting the Heritage Park and walking the adjoining tracks this will also improve and increase the facilities offered to visitors to Akaroa. Bruce Hansen Trustee, Maurice White Native Forest Trust

P.S. I would appreciate the opportunity to speak to this submission and would be willing to appear along with the Akaroa Heritage Trust.

452 - Mark Penrice

I would like to see the same level of funding for Mountain bike tracks as "sports surfaces" - the same funding other sports with similar participation numbers receive (e.g. rugby).

490 - Linda-Jean Kenix

I would like for the Council considering procurement of a fenced dog exercise area on the east side of Christchurch. The closest dog park to Lyttelton is Victoria Park, at 25 minutes away or Horseshoe Lake Dog Park at the same distance. This, obviously is a very long way to go (roughly one hour round trip) to exercise your dog. Many people use the Lyttelton rugby fields as a dog park but: 1. it is not fenced 2. It is not an 'off leash area and 3. many of the rugby players (rightfully) complain when owners leave dog faeces on the grass (they should not do this in a dog park either, but that is another story...) I would recommend following a similar process as Little River: <https://ccc.govt.nz/the-council/community-consultation-archive/show/554?fbclid=IwAR1rwS7RVUsQrRHb14GWSJVvSoNGmCA9dk1Kfif77VRn1J1UW392BVSihQ> Image Little River Wairewa dog exercise area trial Give us your thoughts on the dog exercise area trial so we can help transform it into a community asset for Little River ccc.govt.nz In Lyttelton, the rec centre is the obvious place or the Voelas Reserve or the old Lyttelton West schoolgrounds. All would be good. There are certainly other places on the east side, but I am not as aware of those as I live in Lyttelton. This should cost relatively little to test...some temporary fencing is all that would be required. LPC may even donate this? The council already owns some of the properties listed, but any and all places should be considered. Thousands of people on the east side of Christchurch would be grateful!

51 - Zoe Brock

Protect them

530 - Nilay Chauhan

A fenced dog park is needed in the Halswell area. Since the one in Prebbleton was built, we have been going there regularly and a lot of dogs attend there. The popularity of the park proves that building one in Halswell will fulfil the need of dog owners and bring the community closer together. It will also prevent dog owners taking their dogs to public parks and risking children or the public from contact with dogs who wouldn't be comfortable with it. We have a dog and we would definitely take it to a Halswell dog park if there was one available.

536 - Marilyn Yurjevich

[Grants and Funding>Arts Centre Funding; Other/Special Interest Topics>Cathedral; Strategic Direction>Have we got the balance right?; Spending>Te Kaha]

The balance is sort of reasonable, given our circumstances. HOWEVER THE ARTS CENTRE is not mentioned. It needs about $1.5 million to keep it going. Please include that! We don't need the bells and whistles on the arena and the Anglicans, a wealthy segment, can pay more for the cathedral in the square. Please ensure there is provision for an ECO-SANCTUARY IN THE RED ZONE. Christchurch sorely needs one.

>>>

We need an eco-sanctuary in the Red Zone.

644 - Julie Paterson

[Libraries > Libraries (Operations)]

It is difficult, but use existing services to maintain community involvement eg libraries and parks

672 - Edwin Du Plessis

As above

[Coder Note: previous comment discussing global warming 'don't set these in stone, there needs to be a means to deal with changing situations over the next 10 years']

706 - Rachel Dawick

This is no good if agriculture is not included in cross policy.

751 - Genevieve Robinson

Bylaws - particularly in areas of ecological importance, bylaws on excluding dogs from beaches. Urban River work too and if within Council remit, a ban on power vehicles from this much loved community swimming bay.

756 - Jonathan Harrington

78 - Michele Laing

[Revenue > Disposal of Council Owned Land]

The city needs more biodiversity. Reserves and parks and vacant land are opportunities for these. Small pockets of biodiversity are required in all neighbourhoods. There cannot be 'too many parks and reserves'.

785 - Ariana Tikao

[Parks>Parks Maintenance]

The Council plays an important role in maintenance and welfare of many parks and reserves in Christchurch and Banks Peninsula. I believe this must be continued, and adequate funding needs to be put in to our environmental projects and welfare of Te Taiao.

802 - Julia McLean (North Canterbury Equestrian Advocacy Group)

It is important to the equestrian community that Canterbury remains a place where we can continue to value and engage in the recreational pursuit of horse riding. To be able to continue this we need to be included in all planning of parks, open spaces and any connections between our individual communities and coastline.

[Full attachment available]

Not Stated

1014 - Sandy Porter

Christchurch is known for Parks in the City, dont lose what you have worked so hard to protect, including Orana Park. Naturally we have to look at global warning, so should be high on the list.

1071 - Brian Donovan

Moving in the right direction

1098 - Eric Pawson

I think the Parks Dept deserves real praise. The new info boards in the Botanic Gardens and along Ōtākaro Walkway in the city are excellent: it would be good to see these replicated on the coast and in the OARC.

1167 - Anja Luecht

I think using prison programmes to seed natives in big nurseries and those plants can then be transplanted to help reduce climate change and help our future generations.

1192 - Shannay Henning

essentials but there is nothing wrong with the parks as they are

1323 - Mark Hubbard

What do you mean heritage and coastal environment?

1452 - Maraed Riley

Parks, as green havens, foster community bonds and leisure. It is imperative that funds are NOT allocated to environmentally harmful recreational pursuits, such as golf. Invest in food forests and educational green spaces for youth and underserved communities.

>>>

Prioritize re-wilded, native food forests and swamp areas.

1475 - Courtney Henderson

Doing what needs to be done.

1512 - Denis McMurtrie

Hard to fit both together as coastal environment is very much connected to waters and often getting water off the land into the sea. Braided rivers and long shore drift can compromise the process as well as straightening of rivers encouraging more salt water intrusion.

1603 - Sandra Cunningham

Keep it neutral to be used by everyone - stop pandering to minorities.

1609 - Johnathons Atkins

Parks are important as a garden city

1654 - Jane Ross

no longer is Christchurch a garden city

184 - Rebecca Nicholls

These are Taonga. U r doing a great job

1868 - Sara Rennell

Please protect.access for all to our parks and heritage. These are our city's heart. If you mess with the heart the rest will fall. Regardless.

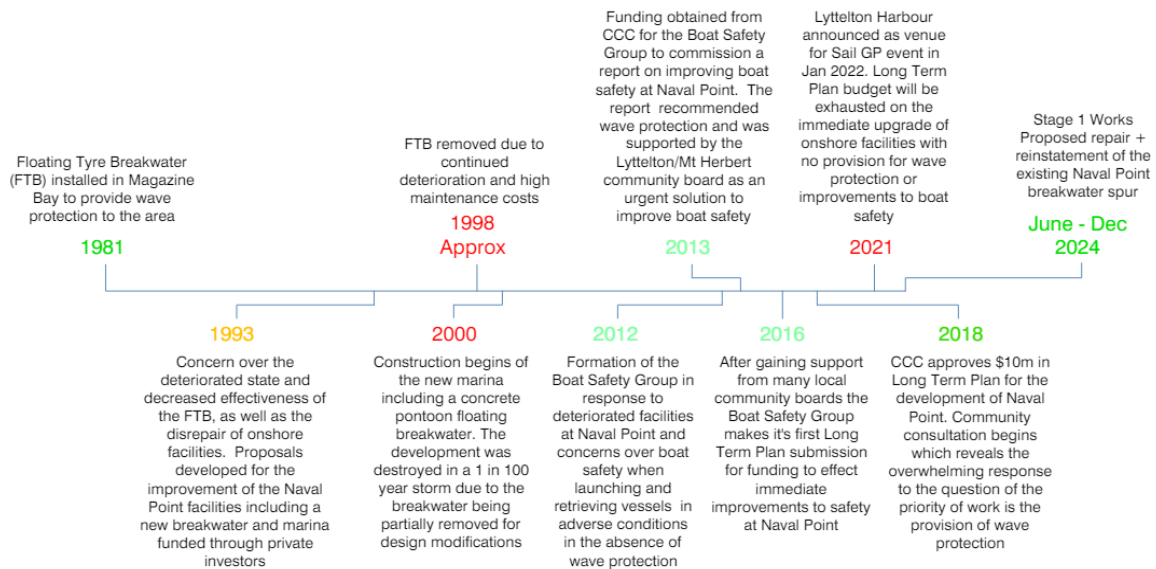

2041 - Brian Burrell

Parks are important to attract tourists and entertain members of the public.

2048 - James Ensor (Naval Point)

2048

Timeline of Wave Protection at Naval Point, Lyttelton Harbour

[Full attachment available]

2087 - Emma Norrish (Waipapa Papanui-Innes-Central Community Board)

In its Board Plan, the Board signalled that it would, and does, advocate for amenities, such as greenspace, and recreation, sports and community facilities, in future development areas to ensure that the wellbeing of our fast-growing population and communities in the Papanui Innes Central ward area, are supported with these important amenities.

We also highlighted some priorities of particular importance as below, as well as the revitalisation of Petrie Park as a local partnership project with the community, which there needs to be continued support for, recognising the work of the rangers with the local group.

2111 - Vaughan Wright

Keep Christchurch the Garden city, make it unlike other cities that are all concrete

2168 - Katie Martin

Parks, heritage and coastal environment are very important for the liveability of this city. It would be a shame to loose the work that has been done to date on all of these aspects of Christchurch

2462 - Mark Cox

Also why so many bridges? the one in the Avon was a waste of money and the red zone one also gaint waste for what is returned.

2466 - Tracey Cloughly

Some nice to have things are totally not acceptable eg gayhurst bridge toilet, bbq area. I travel every day and only seen it used once. Would think a better area would be more suited to this, no parking close by so difficult for some users to access

2514 - Jeannie Murtagh

[Libraries > Libraries (Capital)]

Libraries are well used in Christchurch and parks are essential to everyone's well being.

2544 - John Bannock (Governors Bay Community Association)

We appreciate the work of the Banks Peninsula community advisors along with the Regional Parks Team, Recreational Rangers, and the local community to collectively provide an invaluable contribution to ecological restoration of the harbour, as well as providing biodiversity awareness.

2574 - Matthew Pont

These are key to what makes us a good city long term

2608 - Simon Henry

Stop dumping 1080 poison all over the forest and water catchments. Not impressed.

>>>

Stop using 1080 poison

2611 - Papataitua Harrington

Keeps things clean and green.

2702 - Wendy Dick

Parks and the upkeep for generations to come.

2799 - Dot Lovell-Smith

Services need to be maintained and developed in an equitable fashion. eg Hei Hei and Hornby parks and recreation areas should be maintained to the same level as Fendalton or Inner city parks.

>>>

Very large old trees need to have heritage status and be preserved from the developers chain saws and developers need to have a requirement to provide a degree of space for greenery.

2837 - Deborah Harwood

Very Important, no selling off of green spaces.

2869 - Josiah O'Neill

The parks are an important part of Christchurch the Garden City,

293 - Monique van Veen

as a relatively new resident of Ōtautahi (moved for my career in 2021) I am regularly blown away by our city's amazing green spaces and beautiful venues.

294 - Michael Brantley

Parks are great.

297 - Michael Crabtree

minimise risk impact

316 - Margaret Whittaker

Cherish our beautiful parks and heritage buildings, they are what make Christchurch the city it is!

3161 - Jillian Schofield

[Grants & Funding > Arts Centre (Funding)]

I love living in Christchurch i love our parks, our estuary and coastline and

3187 - Debbie Hamilton

Keep investing for our communities without pay as you use charges incorporate this into our rates.
The poorer of us need the same access

3272 - Brittany Peacock

I love the parks in CHCH, they are an important part of the city and local communities

3295 - Rachel Du Val

These areas are extremely important for the well-being of ChCh citizens.

3366 - Robert Manthei

Parks are the same--a widely used resource that is available to all.

3421 - Mary Clark

Very, very Good developments in these areas. [Coder note: submitter is likely referring to "Parks, heritage or the coastal environment" as a whole.]

3471 - Murray Irvine

Parks are part of the garden city.

3493 - Brendon Lee

Again, how will these leisure activities, will lay the path to higher productivity?

3535 - Anna Harper

Parks also.

[Coder note: Are key]

354 - Vivienne Allan

Are we still the garden city? It's hard to see any beautification.

3585 - Rachel Fulton

More access to areas of outdoor recreation

3615 - Janine Clarke

If we look after our environment it will look after us. This includes: - ensuring that we are safe from wildfires by adopting appropriate planting and fire breaks - preventing erosion by maintaining planting and development, rivers and streams

3621 - Morgane Honore

Green spaces are invaluable assets to local communities, offering opportunities for recreation, relaxation, and social interaction. They enhance the overall quality of life and well-being for residents, fostering a sense of connection to nature and community.

[Recreation, Sports & Events]

Sport and Recreation Facilities: Investing in sports and recreation facilities is essential for promoting active and healthy lifestyles, fostering community engagement, and enhancing quality of life. This includes projects such as building or upgrading sports fields, recreation centres, playgrounds, and walking/cycling trails.

3657 - Ruth Bullen

Vital for the city

3686 - Suzanne Peddie

Seems that concerns are being taken seriously.

3723 - Don Babe

[Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

It must be remembered how the parks are great helps for climate change mitigation and adaptation as trees sequester carbon and provide shade. These cross benefits need to be considered together.

3745 - Victoria Rathgen

Protect our parks - gone is a long time We need a proper firebreak between the port hills and housing.

Theres no plannet B plan so priority should be on future land. If you protect land you can protect animals plants etc if you put concrete in- nothing can grow possibly insect

375 - Alex McNeill

Ōtautahi is such a great place to live. I've loved living here for the past 13 years, and I'm looking forward to the rest of my life here. The things that make it great are the things we need to protect by investing in them and not shying away from difficult decisions. E.g. ease of getting around without relying on a car - boost our bus and bike infrastructure. Easy to access green spaces - continue tree planting. Reliable drinking and storm water - invest in upgrading our systems so that they are resilient against climate change. Yes, this rates increase is expensive during this cost of living crisis. We need to be careful to support our less well-off ratepayers.

Gotta love having clean, tidy, and green places to hang out in.

3772 - Sue McFarlane

Our parks are a major recreation opportunity for all of our city's peoples.

3812 - Nick Paris

All very important mental factors delivering positive health outcomes for EVERYONE. [Coder note: All is likely referring to "Parks, heritage or the coastal environment".

385 - Francesca Brown

[Strategic Direction > Community Outcomes and Strategic Priorities]

Planetary Health and Human Wellbeing go hand in hand - parkland, coastal environmental are all essential to wellbeing.

3859 - Sally Widdowson

I particularly value parks , coastal and inland reserves >>> Also there is a lot of evidence that having such facilities available is hugely beneficial for both mental and physical health.

>>>

Maintaining a healthy natural environment is hugely beneficial for public health and wellbeing as well as being vital in the fight against accelerated climate change.

3862 - Katharine Metherell

Some of the new wetland reserves and parks are now so contaminated but owners not picking up after their dogs.

3865 - Maxine Donovan

Definitely need our green spaces.

3867 - Gemma Dioni

These are gems in the city and need to be looked after.

3894 - Greg Siddells

Christchurch has fantastic parks >>> which our family use a lot and we appreciate the work that goes into providing these facilities.

3906 - Sarah Bennet

Extended protections and considerations should be enforced with haste.

3921 - Alison Loveridge

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Creating a Climate Fund], [Other/Special Interest Topics > LTP Consultation], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Coastal Hazards Adaptation & Adaptation Planning], [Transport > Transport (Operations)], [Resource Recovery > Resource Recovery (Capital)], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > City Planning]

No, climate change is going to require more adaptation/mitigation and spending should start sooner (later start is stated in the Vol 2 page 6, 36 etc). Expectations of timing of impacts are presented in a way that pushes out need for change rather than giving lower impacts that will occur soon.

The current plan makes it difficult to track exactly how much is being allocated to climate change as the budget figures tend to include climate related spending in with other spending on relevant areas such as transport, waste water management, flood preparedness, and so on.

Coastal retreat and active transport are the most transparent areas but active transport receives less funding than needed and delivers on safety and affordability for many ratepayers. Active transport spending is a cheaper way to manage and avoid impacts than building or roading upgrades to meet more challenging conditions such as hazard impacts from climate change.

Waste management infrastructure may require new responses but there is little detail on this making it difficult to comment.

Creation of wetlands is positive, but may be linked to greenfields urban development which also create more emissions than infill housing within the existing city footprint.

Acting sooner will always be cheaper in the long run than responding at the last minute and gives better intergenerational equity.

>>>

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > City Planning]

Infilling urban areas is good but resulting in too much tree /greenspace removal and restrictions should be placed on how much is lost in each suburb

3936 - Carley Dove-McFalls

Greening of streets, bus shelters, port hills and the banks peninsula

3941 - Georgina Stanley (Smith Street Community Farm Trust)

I might not have managed to navigate this from well, but we wanted to take the time to advocate for a Linwood Park Master plan. Due to the increase density of local residents and users of the park it would seem prudent to have a overall plan for all the improvements to allow for a more holistic and encompassing usage for the new and emerging stake holders.

3945 - Callum Snell

We need >>> green spaces,

4032 - Paul Dietsche

These belong to the people.

416 - Mike Cleaver (Canterbury)

I love the parks around the city.

505 - Laura Jones

of immense value

525 - Bruce Bascand

Hagley Park and the Botanic Gardens are a huge asset for this city.

546 - Lisa Boyce

Not my purvey

662 - Cameron Taylor

Back right off! Maori werent here first so screw them!!

[Coder Note: regarding parks, heritage or the coastal environment]

699 - Helen Reddecliffe
Highly valued.

794 - Yanny Webb-Walker
I love our parks. It creates a healthy environment and they are inviting.

798 - Victoria Shirinskaia

As for the fenced dog park, perhaps the area close to Te Kuru Wetland could be also an option? Especially when we have issues to access Quarry Park and I know lots of people walk with dogs in that area.

[FULL ATTACHMENT AVAILABLE]

80 - Elizabeth Velde
All so important [Coder note: Parks, Heritage & Foreshore] particularly things like The Arts Centre

810 - Susan Mullord
You do a pretty good job with parks, heritage and the coastal environment

Libraries

Libraries (Operations)

General Comments

636 submissions were received addressing operational spending on libraries.

209 comments supported, and 23 comments opposed operational spending.

210 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 214 comments provided general feedback addressing operational spending. Many submitters wanted reduced library hours to reduce operational spending.

Officer Response

Support:

- A large number of submissions were in support of Libraries as vital community hubs. They are seen as delivering core community services, providing residents and visitors with access to a variety of resources for information, leisure and community connection.
- Submitters also placed value on the services provided particularly for the vulnerable and isolated elderly. Libraries promote literacy and foster lifelong learning which is known to have a positive impact on wellbeing/mental health.
- A few submitters mentioned that Akaroa Library & Service Centre are the social fibre for connection in that rural community.

A large number of submissions expressed support of Libraries as vital community hubs. Support for Akaroa Library is noted and there are no plans to reduce library services to this community.

Oppose:

- A few submitters felt that Libraries are becoming obsolete.
- A handful of submitters suggested that we already have too many suburban libraries, some of these suggested reducing the number of libraries, or reducing hours of opening and/or not openings on Sundays, or rotating opening days/hours across the city.
- A few submitters suggested reducing staffing and have more self-service.
- A few submitters suggested finding ways to increase revenue and/or to become self-funding.

In response to submissions questioning the relevance of libraries and their usage levels, data from the year ending 30 June 2023 reveals that there were 3.4 million visitors to Christchurch libraries, 4.4 million items were borrowed from the library collection, and 199,208 visitors attended library programmes/events at libraries. No changes to the number of libraries or hours of operation are recommended.

No changes are recommended to the levels of staffing based on current levels of service, hours of operation and services offered. Staffing levels are continually monitored and changes are made in response to changing business need.

Libraries continue to focus on opportunities for increased revenue generation. Expenditure is offset through the application of a range of fees & charges such as hold and bestseller charges, cafe leases, and venue hire. Libraries also attract external funding through a variety of sponsorships & partnerships. It is recommended that no change is required.

Further opportunities to increase efficiency through automation, including the use of A1, are being explored. No change required.

Other themes raised by submitters:

- There is no kids/study floor in Tūranga and more normal height tables are for study, workspace, etc.
- Utilise volunteers more.
- Re-introduce overdue fines.
- Charge an entry fee.

- Reduce carbon footprint for South library rebuild.
- Include sustainability & air quality improvements in a refurb/rebuilds.
- The homeless people outside Tūranga make it unpalatable to visit.
- Automation & AI might help to reduce running costs.

Tūranga has a well-utilised study space on Tūhuratanga the third floor. Some furniture changes have been made in recent months as a result of feedback received and further furniture changes are planned as budget allows. No change required.

Volunteers/interns are utilised at times for tasks/projects which require a different skillset set from Library staff, e.g. library building tours for visitors, data gathering for project research, and running the Big Bargain Book Sale. No changes are required.

Overdue fines were removed in early 2022 due to many citizens finding charges a barrier in their use of the libraries. In terms of entry and membership fees, many Library customers find fees a barrier to their use of the libraries. No change is required.

The total life cycle carbon impact is a key focus of the South library & service centre rebuild project, including how the building will operate in terms of energy efficiency, given operational carbon makes up the bulk of the whole of life carbon emissions. No change required.

Homeless people outside Tūranga: Library staff are well supported by inner city social service partners to help ensure adequate support is made available to people living rough on inner city streets. If unacceptable or antisocial behaviour becomes an issue, staff seek the help of Police to resolve issues. No change is required.

Support

1 - Aidan Sheard

Excellent.

1008 - Angela McPherson

Essential. This is a facility that can be used by low income people and is very much needed. Please do not cut down opening hours

1122 - Justine Essenberg

Libraries need to stay

>>>

Need to stay

1176 - Jamin Thomas

Every functional city needs a good set of libraries. Important for kids growing up. Important that technology is continued to be invested as that is the modern way of learning.

12 - Jalori Mathias

The current libraries are great and provide for the needs of the community

1210 - Dianna Koorey

Needs to be supported

1216 - Glenn Maguire

Great service

127 - Judith Clarkson

Keep libraries open, vital resources to inform the community

1293 - Jill Rice

Keep libraries open

>>>

Continue to fund them and don't cut their hours.

1336 - Chris Woodruff

Absolutely keep the library, and they seem to be in good order

1339 - Carol Marie Ferrier

Libraries are good, filling a community need with a good range of activities for families and non-families. Doign great in this area

1428 - Conor Keena

A great network of libraries - will be great if the same level of service is kept

1436 - Victoria Andrews

I support maintaining and enhancing the level of service for the Akaroa Museum, Service Centre, School and Community Library.

>>>

It is a shared facility with the school which is located adjacent the library. It is an excellent although small facility which is professionally staffed by skilled librarians. It is open Monday – Friday and Saturday between 10am-2pm. The library is a community meeting point which is always welcoming and free of charge. It is an important council facility for residents and their children because the town lacks the diversity of activities which are largely taken for granted in Christchurch.

1451 - Jodie Langston

main library is an excellent resource. Libraries have been pretty vital for me at times in my life when I have been studying or travelling. I think the quality is pretty good

1452 - Maraed Riley

Continue to support libraries and make them safe spaces for people.

1462 - Sue Piercey

Wonderful service. I regularly use a number of the libraries - particularly Lyttelton, Linwood, Turanga and South.

1464 - Jeffrey Packard

Doing a good job here.

1520 - Wendy Butcher (Canterbury WEA)

Keep and support them.

1533 - Mark George

Also needed. Keep up the good work.

1539 - Elise Dalrymple-Keast

Yes!

1543 - John Mowat

please keep libraries to remain open with heating and internet

>>>

Please keep internet and heating in the libraries

1544 - Daana Watson

These are a very valuable asset, not least of all to encourage children to read but as a resource for all sorts of other things including printer services for people (older generation) who don't have computers or printers at home.

1546 - Robert Fleming

Our libraries are there for the people and we would be much worse off as a society without them.

1547 - Graham Allan

yes we need more people reading

1578 - Lucia Campbell-Reeves

Libraries are a very positive thing to be prioritising

162 - Christine Wehrmeier

Libraries are incredibly important and I rely on libraries and visit several times a week to use printing/scanning/computing services, to borrow books, visit the JP and to study. I hope the council continues to provide the same level of funding or more as it is a key part of many people's lives. It's especially valuable when there is a cost of living crisis.

1680 - Lisa Lodge

Public libraries matter. When families can't afford everything at the moment the library at least provides fun and education and makes it easier to get kids reading.

>>>

Public libraries matter. When families can't afford everything at the moment the library at least provides fun and education and makes it easier to get kids reading.

1683 - Anne Forne

Very important to maintain the wonderful library services we have.

1737 - Tim O'Sullivan

Please keep maintaining our libraries.

1752 - Carolyn Boulton

I strongly support spending money on libraries, which are essential to the public good and communities.

1792 - Laura Parkes

I appreciate the focus on libraries as they are a centrally important safe space for many communities and provide incredible opportunities for impoverished youth in particular.

>>>

Absolutely agree that they should be a priority.

188 - Tony MacHarper

Funding for libraries is very important. Having moved from Australia 5 years ago it seems that libraries in Christchurch are better patronized than those in Adelaide. Christchurch people seem to place a very high importance on access to the services provided by libraries.

1885 - Leo Summers

[Parks - Heritage (Capital)], [Transport - Other], [Spending - Te Kaha]

Significantly less on heritage in CBD, Te Kaha, and more on Transportation and libraries preferred. Te Kaha needs to have a supportive transportation system for it to operate effectively

1886 - Judith Dawson

Libraries as a cultural, social and educational resource are vital

1912 - Emma Borrie

Libraries are important to keep running and free so that they are accessible to everyone

1989 - Hannah Collins

Another crucial service that requires all the funding it can

1991 - Stevie Florent

These are important community and education spaces, and their funding and maintenance should be kept.

1997 - Justine Wright

libraries should continue as is.

202 - Anne Spicer

Essential

2041 - Brian Burrell

Libraries are important to obtain resources and encourage reading.

205 - Denise Erikson

Definitely fund these

2060 - Liv van Workum

I absolutely believe in maintaining the libraries, they are community hubs, a phenomenal learning resource and a key player. I'm so proud of Christchurch's library network.

207 - Milica Ekmescic

I would fully support library

208 - Astrid Harrison

Libraries and parks should be a priority and maintained in all communities.

>>>

Libraries are key community hubs and all libraries should remain open.

2097 - Marie Haley

The Akaroa library is fantastic and needs to be continued to be supported, this is a vital asset for the rural community,

210 - Vicky Jones

Councils should fund libraries because they serve as vital community hubs that promote literacy, education, cultural enrichment, and social inclusion. They provide access to information, resources, and services for people of all ages and backgrounds, fostering lifelong learning and supporting the well-being of communities.

214 - John Hinchey

[Spending > Our Proposed Spending]

Don't cut back on our traditional core services such as libraries. They are a driver of our democratic life we enjoy.

2261 - Tony Hampton (Health New Zealand Te Whatu Ora – Waitaha | Canterbury)

Section	Comments
Communities and Citizens: Community Spaces Ref. Page 53	We note the references to library services hours and that CCC is proposing an increased target for mobile library outreach services. Health NZ has previously commented on the importance of library services to communities and has supported continued access in terms of opening hours.

2277 - Josey Fleitas

We use free programs in three different libraries every week, my children are thriving and it is such a huge part of their lives.

2289 - Leonie Jackson

[Art Galleries & Museums>Art Gallery (Operations)]; [Art Galleries & Museums>Museums (Operations)]; [Strategic Direction>Additional Savings & Efficiencies]; [Fees & Charges > Other]

- Admission charge for the Art Gallery
- Admission charge for the Museum (when completed)
- Don't reduce libraries or library hours

2317 - Julia Palmer

Libraries are a key service for our city which should be upheld.

2332 - Gary Crombie

Absolute priority please keep current support

2344 - Sarah Elicker (Te Huarahi Linwood Avenue School)

Yes! Easy access to libraries are critical for children and their families.

2357 - Cori Sanders

[Transport > Roads (Capital)], [Three Waters > Three Waters (Operations)], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)], [Other/Special Interest Topics > Public Transport]

Next, I think that it would be good to prioritise spending on things that the MAJORITY of rates payers use like libraries and roads and waterways. Why are we spending so much on cycleways when there are so few who cycle through the town? Why don't we focus on getting the roads fixed once and for all so we don't have to deal with roadworks that never end? Why don't we get public transportation that works for all instead of buses that are spaced out an hour between trips and bypass the city centre?

2368 - Alaine Percasky

Yes, this will cost a bit, but it will be another place that families and elderly can use as it is not costly to use.

2382 - Sean Scobie

They are great as they currently are

2388 - Guy Tapley

I believe the balance is about right.

240 - Bella Zilber

Christchurch libraries are some of the best I've ever seen. Please continue to prioritize their funding. They are an essential resource for all ages, particularly the very young and the elderly, both vulnerable subsets of our society

2407 - Dave Evans

Don't drop the service at this key public function.

2456 - Rachel Skews

I also support >>> maintaining library services

2457 - Hayden Johnstone

I do not think that library services should be cut in any way as they are important spaces for people and books to loan is a really helpful tool to encourage reading

2461 - Marjorie Manthei

Very important and need to be supported by CCC, rather than used as an easy 'opt out' whenever things get tough.

2467 - John Ogier

I'm very happy that our libraries continue to feature strongly.

25 - Ben Hart

Although not a big library user myself I support the spending here as libraries act as a strong community hub / centre

2520 - Graeme Fraser (Diamond Harbour Community Association)

I fully support continued spending on the Diamond Harbour library which acts as a community hub and is very important for school age children.

>>>

We support funding for the maintenance and improvement of this community's library, especially because of its importance to children and elderly residents.

2530 - Clare Thompson

[Recreation, Sport & Events>Events]

Libraries are essential Concerts in the park are not especially if rates are increased

2540 - Jocelyn and Caroline Papprell and Syddall

As mentioned before, we see libraries as important community and education spaces, hence we support their continued funding and maintenance.

2544 - John Bannock (Governors Bay Community Association)

Please continue full library services across the city.

the most wonderful assets of the city, probably some of the best in the world, please continue to fund fully.

2546 - Keith Power

Happy to pay to maintain libraries

2558 - Mike Norris (Akaroa Civic Trust)

Support continued funding for Akaroa Service Centre, Akaroa Library and Akaroa Museum (Activities and Services - Statement of Service Provision)

The draft LTP provides for the maintenance of operational funding for these three essential community facilities at current levels – we support this. All three services cost relatively little to operate.

The library and museum are core cultural facilities which enhance the life and wellbeing of the residents of Akaroa and Banks Peninsula. Library and Museum both provide opportunities for citizens to become involved with the provision of services and are hubs for connection within the community. The Museum attracts about 25,000 visitors a year so is a valuable part of the local visitor experience, contributing to the economic well-being of the community.

The Akaroa Service Centre is a critical service for a community that is, by any definition, small and isolated. For citizens/customers the value of face to face contact with council staff cannot be overestimated. Although the Service Centre is open only limited hours this walk in service must be maintained.

[Community Facilities > Service Centres (Operational)] [Art Galleries & Museums > Museums (Operational)]

256 - Bill May

Keep them going.

2583 - Lois Moore

Libraries >>> are essential for public health and well being and serve all ages groups in our community. These should be fully maintained.

2595 - Nicola Hely

I love the libraries, they are a lot better than those of my hometown Dunedin. Tūranga in particular is my favourite and has many amazing facilities as well as all the reading materials available. I visit regularly.

2619 - Laura Cosgrove

I love the no late fees and that books can be dropped to any library. A think this is an amazing use of the finances.

2631 - Anna Canton (Annakey Productions Ltd)

Please keep libraries as they are a hub for education, mental wellbeing, safety and identity for the local communities across the city

2640 - Wayne Hawker (New Brighton Museum)

This is a must do service council need to support, not only does it support education but it is also has a social impact on many who see this as a means to being out and about to meet friends in a warm safe community environment

2643 - Holly Bryant-Simpson

Yes, libraries are essential.

2647 - Penny Carnaby

I am supportive of operational spending which builds on the excellent library services in the city.

265 - Emily Anderson

Always a good use of money now they are more like community centres.

2655 - Michele Mccaw

Yes >>> libraries

>>>

Libraries and parks are such an important resource for everyone in the community young, old, immigrants and vulnerable

2677 - Jill Schroeder

Libraries are worth a load of roads, Turanga is beautiful. I never see it empty please keep libraries >>> and other places of self expression open. My guys have few enough options in life.

2678 - Fiona McKenzie

>>>

Love them!

269 - Zara Potts

Libraries are very important - cuts shouldn't be made here

2717 - Jacinta Maguire

My son loves the library i absolute love what they offer

273 - Ereni Pūtere

The libraries do an amazing job and must continue to be well resourced to do so, in particular the Māori collections and their kaitiaki.

2750 - Helen Johnstone

It is lovely to see libraries expand their services so that they are enjoyed by all generations.

2761 - Annette and Michael Hamblett

We're very supportive of our libraries. What a fantastic service they provide. They are true community assets for all the good they provide to communities.

2802 - Yvonne Palmer

1. I do not support any cuts or services for the 20 /Libraries/Library Services

2827 - Carley Dove-McFalls (Generation Zero Ōtautahi)

Libraries are important community and education spaces. GZ supports their funding and maintenance.

2828 - Thomas Kulpe

Great

2830 - Fiona Bennetts

[Recreation, Sports & Events > Pools (Capital)], [Fees & Charges > Car Parking Fees (on-street & off-street)], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

- There is no mandate for Council to cut back on services people rely upon (libraries, swimming pools, etc) to force a lower rates increase. Council's services exist for its constituents, and removing these services will disproportionately impact lower socioeconomic, disabled, and elderly residents, for whom there is no alternative.

2836 - Jillian Frater

I consider the Council should continue to invest in its libraries as they provide such a valuable service to the community.

2840 - Matthew Carter

I am happy the council proposes to continue services at parks and libraries without cut-backs or disruption. They are important shared community spaces and CCL provides valuable access to a wide range of physical and digital resources.

2844 - Albert Nisbet

Keep investing in the library; it's the envy of other cities in many regards, such as public creator space with 3d printers and embroidery machines

2847 - Colleen Philip (Sustainable Ōtautahi Christchurch)

Sustainable Ōtautahi Christchurch (SOC) strongly support the city's libraries and community spaces and support maintaining them and the level of service the city receives from them. Library staff are great ambassadors for the Council and our city. [Parks > Parks Spending (General)]

2856 - Rachel Puentener

please continue the great work you are doing in regards to libraries and the services they provide.

2861 - Laila Jansone

[Recreation, Sports & Events > Rec and sport (operational)]

Services can be reduced except, pools , libraries and sport facilities.

I support spending on Libraries

287 - Judy Yarwood

keep as they are - extremely important to all aspects of the community

2887 - Linda Keall

Our libraries are a citywide treasure, they do a brilliant job of catering to all, providing a meeting place for many who may otherwise struggle to get out and socialise, and as repositories of knowledge and information, second to none. They are highly valued and should be protected and maintained for all.

2936 - Ian Lochhead

Libraries are essential community, educational, cultural and social spaces and the ongoing support for the wider library system is important. Not everyone can easily access Turanga so it is important that community libraries are maintained and supported.

2938 - Rhiannon James

Love the work you're doing here. So equitable, so accessible. Thank you.

2947 - Katia De Lu

Libraries are precious community and educational spaces. Babytimes at the library is a lifeline for struggling new parents. Now that our child is older, we go to the library weekly to borrow books and enjoy the various educational activities. Every time, we see so many other people using all the vital resources our libraries have to offer. I also know firsthand how valuable the bookable rooms are for small community groups with limited funds. Libraries are the beating hearts of the communities they're in. I fully support their funding and maintenance.

2955 - Linda Morris

Very important

2972 - Ewan Baron

Fine

3012 - George Laxton

100% support our libraries, when I was younger I was not the most confident kid, but I spent many afternoons after school at the local library browsing books to find and read (and using the free hold system for kids) to pick up books to read. Keep the investment up in the library system, it is so important.

3035 - Claire Coveney

Libraries are vital to every community and deserve adequate funding. I mentioned previously how much as a worker in teh community they have provided people with wonderful programmes and connected Community groups. Thx to the staff at Ohinehou, Lyttelton and Turanga.

3065 - Janet Wilson

Libraries these days are wonderful community centres and should continue to be supported.

>>>

[Parks>Parks Maintenance]; [Parks>Sports Grounds & Facilities]; [Spending>Our Proposed Spending]

Important to maintain community facilities such as libraries, parks, sports grounds.

307 - Rata Jamieson

Our libraries in Christchurch are fantastic. Do not cut spending for libraries!

3077 - Mike Davidson

Do not cut any services to libraries

3090 - Trudi Bishop

We must maintain and keep these open for the sake of the whole community.

3094 - Daniel Smith

It's important to maintain things and staff such as libraries and librarians as if they are lost in the name of cost saving we may never get them back and the cost of reinstating in future would likely be worse than the savings made in the interim

>>>

The current level of service is good so spending should maintain this

3110 - Michael Beard

[Spending - Our proposed Spending], [Other/Special Interest Topics- Tarras Airport], [Community Facilities - Halls & Community Centres (Capital)], [Spending - Te Kaha]

Money spent on the Stadium, Convention Centre and the new airport at Tarras is wasted and as a ratepayer I do not support them. I support money spent on the homeless, Libraries and community centres

3124 - Jeff Pundanera

We need this.

3136 - John Hynes

These are really important, don't let anyone tell you to cut costs here.

3145 - Leah Wild

The library service is the best. Thankyou.

>>>

Excellent service,

315 - Sophia Pegg

Keep these. They are more than just a library. They are almost a wrap around community service.

3187 - Debbie Hamilton

[Parks > Parks Spending (General)], [Recreation, Sports & Events > Rec & Sport (Operations)], [Grants & Funding > Arts Centre Funding]

But don't change that especially supporting community such as libraries parks pools the Arts Centre most importantly

3188 - Tony Kettle

Keep these funded at a good level to ensure our society is well read and informed .

322 - Richie Connell

Must be supported. We have the best library in the country, it's outstanding.

3234 - Rhys Pryde-Wall

These have now become so much more than just lending books and offer a significant social service. It is important these are maintained

3268 - Savannah Da Silva

>>> Very important for library services to remain well funded

3283 - Elizabeth Clarke

[Art Galleries and Museums > Art Gallery (operations)]

I want to see all Libraries and Art Galleries maintained and free of charge.

>>>

The libraries need to continue as they do now and be free of charge and well maintained.

3287 - Claire Fletcher

They need to continue to be funded they play an important role in the community

3296 - Sharon Gail Powney

Keep all the libraries open. They provide a valuable resource for all residents. It isn't just books anymore

330 - Katherine Bonner

Keep their funding

334 - Clare Marshall

Do not cut funding to libraries. The services they offer to all members of the community - especially those in the lower income brackets - is invaluable.

3366 - Robert Manthei

Hard to say, but I do think that cutting library funding counter-productive. Libraries are widely used, especially by the young and older groups and those on low incomes.

3415 - Allan Taunt

[Libraries > Capital]

Libraries are critical to well-functioning communities. This is a service that cannot be reduced. Agree with the funding for the rebuild of the South Library and Service Centre, Ōmōkihi.

3423 - James Upton

Agree with maintaining libraries as a free community resource, information point, and meeting point

3425 - Hugh Dacre

Essential expenditure. Our libraries are good and we just need to do a better job of educating our population so they can use them more effectively - but that is not really a local government responsibility.

3430 - Philippa Upton

Thank you for proposing to keep libraries free.

Of course libraries are not just for books! I support the plan's provision for resources to replace and improve them.

3476 - John Fletcher

Excellent services provided.

3500 - James Wallis

[Recreation, Sports & Events>Events]

Please continue to support the libraries and local events as these are important for the community

>>>

Libraries are key community hubs and are both event centres and support for people

3535 - Anna Harper

Seems like a good investment - we need people to read and to critically think.

3542 - Beatrix Gilling

Operational funding is highly important to the functioning of the city, services like libraries are absolutely necessary for community and cutting them disproportionately affects lower socioeconomic, disabled, and elderly people.

355 - Lynda Clark

[Grants & Funding > Arts Centre Funding], [Recreation, Sports & Events > Community Arts]

Although I agree with fiscal responsibility, I think supporting and funding the arts is important, including the libraries and the Arts Centre.

3576 - Noeline Allan (Cass Bay Residents Association)

Libraries are an important resource for all communities providing not just books but access to learn, connect and get involved in all sorts of innovative activities like pre-school music and story telling and primary school art. They definitely need to be maintained

3598 - Kyle Sutherland

Maintain all funding for libraries, which are of enormous benefit to the city.

3599 - Hayley Guglietta

I do support drops in service levels to Libraries

>>>

Libraries are essential services and offer alot more than just checking out books, they are centres for community connections often the only person contact some people have and I would not like to see hours cut

3622 - Jono de Wit

I request that library hours are not shortened at all because this will have a big impact on some users of them who might not be able to go in any potential reduced hours.

3625 - Angela Brett

I am a huge fan of and consistent user of the library system. This is exactly the kind of thing I want my rates going towards!

3634 - Peter Cooper

Keep up library services, they are already underfunded compared to many places.

3640 - Angela Neal

Good amount of libraries.

3644 - Yvonne Dixon

Libraries areb great. good to see money spent on them. They are a free resource for many people on low incomes.

3653 - Andrew McDougall

The library services in the city are excellent. The current range of service should be maintained.

3659 - Alex van den Broek

Keep funding for our libraries please.

3662 - Joan Blatchford

Otherwise, no reduction in the budgets for this fantastic service.

3672 - Neil McKenzie

Please maintain good and free access to libraries. They are well used by young and old. Please maintain this.

3693 - Lynette Wills

CCC Libraries must receive proper funding as these are the HUBS of our communities. Monies should be paid so all Libraries offer a world class service to their neighbourhoods.

The CCC must maintain full support for the City's Library System. These are at the heart of ChCh Communities and important places since people are attracted to meet there for so many reasons. (There are NO Central City Parking Charges to deter ChCh Citizens who wish to visit their local library.

3694 - Jane Pairman

You MUST maintain the library service. This is the most beneficial public service. It is available to everyone and people use it for all sorts of reasons. the South Library is a treasure.

>>>

Definitely.

3695 - Pamela Pye

These are essential community assets and level of funding for them and the community services centres associated with them must be maintained and, where justified, enhanced.

3704 - Logan Cane

Keep the levels of service the same.

3706 - Ellie Stevenson

Libraries are life-changing. I'm usually pretty wary of the idea all of society's problems are fixed by just throwing money at education and things that smart people like, but absolutely anybody can appreciate the peace and quality of a library. It's so rare these days to just have a building other than your house you can go to in your spare time and spend time at for free, and we know that's so hugely beneficial for people's mental health, social lives and so on. Given how abysmally New Zealand has been doing at educating our kids, why not surround them with books? Every time I go into a library, every few weeks, I am floored once again that these exist and the feeling that I will never get tired of this. Neither do all the other people I see, spanning decades and relying on libraries not only for books but all kinds of services that don't come easy to older people unfamiliar with today's technology. Please keep funding our libraries and doing what you can to attract more people to them.

3723 - Don Babe

As an out of town person that travels to Christchurch quite regularly for work and other meetings the libraries are a great resource. A laptop can be plugged in and the couple of hours between meetings put to good use. It would be a pity if the service of the libraries was reduced.

3740 - Nicky Sharples

More important than ever particularly for those in community without digital access.

3743 - Ben Ellis

Please continue to support our fantastic libraries. They're one of the few available 'third places' on rainy days.

3748 - Greta Bond (Age Concern Canterbury)

Ongoing funding of libraries is an absolute necessity for older people, who connect with their community through these shared spaces. Libraries are hubs of information, literacy, learning and a social good.

>>>

Libraries are real community hubs, particularly for older people and people with young families. It is essential that there is no reduction in opening hours (extensions would be greatly desirable if possible). We would like to politely remind, however, that the best expenditure on libraries is not necessarily capital projects (although libraries should be safe warm welcoming and accessible) but in the presence of the very excellent staff. No capital improvements should be made at the expense of the preservation of the amazing and helpful staff.

375 - Alex McNeill

Yes, so important to have functional libraries which are open long hours and have a variety of events/activities/services available.

3758 - Mads Churchhouse

Our libraries are some of the best things about this city and I welcome that money is being spent on them.

3783 - Arthur McGregor

I really value our local library. It is a place I often visit with my 3 year old son. We love choosing books together, looking at an interesting magazine while we get a coffee/fluffy, and playing with the lego when it's there. Investing in our libraries is important to me.

3784 - Simona Wallwork (Nomads United AFC)

keep spending money on libraries, they are an amazing asset to the city

3793 - Mark Gerrard (Historic Places Canterbury)

Canterbury Stories:

HPC [Historic Places Canterbury] considers this is a great initiative by the Library and supports the continued funding of this community participation project.

3800 - Rachel Barker

In summary, I support operational priorities of:>>> Libraries

>>>

I depend on libraries for the majority of reading. I do not use digital readers (Kobe etc) but prefer taking out books which I do every month. Libraries are a hub for me, especially South Library and Lyttelton Library where I connect with friends and browse for books and activities on offer e.g. the amazing Seed Swap and talks that libraries run.

3806 - Simon Green

Our library system is fabulous and has been adaptive to change. Great to see funding continues for this valuable service.

3812 - Nick Paris

I don't use the service but very happy to continue to provide certainty for the next ten years for the many others that do..

3816 - Annette Bolton

Support this.

3817 - Melissa Macfarlane

[Recreation, Sports & Events > Rec & Sport (Operations)]

I value, and support, the continued subsidised costs of entry to CCC pools and gym facilities which will allow more residents to be able to access these important assets and continued support for libraries, both of which will support community wellbeing.

3820 - Rowan Sprague

Very supportive - I'm always impressed by the level of service in our libraries.

3830 - Brenda Banning

I am comforted with the view to retain libraries at the existing level of support.

3841 - Kate Hodgins

Libraries are at the heart of our communities. When I have overseas visitors they are often very pleasantly surprised at the quality and variety of services found in our libraries. Libraries are one of the few truly community spaces we have. Everyone uses them. Please maintain or increase their funding. The South library is also a community meeting place, community board space, cafe and education center. It sits at the heart of our community. We look forward to it being renewed soon.

3845 - Wolfgang Rack

OK.

3846 - Rebecca Finch

Dont close any!

3857 - Pauline Smale

[Grants & Funding>Arts Centre Funding]; [Libraries>Libraries (Capital)]

My main response is that I am strongly for retaining existing funding for all libraries and also the christchurch arts centre

3875 - Maureen McCloy

Libraries are social hubs for our communities - so much happens in a library with significant information sharing, learning, and a very strong interface between the City and its citizens. They need to be funded to do their job well and are much, much more than buildings with books.

3876 - Dave Evans

Libraries are wonderful community spaces, especially for those who can't afford internet and computers/phones. I would not like to see any further cuts to these services.

3881 - Anne Scott

Libraries > Libraries (Capital)

Rebuild the South Library. Continue to provide an excellent collection, books, magazines etc in print as well as digital. Information is freedom.

3889 - Jessica Rees

Libraries remain a cornerstone of civil society and must be adequately funded to do their important mahi

3921 - Alison Loveridge

These must be maintained

3949 - Fay Brorens

I am very pleased with our (no or low cost) Public Libraries,

>>>

Public libraries are an important way that CCC can support the less well off. They provide a clean safe space that is usually comfortable and a suitable temperature.. Computer, printing & copy services, books, newspapers, free events for very young children.

3969 - H Bloomer-Law

>>> please keep funding everything the libraries do, they are a pillar of the community

3970 - Allannah Lovelady

Great spending balance.

3985 - Benjamin Lowe

Libraries need to stay open.

454 - Jude Rogers

Yes, these need prioritising.

464 - Mary McCammon

yes, they are central to community

487 - Gavin Stevenson

Essential.

504 - Angela Templeton

[Parks > Parks Spending (General)], [Grants & Funding > Arts Centre]

Agree with spending on libraries and parks and similar facilities, but please don't forget the Arts Centre

510 - Eleanor Sim

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?], [Strategic Direction > Additional Efficiencies], [Parks > Parks Spending (General)], [Grants & Funding > Arts Centre]

We MUST continue to priorities, parks, libraries and places such as the Arts Centre. The Council staff do a GREAT JOB !!!! I understand that these things cost money and money is limited. Efficiencies must be sought at all levels where possible. There must be activities/ facilities that add to the heart of a city.

526 - Stephen French

[Spending > Te Kaha]

I'd favour reducing the funding for Te Kaha in favour of a small increase for our library services. I continue to be impressed by the numbers that use our libraries and for the excellent services that provide for our community. They serve as excellent venues for many community groups, U3As, technology support and education, children's activities, and art and cultural displays.

527 - Hans Daellenbach

[Spending > Te Kaha]

Providing good library services that are easily accessible are an important cultural service of local government. There can be no justification to curtail operations in order to reduce operating costs and divert funds to other "pet" projects. There would have been more justification to reduce the seating capacity of the Stadium and save millions.

532 - Chris Abbott

Absolutely fantastic - do not reduce funding pls.

540 - Ross Allen

I strongly support this. Our library system is excellent.

583 - Rochelle Suddens

Libraries are a crucial part of society and need funding

597 - Ashleigh Dickson

I love the Libby app that the libraries are part of. I'm a high user of the library resources and think they do fantastically

631 - Cynthia Roberts

Libraries along with Green Spaces contribute to a thriving liveable city. I use the library weekly, often attend meetings in the various libraries around the city and am always impressed with what a welcoming, safe and inspiring place they provide for our citizens. I totally support librarians being paid properly - delighted that this has finally been sorted, the buildings we use are well maintained and earthquake damaged south library fixed.

636 - Ben Taylor

[Libraries > Libraries (Capital)]

good functioning libraries add so many benefits to the community. I support the capital and operational funding in the LTP

694 - Lucia Rivas

Libraries do serve a number of purposes beyond lending books. It is important to maintain them and ensure they are running efficiently.

78 - Michele Laing

Essential

785 - Ariana Tikao

[Recreation, Sports& Events>Rec & Sport (Operations); Art Galleries & Museums>Art Gallery (Operations); Galleries & Museums>Museums (Operations); Grants & Funding>Arts Centre Funding; Recreation, Sports& Events>Community Arts; Community Facilities>Community Facilities (Operations)]

I'd love to see continued support for our recreational and community facilities, libraries, galleries and museums, as well as continued support for the Arts Centre Te Matatiki Toi Ora as a vital contributor to the cultural life of the city, as well as Toi Auaha and other organisations such as The Loons in Lyttelton.

>>>

[Libraries>Libraries (Capital)]

I also believe that libraries are a vital aspect of our cultural infrastructure in the city. The community libraries are a really great resource for both young and old, and Tūranga is also an amazing resource for everyone in the city. I have worked for many years in the GLAM sector and so am very aware of the importance of libraries to our cultural identity and for support of literacy and access to information and resources. They are not just spaces with books as some people may believe, they are about technology, events, interpretation of resources and archives, and just warm safe spaces for people as a place to gather. I presented at and attended events at Tūranga during the WORD festival last year, as well as a poetry workshop at the South Library this year, and think that these spaces are well worth investing in as a community.

8 - Justin Yudistira

keep it open, please

820 - Shelley MacDonell

The library system is one of the jewels of Christchurch. Keeping it strong makes perfect sense!

856 - Ralph Hobbs

Libraries are excellent, keep doing what you're doing

883 - Elizabeth Steel

I like libraries and I think they should be funded well. I would encourage the council to ensure that projects funded for libraries are started early and completed in a timely manner, as I have seen similar projects dragged out. This balloons the costs, thereby discouraging future investment, and prevents these key public places from being enjoyed to their full potential.

901 - Noel Meek

Continued funding in this area is essential.

907 - Mandy Jarden

Keep libraries open as community hubs alongside book lending

912 - Sophie Hartnell

These are vital hubs for our communities, and their positive impact shouldn't be underestimated, keep funding!

Oppose

10 - Jeanne Butler

Need funding

1206 - Makenzie Haberfield

Put less money towards this

1230 - Carlana Limmer

[Grants & Funding > Events Ecosystem Funding]

Libraries no longer serve such an important part of the community. With so many books / education resources now on-line, I believe the large amount of money invested into libraries (which are not well utilized these days even as an educational resource) should instead be put into Major Events which have a real return to the local economy. These major events also provide legacy and hands-on training, experience and education for those in the entertainment and events sector, providing work for AV operators, sound engineers, security, caterers, talent, printers, event professionals .. the list goes on. The events industry and the hospitality industry was decimated by Covid 19 and the loss of major events in Christchurch would be a big blow for these industries.

>>>

[Strategic Direction > Additional Savings & efficiencies], [Grants & Funding > Events Ecosystem Funding], [Parks > Parks Maintenance], [Resource Recovery > Resource Recovery (Operations)], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

Value the most - major event funding, parks and foreshore. With rubbish and recycling, some portion of these costs should be user pays on their rubbish collection to save some of the costs allocated here. Losing the investment into creating more cycle lanes, and reducing the spend on libraries as these are not utilized or needed as they were prior to the hugely growing on-line resources which people can access for free.

1335 - Julie Turner

Unnecessary costs like paying drag queens to read to children, I was on the understanding drag queens are for adults not sexualizing our children

1628 - Matthew Brovelli

Too much emphasis on libraries. We have state of the art facilities that are ghost towns most of the time.

1825 - John Davies

Libraries less so.

1968 - Kelly Osborn

Over $500million on Libraries!!! why! We don't need to build any more libraries and if that's how much it costs to maintain the current ones we are doing something wrong. Centralise the communities libraries (you don't need one in Bishopdale and Papanui) and utilise more mobile services.

2079 - William Muir

These have left the function of libraries and are now social spaces - not the purview of the council to provide

2381 - Kim Franicevic

Close the libraries , books are free online

>>>

Close the libraries. People do not use libraries anymore.

2480 - Kristin Muirhead

Why do the libraries need 140 million. I'd like to see the numbers on how many people actually loan books to see how much is being spent on each person.

2912 - Shari Walker

Many rate payers have never used our libraries, i believe that cost shouldnt fall on rate payers but on those that use them

>>>

Libraries should be usèr pay

3096 - Hamish Mitchell

Is it time to cut libraries. They are quickly a relic of a by gone era. The world is digital, books are digitalized and we have one giant city library which is under utilized. Again another significant example of over capitalization.

3099 - Stephen Miller

Too much is spent on libraries. When the internet didn't exist and NZ was isolated it made sense but as great as they are, it doesn't make sense to spend so much on them now. Again, staffing levels need to be looked at.

340 - David Wilkinson

sorry but waste of money / homeless shelter. you can get anything you want on kindle for a few $. If you must offer a book service to residents do it much cheaper.

3502 - Rach Wilson

Why spend that much on libraries

3771 - Paul Bacon

Cut costs

>>>

Dump libraries

3787 - Deb Donnell

[Libraries > Capital]

$29 million for the rebuild of the earthquake-damaged South Library and Service Centre building, Ōmōkihi, which includes $9 million of funding from the Government over the first two years. The balance of the spend ($120 million!) includes looking after our existing facilities, expanding and renewing our extensive library collection and continuing to invest in technology solutions. Where is the bulk of the balance of the money going? In investing in technology solutions??? I visited Turanga recently, and the librarian struggled to use the computer system, and ended up going to the public website to find the answer to my question - I could have stayed home and done that! Furthermore, when I went looking for my books on Christchurch and the Christchurch Earthquake, I was unable to find them. The stated area was full of culturally appropriate (Te Reo Maori) books. The librarians in the area were all too busy standing around gossiping about ideology and other woke topics to help me. I actually gave up and left. I would recommend that the first thing you do is cut staffing costs by getting rid of librarians who cannot use the technology you have, or are not willing to assist visitors to the library who want help. AND stop promoting woke agendas and get back in the real world, engaging with ordinary everyday people who want to use the library and not be preached at or indoctrinated into activist political agendas.

3961 - Paul Robertson

Had heaps spent building new libraries already, why is there need for so much more to be spent. Given huge debt, basic maintenance only would be prudent.

794 - Yanny Webb-Walker

[Spending>Our Proposed Spending]

Infrastructure yes, facilities not all. We probably have more libraries than we can afford for instance

816 - Murray Dickinson

Too much money being wasted here. Libraries are no long a book repository, and they are searching for a purpose. Free Wifi, maker workshops.

859 - Todd Gault

Less library spending

>>>

Libraries are a dying service. Invest less in them.

893 - Peter Murphy

[Parks - Heritage (Capital)], [Parks - Spending (General)]

Parks/heritage and library cost should be cut

>>>

Cut costs!!!

>>>

[Parks - Parks (Spending)]

Libraries and Parks

895 - Hayley Mahanga

Libraries are hardly used anymore maybe have only central one rather than multiple would save alot of money

>>>

[Spending - Te Kaha]

The amount on libraries is way too much The stadium is costing way to much money to build

>>>

Less libraries needed waste of money

>>>

Reduce the libraries we have

Other

1042 - Manu Muehlbauer

Removed the screens for kids, Computer games especially it's a library not a games room!!! Use the money for something else - books, games etc

1057 - Helen Marginson

Libraries are no longer needed. Maybe keep the central library only

1061 - Racheal O'Brien

I love the city library I think it is amazing my question would be do we need so many local libraries as much reading is available online. Would it be better to reduce some smaller libraries and have a bigger focus on central and a couple of main hubs

1067 - Iarene Jelley

As above, and maybe a bit more as the libraries are a hub for community meetings and general gatherings of importance, like learning.

1068 - Redacted Redacted

what tech solutions are you implementing?? it is a library, read books!

1071 - Brian Donovan

Libraries and the use of are changing. Need a review of their purpose and role in the community

1094 - Katie Godman

Should be paid for by users and not the rate payers

>>>

[Other/Special Interest Topics>Cathedral]; [Grants & Funding>Orana Park Funding]

Take my share of the rates for the cathedral rebuild and the libraries and give it to Orana park.

>>>

[Libraries>Libraries (Operations)]; [Recreation, Sports & Events>Rec and Sport (Operational)]

No one goes to the library anymore. and Council pools and gyms should be paid for by the ones that actually use them not every rate payer.

1104 - Kate Bevin

[Fees and Charges>Libraries Charges]

Maybe look at some of the services that are not heavily used but are free and drop them or charge people for them to cover the costs.

1105 - Lana Shields

[Transport>Carparking (Capital)]

i love Turanga - it could be utilised more if there was more affordable parking nearby

1109 - Sarah Hosking

Focus more on Libraries as a safe key place for people and youths to meet

>>>

Focus more on Libraries as a safe key place for people and youths to meet

1160 - Chichella Cook

Close libraries on Sundays.

1261 - S McGregor

Close the libraries on the weekend.

1294 - Donna Macalpine

do we need every library in every part of town do they get used isnt it online now days keep main open only

135 - Jac Call

Open 6 days a week only. Some could be open Tuesday to Sunday, some Monday to Saturday. Main library needs to have library in English written on it. Reduction of a coffee beside library for Chch residents would Encourage them into city to use the library. On line is easier for many

>>> Some services can reduce. Like Libraries being open, reduce the days to reduce costs. >>> Reduce library time

>>> Less hours. Operate some Tuesday to Sunday. Some Monday to Saturday perhaps to accommodate all who use a library. Do a population survey as to demographics using library.

1395 - William Wallace

Libraries in general operate well, with the odd exception (see above comments re South Library) but 'story times' with LGBTQPA+ readers for very young, impressionable children, is absolutely wrong, and should be discontinued.

140 - Linda Harriswilliams

Libraries apart from city one dont need to be open 7 days aweek

>>>

Not 7 days

1405 - Justin Standing

Please continue to keep libraries adapting to modern needs, e.g. technology options for young people (podcast rooms, 3d printers, etc.)

1431 - Carissa Ptacek

Love that Libraries are being supported, would like more hours and like that there is plan for an additional library when population requires

>>>

Love them

1483 - Robert Zimmerman

You should spend more on gaming in the library esports funding or something

1501 - Jason Middlemiss (Waimāero Fendalton-Waimairi-Harewood Community Board)

The Board invites the Council to re-consider reviewing the opening hours of some Council facilities, for example libraries. The Board acknowledges that the previous proposal to reduce some opening hours was declined due to concerns about equitable access to our facilities. The Board agrees that this is a genuine concern, but submits that we need to find the right balance by targeting extended operating hours at facilities where there is clear demand for the service. Anecdotally we have heard that there is very low demand for extended operating hours at some of our libraries.

1519 - Matthew Williams

For instance, not all libraries need to be open every day of the week, same for community service centres,

154 - Chrysler Wiparata-Hammond

Would like a no kids/ study floor in the central library. There's no where for students to study. Also more normal tables those lower tables are useless

1545 - Jasmine Arps

I'd prefer to see libraries closed on Mondays, rather than Saturdays or Sundays. Working people use the libraries too and this would help make operating savings without making libraries inaccessible to the majority of ratepayers

>>>

I love Turanga and South Library. I'd like to see extended opening hours either one late night a week or over the weekend. I would be comfortable with the library closing one weekday to accommodate this.

1549 - Jessica Saunders

Less on Te Kaha more o libraries >>> These are important spaces for communities. They need proper support

1568 - Kathryn May

[Recreation, Sports & Events > Rec & Sport (Operations)]

I suggest we close swimming pools and libraries one day a week (not the same day) to save some money.

>>>

Close libraries and pool/gyms one day a week, not on same day for pools and gyms in same area. Turn off heating last hour before closing in libraries.

1581 - Ann Kleiss

Maybe libraries open less days other than Turangi. Eg mon wed Fri Saturday only

16 - Andrew McKay

Reduce the number and the hours.

1608 - Helen Davies

Not required 7 days a week! I am an avid reader but never use the library. I understand that some people do use them but surely they are not required every day of the week....

1609 - Johnathons Atkins

Libraries are a thing of the past. The town one is in maori and no one knows its a library. If you cant run one at a profit leave it to the private sector that can

Cut spending, they are a thing of the past and let the private sector run them if we cant turn a profit from them

1672 - Dickson Wong

Congromulate libraries. Instead of building multiple libraries at many locations, select few locations to build a bigger multicentre complex in future. Also can function as event centre, sports hall which will generate income for council

172 - Bronze Templeton

There needs to be a way for it to make money or else it is a waste of money

1750 - Edel Lougheed-Deane

The maintenance of these could be revisited esp those with lower attendees.

1766 - Jan Edwards

Should be user pays >16 years of age

1788 - Sandra Ward

Libraries do not need to be open 7 days a week, 5 1/2 days would cover most people, or where there is more than one library close together have one opening on a Saturday and the other on a Sunday.

179 - Bridgette Smith

They don't need to be open 7 days a week.

1826 - Jacqui Hudson

Possibly bring back fines for late returns to generate some income.

1837 - Rosalie Griffith

Comments: We could save dollars if libraries were closed one day a week for too explicit sexual information in libraries for 4yr olds. Child abuse by exploiting their innocence at that age!

1849 - Amy Brewer

I think we have lots of libraries and wonder whether we are wasting funds here too? With technology enabling people to use e-books etc what will be the future for these expensive libraries?

189 - Julie Coleshae

Libraries have to go. They are really just free crèches

>>>

Libraries are obsolete

1894 - Peter Moody

Automation and AI might help to reduce running costs. ie staff salaries

1923 - Matilda Moran

[Spending>Te Kaha]; [Transport>Cycleways (Capital)]; [Transport>Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]; [Three Waters>Stormwater & Land Drainage]; [Parks>Biodiversity & Ecological Restoration]

I think that prioritising things like the stadium are not as important as cycle ways, bus stops etc, flood protection, biodiversity protection, libraries, small business support and more and ~~things~~ these things need more funding and action.

1949 - Tessa Marshall

funding of libraries, youth spaces, mental health services is most important

2009 - CW Young

reduce library services (most people go online nowadays)

2034 - Kevin Walker

Vital, but some reductions in smaller ones may be needed. However overall they enable our young and old to participate in society

2055 - Joanne Byrne

The library at the palms does not provide equitable facilities for our community. You do not run the same programmes and activities for our children. It's not equitable. It's not ok.

2058 - Janita Patrick

I do notice that in the libraries >>> there are always a surplus of staff though so I don't know if there is any way to reduce staff costs?

2084 - Sarah Donaldson

No more new libraries (maybe scale back hours as well) >>>. They're small costs that have no fiscal benefit.

2088 - Bob Valentine

Libraries dont need to be open 7 days a week, except for CHC central.

2089 - Serge Ratten

Do you have any comments on operational spending:

more smaller libraries close to parks bike and walk ways between them

2110 - Jennifer McMaster

[Grants & Funding>Arts Centre Funding]; [Three Waters>Waterways Quality & Compliance (Operations)]

More funding into clean waterways and greening the city as well as libraries and ~~the~~ art centers.
poisonous

2181 - Liviah Rachel Bramley

We need more money going into ~~fuel energy~~ operational spending to help our libraries stay open

2191 - Cassandra Hannington

Is there any way to cut further down on the Library costs - I know libraries are key to communities for connection but realistically are all 20 being used regularly?

2214 - Paul Kruger

No, more public accessibility to public spaces and buildings through extended hours of opening (libraries etc)

>>>

Extended opening hours

2304 - Stephanie Burke

Libraries are great, as they are, but please go back to calling them after the suburb they are in - makes it much easier to know where you are talking about.

2355 - Iain Sanders

Provide free copy for our central city library, Turanga.

2358 - Carolyn Moffat

[Strategic Direction > Additional Savings & Efficiencies], [Three Waters > Stormwater & Land Drainage (Capital)]

Perhaps there are savings to be found -ie reduce operating hours of some libraries, or reduce the number of times per year the council crew come down streams, such as Old Mill Stream, to cut vegetation.

2368 - Alaine Percasky

Libraries will cater for workers during the week, and it would be useful to have them open on a Sunday.

2380 - Ben Comfort

Please keep finding the libraries! They're super important.

>>>

Libraries >>> should have more funding

2385 - Ezra Mussa

Further funding

2386 - Gail Ingram

[Parks > Other]

You must prioritise our public places, or at least the only public domain or commons we have left, which is the library. We should also be looking at funding more public spaces, especially because there is a cost of living crisis. >>> [Parks > Other], [Grants & Funding > Arts Centre Funding], [Parks > Heritage (Capital)]

More on libraries, fund the art centre, fund our public places - top priorities in a cost of living crisis. People need uplifting places to go, our heritage, places of education grow people and encourage visitors to the city.

>>>

Libraries are sorely underfunded and under staffed. Essential for the well-being, education and preservation of our history, our well-being, our culture. They should be given top priority as the only one of the public commons we have left, where people go to get help with personal, social and cultural projects, for peace, for warmth, for respite in difficult times, for community.

2389 - Aurora Garner-Randolph

more library funding. they are vital spaces for community.

2396 - Sam Jenkins

I would love to see more spent and prioritised on alternative services that libraries can provide - similar to overseas where you have things like tool libraries, people you can borrow to help assist with things etc.

2422 - Debora Mora

[Three Waters > Taumata Arowai Requirements], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)], [Transport > Roads (Capital)], [Spending > Te Kaha], [Spending > Capital Programme (Spending)]

-Libraries we all know run at a loss, so like Summer pools ended up with reduced hours due to viability, perhaps reduce library hours/days, and perhaps bring back late payment charges.

2452 - Philippa J Flood

Our libraries are excellent. Turanga should be open until 9pm on week nights as the Canterbury public library used to be. Do not suggest cutting library hours as a result of overspending on other things such as the stadium.

246 - Rose Shayler

[Other/Special Interest Topics>Staff Matters]

Pay your library staff more, they're about one pay packet away from a full blown revolution.

2462 - Mark Cox

Dying out, reducing number to save money.

2466 - Tracey Cloughly

Do we need all the libraries, don't think so.

2509 - Angela Nicol

Library. I've heard talks about removing the overdue charges at the library, but there was a reason this was done. I have heard people in the past say they didn't want to borrow books because they were worried they couldn't return in time for the due date. Customer complaints were so common to staff, having to pay, with some saying they wouldn't use the Library again. Having that option to have the book for extra time without feeling they are penalized, has been great for both customers and staff and books are still being returned before lost. There was also talks about lowering the Library hours, this was looked at in the past and declined by public support too. There is not many libraries that close late, and closing at six does not give enough time for people who finish work after 5. Yes Libraries can be quieter, but they are still used, from people who can get there after work, to people who don't have internet at home, need a safe place to relax or study that is warm, and people that are homeless. If there was no choice but to lower, I'd go to 7pm, but definitely not 6pm. The weekend hours (10-4) are constantly busy with a rush from 3-4, if anything having an extra hour would be best but certainly not taking any away, or closing the day. As for increasing cost to library resources, if this was a must, charging a little bit more for the use of photocopier, wouldn't be as bad as the other options mentioned above, its been a long time since the costs have been adjusted. These are used a lot. But a high use of printers for example are from people trying to find jobs. So increasing costs would not be so kind on these folk, but possibly a small rise - 10cent was to make a difference overall then that might be an option. But I do think using Libraries as a cost cutting option, should be one of the last resorts if it has to be considered. Its a place for enabling people to learn - whether its reading, or having that access to resources they may not have at home. For many people that are not on a high income, having the Libraries turn into another place of increased expense may hurt them.

2513 - Lucy Richardson

[Resource Recovery > Resource Recovery (Capital)]

I love the library but should we spend more money on libraries than waste and resource recovery?

>>>

I love the library. Maybe more books to start as "pay to read" to earn more revenue for the library.

2519 - Charlotte Withington

[Libraries>Libraries (Capital)]

Libraries serve their purpose but why can't they be condensed with community centres more. E books and audio books and on line resources are making libraries able to be reduced in size, their spaces could used more for community groups, school use, hall hiring etc

2559 - Michael Campbell

Libraries are such a valuable asset for Christchurch. I would support bolstering resources available to suburban libraries especially in the east to make them even greater community assets. The 6pm closing of the likes of the Shirley Library is too early and would support making across the board closing time of 7pm to align with other libraries across the city.

2615 - Virginia Wright

Just make sure they remain free of charge to access and to borrow books from.

264 - Raizel Reyes

A mobile library for people who may not have the means to travel into a library to pick up books. Or a delivery service for a small fee/subscription.

2659 - E Ackroyd

Could spend more here - libraries deliver multiple services: JP services, social events, meeting spaces, internet access for people without internet at home etc.

2671 - Julia Bradshaw

[Rates]

I would like to see more spend on libraries and other cultural facilities and am happy to see my rates increase to fund this. These institutions get a very small share of the rates, so an increase for them would only be a small rates increase.

[Art Centre and rates]

though I am concerned about reduced spending on community facilities, especially libraries and grants to the Arts Centre, for heritage and environment projects. I am happy to pay more rates to fund these.

268 - Kathryn McNeil

These are well-loved facilities and much more than 'buildings with books in them'. Do they all need to be open for the hours they currently are? Could hours be reduced where patronage is low?

2682 - Scott Savage

Libraries are 7% of rates costs. Does the ability of accessing online now require a look at how many physical libraries we have and how they are run, size of them and hours to ensure it aligns with the demand we are seeing from users?

2693 - Tanya Markman

5. Libraries. I can see opportunities for savings within the library budget. Could some of the library hours that show low use levels (later evening) be reduced?
Could some of the 'in house' events hosted by libraries be discontinued? There was considerable public anger and outcry at council with the programme they ran promoting transgender sexuality. Libraries are not an appropriate facility for such events and an insult to the taxpayers who fund it. Spend money elsewhere.

2731 - Anna Barber

[Recreation, Sports & Events > Pools (Capital)]

Mostly but library hours could be shortened as could service centres pools etc

2734 - Sharon McDonald

Libraries do not need to be open on Sundays.

>>> Close the libraries on Sundays.

2755 - Jane Demeter

Hours of service may need adjusting if the facility is not being utilised e.g. all weekday evenings

277 - Jane Harrison

Please don't close any small libraries, especially on Banks Peninsula. They are vital amenities for our small communities.

2804 - Janette Leith Brott

Libraries do not need to be open on weekends

2805 - Coleen Briggs

Libraries do not need to be open on weekends.

2816 - Susan Eleanor Peake

omments: But I think library hours could be reduced especially in the weekends which will incur higher staffing rates - maybe close at 2pm?

282 - Michael Heenan

Do we have too many?

2829 - Jennifer Dalziel

dont touch the libraries. Shirley Library is one of the busiest libraries in Christchurch It should be upgraded there needs to be more computer terminals and learning spaces in this library. to free up te space to do this put the Service center and Post office/ Kiwibank back into the Palms building

2835 - Emma Rodriguez Dos Santos

This is a vital service for families, improving literacy, bringing arts to communities, support for children with disabilities, etc, etc. the list goes on. And yet its only worth a small proportion of the operational and capital spend. This is short-sighted.

2839 - Teresa von der Heiden

I love having heaps of libraries but noticed some staff being bored of having not much to do. Doing puzzles etc.

Library staff is not always busy so maybe this could be a place where some money could be saved.

2852 - Aaron Ghattas

There are a lot of small libraries, our family goes to one every two week so we really appreciate it. However there 6 libraries north of town. This seems quite excessive for small area.

2854 - Annabel Turley (Christchurch Central City Business Association)

We suggest that the Council explore all options for savings and to ensure an efficient and effective spend of ratepayer money to reduce the proposed rates increase. Areas we suggest the Council consider the following:

>>>

- Efficient use of resources – the Christchurch City Council Library Network is extensive and provides excellent service to residents. We encourage the Council to be brave and consider reducing hours (for instance, closing various libraries an extra day a week). High levels of service could still be maintained whilst managing resources more efficiently. The rates rises will hurt businesses and households, and the feeling amongst ratepayers and businesses is the Council needs to reduce costs, just as many of them are doing.

2855 - Kat Forrester

Libraries need a great public campaign to make them look as cool as they are but yeah, libraries are safe, inclusive spaces for everyone.

2865 - Natalie Henderson

As previously said, they're super important and i think we need to up how much spending they get. I LOVE the creative spaces and have used them myself. Beautiful places.

2870 - Melanie Luckman (Cubbin Theatre Company)

Use them more! Put more events in them!

2895 - Anne Shivas

Don't spend money on Rainbow indoctrination (e.g. drag queens reading to children)

29 - Hayley Young

Again, fund the basics. Cut library opening hours, we don't need any libraries open on public holidays or sundays. Not in a cost of living crisis.

2949 - Graeme John Marriott

Don't close any libraries. They are the fabric of society. Their hours should be extended, not shortened

2953 - Quentin Kelly

Libraries yes,

>>>

No issues with these, a requirement. Maybe less of the woke trash infiltrating the shelves. No-one really likes it.

297 - Michael Crabtree

[Strategic Direction > Additional Savings & Efficiencies]

10% cost savings required

3 - Di Prankerd

I think making libraries multi use facilities is a good way of subsidising the cost of running these facilities

3018 - Kristal Jenkins

Yes I believe Libraries are important especially for the youth. I dont believe they need millions but enough to maintain being open

3021 - Viane Makalio

More money could be put into this >>> [Art Galleries & Museums > Museums (Operational)]

3023 - Carolyn Brown

stick to being a place of books and not a community centre with all the bells and whistles of 3d printers, sewing machines etc.

3043 - J Elliott

Reduce running costs by opening Libraries 1 day a week less.

3053 - Drucilla Kingi-Patterson

The council needs to have cups of tea at the library, meet the mayor, councillors not just election time. To talk about community & Art Projects the Lego is great we need to develop more

[Full attachment available]

3055 - Josephine Drysdall

I wholeheartedly support funding for our libraries and would like to see it increased. Public commons space, where users are not expected to spend money, is becoming increasingly rare and is vital to sustainable communities. Library staff are also woefully underpaid for a complex job that requires an incredibly broad range of skills.

3060 - Georg Ludwig

The last thing to cut, I like them, but there are so many unnecessary small libraries apart from the 5 largest

3071 - James Gormack

[Parks>Parks Maintenance]; [Recreations, Sport & Events>Rec & Sport (Operations)]; [Spending>Our Proposed Spending]

There should be a greater emphasis on community facilities - parks, libraries, pools etc

3088 - Heather Brown

Increase use of AI where you can e.g. libraries (I am a regular library user). Continue to fund maintenance of public amenities - well being. Also many of these were gifted to the City.

Maintain library buildings, increase spending budgets, do cost benefit analyses based on community connections, education and well-being.

3089 - Trevor Lord

[Art Galleries]

Increase libraries and art galleries to $250 million.

3127 - Dianne Downward

[Fees & Charges > Libraries (Charges)]

Not ALL Libraries need to be open 7 days a week. Some already are closed on Sunday and have shortened hours. This could be looked at to find additional savings. I am not for added charges on books as this will only hurt people who are already struggling financially. Children's story time can be done by parents and will help strengthen the parent/child bond. I have witnessed some libraries have an excess of workers who look for books to straighten to look busy.

3129 - Skye Arnopp

Libraries and other community services are incredibly important.

>>>

Raise spending on libraries.

>>>

Libraries are so important!!! They are the beating heart of the community, and I love that our libraries have so many initiatives besides the obvious book rental and public space <3 Hugely impressed by how well our local libraries are managed. Fund more!

314 - Vaughan Kirkland

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Staff Matters]

The staffing levels in these facilities is too high. Staffing in the libraries in particular could be cut right back given these are generally self-service entities

>>>

As stated elsewhere these are well overstaffed for what is generally a self-service model.

>>>

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Staff Matters]

I think there are some areas where services could be maintained but with less staff and there should be a full review. For instance the libraries. There seems to be a huge number of staff given the vast majority of people complete a visit to the library with no need to interact with a staff member.

3148 - Viv Cotter

Yes, libraries. They are needed but run at long hours which is costly. Reduce the hours at least

>>>

Love the library, but there's room to cut service to save money. E.g. the cost of running a gas fire all day, seriously??

3155 - Robyn Ratcliff

To even consider the shortening of library is ineffective andcrediculus.

3169 - Barbara Brown

Libraries provide so many services to the citizens and our community as a whole. I support increased funding to libraries. Possibly hours of opening could be assessed based on usage. I am not opposed to reduced hours.

3170 - Derek Doddington (Top Dog Theatre)

I would like libraries aim to become closer to financially self sufficient

3191 - John Massie

More money to the libraries

3206 - John Gudgeon

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Staff Matters], [Transport > transport (Operations)]

Now that most people have access to the internet, do you really need all those libraries and books?

3230 - Suz Guthrie

The new library is far too big. Consolidate everything into two floors. Get rid of unimportant books and rent out all other spaces. Get rid of the cafeteria. The smell of stale food in the library is very unpleasant.

3232 - Margaret Slack

You could cut a few things back. >>> Library shut on weekends.

3248 - Dave Edwards

[Art Galleries & Museums>Art Gallery (Operational)]; [Art Galleries & Museums>Museums (Operational)]; [Fees and Charges>Car Parking Fees (on-street & off-street)]

So you're planning to reduce the use of parking and keep people away from key area's by raising prices? How about fees on libraries, art galleries and museums that really cost huge amounts for a small percentages of actual ratepayers and let people free into business areas that really generates wealth.

>>>

[[Libraries>Libraries (Capital)

Libraries are old school and media is online. They are expensive to maintain so go user pay, centralise and reduce numbers and get rid of subsidised free wifi.

>>>

[Spending>Our Proposed Spending]

Same with libraries, let the users pay and use the online services.

[Coder note: reduce amount spent on libraries]

326 - Greg Dodds

No reduction in spending on these.

3262 - Charlorte Verity-McCormick

Perhaps also bring back the overdue fee at the libraries? And maybe they could close

>>>

Yes. except,,, - see earlier note re overdue fees - perhaps some libraries could close a bit earlier (less power, staff costs

3346 - Lynette Bay

Signage needs to be recognizable and understood by all including our visitors to our country. Prioritizing projects, urgent and non urgent. What can be done at a later time when finance available

3398 - Robert Pethig

An increase on library spending, the facilities that it might provide to various people of our city. It is a place of learning, escape and exploring. Holding events, learning a language or providing the ability to connect to the world for people that otherwise might not be able due to cost or ability (with everything being increasing online, an librarian helping an elderly patron access the internet is vital).

340 - David Wilkinson

my view is the city can't afford a lot of local libraries and council offices. I would close almost all and perhaps run a mobile service for those who truly can't get into town. Happy with park and pool infrastructure.

3431 - Phoebe Maguirr

We don't need 24/7 libraries

347 - Catherine Webber

[Fees and Charges>Libraries Charges]

Libraries need to be dragged into the 21st century, books are a dying form of media. I know libraries have diversified their services which is great. Perhaps more money could be made by re-introducing fines for overdue/lost/stolen/damaged items and charging more for certain services.

3474 - Timothy Lambert

Charge for libraries no different to pools

3493 - Brendon Lee

All the libraries need to be assessed on the # of people that actually use them and at what hours. Nothing wrong if they close on a Sunday or open later in the morning like 10AM.

350 - Chris Hoopmann

Continue growth of modern community assets e.g. maker spaces.

3547 - Juliet Thomson

Keep y to hear open and grew of charge. Vital got everyone's health and wellbeing

3548 - Dwayne McCormick

Review of use and how to utilize as multi income earning sites..could some also be rented space.

3573 - Joyce Yager

I strongly support additional library funding.

3575 - Anna Hansson

I really value libraries and what they do for people in the community. The people who work at libraries are lovely too. I would encourage maintaining them, but not spending more .

3577 - Marie Byrne

[Fees & Charges > Other]

Consider reintroducing fines for overdue books. No fines is as nice to have.

3592 - Lucy Altaner

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?], [Strategic Direction > Climate Change], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

More for climate change, bike paths, libraries and public transport.

>>>

Libraries could be a bit higher up. They are extremely vital to the community and help people everyday. They also have amazing books.

>>>

MORE MORE MORE!! Libraries are amazing and should keep investing in them.

3601 - Bridget Allen

I question if funding libraries to for them to develop to do more work in the community that currently community groups are doing, which then makes it harder for community groups to get funding.

3613 - Catherine McLeavy

This is a big cost, users should be asked to contribute.

3615 - Janine Clarke

Libraries are very useful community assets in so many ways and I am so happy to come back to NZ and see that we still have libraries, but what would they cost to self fund? Also do they need a rename as so many offer much more than just a book loan?

>>>

Libraries are great! Can we look at self funding models?

3616 - Mark Webster

Libraries are important - the printed word can't get deleted or shadowbanned. But get the pornographic material off the shelves.

3621 - Morgane Honore

Encouraging increased collaboration between libraries and community groups is essential.

3623 - Jessica Adams

Libraries are becoming "drop-in" centres with far less emphasis on the provision of books. Spending should be reviewed on libraries to what is essential with hours reduced.

3626 - Connie Christensen

Our libraries should be 'shared spaces' where cafes, community centres, civic centres etc. share facilities.... like South Christchurch library (cafe and civic centre), North Riccarton library (and cafe). There are still several libraries where sharing of facilities could see improvement of services and potential saving of finances.

3648 - Yvonne Russell

Libraries could operate on a split week so staff could operate at two libraries (halving the salary costs)

365 - Wendy Burton

Keep them !! They are so important of communities . Come up with initiatives to help them be self funding

3652 - Andrew Hamlin

I think if the council needs to cut cost with facilities that im ok with reduced hours at the library. I would however prefer if the library shut later and opened later as prior to the quake it use to shut at 9pm .

3673 - Theo van Woerkom

Libraries - is something we as a family never use.

>>>

Can do without, we as a family never use them.

3684 - Alison Lomax

[Spending > Capital Programme (General)]

I regularly visit libraries and each time i go I see a number of staff standing around chatting, libraries appear to be over staffed given they no longer issue or return books as it's all automated. The branches that have NZ Post in them have huge queues with the staff there frantically trying to get through all the customers while library staff are standing nearby chatting to each other with nothing to do. The council needs to look at how and where it spends it's money to make sure it's being well spent. I also think it's a waste of resources to provide computer gaming facilities, if the computers are meant to be used for those that can't afford one they don't get to as there is usually young people sitting there gaming for ages. I don't feel this is an essential service or is helping the community in any way.

3686 - Suzanne Peddie

Cutting Library services is a bad idea

3690 - Jono de Wit (Greater Ōtautahi)

More support should be given to Community Libraries and Centres in suburbs, to help them meet the needs of their communities. There are several areas in the city that are not serviced by official Council Service Centres or Libraries. Community-led initiatives in this space deserve more support from Council. These are often constituent's primary spaces to meet and represent an opportunity for Council to do proactive consultation, however, are often ill-staffed or financially supported to take on a more intensive role.

3697 - Jennie Brittenden

[Strategic Direction > Performance Framework]

There are certain services that could be reduced, for example libraries with less opening hours.

3705 - Glenis Youngman

Libraries > Libraries (Capital)

it is important to invest in libraries but we should not have to pay for the rebuild of any earthquake-damaged library. This should have been covered by insurance payout not ratepayers. i do not want any ratepayer money being paid towards LGBT people telling stories at our libraries as it is morally wrong and extracurricular activity that ratepayers should not be paying for.

3708 - Joan Simpson

Libraries are amazing spaces for the communities. The Council needs to balance what they spend on buildings with ensuring that they can adequately staff the spaces. Thousands of community members spend time in libraries and the mix of community often means they expect support from staff.

3711 - Hamish Keown

It would be worth seeing what the impact of closing the libraries early due to staff shortages has been. Could there be a minor tweek there to save some staff costs?

3717 - Sam Hampton (Te Pātaka o Rākaihautū Banks Peninsula Geopark Trust)

The Geopark is a engagement and learning centred platform, and our local libraries are an important resource within the conceptual Geopark framework. Extending beyond the typical books and resources, maker space will play an important part in place-based education activities, resources, and co-development.

3741 - Kevin Spaul

My be changed for books Shorter opening hours

3745 - Victoria Rathgen

Libraries are punching above their weight, they are doing a wide variety of activities so stop threatening them with cuts be a good employer!

3757 - Sonia Kennedy

The only thing on this list which I would question would be libraries given the fact we already have some great libraries in this city that are fit for purpose. (To be clear, I use the library regularly (once or twice a month) so I am a fan of continuing to have a library service.) As an example, I know the South Library is due to be re-built but, to be honest, I think the building would be fine to last a further 10 years given there are structural beams in place and the building is still warm and welcoming. It feels like money that would go into that project could be better spent elsewhere during a cost of living crisis.

>>>

As per my comments above - I love our libraries but I don't think we necessarily need to knock down existing ones to build new flash ones. Eastgate is a good example of library housed in a very average setting which still carries out its core activity - providing a place for people to get books, sit quietly somewhere warm and comfortable.

3767 - Donna Faucher

7am - 8/9pm hours

3805 - Antony Lawrence

Library hours should be reduced to save operating costs.

3809 - Johnathon Ridden

[Parks > Heritage]

Libraries and heritage are a paramount and vital part of Ōtautahi and need more investment and support, not less.

3811 - Greg Canton

More library services need to be online. I do a joy downloading e books via Libby and I also use Kanopy. While I get people visiting to use computers etc, not sure why we can't have wifi hotspots in public areas

3813 - Marg Morrison

The Libraries are a wonderful resource particularly for our children and grandchildren. Opening hours need to recognise the time restraints on modern families

3850 - Stephanie Remington

Sensible spending to keep these open. I don't think we need all of them 7 days a week.

3852 - Chris Coey

Library usage has changed with the move to digital (ebooks / online resources). A possible saving could be to reduce the opening hours to 5 days a week?

3866 - Nicki Carter (Carter Group)

It is important for the Council to consider affordability of services, and consider affordability as well as levels of service. For instance, use of library resources could be considered. As an example: Council libraries were open on Easter Sunday with all shops and other businesses closed – it did not make sense for libraries to be open on Easter Sunday. Further, not all libraries need to be open 7 days a week. Residents would be understanding of evidence and closing libraries one day a week on the lowest visitation days.

3868 - Don Gould

These don't need to be open as much. We need to open the town one later at night and longer in the weekend but close the rest sooner and in some cases not open at all in the weekends. We need to use the town library has a vehicle to drive people to visit the CBD.

3869 - Cam Parsonson

Cut library and service centre hours

>>>

Reduce libraries cost by 750k

>>>

[Strategic Direction > Additional savings and efficiencies]

Reduce library services by 750k

3893 - Joe Pope

More funding for educating kids

3895 - Margaret Trotter

Our children have the right to libraries. They are our future. How could you even think of reducing funding to these facilities. How many libraries would the new stadium pay for-

>>>

Our >>> Libraries, >>> are the soul of this city. People need to be able to access these facilities and they need to be affordable.

>>>

Libraries are the core of our civilisation if you read. They provide a rich environment of knowledge and community for all age groups. Our children need the opportunity to be able to have a rich literature world. For some this has been lost in the homes. We all have a responsibility for support others. However from the CCC view they are not profit making places.

3898 - Richard Smith

SHOULD CUT OPENING HOURS OF LIBRARIES - OPEN LATE MORNING SO THAT A STANDARD STAFF SHIFT TAKES OPENING THROUGH TO EARLY EVENING - SAY 10.30AM TO 6.30PM (8 HOURS)

>>> AND SHOULD LOOK TO MAKE THE LIBRARY HOURS JUST THOSE THAT ARE FOR ONE SHIFT OF PEOPLE TO MAKE STAFFING LESS NUMEROUS - SAY 10.30AM TO 6.30PM (8 HOURS) >>>

SHOULD LOOK AT STAFFING LEVELS AND OPENING HOURS - SEEMS A LOT OF PEOPLE AT SOME FACILITIES DOING NOT A LOT/CRUISING AND SHOULD LOOK TO MAKE THE LIBRARY HOURS JUST THOSE THAT ARE FOR ONE SHIFT OF PEOPLE TO MAKE STAFFING LESS NUMEROUS - SAY 10.30AM TO 6.30PM (8 HOURS)

3902 - James Ridpath

We could consider decreasing hours of Tūranga, after doing assessments on the number of users at various times. You could also consider closing all community libraries one day a week, such as one on a Monday, another a Tuesday, another Wednesday, etc, to save 1/7th of the budget.

3907 - Graham Muir

I am a bit surprised at the cost of the libraries given how much is moving to a digital environment rather than printed matter.

3909 - Anna Osborn

Looking at whether we need all of the libraries. With the digital world we live in, could reduce spending in this area.

3910 - Joshua Jones

Better digital library resource awareness

3927 - Wendy Marshall

Libraries should be free and fully staffed

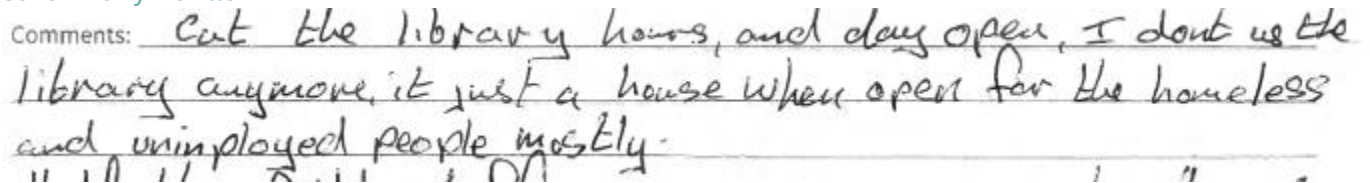

3956 - Nicola McCormick

Check the viability of libraries being open after 18 00 pm at night. Low usage = close early.

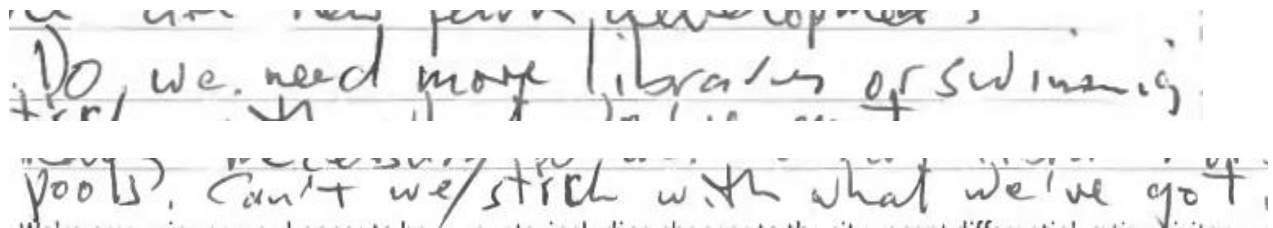

3963 - Jillian Scott

Keep all the library's. Close on public holidays to save wages but continue to provide free wifi for visitors to the city with seating outside.

3979 - Kerry Neville

Comments: Cut the library hours, and close open, I don't use the library anymore, it just a house when open for the homeless and unemployed people mostly.

3990 - Malcolm Smeaton

Do we need more libraries of swimming pools? Can't we stick with what we've got?

3994 - Sarah Boje

Council libraries seem to employ too many people. And its not very representative of the population. Looks like nearly everyone has peircings, purple hair and LGBTQ+ books everywhere. My kids hate the library now and wont go. They feel like its a groomers pad. Their words not mine.

>>>

[Transport > Operations]

No rainbow crossing, or storytime, & quit with that stuff, its not councils responsibility. Its political propaganda & true gays hate it.

4023 - Bethan Sommer

Give all libraries more funding please!

4032 - Paul Dietsche

Keep them supported and open. Promote them MORE!

4037 - Jo Kidd

Maybe a $20 annual fee for library use per person?? Can't be too much or those who really benefit won't use it. But some user pays system

404 - Annelise Bryant

add a small fee to the entrance of the library eg subscription or casual.

>>>

Add a small fee to visit.

406 - Angela Burrill

Reduce costs, consider consolidation of suburban locations to provide better resources across the area.

416 - Mike Cleaver (Canterbury)

I have, in the last decade learnt to love everything about libraries, the services they provide, their accessibility, and it's not just books, but digital resources as well. They are such a crucial part of so many communities, I hope their funding goes up! It is unclear from the proposal how the funding has changed from previous years.

447 - Zoelle Davies

Fine as they are, just maintain them.

452 - Mark Penrice

We don't need any more libraries, but we do need longer opening hours.

550 - Colin Mansell

[Strategic Direction > Performance Management]

Can maybe cut back on some opening hours for libraries etc but not to the extent that use is discouraged

572 - Brian Nelson

Our libraries are a great community resource. They need to be supported with modern technology so they can truly function for all in our community.

581 - Paul Amtman

Do we need a library in every suburb?

622 - Stephanie Cullen

I am glad to see Beckenham service center is in the works but this is not the only library that needs upgrading -- the delay has pushed out when we might look at upgrades for other facilities i.e. Redwood library. There is no library that really has sufficient space for a full range of library activities over North Christchurch -- Papanui is really the biggest, and it's outdated and small. The north is chronically lacking for community and arts activities compared to elsewhere; even the east attracts considerably more, and I believe this is connected to a lack of things like libraries which serve as community hubs and spaces.

638 - Amanda Cropp

Consider reducing library hours slightly at weekends. May be closing slightly earlier.

644 - Julie Paterson

[Parks > Other]

It is difficult, but use existing services to maintain community involvement eg libraries and parks

687 - Anna Laurenson

Could we utilise more volunteers for libraries? Look at solar? Ask for a gold coin donation at entry for those who can afford it?

719 - Shane McInroe

I would like to see more of focus on community / library as they people many people

730 - Doug Allen

We currently have 20 libraries in the city, so roughly one for every 20,000 people, the like so some small towns have one library with a population of 50,000 people, do we really need this many and do they really need to be open 7 days per week. Stop treating us like an ATM, maybe that will go some way to restoring the balance.

>>>

You should be looking at ways of reducing services and costs, do we need so many libraries, do they need to be open 7 days per week and do they need to provide services that other agencies should be providing.

761 - Carol Groves

Great library in Akaroa. Do we really need libraries to be open on a Sunday or after 6pm?

763 - Nicola Fagan

Do many people still use these? mainly for people who want access to free internet, I think they are good as is now.

789 - Stuart Sanderson

Libraries should be moved online. It would be cheaper to give the entire city free internet and access to an online library. No money is being spent on recovery of costs in these areas

>>>

Libraries should be moved online. It would be cheaper to give the entire city free internet and access to an online library. No money is being spent on recovery of costs in these areas.

877 - Helen Hessey

It would be good to have libraries open 7 days a week, but I would settle for less to cut costs.

>>>

The hours could be reduced a little to save some money

885 - Denise Kidd

Libraries are important and the services should be continued with increased emphasis on programmes and modernising the experience residents can experience at Diamond Harbour library. The DH library experience feels very old fashioned and not what libraries of this day and age should feel like.

902 - Karen McElhinney

I love our libraries, but I don't believe they need to be open to quite the extent they currently are. Perhaps a reduction in hours would help reduce the expenditure a little.

989 - Dave Renison

With the move to e books, reduce the number of physical libraries and increase e resources.

Not Stated

1001 - Jessica Schulz

Keep these as they are.

1098 - Eric Pawson

They are first rate and play such an important social role

1129 - John Clemens

Keep up the good work on Libraries. Everyone loves their library, almost as much as their parks.

113 - Sarah Cragg

So important! Love our libraries!

1192 - Shannay Henning

not everyone uses libraries in today's day

1217 - Ila Couch

Libraries are vital spaces

1221 - Lynette Sessa

Have nothing to add. The libraries are a wonderful facility.

1224 - Amanda OBrien

[Grants & Funding > Other], [Recreation, Sports and Events > Rec & Sports (Operations)]

Community services especially for the Elderly are extremely important, we are a aging population there are so many isolated people in chch

1245 - Nicole Ireland

[Transport > Transport (Operations)]

Why so much on libraries and transport

1258 - John Chrisstoffels

Grants & Funding > Other Community Grants & Funding

You mention libraries as a priority. The learning and diversity of expression is also a product of the Screen incentive fund involving writers, musicians, actors and a large section of the community.

1282 - Kelvin Lynn

New Zealand's free library network is a national treasure. It is vital that our libraries remain open and well staffed. The current service from Christchurch Libraries is superb.

1292 - Gemma Phillips

Keep it simple with libraries

1299 - David Molony

Libraries re so awesome.

1488 - Mel Brown

We have a bus library out to spencerville which the residents appreciate.

1504 - Jonathan Kingston-Smith

Libraries: are people really using them to their full extent?

153 - Lindsay Strang

Remain important for residents even if it just for socialising and keeping warm it is a focus

158 - Nathan Foord

Interesting one, are libraries still beeing used as often

161 - Sam Apps

Do people still use libraries?

>>>

Thing of the past. Yes they have their place but not as popular as they once were.

1623 - Oliver Mould

Libraries are an essential public service, even though I don't currently use them.

1629 - Whitney Campbell

the libraries are easy to access and have great resources

1641 - Win Douglas

A minority use libraries.

1695 - Jordan Wyatt

I'd like to keep our current libraries

1717 - Mark Doyle

Status Quo. Modern society uses the Libraries less and less, so leave them as they are.

1726 - Gavin Umuhuri

Libraries are a place for people to meet and connect. They offer services to people who may not be able to access any other way. Not just buildings with books in them.

174 - Joe Cole

Need more visibility and events there

1749 - Nicole Baxter-Warren

I feel these are under utilised areas but that is a perspective not evidence.

1756 - Kieran Sweetman

These are critical to the well-being of citizens

1764 - Chris Conwest

They are great

1816 - Sarah Cook

Yes i guess another resource thst locals can use for free

1829 - Stephanie Barbier

Love the libraries, they are something we should be proud of especially in winter

1833 - Mary McKeown

libraries hugely important

184 - Rebecca Nicholls

Libraries>>>!!!!

>>>

Turunga is a magic happy place. I do jigsaws with homeless people, watch the cathedral rebuild, have a coffee and cycle away with 20+ magazines and books. Heaven!

1855 - Michael Liu

Keep going

1873 - Marjorie Manthei (Victoria Neighbourhood Association Inc)

although residents in our neighbourhood are very supportive of Turunga. Quite a few VNA members, however, explained that they seldom use it because they're unable to walk there (carrying books), parking is too difficult and no bus goes close enough to it. Hence, our call to reinstate the Shuttle!

1898 - John-Paul Kilkenny

We need libraries.

190 - Darian Troon

Amazing facilities. I personally utilise them multiple times per week for tutoring.

1904 - Maria Lee

[Grants & Funding - Arts Centre Funding], [Parks - Spending (General)]

City's need public services such as libraries, parks, and the arts, don't cut their funding.

191 - Jenny Harlow

[Recreation, Sports & Events > Rec & Sport (Operations)]

Our libraries and recreation centres are amazing community resources - they pull communities together and make people visible to each other as well as the actual services they provide. The less visible services are also really important and we cannot expect the cost of getting them to magically stay constant when everything else is going up!

>>>

Keep the libraries - they are so much more than places for books. They can be community centres. They are a statement of some of the things that we value as a community, alongside others.

194 - John Lieswyn

It would be good to understand usage of the satellite libraries.

1979 - Julie McCloy

I love our libraries and the work they do in being community hubs - they are vital safe spaces as well as learning hubs.

2058 - Janita Patrick

I love the library initiatives and activities - it has made a great impact on my children and made every visit enjoyable. The staff are also amazing!

206 - Shane Morrow

Libraries and the arts are fundamentally important

2097 - Marie Haley

Akaroa library is an excellent service, the 'hold' service is hugely valuable for rural residents that cannot access city libraries and has proved extremely popular and must be maintained.

2103 - P Stark

[Recreation, Sports & Events > Pools (Capital)], [Parks > Sports Grounds & Facilities]

halswell domain is great for various sports and fantastic that the library and pool are on the edge of the park that families can use while other family members are training making sure facilities are suitable and upgraded as needed for all to enjoy

213 - Diana Plesovs

learning and easy accessibility is a basic community resource

2137 - Paula Densem

Keep the libraries for the children to be able to access

2143 - Vicky Anderson

Needed for technology education including older persons. Great reading programs etc.

2172 - Tobias McKellar

Libraries are essential for the community.

2193 - Leanne Reid

Libraries are important.

2270 - Maria and Natalie Couper

Also libraries are essential services that provide for many children, elderly, community groups and the disabled are always welcomed into these places. Libraries serve so many people and are also safe spaces as well as educational places for the community. Remember that the disabled community need options and places to go and areas that are accessible

2272 - Tegan Jones

Everyone should have access to a local library.

228 - Martin Tatchell

Essential to the community and must stay vibrant!

2296 - Vickie Walker

KEEP THE LIBRARIES as they connect people too

230 - Peter Elliott

Libraries are a key component of the city fabric and provide spaces for the whole cross section of our society to use

2311 - Paul McMahon (Waitai Coastal-Burwood-Linwood Community Board)

The Board loves libraries.

2327 - Charles Shaw

We have some great libraries. Keep on supporting them and the programmes they run, including those that encourage and nurture diversity (eg LGBTQ+ community), inclusion, and ease of access.

238 - Susan Gee

Libraries and art centre are core for sense of community as well as their other benefits.

239 - Tiffany Thornley

Great for the city

245 - Talei Howell-Price

Our library service is wonderful

2467 - John Ogier

Tūranga is a gem!

2473 - Juanita Wilson

Reading is important

2475 - William Porter

They are in need

2476 - Reuben Scott (Simeon Park Community Group)

Not cutting services please.

2490 - Jessica Todd

Honestly, I'll give credit where credit is due, Turanga is an incredible space and Otautahi is luck to have such an incredible library!

2524 - Ruth Falconer

[Recreation, Sports & Events>Events]

Comments: But our rates shouldn't be funding a venue (eg library) for drag queens etc influencing young children. Let them grow up first & make their own decisions later.

2538 - Libby Ornsby

The libraries I go to are also service centres, very important in isolated communities and for schools and groups. Not sure about others.

>>>

[Three Waters>Waterways Quality & Compliance (Operations)]; [Parks>Parks Maintenance]

Perhaps it's a use it or lose it situation. The libraries provide a wonderful service and space where people come together and learn. Parks are essential and waterways need maintaining, they are natural spaces we by default need to protect and maintain access for public safety

2540 - Jocelyn and Caroline Papprell and Syddall

As people who use libraries and pools regularly we see the value in these places for all people. The Linwood Library seems to be a place where young people can be supported in their study, and Turanga offers activities that builds the skills of all sorts of people in such things as sound recording, video production, 3D printing as well as offering great meeting spaces.

2554 - Paul Schwalger

Our libraries are great and a fantastic asset to the city

257 - Belinda Meares

Likewise

259 - Margaret McEvedy

How can we imagine not funding Libraries?

2610 - Keith Harris (Akaroa District Promotions (ADP))

Libraries and Museums are critical to the social fibre of all communities In Akaroa, their role is critical in protecting the heritage and taonga of the Peninsula for the nation.

2611 - Papataitua Harrington

Awesome spaces for all people.

2646 - Pippa Kyle

Extremely important still. There is a world full of readers who need access to books at every age.

2650 - Alexander Amies

Big fan of them - they provide an absolutely essential service

2657 - Jillian Davis

Love the library and all it offers.

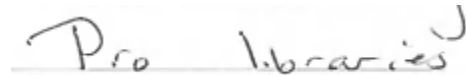

267 - Fionn Walker

Libraries are an essential knowledge resource for the Christchurch community. Even in the internet era it may seem less important but they are extremely necessary!

2672 - Ian Flatley

Call it a Library for a start - too hard to find.

2692 - Liz Fletcher

Pro Libraries

2721 - Emily Buchanan

These are a key part of the community and not just buildings with books in.

2732 - Gordon Bruce Tulloch

Fundamentally important, vital community assets with high usage

2742 - Caroline Dagger

Our libraries are awesome and such an amazing resource.

275 - Phillipa Callick

Essential for a strong community.

2756 - Stephanie Defregger

Library >>> are important.

2770 - Sarah Lassche-Jones

Comments: Funding Transgenders to read to children in libraires isn't exactly helpful on any level!

2780 - Maree Hemingsen`

Comments: Libraries are not just blogs with books, they have internet, service centres, help with filling forms, JP services, and are a nice place to meet friends.

2847 - Colleen Philip (Sustainable Ōtautahi Christchurch)

Libraries and community spaces - very important.

2875 - Paul Andrew

Leave libraries alone as they are

2882 - Erin Andrew

Libraries should stay as they are

2888 - Alistair Price

Important for our city.

289 - Julian Springer

Pack in the cancel culture crap at venues otautahi, library etc

>>>

This stuff is divisive, noxious and deeply unpopular. It damages your credibility in the eyes of the public and fosters resentment.

2911 - Penny Moore

Central Library is amazing

2922 - Zak Morrison

Libraries and Community Facilities: Libraries, for example, are not just repositories of books; they are community hubs that provide access to information, technology, and learning opportunities. They serve as inclusive spaces where all residents, regardless of age or socioeconomic status, can engage in lifelong learning and community interaction.

2963 - Carolyn Roos

Do not have the need to go to library but have family that do

2971 - Nikita Todd

Never used them due to it being expensive. Its cheaper for me to buy a printer to do my own printing rather than use the library

3008 - Wanda Kingma

Libraries are a real benefit to a very wide cross-section of the community young to old - poor or rich

3017 - Heather Venis

Happy with the libraries.

3031 - Lee Osborn

Libraries are important. They are more than collections of books. They are invaluable for low income people without computers or technical skills. Everyone should contribute to libraries.

3035 - Claire Coveney

Libraries are essential for communities . Over the years they have supported so many people, people with dementia, children, babies. Every library does such a great job. Thank you for their mahi.

3048 - Jesd Elliott

Our libraries are great.

3068 - Vanessa Wells

The importance of libraries in community cannot be underestimated.

3105 - Tracey MacArthur

Inappropriate to have Drag Queen story reading sessions for children. Keep the Drag Queens in the night clubs for adult entertainment.

311 - Peter Clark

Stop trying to create some fantasy city that we can't afford.

3123 - Kate Markman

These are so important!

3128 - Chris Smith

Love them

313 - Isabell Booth

I need my local library & could not live without it.

3142 - Ruth Jardine

Love Tūranga and our local South Library.

3143 - Kate Blackberry

Awesome

316 - Margaret Whittaker

Only if there is the word LIBRARY in the front of the building rather than a word that has no relevance to 95% of the population

3214 - Sue Trayling

I object to my rates money being used by libraries to promote the transexual agenda. Books on the subject are ok shelved like other subjects, not on display as I regularly see them. And men in women's clothes are not suitable for storytelling to children.

3222 - Mark Rayner

libraries must be maintained or we will loose valuable assets.

>>> Need to be maintained.

3250 - Hannah Murdoch

Keep going, they are the best.

3254 - Tracey Jury

We have fabulous Libraries in Christchurch and I show off about them to friends overseas. They are a central, vital part of my life and I so appreciate them.

3272 - Brittany Peacock

I take my son to the library regularly, im so appreciative of that service

3305 - Angelita Schwalger

We have great libraries that are well kept

332 - Flair Mckay

Libraries in Ōtautahi are a valuable resource for our community

3325 - Adele Geradts

People must have >>> services like Libraries >>> (These provide places for communities to meet and interact).

>>>

Libraries, >>> and service centres all are important to the social well being of the city. front facing staff need to be engaged and welcoming to the public you cant down size your staff and provide the same service. >>> Our libraries and librarians are fantastic and need more support to continue doing their job. >>>

We need >>> libraries

335 - Wayne Bates

One good thing

3371 - Malcolm Frost

Facilities seem excellent.

3375 - Sarah Hadley

The library system is fabulous. We use it every week.

>>>

I can not praise the library system enough!

338 - Jennifer Riley

that it is imperative that we fund libraries, children's programming, health and wellbeing / hauora programmes

3396 - Lucy King

No drag readers for children's library please. In te ao Māori takatāpui was not like this. And in Samoa. These should be our model here. Just part of life, part of the family. Not political.

>>> [Transport > Transport (Operations)]

Not drag there nor rainbow crossings. Takatāpui are part of the whānau. That is something else. Politics. It is a struggle to get customers anyway. This shuts them down. Keep them as peaceful community safe spaces for all. Not privileging one over another. Balance. Respect for heritage esp tikanga. Not being legalistic, kotahitanga, manaakitanga. Not uplifting one to divide and close the libraries or alienate.

3411 - Marian Krogh (Protect Our Winters NZ)

Libraries are important places to learn, share resources, and gather as a community. POW uses many libraries for all of these.

3419 - Michael Allan

You can always spend more on libraries, but be careful what you spend it on.

3421 - Mary Clark

I think the city libraries are wonderful and deserving of great praise.

>>>

Excellent, as stated above. I cannot speak highly enough of the libraries and their staff.

3435 - Alex Cornford

A great resource for ratepayers

344 - Aaron Herriott

Never use one, seems sort of redundant to have more than one library in 2024

3444 - Jo McGregor

Dont waste money on bringing drag queens into libraries to read to innocent children.

3452 - Sabine Handel

Love libraries! So essential for kids and adults!

>>>

Places like The Arts Centre, Orana Park, football greens and libraries make this city a goid family friendly place to live!

>>>

Keep The Arts Centre, Orana Park and football greens as well as current services for libraries in your funding! They are important features for families in Christchurch. Check the money draining projects and think before making decisions with the rate payers money!

3453 - Zeta Pringle

The cost seems to be escalated more that the cost of living. Costs must meet revenue. All rate payers pay in rates for the upkeep.

3460 - Jasper Van der Lingen

Keep an adequate level of funding.

3461 - Claire McBeth

Our libraries are a very important part of the city and the communities in it.

3466 - Mark Stapleton

It is imperative our libraries are supported and encouraged

348 - Christiana Raphael

Keep them as they are thanks!

3484 - Prue Stringer

Libraries are such an important local service, they must have adequate funding.

3488 - Julia Page

Libraries, the Art Gallery, and The Arts Centre have an important role in the city and the quality of residents lives.

3490 - Peter Minten

None, keep on the good work.

3498 - Lucas Tomasi

The libraries across all Christchurch are important. Recently more and more small libraries have been closing doors. They are important for allowing the public access to important technology like printers and the internet which constantly help people who are less fortunate with things like printing out cvs. The libraries are also important event centres especially for free public events.

354 - Vivienne Allan

Please dont reduce the hours for libraries. They provide an excellent service and suburban libraries at least have parking unlike the central city library which is lovely but hopeless to access especially when it is raining.

3572 - Tania Dirkze

The money you make from other facilities should be plenty to help fund these other services like libraries.

358 - Tamara Dauvergne

you should ALWAYS prioritise funding for libraries + make sure that libraries are not a hotbed of activists - libraries should stick to being places where people can learn for themselves and have access to information.

>>>

Honour the NZ Bill of Rights regarding the right to single sex spaces. Get the gender woo out of council organisations - particularly libraries and swimming pool facilities. Honour the rights of biological girls and women to have their own spaces that are not open to men who say they are women.

3586 - Rachel Geddis

Libraries are an important facility especially to our retired residents, and our school aged residents.

3589 - Roxanne Brassington

Vital to our community

360 - Wendy Pollock

An essential service and important resource

3611 - Sharon Dowers

We love our libraries! The staff are amazing, and with a toddler, visiting our local is one of the highlights of our week!

3614 - Lin Roberts

- These are a critical service and contribute to enhancing equality of access and reducing our collective footprint (multiple people benefiting from access to one book, ebook, audible book, video or movie).

3618 - Chrys Horn

Libraries are important as public places that give people access to a wide range of services including computers, books, classes, air conditioning, and other related activities. They are a lot more than "buildings with a few books in them".

3655 - Dan Manton

Libraries are important education and community spaces that are needed.

3671 - Linda Nicolson

[Resource Recovery > Resource Recovery (Operations)]

Libraries and resource recovery are far more important as everyone uses them.

>>>

Libraries are crucial for society. I've never felt they are not providing a great service. Our libraries feel well run. I use digital and I really like it.

3687 - Rebekah Savage

Doing quite well I think

3692 - Jen McKinnel

We love and use the library regularly. These are a great resource.

3700 - Ian Cumberpatch

I support the Libraries for their Community and Educational values.

3722 - Rachel Thwaites

Libraries are excellent. Don't charge to get books out

3725 - Richard Smith

Libraries are an integral part of the community and are much more than "rooms with books".

Library staff perform an invaluable service to the community.

373 - Charlene Herring

A wonderful asset for all. Very important to maintain local libraries for everyone to access.

>>>

My major points would be -- continued support for libraries is important

3740 - Nicky Sharples

[Grants & Funding > Arts Centre], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

Facilities in Christchurch eg libraries, Art Centre, cycle ways are important for the overall wellbeing of the city and it's population

375 - Alex McNeill

Community groups depend on Council facilities and libraries.

3759 - Ben Connolly

I support our libraries

3768 - Tracey Klatt

A fantastic resource - keep it up!

3788 - Robin Laing

Best public library in the country. It's become a tourist attraction.

3807 - Graeme Remington

I love libraries and i believe they are vital for a positive community environment.

3825 - Justin Barton

ok

3831 - Rick Jones

Libraries... Stop grooming children by having drag queens reading to them in libraries. If the drag queen program was so important why are they not reading to people in retirement homes.

3835 - Hiren Patel

Massive shout out to the CCC libraries team for contributing so much to so many communities in Ōtautahi on such small budget they have. Invaluable investment to bring so many people together in our city; especially the youth.

3844 - My-Linh Dang

The libraries are a great public service.

385 - Francesca Brown

Looks - libraries are essential and the new libraries are great community places to be.

3859 - Sally Widdowson

I particularly value >>> library svices . Also there is a lot of evidence that having such facilities available is hugely beneficial for both mental and physical health.

>>>Yes! A valuable resource for all ages.

386 - Christine McPhail

Important to maintain service and keep up with online technologies

3863 - Michael Ryan

Libraries are very important

3865 - Maxine Donovan

A good resource.

3867 - Gemma Dioni

Great resource for us and our community

387 - Rowena MacGill

Libraries are an important social infrastructure, as well as a source of knowledge.

3883 - Colin Meurk

they are great

3888 - Miriam McCaleb

Keep it up!

3890 - Michele St George Waugh

We very much enjoy the Christchurch Libraries. They are successful community hubs, and add value to peoples lives in each of their localities

3920 - Malcolm Clark

Staff are more customer services than providing good library services. You wasted huge money barring people from libraries during covid by employing security guards.

3937 - Zack Williams

I love our libraries!

3939 - Michele Hollis

Love the New Brighton library

3942 - Soongseok Yoon

I believe that libraries are very helpful to the younger and other people who want to get information via books.

3944 - Lyn Dawson

A vastly undervalued resource.

3978 - Sandra Bragg

>>>

JELLIE PARK. THE 20 LIBRARIES AND LIBRARY SERVICES, SUCH AN ESSENTIAL AND APPRECIATED PART OF EVERY DAY LIVING FOR OLD AND YOUNG, WITH AMAZING RESOURCES, EDUCATIONAL AND EVER EXPANDING SERVICES TO BENEFIT FROM AND ENJOY.

>>>

3980 - Marlene Rohan

Is there anything else that you would like to tell us about the Draft Long Term Plan 2024-2034?

I feel very strongly that the way libraries operate should not be tampered with. Many people find great solace in being in a library, plus many things happen in a library rather than just borrowing books.

Thank you for your submission.

4014 - Stephen Hill

One thing I do think is that libraries are most important, as it is the only access a lot of people have to papers, books, computers, etc.

4027 - Rona Buttimore

Library services are essential. They provide so many services to people

>>>

Essential services. Our mayor perhaps needs to go sometime

4033 - Juliana Venning

Libraries are supposedly places of information but regrettably have become cesspits of cult indoctrination with promotion of gender ideology, Pride (which no longer has to do with Gay Rights,) now is all about males grooming children (no more DQSH I refer you to child safeguarding under The Crimes Act[1961] schedule 2 - ss. 124-132)... so let's get rational and return to libraries as hubs of community learning, wellbeing and safety for children and families.

4034 - Remy Barbier

Libraries are fantastic and a highly valued service for my family.

4035 - Simon Ashby

Who the XXXX has library's now?

416 - Mike Cleaver (Canterbury)

Libraries are incredibly important

423 - Linda MacIntyre

Please always retain these our meeting, educational hub places. Libraries are essential, reading material on paper and in books will not die.

446 - Andrew Peach

Vital. the brains of a city

450 - Allison Husband

OK

459 - Aaron Watson

Our libraries are great, there is no current problem that is urgent

467 - Anna Scheirlinck

Going to a city library is a critical service and we need the staff and facilities to enable this community asset

482 - Graham Townsend

Libraries serve a number of important community and social functions. In an age when the internet and commercial TV are increasingly shallow and uninformative, libraries are key hubs of information.

487 - Gavin Stevenson

[Recreation, Sports & Events > Rec & Sport (Operations)]

NO cuts to libraries or recreational facilities - eg pools.

506 - Conal McCarthy

Turanga is fab

519 - Johnathan Todd

Libraries are such great service and community hub

525 - Bruce Bascand

Public libraries are essential for young & old - in a literate society.

529 - Don Reekie (Parkstone Musical Appreciation Group)

The Library and school partnership at Riccarton works extremely well.

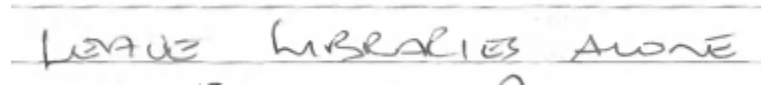

536 - Marilyn Yurjevich

Libraries keep our city alive. They do a fantastic job, provide fantastic services. They are essential for our well-being.

652 - Sharon Howells (Sharon Howells School of Dance)

Libraries are so important to foster especially those in the suburbs. With rising costs of power for many people they bring warmth.

6904 - Jean McIntyre

LEAVE LIBRARIES ALONE

70 - Noel Marceau

[Art Galleries & Museums > Art Gallery (Operations), Museums (Operations)], [Grants & Funding > Arts Centre Funding]

Libraries, public spaces such as the Arts Centre, the Art Gallery, and the Museum, should all be maintained.

781 - Jenene Parker

Libraries are a key hub for our communities and should never be closed to save money

>>>

Never ever close them!

810 - Susan Mullord

You do a great job with the libraries

814 - Malcolm McKellar

Need a clear overall plan for libraries

840 - Kim Morton (Ōtautahi Creative Spaces)

Cultural facilities: We really value the experiences our artists have when we take them to visit cultural facilities in Christchurch including Christchurch Art Gallery, Christchurch City Libraries, Canterbury Museum, and The Arts Centre.

We emphasise the importance of Christchurch Art Gallery and Christchurch City Libraries organisations dedicating resources to under-served communities and demonstrating that they are pro-active in partnering with organisations like ours who help overcome threshold fear.

>>>

Arts organisations like ours are important partners which can help Christchurch City Council activate its' broader priorities - we help people to engage in democratic processes, help people to feel more connected, and to access cultural facilities. Our partnership with Christchurch City Libraries is something we really value and we recently completed a major project with Tūranga, Sanctuary a creative occupation by rangatahi (see story below).

[Full attachment available]

850 - Rhondda Poon

Tūranga is the best library I've seen in years! The staff are amazing, the collection is terrific.

860 - Gaynor Stanley

Our libraries seem very generously funded

865 - Kelvin Duncan

I wish our librarians would adopt the US Library Associations ethics. There is too much woke censorship and their coverage of educational material is very patchy (not much philosophy, science, good history, but plenty of Mills and Boons etc. Readers can buy their own, but expensive educational books are too dear to expect people to buy them. And, book swap shelves and cupboards are doing a sterling service acting as a book exchange for the more popular books.

890 - Kay Joyce

Very important

904 - George Cox

Libraries are great, especially the more modern ones.

906 - Alister Ferguson

The description of a library as "just a room with books" showed no appreciation of the value our libraries and their access hold for so many people

937 - Irene Laird

Love our libraries

Libraries (Capital)

General Comments

389 submissions were received addressing the proposed capital expenditure on libraries.

182 comments supported, and 76 comments opposed the proposed spending. Many submitters valued libraries very highly.

105 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 40 comments provided general feedback addressing the proposed spending.

Officer Response

Support:

There was support received from a number of submitters for Libraries as delivering a core community service, providing residents and visitors with easy access to a variety of resources for information, leisure and community connection. There was also support for Libraries as educational hubs for new and creative technologies.

Submitters expressed support for Libraries delivering a core community service, providing residents and visitors with easy access to a variety of resources for information, leisure and community connection.

Oppose:

A few submitters suggested delaying the rebuild of South library or repairing rather than rebuilding. A few submitters questioned the budget of $140m for the capital programme in the Libraries' Activity Plan.

A few submitters suggested either repairing rather than rebuilding the South Library or delaying the rebuild, however, the resilience and lifespan of this building were big factors in the decision to rebuild rather than repair, and the cost to rebuild is less than to repair. No change to the current approach is recommended.

The $140m capital programme budget for Libraries comprises the rebuild of the South Library, plus renewals and replacements for both facilities and collections. The South Library and Service Centre rebuild is forecast to cost $32M in total. Excluding costs and commitments to date, $29.9M is budgeted in the LTP 24-34. Building renewals & replacements is $24m which equates to approx. $1.4m per library for the 17 Council owned facilities. Turanga renewal and replacements in 2029/30 are estimated about $2m (10 years after opening). Library Collection Resources is $66m. Apart from the rebuild of South Library and Service Centre, the capital budget for renewals and replacements retains the status quo for the next ten years and is appropriate. No change is recommended.

Other:

A few submitters questioned having PCs for children and/or gaming.
A few submitters suggested looking at the option of using solar power.

Children's PCs in libraries aim to provide easy access to fun & educational websites for younger children & their caregivers. The purpose of these in a library is not to replace book collections, but to enhance the library experience, Research shows that playing video games can support young people's reading, writing and communication skills. No change is recommended.

The Facilities Team has looked at a potential PPA (power purchase agreement) model across Council (specifically Libraries & RSE) or Solar farm. Further investigation and potential installation is planned as part of a wider energy efficiency programme. No change required.

Support

1012 - Andrea Mcgregor

Libraries are great citywise.

1014 - Sandy Porter

It is part of our community, dont destroy what you built up.

1112 - Sarah Anderson (Friends of Christchurch Art Gallery Te Puna o Waiwhetū)

Capital expenditure is not specific to the Gallery as I am not aware of any major building projects in it's pipeline, so I will decline to comment on this area. Other than to say it is great to see libraries included.

1132 - Gavin Fitzgerald

Spend more here....

>>>

[Parks>Parks Spending (General)]; [Recreation, Sport & Events>Rec & Sport (Operations)]; [Spending>Our Proposed Spending]

Generally speaking yes, however Parks,Heritage and Coastal along with Recreation and Sport needs less spent on it and Libraries (Community Hubs) need more spent on it.

1148 - Emma Turner

This is such an important service and I'm pleased to see it prioritized

1157 - Justin Rogers

Looking forward to the South Library rebuild

116 - Jarrod Coburn

Libraries are important community hubs and centres of learning and knowledge. Let's keep funding those!

1164 - Andrea Davis

A very necessary thing for the our communities to have free access to knowledge. It helps with the 4th goal of social sustainability.

1167 - Anja Luecht

I enjoy using your libraries and I think you offer good books and interactive spaces.

119 - Alyssa Tull

Maintaining public libraries and their books is hugely important to reduce barriers to learning. I support this kind of funding hugely !

1258 - John Chrisstoffels

[Art Galleries & Museums > Art Gallery (Capital)], [Parks > Parks Spending (General)]

alongside other important creative and cultural utilities such as libraries, art galleries and parks, that ensure the wellbeing and mental health of our city.

>>>

Please keep libraries and art galleries as they are a hub for education, mental wellbeing, safety and identity for the local communities across the city.

1265 - Jill Banbury

The library is running a great service. I wouldn't like to see them done away with or hours reduced. I am there on a frequent basis

The library is running a great service. I wouldn't like to see them done away with or hours reduced. I am there on a frequent basis

1273 - Anthony Moore (The Elms Hotel Ltd, T/A Hotel Elms Christchurch)

Important community service to fund

129 - Barbara Harding

Yes, libraries are vital

131 - Helen Peate

Important

1324 - Anaru Matai

[Grants & Funding > Orana Park], [Spending > Te Kaha]

Fund libraries, orana park stadiums etc

Very important

>>>

[Grants & Funding > Orana Park Funding]

Just want to keep the funding for libraries and orana park

1327 - Chris O'Brien

Libraries are key, Do not reduce services.

1329 - Lynda Whitlow

The library is vital to learning and resources for all, they are fabulous

1331 - Robyn Lynley Capon

Libraries are essential hubs for the community

1346 - Bianca McKinnon-Gee

These offer more bang for buck for the people most impacted by poverty than a reserve or a stadium.

1362 - Pablo Rodriguez

I think the libraries are run really well and should always be prioritized

1365 - Valerie Grose

It is a great service keep it as it educates us as the people

1413 - Tania Brewer

Libraries are very important for all, especially lower economic families, elderly and an important resource for our children.

143 - Kenneth Palmer

Libraries are an essential resource for public good. They must be maintained.

1430 - Dan Hartwell

Investment to harness new technologies for libraries of the future - 3D printing etc

1442 - Elisha Blogg

Please ensure these spaces are well funded and available for our people - this is such an important free resource

147 - Colleen Eason

Yes

1491 - Lindsay Richards (Westmorland Residents Association)

Replace the South Library.

150 - Jeremy Foate

These are essential, not discretionary services. Must be funded adequately.

1508 - Mb Brennan

Very important as a community focal point not to mention a conduit to knowledge and belonging.

151 - Marg Flyvbjerg

Yes, this is a high priority

1512 - Denis McMurtrie

Libraries are more than a place where one gathers and reads information. They are a hub of the surrounding community like w]the water well in a village and they are an important hub of the surrounding community and their value cannot be measured strictly in terms of economics. They are meeting place for elderly, kids after school and mums with babies during the day as well as social and community worker base. They must stay and be enhanced at all costs.

1522 - David Alexander

Should be fully funded.

1523 - Jonathan Burn

This is a great investment

1525 - Caroline Mason

I support the rebuild of South Christchurch library

1572 - Olive Easterbrook

[Three Waters > Other], [Parks > Parks Spending (General)]

We should definitely continue to fund libraries, parks and waterways.

I support this. Me and my family use our local Parklands and Shirley library and Turanga

1574 - David Cassidy

they are ok

1618 - Zachary Imhoof

I was involved in establishing a repair cafe at Turanga library. I received funding from CCC to help other communities establish and run their own events. I was a little disappointed when no one was able to take the responsibility to maintain these events because of not enough staff or funding allocation. Libraries are no longer a place to just borrow books. They are incredible facilities with connections to their communities that can create resilience and connection but I don't think they have been given the appropriate amount of funding to facilitate this. Much more good could come from these spaces.

163 - Andy Buchanan

Save South Library

1648 - Andrew Bowman

This looks good.

1650 - Deb Osborn

Do not close any libraries or reduce services

1660 - Sophia Bidwell

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?], [Grants & Funding > Arts Centre Funding]

Not really. Those things are important but you have forgotten about things like the libraries and the Arts Centre. I was horrified to see you are cutting their funding. This is a very culturally important place for me and my family and one of the few links we have to pre-Earthquake Christchurch.

>>>

Yes! well done

1669 - Sandra Ballantyne

[Parks > Parks Spending (General)]

We need libraries and parks etc to maintain a good environment for us all to live in

1690 - Richard Suggate

Maintain the % of spend on libraries

1780 - Alison Griffith-Collins

This is good, and library refurbishment has been great.

1869 - Bill Cowen

Agreed

1931 - Roz Kinraid

A wonderful resource for all generations. Must be protected.

1943 - Harriet Scott

Very important

1945 - Lucy Howell

Libraries are vital community spaces and help support marginalised communities and I support their funding and maintenance.

1963 - Lynda Goodrick

Libraries are important community spaces

1989 - Hannah Collins

Another crucial service that requires all the funding it can

2078 - Barry Williamson

Libraries are important and a great community asset. Go ahead with this.

>>>

Really important

2087 - Emma Norrish (Waipapa Papanui-Innes-Central Community Board)

The Board is encouraged to see Project 838 to support population growth tagged to Papanui ward, reflecting the focus in the Board Plan on the needs of youth and a growing ward. As repeated throughout in this submission, investing in community is vital for a thriving city and people, and the Board supports this manner of planning for the long term. Libraries are important to communities in many ways, not only repositories of information and learning, but as places where people can find connections and become aware of, and engaged with, the Council's work – they are very important for many citizens in providing a sense of place, community, and a regular destination that shapes their lives. Libraries thus significantly contribute to community, and often personal wellbeing.

2112 - Matt Easterbrook

I support funding this

2198 - Andrew Smith

Supportive

2201 - Eddie Hayes

Continue to support libraries well - so many of our residents use these libraries both online and in person.

2243 - Catherine Birch

I agree with it

2263 - Scott Babington

These are a great asset and vital for the community.

2295 - Katja Charmley

[Recreation, Sports & Events > Pools (Capital)]

I strongly oppose any reduction in the budget for libraries and swimming pools, as they play vital roles in community engagement and education.

2308 - Sarah Elicker

I support a 2.16% spend on libraries, as long as there is a design focus on reducing embodied and operational carbon.

2309 - Margaret Austin

Libraries are extremely important for everyone and especially the vibrant and attractive Turanga.

2316 - Samina Beale

I even asked in your stunning library if there was any volunteer opportunities as it was an amazing place, with something for everyone.

>>>

Beautiful building and something to interest each and everyone.

2345 - Deirdre Cottrell

Libraries are community hubs which deliver a wide range of services and deserve to be well funded and resourced.

24 - Kaaren Mathias

Yes - they are a huge resource

2442 - Paula Bevilacqua

Libraries are necessary.

2477 - Rachael Ann

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Staff Matters]

Libraries are extremely important as are the people who staff them

2479 - Jacqui Raymond

[Recreation, Sports & Events > Recreation Centres (Capital)] , [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)] , [Parks > Parks Spending (General)]

I am very happy with keeping the spending on core facilities and infrastructure such as libraries and community sports facilities like Jellie Park, cycling pathways, Botanic Gardens. These things are essential to having a safe and happy community.

2485 - Lucy hill

libraries are SOOOO important for knowledge and communities

2497 - Carolyn Lynn

Keep spending up at libraries. A hub for communities.

2498 - REDACTED REDACTED

I think its important to maintain libraries. Its important for people to have access to reading material and reserach facilities.

25 - Ben Hart

Although not a big library user myself I support the spending here as libriaries act as a stong community hub / centre

2504 - Sarah van der Burch

Always a great investment.

2514 - Jeannie Murtagh

[Parks > Other]

Libraries are well used in Christchurch and parks are essential to everyone's well being.

>>>

Libraries are extremely important to the community and well used by all ages - they are the pathway to knowledge for many children and must be maintained to at tge high standard they are now at.

2522 - Rosa Hughes-Currie

The more spending on libraries the better. Libraries provide social connection and make our city livable.

253 - Daryl Cotterell

no objection

2533 - Steven Muir

I support spending on libraries

2574 - Matthew Pont

I support any library investment

2627 - Sarah Butterfield

Always going to be essential to our City. Loss of services would have a devastating effect for so many.

2637 - Hannah Herchenbach

The libraries are a massive priority and Turanga is a gem in the Christchurch infrastructure.

>>>

All the library stuff sounds great.

2639 - Callum Ward (Waihoru Spreydon Cashmere Heathcote Community Board)

Ōmōkihi The Board supports the $28,800,000 budget set aside for the Ōmōkihi South Library & Service Centre Earthquake Rebuild.

2647 - Penny Carnaby

It is pleasing to see the South city library building programme progressing. While I appreciate that there are many demands on resources I would encourage the Council to continue to support the City's libraries.

2655 - Michele Mccaw

Libraries are so important. Yes rebuild South Library and just get it done

2695 - Dave Gardner

i'm happy with this

2699 - Graham Beswick

Libraries have to be maintained for elderly and low economic community

2727 - Aleesa Royds

we need these they are an important part of the community

2733 - Georgia Macaulay

Why not, people need to read more.

2746 - Helen Taylor

Always support libraries.

2756 - Stephanie Defregger

More funds into libraries. This is where you invest into the intellect and knowledge base of our community.

2758 - Christopher Seay

Libraries are vital community spaces and must be funded. They are one of the last places that a person can go without spending money and are an amenity we must preserve. Librarians are predominantly female and have been historically underpaid. The council should implement a pay equity review for all library staff to ensure that local librarians are being paid what they are worth.

2768 - Suzanne Wallace

Community/collective assets like swimming pools & libraries must stay.

2824 - Hannah Mason

I would be glad to see the level of funding for libraries maintained or even increased.

[Recreation, Sports & Events > Events], [Grants & Funding > Other], [Parks > Heritage (Capital)]

Not particularly. Efficiency is always good and I would be pleased to see the council become more efficient with ratepayer money, but I would be sad to see cuts to the services and the great work that the council and its employees do, and especially sad to see cuts to cultural events, grants, heritage, libraries, etc.

2825 - Jotham Barmantloo

Libraries are just one of those things that are such an asset to the community. I'd be very sad if they were shut.

2830 - Fiona Bennetts

- More support should be given to Community Libraries and Centres in suburbs, to help them meet the needs of their communities. There are several areas in the city that are not serviced by official Council Service Centres or Libraries. Community-led initiatives in this space deserve more support from Council. These are often constituent's primary spaces to meet and represent an opportunity for Council to do proactive consultation, however, are often ill-staffed or financially supported to take on a more intensive role.

2831 - Sebastian Denize

I support funding our libraries, and would like to see this funding increased.. Public libraries are vital for a city, particularly as a resource for the less privileged.

[Grants & Funding > Art Centre Funding], [Parks > Parks Spending (General)],

I am against the council defunding our libraries, The Arts Centre, parks, and gardens. I am particularly against the defunding of the small amount the Arts Centre costs, in light of the huge amount the stadium is getting.

2848 - Glen Koorey

Keep doing the good stuff and get the South Library rebuilt as soon as possible!

2868 - Jonty Coulson

I support any and all investment into public libraries as spaces as accessible and welcoming as possible.

2869 - Josiah O'Neill

[Libraries > Libraries (Capital)], [Recreation, Sports & Events > Pools (Capital)], [Recreation, Sports & Events > Recreation Centres (Capital)], [grants & Funding > Orana Park Funding], [Spending > Te Kaha]

I would also like to see the Council working for the community by inviting in things like libraries, swimming pools and gyms as well as the things that make the city vibrant and diverse like Orana Wildlife Park, and Te Kaha Stadium.

2923 - Amanda Peter

love them key to cities health.

2934 - Monica Richards

Goid

2949 - Graeme John Marriott

You should be prioritising >>> libraries

2957 - Lisa Keen

Libraries are vital to our community's health and wellness!

2995 - Ronnie Davey (Citizens Advice Bureau Christchurch Area)

Libraries are crucial to maintaining a civil society. This day and age there is an even more urgent need for reliable information from credible sources. We help people know what their rights are and how to access the services they need. All our services are free, impartial, non-judgemental, accurate, and verifiable. This service is available to all regardless of the information they seek, their issue or problem; demographic profile (age, gender, ethnicity, nationality, immigration status etc.); geographic location; mobility; language; literacy or income. Information can be provided to clients face-to-face, by telephone, email, and online chat. Our free CABCHA clinics provide access to generalist and specialist lawyers, immigration advisors, technology clinics, JPs and workshops aimed at migrants but open to all. We recently upskilled eight volunteers as tenant advocates to support clients who require advocacy due to the gap left by Tenancy Services closing their Christchurch office. We facilitate access and connection to a wide variety of government and non-governmental organisations with over 1,500 of our calls focusing on accessing community services. Keeping non-profit funding portals well-funded and in the long term plan is essential.

302 - Bronwyn Roberts

All good

3046 - Gisela Faber

Need support.

307 - Rata Jamieson

Our libraries in Christchurch are fantastic. Do not cut spending for libraries!

3077 - Mike Davidson

Support the construction of the new South library

3085 - Jacqueline Sullivan

Must be supported and maintained.

31 - Gary Durey

Good

3103 - Philippa May

We have a wonderful local facility with the South Library. Apparently it is the most utilised of any of the suburban libraries within Christchurch. I am not convinced of the need to knock it down and rebuild it when it is functioning so well and I believe this is $29,000,000 which does not need to be spent.

3126 - Janel Atlas
Libraries are vital.

3134 - Kim Lister

[Grants & Funding > Orana Park Funding], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > City Planning]

Parks and zoos like Orana park deserve Funding as they get kids outside as do the libraries.

3164 - Arthur Gordon-Wright
They are great, keep it up

3174 - Gary Morrison
Libraries are a part of the Culture and Arts that need to be supported.

3209 - Anouk Minnaar

[Recreation, Sports & Events > Pools (Capital)], [Grants & Funding > Art Centre Funding], [Art Galleries & Museums > Art Galleries (Capital)]

The current services exist for the council's residents and removing them will disproportionately impact elderly, disabled and lower socioeconomic residents. We cannot cut back on services people rely on (swimming pools, libraries, art centre, art gallery etc).

326 - Greg Dodds
No reduction in spending on these.

3291 - Jess Kikstra

[Transport > Cycling]

[Three Waters > Waste Water]

[Parks >Parks Spending (General)]

[Recreation, Sports & Events > Rec & Sport (operations)]

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Creating a Climate Fund]

Capital program: Yes, particularly supportive of spending on cycling and active transport. I would also support behavior change programmes and consideration of incentives to encourage more people to bike. Supportive of improvements to waste treatment, parks and foreshore, recreation, libraries, and adapting to climate change.

3325 - Adele Geradts

and more should be spent on libraries

>>>

$190 million on libraries

>>>

Libraries,>>> are important and need to be maintained at the current or higher levels.

3336 - Margaret Lovell-Smith

Our library service is brilliant. Keep it that way.

3353 - Janna Gresham

Great to see funding for libraries and these require continued investment.

3357 - Merav Benaia

Libraries are an essential part of communities. It is a vital community space and a great leveler for education purposes. Libraries also provide essential services to constituents. More support should be given to Community Libraries and Centres in suburbs, to help them meet the needs of their communities.

3366 - Robert Manthei

Continue expenditure at current levels. They give good service and value to a large segment of our population, especially the young, the elderly and the less well off.

3379 - Mike Currie

Libraries are important community and education spaces. I support their funding and maintenance.

338 - Jennifer Riley

I agree that we should invest in a new South Library.

3380 - Victoria Lukiyanyuk

Seems alright.

3415 - Allan Taunt

[Libraries > Operations]

Libraries are critical to well-functioning communities. This is a service that cannot be reduced. Agree with the funding for the rebuild of the South Library and Service Centre, Ōmōkihi.

3430 - Philippa Upton

I support the plan's provision for resources to replace and improve them. For example the South Library and Service Centre is a much used and valued community hub that provides a range of activities and services for people of all ages.

3545 - Sarah Eve Tunstall

I do not condone the closing of council run libraries. Education and services provided by local libraries is important.

>>>

I think libraries should be prioritised just as highly as Te Kaha.

>>>

Maintain and improve funding for libraries.

3567 - Rachel Briggs

Yes

3606 - Mark Dowers

Keep em coming! Our new libraries are amazing assets to our community.

3618 - Chrys Horn

I support the rebuild of the well used South Library and will miss it as an important meeting place while it is being rebuilt.

3657 - Ruth Bullen

Vital for the city

3668 - Gavin Hardie

$140 million on libraries (2.16%) Yes support these important community education places.

>>>

$140 million on libraries (2.16%) - YES

>>>

Yes, these are an important CCC responsibility for ChCh Communities and the CCC must ensure they operate well.

3670 - Joscelyne Silcock

We need to maintain our libraries and renew the library bus

3672 - Neil McKenzie

[Transport > Roads (Capital)] , [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

You are the council and we expect you to provide libraries, infrastructure, roads, cycleways , etc etc.
Please don't cut these.

3686 - Suzanne Peddie

Sounds OK

3716 - Phillipa O'Loughlin

Please retain and not reduce.

3724 - Terence Sissons

I'm familiar with the city and the upper Riccarton libraries and both are wonderful assets. I have no objection to all our communities having access to quality libraries.

3725 - Richard Smith

[Recreation, Sports & Events > Pools (Capital)]

Investment in public services like libraries and pools help enhance the community and social cohesion. These should definitely not be cut.

3731 - Heather McHarg

Do not consider reducing, at any stage, proposed funding for libraries - they are an essential aspect of well functional and healthy communities

3738 - Finn Jackson

I strongly support the proposed spending on project 20836 – South Library & Service Centre Earthquake Rebuild in 2024/25 and 2025/26. This should take place as soon as practicable.

>>>

I'm concerned about the lack of a temporary facility to serve users of the South Library during the rebuild. This is a well used and well loved facility, with strong usage by residents of neighbouring suburbs. I don't agree that Spreydon Library will be adequate. I'd like to see the decision not to provide a temporary facility reconsidered, including by looking at innovative ways to pay for its operation (for example, a targeted rate on the local library catchment).

375 - Alex McNeill

Personally I get great use out of the South Library and I support its rebuild.

3770 - Jane Higgins

I support the rebuild of South Library and the continued renewal of the library collection.

3781 - Trevor Spiers

Good

3798 - M-Webb User

Libraries are community hubs definitely needs supporting- it's a great meeting point, safe, warm and friendly has the books, has the activities, the wifi for those that need it (in Lyttelton you see many seafarers huddled outside the library getting contacted)

3857 - Pauline Smale

[Grants & Funding>Arts Centre Funding]; [Libraries>Libraries (Operations)]

My main response is that I am strongly for retaining existing funding for all libraries and also the christchurch arts centre

>>>

Dont skimp on libraries

3881 - Anne Scott

Libraries > Libraries (Operations)

Rebuild the South Library. Continue to provide an excellent collection, books, magazines etc in print as well as digital. Information is freedom.

3913 - Mark Darbyshire

Please prioritise the rebuild of the South City Library and ensuring it is fit-for-purpose.

3915 - Redacted Redacted

I support the proposed capital allocated to CCC libraries.

>>> More allocated capital for CCC libraries >>> would provide significant social return on investment.

3916 - Laila Jansone (Renew Brighton Charitable Trust)

support expenditure on libraries and service they provide

>>>

We support services like libraries,

3969 - H Bloomer-Law

>>> The number and quality of facilities the libraries provide is quite stellar.

4000 - Kari Barr

Yes to libraries

422 - Nias Kitchin

A fair spend. For the first time in the whole proposal

46 - Karin Lange

Great investment!

468 - Genevieve Bergin

No, it's good to fund these

486 - Neil McConachie

Happy with the proposals

505 - Laura Jones

vital

510 - Eleanor Sim

NON NEGOTIABLE to maintain these In my opinion

533 - Judith Livingstone

Libraries and community services that help everyone rich and poor should be maintained

563 - Tobias Meyer

Cutting funding to libraries is a punch down on the more vulnerable sections of society. The costs are so small compared to other facilities.

615 - Michael JasonSmith

I agree with the priorities for the libraries outlined in the Long Term Plan.

621 - Sophie Morton

Continuing to fund our libraries is essential

623 - Linda Everett

Library service is great. Please don't cut back on hours or service. A lot of working people can only get to the library after work or at weekends.

630 - Kate Cater

Just do not touch the libraries!

>>>

But please see my previous comment on libraries, I would prioritise them over Te Kaha.

>>>

Libraries are community hubs, they are so important and well-used and much-loved. Turanga is the first place we take visitors to the city and they are always so envious.

636 - Ben Taylor

[Libraries > Libraries (Operations)]

good functioning libraries add so many benefits to the community. I support the capital and operational funding in the LTP

699 - Helen Reddecliffe

All the Christchurch libraries are highly valued and an essential part of their communities.

708 - John Allen

About right

749 - Sandra Pearson

Libraries are involved in Literacy and Education as vital for growth of mind and intellect. Readers are future leaders with knowledge.

752 - Vivienne Hewson

Certainly not rooms full of books. Libraries are important places to meet learn and grow for peoples from all walks of life to come together. Libraries offer places for people to connect and new ideas to be born

769 - Julie Kidd

I strongly support fully funding libraries and their services to be available and accessible to all local residents.

78 - Michele Laing

Essential

785 - Ariana Tikao

[Libraries>Libraries (Operations)]

I also believe that libraries are a vital aspect of our cultural infrastructure in the city. The community libraries are a really great resource for both young and old, and Tūranga is also an amazing resource for everyone in the city. I have worked for many years in the GLAM sector and so am very aware of the importance of libraries to our cultural identity and for support of literacy and access to information and resources. They are not just spaces with books as some people may believe, they are about technology, events, interpretation of resources and archives, and just warm safe spaces for people as a place to gather. I presented at and attended events at Tūranga during the WORD festival last year, as well as a poetry workshop at the South Library this year, and think that these spaces are well worth investing in as a community.

8 - Justin Yudistira

-Thank you for building the Hornby Library. Much appreciated. -Make sure there are funding to rebuilt the Library in the South.

83 - Murray Victor

Keep building these very valuable assets.

852 - Ben Tyas

Yes, an excellent asset.

880 - Peter Kim

No issues

894 - Ben Liebing

$140 million capital spend proposed for our libraries is great

967 - Audrey Baldwin

Libraries are essential to our communities. Please keep up the support and funding that you give them. Tūranga in particular is a stand out resource and hub for many communities - both with wonderful staff, amazing practical resources such as the Creative Suites, Laser Cutter and vinyl printer on Level 4 and the good opening hours. Thank you for this world class library.

Oppose

1026 - Sarah Sim

[Recreation, Sports & Events > Pools (Capital)]

For the size of our city we have a ridiculous number of libraries and public swim pools. All of which have been rebuilt to a high standard. But cost an absolute bomb

>>>

Our libraries are already top notch, we don't need to have every single local library world class facilities. We have to remember what size city we are and who is funding this.

>>>

We have enough

1030 - Andrea Gosney

Libraries- city library is a giant waste of money.

>>>

Waste of money should just be the basics- as above central city giant waste

1034 - James Forde

Libraries used a tiny minority of ratepayers. Need to be scaled back.

1043 - Shafali Verma

[Strategic Direction > Additional Savings & Efficiencies], [Spending > Te Kaha], [Parks > Parks Spending (General)], [Transport > Roads (Capital)]

Yes, For instance, while its not stable economy you probably wont need to spend on Te kaha, librarians and keep it to the minimum for the additional parks and roadworks.

128 - Elizabeth Ackermann

Why spend more? We have wonderful facilities now

13 - David Thorn

We have enough and with the uptake of cellphones and internet there is not much that a library has that cant be found by alternative means

1302 - Melanie Forsyth

We dont need as many libraries or service centres, more can be done online e.t.c.

>>>

[Grants & Funding >Other Community Grants & Funding]

We need to reduce the 7% currently proposed on Community Support and consolidate libraries.

>>>

Consolidate and move more services online.

1312 - Andrea Bromley

I do not understand why now of all times, the south library needs a $29mil upgrade when it has been used for the past 13 years fine. Clearly needs repairing at some point, but it is not urgent and isn't falling down.... if it was going to, it would have already.

1323 - Mark Hubbard

Stop funding. Who uses a library?

1335 - Julie Turner

No money

1341 - Moore Todd

Libraries are not as important as they once were these could be scaled back.

>>>

Scale back.

1358 - Rob Noster

Like I said Libraries waste of money. This is last century. Everything is online.

139 - Paul Tait

We have enough

1395 - William Wallace

The demolition and rebuild of the South Library and Service Centre facility is wrong, just plain wrong. I have been using that facility pre- and post-'quakes, and it has remained a perfectly functional facility. It may not look pretty with its steel bracing supports, but what does that matter? They could be disguised with a bit of creative design.

141 - Ann Coates

I am not bothered with libraries, never set foot in it, seem like they are going to not be in our future, so don't build any new ones.

1446 - Emma Waddell

Think libraries can wait. Closing a 1 or 2 would save some $. I personally think there are too many and we could decrease the amount of libraries we have.

>>>

There are too many libraries.

1448 - Josh Fiveash

Libraries just leak money.

1460 - Jihee Park

why there are so many libraries and constantly renovating, rebuilding etc. literally you are looking for place to spend money. wear and tears are fine - but rather than keeping updated programmes and books, you are wasting money on building etc. I am not happy

1519 - Matthew Williams

For instance why spend $140 million on library infrastructure, we seem to have too many in close proximity. E.g Bishopdale / Papanui / Redwood. This further drives operational expenditure,

152 - John Stickley

Was a make-over upgrade absolutely necessary?

1628 - Matthew Brovelli

High investment, low use by the public. Poor ROI.

1654 - Jane Ross

I know parents who will not take their children to libraries anymore because they are no longer safe. Stop wasting money on fringe literature.

1657 - Victoria Panckhurst

Please avoid turning libraries into venues. Keep libraries as libraries and fund OUR venues separately.

1668 - Simon Mitchell

The % of operation spending on libraries is too high in my opinion.

17 - Sandra Pilet

Leave them till you actually have money to spend

1864 - Kylie Williams

We don't need any more libraries we have just had 1 built. Stop spending money on dumb stuff.

1914 - Stefan Miller

$140 Million on Libraries! Have you not heard of the internet!that's literally the worst waste of money!

Who goes to Libraries these days! Complete waste of money. Read an E-Book or listen to a pod-cast

1927 - Donna Gillatt

Does anyone actually use a library any more? If so, maybe just for the coffee, but hundreds of cafes around. No more spending on libraries, leave them as is.

>>>

No more spending on libraries.

1938 - Alice Busbridge

Too much on libraries. Are you looking into their level of use? So much money being spent on places that are empty most of the time.

>>>

Too many, money pits, low facility utilisation.

1995 - Joanne Kundan

not sure you need to spend to much on libraries

2061 - Charlotte Hollywood

Sth library isnt a priority tbh

2084 - Sarah Donaldson

No more new libraries (maybe scale back hours as well) >>> They're small costs that have no fiscal benefit.

>>>

Libraries are a luxury and what we have is excellent - let's remove libraries from the list,

2111 - Vaughan Wright

Id consider reducing the amount of libraries as when ive gone past some of the my suburban ones they tend to just be empty of users

>>>

I believe libraries are a lost service, too much money is being spent on these in the outer areas of Christchurch with little to no benefit of use from the community.

>>>

Waste of time in alot of areas

2119 - Andrew Cooper

Stop investing in libraries.

>>>

Close them down.

2144 - Amy Mcnaughton

Seems like a lot. Suburbian libraries dont need to be fancy.

2234 - Jane Edens

Libraries are a thing of the past put money into other areas like orana park

>>>

Leave as they are they are a dying thing people have the internet now stop wasting money on them

2258 - Jak Hartley

Not a priority in my opinion, still useful to have but there are other things that are need more attention first

2264 - Sarah Scollard

Possibly less spending on libraries. We could probably close some smaller ones.

2301 - Ian Douthwaite

Postpone the South library rebuild.

2422 - Debora Mora

Please no more builds of new libraries, they run at a loss . Consider reducing hours/days.

2425 - Bronwyn Kircher

Get rid of the libraries,

>>>

Get rid of so many of them.

2448 - Barrie Uren

No we should not be investing in some existing core infrastructure and facilities e g ten million dollars for a gold plated public library in Christchurch South

>>>

as above disappointed in excessive spending at Cashmere Library

2562 - Tara Stewart

Support orana wildlife park. Take it from the 140m library budget, thats out of control [Grants & Funding > Orana Park Funding]

2734 - Sharon McDonald

Libraries do not need to be open on Sundays that would save a lot of money.

28 - Geoff Egan

Costs too high costs too high

282 - Michael Heenan

[Recreation, Sports & Events > Pools]

Overall yes. I wonder about the endless swimming pools and libraries we seem to be developing & paying for. With a five minute drive or 10 minute walk I can access two libraries - is that really necessary?

3043 - J Elliott

Other than the maintenance of existing facilities, New Capital Projects should be cancelled.

3071 - James Gormack

[Grants & Funding>Orana Park Funding]; [Grants & Funding>Arts Centre Funding]

I really don't think it makes any sense to rebuild City South library. It's obviously safe enough as it is now. Spend that money on the Arts Centre or Orana Park!

3087 - Lucie Masselink

[Grants & Funding - Arts Centre Funding]

If you are spending 140 million on libraries, why is for example the Arts Centre not getting any funding? They are a massive tourist attraction.

3165 - Adrienne Baxter

[Three Waters > Other], [Transport > Other], [Resource > Resource Recovery (Capital)], [Spending > Te Kaha]

Libraries shouldn't need that much money, they are already there.

3206 - John Gudgeon

It's time to save money here. Most people can search online for something to read.

3239 - Lynette McGrath

There are too many

3307 - Richard Griffiths

Total waste of money. An adequate space for public to read and access information should not waste funds on expensive architecture.

3705 - Glenis Youngman

Libraries > Libraries (Operations)

it is important to invest in libraries but we should not have to pay for the rebuild of any earthquake-damaged library. This should have been covered by insurance payout not ratepayers. i do not want any ratepayer money being paid towards LGBT people telling stories at our libraries as it is morally wrong and extracurricular activity that ratepayers should not be paying for.

3777 - anne abadie

A bit too much for the libraries

3787 - Deb Donnell

[Libraries > Operations]

$29 million for the rebuild of the earthquake-damaged South Library and Service Centre building, Ōmōkihi, which includes $9 million of funding from the Government over the first two years. The balance of the spend ($120 million!) includes looking after our existing facilities, expanding and renewing our extensive library collection and continuing to invest in technology solutions. Where is the bulk of the balance of the money going? In investing in technology solutions???

3795 - Bede Cunningham

less on libraries

>>>

less spend or more pay asyou use.

3810 - Caleb Buchanan

[Libraries > Libraries (Capital)], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Coastal Hazards Adaptation & Adaptation Planning]

I don't feel the amount of money for the parks heritage and coastal areas or the library are necessary

3844 - My-Linh Dang

However, $29m to rebuild South Library is excessive. I can suggest many builders / designers who can provide much more cost effective services at one tenth of the cost. Council needs to have a more competitive tendering process if this is the level of cost it will take to rebuild one library.

3883 - Colin Meurk

i really don't know why south chch needs to be rebuilt. have to stop gold-plating. i can't believe a single storey building like that is a hazard.

393 - Kathryn Russell

Limit this spend

590 - Grant Hartley

More money wasted on the South library which I use. Do we need a new building? If the current building is structurally safe with all the bracing, don't rebuild.

657 - Murray Peacock

Not happy , major change needs to be made here , with E books one never goes to a library

692 - Tony Ward

Too much money spent on Libraries. It can all be done on line.

>>>

Expenditure on libraries should be terminated. Its simply not a core council function.

693 - Jamie Innes

You should spend less on libraries. I don't see the benefit to them

715 - Hayley Barrett

You need to close some of the libraries down. Personally, I don't even think you should build the new library but since the government is putting in some funds, I can't imagine anyone will listen in regard to that. If our libraries cost over $100 million to run, we are doing something wrong. Close some down for a few years. People will go to the next nearest. Maybe run a mobile library to the areas where libraries are closed. No one is ever going to be happy when something is closed, but this spending is crazy when we can't afford it.

>>>

Shut some libraries and maybe have a mobile library visit areas affected.

727 - Donal McEvoy

Also 140million on libraries is huge.

>>>

The South library does not need to be rebuilt. It can be repaired. Trying to make every aspect of the city new and modern is ridiculous

733 - Tania Thompson

[Spending > Capital Programme (General)], [Spending > Te Kaha]

things that we need to live, waste, transport, rubbish need to be organised well. Te Kaha and libraries, maybe not so much. not everyone will use these facilities and yet we are all forced into higher rates to pay for them

747 - Euan Gutteridge

Not essential

757 - Scott McCormick

Do we need multiple libraries , no. The world has changed with the internet it like the council live in the encyclopaedia days

>>>

It should be library. One for Christchurch

763 - Nicola Fagan

The chch south library is fine just the way it is too, the earthquake supports look like something added for design not safety so it works well.

782 - Áine Smyth

FUCK LIBRARIES. WE WANT TO NOT DIE OF CLIMATE CHANGE

>>>

This is ridiculous. We have phones now.

823 - Kym East

Why do we need more money in libraries?

>>>

Why? We don't need to do this.

941 - Hannah Sheath

Why does $140 million need to go to libraries? This is too much!

968 - Nick Piper

Libraries are now becoming more redundant. Spend less on these

Other

1033 - Amelia Wright

I would love to see these more modern

1117 - Brent Elder

These should be maintained, but not enhanced if funds are tight, they are fine as they are.

1163 - Nichola Tyson

Money should be spent on libraries if there's the possibility of actual patronage and services gain revenue, if there's a possibility people will pay to use parks carparks then an expensive library should be making money

1175 - Jonathan Ludgater

These have become a spot for political indoctrination at rate payers expense, if they do not work as stand alone entities ditch them

1275 - Justine Scott

There are too many libraries in the city. They are a great resource however does a city of our size really need 19 libraries? perhaps rationalizing these sorts of facilities would be a good exercise and would cut costs. For example, some of the very small libraries.

>>>

Although, as per my last comment, do we already have too many libraries in a city of our size?

>>>

As I have said previously in this document - does a city of our size need so many libraries? Is there an opportunity to consolidate these? For example do we need Spreydon Library and Redwood Library as there are other larger libraries nearby.

1308 - Bernadette Bowe

I would hope so. The library in the central city is great. In my opinion we don't need libraries in every suburb

1312 - Andrea Bromley

Whilst I appreciate the libraries, I think this model could be looked at also.

1358 - Rob Noster

[Recreation, Sports & Events > Pools (Capital)]

Regarding our rates going to Libraries and other entertainments(pools) user pays to these venues.

>>>

DON'T BUILD ANY MORE LIBRARIES. USER SHOULD PAY. EVERYTHING IS NOW ONLINE.

1391 - Anna Gruczynska

Does South Library really really need to be rebuilt? The loss of the facility for who knows how long it takes to build the replacement, and the cost to do so make me question the wisdom of this decision.

1396 - Robyn Wilson

I'm would support a review of libraries they seem to be on every corner could they be rationalised?

>>>

See above would support review of libraries do we have too many?

1407 - Scott Butcher

It is important that library services are maintained at least at current levels as they represent one of the few free and accessible public spaces that communities have available to them.

1473 - Adele Du Plessis

Why do we need more Libraries? Open up school libraries. The library in Rolleston cost millions to have meeting rooms and a coffee shop. Who needs another coffee shop? Stick to basic services and save money

1541 - Maurice Adler

[Spending > Te Kaha], [Recreation, Sports & Events > Recreation Centres (Capital)], [Spending > Capital Programme (General)], [Strategic Direction > Financial Strategy], [Strategic Direction > Additional Savings & Efficiencies]

What matters most. Over the last few years, the Christchurch City Council has had a field day on think big projects which is contributing towards the rates raised we are looking at now. To mention just three, the stadium which was pushed for the Canterbury Rugby and the Crusaders which can't fill the one they have now. We will be paying it for years. It will be a liability for years to come and it will be the ratepayers who pay, not the Canterbury Rugby or the Crusaders.

The second is Recreation and Sports Centre. This is an embarrassment. The Council received a quote to build it and didn't even obtain a good engineering report on the ground. The result is a huge cost overrun. Who has to pay for it. The ratepayers with a rate rise.

The third is the Hornby Centre. Of three, this is the most sensible. But considering the vast amount of money been spent on the other two projects, was it wise to build this. From memory, once again they didn't get a good engineering report because there was a blowout with that too.

In short, The Christchurch City Council needs to treat their finances the same as one would treat their home finances. If you can't afford don't do it. Ratepayers are tired of being used as a never ending source of funds with rate increases. My recommendation is, don't plan to have anymore large projects that we cannot afford.

>>>

Libraries. No more new spending at present. Only provide to keep existing services going. With no more new services.

1585 - Rachel Smith

[Parks > Other]

We need to provide spaces such as libraries and parks that are open to everyone

>>>

Keep our libraries - they are wonderful

1589 - Barry Miller

[Recreation, Sport & Events > Pools (Capital)]

Does Christchurch need so many libraries and swimming pools? For a city of its size it seems to be over catered for.

>>>

Do we need so many ?

1604 - Claire Dwyer

While I agree Libraries are important we have functioned quite well without the south library and Turanga is central enough for everybody.

1649 - Tony Smith

Do we need to spend heaps on libraries Most people have the internet for information

>>>

[Art Galleries & Museums > Museums (Capital)]

Libraries and museums should be user pays not rate payer funded

>>>

User pays for this What percentage of our population actually use the library Most people use the internet

1676 - James Boland

[Strategic direction>Climate Change]; [Transport>Roads (Capital)]; [Grants & Funding>Arts Centre Funding]; [Spending>Our Proposed Spending]

No. Move money from Libraries and Road Maintenance program to climate adaptation works and funding the Arts Centre.

168 - Brydie Lauder

more funding needed!

1702 - Laura Xavier

>>> More money should be invested in libraries, >>> [Transport > Roads (Capital)] [Parks > Parks Spending (General)] [Community Facilities > Halls & Community Centres (Capital)] [Grants & Funding > Arts Centre Funding]

1717 - Mark Doyle

Drop the libraries funding, it is a relic for today's world. Their current operations are more than adequate.

1734 - Fergus O'Neill

Make sure there is a temporary facility for south library reconstruction.

1760 - Angus Bromley

More funding for library facilities,

178 - Fiona Patchett

I do not think that new projects such as new buildings or rebuild i.e. the South Library should be put on hold. If the community wishes for something to go ahead, then they can participate in fund raising.

In this day and age, I think the Council could like at digital libraries and reduce the amount of physical libraries and buildings. This will lower costs. The digital library could be run from the central library. With more digital books, either readable or audio, there is less need for physical storage of books.

We could have a central digital library where people can borrow digital copies of books, whether reading or audio. Then less libraries would be required and this would lower running costs.

180 - Kevin McSweeney

Do they need to be so fancy - a big shed would work just as well for the purpose. I also wonder if we need so many. The Akaroa model of a shared school/community facility is excellent

1913 - Liz Meek

Libraries are essential,

1965 - Grant Bowater

Perhaps not so critical in the modern era but maintenance would be good.

1996 - Iain Nicholls

We have a great library network. Time to pause its expansion.

2009 - CW Young

[Three Waters>Other]; [Parks>Parks Spending (General)]

Three Waters, Parks/Heritage/Coastal Environment and Libraries need a haircut.

22 - Grace Colcord

Our knowledge sector the holds great importance too, although our libraries are in some of the best states I have seen compared across the motu. I do not think this needs to be a great priority given it seems self sufficient and self-serving for its purposes.

2267 - Redacted Redacted

Some libraries can be shut as they are not busy.

2305 - Monique Maynard

Seems libraries are very costly! What percentage of the ratepayers hold library cards? How many visitors a day justify these costs? I would rather see more bins in parks and have these emptied

>>>

COST SEEMS EXTREMELY HIGH. HOW MANY SATELITE LIBRARIES ARE THERE? WHATS THE ATTENDANCE COMPARED TO CBD ETC, CAN COSTS BE SAVED - REDUCE OPENING HOURS/DAYS

2322 - Dillon Drummond

Upgraded computers

2327 - Charles Shaw

Libraries, parks and swimming pools need to be given priority as they enhance mental, physical or spiritual health.

2380 - Ben Comfort

Fund them! More locations!

2434 - Philip Bones

The cost of running libraries has quite alarmingly been mentioned in the press in recent years (both in Christchurch and in Auckland). The libraries are the lifeblood of the city. Wherever I go in the nation, I trumpet the quality of our libraries, particularly Tūranga, but also the smaller libraries. I have been involved in a number of activities at Tūranga and Riccarton, trying to encourage Māori and Pasifika children to study science subject in high school. I want MORE support for them, not less. Every dollar spent there is likely to be returned to the city with considerable profit - better educated and involved citizens of the future, for example.

>>>

* Increase support for libraries; do not consider reducing any of their services. *

2507 - Bronte Barber

Even though I am local to the South Library I am conscious of the spending we are using on our city and want to make sure that it is a maximum cost of 29million and not a minimum budget...

2519 - Charlotte Withington

[Libraries>Libraries (Operations)]

Libraries serve their purpose but why can't they be condensed with community centres more. E books and audio books and on line resources are making libraries able to be reduced in size, their spaces could used more for community groups, school use, hall hiring etc

2578 - Sarah Polson

Libraries need funding.

2579 - Simone Hindin

Libraries are heavily used across the whole city whereas most people will never step foot in the stadium.

>>>

Great to have the new library opening in hornby this weekend and glad to see that South will be rebuilt, libraries are the glue that holds communities together and should be getting a greater proportion of the spend.

2599 - Susan Miller

We have a vast number of libraries, maintain these but do not build anymore until the economy is in a better position further down the track.

2618 - Margaret Stewart

Why is CCC intending to spend so much money on the Christchurch South Library rebuild? Find a less expensive builder, less expensive design and divert the no longer needed money to other areas of the city. This amount of money spend is totally inequitable.

2624 - Colin Ong

Libraries provide an essential service. However, with more people going on line these days, the question is whether so many outlets are needed as publications could be digitalised and accessed from home once a library membership is obtained?

2682 - Scott Savage

Reduce spend. Prioritise online access for people.

2690 - Robbie Dobbie

Disagree with South City - wrong place

[Coder Note: In relation to libraries]

2764 - Chris Ford (Disabled Persons Assembly (DPA))

Libraries

DPA agrees with the statement in the consultation document that libraries are more than just books in that they 'provide people with the resources and spaces to connect, learn and participate. By ensuring free and equitable access for all, our libraries enable people to strengthen their communities – culturally, socially and economically.'

For disabled people this is doubly so given that many in our community live on low incomes, experience barriers to accessing communication and information, and are often socially isolated.

DPA has been extensively involved in planning around the rebuild of the earthquake-damaged South Library and Service Centre building, another project on which we submitted and saw many of our recommendations accepted by the community board. Subsequently, DPA was invited to provide further feedback on the design of the new library and service centre.

DPA is pleased to see that the South Library and Service Centre Ōmōkihi rebuild has been allocated $29 million in this LTP.

DPA notes that the balance of the spend in the libraries space will include expanding and renewing the city's extensive library collection and continuing to invest in technology solutions.

We welcome these proposals with the additional recommendation that library collections and technologies include works which are fully available in accessible formats and technologies that can be used by disabled people.

Recommendation 10: that library collections and technologies include works which are fully available in accessible formats and technologies which can be used by disabled people.

2822 - Angela Leatherby

Our libraries are critical to connect our communities, you just need to visit Tūranga at the weekend to see what a haven it is for so many in our community and especially for some of our most vulnerable. Our libraries and then staff are integral to people's wellbeing.

2823 - Aurora Garner-Randolph (School Strike For Climate Ōtautahi)

Libraries should get more money.

2835 - Emma Rodriguez Dos Santos

I would like to see more spend on library services

2902 - Prawindra Mukhia

We need the impact assessment information (social, environmental and economic (whole of life costs)) to understand the value of the projects.

294 - Michael Brantley

Delay libraries $

2947 - Katia De Lu

When progressing library rebuilds, please include sustainability and air quality (Covid prevention) improvements.

2951 - Les McKay

Libraries: Not sure if in today's digital age they are necessary. We definitely don't need as many.

2979 - Zac Beckett-Knight (Late Knight Productions Limited)

[Strategic Direction > Additional savings and efficiencies, Recreation, Sport & Events > Pools (capital)]

Perhaps reducing 7 day a week amenities such as libraries and pools down to 6. That's quite large savings in the long run but still maintains significant access to facilities for residents.

3016 - Zarah Green

Libraries are an essential resource, but we don't need small ones everywhere. The central library is great and could be supported with less satellite libraries.

3050 - stuart wallace

I think that some cost savings could be made by consolidating the number of suburban libraries.

3145 - Leah Wild

although question the need to replace the South Library. That is my library, and runs really well in the building they have.

3187 - Debbie Hamilton

Love what we have please keep the status quo

3204 - Rebekah Bedyn

We love the library and the variety of resources it provides and South is our local, so good to see that it will remain after repairs are carried out.

3248 - Dave Edwards

[[Libraries>Libraries (Operations)

Libraries are old school and media is online. They are expensive to maintain so go user pay, centralise and reduce numbers and get rid of subsidised free wifi.

3266 - Renee Mark (Italian Film Festival)

[Grants and Funding > Arts Centre Funding]

The Arts Centre over the library.

3311 - Michael McEntee

Maintain the current level, I don't see them being filled with people when we go and honestly, the gangs of homeless people fighting and carrying on outside the city central one make it quite unpalatable to go to.

3322 - Christine Nicoll

Libraries are great for all. But we do not need them open for such long hours..too costly to pay staff

3363 - Brodie Marra-Stevenson

Our librarians are under valued, but capital wise, ensuring that things such as the 3d printers and recording studio etc are kept up to date is key.

340 - David Wilkinson

sell the buildings/land and help the balance sheet.

3464 - Serena Smith

100% spend more on this too, they're still important to this day.

347 - Catherine Webber

[Spending > Te Kaha, Capital Programme (General)], [Parks > Parks Spending (General)], [Resource Recovery > Resource Recovery (Capital)]

The spending of $870 million on parks, heritage & the coastal environment, $286 million on Te Kaha, $140 million on libraries, $137 million on solid waste and resource recovery is good but surely if you tried a lot harder these things could be maintained without rates increases.

353 - John Mayhew

Far too many expensive gimmicks, electric and electronic gadgets and games in libraries already. Reduce back to reading books only and save millions.

3620 - Rosemary Turnbull

Also, the 24 million demolition planned for the ChCh South library--not urgent, and could be REPAIRED in future!!

>>>

The South Library does NOT NEED TO BE DEMOLISHED!!. We are surely more resourceful than that. Just fix it--sometime. We have the expertise in our City to restore it! We can't afford to do anything with it while our city infrastructure is crumbling!! The planned demolition is a cop-out and lazy, uncreative thinking.

3631 - Charlotte Sparrow

The central library is a great asset. We don't need to be spending large amounts of capital on local libraries in every suburb as well.

3635 - Jane Lila McKenzie

Libraries: 29 Mill for the rebuild of the South Library is still 20 Mill from us and the proposal was still to build on the swampy ground. If it is to be built, the most sound location would be in Cashmere High School land

3636 - Kay Robertson

Please rebuild the much-used South Library - but this time let's avoid the Warren Mahoney mistake of ventilation windows right above stinky, rain water holding ponds. It also could have better passive solar design instead of a long, solid, north-facing wall. Good solar design has windows: 1/2 the north side, 1/4 of the east and west, 10% on the south - at most. Plus roof projections that provide shade in the summer or deciduous planting on the north side.

3662 - Joan Blatchford

As an enthusiastic user of the South Library, I would be happy for the rebuild of this facility to be delayed if this is feasible and provides funds to be used in the short term for other priorities.

3690 - Jono de Wit (Greater Ōtautahi)

The Rebuild of South Library must give priority to both sustainability and internal ventilation during planning, construction, and operation. The current facility does not meet best practice standards for air filtration, which has been shown by COVID to be essential for public health, reducing the transmission of respiratory illness and associated long-term disabilities.

3779 - Layling Stanbury

Also more funding into libraries.

>>>

Libraries are currently underfunded, I'd like to see the council value them higher.

3800 - Rachel Barker

Yes to the $140m on libraries, though the figure seems a bit too low

3802 - Matthew Baird

Libraries are a vital public service and provide important community and education spaces. Please continue their funding and maintenance. Personally, my family are regular users of the libraries. We love getting new books out each week, and also enjoy the activities on offer at many libraries. I also appreciate being able to book rooms for community groups that I'm involved with. Any new libraries (e.g. South library rebuild) should be built with sustainability and internal air quality as a focus.

3830 - Brenda Banning

I am unsure if the number against libraries is correct to maintain the great service offered by libraries today. I believe the libraries are essential.

>>>

I am glad you are continuing to invest in libraries

3831 - Rick Jones

The South library, Colombo St proposal is a classic example of architecture gone "over the top" Another example of over expenditure on an architectural award winning dream. The city can't afford it. A simple "box" would suffice. On the South Library, the current building could easily be strengthened and perhaps questions should be asked of Warren and Mahoney and their engineers as to why the building was never built to 100% of NBS code.

3876 - Dave Evans

The carbon cost of the rebuild of the South library should be calculated and minimised. If this was considered would a rebuild be the lowest-carbon solution?

3879 - Douglas Horrell

Please spend more on libraries,

>>>

Libraries are very important to me and I would support greater spending on them than is in the current LTP

3899 - Harrison McEvoy

More support should be given to Community Libraries and Centres in suburbs, to help them meet the needs of their communities. There are several areas in the city that are not serviced by official Council Service Centres or Libraries. Community-led initiatives in this space deserve more support from Council. These are often constituent's primary spaces to meet and represent an opportunity for Council to do proactive consultation, however, are often ill-staffed or financially supported to take on a more intensive role.

458 - Christine Cockle

There are too many. Suburban libraries are very expensive community centres. It could be more cost effective to have free internet citywide and replace all but Turanga with mobile library services once or twice a week.

48 - Kean Mitchell

targeted rates

492 - Lyndon Telfer

Why not delay the rebuild of the South Library for another 10 years? The existing building isn't going to fall down and the community can keep using the library in the interim

493 - Andrew Douglas

I don't think libraries are a good investment. Everything is online.

>>>

Online is leaving physical libraries behind.

494 - Casey Mathieson

$29 million for the rebuild of south library seems excessive. Why can a budget library not be build with increased online resources

499 - Michael Sumpter

Assess the need for more Libraries. I have no issue with Libraries, but is this money well spent?

51 - Zoe Brock

Protect them

546 - Lisa Boyce

Love them. No more needed

567 - Sarita MacGregor

[Recreation, Sports & Events > Pools (Capital)] , [Recreation, Sports & Events > Community Arts]

Need to protect access to things that support wellbeing - Eg arts, open spaces, libraries, pools

603 - James Mehigan

[Strategic Direction>Additional savings and efficiencies]

[Grants & Funding>Arts Centre Funding]

You could save more money by cancelling the South Library re-build and keeping that library going through steady maintenance of the building,

622 - Stephanie Cullen

[Spending > Our Proposed Spending]

Prioritising existing services is good so long as it includes promised-for upgrades to libraries that have been in the works since the 2010 earthquakes -- e.g. Beckenham Library.

>>>

More money for Libraries

657 - Murray Peacock

Some capital work such as the Cashmere library at 30m is ridiculous , the existing structure with steel added since the earthquake needs to stay as is as, it has lasted 13 years since the quake and can no doubt do another 13 as is.

663 - Sam Chow-Tan

[Recreation, Sport & Events > Events]

No Focus only on essential services. Cut from libraries, events and/or make them user co pay.

>>>

Close some libraries or cut their budget. They have way too many books than what people need.

>>>

The libraries are over funded and underused.

>>>

Overfunded

>>>

[Recreation, Sport & Events > Events]

Cut libraries and events

666 - Stephen Palfrey

Maintain the existing but no expansion.

670 - Sue Orpwood

With Libby, the library book online borrowing service, maybe it's time to reduce the number of libraries.

>>>

Too many now that Libby, the free online reading facility is available and appears well used

674 - Carey Poulter

More suburban libraries need to be brought back, e.g. the one at Edgeware

713 - Matthew Irving

[Recreation, Sports & Events > Pools (Capital)]

Does Christchurch need so many libraries and swimming pools?

746 - Lara Flavell

Libraries are essential but maybe its time to reduce the number of libraries open around Christchurch. Do we really need one in New Brighton, one in Queenspark & one at The Palms for example?

>>>

Reduce the number of libraries around Christchurch And so on

759 - Rory Kinahan

[Spending > Te Kaha], [Rates > Residential Rates]

$286 million on a stadium is madness and highly iniquitous as the majority of CHCH residents will not be able to afford to buy $100+ tickets to events at the stadium during a cost crisis and so only the wealthier residents will get to use a facility that everyone is paying for. It makes massive rate rises inevitable and 60% plus of CHCH residents cannot afford to pay their bills NOW. $140 million on libraries is also nuts in my opinion as we cannot afford it and we can live without it. If you hadn't spent over a quarter of a billion dollars on a sports ground we could maybe have afforded more and upgraded libraries, but now we cannot. The CCC's profligacy has doomed us to ever increasing rates that are becoming unaffordable to a large percentage of ratepayers and rental tenants and that will only get worse as you pay interest on the debt and plow more ratepayer money into running costs for the stadium.

760 - David Palmer

Libraries always deserve more money. Our city libraries and their staff are an asset that needs more investment.

822 - Gavin Scott-Petersen

Regarding the allocation of $140 million to libraries, it is essential to consider the changing landscape of content consumption. With the vast majority of information and content now accessible online, the traditional model of local libraries may require rethinking. While I recognize the value of libraries as community hubs and access points for digital literacy, the investment in multiple physical locations could be revisited. A more sustainable approach might involve maintaining a central library complemented by enhanced digital services and community outreach programs, ensuring that library services are both accessible and cost-effective. Investing in technology and digital infrastructure can not only reduce operational costs but also improve service delivery, making the council more adaptable to unforeseen challenges. This strategic shift towards digital governance could mitigate the need for constant rate increases, offering a more sustainable path forward for the council and the community.

Not Stated

1022 - Sally Burrows

Library is a nice to have but not necessary in this age of everything available on line

105 - Harriet Murray

If we don't value this space, then we don't value the future and we don't value accessibility of education and knowledge.

1051 - Andrew Wood

Library's need an upgrade, they are getting dated

1185 - Greg Ritchie

I believe with more and more technology people will resort to reading and or sourcing books online to be delivered.

127 - Judith Clarkson

Libraries are essential for those who can't afford purchasing books themselves

1278 - Tim Marsh

[Recreation, Sports & Events > Pools (Capital)]

Majority of Christchurch don't even use the services like libraries and swimming pools

1490 - Carolina Nery

I really want to see the library investment in practicing.

1609 - Johnathons Atkins

[Spending > Te Kaha], [Revenue > Other]

Cut libraries, thing of the past!

2006 - Aaron Mcloughlin

[Three Waters > Taumata Atowai Requirements], [Transport > Transport (Operations)], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)], [Spending > Capital Programme (General)], [Spending > Te Kaha], [Resource Recovery > Resource Recovery (Capital)]

$140 million on libraries(2.16%)

2227 - Megan Officer-Christmas

How many of these do we need ...

2411 - Rachel Montejo

Yes, they are critically important for the community

2417 - Victor Vergara

Nothing to say here... I don't use this service

2421 - Helen Foley

[Art Galleries & Museums > Art Galleries (Capital)], [Spending > Te Kaha]

I think so. It is important the council continues to ensure that we have access to our cultural facilities such as libraries and galleries.

2629 - Sarah Smith

[Spending > Te Kaha] , [Parks > Parks Spending (General)]

Far too much money going into parks, Te Kaha and the libraries.

2786 - Redact Redacted

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Cathedral]

programme?

Library's are buildings with lots of multi use services and books available.

No more money towards the Cathedral as it has secular services and only one book. Good case for user pays to be applied.

2869 - Josiah O'Neill

The cities libraries are very important to me, they provide a quality study space, and wonderful range of resources. New Brighton library and Tūranga are both particularly important.

2984 - Claire Martin

I don't use

311 - Peter Clark

Stop trying to create some fantasy city that we can't afford.

3161 - Jillian Schofield

I also love our libraries, so special, i go every week and it means the world.

3177 - Dan Lucas

The libraries already established are amazing, the number of (and therefore spend) should be carefully considered to ensure utilization remains high

3185 - Brian Darlow

Libraries are not luxuries but serve a vital function for all sectors of the community

320 - Ian Knewstubb (Lyttelton Times Ltd)

Obviously

3295 - Rachel Du Val

Tūranga is a stunning library and shows how good design and planning can bring people together in a beautiful and safe environment.

3341 - Maria Bartlett

Libraries are highly valued, core community assets

343 - Aaron Pero

Cost of libraries is extreme. They are important services but can be built so much cheaper

3471 - Murray Irvine

Basic libraries, but not flash builds over looking the sea side.

35 - Graham Taylor

lower priority item - not an essential service

3552 - Alice Neylon

This is fine.

[coders note. Response to spending on libraries]

3610 - Eric Stierna

Parity should be maintained between growing online services and developing/maintaining fixed infrastructure.

3891 - Christopher Gauci

Not high priority

437 - Chrystal Gray

We have enough libraries

458 - Christine Cockle

In a digital age, do we need so many libraries?

533 - Judith Livingstone

Rebuilding South Library !!!? Repair it

539 - Regina Fisher van der Veen

[Parks>Heritage (Capital)]

Libraries and other heritage buildings should be more looked after. They are the key to future generations education

>>>

[Art Galleries & Museums>Art Gallery (Capital); Art Galleries & Museums>Museums (Capital)]

Libraries are important but also every other aspect of the glam sector, including arts centres.

[Coder Note: GLAM = galleries, libraries, archives, and museums]

662 - Cameron Taylor

Who uses them these days? Who cares

672 - Edwin Du Plessis

Ok as is

706 - Rachel Dawick

A hugely crucial area along with public spaces like The Arts Centre which has a similar public role in terms of education and accessible cultural services.

730 - Doug Allen

why 140 million on libraries, are you building even more ?

794 - Yanny Webb-Walker

Do we have too many when rates are getting too high to afford

982 - Craig Newbury

Stay within strong value based budgets please but think about this. Are libraries a thing in the future?

Temporary Facility for South Library

General Comments

22 submissions were received addressing the temporary facility for south library.

10 comments supported, and 3 comments opposed this facility.

6 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 3 comments provided general feedback addressing the facility.

Officer Response

Support:

A number of submitters showed strong support for the rebuild of South Library and Service Centre, some of those submitters also indicated support for various temporary service options within close proximity to the current site during the rebuild.

A couple of submitters suggested having the Mobile library at the Sunday markets.

Options are being investigated for the provision of temporary South Library services during the period of closure for the rebuild. This includes the use of the mobile library in the area. Information and costings are being finalised for temporary services.

Oppose:

Why is it a rebuild and not a repair?

Reasons for a rebuild rather than repair of South Library include building resilience and lifespan, flexible future use and sustainability. Also, the cost to rebuild is less than to repair. Council wishes to avoid having to close this facility in the event of another significant earthquake event, and wishes to minimise the ongoing costs of repairing and renewing the compromised building services, such as heating, cooling and drainage. No change is recommended.

Other:

Postpone South library rebuild.

Why is South library being rebuilt on unstable land?

It is not recommended to postpone the rebuild of South Library and Service Centre for the reasons outlined above (under the Oppose response). No change required.

With regard to the current plan to rebuild on the existing site, most of the damage to the facility's superstructure was caused by shaking during the earthquakes, not foundation failure. Liquefaction and lateral spread in a future seismic event are predicted to be relatively minor. The new building will be stiffer with a raft slab foundation system on top of the existing floor slab which is cost effective. Council already owns the land. Co-location on the Cashmere High School site would put the library in closer proximity to Spreydon Library near Barrington Mal. Rebuilding the facility on a different site is not recommended.

Support

2508 - Oliver Hutchison

I support the provision of temporary library spaces while the new South Library is under construction.

2664 - Peter Galbraith

The provision of a temporary facility is essential for the community while the South Library is under reconstruction. It is a vital community space, and the volumes of displaced users are too high to assume they'll all be covered by Te Hapua and Spreydon Library. This should be considered regardless of the Operational Expenses required.

2797 - Dave Kelly (Beckenham Neighbourhood Association)

The LTP includes $26M to rebuild the South Library and Beckenham Service Centre, which the BNA strongly supports. We are also very grateful for being kept well informed as the plan has been developed. However the LTP does not include any funding for a temporary facility during the 2-3 years the library will be closed for the rebuild. The BNA surveyed our members about how important a temporary facility would be to them and got 18 replies. Two-thirds said they would be happy to use alternative library and service centre facilities during the rebuild, but one-third said it would be important. That shows that there is some demand from residents who would have difficulty going to the nearest other library or service centre. So the BNA suggests that some modest temporary facilities be considered, short of a temporary service centre and library space. For library access, we request that the Mobile Library be timetabled to spend one morning a week at the South Library site. The ideal would be for the mobile library to come on Sunday mornings when the Christchurch South Farmers Market is adjacent to the site. For a temporary service centre and community computer/wifi access etc, we suggest a room at the St Martins Community Library. This is well placed for Beckenham residents, and is a well designed building already owned by the Council.

2845 - Erin Todd

Libraries are critical facilities and temporary facilities should be made available when libraries are under reconstruction (like the South Library)

3003 - Sonya Hodder (Spreydon Neighbourhood Network)

We are very appreciative of the upgrade to our Spreydon Library prior to the closure of the South Library and Service Centre Omokihi closing for the rebuild, both services important for our area.

3283 - Elizabeth Clarke

>>> South Library rebuilt and a temporary space provided during the construction.

3542 - Beatrix Gilling

South library needs a temporary replacement while it is redone.

3558 - Patrick Kennedy

The provision of a temporary library to replace South Library during its reconstruction is very important to the area. Spreydon Library simply does not have capacity to handle the displaced users.

3725 - Richard Smith

A temporary library/service centre should be made available at the South Library site during the reconstruction.

47 - Jamie Billings

The South Library is a fantastic facility, it is great it is being replaced but a temporary site would be ideal.

Oppose

2838 - Graham Erikson

Postpone rebuild of South Library for several years.

3077 - Mike Davidson

disappointed for the community that an interim replacement was voted down.

3299 - Phil OMalley

I have strong comment on the South Library rebuild. Have attending community meeting and a frequent user of this facility. My view is that this project is a poster child of poor decision making and excessive spend. A working library which exceeds earthquake rating, has some modest ventilation issues and is only 20 years old. Over $30M (I do not believe the final cost will be the stated $29M) a same sized building will be provided, being built on the same footprint (which increases the disruption to the community) adding to our interest bill. This project is an example of poor decision making by those persons not paying the rates.

Other

2639 - Callum Ward (Waihoru Spreydon Cashmere Heathcote Community Board)

1. Temporary services following the closure of South Library are proposed to be taken from operational funds that would have otherwise been spent running the services at South Library. The Board has concerns about the level of service that will be provided to south Christchurch communities during the demolition and rebuild period. The Board would also support additional funding for public programming and the mobile service to continue the delivery of service across the South Library catchment. The Board seeks an additional $150,000 as a minimum (additional information will be provided at the hearing, once requested information has been received)

>>>

- Temporary Library Service While acknowledging that there is no way to provide the same level of service as with a functioning building the Board is of the view that the current plans, which are driven by funding envelopes, leave significant gaps. In particular the board has concerns about access to services in the eastern part of the facility's catchment - across Beckenham, Sydenham, Waltham and Opawa-St Martins. The Board would like to see additional funding provided to allow for a dedicated Library space in this area, to complement the proposed work at Barrington. The Board suggests $400,000 be made available for this. (waiting on information from staff)

2922 - Zak Morrison

The South Library serves as a crucial community hub, providing access to a wide range of resources, services, and spaces conducive to learning, social interaction, and community building. The closure of such a significant facility during reconstruction poses a substantial disruption to regular users and the community at large. User Displacement and Service Continuity: The displacement of users due to the reconstruction of the South Library is a significant concern. While nearby facilities such as Te Hapua and Spreydon Library are valuable assets, they may not have the capacity to absorb all displaced users without affecting service quality. The high volume of users at the South Library underscores the need for a dedicated temporary facility to accommodate these individuals effectively. Proposed Temporary Facility for South Library: Given the outlined needs, the following details are proposed for the temporary facility: - Location: The temporary library should ideally be situated within close proximity to the original South Library location to maintain accessibility for the regular user base. An accessible location with good public transport links and adequate parking is preferred. - Duration: The temporary facility should be operational throughout the entire reconstruction period of the South Library. Based on the project timelines provided in the Draft LTP, this is expected to span several years, necessitating a stable and well-equipped temporary setup. - Capacity and Services: The temporary facility should be capable of supporting a substantial portion of the South Library's usual traffic. This includes providing a broad selection of books and materials, access to computers and the internet, spaces for reading and studying, and areas for community events and children's programs. Financial Considerations: While the establishment and operation of a temporary facility will incur additional operational expenses, it is crucial to consider these costs as an investment in maintaining the quality of life and service for Christchurch residents. The benefits of ensuring uninterrupted library services, particularly in terms of educational support and community well-being, justify the associated costs. The provision of a temporary library facility during the reconstruction of the South Library is essential to meet the needs of the community effectively. It ensures that the residents of Christchurch continue to have access to vital library services, which support educational development, provide community connection opportunities, and enhance the overall quality of life. The Christchurch City Council is encouraged to prioritize this initiative within the Draft LTP 2024-2034 to demonstrate its commitment to sustaining robust community services during periods of transition and development.

3127 - Dianne Downward

Christchurch South Library was built on unstable soil resulting in it's failure when we had the earthquakes. The new Library should be built on stable land. Cashmere HS is close by and a joint library could be built there like the one at RHS which was built one year after Chch south library.

3382 - Meg Biggs

Be absolutely sure we need to spend money on rebuilds such as the south library that is functioning well in its current condition .

3690 - Jono de Wit (Greater Ōtautahi)

The provision of a temporary facility is essential for the community while the South Library is under reconstruction. It is a vital community space, and the volumes of displaced users are too high to assume they'll all be covered by Te Hapua and Spreydon Library. This should be considered regardless of the Operational Expenses required. South Library is a key functional space for the Council when it comes to services for constituents, and the impact their removal will have must be taken into account when deciding to temporarily relocate.

3856 - Portia Bishop

Consideration of a temporary facility for users of the South Library.

Not Stated

248 - Eric Livingstone

Sad to see so much waste in the complete rebuild of South Christchurch library when a strengthening should have done it

2515 - Jane Hopkins

The rebuild cost of the South Library seems very high

>>>

How did the South Library which is still able to be used get ahead of the Shirley Community Center in the queue of rebuilds?

2830 - Fiona Bennetts

I love our libraries • The Rebuild of South Library must give priority to both sustainability and internal ventilation during planning, construction, and operation. The current facility does not meet best practice standards for air filtration, which has been shown by COVID to be essential for public health, reducing the transmission of respiratory illness and associated long-term disabilities. The provision of a temporary facility is essential for the community while the South Library is under reconstruction. It is a vital community space, and the volumes of displaced users are too high to assume they'll all be covered by Te Hapua and Spreydon Library. This should be considered regardless of the Operational Expenses required. South Library is a key functional space for the Council when it comes to services for constituents, and the impact their removal will have must be taken into account when deciding to temporarily relocate.

Community Facilities

Community Facilities (Operations)

General Comments

31 submissions were received addressing operational spending on community facilities.

6 comments supported, and 0 comments opposed operational spending.

22 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 4 comments provided general feedback addressing operational spending.

Officer Response

In summary there was support for:

- The continued provision of a sustainable network of community facilities.
- Low hire costs for not-for-profit or community groups.

Specifically, submissions:

- Showed gratitude for recent refurbishments.
- Requested targeted spaces for ethnic communities.

The Community Facilities Network Plan acknowledges the importance of working in partnership with communities over the sustainable provision and operation of community facilities that enable active, connected and resilient communities to own their own future.

Fees and charges for community facilities have increased by the rate of inflation, no additional increases have been applied.

Staff note that since the Draft LTP document was published, the Multicultural Recreation and Community Centre has opened in Hagley Park.

The operation of community facilities will be covered in a meeting between staff and three Portfolio Group Leaders, Multicultural, Accessibility & Youth, to ensure input from these sectors informs the operation of facilities. The meeting is scheduled for July 2024 following Council's LTP decision making.

Support

2502 - Keri Glassenbury

Community facilities and organisations - grass roots

2570 - Marie Gray

I support the Council maintaining its current levels of service and also increasing them in some cases. This includes:

- Increase investment in safety audits of CCC buildings

2803 - Sarah Walters (Rewi Alley Chinese School)

[Full attachment available]

we have utilised private and city council owned premises to operate our weekend teaching, tutoring and educational school holiday programmes, supporting hundreds of mainly children in the learning of Chinese language and culture. Needing to hire premises has greatly increased our operating costs and we have worked hard to keep our fees as low as possible to maintain a sustainable operation, however we are noticing it is becoming more difficult for some of our families.

>>>

We are very appreciative of the ongoing support to assist us in our work, along with the use of council facilities for various activities. Without our own premises, this gives us the flexibility to provide the services our community wants in the areas most suitable for them.

>>>

2830 - Fiona Bennetts

[Strategic Direction > Climate], [Other/Special Interest Topics > Asset Sales], [Fees and Charges > Other], [Fees and Charges > Car Parking (on-street & off-street)]

- Cost reductions should not come from service cuts, or from sale of assets except those consulted on in this document.

3644 - Yvonne Dixon

Please continue to make low cost council facilities available for the use of non profit groups

785 - Ariana Tikao

[Recreation, Sports& Events>Rec & Sport (Operations); Libraries>Libraries (Operations); Art Galleries & Museums>Art Gallery (Operations); Galleries & Museums>Museums (Operations); Grants & Funding>Arts Centre Funding; Recreation, Sports& Events>Community Arts]

I'd love to see continued support for our recreational and community facilities, libraries, galleries and museums, as well as continued support for the Arts Centre Te Matatiki Toi Ora as a vital contributor to the cultural life of the city, as well as Toi Auaha and other organisations such as The Loons in Lyttelton.

Other

1629 - Whitney Campbell

focusing more on the eastside as i have stated previously. we would love the area surrounding the Bromley community center and Cypress gardens to be improved.

1749 - Nicole Baxter-Warren

People aren't going to be able to use facilities if we are forever on the back foot of paying for them.

2018 - Pippa Marshall

we need public services more accessible to public and more affordable

2089 - Serge Ratten

smaller community centers connected like a ^{web} if it's too expensive make a community job like cleaning parks and streets +

>>>

note smaller community centers.

2261 - Tony Hampton (Health New Zealand Te Whatu Ora – Waitaha | Canterbury)

Section	Comments	Submission
Communities and Citizens: Community Development & Facilities Ref. Page 47 + 56	Health NZ Waitaha Canterbury supports CCC's recognition of the importance of a sustainable network of community facilities in empowering resilient, active, and connected communities. However, we note the identified risk on page 47, regarding the degeneration of the community facilities portfolio due to insufficient operational and maintenance resources and the mitigation of prioritising the top 15 facilities for resourcing and identifying and disposing of facilities surplus to requirement. This is reflected in the service level target change in this space from "80-84 facilities" to "78-82 facilities" on page 56. Non-government agencies and charity organisations often use CCC community facilities to provide health and wellbeing services to local communities. This is an important factor in enabling access for people who might experience barriers if services were further from their homes or in unfamiliar surroundings.	Support: the continued provision of a 'sustainable network of community facilities to empower resilient, active, and connected communities owning their own future'. Recommend: strong consideration is given to the use of facilities for the provision of health and wellbeing services as part of the prioritisation process. Recommend: engagement with Health NZ Waitaha Canterbury in the prioritisation of facilities to understand the impact on health and wellbeing

2448 - Barrie Uren

If facilities are available for community activities they should be paid by the club/group themselves for this privilege

3053 - Drucilla Kingi-Patterson

The Old War Library Space must be developed into a memorial community garden now it has been demolished under community protest. (I was against demolition)

>>>

[Full attachment available]

If you reread at the 2012-13 Annual Plan, the council resolved to repair ten major community facilities at $92.3

And what had to be laid out the city then plus outside districts.

Where we are now we have come a long way. The down side the cost of living, the cost to rent, the cost to buy.

[Full attachment available]

3105 - Tracey MacArthur

Many of the facilities being supported by the CCC will be unreachable to locals who contributed through their rates/rents as household budgets become more and more squeezed.

3412 - Alicia Harbison-Price

[Recreation, Sports & Events > Events], [Grants and Funding > Other]

The Council will need to ensure it has the frontline staff and expertise required to build meaningful relationships with/working with citizens.

- For "Customer satisfaction with the delivery of community support, resilience, development, and recreation initiatives (4.1.27.1)" has dropped below the 80% target.
- "Customer satisfaction with the quality of Council event support (2.8.6.2)" has dropped 7%.

344 - Aaron Herriott

Most public facilities seem to be a mess. Maybe budget needs to be shuffled off redundant vanity pieces for actual function ones?

3576 - Noeline Allan (Cass Bay Residents Association)

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Yaldhurst Memorial Hall]

Excellent idea. This proposal would get rid of a cost to the Council which it cannot afford, while providing a much needed space for the Yaldhurst community. Cass Bay Residents Association have been asking CCC staff and Banks Peninsula Community Board, for several years, to be allowed to lease land to build a community centre in our bay. We have said we will raise the funds to do so as we feel the best place for such a building would be at Steadfast Reserve on the site where there is currently a dilapidated building that, before haphazard repurposing, was a 3 sided vehicle port. Like the Yaldhurst situation this would save the CCC money on renovating and maintaining the old garage.

3662 - Joan Blatchford

2. Reopen Allandale Hall at once. The Lyttelton Coastal Panel has been made aware that this facility has been closed as the earthquake repairs have caused rot. Staff are suggesting that any decision on re-opening await the report of the Coastal Panel which could be some time off (and the rot will get worse). The hall will be affected by sea level rise in the future but for now there is no reason for repairs to be delayed to this well loved community . The community, the Community Board and the Panel (to date) support this.

3691 - Deb Hawke

We need more facilities for youth, spaces to chill out to keep them off the streets and out of cars.

3756 - Christina Hamilton

Protect and support what historic community buildings remain (ie: ones that all the public use, rather than religious ones) or sell them to Entrepreneurs if they'll accept upkeeping caveats which will preserve them for future generations.

3898 - Richard Smith

Need to be realistic about how many big facilities Chch needs - smaller local ones better - community minded - easier to get (walk) to etc

3935 - Michael Healey

I feel that CCC is not coherently targeted at creating spaces for (i) ethnic communities (ii) activating disused spaces through temporary urbanist interventions.

3944 - Lyn Dawson

[Revenue > Development Contributions]

As well as green spaces we need community centres so people can have inclusive and equitable access to the centres of their neighbourhoods. These used to come from development contributions and should do so again. They are vital for wellbeing, possibly more so than sports grounds for many groups. They are also key resources for Civil Defence as we saw in 2023 in Auckland and Hawkes Bay.

3949 - Fay Brorens

Plan for community gathering places. There is strength in community. (vital as oil becomes less available. It is not finite and burning any fossil carbon is toxic - a long term plan should acknowledge this. I appreciate the world we currently live in is all about oil and the energy gain from oil is amazing.

840 - Kim Morton (Ōtautahi Creative Spaces)

Wāhi Auaha – a new space for Ōtautahi Creative Spaces? We've outgrown our space at the Phillipstown Community Hub – we'd really appreciate the Council's help to find a suitable location for Ōtautahi Creative Spaces.

>>>

Wāhi Auaha – a new space for Ōtautahi Creative Spaces? We've outgrown our space at the Phillipstown Community Hub – we'd really appreciate the Council's help to find a suitable location for our studios. We'd like to find something that is on the city fringe East side, with larger studio space and also space for staff to work. Currently the space limits how many people can be part of our creative community. There's a lot of demand, particularly from young people.

[Full attachment available]

896 - Ged Robinson

[Recreation, Sports & Events - Stadiums]

There is so many charities and trusts to work to support our most vulnerable anyway that the council can support them more is crucial. Old building or lower rent, access to council facilities. I would love to see some of Nga Puna Wai land given to help build a sport regional development facility

907 - Mandy Jarden

I support the proposed long term plan. I also support Council taking on ownership and management of the Arts Centre. I love Turanga and the Christchurch Art Gallery, the pools and parks across the city. I reckon Council will be awesome custodians of these amazing cultural assets-bring it back to life!

Not Stated

2296 - Vickie Walker

is there anything else that you would like to tell us about the Draft Long Term Plan 2024-2034?

I like that our local community Centre has been refurbished. It is very important to keep these centres open and available in the Eastern suburbs.

2311 - Paul McMahon (Waitai Coastal-Burwood-Linwood Community Board)

The Board supports the overall spread of proposed spending. Our top five priorities are: • Marshlands Hall Trust – support the funding required for the Marshland Hall Trust community facility business case and that these should be included within the LTP allocations.

358 - Tamara Dauvergne

Honour the NZ Bill of Rights regarding single sex spaces. Stop prioritising men who say they identify as women over biological women and girls

>>>

Honour the NZ Bill of Rights regarding the right to single sex spaces. Get the gender woo out of council organisations - particularly libraries and swimming pool facilities. Honour the rights of biological girls and women to have their own spaces that are not open to men who say they are women.

375 - Alex McNeill

Community groups depend on Council facilities and libraries.

Halls & Community Centres (Capital)

General Comments

30 submissions were received addressing the proposed capital expenditure on halls & community centres.

2 comments supported, and 0 comments opposed the proposed spending.

25 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 3 comments provided general feedback addressing the proposed spending.

Officer Response

In summary there was support for:

- Community facilities and the important role they play as hubs in communities.
- Continued investment in the existing network.

Submissions included requests for refurbishments to happen evenly across the city and peninsula, prioritise accessibility and have a focus on energy efficiency to mitigate the effects of climate change.

There were some requests for specific facilities:

- Youth facility for the Papanui ward.
- Philipstown Community Hub.
- 10 Shirley Road.
- Marshlands.
- Allandale Hall retained and reopened.
- Investment in assets in Halswell.

The Community Facilities Network Plan and Strengthening Communities Strategy acknowledge that community facilities contribute to community outcomes in a variety of ways. These strategic documents note the importance of working in partnership with communities over the sustainable provision and operation of community facilities.

The existing refurbishment plan for the community facilities network takes place throughout the city and peninsula, it has a focus on accessibility and finding energy efficient solutions to be applied to buildings.

The community facilities network plan outlines criteria required to realise an opportunity for a new facility in a community. In addition, it acknowledges that a portion of the existing portfolio are old, in poor condition, underutilised and deteriorating. While the existing budget for community facilities makes provision for new facilities, ongoing costs of these new facilities should be balanced with appropriate disposal of identified existing assets.

Council can expect a workshop on the community facility network in October 2024 in order to provide direction and prioritise work in light of Council's LTP decision making.

Support

3110 - Michael Beard

[Spending - Our proposed Spending], [Other/Special Interest Topics- Tarras Airport], [Spending - Te Kaha], [Libraries - Libraries (Operations)]

Money spent on the Stadium, Convention Centre and the new airport at Tarras is wasted and as a ratepayer I do not support them. I support money spent on the homeless, Libraries and community centres

3700 - Ian Cumberpatch

we need more consideration for funding support for the community based assets that help grow the people and city of Christchurch. Societal community events and functions be they one off's, continuing facilities or annual events are all important contributors to the daily lives and the welfare of our people - a positive sense of community and belonging is required.

Other

1442 - Elisha Blogg

Ensure that communities who need more funding spent on their spaces, places and amenities have this happen. It seems the already affluent communities receive shiny new amenities where as others who need more 'love' miss out.

1549 - Jessica Saunders

[Parks > Other], [Fees and Charges > Other]

We should look into ways that we can use our current assets within the local communities and if they can't be used as buildings then possibly community gardens and charge a small fee for use of the allotments. It would help people who may not have space to have gardens and raise funds to put back into the coffers.

1702 - Laura Xavier

>>> More money should be invested in community centres [Libraries > Libraries (Capital)] [Parks > Parks Spending (General)] [Transport > Roads (Capital)] [Grants & Funding > Arts Centre Funding]

1775 - Jo Hall

Please can you give priority to the 2025 Budget for the building of the New Community Centre at 10 Shirley Road. The community has been without its community centre since the 2011 Earthquake. This was a thriving and busy centre pre earthquake. The community are unable to access classes and courses in other suburbs due to them being booked out, hence the real need for this community centre at 10 Shirley road to be rebuilt sooner rather than later.

2055 - Joanne Byrne

We have been awaiting the rebuild of our community facility at 10 Shirley Rd. Ccc continues to put obstacles in the way of our community while spending jnewuitably in other areas. Equitable outcomes would be nice.

>>>

Commjunity centre at 10 Shirley are - bring forward and release the budget to enable this project to progress

2087 - Emma Norrish (Waipapa Papanui-Innes-Central Community Board)

A key document that guides the Board's advocacy for its community is the Community Board Plan 2023-25, which it engaged with the community on at the start of this electoral term, taking full account of the feedback received, before adopting the Plan. In regard to the LTP, the Board agreed with the community that it would advocate for funding to be included/retained for specific projects as detailed within the submission points for the next question. The projects are: • for youth in the Papanui Ward to have a facility (this is responding to significant growth in the ward)

>>>

A key document that guides the Board's advocacy for its community is the Community Board Plan 2023-25, which it engaged with the community on at the start of this electoral term, taking full account of the feedback received, before adopting the Plan. In regard to the LTP, the Board agreed with the community that it would advocate for funding to be included/retained for specific projects as detailed within the submission points for the next question. The projects are: • the need for Phillipstown Community Hub to have a permanent home in the long term

>>>

Phillipstown Community Hub: In regard to prioritisation in the Board Plan of Philipstown Community Centre (project 69275), there appears no clear requirement to bring funding forward at this time to support a land purchase. However, this may be relevant to an Annual Plan depending on the Ministry of Education's decision in regard to the land occupied by Phillipstown Community Hub. It is vital though that the current funding in this project be retained as an investment in maintaining this heart to the community.

2183 - Hali Stauffer

I'd like to highlight several critical areas that Council should prioritise: 10. Promoting accessibility and inclusivity: Enforcing accessibility standards in buildings and public spaces, enhancing support for people with mobility issues, and fostering a culture of inclusion are vital for creating a more equitable and accessible city for all residents. By prioritising these areas, Council can deliver tangible benefits to the community, foster inclusivity, and build a more resilient and sustainable future for Ōtautahi.

2269 - Lyn Leslie (Te Pātaka o Rākaihautū Banks Peninsula Community Board)

The Board would like to see a Council programme/project to identify the reduction of heavy metals into the Council infrastructure from both private and public communities. The Board would like to see the Council develop plans to ensure the development and use of all Council facilities achieve energy efficiency to reduce the effects of climate change.

2275 - Bridgette Pedofsky

Repairs to Balmoral hall need to be made

2447 - Sue Lang

I would like to comment on the promised rebuild of The Shirley Community Centre. I have run my walking group (Shirley Recreational Walkers) from this site since 1999 having been a member since 1995. It saddens me every time we meet there that I am still looking over at an empty site. Many groups used this Community Centre both day and night and on the weekends. It is on an excellent bus route which includes The Orbiter and the population is ever increasing in this area due to medium and high density housing. My mother helped run a very popular Leisure Group for many years and it was an easy place to get to for those in the older age group without cars. The facilities down at MacFarlane Park do not make up for the loss of the Community Centre back on this site. Why have other areas had their facilities rebuilt when Shirley hasn't? What has happened to the insurance money from 10 Shirley Road? I hope it has been kept for it's rightful purpose and not just swallowed up elsewhere or on the maintenance, new fencing etc here. Please consider putting a full Community Centre back at 10 Shirley Road as it will be well used once again by many in the area and beyond.

2542 - Lisa Anderson

I believe the Community centre 120 Shirley Road should be pushed forward as we have been without the centre since 2011 and the community needs it.

2544 - John Bannock (Governors Bay Community Association)

We strongly ask that the Allandale Hall is retained for further use. It is our understanding that $800,000 upwards has been spent on earthquake repairs, with only about $45,000 now required to make the hall usable to the public. This is a very special venue, it is a reasonable cost to hire for all for weddings, funerals, and community and local school events. It provides a large space that has heritage and cultural value for the harbour residents. It is the only large venue that can be accessed from Purau, Diamond Harbour around to Governors Bay. It is ridiculous that the necessary improvements have been held back, it appears that one section of Council is not talking to another section. Please ensure the hall floor is repaired so it can continue to be used for another 20 years. Yes we understand that there will be a time limit on its use due to sea level rise but the $45,000 is worth it. The hall is managed at little cost to the Council as is administered through the GBCA and managed by the Reserve Committee.

2578 - Sarah Polson

So do community centres.

2618 - Margaret Stewart

Local residents are still waiting for the Shirley community Centre rebuild. It has been 13 long years and the projected date for the rebuild is still 2031. Please bring the money forward to 2025 so the rebuild can start. It is what the local community want.

2817 - Emma Twaddell (St Albans Residents' Association)

We submit the funding for the Shirley Community Centre be brought forward in the LTP. As is seen in the success of other community centre's in Christchurch this lacking this focal point of the Shirley Community is a disadvantage to the local residents. The St Albans Community Centre which we collaborate with the council to manage provides over 400 hrs per month of community activities for the local residents. Shirley residents need this too. SARA will support the Shirley community to manage and operate it successfully

2873 - Kaitlyn White (Hoon Hay Community Association)

Firstly, a big thank you to Christchurch City Council, particularly the Spreydon-CashmereHeathcote Community Board, for its support of Hoon Hay Community Centre. Since the old Children's Library closed and the space became a community centre, the future of the centre was uncertain for many years. With your support, our centre was taken off the disposal list. In 2023, it was renovated to be earthquake strengthened and also made fit for purpose. It is a small but mighty community centre, where we host some free events for the community. It also gives our community access to an affordable space for meetings and events.

[Full attachment available]

3001 - Clive Howard-Williams

I would like to see money brought forward in the budget for the construction of a replacement Shirley Community Centre at the council owned property at 10 Shirley Road. This part of Christchurch has seen no funding devoted to a replacement of the Community Centre since the 2011 earthquake. The previous Community Centre at this site was demolished after the 2011 earthquake and never replaced although in many other better endowed areas of the city new community centres have been built. The area that a replacement Shirley Community Centre would cover has seen significant housing infill and parts are socially disadvantaged indicating a considerable need for a replacement. I have lived in the area for 33 years and witnessed at first hand the considerable enjoyment and use of the previous Community Centre.

>>>

Please see my comment earlier on an urgent need for a replacement of the (demolished) Shirley Community Centre

3035 - Claire Coveney

Sell land that is not being utilised eg. Garlands Road where scout hall once stood and swimming pool.

3573 - Joyce Yager

Much more prioritisation is needed for >>> community centres and projects that serve everyone

3619 - David Fuffy (Richmond Residents' and Business Association)

In the overall scheme of enhancing the Richmond area, the development of the site at No 10 Shirley Road continues to be low in our set of priorities. It is currently used as a passive recreation space and is a starting point for the newly-created Wayfinders Course through Richmond. Delta Community Support Trust and the new Richmond Club have multiple rooms available for community use as do Shirley Primary, Avebury House, Shirley Community Trust and Rhombus whose facilities cater for groups organizing classes or for those meeting community-based needs. We feel the funds put aside for the development of new facilities at Shirley Road could be better utilised on other projects in the community.

3674 - Andrew Driver

Yes, I'm strongly in support of a Community Centre at 10 Shirley Road as I don't drive due to a medical condition. Also, I want to make local friends, not friends over the other side of town. I also want easy to get to community classes etc. You're right that things in adjacent areas are always booked out, and we've waited way too long for this.

3798 - M-Webb User

Council and its facilities can install solar to save on energy bills eg. the local rec centre with solar when it becomes the community hub can have power to help residents charge their phones to communicate. A couple of stories that has stuck with me reading about cyclone Gabrielle up North (it was the caravan solar panel that kept the person's phone charged so they could communicate; another story was the 2 ev vehicles that used their batteries to keep the local pharmacy operating for 3 days until power was restored. With solar panels although expensive battery power storage would be sensible.

3826 - Kate Cleverly

Communities and community facilities should be a priority. Without the investment in local communities people are at risk of becoming isolated. Investing in communities and community facilities builds resilience and a sense of pride and belonging.

It is really important to build and retain community facilities in Halswell as the community is growing so rapidly and the infrastructure is not keeping pace. Halswell only has Te Hāpua, Halswell Community Hub and the Halswell Hall for its large population and these need to be retained whilst also looking at a new facility / facilities to cope with demand from the growing population

3860 - Kate Cleverly (Halswell Community Hub)

It is really important to build and retain community facilities in Halswell as the community is growing so rapidly and the infrastructure is not keeping pace. Halswell only has Te Hāpua, Halswell Community Hub and the Halswell Hall for its large population and these need to be retained whilst also looking at a new facility / facilities to cope with demand from the growing population

>>>

Halswell continues to grow rapidly and is becoming increasingly diverse with a wide range of ages, cultures, backgrounds and languages. Residents need ways to connect into their local communities when they move into the area and as their needs change over time. This is particularly difficult where English is not a first language.

3933 - Joanna Gould

Please bring forward funding to design/build a new Shirley Centre at 10 Shirley Road, Shirley Community Reserve in Richmond, Christchurch.

[FULL ATTACHMENT AVAILABLE]

Not Stated

2515 - Jane Hopkins

The Shirley Community Center was demolished in the earthquakes and is still waiting for a rebuild.

>>>

Please rebuild the Shirley Community Centre which was demolished in the earthquakes. It seems unfair that other areas have had their community centres rebuilt, why has Shirley missed out? Even the South Library, which is still functional, is being rebuilt ahead of Shirley Community Centre.

3528 - Mark Wilson

We must prioritise communities which have been forgotten since the earthquakes, such as Shirley for capital programmes. They have been waiting for their community center to be rebuilt for 13 years now, This community MUST be the next community to have a community facility built.

>>>

Rebuild the Shirley Community Center now.....please.....

4023 - Bethan Sommer

Too many large event centres, not enough nice small community spaces.

Service Centres (Operational)

General Comments

5 submissions were received addressing the proposed operational spending on service centres.

3 comments supported, and 0 comments opposed the proposed spending.

2 comments suggested what could be done differently.

Officer Response

The residents' submissions provide feedback on service centre locations, hours and staffing.

Customer Service Hubs are co-located with other Council services in 12 sites throughout greater Christchurch.

The full range of first point of contact customer services are provided at each of these sites. These include Council related face to face enquiries and transactions, with the addition of NZ Post Services at 6 sites. As an authorised agent of NZ Post, Council is remunerated accordingly.

In addition Customer Services staff at all 12 locations also serve the Citizens and Customers of Council with first point of contact phone and online services.

Citizen and Customer demand is regularly reviewed, and the allocation of staffing to our face to face, phone and online services adjusted accordingly.

Support

1436 - Victoria Andrews

I support maintaining and enhancing the level of service for the Akaroa Museum, Service Centre, School and Community Library.

>>>

The Akaroa Service Centre is housed in the historic 1914 Post Office building in the heart of Akaroa.

The structure was fully earthquake strengthened, however staff decided to shut the facility in December 2020 without consulting the Banks Peninsula Community Board or residents. The service centre was downsized and moved into the Akaroa Area School and Community Library as a cost saving measure. As a strategic asset which is listed in the District Plan, public consultation was required. The resulting evidence was that ratepayers demanded the return of the Service Centre to its former location on the main street of the town. However, staffing was greatly reduced and opening hours have been cut to 4 hours per day Monday-Friday. The council appears to view the facility as being underutilised.

As stated, Akaroa is 80 kilometres from Christchurch. There is no public transport available. It is essential that Council levels of service are not reduced further in order to fund activities in Christchurch such as underwriting Te Kaha and other non-essential services in the city. The Akaroa Service Centre is the first point of contact for many ratepayers and it requires adequate staffing as well as funding.

2097 - Marie Haley

[Coder Note: For context "The Akaroa library is fantastic and needs to be continued to be supported, this is a vital asset for the rural community"] as well as the service centre as a first point of contact for CCC.

2558 - Mike Norris (Akaroa Civic Trust)

Support continued funding for Akaroa Service Centre, Akaroa Library and Akaroa Museum (Activities and Services - Statement of Service Provision)

The draft LTP provides for the maintenance of operational funding for these three essential community facilities at current levels – we support this. All three services cost relatively little to operate.

The Akaroa Service Centre is a critical service for a community that is, by any definition, small and isolated. For citizens/customers the value of face to face contact with council staff cannot be overestimated. Although the Service Centre is open only limited hours this walk in service must be maintained.

The library and museum are core cultural facilities which enhance the life and wellbeing of the residents of Akaroa and Banks Peninsula. Library and Museum both provide opportunities for citizens to become involved with the provision of services and are hubs for connection within the community. The Museum attracts about 25,000 visitors a year so is a valuable part of the local visitor experience, contributing to the economic well-being of the community. [Libraries > Operations] [Art Gallery & Museums > Museums (Operational)]

Other

1132 - Gavin Fitzgerald

Service centres need consolidation in the internet and contact call centre age.

972 - Robert Gomez

Decrease hours of service locations

Recreation, Sports & Events

Rec & Sport (Operations)

General Comments

62 submissions were received addressing rec and sport operational spending.

15 comments supported, and 3 comments opposed operational spending.

27 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 17 comments provided general feedback addressing operational spending.

Officer Response

Theme – supportive of continued investment into recreation and sport facilities

- There were submissions supporting the continued investment and prioritisation of recreation and sport facilities noting the contribution to the health and wellbeing of residents and provision of spaces for physical activity and social connection.
- They are integral to maintaining a high-quality life in Christchurch and support a wide range of community needs from youth sports to senior fitness classes.
- There was support for services and operating hours to remain the same and appreciation for the continued subsidised costs of entry to pools and gyms.

- Sport Canterbury and Sport New Zealand advocate for Councils consideration of investment in the Local Play Advocate Workforce and supports Council's ongoing commitment to investment in both destination and neighbourhood play spaces.

Play, active recreation, and sport is a cost-effective investment towards local government wellbeing outcomes. Sport NZ estimate that overall for every $1 spent on play, active recreation, and sport, there is $2.12 of social return is generated and recreation and sport facilities contribute to this. This means that for every dollar invested in play, active recreation, and sport, the social return is more than doubled.

The network of aquatic facilities detailed in the 2015/2025 Long Term Plan as amended by the 2017/2018 Annual Plan is reasonably consistent with similar cities in New Zealand. The number of pools is as per Christchurch City Council's Aquatics Facilities Plan. By completion of the network 79% of Christchurch's population will live within 3 km of at least one pool.

The National Aquatics Facilities Strategy 2023 shows an aquatic demand benchmark of providing a minimum level of 27m² per 1,000 population. Canterbury/West Coast is at 30m² per 1,000 population and the addition of Parakiore will fill most gaps in international events capability for aquatics sports in NZ.

Theme – Opposed to continued investment into recreation and sport facilities.

There were submissions opposed to further spend on recreation and sport facilities.

Theme – Women only spaces

- There was 1 submission showing appreciation for Women only sessions.
- There were a few submissions with noting the NZ Bill of Rights and UN Declaration regarding women's recognised rights to single sex spaces. Stop prioritising men who say they identify as women over biological women and girls and no male appendages in female toilets and changing rooms.
- A submission asking for more equitable level of resourcing for women and girls sport and rec and whether research had been on what outdoor activities women and girls most prefer and opportunities for these to happen supported by the Council.

We currently have the provision for gender-neutral toilets and bathrooms at our newer facilities and are in the process of creating change villages within our older facilities.

Change villages will assist a range of people with different needs, with an option to change in a more private area where they can feel safe.

In line with the guidance from the New Zealand Human Rights Commission, Gender diverse people can use the bathrooms or change rooms where they feel safest. Customers can choose a private stall in the change village, or either of the shared changing rooms.

Theme – Operating gyms / pool

There were submissions (across two subcategories) asking why Council operate gyms when these could be privately run.

There was 1 submission where pools were also mentioned to some extent. And 1 submission suggesting Parakiore is sold to private enterprise.

The gyms are currently operated to encourage community participation and achieve community outcomes rather than solely focused on generating a financial return. If maximising financial return became the priority for Council, then we would operate quite differently. The other benefit is that pools complement the gyms. We have circa 9500 memberships across the three membership types of gym, pool and combined gym and pool of which 54% are the combined gym and pool.

Theme – Operating hours

There were submissions suggesting a cut to operating hours - close one day per week, cut back hours, don't open public holidays and 1 suggesting covering Halswell pool for all year use and using volunteers to operate.

This has previously been considered by council.

Theme – Accessible programmes

There were some submissions mentioning improved access that called out the following areas:

- Provide LTS in Akaroa
- Needing great facilities for young kids and youth to stay active
- More accessible rooms for disabled persons
- Why under 16 years cannot access the spa pool
- Services for elderly with ageing population

The Recreation, Sports & Events Unit have a team responsible for engaging with communities to develop and implement accessible, inclusive and diverse programmes and services across multiple spaces and places with the aim to improve community health and well-being outcomes. They are currently engaging and working in partnership with identified communities most at risk of physical inactivity to understand their needs.

Theme – Fees and charges

There were some submissions that called out the following areas:

- Asking for low barrier entry to gyms
- Reduced pool entry for low-income earners
- Discount for rate payers
- Provision of free swimming
- 100% user pays

Council offers discounted rates to programmes and services for those where affordability may be a barrier, such as 25% discount available for Community Services, Super Gold cardholders and Secondary Student cardholders on membership, multi visit passes and most casual entry and 50% discount available for Hāpai Access and KiwiAble Leisure card holders on casual entry.

Council offers low to no cost partner funded programmes to identified communities most at risk of physical inactivity.

Council provides a low cost learn to swim holiday programme in between school terms.

Council facilitates a funded school swimming programme which subsidises the costs and delivery of the Water Skills for Life programme offered at aquatic facilities throughout Christchurch (including Christchurch City Council, private aquatic providers and school pools). This programme provides financial assistance to enable tamariki and rangatahi to access quality water safety instruction. The subsidised lessons are for schools with an Equity Index of 432 and above.

Theme – Sports

- There were some submissions mentioning reduced spend on sporting grounds and that professional sports/sponsors should bear 100% of the cost of operational and facilities and the consideration of using school grounds in the weekend instead of investing in more.
- There was 1 submission about Nga Puna Wai land given to help build a sport regional development facility.

Sports are charged as per the Council's listed fees and charges.
Council will refresh the Nga Puna Wai masterplan.

Theme – Matatiki aqua classes

There was 1 submission from a Selwyn Aquatic Centre user having casually used Matatiki saying it was a great place but had reservations about maximising the usage in comparison and asking if the aqua programme can be reviewed offering a full programme making it cost effective to shift from current place.

The initial response to aquafit classes at Matatiki has been positive and the Recreation, Sports & Events Unit will review the programme offering after the first three months of operating.

Support

1071 - Brian Donovan

Sport and well being very important.

1882 - Anna-Marie Browne

[Other/Special Interest Topics>Public Transport]; [Spending>Our Proposed Spending]

~~do you have any comments on operational spending.~~
The Council should prioritise operational spending and the capital programme, they should also put more money into flood and climate protection. They should spend more to keep recreation of facilities open and also fund more electric buses travelling more frequently.

2388 - Guy Tapley

I believe the overall balance is about right.

2540 - Jocelyn and Caroline Pappill and Syddall

We also really appreciate the Wednesday Women & Girls only time at Te Pou Toetoe Pool – thank you for that initiative.

2861 - Laila Jansone

[Libraries > Libraries (operations)]

Services can be reduced except, pools , libraries and sport facilities.

2922 - Zak Morrison

Recreation and Sport Facilities: Similarly, recreation and sport facilities contribute to the health and well-being of residents by providing spaces for physical activity and social interaction. These facilities support a wide range of community needs, from youth sports programs to fitness classes for seniors, and are integral to maintaining a high quality of life in Christchurch.

3077 - Mike Davidson

Do not cut any services to >>> swimming facilities.

3187 - Debbie Hamilton

[Libraries > Libraries (Operations)], [Parks > Parks Spending (General)], [Grants & Funding > Arts Centre Funding]

But don't change that especially supporting community such as libraries parks pools the Arts Centre most importantly

3291 - Jess Kikstra

[Transport > Cycling]

[Three Waters > Waste Water]

[Parks > Parks Spending (General)]

[Libraries > Capital]

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Creating a Climate Fund]

Capital program: Yes, particularly supportive of spending on cycling and active transport. I would also support behavior change programmes and consideration of incentives to encourage more people to bike. Supportive of improvements to waste treatment, parks and foreshore, recreation, libraries, and adapting to climate change.

3466 - Mark Stapleton

Dont close our swimming pools !!

3694 - Jane Pairman

Maintain parks and gardens and recreation pools. We need more local services not huge monstrosities in town.

3698 - Clive Beaumont (Canterbury Basketball)

It is easy to forget recreation in a long term plan and the role major sports such as basketball play in the wellbeing of citizens especially as basketball is popular amongst the lower socio economic groups

3743 - Ben Ellis

Any money spent on improving access to sport / recreation / exercise is money well spent based on the improvement in health with regular exercise.

3817 - Melissa Macfarlane

[Libraries > Libraries (Operations)]

I value, and support, the continued subsidised costs of entry to CCC pools and gym facilities which will allow more residents to be able to access these important assets and continued support for libraries, both of which will support community wellbeing.

785 - Ariana Tikao

[Libraries>Libraries (Operations); Art Galleries & Museums>Art Gallery (Operations); Galleries & Museums>Museums (Operations); Grants & Funding>Arts Centre Funding; Recreation, Sports& Events>Community Arts; Community Facilities>Community Facilities (Operations)]

I'd love to see continued support for our recreational and community facilities, libraries, galleries and museums, as well as continued support for the Arts Centre Te Matatiki Toi Ora as a vital contributor to the cultural life of the city, as well as Toi Auaha and other organisations such as The Loons in Lyttelton.

Oppose

128 - Elizabeth Ackermann

I don't want to pay any extra for the Metro facility or the rugby stadion.

2603 - Ron Brooks

we dont want recreation centers and sport wasting our money

3366 - Robert Manthei

[Resource Recovery > Resource Recovery (Capital)]

Not sure why we will be spending as much on recreation and sport as we do on Solid waste & recovery (712m vs 768). The latter is a far more pressing issue for Chch and every other community.

Other

1094 - Katie Godman

[Libraries>Libraries (Operations)]

No one goes to the library anymore. and Council pools and gyms should be paid for by the ones that actually use them not every rate payer.

1132 - Gavin Fitzgerald

[Strategic Direction>Additional Savings & Efficiencies]; [Parks>Parks Spending (General)]

Money spent within sports and recreation and parks,heritage and coastlines.

[Coder note: reduce money spent on these areas]

>>>

[Parks>Parks Spending (General)]; [Libraries>Libraries (Capital)]; [Spending>Our Proposed Spending]

Generally speaking yes, however Parks,Heritage and Coastal along with Recreation and Sport needs less spent on it and Libraries (Community Hubs) need more spent on it.

1229 - Cassandra Albert

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)], [Parks > Parks Spending (General)]

By prioritizing investments in amenities like bike lanes, recreational centers, parks, and outdoor programs, we can promote healthier lifestyles and community engagement while utilizing resources more effectively.

1242 - Nick Scott

[Parks > Parks Maintenance], [Three Waters > Stormwater & Land drainage (Capital)], [Parks > Sports Grounds & Facilities]

Keep the funding for park and recreation high and make updates to parks to drain rainwater better and make more turf fields available for teams to play on in wet weather

1547 - Graham Allan

[Playgrounds & Play Equipment], [Parks > Sports Grounds & Facilities]

we need to provide great facilities for our young kidds and youth if we can provide good facilities for people to play on they will stay more active and healthy

1568 - Kathryn May

[Libraries > Libraries (Operations)]

I suggest we close swimming pools and libraries one day a week (not the same day) to save some money.

>>>

Close libraries and pool/gyms one day a week, not on same day for pools and gyms in same area. Turn off heating last hour before closing in libraries.

>>>

close gyms one day a week but don't increase fees.

180 - Kevin McSweeney

[Fees & Charges > Community Halls & Spaces]

Less focus on sports (any professional sport should bear 100% of the costs for facilities and operations)

2097 - Marie Haley

[Three Waters > Waste Water, Stormwater & Land Drainage]

There are NO accessible swimming lessons for preschoolers, other than 2 weeks in the summer holidays run by the excellent Swimming Club. I would like to see CCC take this issue seriously and prioritise the safety of rural children, with water safety, learn to swim and access to safe swimming places in the Akaroa harbour, to do this we need access to swimming lessons like city children have, and also to fix the wastewater and stormwater pipes in the township of Akaroa as a priority prior to moving the water treatment plant and discharge to Robinsons Bay. This must be a priority for the mauri of the harbour and the wellbeing of precious lives.

2422 - Debora Mora

[Three Waters > Taumata Arowai Requirements]

Reduce pool entry to those on a low income e.g. less than $40K per annum so they too can enjoy the health benefits of the pool.

2462 - Mark Cox

This city has a glut of swimming pools for the size of the population, once the central pool is up and running the smaller pools such as Waltham-Haslwell etc need to go.

2673 - Ben lamond

but you should look into actually giving the rate payers of Christchurch a discount at the new stadium and sports complex's since the increases are to pay for these things

2750 - Helen Johnstone

[Parks > Sports Grounds & Facilities]

Sport and recreation is an area where you may be able to reduce spending. I am sure there is plenty of pressure to supply further sports facilities, but this is an area which could grow to grow at a rapid rate, as more sports are introduced, and more children are encouraged to become a part of them. Maybe more school grounds could be used for weekend sport, rather than providing more sports grounds?

2799 - Dot Lovell-Smith

I think there needs to be a more equitable level of resourcing for women's and girl's sport and recreation.

>>>

Has there ever been research done on what outdoor activities women and girls most prefer and opportunities for these to happen supported by the Council . eg horse riding?

2835 - Emma Rodriguez Dos Santos

I would like to see more spend on recreation

29 - Hayley Young

[Coder Note: For context: "Cut library opening hours, we don't need any libraries open on public holidays or sundays. Not in a cost of living crisis."]

The same goes for council owned gyms and pools.

2957 - Lisa Keen

The aquatic centre has become a money pit and we shouldn't have to suffer from the council's mistakes to make up the shortfall

3026 - Tony Smail (Canterbury Rugby)

The operational spend on sport and rec is 5% but capital spend is 2% Sport and rec facilities are in major need around the city for investment also so it should be proportional with capital spend % higher

3044 - Tony Smail

[Recreation, Sport & Events>Pools (Capital)]; [Recreation, Sport & Events>Recreation Centres (Capital)] [Recreation, Sport & Events>Stadiums (Capital)]

Sport & rec facilities & operations need to be a higher priority than they currently are - the cities facilities are well below par

3071 - James Gormack

[Parks>Parks Maintenance]; [Libraries>Libraries (Operations)]; [Spending>Our Proposed Spending]

There should be a greater emphasis on community facilities - parks, libraries, pools etc

3155 - Robyn Ratcliff

To even consider the shortening of swimming hours is ineffective andcrediculus.

3398 - Robert Pethig

A reduction to sport spending would help with this

350 - Chris Hoopmann

Improve access to low barrier to entry leisure activities for citizens - disc golf, walking, skate parks, public gyms.

3529 - Marc Duff

Question why the City Council is involved in running gyms, when the gym market is highly competitive and most gyms not City Council run are open 24/7. I dont see running gyms as a core service for the City Council to be involved in running especially if they are costing us as residents to run.

3635 - Jane Lila McKenzie

Parakiore: Sue the overseas company that is screwing us. They were aware the ground was totally Unsuitable therefore the pool the finances is drowning in, ought to fall back an be a tsunami on their heads.

3895 - Margaret Trotter

Sport and recreation needs to be balanced with other facilities such as heritage parks-Ferrymead, Orana Park, Willowbank as not all people play sport. The traditional sports are not necessarily the only option these day.

4033 - Juliana Venning

With improvements to pools I would expect an exercise of 'duty of care' and recognising Reem Asalem's recommendations on women's (under U.N. declaration) recognised rights to single sex spaces, i.e. separate Women's spaces, with more and more accessible rooms for disabled persons and the return of Women's (biological women's) swim times, which I along with other petitioners, of Muslim and other communities advocated for.

896 - Ged Robinson

[Community Facilities - Community Facilities (Operations)]

There is so many charities and trusts to work to support our most vulnerable anyway that the council can support them more is crucial. Old building or lower rent, access to council facilities. I would love to see some of Nga Puna Wai land given to help build a sport regional development facility

Not Stated

1192 - Shannay Henning

Sport recreation - it's going to end up too expensive for the average household who has a mortgage to afford to use it anyway

1224 - Amanda OBrien

[Grants & Funding > Other], [Libraries > Libraires (Operations)],

Community services especially for the Elderly are extremely important, we are a aging population there are so many isolated people in chch

1628 - Matthew Brovelli

Where are the activities that promote health and wellbeing? There could be a link to parks but the detail is what matters.

191 - Jenny Harlow

[Libraries > Libraries (Operations)]

Our libraries and recreation centres are amazing community resources - they pull communities together and make people visible to each other as well as the actual services they provide. The less visible services are also really important and we cannot expect the cost of getting them to magically stay constant when everything else is going up!

193 - Anne Mahan

[Recreation, Sports & Events > Community Arts, Events]

Part of Christchurch becoming a more vibrant city to live in and as a destination is the arts, sports and events. If people can not afford to play sport visit a concert or event it creates more long term issues, ie boredom vandalism and anti social behavior.

2236 - Julyan Falloon (Sport Canterbury and Sport New Zealand (Joint Submission))

Play is key to a child's development, supporting development of spatial awareness, considered risk taking, self-confidence and social skills. Placement of safe and attractive play spaces can also promote a sense of vibrancy and community in a neighbourhood. Sport Canterbury and Sport New Zealand are grateful to enjoy a tri-partite relationship with Christchurch City Council in the area of Play. Through this relationship and our investment into the Christchurch City Council Play Advocate role (Lou Van Tongeren), we are well placed to continue under a shared recognition that Play is an everywhere activity. Lou is currently working across council teams on the development of a wide variety of facilities, spaces and places- which will enable generations of Christchurch residents to play and be active together. We are enjoying working with council officers to ensure that this work and its impact can endure. Accordingly, Sport Canterbury and Sport New Zealand advocate for Councils consideration of investment in the Local Play Advocate Workforce and supports Council's ongoing commitment to investment in both destination and neighbourhood play spaces.

[Full attachment available]

2410 - Lydia Thomas

Sports receive an abundance of money and sponsorships, to the extent that they don't even need to exert effort; the funding is readily available

289 - Julian Springer

let women have their own time/spaces in public swimming pools etc. This stuff is divisive, noxious and deeply unpopular. It damages your credibility in the eyes of the public and fosters resentment.

324 - Richard Wesley

Why does the council run gyms when these could be privately run?

>>>

[Strategic Direction > Additional Savings & Efficiencies]

Not running gyms, but putting these out for private businesses to take over.

3535 - Anna Harper

Sport and Recreation is key.

358 - Tamara Dauvergne

Honour the NZ Bill of Rights regarding single sex spaces. Stop prioritising men who say they identify as women over biological women and girls

>>>

Honour the NZ Bill of Rights regarding the right to single sex spaces. Get the gender woo out of council organisations - particularly libraries and swimming pool facilities. Honour the rights of biological girls and women to have their own spaces that are not open to men who say they are women.

3615 - Janine Clarke

Support maintaining the Kiwi attitude to sport and expertise will improve health outcomes and the subsequent costs of those.

3745 - Victoria Rathgen

QE2 lacks so much for primary aged children its missing fun, under 16years can get their drivers licenses get married before they can sit in the SPA pool which apparently is for everyone...ageism or misleading slogan

375 - Alex McNeill

Sport and recreation are necessary to keep us from being too depressed :):)

3994 - Sarah Boje

[Parks> Public Convenience]

No males with male appendages in female toilets and changing rooms

4000 - Kari Barr

Yes to free swimming programmes in our community pool

487 - Gavin Stevenson

[Libraries > Libraries (Operations)]

NO cuts to libraries or recreational facilities - eg pools.

Events

General Comments

69 submissions were received addressing council run events.

20 comments supported, and 10 comments opposed events.

30 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 9 comments provided general feedback addressing events.

Officer Response

Support (general arts & event submissions)

Supporting Events:

1. Community Well-being and Connection: Events nurture community soul and foster well-being and connection.
2. Sustainable and Inclusive Events: Advocates events aligned with sustainability, inclusivity, and community values.
3. Local Focus and Prioritisation: Prefers investing in local infrastructure and community needs over major events.
4. Maintaining Service Quality: Emphasises the importance of maintaining service quality in cultural institutions and community support.
5. Focus on Local Culture and Community Engagement: Supports events celebrating local culture to enhance community vibrancy and inclusivity.
6. Balancing Infrastructure and Community Needs: Supports investing in small-scale, people-centric events alongside infrastructure development.

Opposing Spending on Events:

1. Re-evaluation of Traditional Events: Suggests reallocating funds from traditional events to support local community initiatives.
2. Impact of Events on Local Economy: Concerns about the negative impact of certain events on local businesses, advocating for investments in community events instead.

3. Diverse and Family-Friendly Events: Advocates for more cost-effective approaches and re-evaluation of spending on specific events.
4. Critique of Specific Events and Spending: Criticises specific events perceived as wasteful or irrelevant, advocating for ceasing funding for such activities, SailGP, fireworks

Oppose:

- Fireworks
- SailGP
- small events delivered to small audiences
- Stop funding events
- Do not fund Christmas parade
- Pooch pool party

Other:

- Other events should be charged for eg light show, Christmas in the park
- More - cultural festivals, food markets and widely promote by ccc, whats on
- Use donation boxes at events
- Community run events, Council assist
- Support local events rather than bringing in big names

This breakdown identifies the main arguments for and against spending on events, highlighting the importance of community well-being, sustainability, and local engagement while also considering fiscal responsibility and the effectiveness of event spending.

Mixed feedback was received for community events with different perspectives on the types of the events that should be delivered and associated benefits. The team will continue to make recommendations for contestable funding and review the delivery of Council events in line with the Events Policy Framework and the Community Events Implementation Plan.

The events team will continue to identify and implement initiatives to reduce or offset the impact that events have on the city's carbon footprint.

Support

1261 - S McGregor

Thanks to the ChristchurchNZ team they have secured and delivered not only major global business conferences and events held at Te Pae, Town Hall etc but global music events, Sail GP, Electric Avenue, Buskers, Fifa, Netball etc has huge benefit to our local economy. Christchurch has become a hot spot of New Zealand, people are in love with Christchurch when they visit. We've had really tough times and we have risen! The city needs to continue this service to help our city flourish and be alive and prosperous.

1444 - Kate Finnerty

Thank you for all the work you do. I would like to make a submission on the value of arts, culture and community events to the regeneration of the city. Ōtautahi Christchurch is largely rebuilt in terms of infrastructure but it still has a long way to go to rebuild community in the city centre. Whenever I encounter any artistic or cultural community led events in the central city I feel more connected to others, and proud of my city. These are few and far between though. While I value large scale events that mostly take place in Hagley Park I see a really need to invest in small scale, people centric events that make our city more welcome and inclusive. I am involved in placemaking, using arts, culture and events to connect people to each other and to their place. Supporting initiatives like this through the Long Term Plan will ensure that we can keep building a real community connection to the city of Christchurch and increase the vibrancy of the city centre. By keeping these sort of projects small scale and do-able we can increase the capacity of every day citizens to do their own artistic and cultural events in the city. I think it's easy to underestimate the power of playful events. I have run numerous community events in the city and regularly survey participants, pretty much everyone I speak to reports increased levels of wellbeing and the need for more arts, culture and community events to truly regenerate the city, not just the roads and buildings.

2243 - Catherine Birch

[Grants & Funding > Orana Park Funding]

Please give the funding for the Santa parade and Orana wildlife park to help the animals as everybody loves to go there.

>>>

We would like more funding for the new Christchurch stadium and the Christchurch Santa parade and for Orana wildlife park to help the animals.

2277 - Josey Fleitas

[Grants & Funding > Orana Park Funding]

I absolutely love the Christmas parade and Orana park, focus on keeping these and other family attractions and activities funded. The A&P show has already been cancelled due to funds. I'm not sure what is happening but these should be funded to keep families with low cost activities. Thank you.

>>>

Please keep Orana park, the Christmas Show Parade and the A&P show going, along with other family activities. These are important parts of our community!

2312 - Christian Schipani

Christchurch is the most beautiful, clean, well kept city I've ever lived in. I am satisfied with the amount of events currently provided and attracted here. I care about climate adaptation, public transportation improvements, and care of our beautiful parks and surrounding nature.

2508 - Oliver Hutchison

Continue to fund and promote the Christchurch Conversations series of events. These are excellent.

2570 - Marie Gray

I also support community events that are free and open to all, such as Sparks in the Park. These events help make Ōtautahi a vibrant city and a fun place to live.

2709 - Matthew Gallen

Lets be positive and attract more events to the region. Means more visitors, more economic opportunity.

2742 - Caroline Dagger

We spend the majority of our leisure time in the Christchurch area. We would like to see more events happening in Christchurch.

2824 - Hannah Mason

[Grants & Funding > Other], [Parks > Heritage (Capital)], [Libraries > Libraries (Capital)]

Not particularly. Efficiency is always good and I would be pleased to see the council become more efficient with ratepayer money, but I would be sad to see cuts to the services and the great work that the council and its employees do, and especially sad to see cuts to cultural events, grants, heritage, libraries, etc.

2947 - Katia De Lu

[Grants & Funding > Events Ecosystem Funding]

Big, expensive "major events" only really benefit the few who can afford to pay to attend them. Instead, please prioritise the somewhat smaller community events that are free to all and truly bring the community together like: - South Island Lantern Festival, - Buskers Festival (esp. the daytime street acts that are open to all), - Christchurch Art Festival, - Santa Parade, - Street Art Festival, and - Christmas in the Park. Let the big corporates pay for their big, expensive "major events", while ensuring CCC receives a cut. When making any decisions about major events, please consider the environmental impact, for example: - If an event draws lots of visitors from far away, their travel will produce lots of greenhouse gas emissions. On the other hand, if (say) a band is already visiting another NZ city, bringing them to Ōtautahi | Christchurch could prevent the emissions of lots of Ōtautahi | Christchurch residents flying to another city to see them.

3325 - Adele Geradts

We need >>> events that provide entertainment and social connection.

>>>

We need >>> affordable entertainment.

3353 - Janna Gresham

No there is a lack of regard for the soul of a community which is nurtured by attention to the arts, access to gathering places, availability of familiar and loved events

3500 - James Wallis

[Libraries>Libraries (Operations)]

Please continue to support the libraries and local events as these are important for the community

3567 - Rachel Briggs

[Transport>Cycleways (Capital)]; [Transport>Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]; [Rates>Residential Rates]

Its a significant jump and will hurt a lot of people. Things like cycleways, while important, dont necessarily have a wider benefit for the economy as it stands and have at times made getting round town difficult. Public transport and local activities that benefit the wider community and our overseas travellers are much better to focus on.

3773 - Elizabeth Benson

[Grants & Funding > ChristchurchNZ Funding (General)]

Events such as SailGP are a real negative for the businesses of Lyttelton. It takes away money from them rather than gives. I'd rather see investment in community events vs events like this that are only for the rich.

3820 - Rowan Sprague

[Grants & Funding > Events Ecosystem Funding]

I think the bid funding should be decreased - why is this not an option above? I don't think the CCC should be spending as much money on bidding for major events, but I am supportive of continued community events (such as for Matariki).

6900 - Geraldine Jellyman

Comments: *Does this include events? Do we need so many events?
If there is a cost to attract events is that added to the tickets so those who attend pay the full cost & rate payers don't subsidize*

722 - Sinéad Horgan

[Recreation, Sports & Events > Community Arts]

Arts and events are an important life blood of the city and more should be spent here

756 - Jonathan Harrington

[Grants & Funding > Events Ecosystem Funding]

I would like to see support for arts, events and festivals ahead of new city infrastructure opening.

Oppose

1119 - Christine Rose (Māui and Hector's Dolphin Defenders NZ Inc)

Our specific interest relates to Hector's dolphins, SailGP and events that do not put the dolphins at risk

>>>

Encouraging SailGP in Hector's harbour habitat is not doing the right thing

>>>

You should be prioritising Hector's dolphins and all their threats given the significant proportion of the population that live in Canterbury waters. The council can address threats they face like finding somewhere else for SailGP (not Hector's habitat) and managing pollution and litter into the coastal marine area

>>>

Find somewhere else for SailGP

1648 - Andrew Bowman

I also do not support significant expenditures on events and activities, as I think the priority should be infrastructure and getting debt/budget under control.

>>>

Expenditures on one-off events should be curtailed

1653 - Kate Manning

Money to such things as the street party in Gloucester St should be stopped. These kind of events only deliver to a very small audience (indeed this particular one caused a number of my work colleagues to be late for work).

180 - Kevin McSweeney

Stop funding activities and events.

>>>

Do not fund promotions events, activities etc

201 - AJ Wade

fireworks are not priorities

2037 - Beverley Nelson

[Spending > Our Proposed Spending]

Reduce council spending on events and community. These do not need to be council priorities.

2530 - Clare Thompson

[Libraries>Libraries (Operations)]

Libraries are essential Concerts in the park are not especially if rates are increased

3307 - Richard Griffiths

Cease all funding of events .the vast majority of low income ratepayers receive no benefit from these which are nice that to have for upper middle class bureaucrats who cannot empathize with the low income majority.

3874 - Simon Gray (The White Room)

Less on big events

70 - Noel Marceau

Fireworks displays can go by the board for now.

Other

104 - Jennifer Maghzal

I think that it's not big events we need but a doubling down on funding and supporting local community events so that we can celebrate and showcase local peoples and resources.

1057 - Helen Marginson

Reduce or stop Arts and events

1265 - Jill Banbury

It would be nice if we could afford it.

1462 - Sue Piercey

Why are we still letting off fireworks when we are trying to reduce emissions?

1604 - Claire Dwyer

Obviously Christchurch is not high on overseas events- ie Blink 182 cancelling

1637 - Megan Andrews

When we run events, is the council renting out space that they could use to provide a service to people? For example, is there money to be made if the council is the one selling food and drinks at an event vs non council coffee carts and food trucks.

1815 - Tony Hallams

No Street car racing events within our City.

2143 - Vicky Anderson

Cut down on unnecessary items that don't have lasting effect and are wasteful e.g. fireworks at a lot of events.

2207 - Ian Thomas (Athletics Canterbury Inc.)

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?]

Unfortunately not, the need to slash funds to keep rates as low as possible isn't an easy juggling act, but reducing money available for things like events will harm the long term economic growth of the city, visitor numbers and also not help organisations bring national and international events to the city.

2234 - Jane Edens

Save the Santa parade !! We already lost the A+P show

2295 - Katja Charmley

Instead, I suggest allocating more funds for free family-friendly events and activities to foster connections within the community in a fun and inclusive manner.

247 - Daisy Cassels

host something this city is boring and boredom drives youths to crime

2524 - Ruth Falconer

[Libraries>Libraries (Operations)]

Comments: But our rates shouldn't be funding a venue (eg library) for drag queens etc influencing young children. Let them grow up first & make their own decisions later.

2822 - Angela Leatherby

[Spending > Capital Programme (General)], [Recreation, Sports & Events > Community Arts]

There needs to be consideration of how large a capital programme the Council can actually manage within its current staffing levels. There is no point in trying to do too much, too quickly without the staff to ensure the work is done well, on time, within budget and to scope. If we focus more on this we may do things slightly slower but they will be done better and save money in the long term. This would then provide money to invest into our Arts, Culture and Music, ensuring that the creative heart of our city is not compromised. It would also provide money to invest into events that ensure the city is a vibrant place to live. There is no point pouring money into the shell of the city if we stop investing in the soul of the city - all those things that provide well being and connection. Council's strategic priorities states that Christchurch will be an inclusive, equitable city which puts people at the centre of developing our city and district, prioritising wellbeing, accessibility and connection. We can't say these things and then not live them through our long term plan.

2900 - Kate Simkin

[Full attachment available]

I strongly urge the Council to allocate resources from its own budget to fund events. Investing in events will not only benefit our economy but also contribute to the growth and health of our community

3185 - Brian Darlow

Te Pae is now easily the best conference centre in Aotearoa/New Zealand. I attended a conference there recently and the facility was greatly admired by overseas visitors. It should be relatively easy to attract major events as a result

322 - Richie Connell

That's difficult to answer with one paragraph about what matters most! However, there needs to be more >>> events to support areas like the arts and culture, music and entertainment outside core public infrastructure and services funding.

3398 - Robert Pethig

it is a area where certain events having a small ticket cost (or parking cost) could recoup costs.

3412 - Alicia Harbison-Price

[Community Facilities > Community Facilities (Operational)], [Grants and Funding > Other]

The Council will need to ensure it has the frontline staff and expertise required to build meaningful relationships with/working with citizens.

- For "Customer satisfaction with the delivery of community support, resilience, development, and recreation initiatives (4.1.27.1)1" has dropped below the 80% target.
- "Customer satisfaction with the quality of Council event support (2.8.6.2)" has dropped 7%.

>>>

[Grants & Funding > Arts Centre Funding]

A cultural powerhouse city relies on continued funding for cultural institutions like the Arts Centre and for community events.

3802 - Matthew Baird

[Grants & Funding > Events Ecosystem Funding], [Grants & Funding > ChristchurchNZ Funding (General)]

"Major events" that are big and expensive only benefit the few who can afford to pay. Please prioritise funding for the smaller more community-oriented events that are free. Some examples: - South Island Lantern Festival - Buskers Festival (especially the daytime street acts that are open to all) - Community festivals like 'Culture Galore' - Christchurch Art Festival - Santa Parade - Street Art Festival - Christmas in the Park The big expensive "major events" can be paid for by the big corporates, with the CCC getting a cut for facilitating. It's also important to consider the environmental impact of large events. For example: 1. If they draw large crowds from far away, there are the high emissions from the travel of attendees to consider. That said, if bringing an event here means locals do not have to travel (e.g. to Auckland for a concert) that would have a positive impact on reducing emissions from travel.

3827 - Ken Morison

[Grants & Funding > Events Ecosystem Funding], [Recreation, Sports & Events > Events]

Large events have large associated CO2 emissions. We need to think more locally for events that don't encourage large amounts of transport.

3959 - Sarah Jackson (Plant Based Treaty)

More community events in line with a sustainable future, and environment, and climate action would be great

>>>

Events that promote healthy, sustainable, resilient future

>>>

Yes, all events, services, and organisations (where applicable) should ensure that people who are following a plant-based diet are provided for. Currently, there are limited options, and council run events often do not include plant-based options at community barbeques, etc. The promotion of plant-based food would ensure more people are prompted to try plant-based foods, and providing for minority groups will foster inclusivity and minimise stigma.

3961 - Paul Robertson

Review how many big public events the council is funding, including fireworks, concerts etc. Given economic climate, huge debt and proposed significant rates rises not the time to be spending up large. Focus on maintaining what we have.

503 - Vanessa Barlow

Can the council please look at more family friendly events like different cultures food events like I had when I lived in Sydney. Called cultural festivals or a European night market with a range of foods on offer and different music on show I guess it would bring community's together and also attract people to attend but I guess issue would be weather dependant. Or an outdoor movie event at Hagley Park that is a gold coin donation to enter or buy cheap tickets that would pay for the staff/security/ clean up porta_loos . etc bring your own picnic blanket starts 5 finishes 8pm and could have a few food trucks.

652 - Sharon Howells (Sharon Howells School of Dance)

I would hate ChCh and the kids of Christchurch to lose the Ch Ch Christmas Parade as Wellington has done. If it is not given a small injection then it dies like so much has done in the history of Ch Ch.

663 - Sam Chow-Tan

[Libraries > Libraries (Capital)]

No Focus only on essential services. Cut from libraries, events and/or make them user co pay.

>>>

[Libraries > Libraries (Capital)]

Cut libraries and events

686 - Nicola Bush

Use donation boxes at events eg sparks in the park

687 - Anna Laurenson

[Grants & Funding > Events Ecosystem Funding]

If anything bid less. We can't afford to spend a fortune every year on light shows, fireworks, Christmas in the park etc. These are nice to have not essential and should be charged for.

759 - Rory Kinahan

Events management should IMO only be considered if it is run by the community and assisted by Council or revenue making.

850 - Rhondda Poon

[Spending > Te Kaha]

There is imbalance between large events and the little events that are perfect for venues such as the Arts Centre. Please redirect some of the Te Haka funding to the Arts Centre and perhaps further sponsorship for Te Kaha.

Not Stated

1292 - Gemma Phillips

Keep it simple with >>> and events.

193 - Anne Mahan

[Recreation, Sports & Events > Community Arts, Rec & Sport (Operations)]

Part of Christchurch becoming a more vibrant city to live in and as a destination is the arts, sports and events. If people can not afford to play sport visit a concert or event it creates more long term issues, ie boredom vandalism and anti social behavior.

2545 - Antony Gough (Terrace Christchurch Ltd)

Protests in the Central City. We have created a premium central city precinct in conjunction with others at The Terrace either side of the Bridge of Remembrance. We are finding that most central city protests are now centred at The Bridge of Remembrance which often come with amplified sound, shouting and abusive actions by these people. These protesters have been seen to be abusing visitors from Cruise Ships who are dropped off at The Bridge of Remembrance for a pleasant visit to our city. The Protesters are also seen to be abusing dining patrons at the quality restaurants along Oxford Terrace. This is not a fair representation of what we should be offering to visitors in our city. We would suggest that future protest meetings are held in The Cathedral Square where they then can arrange their own followers and not our patrons.

299 - Jane Nuttridge

Love the Chinese new year and Noodle Market events

326 - Greg Dodds

The council does provide a good range of events through our rates; it would be good to retain these, and build on them (don't remain static).

338 - Jennifer Riley

I also do not think that local community events need to lose funding to attract external funding. We should be encouraging local community events as well as external ones.

416 - Mike Cleaver (Canterbury)

Thriving community events should be enabled. For example, we sometimes go to the common ground on a Friday for their food truck event. Such events should be widely promoted by the council. <https://ccc.govt.nz/news-and-events/whats-on> is a place I would go to to find out details of special events, but recurring community events could also be placed here, perhaps with a specially 'Community' tag. It could link to the Facebook profile for the group to help promote it and get more people interested that might not know about it otherwise.

836 - Gillian Creighton

[Parks > Heritage (Capital)]

The Long Term Plan must include funding to support the Council's heritage schedule to incentivise owners to maintain their buildings. We don't want all the effort, care and money that has gone into their widely admired restoration and reuse to be in vain. Let's keep the standards high.

The Plan should continue to support funding for community groups to participate in the popular annual Heritage

Festival. Without help these groups will not be able to contribute and the Festival will become less accessible, less diverse and the poorer for it. That will send a message that our Council doesn't value our city's past and the people who built it.

Our heritage gives people a sense of place, identity and pride and is important. It sets our city apart from other New Zealand cities and it is a duty of the Christchurch City Council to take a lead in respecting our past by valuing what has gone before and what makes our city what it is today.

877 - Helen Hessey

I was horrified to see Council money wasted by having a day for dogs in one of our local pools. What an obscene idea and an incredible waste of money. You would never be able to get the pool clean, no matter how hard you tried. I know people who will never go back to that pool ever again. That was a really stupid decision.

Pools (Capital)

General Comments

71 submissions were received addressing the proposed capital expenditure on swimming pools.

15 comments supported, and 11 comments opposed the proposed spending.

31 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 14 comments provided general feedback addressing the proposed spending.

Officer Response

Theme – Support investment into pools

The submissions supporting the continued investment (upgrades, and new facilities) in pools noting important to keep them maintained at current or higher level. Cannot cut back on these services as will disproportionately impact elderly, disabled and lower socioeconomic residents. Reinforcing investing in sports and recreation facilities is essential for promoting active and healthy lifestyles, fostering community engagement, and enhancing quality of life.

There was 1 submission acknowledging loss of schools pool and that more pools are needed for schools.

Theme – Too many pools

- There were submissions concerned about the volume of pools, too many and a burden to rate payer. And to stop building new ones and invest in current.
- There was 1 submission asking to consider the closure of smaller pools such as Waltham and Halswell once Parakiore opens and 1 asking why build a new one in St Albans.
- There was 1 submission asking about Chch New Brighton hot pools: how many are using? what is the cost?
- There were a couple of submissions about investment into outdoor paddling pools specifically Abberley Park paddling pool and the Whale Pool at NB.

Theme – Wharenui pool

- There were a couple of submissions about investment into the upgrade of Wharenui. One from the Board requesting investigation of Wharenui Pool Refurbishment: In light of proposed intensification in Riccarton and that the Parakiore is not yet open.

Play, active recreation, and sport is a cost-effective investment towards local government wellbeing outcomes. Sport NZ estimate that overall for every $1 spent on play, active recreation, and sport, there is $2.12 of social return generated and aquatic facilities contribute to this. This means that for every dollar invested in play, active recreation, and sport, the social return is more than doubled.

Theme – Too many pools

The network of aquatic facilities detailed in the 2015/2025 Long Term Plan as amended by the 2017/2018 Annual Plan is reasonably consistent with similar cities in New Zealand. The number of pools is as per Christchurch City Council's Aquatics Facilities Plan. By completion of the network 79% of Christchurch's population will live within 3 km of at least one pool.

The National Aquatics Facilities Strategy 2023 shows an aquatic demand benchmark of providing a minimum level of 27m² per 1,000 population. Canterbury/West Coast is at 30m² per 1,000 population and the addition of Parakiore will fill most gaps in international events capability for aquatics sports in NZ.

Paddling Pools are part of the Recreation, Sports and Events Unit's Capital R&R Programme.

He Puna Taimoana/ Chch New Brighton hot pools have 137,316 participations YTD (end of April) which is 22% up on plan.

Theme – Wharenui pool

Council staff have worked with the Wharenui Swim Club to develop a capital plan and are supporting the club to come up with an operational plan to successfully operate the club and services independent of operational funding from Council.

Support

1433 - Helen Thomas

[Parks > Parks Spending (General)]

I am a resident and live in papanui. I have lived in Christchurch for 9 years and have been impressed by the level of continual improvement and investment in the city's facilities such as swimming pools and parks.

2103 - P Stark

[Libraries > Libraries (Operations)], [Parks > Sports Grounds & Facilities]

halswell domain is great for various sports and fantastic that the library and pool are on the edge of the park that families can use while other family members are training making sure facilities are suitable and upgraded as needed for all to enjoy

2295 - Katja Charmley

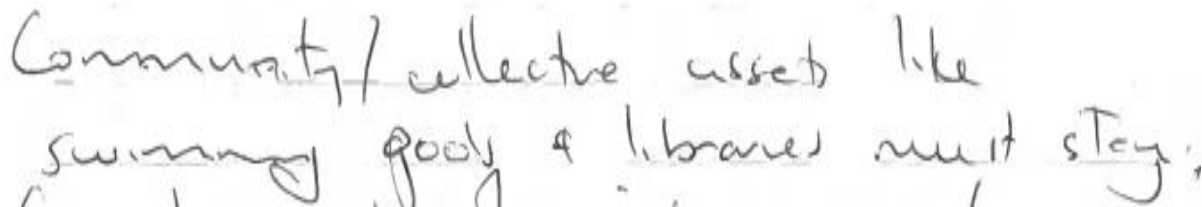

[Libraries > Libraries (Capital)]

I strongly oppose any reduction in the budget for libraries and swimming pools, as they play vital roles in community engagement and education.

2655 - Michele Mccaw

Yes >>> pools

2768 - Suzanne Wallace

Community/collective assets like swimming pools & libraries must stay.

2830 - Fiona Bennetts

[Libraries > Libraries (Capital)], [Fees & Charges > Car Parking Fees (on-street & off-street)], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

- There is no mandate for Council to cut back on services people rely upon (libraries, swimming pools, etc) to force a lower rates increase. Council's services exist for its constituents, and removing these services will disproportionately impact lower socioeconomic, disabled, and elderly residents, for whom there is no alternative.

2869 - Josiah O'Neill

[Libraries > Libraries (Capital)], [Recreation, Sports & Events > Pools (Capital)], [Recreation, Sports & Events > Recreation Centres (Capital)], [grants & Funding > Orana Park Funding], [Spending > Te Kaha]

I would also like to see the Council working for the community by inviting in things like libraries, swimming pools and gyms as well as the things that make the city vibrant and diverse like Orana Wildlife Park, and Te Kaha Stadium.

3209 - Anouk Minnaar

[Libraries > Libraries (Capital)], [grants & Funding > Art Centre Funding], [Art Galleries & Museums > Art Galleries (Capital)]

The current services exist for the council's residents and removing them will disproportionately impact elderly, disabled and lower socioeconomic residents. We cannot cut back on services people rely on (swimming pools, libraries, art centre, art gallery etc).

3325 - Adele Geradts

People must have >>> pools (These provide places for communities to meet and interact).

>>>

pools, >>> all are important to the social well being of the city. front facing staff need to be engaged and welcoming to the public you can't down size your staff and provide the same service.

>>>

pools,>>> are important and need to be maintained at the current or higher levels.

3725 - Richard Smith

[Libraries > Libraries (Capital)]

Investment in public services like libraries and pools help enhance the community and social cohesion. These should definitely not be cut.

3800 - Rachel Barker

In summary, I support operational priorities of: >>> Pools and recreation

3830 - Brenda Banning

I use the gallery and arts center frequently as well as QEII pool.

3894 - Greg Siddells

Christchurch has fantastic >>> pools which our family use a lot and we appreciate the work that goes into providing these facilities.

3916 - Laila Jansone (Renew Brighton Charitable Trust)

We support services like >>> pools

3949 - Fay Brorens

I am very pleased with our (no or low cost) >>> Pools

Oppose

1026 - Sarah Sim

[Libraries > Libraries (Capital)]

For the size of our city we have a ridiculous number of libraries and public swim pools. All of which have been rebuilt to a high standard. But cost an absolute bomb

1460 - Jihee Park

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Staff Matters]

Council has so many swimming pools and you are increasing everyone's pay check more than 11 % on staffs - staffs are not even welcoming all the people and they are hating the jobs, creating unnecessary feeling and more over, you are increasing more swimming pool in the city. it is wasting of money and I don't want to be a part of that.

2304 - Stephanie Burke

So many swimming pool - do we really need that many?

2429 - Neil Ricken

[Spending > Te Kaha], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Strategic Transport], [Three Waters > Taumata Arowai Requirements]

The stadium is a 'nice to have' as is Parakiore, both unnecessary costs.

2603 - Ron Brooks

we dont want recreation centers and sport wasting our money

2762 - Geraldine Allan

Megan Woods can find money for her pool not the rate payers.

2941 - Peter Thelning

There are to many expensive swimming pools being built, people can travel if they want a swim

3023 - Carolyn Brown

I thin it short sighted of the Council to have put all the money into the stadium and super duper swimming complex when neither will be paying for themselves for a long time, if ever due to changes to air travel predicted with climate change. >>> [Spending > Te Kaha]

3129 - Skye Arnopp

Parakiore development should be less funded.

>>>

Start an inquest into the failing parakiore development and redirect funds immediately.

3978 - Sandra Bragg

>>>

NO COST CUTTING ON OUR RECREATION AND SPORT FACILITIES WITH PROPOSED CAPITAL EXPENDITURE FULLY FUNDING THE NECESSARY IDENTIFIED WORK AT JELLIE PARK. THE 20 LIBRARIES AND LIBRARY SERVICES, SUCH AN ESSENTIAL PART OF EVERY DAY LIVING FOR OLD AND YOUNG WITH AMAZING

>>>

492 - Lyndon Telfer

There are too many community swimming pools being built.

Other

1067 - Iarene Jelley

Sport and recreation are good to have, but can maybe hold back for a bit longer as climate change is a definite problem and we should be thinking further ahead than just now.

1160 - Chichella Cook

No. Perhaps consider pool usage and whether hours could be cut back to save on money.

1358 - Rob Noster

[Libraries > Libraries (Capital)]

Regarding our rates going to Libraries and other entertainments(pools) user pays to these venues.

1589 - Barry Miller

[Libraries > Libraries (Capital)]

Does christchurch need so many libraries and swimming pools ? For a city of it,s size it seems to be over catered for.

>>>

[Recreation, Sports & Events > Recreation Centres (Capital)]

Gyms could be catered for by private enterprise as to pools to some extent

1620 - Daisy Sinnadurai

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)], [Spending > Te Kaha]

Chch New Brighton hot pools: how many are using? what is the cost?

1626 - Sam Bunn

I'd like to see more resources put towards sports and recreation

1692 - David Bluck

Give money to things that make Chch a good place to live. Swimming pools [Grants & Funding > Orana Park Funding], [Parks > Parks Spending (General)],

2058 - Janita Patrick

I do notice that in the >>> council polls there are always a surplus of staff though so I don't know if there is any way to reduce staff costs?

2289 - Leonie Jackson

programme:
Swimming Pools - I am a regular user of Jellie Park pools. It is becoming increasingly difficult to find a space for lane swimming due to other bookings - primarily from schools. The loss of school pools has had a huge impact. It is obvious that pools now cater for those who can pay more (eg lanes booked by private groups). The city needs more 'swim schools' for schools use only.

2310 - Helen Broughton (Waipuna Halswell Hornby Riccarton Community Board)

The Board requests investigation of Wharenui Pool Refurbishment: In light of proposed intensification in Riccarton and that the Parakiore is not yet open.

2327 - Charles Shaw

Libraries, parks and swimming pools need to be given priority as they enhance mental, physical or spiritual health.

235 - Louise Sturgess

We have more public swimming pools than necessary. Please stop building these.

2353 - Anthea Lees

[Parks > Parks Spending (General)]

Please invest more in public spaces such as parks and outdoor swimming pools. New Brighton is a great example. A brand new playground has provided lots of play areas for young families.

2519 - Charlotte Withington

[Recreation, Sports & Events>Recreation Centres (Capital)]

To keep our residents mind and bodies healthy and save on future medical or social issues I think it's so important to increase the infrastructure for sporting and recreational events/everyday use in our city.

2548 - Melissa Young give children a better area to play and put a small swimming pool like other parks have

2599 - Susan Miller

Recreation and sport we have many swimming pools around the city, maintain these but I'm sure we don't need anymore being built.

2731 - Anna Barber

[Libraries > Libraries (Operations)]

Mostly but library hours could be shortened as could service centres pools etc

2811 - Nikora Nitro

We should make pools free.

>>>

Providing free pools as respite

2817 - Emma Twaddell (St Albans Residents' Association)

We hope the padding pool funding includes the refurbishment of the well utilised Abberley Park Paddling Pool.

2979 - Zac Beckett-Knight (Late Knight Productions Limited)

[Strategic Direction > Additional savings and efficiencies, Libraries > Libraries (capital)]

Perhaps reducing 7 day a week amenities such as libraries and pools down to 6. Thats quite large savings in the log run but still maintains significant access to facilities for residents.

3044 - Tony Smail

[Recreation, Sport & Events>Rec & Sport (Operations)]; [Recreation, Sport & Events>Recreation Centres (Capital)] [Recreation, Sport & Events>Stadiums (Capital)]

Sport & rec facilities & operations need to be a higher priority than they currently are - the cities facilities are well below par

3155 - Robyn Ratcliff

The city pool must be finished.

>>>

Yes in some areas, I notice no mention of decent pool for our citizens and athletes?

>>>

Christchurch is one of few cities in world of that size with no 50mtr pool. The Jellie outside pool closes too soon

3599 - Hayley Guglietta

I do support drops in service levels to >>> Pools

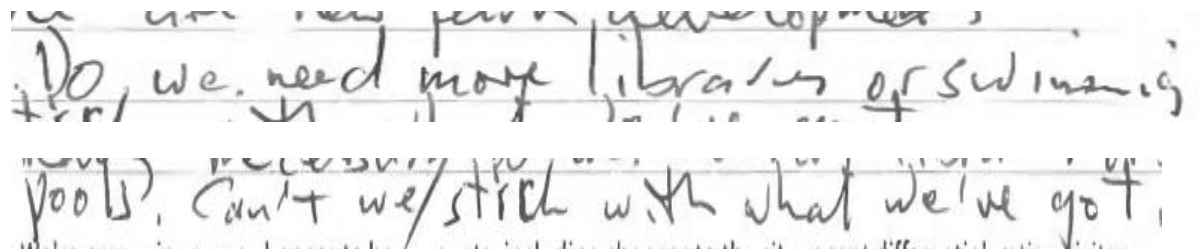

3826 - Kate Cleverly

Investment in Wharenui Sports Centre is important to the local community of Riccarton to enable access to recreational facilities in the area.

>>>

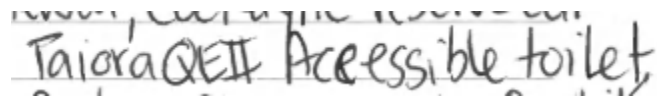

Invest in the upgrade of Wharenui Sports Centre for the future of the Riccarton Community

3990 - Malcolm Smeaton

Do we need more libraries or swimming pools? Can't we stick with what we've got?

4016 - Joanne Zervos

Taiora Accessible toilet

[Coder note: Supports]

4025 - Robin Wynne-Williams

A covered swimming pool at the Halswell library complex to extend the hours available and all year use; if necessary use volunteers to administer the swimming pool after hours

448 - Nick Campbell

[Strategic Direction > Additional Savings & Efficiencies]

park or existing CCC gym/pool complex instead. A petition was approved to increase the opening hours of Halswell pool all for the sake of a handful of people who wanted to swim early morning, if this is still operating at extended opening hours this is a big drain on CCC funds.

567 - Sarita MacGregor

[Libraries > Libraries (Capital)] , [Recreation, Sports & Events > Community Arts]

Need to protect access to things that support wellbeing - Eg arts, open spaces, libraries, pools

713 - Matthew Irving

[Libraries > Libraries (Capital)]

Does Christchurch need so many libraries and swimming pools?

858 - Thomas McNaughton

[Strategic Direction>Additional savings and efficiencies]

[Recreation, Sports & Events>Pools(capital)]

[Recreation, Sports & Events>Recreation Centres (Capital)]

I'm happy to pay rates but if savings are needed I would be looking at gyms and pools and other community activity that doesn't link to climate change response.

Not Stated

1278 - Tim Marsh

[Libraries > Libraries (Capital)]

Majority of Christchurch don't even use the services like libraries and swimming pools

184 - Rebecca Nicholls

>>> pools >>>!!!!

1864 - Kylie Williams

We have sunk way to much money into the swimming complex in town and i know for a fact its had issues with ground sinking an roof sagging.

1944 - Peter Salvesen

I don't use these facilities apart from the swimming pools

2608 - Simon Henry

Why build a new swimming pool that has no sauna? A waste. I wont go to these facilities. Not impressed.

282 - Michael Heenan

[Libraries > Libraries (Capital)]

Overall yes. I wonder about the endless swimming pools and libraries we seem to be developing & paying for.

3134 - Kim Lister

Investment in tidying the beach front and upkeeping the whale pool in Brighton is a priority.

314 - Vaughan Kirkland

The real concern is the number of new facilities that are being built and the capex and opex costs of these- the number of swimming pools in particular that are being built or have just opened is a concern and seems over the top.

3257 - Fiona Jones

How much more on sport and recreation when we already have new buildings just finished and another couple coming up

3453 - Zeta Pringle

We need to be mindful of the number of swimming pools that are expensive to operate and run that they do not become a burden to the ratepayer for the upkeep .

3589 - Roxanne Brassington

[Recreation, Sports & Events>Pools (Capital)]

I'm not a fan of the sport stadium and am concerned about the cost blowout for the new pool near the hospital

3621 - Morgane Honore

[Parks]

Sport and Recreation Facilities: Investing in sports and recreation facilities is essential for promoting active and healthy lifestyles, fostering community engagement, and enhancing quality of life. This includes projects such as building or upgrading sports fields, recreation centres, playgrounds, and walking/cycling trails.

458 - Christine Cockle

St Albans is to build a new pool, why? There will be an amazing pool in town, can't we use that?

533 - Judith Livingstone

[Other/Special Interest Topics>Vertical Capital]

Building pools in the wrong place hasn't helped the blow out of cost. Both the stadium and pool should have put on the agricultural land in Hillmorton/ Halswell

Recreation Centres (Capital)

General comments

50 submissions were received addressing the proposed capital expenditure on recreation centres (gyms, group fitness studios).

8 comments supported, and 8 comments opposed the proposed spending.

25 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 10 comments provided general feedback addressing the proposed spending.

Officer Response

Theme – Support investment into recreation and sport facilities (in nature not necessarily stated, i.e., other/not stated)

- There were submissions in support for continued investment (upgrades, and new facilities) in Rec and Sport facilities noting important to keep them maintained at current or higher level with some below par. Reinforcing investing in sports and recreation facilities is essential for promoting active and healthy lifestyles, fostering community engagement, and enhancing quality of life. Including support from Sport NZ and Sport Canterbury.
- A few submissions support Jellie Park capex work including support from Recreation Aotearoa and Sport Canterbury and Sport NZ.
- A couple of submissions support Accessible Toilet/change facility at Taiora including the Waitai Coastal- Burwood-Linwood Board support.
- DPA supports the proposed capital budget of $153m for rec and sport facility upgrades.
 - Recommend all are built to universal design and best practice accessibility standards to ensure fully accessible to everyone including disabled people.
 - Recommend that Council proactively engage with the disabled community over each of the proposed upgrade as part of co-design process.

Theme – Parakiore (note a lot of these referenced both Parakiore and Te Kaha)

- There were submissions concerned over the spend on Parakiore specifically and impact on rate payers. Concern about cost to maintain the asset.
- There were submissions concerned about the general opex spend on rec
- There were submissions requesting no more money spent on new facilities.
- There was 1 submission suggesting a private enterprise operating Parakiore.

Theme – investment into recreation and sport facilities and Parkaiore.

Play, active recreation, and sport is a cost-effective investment towards local government wellbeing outcomes. Sport NZ estimate that overall for every $1 spent on play, active recreation, and sport, there is $2.12 of social return is generated and aquatic facilities contribute to this. This means that for every dollar invested in play, active recreation, and sport, the social return is more than doubled.

The network of aquatic facilities detailed in the 2015/2025 Long Term Plan as amended by the 2017/2018 Annual Plan is reasonably consistent with similar cities in New Zealand. The number of pools is as per Christchurch City Council's Aquatics Facilities Plan. By completion of the network 79% of Christchurch's population will live within 3 km of at least one pool.

The National Aquatics Facilities Strategy 2023 shows an aquatic demand benchmark of providing a minimum level of 27m² per 1,000 population. Canterbury/West Coast is at 30m² per 1,000 population and the addition of Parakiore will fill most gaps in international events capability for aquatics sports in NZ.

Theme - Climate change

There were two submissions supporting the prioritisation of climate change over further investment in community activity that doesn't link to climate change response.

Climate change is included in the Recreation, Sports and Events Unit planning

Theme – Support for capex projects

Reconfirming Jellie Park capex work and Taiora accessible toilet are included in LTP for FY26 and FY27 respectively.

Support

2236 - Julyan Falloon \(Sport Canterbury and Sport New Zealand \(Joint Submission\)\)

Sport Canterbury and Sport New Zealand commend Council for the ongoing investment in the maintenance of recreation facilities to ensure they are fit-for-purpose.

We look forward to the completion of the Parakiore and support Council's prioritisation of the renewal of:

The Jellie Park recreation and Sports Centre

[Full attachment available]

2311 - Paul McMahon \(Waitai Coastal-Burwood-Linwood Community Board\)

In addition to the top five priorities, the Board wishes to highlight the following: • Accessible Toilet/Changing facility at Taiora QEII – supportive.

2479 - Jacqui Raymond

[Libraries > Libraries (Capital)] , [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)] , [Parks > Parks Spending (General)]

I am very happy with keeping the spending on core facilities and infrastructure such as libraries and community sports facilities like Jellie Park, cycling pathways, Botanic Gardens. These things are essential to having a safe and happy community.

2869 - Josiah O'Neill

[Libraries > Libraries (Capital)], [Recreation, Sports & Events > Pools (Capital)], [Recreation, Sports & Events > Recreation Centres (Capital)], [grants & Funding > Orana Park Funding], [Spending > Te Kaha]

I would also like to see the Council working for the community by inviting in things like libraries, swimming pools and gyms as well as the things that make the city vibrant and diverse like Orana Wildlife Park, and Te Kaha Stadium.

2987 - Penny Raid

[Grants and Funding > Orana Park funding]

I support the council's investment in Orana Park and increased sporting facilities. It is my recommendation that if rate payers are investing in these activities then there could be a reduced rate for annual passes or local Christchurch people to use the facilities.

3026 - Tony Smail (Canterbury Rugby)

Sport and Rec operations and facilities need to be a higher priority than they currently are - the city's facilities are well below par and most major sports are struggling to deliver the program their participants are asking for

3916 - Laila Jansone (Renew Brighton Charitable Trust)

We support services like >>> sport facilities

4264 - Sam Newton (Recreation Aotearoa)

83. Recreation Aotearoa submits its support for the $153m investment for Recreation and Sport facilities (Page 33), and commends the fact that accessibility is at the forefront.

84. Recreation Aotearoa is particularly supportive of prioritisation of the Jellie Park renewal.

>>>

91. Recreation Aotearoa cautions Christchurch City Council of a predictable lag-effect of participant uptake in the utilisation of new recreational facilities. Many forms of recreation have suffered a loss of participant numbers and organisational capability after recent challenges. Recreation Aotearoa urges Christchurch City Council to be patient with regard to how quickly and fully new facilities are utilised by different recreational groups.

92. Additionally, we submit that rapid changes in demographics, participation trends and technology mean that a 'build it and they will come' approach doesn't always work. Simply building infrastructure is not enough. Recreational assets need to be activated and programmed to make them more appealing and to break down barriers for the hard-to-reach areas of the community.

[Full Attachment Available]

Oppose

1391 - Anna Gruczynska

[Spending > Te Kaha]

It costs to maintain and operate any asset, if CCC cannot afford operating costs, the asset shouldn't have been bought in the first place. Can't wait to see if and how Parakiore and Te Kaha can wash their faces when built.

1650 - Deb Osborn

The stadium is a complete waste of money and a neverending financial soak hole (literally)

1943 - Harriet Scott

[Spending > Te Kaha]

The stadium is a money pit in my opinion, but we are saddled with that, as well as the poorly planned sports facility built on unstable land.

2084 - Sarah Donaldson

No more new >>> sports centres or similar luxuries. They're small costs that have no fiscal benefit.

2603 - Ron Brooks

we dont want recreation centers and sport wasting our money

3944 - Lyn Dawson

No more vanity projects such as the stadium and water sports centre, especially when built on unsuitable land.

4023 - Bethan Sommer

Also Parakiore is sinking, please do something else, it would be a wonderful park.

883 - Elizabeth Steel

I understand that sports are culturally important and good for health, but we have plenty of facilities for this at the moment. This could be an area to save on costs.

Other

1067 - Iarene Jelley

Sport and recreation are good to have, but can maybe hold back for a bit longer as climate change is a definite problem and we should be thinking further ahead than just now.

1541 - Maurice Adler

[Spending > Te Kaha], [[Libraries > Libraries (Capital)], [Spending > Capital Programme (General)], [Strategic Direction > Financial Strategy], [Strategic Direction > Additional Savings & Efficiencies]

What matters most. Over the last few years, the Christchurch City Council has had a field day on think big projects which is contributing towards the rates raised we are looking at now. To mention just three , the stadium which was pushed for the Canterbury Rugby and the Crusaders which can't fill the one they have now. We will be paying it for years. It will be a liability for years to come and it will be the ratepayers who pay, not the Canterbury Rugby or the Crusaders.

The second is Recreation and Sports Centre. This is an embarrassment. The Council received a quote to build it and didn't even obtain a good engineering report on the ground. The result is a huge cost overrun. Who has to pay for it. The ratepayers with a rate rise.

The third is the Hornby Centre. Of three, this is the most sensible. But considering the vast amount of money been spent on the other two projects, was it wise to build this. From memory, once again they didn't get a good engineering report because there was a blowout with that too.

In short, The Christchurch City Council needs to treat their finances the same as one would treat their home finances. If you can't afford don't do it. Ratepayers are tired of being used as a never ending source of funds with rate increases. My recommendation is, don't plan to have anymore large projects that we cannot afford.

1589 - Barry Miller

[Recreation, Sports & Events > Pools (Capital)]

Gyms could be catered for by private enterprise as to pools to some extent

1626 - Sam Bunn

I'd like to see more resources put towards sports and recreation

1756 - Kieran Sweetman

Te Pae is fantastic. I can't wait till the new stadium is finished.

1780 - Alison Griffith-Collins

less in sports/recreation facilities.

1792 - Laura Parkes

[Grants & Funding - Arts Centre Funding]

There is a massive disparity between "sports and recreation" and "the arts". While I appreciate that sport and recreation is important I think it is necessary to consider the importance of the arts within the culture and community of Otago. The arts has proven to be vital to our healing as a community and our ability to process traumatic events in recent history such as the earthquakes and the mosque shootings. They can serve as an important means of expanding our views and understanding others, which is especially important in the current world climate which unfortunately promotes divisiveness and bigotry. They are a haven for marginalised communities, where they can express themselves in a safe environment and be empathised with and understood. As a disabled member of the LGBT community the arts community has provided me with a community that is open-minded and supportive, whereas sport is often something I am unable to participate in or deliberately excluded from. Sports recreation spaces are often filled with judgement towards those of differing physical capabilities. Arts centres and museums are also vital to our children. Providing opportunities to expand their knowledge and worldview. Safely exposing them to different perspectives both current and historical and allowing expression of their own perspective and ideas. I believe there should be a greater focus on the arts and museums moving forward.

2404 - Grant MacLeod

[Strategic Direction>Additional Savings & Efficiencies]; [Strategic Direction>Financial Strategy]

Look at your carry forward and how you can realistically deliver projects and when. Also I question if you really need to continue to provide gyms directly or if there is a better model. When was the last time this was really tested independently?

2519 - Charlotte Withington

[Recreation, Sports & Events>Recreation Centres (Capital)]

To keep our residents mind and bodies healthy and save on future medical or social issues I think it's so important to increase the infrastructure for sporting and recreational events/everyday use in our city.

2599 - Susan Miller

I have just been to the Matatiki Hornby Centre and although it is a great place, I have reservations that this will get used to maximum potential as the cost of classes & entrance are very high when compared to Selwyn Aquatic Centre which I regularly use. I know that you don't have the fuel, wear & tear cost of your vehicle and travel time but I think people will not think of that, they just want to see the extra money in their pockets. As they do not have a full programme of aqua classes yet, I am apprehensive about using this facility often as cannot afford membership at both facilities. Can this be looked into as would hate this to be a quiet facility.

2618 - Margaret Stewart

{Spending > Te Kaha}

Why is the Council spending so much money on Te Kaha and the Metro Sports Centre? This money could have been spread out and spent elsewhere sharing the money goodies. Is there going to be a consequence for those involved in the Metro Sports Centre blowout?

2633 - Steve Potter

Whilst there are some key priorities, the wait for some of these towards the end of the 10 year plan is extreme, especially if wanting to help promote a healthy active lifestyle. There are a lot of sports and recreation facilities that need work to them which hasn't been done since before the earthquakes, or if they have then very little!

2655 - Michele Mccaw

I do worry about big projects such as metro sports with constant delays

2764 - Chris Ford (Disabled Persons Assembly (DPA))

Recreation and Sport

Disabled people have an equitable right alongside non-disabled people to participate in the recreational and sporting life of the city.

DPA successfully engaged with Council on several recreational facility projects, most notably the Hornby Centre and Pioneer Stadium developments. These consultations were positive and constructive from our perspective.

Our submission on the Hornby Centre upgrade was warmly received by the CCC and relevant community board with almost all the recommendations around accessibility being accepted.

DPA supports the proposed capital budget of $153 million for recreational and sporting facility upgrades.

Recommendation 8: that all new recreational and sporting facilities be built to universal design and best practice accessibility standards to ensure that they are fully accessible to everyone, including disabled people.

Recommendation 9: that Council proactively engage with the disabled community over each of the proposed recreational and sporting facility upgrades as part of a co-design process.

3036 - John W. Thacker

Re Sport funding;- Major funding will be needed if the Huge Metro sports complex opens !! User pays should prevail. Maybe this complex could be sold to private enterprise otherwise it will be another chain around the Ratepayers neck!

3044 - Tony Smail

[Recreation, Sport & Events>Rec & Sport (Operations)]; [Recreation, Sport & Events>Pools (Capital)]; [Recreation, Sport & Events>Stadiums (Capital)]

Sport & rec facilities & operations need to be a higher priority than they currently are - the cities facilities are well below par

Operational spend on sport and rec is 5% but capital spend is 2% Sport and rec facilities are in major need around the city for investment so it should be proportional with capital spend

3452 - Sabine Handel

Maybe look at the additional expenditure of the>>> sports centre at Moorehouse Ave which is draining the rates away.

>>>

Not a friend of >>>the rate draining building on Moorehouse Ave.

3663 - Connor McIver

It does seem like less could be spent on Recreation and Sport operational expenditure.

>>>

I feel recreation and sport could be left more to private providers, e.g. I don't think council needs to be operating gyms. However, I'm not sure from the information provided whether these result in net profit or loss for council.

3826 - Kate Cleverly

Get the Metro facility finished - we have an entire generation of swimmers who have had to travel to the North Island, spending a considerable amount, for national competitions. If Parakiore had been finished on time this years event would have been in Christchurch.

3882 - Jodi Gauci

the best way to have a thriving, inclusive and sustainable city is to have places for these residents to meet and engage. Recreation facilities - all weather surfaces and covered areas are the ideal way to foster this.

639 - Paul Clark

Metro sports is a joke ratepayers still paying for a mistake in the beginning not installing a pump. Stop CPB send them packing and give them the final bill

655 - Patricia Holden

[Strategic Direction > Infrastructure Strategy], [Strategic Direction > Climate Change], [Recreation, Sports & Events > Community Arts]

I think that we are coping now with years of underfunding in infrastructure and we also need to future proof for climate change (need to be proactive, not reactive). It is also necessary to put money into recreation - arts, sport etc. A city is not just bricks and mortar. We need to feed the heart.

819 - SIMON THOMAS

[Recreation, Sports & Events - Stadiums (Capital)]

The stadium and other sporting costs are out of proportion to the public value. Let the sponsors of the sporting events pay more if they want these facilities.

858 - Thomas McNaughton

[Strategic Direction>Additional savings and efficiencies]

[Recreation, Sports & Events>Pools(capital)]

[Recreation, Sports & Events>Recreation Centres (Capital)]

I'm happy to pay rates but if savings are needed I would be looking at gyms and pools and other community activity that doesn't link to climate change response.

Not Stated

1069 - Kieran Norton-Taylor

The new aquatic centre needs to be completed and the council should just assist and get it done

2392 - Wendy Blair

I think the sports centre in town is a gigantic waste of our money. Its cost keeps increasing and the contractors building it are taking the mickey asking for more and more money when they aren't even delivering on time or budget.

>>>

[Spending > Te Kaha]

Too much money spent on Te Kaha and city sports centre.

314 - Vaughan Kirkland

The real concern is the number of new facilities that are being built and the capex and opex costs of these- the number of swimming pools in particular that are being built or have just opened is a concern and seems over the top.

319 - Fay Stickley

The sports project has had its budget why are we paying more , don't say cost of living, the project would have had that counted into when commenced.

>>>

Te Kaha should have no more money spent as above you gave a budget at the beginning of the project this should not have changed. The company building should have those costs included when it set the price to complete the stadium. The site was wrong in the first place, a stadium in a city centre by a Public Hospital is ridiculous. No brains on that one. You say you work in the best interest for the public. Not at all. And I have spent my life here.

3222 - Mark Rayner

If I am being asked to contribute to stadium construction or other sports facilities I will never use any of these facilities.

3257 - Fiona Jones

How much more on sport and recreation when we already have new buildings just finished and another couple coming up

3453 - Zeta Pringle

As well as sports and recreation facilities.

[Coder note: We need to continue to invest]

3621 - Morgane Honore

[Parks]

Sport and Recreation Facilities: Investing in sports and recreation facilities is essential for promoting active and healthy lifestyles, fostering community engagement, and enhancing quality of life. This includes projects such as building or upgrading sports fields, recreation centres, playgrounds, and walking/cycling trails.

3868 - Don Gould

The pool needs to be finished.

487 - Gavin Stevenson

Will the council be responsible for overspending on the Metro Pool >>> without consultation with residents?

Stadiums (Capital)

General Comments

11 submissions were received addressing the proposed capital expenditure on stadiums (e.g. Cowles Stadium, Pioneer Stadium).

1 comment supported, and 2 comments opposed the proposed spending.

7 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 1 comment provided general feedback addressing the proposed spending.

Officer Response

Theme – Support investment into recreation and sport facilities (in nature not necessarily stated, i.e., other/not stated)

- There were submissions in support for continued investment (upgrades, and new facilities) in Rec and Sport facilities noting important to keep them maintained at current or higher level with some below par. Reinforcing investing in sports and recreation facilities is essential for promoting active and healthy lifestyles, fostering community engagement, and enhancing quality of life.

Theme – Parakiore (note these referenced both Parakiore and Te Kaha)

- There were submissions concerned over the spend on Parakiore specifically and impact on rate payers. Concern about cost to maintain the asset.
- There were submissions requesting no more money spent on new facilities.
- There was 1 submission suggesting a private enterprise operating Parakiore.

Theme – investment into recreation and sport facilities.

Play, active recreation, and sport is a cost-effective investment towards local government wellbeing outcomes. Sport NZ estimate that overall for every $1 spent on play, active recreation, and sport, there is $2.12 of social return is generated and aquatic facilities contribute to this. This means that for every dollar invested in play, active recreation, and sport, the social return is more than doubled.

A review of the Recreation and Sports centres operational model can be included in the next 17a review.

Support

2865 - Natalie Henderson

I support the sports venue in town though - as i imagine it'll be for everybody (as are libraries), while the stadium is only for people who can afford it (ie wealthy people) while we all fund it.

Oppose

2603 - Ron Brooks

we dont want recreation centers and sport wasting our money

3095 - Helen Dawson

New metro centre is taking a long time to build and costs a lot

Other

1770 - Richard Davies

We are in need of an outdoor space for 4-6k people and we need to support local events more than bringing in big names.

2963 - Carolyn Roos

when you built TePae i felt we could've had a stadium/convention area together there was so much land

3044 - Tony Smail

[Recreation, Sport & Events>Rec & Sport (Operations)]; [Recreation, Sport & Events>Pools (Capital)]; [Recreation, Sport & Events>Recreation Centres (Capital)]

Sport & rec facilities & operations need to be a higher priority than they currently are - the cities facilities are well below par

3087 - Lucie Masselink

Also, the Metro Sports and the new Events Centre are very ambitious, and the budget was pretty much expected to be blown when they were initiated.

3698 - Clive Beaumont (Canterbury Basketball)

Te Kaha is not the only important facility Other indoor stadium need attention

702 - Tim Stedman

No more money spent on expensive sporting facilities for the next five years

819 - SIMON THOMAS

[Recreation, Sports & Events -Recreation Centres (Capital)]

The stadium and other sporting costs are out of proportion to the public value. Let the sponsors of the sporting events pay more if they want these facilities.

Not Stated

2270 - Maria and Natalie Couper

We can do without sports stadiums but free spaces are for everyone

Community Arts

General comments

97 submissions were received addressing community arts.

38 comments supported, and 7 comments opposed.

45 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 9 comments provided general feedback addressing community arts.

Officer Response

Supportive – many submissions supportive of funding arts and events, stating that the arts are fundamentally important to our city. A large number supported the Watch this Space's Street Art strategic approach that advocate for a more equitable and diverse distribution of investment in arts and culture to amplify our city's vibrant creative energy.

There is a strong consensus among these comments in favour of supporting the arts and cultural sectors in Christchurch. Here's a summary of the key points expressed:

1. Importance of Arts and Culture: Many contributors emphasize the significance of arts and culture in defining the identity and vibrancy of Christchurch. They argue that neglecting the arts would diminish the city's appeal and could lead to a loss of residents and tourists.
2. Economic Benefits: Several comments highlight the economic benefits of investing in the arts, such as job creation, tourism attraction, and return on investment. They cite successful initiatives like street art festivals and public art installations as examples of how the arts can contribute to the city's economic growth.
3. Community Well-being: The arts are seen as essential for community well-being, providing opportunities for self-expression, connection, and mental health support. Supporting local artists and cultural organisations is viewed as a way to strengthen social cohesion and inclusivity within the city.
4. Partnerships and Collaboration: Many comments advocate for continued collaboration between the city council, arts organizations, and the private sector to sustain and expand arts initiatives. They highlight successful partnerships that have leveraged public funding to attract additional resources and expertise.
5. Accessibility and Inclusivity: There's a call for ensuring equitable access to arts and cultural opportunities, especially for marginalized groups such as the disabled community. Suggestions include investing in accessible infrastructure and consulting with affected communities to address their needs.

6. Continued Funding: Overall, there's strong support for maintaining or increasing funding for the arts in the city's Long-Term Plan (LTP). Contributors stress the importance of ongoing financial support to sustain existing programs, develop new initiatives, and preserve cultural heritage sites like the Arts Centre.

These comments collectively underline the integral role of the arts in shaping Christchurch's identity, fostering community resilience, and driving economic and social prosperity.

Oppose – reduce or stop Arts & Events, don't spend hundreds and thousands of dollars on nice to have river sculptures.

There is no increase to funding of Community Art included in the draft Long-Term Plan. Many of the initiatives highlighted through the submission process apply for contestable grant funding from Council, which is proposed to continue.

Support

1066 - Guy Ellis

Im writing in regards to give full support to Watch This Space's recent Street Art Strategy proposal. I have seen and experienced first hand the incredible and transformative effects that Street Art has had in the central city over the past 10 years not only in my own professional experience but as a community as a whole. It has had held a huge part of the story telling and cultural significance of the cities visual identity , as it has been redeveloped over the years after the 2011 earthquakes. The uplifting nature of the cities approach to mural paintings being placed in strategic locations throughout the four avenues and beyond have shaped how the city has been reborn and i think should continue to narrate the future of Christchurch's urban development.

1081 - Joe Clarke

I would like to start by stating my full support for Watch this Space's Street Art Strategy. The Little Street Art Festival created and organised by Watch This Space was easily one of the most dynamic and interactive experiences ive had as an artist. As having only recently started dabbling in street art, one of the things i loved about it versus showing art in galleries is how many more eyes get to see it and how much more interesting the spots you can show it are. While i enjoy showing my woodcuts and carvings in galleries, its so much more thematically interesting to have been able show them in a more 3d interactive format in an area that only strengthens the imagery of my work. During the festival i received so many awesome comments and support for my work and so many cool photos from people who were enjoying it in person. They loved the idea of having to explore to find it. As i said, galleries are cool and all but to have your work as a living breathing part of the city that people are excited to find was amazing. As a Ngai Tahu artist, I also loved that i was able to incorporate Te Reo into my work in a way i havent before, through typography. While printmaking is primarily my go to, words and letters are my other love, so to be able to mix them and create something that used both on the street was an ideal situation. I also loved that i was able to incorporate Te Reo into my work in a way i havent before, through typography. While printmaking is primarily my go to, words and letters are my other love, so to be able to mix them and create something that used both on the street was an ideal situation. Lastly but probably most importantly was how the event was run. I was blown away by the support i recieved in setting up and organising my spot and work and the subsequent promotion of the event. As a lone artist its often overwhelming to set up shows, events and promotions alone so being part of a collective with a strong leadership was amazing. The side events, giveaways and social media promotion allowed me to meet new fans of my work and collaborate with artists ive admired for years.

1140 - Julien Maries

Arts is the soul of our community. It might not be the most popular, but everyone benefit from it. Art is what differentiate us from animals. Sports make us look like animals.

1217 - Ila Couch

We need to maintain funding for our creative professionals who work in film, theatre, the arts, community creative spaces.

>>>

Gutting funding for the creative community is not the answer to balancing the books. We need to recognise the financial contribution this sector brings to the city and continue to support its growth.

>>>

We need to continue to support our creative arts sector

1442 - Elisha Blogg

Please ensure arts and culture is nourished and supported in our City. I recently read Watch this Space's Street Art strategy. This is something all can get involved with whether they have money or not - I support this strategy.

1611 - Natalie Collins

Not, if there is no allowance for the arts, no.

1632 - Kophie Hulbosch

Supporting the street art strategy

>>>

Include street art in the long term programme

>>>

Include the street art strategy in your long term plan

1870 - Sharmilla Freeman

Further invest in public arts funding

1882 - Anna-Marie Browne

[Transport>Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]; [Transport>Cycleways (Capital)]; [Three Waters>Stormwater & Land Drainage (Capital)]; [Strategic Direction>Have we got the balance right?]; [Grants & Funding>Arts Centre Funding]; [Other/Special Interest Topics>Public Transport]; [Transport>Transport (Operations)]

Has CCC got the balance between its services and rates right?

No, the CCC is not doing enough in services.
I think there should be more funding for bus lanes,
bike lanes, flood protection, the Arts Centre,
cultural and entertainment^{and} mental health initiatives.
The CCC should also fund more electric buses ~~and~~ Rates establish free public WiFi in the bus interchange as well as create more electric car charging stations.
Should the council increase rates in order to maintain existing services?

Yes No

1933 - Aidan Moody

[Spending > Te Kaha]

Less on te kaha, more on arts.

2038 - Colbie Van Dyk

[Transport>Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]; [Transport>Cycleways (Capital)]; [Three Waters>Stormwater & Land Drainage (Capital)]; [Strategic Direction>Have we got the balance right?]

.....
No we need more art ~~funding~~^{funding} bus & bike lanes and flood protection.

2039 - India Johnson

[Transport>Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]; [Strategic Direction>Have we got the balance right?]

absolutely not, we need more funding put toward arts funding & bus lanes

2046 - Nathaniel Herz Sardine

[Transport>Roads (Capital)]; [Parks>Biodiversity & Ecological Restoration]; [Spending>Our Proposed Spending]

Do you have any comments on operational spending:

Less spending on roading, more on biodiversity and arts funding

2049 - Elsie Andrew

The arts should also be funded adequately.

206 - Shane Morrow

Libraries and the arts are fundamentally important

2068 - Hugh Nicholson (CCC Public Art Advisory Group (PAAG))

Christchurch City Council Public Art Advisory Group (PAAG) request that the proposed Art in Public Places budget is retained in Our Long-Term Plan 2022-2034 to build on the nationally significant collection of public artworks developing within Ōtautahi Christchurch.

Public Art funding was removed from the LTP in 2018, but was subsequently reinstated in Annual Plans in order to maintain the progress achieved over the previous 10 years.

Throughout history public art has transformed cityscapes enhancing peoples' wellbeing and sense of place. Public art allows a diversity of art forms and cultures to be shared in the public spaces of our city.

Council's Public Art Advisory Group has taken a collaborative approach since the creation of the group in 2007, and most recently have worked in partnership with SCAPE Public Art and the private sector to bring world class art to Christchurch. The partnership has delivered numerous results from the important but modest Art in Public Places Fund. The high-quality collection of public art works delivered for our city between 2008 - 24 includes:

- Brett Graham's Erratic on the Ōtakaro Avon River Promenade; and
- Sēmisi Fetokai Potauaine's Vaka A Hina in Rauora Park;
- Neil Dawson's Fanfare at Chaney's Corner on State Highway 1.

The financial results show the total spend on public artworks for the city between 2008 and 2021 being $8,896,000, with the Council's investment of $2,144,140 leveraging an additional $6,751,860 of donations or work-in-kind. These matched contributions of $3.15 for every $1 of CCC expenditure can only be leveraged as a result of the PAAG's 'seed' investments.

- The Public Art Fund – has a fifteen year track record of delivering excellent public art for Christchurch
 - The public art works installed pre-earthquake have survived and stood proud
 - After the briefest of drawing breath post-earthquake we got straight back into delivering great public art
 - At the tenth anniversary of the Public Art Fund we had achieved everything in our own 10 year strategic plan
 - City now owns an enviable collection of outstanding public art by local, national and international artists
-
- We think we're on the cusp of catching up with Wellington and Auckland with their large public art collections
 - With the LTP funding reinstated the PAAG can continue to commission public art with the extraordinary matched contributions of more than $3 for every $1 of Council money.

Keeping in mind the need to ask for a modest level of funding in view of Council's financial position, the PAAG request that the budget in the Draft LTP is retained to enable our work to continue over the next decade. Funds would be applied to a combination of existing works awaiting reinstatement and potential new works. As in the past we would leverage the CCC Art in Public Places allocation through donations and work-in-kind. Past experience indicates matched contributions of $3.15 for every $1 of CCC spend delivering a total outcome of $4.15.

Excellent public art brings huge benefits to our city as a "cultural powerhouse". Christchurch needs to build on the confident cultural city that has developed since the Canterbury earthquakes to better reflect its cultural diversity, energy and creativity. A rich and inclusive arts and culture sector in the city brings flow on community benefits – cultural and mental health well-beings as well as financial advantage for the city as a whole.

PAAG look forward to strengthening our partnership with the city and your support to continue the delivery of excellent public artworks whilst acknowledging and managing within Council's constraints and expectations.

2108 - Briar Rotherham

[Three Waters>Stormwater & Land Drainage (Capital)]; [Transport>Transport (Operations)]; [Strategic Direction>Have we got the balance right?]

Has CCC got the balance between its services and rates right:

No. We need more funding in transport, Flood Protection and arts funding.

2235 - Cara Paterson (Creative New Zealand)

We are heartened by Council's proposals for delivering inclusive, diverse and accessible Arts and Cultural services in Ōtautahi, to support residents' social, economic, environmental and cultural wellbeing.

In particular, we support Council's intention to 'ensure equitable access and inclusion in quality opportunities by managing affordability, locality and accessibility'. Accessible community infrastructure is essential for local communities to access arts, culture, creativity and ngā toi, especially Deaf and disabled people who participate highly in the arts. We encourage Council to work towards ensuring cultural infrastructure has a universal and inclusive design in line with the New Zealand Disability Strategy, and that Deaf and disabled people are consulted on any decisions that could impact their access to arts and ngā toi.

240 - Bella Zilber

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right], [Strategic Direction > Climate Change], [Art Galleries & Museums > Art Gallery (Operational)]

Yes but I'd like to see increased and going support for the arts and environmental issues

>>>

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right], [Strategic Direction > Climate Change], [Art Galleries & Museums > Art Gallery (Operational)], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

I support the ongoing maintenance of projects which enhance the liveability of this city. Eg the environment, arts and cycleways

>>>

[Art Galleries & Museums > Art Gallery (Operational)]

More funding for the arts please

>>>

[Art Galleries & Museums > Art Gallery (Operational)]

Please continue to support the Arts Centre and other arts organizations such as the Christchurch Symphony Orchestra, Art Gallery etc.

2410 - Lydia Thomas

No, you are driving creative artists and community members out of the city to other places where the arts are respected and valued. You are making this city unlivable for creatives to express themselves. Musicians can no longer perform at venues because you allow unaffordable and uninhabitable housing right next to these venues. Your lack of funding for the arts means we cannot sustain our livelihoods or produce our work. A city without art or culture is not worth visiting or staying in.

2485 - Lucy hill

but should also prioritise the arts and culture

>>>

[Grants & Funding > Arts Centre]

keep the arts centre and funding in general for the arts, a super important part of any city

2546 - Keith Power

Happy to pay to maintain>>>the arts in general.

2639 - Callum Ward (Waihoru Spreydon Cashmere Heathcote Community Board)

The Board is generally supportive of inclusive arts programmes.

2756 - Stephanie Defregger

More art.

2999 - Reuben Woods (Watch This Space & The Flare Street Art Festival)

To deliver on the city's promise to be the best place to live, work, play and invest, it requires more than infrastructural investment - it is vital that a range of sectors are supported, including the arts and culture sector - which plays a key role in making the city vibrant and connecting people to place - including future generations who will find more opportunities to declare their role in making our city amazing. We believe greater and diverse investment in the arts and specifically accessible forms, such as street art, which will provide a massive benefit to the city in regards to our wider profile and the daily experience of Ōtautahi for residents.

>>>

We believe there is an imbalance in terms of arts and culture investment that is heavily loaded to particular approaches and a redistribution could allow for a more accessible, diverse and wide-reaching approach to and impact on the city of Ōtautahi.

>>>

We are interested in the investment in art in public spaces and how this is allocated in an impactful way to reach a wide public audience and level of participation.

>>>

[Grants and Funding > Requests for addition funding, Recreation, Sports & Events > Community Arts, Strategic Direction > Community Outcomes and Strategic Priorities, Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Urban Design]

We believe that with specific investment towards a strategic street art programme, the city will grow its global creative profile, provide meaningful pathways for young people here in Ōtautahi to thrive and contribute, while also engaging diverse communities. Street art reflects a collaborative and confident city by utilising our surrounding environment to tell our stories in lively and engaging ways - creating a sense of belonging and making spaces memorable and welcoming. Street art has already proven its ability to position Ōtautahi as a cultural powerhouse city - where freely accessible creative expressions empower our communities to reflect on what makes us unique and in doing so has attracted attention from around the globe, placing us at the forefront of urban creativity. Street art thrives when creating partnerships between private, public and community-centred participants. Recognising the potential for innovative and wide-ranging initiatives and outcomes by harnessing different networks, street art's benefits help a wide cross-section of our community and reflect a thriving city. Street art is dynamic and allows for constant participation, refreshing and re-imagining the urban landscape in surprising and powerful ways. This ensures generations are continually able to contribute and ensure the cityscape reflects the contemporary experience in a way that is distinct from other types of public art. Street art is incredibly accessible and aims for inclusivity and connection, ensuring the voices and expressions of our people are clearly evident in our shared landscapes, providing well-being through visibility and participation. Ōtautahi has established itself as the leading destination for street art and urban creativity, drawing the eyes of both Aotearoa and the world to its walls and streets. This submission will deliver on the vision, community outcomes and strategic priorities of the Long Term Plan - providing opportunities for future generations through embedding urban creativity and creating dynamic pathways for development and growth that will cement our status as a cultural powerhouse destination. The submission prioritises accessibility, participation and community development through street art, reaching wide audiences and providing continuous and thoughtful activation and programming.

>>>

[Spending > Our Proposed Spending, Grants and Funding > Requests for additional funding]

We believe a fairer and more diverse distribution of investment in arts and culture spending will ensure a greater impact and reach of our city's incredible creative spirit. By investing in street art and a strategic programme, we can develop a unique approach to urban creativity that will support a wide range of participants and audiences for future generations. This impact will contribute to the city's reputation as a thriving and prosperous destination, attracting attention and visitors, while reflecting our citizens and communities in vibrant and engaging ways. From large-scale events to community-centred initiatives, the street art programme will provide wide-reaching opportunities. This would be a nation-wide first and ensure Ōtautahi leads the way for urban creativity and its positive outcomes.

3174 - Gary Morrison

Council needs to provide infrastructure and support the activities/services that communities need. Especially services that cannot get external support — in our society that tends to be Arts and Cultural activities.

>>>

Arts and Culture are essential in any community. The primary funding for these activities tends to be through local Government, you need to find resources to support for these activities.

>>>

The Arts need to receive support. I enjoy sports, but they can gain more commercial support than events that are centered on Arts and Culture.

3196 - Jessica Bell

[Grants & Funding > Request for Additional grants & Funding]

No. I don't feel that we can become a cultural powerhouse by allocating 1% to the arts.

3353 - Janna Gresham

No there is a lack of regard for the soul of a community which is nurtured by attention to the arts, access to gathering places, availability of familiar and loved events

3363 - Brodie Marra-Stevenson

[Grants & Funding > Arts Centre Funding], [Parks > Heritage (Capital)]

We need to protect our music and arts space, and heritage sites that are arts focused such as the arts centre cannot be left unfunded.

3538 - Leonardo Cockburn

[Grants & Funding > Arts Centre Funding], [Grants & Funding > Orana Park Funding], [Other/Special Interest Topics > Public Transport]

No, fund the arts, especially the Arts Centre, fund orana wildlife park, make bus fares cheaper again

3836 - Tessa Morrow

PUTTING HERE AGAIN: FUND! THE! ARTS!

3918 - Rachael Travaille

Keep supporting the arts

3924 - Rachel Purcell

The Arts Centre and arts in general also need support.

613 - Jenny Lee

Remember the Arts appeal directly to the soul and citizens with lively and well fed souls are better than those with mal nourished . . .souls

655 - Patricia Holden

[Strategic Direction > Infrastructure Strategy], [Strategic Direction > Climate Change], [Recreation, Sports & Events > Recreation Centres (Capital)]

I think that we are coping now with years of underfunding in infrastructure and we also need to future proof for climate change (need to be proactive, not reactive). It is also necessary to put money into recreation - arts, sport etc. A city is not just bricks and mortar. We need to feed the heart.

722 - Sinéad Horgan

[Recreation, Sports & Events > Events]

Arts and events are an important life blood of the city and more should be spent here

785 - Ariana Tikao

[Spending > Te Kaha]

I would prefer to see less money going into the Te Kaha Stadium and more towards arts and cultural institutions.

>>>

[Recreation, Sports & Events > Rec & Sport (Operations); Libraries > Libraries (Operations); Art Galleries & Museums > Art Gallery (Operations); Galleries & Museums > Museums (Operations); Grants & Funding > Arts Centre Funding; Community Facilities > Community Facilities (Operations)]

I'd love to see continued support for our recreational and community facilities, libraries, galleries and museums, as well as continued support for the Arts Centre Te Matatiki Toi Ora as a vital contributor to the cultural life of the city, as well as Toi Auaha and other organisations such as The Loons in Lyttelton.

967 - Audrey Baldwin

[Strategic Direction > Community Outcomes & Strategic Priorities]

Great vision. Please keep supporting and championing our Arts Communities and arts ecology as a whole, to ensure we become a cultural powerhouse city and a thriving one.

Oppose

1957 - Breana Rath

No. I don't feel that we can become a cultural powerhouse by allocating 1% to the arts.

2119 - Andrew Cooper

Stop all art.

2264 - Sarah Scollard

[Grants & Funding > Orana Park], [Parks > Playgrounds & Play Equipment], [Three Waters > Water Supply (Capital)]

We need to spend less on 'The Arts' and more on maintaining the good things we already have such as Orana Park, outdoor play areas and water quality.

2727 - Aleesa Royds

however don't be wasting money on stuff we don't need at this time - case in point random art installations (the red tape on the ground that led to nowhere)

3002 - Rachel D'Arcy

Allocation 1% to the Arts is not enough in forwarding a city. Arts funding is essential for cities because it: 1. Enriches culture and identity. 2. Boosts the economy through tourism and related industries. 3. Encourages community engagement and cohesion. 4. Supports education and innovation. 5. Enhances overall quality of life for residents.

3974 - Amanda Jenkins

Boost the Arts for Artists, Culture, and Screen - storytelling of our culture and identity is CRITICAL for future generations

3976 - Elizabeth Pugh

Performing Arts Precinct Te Whare Tapere - No depending on the "beautification" and absolutely messing around with Gloucester St, until all building in the precinct ^{is complete}
Saving (apparently) $1,192,053

Other

1057 - Helen Marginson

Reduce or stop Arts and events

1105 - Lana Shields

why aren't the arts included - art is a massive part of our city especially street art - it has made such a difference to the face of the "broken city" why not keep investing?

>>>

but focus more on the arts - this city has some amazing art and it adds to the beautifying of the city - so many visitors comment on it

>>>

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration>Urban Regeneration]

I think you should consider the Street Art proposal by watch this space - the street art is such a great look for residents and visitors - just wandering around the city seeing the narratives through art is pleasing on the eye, it gives people a cost effective option when budget is tight

1228 - David Squire

The arts needs more support.

1299 - David Molony

What is missing is an investment in the arts which have long-term value and ensuring the and well-being of a community is vibrant, positive, developing the soul and depth of it people. The national endowment for the arts is immensely important to the diverse people and communities that we all call home. The arts matter because we learn something about people and places I would have never known otherwise. Within the art we have preserving the cultural traditions and history ensuring the perpetuation of rich heritage. Art serves as a unifying force, bringing diverse communities together and fostering social cohesion. Art in Education and Social change is an integral aspect of human existence, empowering us to navigate emotions, spark creativity, inspire change, and foster connections, Particularly at a time when at a time we are seeing a rapid change in our city and community.

>>>

Where is the funding for the arts the drives our well-being within our communities?

>>>

I believe strongly in developing the arts in our community, as stated in the first part of this submission.

1428 - Conor Keena

[Grants and Funding > Arts Centre]

I am also concerned with the lack of funding going into the Arts Centre and other arts outlets (it might be there, but I didn't see it in my reading). I know it's always an easy cost to reduce but I think the arts are key part of a happy city.

1634 - Emma Cameron

Additionally need to prioritise local arts

>>>

Arts Arts Arts!!

1778 - Jane Houghton

At the moment we have temporary statues or pieces of art (heap of coal is located opposite the scooter park in town). Honestly, what a waste of money - 1) looks like a heap of coal, 2) Not located where people can easily view. How much was spent on this ! Everyone's perception of art is different but when the council cannot afford it, lets leave it !

1792 - Laura Parkes

I believe there needs to be more focus on access for the disabled, and the arts/museums.

1876 - Mika Clapson

I want funding for the Arts because honestly, the Arts are saving lives in so many ways, including mental health & spreading awareness.

2089 - Serge Ratten

Just move community move art

2092 - Jeremy Bruce

Just don't forget about supporting the community, arts and culture sectors. Infrastructure is all good but it the people that really matter

>>>

I want to lend support to both the continuations of >>> the Watch this Space Street Art Strategy. Continual funding for our Arts and Culture sectors is absolutely critical to continue to build a vibrant city, community and society. This is literally our future let's keep it going.

2181 - Liviah Rachel Bramley

please fund the arts!

2235 - Cara Paterson (Creative New Zealand)

As Council decides on its priorities for the LTP, we strongly encourage Council to ensure its investment in arts, culture, creativity and ngā toi Māori is reaching across the wider creative ecosystem (artists, creatives, creative communities and organisations) to retain its valuable contributions to Christchurch and its communities.

2309 - Margaret Austin

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?]

Apart from lack of recognition on the importance of the arts and creativity to citizen well being which ought to be a significant priority - yes

2621 - Caroline Gray

Find the arts to enable the city to flourish.

2666 - Kathleen Crisley

F. Maintenance costs for outdoor art installations

The permanent public sculptural works of art (e.g. Neil Dawson's Fanfare, Regan Gentry's Flower Power, etc.) are often developed with part-funding through the Public Art Advisory Group and generally initiated by SCAPE Public Art. After installation, these works are gifted to the city, with the Council managing their ongoing maintenance.

The total cost to maintain 102 art works, plus 50 statues, fountains, monuments and memorials is estimated to be $181,000 (the estimation is due to the variance in internal staff time/costs. However, this figure is based off the previous year's maintenance).

SUBMISSION POINT 7: Refuse public art gifts going forward unless they come with a trust fund attached to cover the costs of their maintenance. Some items require more resource than others; it's important for those who want these items displayed in the city to contribute to the costs of their maintenance.

2678 - Fiona McKenzie

No, as someone who works with disabled people in the arts in Christchurch I'm really concerned at the low % of investment into the arts. Apart from the therapeutic and cultural rewards of live theatre, and with my other har one as an aspiring film maker, the Screen Canterbury Production Grant has been hugely successful for the region, for individual practitioners and for the city, with a return of $12.50 for every dollar spent. It's razy to stop that investment.

>>>

please keep >>> theatres and other places of self expression open. My guys have few enough options in life.

2811 - Nikora Nitro

Need an annual Māori Performing Arts Capital

2822 - Angela Leatherby

[Spending > Capital Programme (General)], [Recreation, Sports & Events > Events]

There needs to be consideration of how large a capital programme the Council can actually manage within its current staffing levels. There is no point in trying to do too much, too quickly without the staff to ensure the work is done well, on time, within budget and to scope. If we focus more on this we may do things slightly slower but they will be done better and save money in the long term. This would then provide money to invest into our Arts, Culture and Music, ensuring that the creative heart of our city is not compromised. It would also provide money to invest into events that ensure the city is a vibrant place to live. There is no point pouring money into the shell of the city if the we stop investing in the soul of the city - all those things that provide well being and connection. Council's strategic priorities states that Christchurch will be an inclusive, equitable city which puts people at the centre of developing our city and district, prioritising wellbeing, accessibility and connection. We can't say these things and then not live them through our long term plan.

2870 - Melanie Luckman (Cubbin Theatre Company)

We want to see Christchurch be the best city in the country to be a child. This means focus on facilities, safety and families. Please consider the arts when you think of community. Chch is the only large city in NZ without an Arts Festival. That is embarrassing. Please consider support to expand the Word Festival or build an Arts Festival. How about a Children's Arts Festival, like most countries have?

>>>

Please do not forget the arts. Christchurch has so much potential to be an artistic powerhouse in NZ but it needs your backing. Help the venues, help the events and artists that are so deeply driven to make incredible art here.

2914 - Ally Callinicos

It is all good and well to focus on the infrastructure of our city, but equally as important is creating a city worth living in. Art and culture is what draws people to or keeps people in a city, not the infrastructure. I believe this aspect of city-life needs to be included into the programme.

>>>

The arts need financial support to grow and further brighten the city and increase tourism.

2975 - Carrie Keith

More money needs to go into the arts to keep people's spirits up and hope alive

>>>

How can you justify so much on a stadium and nothing into the arts!!!

3053 - Drucilla Kingi-Patterson

It will be the Arts that will definis from other cities and put us on the global stage.
I just take one great idea. But a team to impliment it

[Full attachment available]

3083 - Peter Joyce

More support for the 'Arts'.

3129 - Skye Arnopp

Fund local artists and creatives instead. We have a thriving local art and creative community.

3310 - James Lunday

Spend more on arts,

3318 - Mary Ogilvie

I wish the council would support the Arts. I don't want expensive projects to jepodise these priorities.

3334 - Shona McDowell

Infrastructure is important but so are the arts. Cultural support is vital to a good society and happy community

3405 - Selina Faimalo (Flare Ōtautahi Street Art Festival)

To fulfill the city's commitment to becoming the premier destination for living, working, leisure, and investment, it necessitates more than just infrastructure development. Supporting various sectors, including arts and culture, is crucial, as they contribute significantly to the city's vibrancy and foster a sense of connection to the community. This includes empowering future generations to actively participate in enhancing our city. We advocate for increased and diverse investment in the arts, particularly accessible forms like street art, which can greatly enhance the city's reputation and enrich the daily lives of Ōtautahi residents.

>>>

We're keen on exploring the investment in public art and its allocation in a manner that maximizes impact, reaching a broad audience and encouraging high levels of participation.

>>>

We advocate for strategic investment in a street art program to enhance the city's global creative profile, foster youth empowerment, and engage diverse communities in Ōtautahi. Street art serves as a collaborative expression of our city's identity, transforming public spaces into vibrant narratives that foster belonging and create memorable environments. Its impact extends globally, positioning Ōtautahi as a cultural hub and attracting attention worldwide. By fostering partnerships between private, public, and community entities, street art generates innovative outcomes that benefit the entire community, reflecting a thriving urban landscape. Its dynamic nature invites continuous participation, ensuring the cityscape evolves with contemporary expressions while promoting inclusivity and connection. This initiative aligns with the Long Term Plan's vision, prioritising accessibility, community engagement, and cultural development to solidify Ōtautahi's status as a leading destination for urban creativity.

>>>

We support Watch This Space's strategic approach that advocates for a more equitable and diverse distribution of investment in arts and culture to amplify our city's vibrant creative energy. By prioritising street art and implementing a strategic program, we can cultivate a distinct approach to urban creativity that caters to a broad spectrum of participants and audiences, ensuring a lasting impact for future generations. This initiative will enhance our city's reputation as a dynamic and prosperous destination, drawing attention and visitors while celebrating the rich diversity of our citizens and communities through vibrant and immersive experiences. From large-scale events to community-driven projects, the street art program will offer extensive opportunities, setting a pioneering example nationwide and positioning Ōtautahi as a trailblazer in urban creativity and its positive outcomes.

3416 - Sarah Roberts (Canterbury Society of Arts Charitable Trust (CoCA))

[Strategic Direction > Community Outcomes & Strategic Priorities]

A key Council community outcome is to create a 'cultural powerhouse city'. Galleries, such as CoCA, are inclusive spaces that provide free or low cost access to art, and support a vibrant community of artists. CoCA is grateful for the funding opportunities the Council provides the arts sector. Further investment in the arts, culture and creativity of our city will truly fulfil the spirit behind the Council's stated strategic priorities.

355 - Lynda Clark

[Grants & Funding > Arts Centre Funding], [Libraries > Libraries (Operations)]

Although I agree with fiscal responsibility, I think supporting and funding the arts is important, including the libraries and the Arts Centre.

3652 - Andrew Hamlin

I don't think CCC needs to invest in art to such an extent that the arts are currently asking for more money to fund something that is culturally important but is also considered as extravagant as over-inflated stadiums. We can have our cake and eat it just not with all the toppings we want on it.

3661 - Steph Walker

[Grants & Funding > Strengthening Communities Fund], [Grants & Funding > Other Contestable Funds], [Grants & Funding > Arts Centre Funding]

I don't believe this current operational spending proposal is a balanced reflection of the Council's community outcomes and strategic priorities. As someone working in the arts, culture and creativity space with a particular interest in festivals and locally-based organisations and companies, I am not confident that Ōtautahi can be a "cultural powerhouse" without further investment that enables local artists and organisations to thrive.

I am incredibly thankful that Council has not proposed cuts to funding which supports our sector, and funding for libraries and galleries which also play a big part in supporting creativity in the city.

What concerns me though, is the increase of new festivals and organisations in the city that, having been seeded by Council funding, or been receiving funding prior, will then stretch the "strengthening communities fund" and the "events and festival sponsorship fund" to the point where rather than funding for success, Council is funding for... for a meagre existence, I guess. These funds have, I believe, got modest increases but the sector could really do with further funding, and at a greater amount.

The Arts, Culture and Creativity sector is a lot like sports. We have grassroots organisations, we have organisations recognised and succeeding at a regional level, and we have organisations that tour/play nationally and are at the top of their game, so to speak. Christchurch loses a lot of talent once they get past grassroots. They leave because they cannot see how they can make work here consistently, and how to grow. I should know - I've left Christchurch twice, at pivotal points in my career. I came back to give back to my hometown, but a lot of people won't. If that happens, then festivals and organisations that remain face steeper bills to bring talent to Christchurch, steeper learning curves when it comes to running these sorts of places and spaces, and have to work harder to keep people here.

It's an ecosystem where Council plays a big part - and not just with funding, but with having ways for cheap access to venues, to ensure the organisations you do fund have to foster local talent and to partner and assist other organisations in the city. Council can be quite creative with the resourcing you can offer!

This is where I get to The Arts Centre. When I think about the Arts Centre I think about the buildings, and who "lives" in them, and then I think of the activities, or programming, that happens there. I think that the Arts Centre does amazing programming, bringing in artists and companies to bring spaces to life. What is lacking, though, is affordable space for those artists and companies to actually be in residence year-round. When I go to the Arts Centre right now, I see commercial tenants (health tech, a hotel, a University...) but I do not see arts companies "living" in the arts centre and getting to choose what they put on. At the moment, the way to be able to make work there affordably is to be programmed by them or partner with them. It is fully curated. My experience of working at resident companies in Arts Centres in Australia is of quite a different model. Nonetheless, I certainly want the Arts Centre to be "saved", but perhaps whatever this looks like could take into account what is needed to help this city become a Cultural Powerhouse.

3710 - Kit French

Fund the Arts

>>>

Fund the arts and the arts centre

3759 - Ben Connolly

I would like more spent on communities and citizens and art and culture.

3833 - Jamie Stratton

More investment into music and the arts

3923 - Nina Oberg Humphries (Tagata Moana Trust)

The establishment of a Pacific Arts and Excellence center is needed to fulfill the growing needs of Christchurch's Pacific community.

3969 - H Bloomer-Law

I would like to see more emphasis on funding for local arts rather than trying to draw in larger events and artists.

4025 - Robin Wynne-Williams

eg a cooking school and café, etc. Invite Jamie Oliver to visit and be the Patron of the cooking school/café; he is dyslexic and ADHD. Extend the Halswell mans' shed for an example to include other skills, eg craft/dressmaking, food preparation, etc.

539 - Regina Fisher van der Veen

Prioritize the arts more, the glam sector is an important part of Christchurch and all aspects need to be looked after

[Coder Note: GLAM = galleries, libraries, archives, and museums]

559 - Neville Ross

Not enough emphasis on the Arts.

567 - Sarita MacGregor

[Libraries > Libraries (Capital)] , [Recreation, Sports & Events > Pools (Capital)]

Need to protect access to things that support wellbeing - Eg arts, open spaces, libraries, pools

627 - Alex Lewis

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Strategic Transport]

While Roads and transport infrastructure is valuable, I think there should be more focus on environmental resilience and the arts. We need long-term planning to transition Christchurch away from being dependent on cars, such as an expansion of safe-cycling infrastructure and upgraded public transport. Additionally, sacrificing cultural and artistic support in favour of infrastructure erodes the reasons why Christchurch is such a multi-cultural, dynamic and interesting city.

711 - Isabelle Lee

I think you should be prioritising the arts more

846 - Sarah Anderson

Mostly, however I do believe more investment in the Arts is important. So I would prefer to see an increase in arts related funding over time.

Not Stated

1216 - Glenn Maguire

Just don't spend hundreds and thousands of dollars on nice to have river sculptures.

1220 - Jake Slaney

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?]

No. After the earthquake, a fundamental aspect of the city was lost. This was inexpensive space for art and artists to flourish. While rebuilding infrastructure for the economic aspect of the city is vitally important, so is helping to revive what is essentially the soul of any city... its arts community.

>>>

Fund the arts

1785 - Rosaria Ferguson

More funding for community, culture and arts to create a vibrant city

>>>

Arts, culture and community are important aspects of our city. Ōtautahi has been through many things yet the arts should remain at our core. It is important to provide funding opportunities for groups to provide these aspects for the city, at different engagement levels than what the council can provide. This in turn encourages citizens to be creative, and increases community and self-expression. While the city has great active resources, these need to be activated by groups and individuals.

193 - Anne Mahan

[Recreation, Sports & Events > Events, Rec & Sport (Operations)]

Part of Christchurch becoming a more vibrant city to live in and as a destination is the arts, sports and events. If people can not afford to play sport visit a concert or event it creates more long term issues, ie boredom vandalism and anti social behavior.

2187 - Rylee Single

Our heritage includes our art and culture sectors of the city. If these close or are not able to support the people you will see people moving away to places that can support them and that includes outside of New Zealand. You will also see less tourism coming into the city or spending as much time here as there will be less of a drawing feature to bring them in. We are without a museum, we will be for some time, don't take away every thing else while you're at it. This whole country seems to be trying to leave the creative world behind as we struggle to find balance, the creative world, our art sectors and cultural hubs are fundamental to making it through these struggles. People need something to hold onto, whether it be the botanical gardens, an exhibition, a visit to the zoo, or lecture at the grand hall

2235 - Cara Paterson (Creative New Zealand)

We acknowledge the challenges currently faced by local government in preparing LTPs while managing many competing priorities, and we are heartened to see your ongoing commitment to arts, culture and creativity. We strongly encourage Council to continue to ensure the LTP provides secure and stable investment in arts, culture, creativity and ngā toi over the next decade.

We encourage Council to work with artists and creatives to achieve community outcomes in other prioritised work across the city, including city centre upgrades, infrastructure development, climate change adaptation and housing improvements. As connectors and innovators, creative communities are uniquely positioned to help Council communicate and deliver on these projects, and can play a vital role in helping Christchurch thrive.

We're proud to have supported Toi Ōtautahi – A Strategy for Arts and Creativity in Ōtautahi Christchurch 2019–2024 as one of the Strategy's foundation partners, and encourage Council to ensure the LTP aligns with the vision and directions of Toi Ōtautahi.

>>>

Investment in arts, culture, creativity and ngā toi is investment in social, cultural, environmental and economic wellbeing. There is substantial evidence that the creative sector can support Council to deliver impactful outcomes in its LTP. For example:

- engagement with arts, culture and creativity positively enhances wellbeing, and means communities are more likely to have strong connections to community, land and place
- 61 percent of New Zealanders agree that the arts make an important contribution to community resilience and wellbeing
- two in three Canterbury residents agree that the arts contribute positively to our economy and help improve society
- the creative sector contributed $16.3 billion to New Zealand's GDP in 2023.

From our most recent New Zealanders and the Arts—Ko Aotearoa me ōna Toi research in 2023, we know that New Zealanders' personal connection with the arts continues to grow, and many feel the arts contribute strongly to their mental health and wellbeing. New Zealanders are also increasingly recognising the economic benefits of the arts, and support for public funding of the arts is higher than ever.

>>>

Arts, cultural, creative and ngā toi Māori practitioners and organisations are valuable partners for Council to achieve its community outcomes by strengthening communities through connection, empowerment and placemaking. They will support Council to effectively respond to current challenges such as resilience and climate change.

Take for example, a project like Sanctuary which was a collaboration with Christchurch City Libraries and Ōtautahi Creative Spaces, to develop a three-month rangatahi artist 'occupation' of Tūranga. The creative takeover showcased work by over 30 diverse rangatahi and welcomed the public into a cosy space to explore themes of home, identity and diverse community spirit.

The project aimed to elevate the work and voices of diverse rangatahi (Māori, Rainbow and Muslim) and included site-specific work – stained glass tukutuku, rugs featuring Muslim artists work, lift artworks commissioned from three Ōtautahi Creative Spaces artists, and a revolving exhibition in the Te Pito Huarewa Southbase gallery.

The Sanctuary project was funded by an Arts Grant from Creative New Zealand, Ōtautahi Creative Spaces receive an annual grant from Christchurch City Council's Strengthening Communities Fund (towards rent and staff costs), and Council invested hugely in the project through the library collaboration. This clearly demonstrates the benefits of multiple funding streams and strong working relationships with the local creative community, to deliver initiatives that meet the needs of the creative community and Ōtautahi audiences.

2273 - Jessica Cunnold

More funding for the arts and culturally significant aspects.

332 - Flair Mckay

[Grants and Funding > Arts Centre Funding]

I am writing to point out the importance of continuing to fund and support the art centre, and art in general in Ōtautahi. Art is an integral aspect for community well-being, and support for it can be a strong part of CCC funding

840 - Kim Morton (Ōtautahi Creative Spaces)

3. Arts, culture, creativity and ngā toi is essential to community wellbeing and social cohesion. By investing in this, the Council is supporting social, cultural, environmental and economic wellbeing. We therefore support the Council's strategic framework, in particular:
 - the inclusion of the Council's commitment to a tiriti partnership with mana whenua and Māori.
 - The draft community outcome of being a "cultural powerhouse city" where our diverse communities are supported to understand and protect their heritage, pursue their arts, cultural and sporting interests, and contribute to making our city a creative, cultural and events 'powerhouse'.
 - The strategic priority of being an inclusive and equitable city which puts people at the centre of developing our city and district, prioritising wellbeing, accessibility and connection.

4. The arts community needs secure, stable support from Christchurch City Council to be sustainable and service the city. In order to achieve the goal of being a cultural powerhouse, the Council will need to give greater priority and support to arts, culture, creativity and ngā toi.
 - Level the playing field for resources that go into sport and recreation, and art and culture
 - Centre Te Tiriti, Ngāi Tūāhuriri and ngā toi Māori
 - Increase funding for art, culture, creativity and ngā toi – including consideration of a percentage for arts scheme
 - Make sure Toi Ōtautahi is resourced and all partners are actively involved
 - Support access to cultural facilities
 - Support partnerships with health organisations and Watch This Space
 - Support the development of a national arts strategy for Aotearoa

>>>

Arts organisations like ours are important partners which can help Christchurch City Council activate its' broader priorities - we help people to engage in democratic processes, help people to feel more connected, and to access cultural facilities. Our partnership with Christchurch City Libraries is something we really value and we recently completed a major project with Tūranga, Sanctuary a creative occupation by rangatahi (see story below).

Health organisations: The Council holds many strategic relationships and acts as a bridge for organisations like ours to other cultural, educational, and health organisations. We'd really value the Council actively working to build connections and opportunities for people to access to art, creativity, culture and ngā toi through the Council's relationships with Te Whatu Ora, Pegasus Health and other health organisations.

Watch This Space street art: Many of our rangatahi artists are super keen on street art. We therefore support Watch This Space's goal of delivering street art opportunities in partnership with creative communities like ours.

A national arts strategy for Aotearoa: We want to see local and central government (cross ministries) work together to create the conditions where arts and health can make the most impact for people of Aotearoa. What's currently missing is a national arts strategy, such as has been developed in Australia (National Cultural Policy—Revive: a place for every story, a story for every place 2023). Minister of Arts, Culture and Heritage Paul Goldsmith has recently expressed interest in creating such a strategy (The Big Idea 17 April 2024). We therefore ask that the Council support the creation of a national arts strategy and help enable the voices and experience of people in Christchurch to be included. Our creative community is seen as a national exemplar and we'd therefore appreciate any opportunities the Council has to show-case our work in a city which has experienced more than its fair share of mental distress arising from disaster and terrorism.

>>>

We feel there's an uneven playing field for access and participation to art, culture, creativity and ngā toi when compared to access to sport and recreation in Christchurch. The Long Term Plan shows the Council provides substantial resources and facilities for people to be able to participate in sport and recreation, with at least 40 facilities to do this ("Provide citizens access to a range of fit-for-purpose network of recreation and sporting facilities"). We dream of a world where the Council provides citizens access to a range of fit for purpose network of arts and creativity facilities. We acknowledge the work the Council already does through auahatanga spaces at Te Hapua, Tūranga, and the Matatiki Hornby Centre, and Parakiore will have dance and movement studios. We'd like to see the number of creative spaces increased with council support for staff to lead them. Our experience is that that the biggest impact of participating in creativity is seen through regular participation as opposed to one off events and there's evidence to support this. Australian researchers produced the first dose-response style study of arts and mental health, showing that 2-hour "doses" of creative activities per week could enhance mental wellbeing in a general population (Davies 2015).

>>>

Arts organisations like ours are important partners which can help Christchurch City Council activate its' broader priorities - we help people to engage in democratic processes, help people to feel more connected, and to access cultural facilities. Our partnership with Christchurch City Libraries is something we really value and we recently completed a major project with Tūranga, Sanctuary a creative occupation by rangatahi (see story below).

Health organisations: The Council holds many strategic relationships and acts as a bridge for organisations like ours to other cultural, educational, and health organisations. We'd really value the Council actively working to build connections and opportunities for people to access to art, creativity, culture and ngā toi through the Council's relationships with Te Whatu Ora, Pegasus Health and other health organisations.

Watch This Space street art: Many of our rangatahi artists are super keen on street art. We therefore support Watch This Space's goal of delivering street art opportunities in partnership with creative communities like ours.

[Full attachment available]

Art Galleries & Museums

Art Gallery (Operations)

General Comments

31 submissions were received addressing operational spending on art galleries.

13 comments supported, and 0 comments opposed operational spending on art galleries.

14 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 6 comments provided general feedback.

Officer Response

The majority of submissions are very positive towards the LTP Levels of Services for the Art Gallery. Submitters detailed the importance that they placed on the Art Gallery and the arts in general and wish to recognise Council's positive role in providing a range of services including the Art Gallery, libraries, and cultural heritage etc.

A number of submitters called for increased support for arts and signalled the importance of free access for all and noted the Gallery's role to play in supporting under-served communities, with support for the Gallery having a dedicated Te Reo Māori education/outreach role.

One detailed submission discussed concerns over the future use of the Robert McDougall Art Gallery and believe that it should be used to show historical works from Christchurch Art Gallery collection, thereby enabling increased display and storage.

This submitter also believed that the Council should be the owner of Canterbury Museum collection to ensure all heritage collections were managed and solely owned by the city, suggesting that the Council looks to Government to repeal the Act that governs the Museum thereby decreasing costs on staff, insurance, and loan documentation etc.

The Art Gallery and Canterbury Museum have excellent working relationships and have co-developed exhibitions before. There is a good plan in place to work closely together to ensure works from both collections will be seen at the Robert McDougall Gallery.

Lending works from the Art Gallery to the Museum is quite a simple process as good systems are in place, and lending works doesn't increase insurance costs, works are generally covered under standard exhibition insurance policies. However, this will provide limited storage improvements for the Gallery.

The Canterbury Museum is not controlled by Council, and to do so would require extensive consultation with stakeholders and Government.

Support

1112 - Sarah Anderson (Friends of Christchurch Art Gallery Te Puna o Waiwhetū)

I am pleased that the council recognises the importance of arts and culture within the city. I would like to see funding to continue to keep pace with increasing costs, and for staffing levels and the current quality of the exhibition programme at the Art Gallery maintained - as well as the excellent education programme the Gallery offers.

2037 - Beverley Nelson

[Fees & Charges > Car Parking (Parks)]

Charging for the Art Gallery is good.

206 - Shane Morrow

Libraries and the arts are fundamentally important

2235 - Cara Paterson (Creative New Zealand)

We also support the proposal for Christchurch Art Gallery Te Puna o Waiwhetū to 'employ a te reo Māori speaking educator/outreach coordinator to increase a sense of belonging within the Gallery context for tamariki, their whānau, and their kura community'. This capability and capacity will be valuable for ensuring arts and cultural infrastructure meets the needs of tangata whenua in the rohe.

240 - Bella Zilber

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right], [Strategic Direction > Climate Change], [Recreation, Sports & Events > Community Arts],

Yes but I'd like to see increased and going support for the arts and environmental issues

>>>

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?], [Strategic Direction > Climate Change], [Recreation, Sports & Events > Community Arts], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

I support the ongoing maintenance of projects which enhance the liveability of this city. Eg the environment, arts and cycleways

>>>

[Recreation, Sports & Events > Community Arts],

More funding for the arts please

>>>

[Recreation, Sports & Events > Community Arts]

Please continue to support the Arts Centre and other arts organizations such as the Christchurch Symphony Orchestra, Art Gallery etc.

2546 - Keith Power

Happy to pay to maintain >>> the arts in general.

3209 - Anouk Minnaar

[Recreation, Sports & Events > Pools (Capital)], [Libraries > Libraries (Capital)], [grants & Funding > Art Centre Funding]

The current services exist for the council's residents and removing them will disproportionately impact elderly, disabled and lower socioeconomic residents. We cannot cut back on services people rely on (swimming pools, libraries, art centre, art gallery etc).

3283 - Elizabeth Clarke

[Libraries > Libraries (operations)]

I want to see all Libraries and Art Galleries maintained and free of charge.

>>>

The exception is a fee can be charged for some visiting exhibitions.

>>>

Continue to fund the Art Centre, it is a critical part of our city and needs the annual contribution from CCC. I do NOT agree to the Council removing the annual payment. The Arts Centre has just spent over 200 million making their building safe and restored, a jewel in ChCh crown and the CCC has to continue to support it with the relatively small annual contribution to its' (The Arts Centre) operational costs.

357 - Charlotte Gray

I am glad to see that funding of the Arts sector is set to continue and applaud the Council's aspiration to increase funding and encourage further investment, especially with respect to the Christchurch Art Gallery Te Puna o Waiwhetū. The benefits of having a well functioning local Art Gallery cannot be easily monetised and are often underestimated.

3830 - Brenda Banning

I use the gallery

3949 - Fay Brorens

I am very pleased with our (no or low cost) >>> Art Gallery. Great work.

785 - Ariana Tikao

[Recreation, Sports& Events>Rec & Sport (Operations); Libraries>Libraries (Operations); Galleries & Museums>Museums (Operations); Grants & Funding>Arts Centre Funding; Recreation, Sports& Events>Community Arts; Community Facilities>Community Facilities (Operations)]

I'd love to see continued support for our recreational and community facilities, libraries, galleries and museums, as well as continued support for the Arts Centre Te Matatiki Toi Ora as a vital contributor to the cultural life of the city, as well as Toi Auaha and other organisations such as The Loons in Lyttelton.

840 - Kim Morton (Ōtautahi Creative Spaces)

Cultural facilities: We really value the experiences our artists have when we take them to visit cultural facilities in Christchurch including Christchurch Art Gallery, Christchurch City Libraries, Canterbury Museum, and The Arts Centre.

We emphasise the importance of Christchurch Art Gallery and Christchurch City Libraries organisations dedicating resources to under-served communities and demonstrating that they are pro-active in partnering with organisations like ours who help overcome threshold fear.

Christchurch Art Gallery strategy references diverse audiences, building stronger relationships and increasing community partnership, outreach and collaboration, reducing barriers to access and diversifying programming. We endorse these goals and would love to see opportunities for organisations like ours to be involved more. For example, Christchurch Art Gallery could support a 'galleries on prescription' scheme reaching people who experience ill health. We fully support Christchurch Art Gallery employing a te reo Māori speaking educator/outreach coordinator to increase a sense of belonging within the Gallery for Māori.

Other

14 - Luke Chandler

Charge an entry fee to the art gallery, $2-3

2289 - Leonie Jackson

[Libraries>Libraries (Operations)]; [Art Galleries & Museums>Museums (Operations)]; [Strategic Direction>Additional Savings & Efficiencies]

- Admission charge for the Art Gallery
- Admission charge for the Museum (when completed)
- Don't reduce libraries or library hours

2589 - Timothy Seay (Save the McDougall Campaign)

The real problem then for the efficient display and storage of the city's cultural assets is that its art collection and galleries are owned by the Christchurch City Council while the Museum and its collections are owned by a charitable trust run by the Canterbury Museum Trust Board. The problem with this arrangement for the Council is that, while together with the three regional Councils, they have control through the Museum Trust Board of how the Museum is run, they don't have ownership of the Museum. And this is despite them meeting 86% of their entire annual operating costs and so far having contributed $ 78M of its capital costs for the present redevelopment. It is this arrangement that has created two owners of the city's cultural assets. The problems for the Council from having control of the Museum but not ownership arise from not being able to freely move collection items between the city's different facilities and not being able to efficiently employ skilled staff across the different facilities. With separate ownership, when a collection item is moved on loan to another institution as part of a loan agreement, the borrowing institution has to pay the additional transit insurance costs. If Canterbury Museum borrowed 50 historical paintings from the Christchurch Art Gallery, a separate loan agreement would have to be drawn up and signed by each party. As the paintings are owned and deemed to be assets of the Christchurch City Council, Canterbury Museum would have to meet the additional cost of the insurance for the period of the loan which would probably be restricted to around 12 weeks. If the Museum was owned by the Council no loan agreement or additional insurance would be required. With all the city's cultural assets under Council ownership it would be possible to reduce staff costs by reducing the duplication of the roles of specialist staff. As the total staff compliment would be less than 200 only one Director would be required and management roles for positions such as finance, building services, public relations, promotion and fund raising could be shared across all facilities. Likewise, functions such as promotions, fundraising, conservation work on collection items and registration could be shared. And when contracting ancillary services, the same contractors could be employed for maintenance and cleaning.

2857 - Jo Blair

Fund more operational for the arts - events budgets, the Christchurch Art Gallery.

3023 - Carolyn Brown

I also think we do not keep having to purchase new art installations inside and out when we have art stored away, that has not been in the public eye since the quakes as it is.

3089 - Trevor Lord

[Libraries]

Increase libraries and art galleries to $250 million.

3235 - Thomas Caspari

Overall, yes. I have been living in this city for 15 years now and helped with the rebuild. It's great to see a vibrant and diverse Christchurch! The city centre is so much more alive than before the quakes. To ensure it stays like that I would review the proposed spending for the Arts (Art Gallery/Museums) >>> Both appear rather low.

3248 - Dave Edwards

[Libraries>Libraries (Operations)]; [Art Galleries & Museums>Museums (Operational)]; [Fees and Charges>Car Parking Fees (on-street & off-street)]

So you're planning to reduce the use of parking and keep people away from key areas by raising prices? How about fees on libraries, art galleries and museums that really cost huge amounts for a small percentage of actual ratepayers and let people free into business areas that really generates wealth.

3262 - Charlote Verity-McCormick

[Spending > Te Kaha]

[Rates > Residential Rates]

Yes - we should generally be maintaining what we have (except Te Kaha). Perhaps tighten budgets on some things...e.g. does the gallery need to be open every day of the week?

3310 - James Lunday

Spend more on arts

340 - David Wilkinson

[Strategic Direction > Additional Savings & Efficiencies]

art gallery - $13m a year. Need to charge bigger entry fee.

3496 - Bindy Barclay

Supporting heritage , arts , galleries and museums has been haphazard. CCC ought to consolidate its commitment to these by: Reinstating tge Robert McDougall Gallery as an Art Gallery for 2D works held in the City's Jameison Collection

357 - Charlotte Gray

Art Gallery supporters would love to see the benefits that flow from an international programme. Australian cities often support these shows.

3934 - Greta Simpson

[Grants & Funding > Arts Centre], [Art Galleries & Museums > Museums (Operational)]

I think there should be more funding for the arts (gallery and museum, as well as Arts Centre).

Not Stated

154 - Chrysler Wiparata-Hammond

Keep the Christchurch Art gallery free

2270 - Maria and Natalie Couper

[Parks > Parks Maintenance, Grants and Funding > Orana Park Funding]

Also for people coming to visit Christchurch there must dos are activities like the tram, Gondala ,Arts Centre, Orana Park and our amazing parks and spaces like the Port Hills. These areas need to be cherished and saved for everyone.

2589 - Timothy Seay (Save the McDougall Campaign)

The present display of art in Christchurch demonstrates how completely inadequate space at the Christchurch Art Gallery is to give the visiting public a balanced perspective of the city's art collections and present plans for their future when the Museum redevelopment is completed will not provide for the proper and efficient use of the wonderful facilities that will be available. The Christchurch Art Gallery is largely devoted to displaying extreme contemporary art. A proportion of contemporary art needs to be shown but it must be balanced with a measure of more traditional artwork. All the city's privately run galleries only show contemporary art and it is proposed the McLeans Mansion when completed will display art from the contemporary collections of James Wallace. The strong interest in contemporary art by a younger generation does not mean that other generations and art connoisseurs should be deprived of the opportunity to see more traditional artwork. The Robert McDougall Art Gallery presents a real opportunity to provide this. Acknowledged as being the best neo classical style gallery in the country, the McDougall, instead of becoming the future home for the city's historical art collection, as has happened to the old galleries in every other city in the world that has built a new art gallery, has instead been leased to Canterbury Museum for 50 years for their use. The problem with this is that the Museum does not have an art collection selected on the basis of its artistic merit and only has 50 oil paintings of a public art gallery standard. Much of its collection and frames is in need of conservation and are not in an exhibitable state so they will probably end up using it to display visiting exhibitions of contemporary art by local amateur artists which is what the Museum has displayed in its own dedicated gallery spaces ever since Anthony Wright, became its director in 1996. They are also likely to use it as a museum to display 3 dimensional artefacts. This will be disastrous as it was designed specifically as a 2 dimensional art gallery and is not suitable to be used as a museum to display 3 dimensional objects. With Canterbury Museum's redevelopment project now well underway, this is the time the Council should start considering how best to utilise the city's cultural facilities in the most appropriate and cost effective way when the project is completed. These facilities are Canterbury Museum, Christchurch Art Gallery, McDougall Art Gallery and the Akaroa Museum and their respective collections. In recent years works borrowed from the Museum's collections for collaborative exhibitions have been displayed at the Christchurch Art Gallery alongside works from the city's art collection. This has worked well because the Christchurch Art Gallery, being a contemporary gallery, has sufficient floor spaces to enable 3 dimensional items from the Museum collections to be displayed. It will also be important that works from the Christchurch Art Gallery can freely move to the McDougall now that it has been leased to the Museum. So, it will be important in future for the city's cultural collections to be able to be easily displayed in the different spaces.

3488 - Julia Page

Libraries, the Art Gallery, and The Arts Centre have an important role in the city and the quality of residents lives.

350 - Chris Hoopmann

Prioritise cultural heritage funding - museums, art centre, art gallery.

70 - Noel Marceau

[Libraries > Libraries (Operations)], [Art Galleries & Museums > Museums (Operations)], [Grants & Funding > Arts Centre Funding]

Libraries, public spaces such as the Arts Centre, the Art Gallery, and the Museum, should all be maintained.

Art Gallery (Capital)

General comments

26 submissions were received addressing the proposed capital expenditure on art galleries.

13 comments supported, and 2 comments opposed the proposed spending.

10 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 1 comment provided general feedback addressing the proposed spending.

Officer Response

Most submissions do not directly reference Capital expenditure. However, the focus for submitters is acknowledging the importance of Council's ongoing support for the Gallery, and arts, culture, and heritage.

Some submitters suggest the balance isn't quite right and are calling for increasing expenditure of the Gallery and arts and culture in general.

Expenditure on public art was question by a submitter and one suggested a user-pays approach.

A submitter also suggested that money and storage could be saved if the Robert McDougall Art Gallery is be used for displaying historical works form the Gallery's collection as a way of reducing demands on storage at the Gallery.

The Art Gallery and Canterbury Museum have excellent working relationships and have co-developed exhibitions before. There is a good plan in place to work closely together to ensure historical works from the Gallery collection will be included in exhibitions the Robert McDougall Gallery. However, this will provide limited storage improvements for the Gallery.

Support

1251 - Amy Tuffnell

I also believe there should be funding for the Arts such as the Art Gallery as this is also very valuable for both tourism and providing a space to view and experience art spaces which is important for mental health and wellbeing

1258 - John Chrisstoffels

[Libraries > Library (Capital)], [Parks > Parks Spending General]

alongside other important creative and cultural utilities such as libraries, art galleries and parks, that ensure the wellbeing and mental health of our city.

>>>

Please keep libraries and art galleries as they are a hub for education, mental wellbeing, safety and identity for the local communities across the city.

1339 - Carol Marie Ferrier

[Parks > Parks Spending (General)], [Grants & Funding > Arts Centre]

More spend supporting Hagley park, Arts Centre, Botanic Gardens, Art Gallery, everything in the Tram circle

2005 - Barbara Stewart

COUNCIL TO GIVE LONG TERM SUPPORT TO ARTS CENTRE
RECOGNISING THAT ALONGSIDE ART GALLERY AND MUSEUM
THE ART CENTRE IS CENTRAL TO THE BEATING
PEOPLE'S HEART AND SOUL OF OUR CITY.

2421 - Helen Foley

[Libraries > Libraries (Capital)], [Spending > Te Kaha]

I think so. It is important the council continues to ensure that we have access to our cultural facilities such as libraries and galleries.

2678 - Fiona McKenzie

please keep >>> galleries >>> and other places of self expression open. My guys have few enough options in life.

2699 - Graham Beswick

I think keeping funding to the >>> Art Gallery etc are essential items of Heritage that have to be maintained for future generations

3169 - Barbara Brown

[Rates > Residential Rates], [Transport > Roads (Capital)], [Three Waters > Three Waters (Operational)], [Parks > Spending], [Parks > Heritage (Capital)], [Parks > Foreshore], [Other/Special Interest Topics > Social Housing], [Art Galleries & Museums > Museums (Capital)], [Grants & Funding > Art Centre Funding], [Other/Special Interest Topics > Cathedral]

Areas I would like to see greater allocations made to are: Parks, Heritage and Coastal Environment; Art Gallery and Museums; Housing and Libraries. Specifically I would like to see the Arts Centre being funded. I would like to see our parks and gardens having bigger budgets, specifically the Botanic Gardens. Compared to botanic gardens in other cities ours are shabby.

>>>

[Transport > Roads (Operational)], [Three Waters > Three Waters (Operational)], [Parks > Spending], [Parks > Heritage (Capital)], [Parks > Foreshore], [Other/Special Interest Topics > Social Housing], [Art Galleries & Museums > Museums (Capital)], [Grants & Funding > Art Centre Funding]

As in my introductory statement, I think that we need to review operational spend on Transport and Three Waters, and prioritise Parks, Heritage and Coastal Environment; Art Galleries and Museums; Libraries and Housing. I think we should have a larger social housing portfolio.

3334 - Shona McDowell

Please support >>> the art gallery

3545 - Sarah Eve Tunstall

[Art Galleries & Museums > Museums (Capital)]

I feel that investment in housing should be prioritised as well as investing in art galleries and museums.

>>>

I want the council to support The Arts Centre. I am currently a student at Whitecliffe College, studying Create Arts Therapy. Since starting the course, every seminar that I have attended, held at The Arts Centre has been incredible. I have long been a visitor to The Arts Centre and enjoyed the many community-based activities it has provided. From artisan cafes to local art vendors, it has been a hub for locals and tourists for many years. Not only is this building beautiful but it holds an internal value for many people who reap the benefit of creating there. I can safely say, I know I will not be the only one who's heart will be broken to see the funding to The Arts Centre be cut in favour for commercial gains.

357 - Charlotte Gray

I am glad to see that funding of the Arts sector is set to continue and applaud the Council's aspiration to increase funding and encourage further investment, especially with respect to the Christchurch Art Gallery Te Puna o Waiwhetū. The benefits of having a well functioning local Art Gallery cannot be easily monetised and are often underestimated.

510 - Eleanor Sim

[Grants & Funding > Arts Centre]

I would like the addition of the Places such as the Art Centre and Art Gallery added to this list. This imperative - particularly having seen the large numbers coming through such places recently when cruise ships are in port. In other cities in the world, these are the things Tourists visit. I suppose, if we have to pay admission fees for Museum and art gallery we have to.

529 - Don Reekie (Parkstone Musical Appreciation Group)

[Grants & Funding>Arts Centre Funding]

Do not diminish or cut funding to the Art Gallery >>>They are life blood services for the residents of our city.

Oppose

3311 - Michael McEntee

Target key services only, we have a fantastic art gallery already yet you propose spending millions on another in the gardens.

3976 - Elizabeth Pugh

Comments: $136,493,000 Christchurch Art Gallery - WHY!! Its a new building - maybe several million of this could go to the $140,701,000 Community Housing - Making sure these homes are dry, warm and upto "Healthy Homes Standards" ASAP. Surely it is better to protect the "living" rather than buying more storage protection for the arts. Not quite so much on "Acquisitions" - how about we see more of the ones in storage!!

Other

1517 - Felix Harrison

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Social Housing]

it would be good to see more spent on the art gallery and housing

1589 - Barry Miller

[Art Galleries & Museums > Museums (Capital)]

Galleries and museums should be more self funding.

2589 - Timothy Seay (Save the McDougall Campaign)

And the same is true for their storage. The Christchurch Art Gallery was only built to half the size required and as a result has had a critical storage problem for years. It has had to overcome this by turning existing spaces used for other purposes into storage space. It can't do this any longer and I note in the Capital Expenditure Plan the Council has allowed for the expenditure of $8M in 2028/29 for additional storage for the gallery - presumably an outside storage facility. With the Museum building a huge new storage facility under the entire land area of the McDougall and also a lot of its own buildings, this expenditure would not be necessary if the city's cultural facilities and collections were under the same ownership. The obvious solution to the Christchurch Art Gallery's storage problem would then be to return the city's historical collection to the McDougall for storage and display which would enable the display of the city's historical and contemporary collections to be separated for the benefit of the viewing public.

3083 - Peter Joyce

[Grants & Funding>Arts Centre Funding]; [Other/Special Interest Topics>Creating a Climate Fund]; [Strategic Direction>Have we got the balance right?]

Not quite; insufficient support for the environment and for the 'arts' - ChCh Art Gallery & ChCh Arts Centre.

3772 - Sue McFarlane

Art Gallery

>>>

Could the art gallery charge entry for those visiting from outside the city, similarly the museum once completed?

3777 - anne abadie

Art gallery and museums are as important as libraries for me, they should get the same amount

400 - Olivia Dowell

I think in some ways, I do think $23m Art Gallery/Museums (0.36%) over 10 years is not enough.

670 - Sue Orpwood

I think in these economic times council should not be buying public artworks.

749 - Sandra Pearson

Reduce funding on Art Gallery as wealthy artists can contribute to their own funding of their works through the sale of their art works and sponsorship and own fundraising but continue to fund our great heritage Arts Centre which can be arts hub for all creative arts like dance, theatre, music, events, etc.

846 - Sarah Anderson

Again, I believe increased funding to support the Art Galleries and other arts related services should be included in the longterm plan.

Not Stated

539 - Regina Fisher van der Veen

[Libraries>Libraries (Capital); Art Galleries & Museums>Museums (Capital)]

Libraries are important but also every other aspect of the glam sector, including arts centres.

[Coder Note: GLAM = galleries, libraries, archives, and museums]

Museums (Operational)

General comments

18 submissions were received addressing operational spending on museums.

9 comments supported, and 1 comment opposed operational spending.

5 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 3 comments provided general feedback.

Officer Response

Submissions in general are very positive to the LTP plan expenditure for Museums.

The importance of social and cultural spaces for communities is also noted by submitters.

Strong acknowledgement of the Council continuing to offer the current LoS for Akaroa Museum is noted.

Submitters also call for more support of the museums and (Banks Peninsula heritage/museums in general) due to changes in the school's history curriculum which has resulted in increased school visits to Akaroa's museums and heritage areas.

One submitter suggests entry changes to Canterbury Museum (once reopened).

The economic benefits Akaroa Museum brings to its community was also noted. The importance of the link between Akaroa Museum and Ōnuku was also noted.

The important role that Akaroa Museum plays within its community is well understood by Council. The museum not only is an important community resource, but also an important tourist attractor for the township.

Support

1436 - Victoria Andrews

I support maintaining and enhancing the level of service for the Akaroa Museum, Service Centre, School and Community Library.

>>>

Maintaining adequate operational funding for Akaroa Museum through the Long Term Plan process is essential. The Museum is a key council facility and an important community heritage resource. It is important that Akaroa Museum maintains the levels of service as in previous years. The Akaroa Museum contributes to supporting the town's economy which is largely based on tourism which now includes returning international visitors.

The Museum oversees three important Heritage New Zealand listed historic buildings and it plays a vital role in the Council's delivery of its Our Heritage, Our Taonga 2019-2029 strategy through its exhibition policy and educational programme.

The Akaroa Museum has a close association with Ōnuku Rūnanga and it presented an important exhibition in 2010, Nga Roimata o Takapūneke: Tears of Takapūneke. The exhibition received Christchurch Heritage Awards for Heritage Education and Interpretation and the Museum will soon open He Ara Roimata ki te Anamata – Takapūneke, Our Journey, Our Survivance working in close association with Ōnuku Rūnanga.

It is important to utilise the Museum's resources and staff expertise to the fullest extent as a vital link to Ōnuku Rūnanga and the wider community.

It is vital that Christchurch City Council continues to recognise the Museum's significant contribution to the town's economy as well as to the wellbeing of ratepayers, visiting school groups and tourists. The Museum is the key institution for understanding the history of the area, which encompasses themes of national importance, including the significance of Takapūneke and the Britomart Memorial.

Akaroa Museum has underpinned the culture, heritage and wellbeing of Akaroa and the surrounding area since it was founded in 1964. Since the mid-1980s it has been in the ownership and under the management of the local authority (Akaroa County Council, then Banks Peninsula District Council, now Christchurch City Council), and has been open to the public seven days a week since its inception. It is a professional institution serving members of the community and the wider Canterbury region, as well as attracting and then informing national and international visitors about the history of Akaroa and the harbour. Appointments can also be made by researchers to view the collection which requires professional care and oversight while also noting there has been no loss or damage to items held by the museum.

The role of the Museum is to collect, curate and display objects of significance to Banks Peninsula, and to care for these objects in perpetuity. The collection, valued at more than $1.5 million, is owned by, and is the responsibility of, Christchurch City Council. Special exhibitions with high quality interpretation occur throughout the year. Gallery talks and educational lectures are provided to visiting schools, and researchers utilise the Museum as a vital resource.

The Museum is critical to the wellbeing of the community, which includes the Outer Bays. Akaroa

Museum is viewed as a key facility by residents of Christchurch as well, and it provides face to face interactions for ratepayers, students and visitors.

1674 - Susan Galbraith

[Rates > Residential Rates], [Grants & Funding > Arts Centre Funding], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

You are happy to waste money on red zone bridges and destroying Harewood road with cycle lanes plus contesting it with only one lane each side. Stop this wasteful spending. 13% hike for unnecessary extras when you should instead Take care of iconic heritage buildings like the arts centre and museum. I am not against an increase in my rates but I am against it being that much on crap ideology.

2269 - Lyn Leslie (Te Pātaka o Rākaihautū Banks Peninsula Community Board)

The Board supports maintaining and continued support of the historical aspects of Te Pātaka o Rākaihautū Banks Peninsula including but not limited to: Takapūneke /Akaroa/Okains and Lyttleton Museums. With the change of the school syllabus Te Pātaka o Rākaihautū Banks Peninsula has seen an increase in schools using Te Pātaka o Rākaihautū Banks Peninsula resources to tell the early history of New Zealand.

2316 - Samina Beale

cannot wait for your museum to reopen. I did enjoy the pop up museum. I spent a long time in The Teece museum and Rutherford's Den.

2558 - Mike Norris (Akaroa Civic Trust)

Support continued funding for Akaroa Service Centre, Akaroa Library and Akaroa Museum (Activities and Services - Statement of Service Provision)

The draft LTP provides for the maintenance of operational funding for these three essential community facilities at current levels – we support this. All three services cost relatively little to operate.

The library and museum are core cultural facilities which enhance the life and wellbeing of the residents of Akaroa and Banks Peninsula. Library and Museum both provide opportunities for citizens to become involved with the provision of services and are hubs for connection within the community. The Museum attracts about 25,000 visitors a year so is a valuable part of the local visitor experience, contributing to the economic well-being of the community.

The Akaroa Service Centre is a critical service for a community that is, by any definition, small and isolated. For citizens/customers the value of face to face contact with council staff cannot be overestimated. Although the Service Centre is open only limited hours this walk in service must be maintained.

[Community Facilities > Service Centres (Operational)] [Libraries > Libraries (Operations)]

3021 - Viane Makalio

>>> [Libraries > Libraries (Operations)] consideration around a children's museum i believe would be awesome.

3686 - Suzanne Peddie

The Teece Museum of antiquities is a gem and visiting the restaurant or cafes in the heritage surroundings is always pleasurable. is always pleasant in the attractive heritage surroundings of the Arts Centre.

785 - Ariana Tikao

[Recreation, Sports& Events>Rec & Sport (Operations); Libraries>Libraries (Operations); Art Galleries & Museums>Art Gallery (Operations); Grants & Funding>Arts Centre Funding; Recreation, Sports& Events>Community Arts; Community Facilities>Community Facilities (Operations)]

I'd love to see continued support for our recreational and community facilities, libraries, galleries and museums, as well as continued support for the Arts Centre Te Matatiki Toi Ora as a vital contributor to the cultural life of the city, as well as Toi Auaha and other organisations such as The Loons in Lyttelton.

801 - David Miller

[Full attachment available]

We were relieved and very appreciative that the Council's Draft Long Term Plan for 2024-34 is not signalling any cuts to funding or service levels for the Akaroa Museum. We applaud this circumstance.

Akaroa Museum provides heritage and cultural services to its local community and Christchurch residents for under $700,000 per anum. It provides very good value for ratepayers.

>>>

Thank you again for supporting the current operational funding and service levels of Akaroa Museum, and for reading our submission.

Oppose

3934 - Greta Simpson

[Grants & Funding > Arts Centre], [Art Galleries & Museums > Art Gallery (Operations)]

I think there should be more funding for the arts (gallery and museum, as well as Arts Centre).

Other

1259 - Paula Darrell

[Spending > Capital Program (General)]

When the museum opens it should cost out of chch visitors. Nz visitors should be say one price $5 or $10 per group. But out of nz visitors should pay at least $20 per family or $5 per person at a minimum. Other museum do it so why shouldn't chch.

2289 - Leonie Jackson

[Libraries>Libraries (Operations)]; [Art Galleries & Museums>Art Gallery (Operations)]; [Strategic Direction>Additional Savings & Efficiencies]

- Admission charge for the Art Gallery
- Admission charge for the Museum (when completed)
- Don't reduce libraries or library hours

3248 - Dave Edwards

[Libraries>Libraries (Operations)]; [Art Galleries & Museums>Art Gallery (Operational)]; [Fees and Charges>Car Parking Fees (on-street & off-street)]

So you're planning to reduce the use of parking and keep people away from key area's by raising prices? How about fees on libraries, art galleries and museums that really cost huge amounts for a small percentages of actual ratepayers and let people free into business areas that really generates wealth.

350 - Chris Hoopmann

Prioritise cultural heritage funding - museums, art centre, art gallery.

687 - Anna Laurenson

DEFINITELY charge $3-5 for the museum when it reopens. Most visitors are foreign tourists why should ratepayers fund that?

Not Stated

2590 - Graeme Curry (The Friends of the Akaroa Museum)

This submission is made on behalf of the Friends of the Akaroa Museum (FOAM) in support of continued long-term funding and increases in funding as required. The request is to ensure the Museum is able to continue to provide the current level of service and, importantly, quality of service for the many local, national and international visitors.

An example of an increase in funding need is the new school history curriculum which is seeing increased requests to visit the Museum for educational purposes to better understand our local and national history. These requests come from schools, university students and adult groups – a wide variety of our population. There is no more fitting place to tell our local and national stories than on the land where these events took place.

In the case of Akaroa and Banks Peninsula there is the story of the mana whenua who occupied these lands – Waitaha, Ngati Mamoe and Ngai Tahu. In the 1800's there are the stories of Te Rauparaha's raids on the local mana whenua creating devastation and depopulation.

Shortly after these raids other events that have affected our nation occurred:

- The signing of the Treaty of Waitangi between the British Crown and two Maori chiefs of the Akaroa area 30 May 1840.

- The arrival of the French immigrant ship the Comte de Paris with her 63 French and German settlers August 1840 – there is no other area in Aotearoa /New Zealand where the French Government established a formal settlement.

This led to the:

- o 1st formal European settlement in the South Island
- o The 1st Court sitting by the British Government in the South Island and subsequent erection of the British flag.
- o The involvement of the French navy in laying out the roads and governing the town jointly with the British – a truly unique situation.
- o The development of a large farm by the French Navy to feed the community.
- o The 1st consecrated burial ground in the South Island.
- o The 1st hospital and school in the South Island.

These are just a smattering of the tales to be told of Banks Peninsula. The following years included deforestation, export of cocksfoot seed and dairy products and a burgeoning industry in several fields.

We ask that the Council carefully consider how important it is to ensure this rich and plentiful history is heard when considering your budgets. We understand that it is a tight budget however would also like to stress that in years gone by our general population were not able to access these stories – we can now do this through the Akaroa Museum. They are extremely important stories to create increased understanding of our local and national identity and subsequent welfare of our people.

To continue to tell these stories regular changing exhibitions, public access to collections, keeping the doors open and looking after the large complex of Museum buildings (including three heritage buildings) is required.

The valuable collection, which grows slowly in line with our collection policy, is necessarily cared for by professional staff. There can be no short cuts when caring for these precious taonga.

Therefore the Council needs to continue to provide sufficient operational, and capital, funding for Akaroa Museum to deliver it's agreed levels of service.

2610 - Keith Harris (Akaroa District Promotions (ADP))

Libraries and Museums are critical to the social fibre of all communities In Akaroa, their role is critical in protecting the heritage and taonga of the Peninsula for the nation.

70 - Noel Marceau

[Libraries > Libraries (Operations)], [Art Galleries & Museums > Art Gallery (Operations)], [Grants & Funding > Arts Centre Funding]

Libraries, public spaces such as the Arts Centre, the Art Gallery, and the Museum, should all be maintained.

Museums (Capital)

General Comments

16 submissions were received addressing the proposed capital expenditure on museums.

7 comments supported, and 1 comment opposed the proposed spending.

6 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 2 comments provided general feedback addressing the proposal.

Officer Response

Several of the submissions in this section don't specific reference Capital expenditure for Museums but do express their belief in the importance of Museums, Galleries and Libraries in general, and Council's ongoing support.

Submitters also commented on the shoestring budget that the museum runs on.

The LTP capital programme for Museums is noted and supported, with a call for more funding for Museums and heritage in general.

Akaroa Museums heritage buildings are noted as important and requiring continuing maintenance and support.

The last AP saw an increase in capital funding to Akaroa Museum to assist with maintenance of the museums building. Which is proposed to be continued in the LTP. It is anticipated that a more detailed conservation plan will need be carried out in due course.

Support

2005 - Barbara Stewart

COUNCIL TO GIVE LONG TERM SUPPORT TO ARTS CENTRE
RECOGNISING THAT ALONGSIDE ART GALLERY AND MUSEUM
THE ART CENTRE IS CENTRAL TO THE BEATING
PEOPLE'S HEART AND SOUL OF OUR CITY.

2699 - Graham Beswick

I think keeping funding to the >>> Museum >>> are essential items of Heritage that have to be maintained for future generations

2949 - Graeme John Marriott

You should be prioritising >>> the Museum

3169 - Barbara Brown

[Rates > Residential Rates], [Transport > Roads (Capital)], [Three Waters > Three Waters (Operational)], [Parks > Spending], [Parks > Heritage (Capital)], [Parks > Foreshore], [Art Galleries & Museums > Art Galleries (Capital)], [Other/Special Interest Topics > Social Housing], [Grants & Funding > Art Centre Funding], [Other/Special Interest Topics > Cathedral]

Areas I would like to see greater allocations made to are: Parks, Heritage and Coastal Environment; Art Gallery and Museums; Housing and Libraries. Specifically I would like to see the Arts Centre being funded. I would like to see our parks and gardens having bigger budgets, specifically the Botanic Gardens. Compared to botanic gardens in other cities ours are shabby.

>>>

[Transport > Roads (Operational)], [Three Waters > Three Waters (Operational)], [Parks > Spending], [Parks > Heritage (Capital)], [Parks > Foreshore], [Art Galleries & Museums > Art Galleries (Capital)], [Other/Special Interest Topics > Social Housing], [Grants & Funding > Art Centre Funding]

As in my introductory statement, I think that we need to review operational spend on Transport and Three Waters, and prioritise Parks, Heritage and Coastal Environment; Art Galleries and Museums; Libraries and Housing. I think we should have a larger social housing portfolio.

3545 - Sarah Eve Tunstall

[Art Galleries & Museums > Art Galleries (Capital)]

I feel that investment in housing should be prioritised as well as investing in art galleries and museums.

3793 - Mark Gerrard (Historic Places Canterbury)

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Vertical Capital], [Parks > Heritage (Capital)]

HPC supports the proposed expenditure of the following. (Amounts x $000)

45164- Robert McDougall Gallery Strengthening $5,180 (2024/25) $1,478 (2026/27) 65641- Robert McDougall Gallery - Base Isolation $3,933 (2024/25) $3,934 (2026/27) HPC supports the proposed expenditure. The Robert McDougall has been unavailable to the Christchurch Residents for too many years.

3368- Mona Vale Bathhouse $626 (2024/25)

3373- Old Municipal Chambers $25 (2024/25)

61821 Cuninghame House Building Renewals (Heritage) $3,544 (2024/25) $2,399 (2025/2026) $2069 (2026/27)

65405 Yew Cottage Conservation Works $50 (2024/25)

65406 Sign of the Takahe Window Renewals (Heritage Building) $124 (2024/25)

65407 Sign of the Kiwi and Lyttelton Signal Box (Heritage Building) $111 (2024/25)

"Canterbury Museum Redevelopment" (Consecutive years $000) $9,031 $8,980 $9,006 HPC supports this.

61691 Heritage Buildings Reactive Renewals

61692 Programme - Heritage Buildings Planned Renewals

73982 Heritage Buildings Component Renewal Work HPC support this.

"Public Artworks Monuments and Artifact" Many of these are Heritage Objects and HPC supports expenditure set aside for their upkeep. HPC supports this and requests any work should be of international best practice.

HPC supports the following: "Group of Activities Activity" Canterbury & Akaroa Museums" "Replace Existing Assets" (Consecutive years $000) $73 $63 $92 $73 $78 $78 $79 $80 $82 $84.

"Parks Heritage Management"(Consecutive years $000) "Improve the Level of Service" $9,112 $5,412, "Replace Existing Assets" $5,695,$7,400,$7,216 $11,111 $575 $581 $592 $1,257 $1,029 $598

"Canterbury & Akaroa Museums" "Replacing existing assets." HPC supports the proposed capital expenditure capital expenditure.

[Full Attachment Available]

672 - Edwin Du Plessis

[Art Galleries & Museums > Art Gallery (Capital)]

Do not underestimate the value that art and museums provide to the city. If you visit any international city today you are more likely to visit an art gallery or museum than care about the infrastructure on the fringes of that city.

Oppose

3969 - H Bloomer-Law

The Akaroa Museum complex is running on a shoestring budget currently and is struggling to complete maintenance work on its heritage buildings, they should be allowed more funding to take care of this. In the same area, the Okains Bay Museum is home to a huge number of taonga and is an iconic piece of Banks Peninsula history. I would like to see the council invest in steering more visitors in their direction and provide assistance for managed retreat work for the museum as the current site is at significant flooding risk.

Other

1589 - Barry Miller

[Art Galleries & Museums > Art Galleries (Capital)]

Galleries and museums should be more self funding.

1649 - Tony Smith

[Libraries > Libraries (Capital)]

Libraries and museums should be user pays not rate payer funded

1950 - Shanae Kirk

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?], [Parks > Biodiversity & Ecological Restoration], [Parks > Sports Grounds & Facilities]

No. Allocating just $23 million to museums and art galleries over the next 10 years, compared to $100 million to sports fields is not an adequate balance in money allocation to our cultural environment. In terms of our natural environment, allocating just $2 million to biodiversity is extremely unbalanced, as conservation of our native species is vital. To work towards our 'Predator Free by 2050' goal, we need to allocate more time and monetary resources.

2715 - L.F. Blake

What support is the CCC offering the Museum in its refurbishment?

3777 - anne abadie

Art gallery and museums are as important as libraries for me, they should get the same amount

400 - Olivia Dowell

I think in some ways, I do think $23m Art Gallery/Museums (0.36%) over 10 years is not enough.

Not Stated

2590 - Graeme Curry (The Friends of the Akaroa Museum)

This submission is made on behalf of the Friends of the Akaroa Museum (FOAM) in support of continued long-term funding and increases in funding as required. The request is to ensure the Museum is able to continue to provide the current level of service and, importantly, quality of service for the many local, national and international visitors.

An example of an increase in funding need is the new school history curriculum which is seeing increased requests to visit the Museum for educational purposes to better understand our local and national history. These requests come from schools, university students and adult groups – a wide variety of our population. There is no more fitting place to tell our local and national stories than on the land where these events took place.

In the case of Akaroa and Banks Peninsula there is the story of the mana whenua who occupied these lands – Waitaha, Ngati Mamoe and Ngai Tahu. In the 1800's there are the stories of Te Rauparaha's raids on the local mana whenua creating devastation and depopulation.

Shortly after these raids other events that have affected our nation occurred:

- The signing of the Treaty of Waitangi between the British Crown and two Maori chiefs of the Akaroa area 30 May 1840.
- The arrival of the French immigrant ship the Comte de Paris with her 63 French and German settlers August 1840 – there is no other area in Aotearoa /New Zealand where the French Government established a formal settlement.

This led to the:

- o 1st formal European settlement in the South Island
- o The 1st Court sitting by the British Government in the South Island and subsequent erection of the British flag.
- o The involvement of the French navy in laying out the roads and governing the town jointly with the British – a truly unique situation.
- o The development of a large farm by the French Navy to feed the community.
- o The 1st consecrated burial ground in the South Island.
- o The 1st hospital and school in the South Island.

These are just a smattering of the tales to be told of Banks Peninsula. The following years included deforestation, export of cocksfoot seed and dairy products and a burgeoning industry in several fields.

We ask that the Council carefully consider how important it is to ensure this rich and plentiful history is heard when considering your budgets. We understand that it is a tight budget however would also like to stress that in years gone by our general population were not able to access these stories – we can now do this through the Akaroa Museum. They are extremely important stories to create increased understanding of our local and national identity and subsequent welfare of our people.

To continue to tell these stories regular changing exhibitions, public access to collections, keeping the doors open and looking after the large complex of Museum buildings (including three heritage buildings) is required.

The valuable collection, which grows slowly in line with our collection policy, is necessarily cared for by professional staff. There can be no short cuts when caring for these precious taonga.

Therefore the Council needs to continue to provide sufficient operational, and capital, funding for Akaroa Museum to deliver it's agreed levels of service.

539 - Regina Fisher van der Veen

[Libraries>Libraries (Capital); Art Galleries & Museums>Art Gallery(Capital)]

Libraries are important but also every other aspect of the glam sector, including arts centres.

[Coder Note: GLAM = galleries, libraries, archives, and museums]

Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration

City Planning

General comments

208 submissions were received addressing city planning.

11 comments supported, and 8 comments opposed.

127 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 76 comments provided general feedback.

Officer Response

Urban/spatial form of Christchurch

Respondents advocate for restricting outward urban sprawl in favour of densification and intensification to create a sustainable city. They argue that a compact city would streamline infrastructure delivery and reduce reliance on private vehicles, citing concerns about the inefficiency and costliness of servicing low-density areas. Restricting outward growth is also seen as crucial for preserving agricultural land and reducing carbon-intensive food imports.

Some express a desire for Christchurch to develop a distinct identity, while others call for a re-evaluation of administrative boundaries to better suit contemporary needs, suggesting a "super city" model.

While the work of the Greater Christchurch Partnership on the spatial plan and future development is generally supported, respondents remain keen that a green network is retained for the city. Some envision a "15-minute city" concept within Christchurch, reflecting wider debates about urban living, proximity, and perceived urban confinement.

The Greater Christchurch Spatial Plan, which was developed by the Greater Christchurch Partnership, formed of Christchurch City Council, Environment Canterbury, Mana whenua, Selwyn District Council, Waimakariri District Council, Te Whatu Ora – Waitaha, and Waka Kotahi NZ Transport Agency; was adopted by the council on 6 March 2024. The plan looks ahead 30 years and sets out the spatial form of development in Christchurch, within the Greater Christchurch area. This accounts for population growth and challenges in the future incl. climate change while providing direction for centres, housing land (including intensification, greenfield land and release of agricultural land), Kāinga Nohoanga, blue – green networks, green belt protection and mass rapid transit between settlements. The Christchurch district plan will implement the spatial plan, through measures including the Ōtautahi Christchurch Planning Programme (Christchurch specific) and local area plans (for areas within the city).

Residential intensification

Comments on intensification mirror broader discussions about Christchurch's urban form. Many highlight Medium Density Residential Zones (MDRS) as a means to increase housing availability and potentially lower rates, while also endorsing active travel within a more compact city. Concerns about intensification include worries about tree removal and environmental harm. There's a strong desire for family friendly spaces in new developments and preserving sunlight, with fears that new regulations may compromise this. Protecting public spaces like Hagley Park, Deans Bush, and Mona Vale is deemed essential to provide amenity for residents.

Intensification of development in and around the central city and commercial centres is addressed in proposed plan change 14, the hearings of which concluded on 24 April 2024. The implementation of Medium Density Residential Standards (MDRS) (enabling up to three homes, up to 12 metres high – depending on design) within the wider Christchurch and Lyttelton residential areas has also been considered.

The Independent Hearings Panel (IHP) will be providing its recommendation on PC14 at the end of July 2024 with the council being required to make a decision on those parts of PC14 required to implement policies 3 and 4 of the National Policy Statement for Urban Development (NPSUD) by September 2024. This includes decisions on provisions (policies and rules) for urban design, tree canopy and financial contributions.

The council is required to notify decisions on the IHP recommendations not subject to policies 3 and 4, including MDRS, by 12 September 2025.

Housing provision and affordability

The lack of affordable housing is seen as a key concern that needs to be addressed, with submitters seeking higher priority for housing issues. The council is seen as having a key role to balance the influence of the market and deliver housing that is well planned, healthy, affordable and energy efficient. A key theme expressed a number of times is the need to increase the provision of elderly accommodation, with the concern that the private market will not provide adequate security for those who need to rent. The effect of short term rental accommodation is a key concern of submitters, on the basis that the use of housing for accommodation is contributing the shortage of long term homes for city dwellers.

The city council adopted the Greater Christchurch Partnership Housing Action Plan on 6 March 2024. One of the actions in the plan is to explore the possibility of inclusionary zoning, where market developments contribute toward the provision of affordable housing. This would represent a relatively novel approach in New Zealand, but has been used overseas. Among the acknowledgements of gaps in the provision of housing in Greater Christchurch is that 40% of retirees will be renting in 25 years' time. One of the options to address this matter is through supply side initiatives such as those proposed under PC14.

Based on its 2021 strategy, the council sees its ongoing role as being focused on facilitating community (i.e. both public and affordable) housing rather than direct provision. It is acting, both alone and with partners, to identify and implement options to help address current and expected demands. The council also continues to work with Kāinga Ora where applicable.

The GCP Housing Action Plan includes an action to investigate expanding CCC's development contribution rebates for social housing to all councils in the partnership and investigate extending this to include social, affordable rental and progressive home ownership.

In relation to concerns about short term rental accommodation, plan change 4 addressed this matter, which was made operative on 11 November 2023. The Regulatory Compliance Unit at the council will be recruiting a staff member dedicated to ensuring compliance with the rules through both proactive and reactive measures.

Effects of Lyttelton Port influences overlay

Concerns are raised about the effect of the port influences overlay on sites along Norwich Quay and that the restrictions have negatively affected the environment, which historically included accommodation options. Some contend that Lyttelton's differential rating system is unfair as the associated overlay limits development opportunities. The removal of the overlay is advocated now that primary port operations have migrated eastward, emphasising the need to again allow for residential and commercial development at Norwich Quay and improved environmental outcomes.

The Port Noise Influence Overlay was inserted into the Banks Peninsula District Plan following the Environment Court's decision of circa 2006 and is based on modelling proceeding that decision. The intensification of residential activity is not contemplated within the Lyttelton Port Influences Overlay, nor is the introduction of other sensitive activities, such as healthcare facilities. This implements strategic direction in the District Plan and Canterbury Regional Policy Statement to recognise and provide for the safe, efficient and effective operation and development of infrastructure, including strategic infrastructure. Notwithstanding this, it is appropriate that options are considered for land within the overlay, which could include review of the provisions and overlay.

Noise (including in the Central City)

Some submitters oppose strict noise regulations, arguing they impede city centre events and activities. Concerns arise about the potential for noise issues to worsen with residential intensification due to reverse sensitivity. The cultural importance of live music is emphasised, with a desire to attract international acts. Submitters suggest emulating noise policies from Auckland and Dunedin. Calls are made for better noise insulation in the Central City and efforts to reduce traffic noise. Guidelines in parks near residential areas are recommended to minimise conflicts and disturbances.

In December 2023, the council released the results of the Korero Mai consultation on Central City noise. 3339 people, including 92 Central City businesses and 1068 Central City residents responded. Broadly the responses were supportive of enabling a vibrant night time economy. A district plan change is currently in the early stages of development, which will consider the best way to enable entertainment and hospitality activities while still encouraging residential development to achieve the broader council goal of 20,000 residents by 2030 i.e. maintaining an attractive residential environment at the same time.

Rules for road noise in the Central City will be reviewed as part of the same plan change. Rules regarding road noise outside the Central City have already been made operative under plan change 5E.

Implications of airport noise contours

A submission was received requesting the airport noise contours be revised to accommodate greenfield development around Avonhead, Harewood and Casebrook.

Considerations relating to the airport noise contours remain under discussion. Environment Canterbury will be consulting on a revised regional policy statement (RPS) later in 2024 which is expected to set direction on the appropriate contour and policy approach for noise sensitive activities within the contour, as supported by technical evidence. The council's district plan ultimately must give effect to the RPS. The potential for future greenfield development under existing noise contours will be informed by this process.

Heritage

Respondents generally express their support for more weight to be given to heritage matters. Concern is raised about the effect of intensification creating 'slums of the future', and seek the protection of Hagley Park, Deans Bush and Mona Vale.

The support for heritage matters is acknowledged. Plan change 13 relating to heritage will be recommenced when the IHP recommendations on plan change 14 have been received and considered.

Hagley Park, Deans Bush and Mona Vale play a key and valuable part in the city's character and are recognised in the District Plan as open spaces and for their values incl. heritage, cultural, and biodiversity, being part of a corridor along the Ōtākaro Avon.

Climate change adaptation, reducing carbon emissions and living within environmental capacity

Increased funding is requested to aid community organisations in adapting to climate change. Concerns arise about current housing designs, especially townhouses, and their inability to maintain comfortable temperatures year-round. The Historic Places Aotearoa New Zealand Trust (HPNZT) supports the Christchurch City Council's efforts to address climate change's impact on heritage assets. Submitters propose a mix of incentives and penalties to encourage climate change adaptation. Some criticise the LTP for failing to meet emissions targets and advocate for a shift towards a low-emission urban structure, including initiatives like higher density housing, urban planting, and promoting active transport. Support for residential solar power is sought, while others emphasise the importance of protecting waterways through pollution filters, supporting de-growth, and curbing unsustainable consumption.

The Greater Christchurch Spatial Plan (GCSP) considers holistically, and on an inter-generational basis, how communities adapt to climate change. There are some areas of Christchurch that are subject to significant risks from natural hazards and the effects of climate change. The GCSP ensures that future development is directed away from these areas, investment in infrastructure reduces exposure and the resilience of communities in these areas is increased by taking action.

Key ways this will happen include:

- Reducing transport emissions by supporting more people to live, work, shop, recreate and socialise within close proximity, and to use public transport when they do need to travel, by focusing growth through targeted intensification around centres and along public transport corridors.

- Focusing growth away from areas likely to be more exposed to natural hazards that will be exacerbated by climate change, such as flooding and coastal erosion, while acknowledging that strategic infrastructure may sometimes need to operate in these areas.
- Protecting and restoring the natural environment to support communities and ecosystems be more resilient to climate change and natural hazards. Such opportunities for this include promoting enhanced coastal and wetland reserves to reduce flood risk, establishing new green spaces to help absorb and treat rainwater, planting trees to shade and cool urban areas, and creating new or enhanced forested areas.

Environmental/planning regulations burdens

Some respondents seek the removal of zoning rules, arguing that these regulations stifle the free market and contribute to inflated land prices, ultimately hindering a generation from achieving home ownership. They express concerns about the impact of support for Significant Natural Areas (SNAs) and Priority Natural Areas (PNAs), fearing that it may lead to undue government intrusion on private property rights.

The Resource Management Act 1991 (RMA), which is implemented through national policy statements, regional policy statements, regional plans and the District Plan directs the council in regard to its responsibilities. In doing Council must ensure the sustainable management of natural and physical resources and in doing so, to manage the effects of subdivision, land use and development on the environment. Matters of national importance, which the council must recognise and provide for are listed at section 6; and other matters which the council must have regard to are listed at section 7. Central government has indicated that the RMA will be reformed throughout the life of this parliament.

Design and landscaping standards in new development

Concern is raised about a perceived lack of understanding in the development community regarding the concept of sustainability within urban development. The poor design of subdivisions and housing stock is noted, and examples such as the High Street School site in Dunedin are held as a good example. Some call for the city to cultivate a distinct identity. Submitters stress the importance of good design in urban planning, cautioning against solely developer-led approaches. Some submitters call for tighter controls on subdivisions including tree controls and landscape values. Concern has been raised about the standard of townhouse developments in terms of energy efficiency and thermal values.

Urban design advice is provided through the resource consent process, particularly at the pre-application stage, so anticipated outcomes and benefits are well understood. Design improvements provide evidence of success in working with developers to facilitate solutions that achieve design quality. Advice is supported by guidance and practice notes, with the development of further guidance a priority to support implementation of PC14 later in 2024. This is anticipated to include advice on medium and high-density residential development and subdivisions.

Climate change is one of the council's strategic priorities and is a key driver of the 2024-34 Long Term Plan. Regulatory and non-regulatory mechanisms to improve sustainability outcomes within new developments will need to be considered beyond the current plan changes if a step change is to be achieved. Implementation of existing district plan provisions, including those for landscaping and site coverage, will remain critical in the interim. Whilst the development of new subdivisions generally clear sites of established trees, new street trees are provided within these new communities although do take time to establish.

The Activity Plan for Planning and Consents identifies current and future work programmes, including local area planning and implementation of the Greater Christchurch Spatial Plan, which will provide further opportunity to achieve a more integrated approach to urban development and good design outcomes. Funding will need to be considered through a future Long-Term Plan or Annual Plan to support implementation.

Sustainable development practices

Some submitters suggest mandating non-toxic materials in subdivisions to reduce health hazards. Others advocate for housing designs tailored to occupants' needs, like preventing couples from occupying family-sized homes. Collaboration with Environment Canterbury is proposed to reduce soil disposal and plan for the use of sites like the Roberts Road shingle pit after operational activities cease.

It is not within the remit of the council to mandate which building materials are used in the local area – this will be covered by the Building Act. Environment Canterbury will be releasing a draft regional policy statement for consultation in June 2024, which will provide the opportunity for the council to address matters such as soil disposal, recognising that if it is not contaminated, and is not required to be removed as part of the holistic design of development then retention on site is likely to be a less carbon intensive solution and is less likely to result in runoff to waterways – a matter which is proposed to be addressed in the forthcoming plan change 17.

A submitter made a comment regarding the future of Roberts Road shingle pit. This will be subject to the landowner's intentions but will need to comply with any resource consent and District Plan rules.

Planning for natural hazards

The necessity of planning for natural hazards, including flooding and fire risk, has been emphasised. Coastal inundation poses a significant concern, prompting questions about permitting building activities near the coast, particularly in the east of the city. Suggestions for managed retreat at New Brighton with relocation compensation are proposed. Some criticise the Council's actions as overly cautious, questioning the likelihood of worst-case scenarios. Concerning fire risk, there's a call for the district plan to identify areas where development should be restricted or prohibited. Additionally, there's recognition that climate change could threaten the survival of heritage assets, especially those near the coast like archaeological remains.

The council is currently preparing plan change 12 which will seek to manage the risks of coastal hazards, addressing impacts from sea level rise and coastal inundation. In addition to this, the Coastal Hazards Adaptation Planning team is actively consulting with communities vulnerable to coastal impacts about pathway planning for potential future climate change scenarios. Plan change 17, which will be notified in the second half of the year will address any necessary changes to flood management policies inland, and propose extensions to flood management areas identified by modelling.

More generally the management of significant risks from natural hazards is listed as a matter of national importance in section 6 of the Resource Management Act 1991, and individual developers must comply with hazard notices issued under the Building Act 2004. Policy direction for managing fire risk are being considered as part of the RPS review and may give rise to changes in the future to the District Plan.

Infrastructure capacity/maintenance

Targeted development strategies are urged to curb urban sprawl and sustain city liveability, prioritising walkable neighbourhoods. Lagging infrastructure, notably in Kennedys Bush and Halswell, prompts calls to pause development until infrastructure matches population growth. Submissions seek an emphasis on waste management and communal spaces over transportation infrastructure, and advocating for low-density developments to pay their fair share for services rather than relying on subsidies.

Concerns also arise about the increasing number of mobile phone towers, citing aesthetic and potential health issues.

The Greater Christchurch Spatial Plan emphasises sustainable transport choices, directing housing intensification to in and around centres and along public transport corridors. It calls for quality neighbourhood development and infrastructure. As part of its preparation, the long term costs of infrastructure delivery and maintenance were a consideration.

Proposed plan change 14 allows for higher densities in certain areas which are accessible to frequent public transport corridors and can be serviced by infrastructure. Areas with infrastructure constraints that cannot be addressed are not zoned for higher density development. Activity management plans for the council's infrastructure services consider city growth when setting their long term strategies. Waste management – the council is committed to continuously improving its waste management practices and prepares a waste minimisation and action plan every six years, responding to current challenges and statutory obligations.

Communal spaces – the council acknowledges the importance of open spaces and provides and maintains a network of parks and foreshore to cater for this need. In terms of how this balances out with road delivery and spending, new development needs to be served by relevant infrastructure services. In review of the LTP and development it's Development Contributions Policy, Council takes into account the estimated cost of servicing properties.

Telecommunications and mobile phone towers – the National Environmental Standards for Telecommunication Facilities Regulation 2016 (NESTF) provides national consistency in the rules surrounding the deployment of telecommunications infrastructure across New Zealand while ensuring the effects on the environment are minimised and managed appropriately. Council is required to implement and comply with the NESTF.

Provision of social infrastructure

Some support a high school in Halswell, but concerns about lagging infrastructure in areas like Kennedys Bush and Halswell call for a halt in development until it aligns with population growth. There are requests to manage intensification by budgeting for necessary facilities to support thriving communities. Submitters also advocate for developing the Salisbury Street supermarket site to bolster growth in the northern city. Support for the Arts Centre is also expressed.

The need for social infrastructure and amenities to support neighbourhoods, i.e. placemaking, is a key consideration which feeds down from the Greater Christchurch Spatial Plan, through to the Ōtautahi Christchurch Planning Programme (programme in development) and at the local level in local area plans. The demand for facilities such as schools, healthcare, community spaces, among other infrastructure are considered in planning for growing communities and are identified through community board, annual plan, long term plan (such as deciding where to allocate funding) and resource planning processes (such as plan changes to enable and facilitate development). The site at Salisbury Street is enabled for a retail food store, but the delivery or otherwise of a supermarket at this location does not necessarily promote or hinder further residential intensification in the area, in part due to its close proximity to other services provided in the Central City, in addition to retail.

Access to transport/balance of modes

Submitters advocate for prioritising active transport in a denser city, stressing smaller, walkable town centres and interconnected cycleways to improve connectivity. They argue for preserving rail corridors and promoting mixed-income housing to combat suburban sprawl, supporting Mass Rapid Transit (MRT) systems. Submitters express that addressing inequalities involves mixed-income housing and targeted transportation and green space improvements, backed by community partnerships. There's a collective vision for Christchurch to become a leading green city, similar to those in Denmark, focusing on reducing transport emissions through measures like bike lanes and light rail.

Suggestions include maintaining school cycle training and but also maintaining car accessibility for retailers. Ensuring adequate off-street parking in new developments is urged, while still providing for essential services.

The focus in some submissions is on reducing transport emissions by building a denser city and promoting alternative modes of transportation away from cars.

Work done to date by both council, regional and national agencies suggests that a future transport system consistent with our climate emissions targets will feature both zero-emission vehicles and a substantially reduced use of cars.

Together with its Greater Christchurch Partners, the council is progressing investigations into mass rapid transit in Christchurch. An indicative business case (IBC) was completed in 2023 and its recommendations were adopted by the council and our Greater Christchurch partners. The IBC recommended a street-running system from the city centre to Hornby using Main South and Riccarton Roads, and to Belfast using Papanui and Main North Roads. The travel mode has not been determined and it could be either light rail or large articulated buses in a busway.

The Major Cycle Routes programme was initiated in 2013 and is currently approximately two thirds complete, with the remaining third scheduled to be completed over the next decade. Progress to date has resulted in an increase in cycling in the city: since 2017 the number of daily cyclists has grown by 40% across the city, virtually all of it in the areas where major cycleways have been built. The associated local cycleway connections programme has some work scheduled within the ten years of this LTP, but is mostly scheduled to occur beyond the ten year timeframe.

Blue - green networks

The submissions highlight concerns about the balance between intensification and preserving tree cover. Many respondents emphasise the importance of tree cover and access to green spaces. While some question the necessity of private gardens, support for public open spaces remains strong. There are counter-concerns about tree protection overshadowing residential properties.

The loss of wetlands to development and contamination of waterways are issues raised, with calls for new wetlands to be created for pollution filtration and carbon sequestration. Family space in new developments is valued, with Kāinga Ora noted as a positive example. Reference is made to Singapore's commercial developments incorporating open spaces.

The council is committed to enhancing its blue – green networks throughout the district, which provide multiple benefits including enhancing biodiversity in terms of flora and fauna, providing clean waterways and cleaner air, recreational spaces and playing a part in climate change adaptation by countering the heat island effect and providing shade from the sun.

Among the initiatives that the council is implementing to achieve these goals are the Urban Forest Plan, which seeks to improve the city's canopy cover, including through plan change 14 with the introduction of a minimum requirement of 20% tree canopy cover for new residential development, or payment of a financial contribution. The council is also preparing a plan change that amends earthworks rules to reduce sediment runoff into local waterways, and is currently implementing site specific projects as part of the Ōtākaro Avon River Corridor Regeneration Plan to revitalise the red zoned former residential areas. One aspect of this is to reinstate wetlands within the corridor.

Indigenous biodiversity

Respondents largely support work to protect indigenous biodiversity but express concern about the inadequate protection of wildlife at the estuary/ituhai despite identification as a Site of Ecological Significance (SES). There's a suggestion to continue identifying Significant Natural Areas (SNA) regardless of the proposed government pause on these aspects of the NPS Indigenous Biodiversity. Concerns are raised about the perceived intrusion into private land rights with the identification of SNAs and PNAs, with one comment likening it to a 'land grab'.

Central government has signalled that it intends to suspend for three years the parts of the NPS Indigenous Biodiversity (NPSIB) which require the identification and adoption of significant natural areas (SNA). In light of these changes the council is currently reviewing its plan change 7. Regardless of the outcome for this particular plan change, indigenous biodiversity is provided for under section 6 of the Resource Management Act 1991 (RMA) – matters of national importance, which the council must continue to recognise and provide for. This is implemented through the protection of sites of ecological significance.

Social deprivation/resource required to address issues

Comments highlight social deprivation in the east of the city, particularly in Linwood where concerns about gentrification and affordability are raised due to intensification. There's a request for a special character area and restrictions to preserve Linwood's identity.

In Hornby, concerns about unintended consequences of development include the proliferation of liquor stores and takeaways, leading to environmental issues and the need for increased surveillance. There's a strong desire to uplift these communities, coupled with concerns that planning rules disadvantage minorities by placing unneighbourly developments near homes, such as car yards.

The wider Linwood area is a focus for future local area planning as part of implementing the Greater Christchurch Spatial Plan. This will support population growth/housing, renewal/support of Eastgate's function, blue – green networks and social wellbeing. Linwood Village has been prioritised for additional support since 2011, resulting in community collaboration and implementation of the Linwood Village Master Plan and the Inner City East/Linwood Revitalisation Plan. The public realm upgrades (including the streetscape upgrade and 'Greening the East' tree planting) and Enliven Places Programme support for vacant sites won't address all challenges for this centre, but will improve the amenity, functionality, safety and encourage private investment. Social housing initiatives play an active role in providing secure housing in safe locations.

Location specific

Halswell

Support for a Halswell high school reflects concerns about insufficient amenities due to rapid housing expansion. Requests for better signage, street lighting, and comprehensive planning accompany concerns about ad hoc development. Loss of trees along Sparks Road prompts suggestions for improved greenery incorporation. Despite the concern about transport issues raised by submitters, their goal is to foster a liveable and inclusive Halswell community.

The development of Halswell and surrounds has accelerated since the earthquakes in part, reflecting the relocation of residents from the red zones. Concerns are recognised and the area is identified in the adopted Greater Christchurch Spatial Plan as a locally important urban centre. The ongoing sustainable development of Halswell is recognised in this context. In relation to education, the council can zone for land to facilitate the delivery of a high school, but it will be the Ministry of Education that needs to lead this process as the relevant infrastructure provider.

Te Kaha

Concern is expressed that the stadium will need to be supported by dedicated public transport which would need above inflation rate rises.

The Te Kaha development was consented through a notice of requirement issued by Christchurch City Council as a requiring authority. In the supporting traffic evidence, the anticipated modal split for patrons is 19% public transport and 7% bicycle. A majority of the remainder therefore is expected to arrive by private vehicle. In general terms paid car parking is noted as being available to the west of Te Kaha and free parking to the east. Local traffic management plans will also be employed on event and match days, depending on the size of the event.

Akaroa

Support for development plans in Akaroa to be funded by local rates.

The unique characteristics of Akaroa are recognised, including its heritage. The operative district plan contains a range of measures to protect these and ensure appropriate development in this context. The council is aware, however, of a desire to rationalise and strengthen protections. The setting of differential rates is outside of the planning remit.

Red zone/Ōtākaro Avon River Corridor

Submitters seek transformation of the red zone into a vibrant space for markets, concerts, sports, and recreation. HNZPT endorses resilience-building projects, especially in the OARC. The aim should be to create an attractive destination for visitors.

The Ōtākaro Avon River Corridor Regeneration Plan took effect on 30 August 2019 and is given effect through the Christchurch district plan. The regeneration plan provides a vision and short, medium and long-term objectives for future land uses and opportunities for the area. It emphasises the connection between people, communities, the river and the land. It provides for walking tracks, footbridges, stormwater management areas as well as potential recreational activities and food destinations. The regeneration plan proposes a new city to sea path – for walking and biking - and cultural trail, celebrating the area’s heritage along the river. Eight areas called landings have been identified along the Green Spine (11 kilometres long, extending up to 150 metres on both sides of the river) and depending on their location, could include bike and kayak hire, toilets, carparks, cafes and retail. It is an intergenerational plan and will be staged/phased over many years.

City centre parking (vacant sites)

The city vacant differential rates should be expanded to all commercial zones and car park development should be banned from qualifying as development. Development on this land must be green space, multi-use buildings, community centres, or dense housing.

The council proposes a plan change to address the use of vacant lots for car parking in its forward work programme. The type of development which can occur on vacant city sites is constrained by the rules for the zone that each site is in, although these can be amended through a plan change or review if identified as being necessary.

Refer separately to Rating for information on financial incentives/disincentives.

Former Christchurch Women’s Hospital site

The future of this site is queried.

The site remains owned by Te Whatu Ora – Health NZ. The district plan encourages comprehensive residential development of the site.

Support

2868 - Jonty Coulson

The Long Term Plan (hereafter LTP) falls woefully short of meeting our cities emissions targets, which are already based on outdated science. The LTP should focus on a just and equitable transition to a low-emitting city structure, including higher density housing, resilient urban planting and focus on active transport.

>>>

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration >City Planning], [Transport > Roads (Capital)], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Great Christchurch Partnership], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban

Regeneration > Strategic Transport], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Coastal Hazards Adaption & Adaption Planning]

Other active and public transport policies and spending should be implemented. This includes restricting urban sprawl, reducing road funding, providing better public transport including increased support for a mass rapid transit corridor, and allocating funds to safer speeds projects. I also support the continuation of the safer speed plan, including a blanket reduction of in-city speeds to 30km/h. As the CCC has stated road resurfacing will be more expensive going forward, safer speeds and traffic reduction are the best ways to reduce wear and tear and save money for other climate-focused projects.

3357 - Merav Benaia

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Strategic Transport]

Transport makes up 54% of Christchurch's gross emissions. Council needs to focus more on reducing this figure. To achieve the goal of reducing emissions, and expenses, council should encourage planning and building a denser city with better public and active transport options. The continuation, without additional delays, of the rollout of the Major Cycle Routes programmes, with a higher priority on the Ōtakaro-Avon River and North-East Cycle Route, which would travel through areas currently underserved by existing infrastructure. The idea of 15 minutes city is key to creating a vibrant, livable city. It will have a positive impact on communities, council services and businesses. The School Cycle Skills and Training and council support for adult cycling skills (such as Bike Bridge) are good and council should continue to support them, but without meaningful changes to roads around the city in general and around schools in particular this is money down the drain. Children need safe routes to get not only to their local school but also to all other activities they participate in. There should be funding for lowering driving speeds, creating safe crossings and cycling routes.

3369 - Brent Thompson

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Strategic Transport]

I think not quite. There should be less focus on roads specifically, and more focus on making the city less dependent on cars. I would like to see more focus on making the city more livable, and easier to get around on foot, cycling or using public transport. I am particularly impressed with the pace of change that has occurred in Paris recently, and I believe we could learn a lot from what they're doing to make their city more human focused and less car focused.

3379 - Mike Currie

[Parks > Tree Canopy)

I value green spaces and urban forest land, but also advocate for greening streets with trees and other plants. Tree-lined streets help slow down vehicles, and slower traffic emits fewer GHGs. They also make walking and cycling more attractive by providing a prettier landscape and shade, as well as help reduce urban heat islands. Altogether, greening our cities has a great positive impact on transport networks, community health and wellbeing, and reducing GHGs in the atmosphere.

3415 - Allan Taunt

There needs to be more investment in the following areas:

- Reducing urban sprawl.

3683 - Max Sullivan

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design & Urban Regeneration > Urban Design]

The current nature of our city is very flat and sprawling, which has the current negative impacts of separating residential and recreational areas, and increasing the distances between communities, which with the city's current transport system then goes on to increase car dependency. We should be making strong motions to densify our city, which can start by increasing storey-zoning for our dense-ish areas like the city centre and Riccarton, and implementing the floated plan to allow residential houses to build up three stories.

3704 - Logan Cane

The council should commit to implementing MDRS in full as soon as possible in order to maintain a growing ratings base.

3706 - Ellie Stevenson

You know what'd really help with rates? More ratepayers. It's a win-win: more people living in Christchurch instead of moving away means they get to enjoy participating in the community of the greatest city in the world, and everybody already living here gets to share the burden with them equitably, while a future of dense apartment blocks is a lot more efficient to provide services to - the gains outstrip the costs. Therefore, Christchurch should lead the way in embracing the MDRS by 2025.

3830 - Brenda Banning

I like the focus on greenspace beyond the green spine and protecting green space with the intensification.

3921 - Alison Loveridge

[Other/Special Interest Topics >Creating a Climate Fund], [Other/Special Interest Topics > LTP Consultation], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Coastal Hazards Adaptation & Adaptation Planning], [Transport > Transport (Operations)], [Resource Recovery > Resource Recovery (Capital)], [Parks > Other]

No, climate change is going to require more adaptation/mitigation and spending should start sooner (later start is stated in the Vol 2 page 6, 36 etc). Expectations of timing of impacts are presented in a way that pushes out need for change rather than giving lower impacts that will occur soon.

The current plan makes it difficult to track exactly how much is being allocated to climate change as the budget figures tend to include climate related spending in with other spending on relevant areas such as transport, waste water management, flood preparedness, and so on.

Coastal retreat and active transport are the most transparent areas but active transport receives less funding than needed and delivers on safety and affordability for many ratepayers. Active transport spending is a cheaper way to manage and avoid impacts than building or roading upgrades to meet more challenging conditions such as hazard impacts from climate change.

Waste management infrastructure may require new responses but there is little detail on this making it difficult to comment.

Creation of wetlands is positive, but may be linked to greenfields urban development which also create more emissions than infill housing within the existing city footprint.

Acting sooner will always be cheaper in the long run than responding at the last minute and gives better intergenerational equity.

>>>

[Parks > Other]

Infilling urban areas is good but resulting in too much tree /greenspace removal and restrictions should be placed on how much is lost in each suburb

812 - Matthew Fagan

Higher density housing will allow the council to take in higher rates revenue per square kilometre. The council needs to promote higher density living, and even mixed use spaces (eg dairys/cafes for ground floor, offices for the next couple of levels, and residential apartments above these) in order to be able to fund the city we all want to live in, without increasing rates. Failing to increase rates revenue will lead to the next generations being completely screwed over. Please do not let this happen because some NIMBYs don't want change.

>>>

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Greater Christchurch Partnership], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Strategic Transport]

I think there is not enough focus on transit. CHCH is getting too big to not have a few rail corridors. To coincide with this we need higher density living, not more suburban sprawl.

Oppose

1347 - Stephen Leon

Live music is one of this city's great benefits. Noise limits in certain residential areas need to be revised up - most notably where new buildings have been established close to existing live music venues.

1556 - Jeffrey Bergman

[Rates > Visitor Accommodation]

Allowing residential units to be rented for visitor accommodation is a business and should be rated as such. It also needs to be discouraged as it creates a housing shortage for residents of the city.

1568 - Kathryn May

Stop the infill housing plans which are ruining it for neighbours who have only ground storey level.

1836 - James McGregor

Drop the amount of intensification of living. 3 story apartment blocks only brings carpark congestion.

2846 - Olwyn Ferguson

I do not like the idea of building high rise building in the suburbs as it blocks the sunlight, if you do that it will mean that we will use me electricity

3230 - Suz Guthrie

Too much planning always defeats the purpose. Cut down on planners. Employ local people who know the environment. Make use of retired people.

3301 - Anna Wilkes

Are we building a city that residents of the future are going to feel proud to call home? Some of the dense urban housing developments are truly awful - the lack of outdoor space and landscaping combined with impervious surfaces is a climate change nightmare resulting in increased stormwater flows. I don't think the vision of a sustainable city is connecting with the developments that are being allowed.

4020 - Brian Turner

[Coder note: transcribed from a hard copy submissions, some words may not be 100% accurate]

No. We must question underlying assumptions that will negate the so far blindly accepted raison d'être for the smart CO2-free 15 minutes cities model presently hiding in plain sight behind our CC's special and new LTP's.

>>>

Take away the non-science / nonsense assumptions behind the LTP and there is no need to raise for it.

>>>

The people are paying, through rates, for construction of their own prison walls.

>>>

ANPR – Look at how this works in the W... [coder note: unknown letter/word]

15 minute cities focus – 'villages'

>>>

Resilience cities, compliant citizens (through citizen engagement and nudge theory), urban densification, centralised control of water supplies, (incl changes & possible rationing), 5th generation inventory and control using intrusive system/infrastructure now in place & eventually utilising smart modules on our LED streetlights intending (openly) to lead to a 6G socially equitable society – Let's LOOK AT THE BIGGER PICTURE!!

>>>

This is simply an attempt at 'citizens engagement' seeking public approval for Agenda 2030 & 2050 planning. How we raise capital for something we should not approve of & how we apportion spending is irrelevant. We must simply see this agenda for what it is... the smart CO2-free 15 minute cities programme.

>>>

QUESTION THE SCIENCE...See the LTP for what it is. Look at citizen engagement (& Council engagement) under the SCCANZ & ALGIM as well as influence of the UN, WEF & SCC (Smart Cities Council).

>>>

We must question underlying assumptions & with clarity, look at where their ... world we are trying to get people on board with (citizen engagement) could be ... a UN global agenda at the expense of all our individual rights & freedoms. 5G is key (and is not even brought into CCC discussions) as is the proposed (Central Bank) digital currency & loss of cash.

Other

104 - Jennifer Maghzal

I would love to see greater incentivisation for non-vehicle transportation across the city but perhaps this needs to be reflected in our city planning to encourage more smaller pedestrian "town" centres/mini-commercial hubs in individual areas of the city, allowing for more local businesses to flourish and local people to have local places within walking/cycling distance to congregate, shop and engage.

1164 - Andrea Davis

The MRT plan notes that in a decade the travel times will be problematic for workers getting to the city. Cities must reach a balanced size, if your infrastructure cannot support the number of residents the city becomes unliveable. Targeted development is what is needed now, not more sprawl and green field. A walk to the shop is going to be worth its weight in gold in the future. People are getting larger and more unhealthy, walking is a great way to loose weight and smile at neighbours.

1167 - Anja Luecht

I think this would be a smart idea but also manage where people can build given future sea level rises/flood planes etc.

1191 - Ava Johnson

Lifting Up Underserved Communities: • Proposing solutions to address affordable housing shortages,

1229 - Cassandra Albert

Uplifting underserved communities entails mixed-income housing and targeted improvements in transportation and green spaces, with community partnerships ensuring inclusive solutions.

1317 - Azariah Aitken

Please make sure precious family spaces are kept up as with houses and yard getting smaller these are important

133 - Alan Mears

Should we be looking at creating a “ Super City “ as issues don’t recognise lines on a map drawn decades ago

1355 - Andrew McCarthy

Council should allow more intensification of housing in all urban settings.

145 - Lisa Cowap

Make sure there is a policy that is appropriate for quelling the loud voices objecting to noise

1468 - Jenelle Hooson

I think it is imperative that when so much new housing and development is happening in an area that the existing infrastructure keeps up with the impact of such changes. I am not sure that this is happening as well as it could be in the Kennedys Bush and Halswell area currently.

1473 - Adele Du Plessis

Stop authorising development of new sections, until infrastructure caught up. Can't keep on building new roads to just rip up again to maintain waterways??

1474 - Céra Dernhagen

[Parks>Parks Spending (General)]; [Parks>Playgrounds & Play Equipment]; [Parks>Other]; [Strategic Direction>Have we got the balance right?]

Equitable Green Spaces and Food Forests: All residents deserve access to nature. I support: Why it's personal I work at a desk. I am lucky enough to have a park very close to my house. My mental health, connection to nature and source of play is greatly enhanced by the green space outside my house. Foraging is one of my greatest pleasures and helps mitigate the soaring costs of groceries. Solutions Increased funding for parks, playgrounds, and natural reserves in every neighborhood. Development of a comprehensive food forest program on public lands, promoting community self-sufficiency and food security.

154 - Chrysler Wiparata-Hammond

Get rid of noise control in the city! Why are people moving into the city if they don't like noise. Because of this it's difficult to put events on

>>>

Save our venues or this city will become a big rest home.

1546 - Robert Fleming

[Strategic Direction > Climate Change], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Strategic Transport]

The next 10 years are going to be more challenging as the effects of a change in climate will see more extreme weather events and resulting damage. We have to work harder to reduce emissions and be smarter with mitigating the damage of weather extremes cause. Continued urban sprawl does nothing to help; in fact makes a mockery of the intentions. Increasing the living density in a managed way, which improves amenity and reduces the dependence on longer travel times and journeys is the only way forward. More stick, and carrot are required.

1568 - Kathryn May

Stop infill housing in Chch city but limit use of land particularly farm land on outskirts and make it mandatory to build 4 storeys high but also build shared communal facilities for say same groups of people who are more likely to live harmoniously together, say a group of 65+ have bedroom and small living room facilities but communal kitchen to share, shared garden that can be cultivated for vegetables but less private garden space, 2nd community for disabled people with carer included living in a communal shared living housing/garden, please do not put personality disordered/mental health people in with elderly who then feel threatened, they maybe need housing somewhere more cared for in more caring environment.

1599 - Megan Brown

Create a city people want to visit - the stadium is great, turning the red zone into a rowing lake etc with walking and bike paths! Make it a feature of Chch. Stop wasting our money.

1616 - David Thomson

Please reduce traffic noise in the city centre to encourage more residents to live there

1619 - David Hera

Focus improvements in public transport and green spaces on historically underserved areas. Collaborate with local organizations to tailor solutions to the needs of marginalized groups. Thank you for considering these perspectives as we aim to make Christchurch a model city for sustainability and equity.

1692 - David Bluck

Things should be done to stop people buying multiple properties, people owning property who do not live or work in NZ.

Concentrate on forming a more centralised city so public transport is more likely to work [Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]

1693 - Brook Walker

Signapore has a rule for any new commercial development that could be copied. You must maintain the amount of green space on every sqm of land developed, therefore if you develop 100 sqm of land you must have 100 sqm of green space,

17 - Sandra Pilet

Cut all 20 minute city agendas. We can't afford it.

1702 - Laura Xavier

Transport should be de-prioritised in lieu of better waste management and communal spaces funding. [Resource Recovery > Resource Recovery (Operations)] [Transport > Other]

18 - Alex User

Remove the protected tree status of many too large trees that shade resident rate payer properties particularly 2727/8 pear tree lane as this is a health and safety issue and shading neighboring properties.

>>>

Kull the protected trees to many that are too big and need to come down.

1882 - Anna-Marie Browne

Since our population is set to increase, CCC should ~~put~~ in place MDRS citywide and have a manage retreat with renters' compensation for residents of New Brighton.
Climate Ōtautahi

1938 - Alice Busbridge

If you really want green livable cities, stop allowing residential developers to build such low quality housing. They'll need re-building much sooner and aren't even using sustainable building materials in the first place.

1941 - Olive Harris

We need to be building up with more apartments and not out with single houses

1946 - Zachary Reynolds

Don't just focus on the present, on rich people ~~less~~ more dense housing. STOP the relentless ~~spending~~ to growth of the outer suburbs.

1949 - Tessa Marshall

Focus on reducing urban sprawl
Urban density is the solution.

1977 - Nicholas Lealand

Underserved Communities: A truly livable city ensures equity for all. I recommend: Addressing affordable housing shortages through mixed-income developments and support programs. Targeting public transport and green space improvements in neighborhoods that have been historically underserved. Partnering with community organizations to ensure that solutions reflect the needs of marginalized residents.

1978 - Robyn Lavender

~~The~~ The council needs to invest in more services like bus and ~~off~~ cycle lanes and dense urban areas.

1984 - Chenille Anderson

We need to stop building so many ~~new~~ subdivisions so far away from bus stops -

2087 - Emma Norrish (Waipapa Papanui-Innes-Central Community Board)

A key document that guides the Board's advocacy for its community is the Community Board Plan 2023-25, which it engaged with the community on at the start of this electoral term, taking full account of the feedback received, before adopting the Plan. In regard to the LTP, the Board agreed with the community that it would advocate for funding to be included/retained for specific projects as detailed within the submission points for the next question. The projects are: • for intensification to be managed by budgeting for the facilities necessary to retain levels of amenity that foster thriving communities

2089 - Serge Ratten

have a program where people can move house closer to work and school, homes owned by everyone

2095 - Hanna North

We need to invest more in public transport and urban density with ^{more} freely accessible green spaces that are like the natural environment that was here before people.

2100 - Cam Coull

[Parks > Heritage]

More weighting towards heritage, community resources, encouraging density/quality development within the CBD. Suburban sprawl is to blame for excessively high transport budget/loss of ratepayers to Waimak and Selwyn.

2105 - Tawhai Darnielle Te Karu

[Strategic Direction>Have we got the balance right?]

No - make more houses, so rental properties rent prices can lower not heightened.

2121 - Cassie Welch (National Public Health Service (NPHS) Te Waipounamu)

25. NPHS Te Waipounamu also notes that housing and urban design are critical to consider in the context of climate change, and the urban heat island effect. Developing healthy homes in Aotearoa New Zealand has largely meant ensuring houses are warm, dry, insulated and well ventilated,²² however in a warming climate, homes also need to be able to be kept cool in the summer. As highlighted in a recent article, new townhouses in Aotearoa New Zealand have not been well designed to be kept cool in warmer, summer months.²³ This design issue in new townhouses is impacting peoples' quality of life in their home, placing them at risk of heat-related health issues during the summer, and at even greater risk during a heatwave event.²⁴ NPHS Te Waipounamu recognises that this is an issue with our current Building Code, however CCC has an opportunity to support and influence developers to design climate-resilient, health-promoting homes.

[Coder Note: Full attachment available]

2172 - Tobias McKellar

We need more medium to high sea sort housing zones, and more walkable neighbourhoods, with supermarkets easily accessible via foot.

2206 - Nikki Rogers (Hospitality NZ)

Short-term Rental Accommodation (STRA)

20. The unhosted STRA sector has grown rapidly and it is now a key part of the tourism industry in New Zealand. Rapid visitor growth and a lack of commercial accommodation development in many of the busiest tourist regions have also created increased demand for STRA. While competition in any sector is healthy, the unregulated nature of STRA presents an uneven playing field vis a vis traditional commercial accommodation providers.

>>>

22. In some parts of the country, the preference for rental property owners to convert to Airbnb or similar, is resulting in a lack of available long-term rental accommodation for workers and families, and impacting on the community feel of suburbs.

23. Christchurch City Council has STRA rules in place under the District Plan, capping unhosted accommodation at 60 nights per year. As at October 2023, 3000 short-term rentals were available across Canterbury, generating $12.2million.¹ However, we understand that applications for resource consent remain small.

24. It is clear that enforcement is a key issue, to ensure these properties are compliant with the District Plan. We encourage Christchurch City Council to prioritise appropriate enforcement of these non-compliant unhosted STRA properties.

25. At a Central Government level, we are advocating for the creation of a national register of short-term rental accommodation properties, and ensuring appropriate health and safety and compliance requirements on peer-to-peer house letting is set at a national level, removing the need for local councils to come up with the rules and moving towards fair regulation of STRA operators.

>>>

>>>

Recommendations:

35. We recommend that Christchurch City Council:

- Enforce the District Plan rules for short-term rental accommodation.

2246 - Karen Johnston

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Civil Defense and Emergency Management], [Parks > Other]

We have had to evacuate twice because of the wild fires. We have lived at our property for 20 years. I'm not aware of what is now happening to try and prevent a further wild fire. With climate change we can expect many more fires. We are told that we have to protect our own homes by cutting trees away from our own houses. However, and as research has shown from Australia and as we observed in the first fire, wild fires spread from tree top to roof top thereby making a parched earth policy partly redundant. The issue is much bigger than personal responsibility and personal resilience efforts. It requires policies at the local level. The best policy would be to prevent housing in this area. This is already too late for us and the latest developments in the Cashmere Estate (where fires burnt in the first fire). Westmoreland is now only one paddock away from our house and there is a new subdivision (given consent many years ago) at the top of Worsleys Road (from Cashmere Road) as surveyors were surveying it late last year. Now that we are here what policies at a local government level are going to be put in place? Since the latest fire, I have seen no evidence of farming landowners, on our side of the valley, sowing grass and fencing and removing dead trees and former slash piles. In fact a statement from the Adventure Park was that the burnt trees in their land would not be harvested and removed. Is the council going to change the District Plan to stop pine plantations? Has a land management plan for the area been considered or perhaps taking over the land that sits with gorse and burnt trees and turn it into grass and/or native plants? Currently pine trees are being harvested by McVicar Holdings close to Dyers Pass Road. We see the logs coming out of the park but I wonder about the slash and what is being done to prevent the slash burning in a future fire. This area is very close to the Cashmere suburb.

2261 - Tony Hampton (Health New Zealand Te Whatu Ora – Waitaha | Canterbury)

Health NZ Waitaha | Canterbury notes the reference to the risk of noise, disturbance, and privacy intrusions for neighbouring residents from park users and their activities. Mitigations suggest the development and use of guidelines to manage recreational activities and limit impact on neighbouring residents. Including time restrictions or designated hours for activities that may generate noise or disturbance.

Support: the development and use of guidelines to manage recreational activities and limit impact on neighbouring residents

2295 - Katja Charmley

I think housing should be a higher priority.

2355 - Iain Sanders

HAVE A VISION for what Christchurch used to be like as a city with lovely expansive green spaces and beautiful architecture. Don't let the property developers turn Christchurch into a ghetto of townhouses.

>>>

Create more NATURE spaces in what is supposed to be the Garden City. It is sadly turning into Townhouse City with crowded streets even in the suburbs with only the property developers making money from this.

2357 - Cori Sanders

HAVE A VISION for what Christchurch used to be like as a city with lovely expansive green spaces and beautiful architecture. Don't let the property developers turn Christchurch into a ghetto of townhouses.

>>>

Create more NATURE spaces in what is supposed to be the Garden City. It is sadly turning into Townhouse City with crowded streets even in the suburbs with only the property developers making money from this.

2383 - Kirsty Macnab

[Strategic Direction>Have we got the balance right?]

Yes but I believe that the port noise overlay in the District plan needs to be amended and residential / commercial housing needs to be allowed on Norwich Quay. When the Lyttelton Port noise overlay was introduced the LPC was mostly operating in the inner harbour. Now its operations are more out east. We currently have a number of large sites on Norwich Quay that sit vacant because the current zoning forbids any kind of residential development or apartments to be built.

>>>

Lyttelton has changed from when the Port noise overlay was implemented. If Lyttelton is to continue to develop the port noise overlay zone needs to be reconsidered particularly in light of the lack of commercial accommodation in Lyttelton. The current zoning means no developer could build hotel / motel or apartments on Norwich Quay. Sound proofing has become much more sophisticated since the port noise overlay was introduced.

>>>

It needs to take into account the changing face of Lyttelton and the changed nature of LPC operations. The noise overlay restrictions need to be reexamined as to whether they are still relevant and what it means for future development on Norwich Quay

2385 - Ezra Mussa

Because CCC rates based on the number of "rating units" in the city, it can spread costs more equitably by zoning for more building. Therefore, CCC should commit to implementing MDRS in full by 2025, in order to maintain a growing ratings base.

2389 - Aurora Garner-Randolph

private car parks (wilsons) should be disestablished because they prevent urban densification.

2396 - Sam Jenkins

[Rates > Residential Rates]

If we know Christchurch is growing at a much faster rate than the rest of NZ, and we don't have any levels of intensity in housing and transport, then surely we need sustained higher than inflation rates rises to build for the future - not a speed bump then chronic underinvestment again.

>>>

[Spending > Te Kaha], [Other/Special Interest Topics > Public Transport]

It seems wild that we are willing to have a separate increase purely for one stadium, yet have little plans to build up a liveable city in and around the core, except for low rise housing that's eye-wateringly expensive. Where do we expect people attending stadium events are going to stay? how do we think they are going to travel en-masse to the events? Where is the inter-city transport to support this? Do we expect 30k people are going to drive their cars and somehow find parking somewhere in town?

24 - Kaaren Mathias

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration >Strategic Transport]

More priority to densification of city, active transport, cycle and walkways and away from car parking and roading.

2518 - Claire Mulcock (Deans Avenue Precinct Society Inc.)

[Strategic Direction>Community Outcomes & Strategic Priorities]

Strategic priorities and community outcomes should take specific account of the anticipated new high density residential areas in Riccarton (and other places) and ensure that funding is allocated to retain amenity values in these areas. Riccarton already has low tree density and limited public parks in much of the proposed high density area. Funding should be available to purchase land in key areas before it is too late.

>>>

[Parks>Tree Canopy]; [Parks>Parks Spending (General)]

Funding for parks in Riccarton We note that there is no capital expenditure allocated to parks in the Riccarton Ward in the next 10 years. There are increasingly few trees in Riccarton, and with housing density set to increase further, outdoor open space for trees etc and play areas is desperately needed. Funding should be provided not only for existing parks but also to develop pocket parks in all neighbourhoods by purchasing land that becomes available.

2532 - Ken Begg

[Other/Special Interest Topics>Creating a Climate Fund]; [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration>Coastal Hazards Adaptation & Adaptation Planning]; [Strategic Direction>Have we got the balance right?]

No.

I would support spending more on climate change adaption and focusing on properties at risk from climate change. I would like legislation to prevent further development in areas of greatest risk.

2664 - Peter Galbraith

[Rates > Residential Rates]

Because rates are based on the number of “rating units” in the city, it can spread costs more equitably by zoning for more building. Therefore, CCC should commit to implementing MDRS in full by 2025, in order to maintain a growing ratings base.

>>>

Because rates are based on the number of “rating units” in the city, it can spread costs more equitably by zoning for more building. Therefore, CCC should commit to implementing MDRS in full by 2025, in order to maintain a growing ratings base.

2673 - Ben lamond

Just would be nice to see some improvement around the city. I can't believe it's almost been 15 years since the first earthquake and there are still empty lots which overpriced parking. It's honestly disgusting

2697 - Laura Molles

I would prefer to see more funding spent on shifting our transport infrastructure towards a far less car-centric system that will be much more socially equitable and environmentally sustainable in the long term. In part this requires a shift from endless development of sprawling suburbs -- we are burdening ourselves with more and more extremely costly transport and three waters infrastructure for these suburbs. This is costly for us, and of course our children and grandchildren will wind up holding the bill for the upkeep and renewal of this infrastructure. I grew up in the Los Angeles area and during my 20 years in Christchurch I've come to feel that the city is creeping slowly in that direction, which is the opposite of what we should be doing. I applaud the proposed target of having four of five basic services available within a 15-minute walk of a vastly higher proportion of residents, for example, but this is inconsistent with the way the Christchurch area seems to be developing.

2715 - L.F. Blake

[Strategic Direction > Community Outcomes & Strategic Priorities]

'A green liveable city' is definitely to be strived for. Maintaining our green suburbs and reputation as a Garden City requires action to protect our suburbs from intensification and high rise buildings which reduce greenery coverage and gardens, privacy, sunlight and solar power. The central city, within the four avenues, is the place for intensification, for those who chose to live in close proximity to others and do not want gardens and outdoor space to maintain. What is CCC doing to direct intensification into that central area, and let those who chose/choose suburbs to live there in peace and not under threat from losing their lifestyle?

2800 - Ellena Cameron

I think you should plan better when taking good farming land for housing. Marshlands Road should have been left as market gardens and therefore we would have had a bit of a green belt. Cities need one. If in the future you keep taking good farm land for housing, ~~and~~ vegetables etc will have to be transported in on flows and here goes your so called climate change for gases etc.

Thank you for your submission. LEAVE A GREEN BELT.

OUR FOREFATHERS HAD THE RIGHT IDEA.

I think you should plan better when taking good farming land for housing. Marshlands Road should have been left as market gardens and therefore we would have had a bit of a green belt. Cities need one. If in the future you keep taking good farm land for housing, ~~and~~ vegetables etc will have to be transported in on flows and here goes your so called climate change for gases etc.

Thank you for your submission. LEAVE A GREEN BELT.

OUR FOREFATHERS HAD THE RIGHT IDEA.

2823 - Aurora Garner-Randolph (School Strike For Climate Ōtautahi)

The LTP also says there will be massive population growth as our generation grows up. If we're going to have housing, CCC needs to immediately implement MDRS city-wide. It also needs to start zoning for apartment blocks in Riccarton and Central City so that we will have somewhere to live. Our full list of demands is included on the roll of cardboard that we left at the Civic Offices after our School Strike on April 5; they are also attached at the end, alongside the photos of the aspirations that Ōtautahi's rangatahi have for this city.

2847 - Colleen Philip (Sustainable Ōtautahi Christchurch)

More sustainable well-planned housing. Good design is important. Developer-led not always best. >>> [Strategic Direction > Climate Change] [Other/Special Interest Topics > Vertical Capital]

2872 - Kim Money

The Council's climate change 'new levels of complexity' have been created solely due to Council planning is still predicated on the use of the most extreme Independent Climate Change Panels (IPCC) scenario, RCP 8.5 (Representative Concentration Pathway). The RCP8.5 was not intended to be used to create policy. The creators of RCP8.5 had not intended it to represent the most likely "business as usual". Therefore, the CCC planning around RCP8.5 must be removed and a more likely scenario used for planning. Plan Change 12 proposed by CCC is based on this and subsequently lead to "avoidance" of new building. We request that Councillors action this. These extreme planning measure will be even more detrimental than the Residential Unit Overlay (RUO) issues that coastal residents experienced some years ago. If PC 12 goes ahead, Council has intentionally removed the need for Coastal adaptation conversations. A more realistic planning approach will positively influence the LTP budget.

2906 - Donna Thomsen

We should consider the over development of certain pockets on the CHCH urban sprawl when it comes to consenting to building, in the already over loading of our streams and tributaries, with extreme rain fall. ie: Bowenvale Valley already has peak flow of storm water into the Heathcote overflowing into the streets with flooding into properties, future building should not be considered further into the valley, to retain its beauty and natural beauty. More Bird life is becoming more evident, with lizards re appearing in gardens now that the port hills community has been proactively culling the possum population. Also we consider the city needs more green space and trees but excess residential development should not be consented without extending its planting of trees to negate the effect of felling in lush semi rural spaces that are fast becoming part of our city urban sprawl. Also we are wishing to promote the vast beauty of the port hills , and to encourage more bird life, (Kereru, tui) and native species like the skink, we must seriously consider how much we wish to develop on this hill spaces without serious consenting, mitigation from the developers, so as to avoid harm to our wild life and vegetation and green spaces for enjoyment. We should be investing in clean drinking water without chemical mitigation. This should be a top priority.

2939 - John Thomsen

[Parks > Biodiversity & Ecological Restoration], [Parks > Tree Canopy]

Also we consider the city needs more green space and trees but excess residential development should not be consented without extending its planting of trees to negate the effect of felling in lush semi rural spaces that are fast becoming part of our city urban sprawl. Also we are wishing to promote the vast beauty of the port hills , and to encourage more bird life, (Kereru, tui) and native species like the skink, we must seriously consider how much we wish to develop on this hill spaces without serious consenting, mitigation from the developers, so as to avoid harm to our wild life and vegetation and green spaces for enjoyment.

>>>

We should consider the over development of certain pockets on the CHCH urban sprawl when it comes to consenting to building, in the already over loading of our streams and tributaries, with extreme rain fall. ie: Bowenvale Valley already has peak flow of storm water into the Heathcote overflowing into the streets with flooding into properties, future building should not be considered further into the valley, to retain its beauty and natural beauty.

2947 - Katia De Lu

We can do this by: (a) Building a denser city to reduce car dependence (not to mention save our productive farmland for feeding ourselves, not putting houses on).

[Coders Note: referring to mode shift to active transport]

3035 - Claire Coveney

We have built in many places we should not have and that is wetlands as they area filter and carbon sink.

We are losing good soil, habitat for wildlife due to the destruction of old properties and housing that leaves no space safely for large trees. Poor design and planning leads to quality of life is affected .

I don't think the housing intensification rules are taking responsibility for creating this problem. >>>
[Three Waters > Stormwater & Land Drainage (Capital) {Our storm water systems are struggling due to the huge loss of green spaces, housing intensification, more driveways and less properties with green areas that absorb rain when we have heavy rainfall.}]

Christchurch has become dominated by the needs of vehicles and business. It was a beautiful city and it has been a shame to see good soil built on, wetlands built on and roads put through sensitive areas where wild life are often affected y pollution and road kill.

3061 - David Hawke (Halswell Residents Association (Inc.))

e. Liveable and inclusive communities are important. Symptoms of alienation and individualisation include graffiti, intentional damage, anti-social behaviour and flytipping. All of these have both social and financial costs.

f. There is no comprehensive plan for Halswell that might guide LTP reviews and ensure a sustainable and liveable community.

i. There was formerly a “Growing Halswell Together Plan”, but this is totally outdated and is no longer on City Council’s website. ii. City Council’s Urban Development Strategy, and ECAN’s Our Space 2018-2048, and Greater Christchurch Partnership’s Spatial Plan have all been unable to stop unsustainable, community-unfriendly urban sprawl.

Action requested (16): Construct a “Halswell Liveability” plan with measurable targets, linked to the LTP.

3088 - Heather Brown

Stop consenting housing developments on land at risk from natural events - unethical.

3129 - Skye Arnopp

More green in central city, more spreading of urban centres and planning, more open space.

3144 - Elizabeth Hofman

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration>City Planning]

[Rates>Residential rates]

Making sure that lower-density housing pays its way - the more distance between houses, the more infrastructure is needed and this should be paid for by those residents, not subsidised by people in higher-density areas.

3187 - Debbie Hamilton

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Creating a Climate Fund]

utilise the redzone for markets outdoor concerts running tracks sports fields & venues to picnic in

3206 - John Gudgeon

[Strategic Direction > Other Policy Matters]

15-minute (so-called sustainable) cities are part of a plan to subdue and control people. Don't agree to it.

3219 - Ted Meager

Be adventurous; let us have a city with a real identity.

3325 - Adele Geradts

[Parks > Tree Canopy]

Here, I think more money is needed and stronger rules over tree canopy retention are needed. One example, Sparks Road in Halswell, had many mature trees felled for housing, and while the developer may have to replant trees in their sections, it will take 30 years or more to regain that tree canopy. Many of those trees were on or near the boundary where fences are now placed, those mature trees could have been saved and incorporated into the landscape with a little planning.

3336 - Margaret Lovell-Smith

However mature trees on private land also need protection. Too many new housing developments involve the cutting down of mature trees. In the interests of increasing the tree canopy level in the city, ways need to be found to tackle this problem.

3364 - Alison Murray

Too much money has been spent in the East and the Central City when the North and West have been badly neglected.

3370 - Eliot Blennerhassett

[Transport > Footpaths & Streetscapes (Capital)], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)], [Transport > Public Transport (Capital)]

I support continuing to invest in walking, cycling and public transport infrastructure, low speed neighbourhoods, notwithstanding any change in central government policy regarding these topics.

3379 - Mike Currie

[Resource Recovery > Resource Recovery (Capital)], [Resource Recovery > Ōtautahi Christchurch Regional Organics Processing Facility]

I urge the CCC to consider how its waste management practices impact different communities. Waste management processes are often intertwined with environmental racism (for example, the Bromley transfer station and Organics Processing Plant in Bromley is near low income and marginalised communities). I also encourage the CCC to implement policies that reduce commercial and household waste (e.g., stricter bans on plastics and single-use items such as takeaway cups).

3384 - Robert Biggs

Many of the requested items from "Share an idea" just after the Earthquakes, apart from when Central Government took over have come to fruition. Even Victoria Square makeover was changed due to Public input.

3550 - Sam Hewitt

[Other/Special Interest Topics > CCHL Matters]

The council should prioritize the building of medium density and affordable homes. The council should not wait for property developers to deem affordable medium density housing profitable, but should investigate its own provision through CCHL.

>>>

I think the city should aim to be innovative with its planning and management, particularly in the software and technology it uses to this end. We should aim to be a "smart city" without wasting funding on shiny technological gimmicks.

3558 - Patrick Kennedy

encourage more efficient land use, encourage higher density living, and discourage speculative land banking and intentional dilapidation.

3562 - AJ Russell

[Transport > Transport (Operations)]

Put more into active and carbon-zero transport, and creating a green and walkable city.

3575 - Anna Hansson

[Parks>Tree Canopy]; [Parks>Parks Maintenance]; [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration>Urban Design]

The only thing I would say is that there needs to be more greenery / permeability in around new developments too. There is way too much concrete being poured.

3582 - Cody Cooper

Introduce a fire zone to the district plan layers. Residents and potential purchasers have a right to know if they will be impacted by bush fire. I was dismayed to learn this wasn't currently planned.

3623 - Jessica Adams

In view of the development of housing intensity, the Council should be reviewing the infrastructure capacity when it is consenting infill developments so that current infrastructure can manage the load and not permit development which will strain services.

3636 - Kay Robertson

Regarding City Growth and Property - just watch Susan Krumdieck's 'From the Ground Up'. Doesn't get better than this: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=fTrj2f9t3So&t=14s> Please, no more 'developers' with their infill housing that maximises their returns at the expense of well-designed communities. A few more years of this and Christchurch neighbourhoods will be unrecoverable. This is simply poor planning and bad intensification. This is why people opposed intensification; they aren't seeing good examples. How about we encourage Sam Stubbs' Simplicity Living to build in Christchurch, and resurrect the Madras Square development on another site? The current bus storage area on Ferry Road/Fitzgerald would be good for this.

3663 - Connor McIver

Perhaps development plans in Akaroa could have a greater local contribution, as it is unlikely most Christchurch residents will benefit from these.

3690 - Jono de Wit (Greater Ōtautahi)

Transport makes up 54% of Christchurch's gross emissions (cars constitute 22%, whilst utes and vans make up 10%). There is not enough of a focus on reducing these figures. We suggest that the Council consider: * Ensuring that priority is given to planning and building a denser city, and restricting urban sprawl across the remaining green spaces and productive land available in the city

>>>

We agree with the aim of increasing access by walking within 15 minutes to key destinations. This is key to livability and reducing emissions and will have a positive impact on local communities in terms of amenities and service availability.

>>>

* General * Significant Natural Areas? What approach will the council take? We need to continue to progress this - regardless of government direction.

3725 - Richard Smith

Ensuring that priority is given to planning and building a denser city, and restricting urban sprawl across the remaining green spaces and productive land available in the city, -

3743 - Ben Ellis

Space for live music. Require better noise insulation on buildings in and near central city. I really miss good cheap live music option in town from pre earthquake. I understand the required noise control is proving a problem to new and established venues. Require new subdivision to have space for restaurants / cafes / corner shops in walking distance. Having to drive to these locations creates more congestion and reduces the chance to build community.

3758 - Mads Churchhouse

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Strategic Transport], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

Bike lanes, light rail, etc these should all be at the top of the list along with dense social housing which directly tackles the urban sprawl.

3773 - Elizabeth Benson

Many of the rates increases seem to go towards maintaining/supporting urban sprawl all of which then needs to be funding continuously by the ratepayer going forward eg roads, community parks, sewers, etc. If part of the City plan included plans to stop this sprawl far less infrastructure would need to be installed and maintained in the first instance. This would also be far better for the environment with less resources being used, less land being changed from rural to housing and less travel time for the people living here so ergo less car pollution. Also buses as a viable mode of transport then become more attractive vs incredibly high car dependency here. I would rather the rates be used to improve existing infrastructure than to fund more due to the sprawl.

>>>

The point is made within the statement that everything we build, own etc has ongoing costs. This is exactly the issue. Stop the sprawl so that services, buildings etc can be consolidated. A disproportionate amount of services, parks etc are required vs residents here to pay the costs because of urban sprawl.

3780 - Jack Halliday

I believe that the following must be added back into the LTP, >>>For too long, the north of the central city has not had a supermarket in walking distance as Foodstuffs has held their Salisbury Street site at ransom until the CCC completes this project. Significantly, this holds back the potential growth and intensification of the northern city as well as the viability of the South-East Central Neighbourhood Plan.

3802 - Matthew Baird

High transport emissions mean high air pollution, there were 462 premature deaths attributed to human-made air pollution in Christchurch in 2016. We need to rapidly reduce transport emissions. We can do this in a few ways: 1. Work on densification to reduce urban sprawl and car-dependency.

3814 - Rob Battersby

[Rates > Visitor Accommodation]

I believe there should be no visitor accommodation permitted in low - medium density areas within the city. If this activity were to be permitted, then commercial rates need to be applied to the property.

3824 - Di Lucas

[Strategic Direction > Climate Change], [Parks > Biodiversity & Ecological Restoration], [Three Waters > Waterways Quality & Compliance (Operations)]

Sustainable management is crucial.

Better protection of high value soils for food production is also needed.

Also both the climate crisis & the biodiversity crisis need to be better recognised, such as in management of council/public lands across the city including riparian areas.

383 - Louise Woolley

Hornby should not have high density housing

385 - Francesca Brown

[Strategic Direction > Climate change]

Climate change actions - always underdone and not prioritised nearly enough. Firstly lets move on from climate change as its a very narrow lens to view the problem (and propose solutions). Climate change is an outcome for a much bigger problem - look up 9 planetary boundaries (the problems that are forcing climate change is just one of the 9). In NZ we are overshoot on many more. Carbon trading, apart from being a farce, will not address climate change (no matter how hard it tries) and it won't even have a look in on the other overshoots. Without priority actions on planetary health, we can't be the vibrant place CCC aspire us to be. The revolting poor quality subdivisions is just one example - be brave - require only 10 star homes to be built, require all materials used to be non toxic, stop allowing the building of ridiculous monstrosities that only 2 people can live in (if they are for multigenerational families' all good - but they need building differently). If you really want to address planetary health and lead the world in it we need to do things really differently. Be bold, be brave - the people will thank you for it down the track.

>>>

[Strategic direction > Community outcomes and strategic priorities], [Strategic direction > Climate Change]

I remain unconvinced that there is deep understanding on what sustainable means - its an over used word - we need to get clear on what we actually mean and do that. Be bold, be brave - we need to make really bold actions for planetary health. This WILL benefit human wellbeing and this will then have other benefits. The way we currently do things like the design of subdivisions could make a real statement towards this, yet we continue to build poor quality housing stock in poorly designed subdivisions. Places like the High Street School site in Dunedin give an example on a small scale of what the future of housing should look like. One small example.

3881 - Anne Scott

We also need to >>> intensify our city in a smart way (nothing above 6 stories).

3895 - Margaret Trotter

[Transport > Roads (Capital)]

The issue of building more roads just compounds the problem. The more the city spreads out with development for housing creates more demand for roads. How are you ensuring the developers are paying for the long term transport issues from them making money from their sub divisions. They are creating the transport issues and don't pay.

3909 - Anna Osborn

Halswell is an area that is rapidly growing. There needs to be money put into the infrastructure to cope with the development.

3910 - Joshua Jones

- we also have to use every rates dollar to build infrastructure to allow larger population in future.

3944 - Lyn Dawson

[Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)], [Other/Special Interest Topics > Public Transport]

Include potential bus stops in planning so that developers meet the cost. I'm mindful of a new subdivision in Awatea Road where a little bit of footpath has been laid and, despite this being a bus route, lacks any provision for a future bus stop. The nearest stops are several hundred yards away and in one direction there is no path. When revising bus routes find out where the people living nearby work, shop or play sport etc. It would help indicate demand.

>>>

Tree canopy - pardon my scepticism, but this is being lost at an alarming rate as developers bulldozed everything in their path. Time to stop it and make them incorporate existing trees in their plans. People need local.

3945 - Callum Snell

We >>> a reinvigorated central city, pubs and bars open later without noise restrictions,

3949 - Fay Brorens

Urban density. Add to our flat city Trees, bushes, flowers, tussocks. Allotment gardens? Mini community gardens

>>>

I see retail places that require cars still being built - not sure about that.

3954 - Andrew Metherell

See comments on specific elements. As a resident of Halswell, I think it is important Council plans suitable investment for the major growth that is happening. My submission has a focus on issues relating to Halswell. That includes supporting and front footing development of road networks (including for pedestrians and cyclists), not just relying on ad-hoc developer works which are leaving gaps and isolated communities, and ensuring community facilities remain right sized for the rapidly growing population.

3989 - Mary O'Connor

I am concerned that intensification is not considering the occupants health and wellbeing, especially for children living in small spaces. Removing one house and replacing it with 4 or 5 flats leaves little space for inside or outside play. Developments on larger parcels of land can usually have a shared playground if individual space is limited. Kainga Ora's residential developments are less dense than private developments, perhaps because they design for the future residents rather than financial gain.

3990 - Malcolm Smeaton

Look at ways to discourage developments in areas at ~~high~~ risk of climate change.

>>>

I support housing densification as long as it's done well. We should also carefully assess land that has high agricultural value to maintain productivity for future generations.

3996 - David Lough

I AM NOT AVERSE TO INCREASING HEIGHT RESTRICTIONS FOR ^{URBAN} DWELLINGS
THANKS FOR THE OPPORTUNITY.

3998 - Ben Alder (Christchurch Envirohub)

Key concerns:

General comments

One of the 'community outcomes' the Council identifies in its Vision is for Christchurch to be a "green, liveable city". Goals identified are to: "reduce emissions, build climate resilience and protect and regenerate the environment, especially our biodiversity, water bodies and tree canopy"*.

*<https://www.ccc.govt.nz/the-council/how-the-council-works/20182028-vision/community-outcomes/>

Christchurch Envirohub is extremely concerned by the heavy emphasis in the 2024-34 Long Term Plan on:

housing intensification if it does not incorporate 'green principles' of urban development (the need for maintaining/enhancing environmental quality and community amenities)

>>>

Water

The proposed increase in hard surfaces in urban areas will lead to water runoff issues and infrastructure strain. Balancing urban development with green spaces, especially in brownfield areas like Linwood, are a challenge and require creative solutions - not sidelined into the 'too hard' basket. For example, Council could assist green spaces (such as community gardens) to provide porous car-wash areas to minimise the run-off of contaminants entering stormwater. Or running a 'dirty' car campaign?!. (We recognise car care is important to some people, so this would help us achieve CEH's stormwater education campaign, which we are contracted by CCC and ECan to run).

4003 - Kristine Jolliy

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Strategic Transport]

I would like to see Christchurch as a leader in being a "Green NZ City" E.g. similar to Denmark.

Less cars, more bikes, green spaces, 30 kilometre walking city. Fast smaller trains, free buses (make them smaller though).

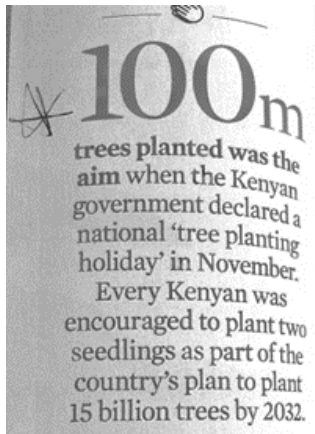

Melbourne bans Utes from the inner city streets. We should to the same. Scotland has fast small trains out from the city to rural areas. It works!.

4017 - Angela Nicholls

[Parks > Tree Canopy]

Whatever you do just give us back our green space. We have lost so much with all the housing and commercial buildings that have gone up. SO much concrete around!!! Especially now out in the suburbs with housing intensification.

From "the simple things" January 2024, Magazine.

4022 - Ann Margaritis

Less valuable "crop" land being sold off and developed into more housing.

>>>

[Parks > Other]

Retain as much "Green Belt" as possible around the City. Once gone, they are gone forever.

Land bank for future sports fields or leased as golf courses e.g. Corner Milns Rd and Halswell Rd.

4025 - Robin Wynne-Williams

Land is required to be put aside for a new Halswell secondary school, and for other learning complexes for students and adults who need to "Learn to Earn", especially those who learn better standing on their feet and applying academia, and those with learning disabilities and the disabled, and adults who have missed out, or want to learn

>>>

New housing in Halswell is spreading out, not up, with little land left for a new secondary school, cafes, motels, hardware/spotlight/Bin inn etc. A centre for a local fire brigade, community constable and local community patrol, citizens' advice centre, community law.

>>>

[Transport > Footpaths & Streetscapes]

-Improved street lighting; the light bulbs are poor and shine down not out. This applies throughout Christchurch, as does the poor street signs, too small, often obscured, and neither the lighting or the signage are helpful for tourists and local visitors to ChCh and Halswell. Visitors to the CBD have said that the CBD is unwelcoming, and certainly not a great impression with the half dead cathedral; it is appalling that it remains as it is, yet the famous Paris cathedral has been resuscitated within five years, and Japan can rebuild after their earthquakes and tsunamis within a very short time. The reason for these delays is the red tape and local bureaucracy

406 - Angela Burrill

Land needs to be released to allow for major increases in development as the city does not have enough residents to support the current level of infrastructure spend.

433 - Derek Phelps

[Strategic Direction>Climate Change]

Review the climate change policy STOP issuing building permits to the eastern suburbs as we all know a two degree's increase in sea temperature will have the the new shoreline being at Hereford Street

579 - Rosemary Neave

Transport is 54% of our emissions. We need to build a compact city – intensification is a necessity in creating climate ready cities. Use more planning strategies. A major flaw in Post Earthquake recovery was that East Frame was almost entirely town houses, instead of 6 story apartments which would provide accessibility for people like me and more people in a more vibrant city.

>>>

Key elements to effective planning for next 10 years 1. A compact city – intensification is a necessity in creating climate ready cities. Use more planning strategies. A major flaw in Post Earthquake recovery was that East Frame was almost entirely town houses, instead of 6 story apartments which would provide accessibility and more people in a more vibrant city.

582 - Prunella Harris

It worries me that we might try to build the slims if the future by putting high rises in areas close to Hagley Park. I think we need to protect areas such as that between Hagley Park and Deans Bush -

Mona Vale and Deans Bush are heritage areas and housing areas around them should be considered carefully.

622 - Stephanie Cullen

GET RID OF ZONING RULES. YOU ARE STRANGLING THE CITY PANDERING TO NIMBYS AND PEOPLE WHO HAVE LIVED HERE ALL HTEIR LIVES CANNOT AFFORD TO BUY HOUSES TO RAISE THEIR FAMILIES. THE FREE MARKET WILL SET THE VALUE FOR LAND IF THE COUNCIL DONT TELL PEOPLE WHERE THEY HAVE TO BUILD AND THIS WILL KEEP SUPPLY AND DEMAND EQUAL. BUY PREVENTING NEW BUILDS IN EXPENSIVE LOCATIONS YOU HAVE LOCKED A GENERATION OUT OF THIS CITY.

631 - Cynthia Roberts

Compact cities are essential. Spreading out across the plains increases transport emissions and infrastructure costs.

636 - Ben Taylor

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Strategic Transport]

Transport makes up the majority of Christchurch gross emissions, with cars alone contributing 22%, there needs to be a focus on reducing these figures. Building a denser city and creating mode shift out of private cars into public transport or cycling.

6900 - Geraldine Jellyman

It's time we stopped thinking of roads as free parking. Homes being built without parking just puts cars into parking on the street.

721 - Raphael Menke

Increase housing density if this the possible in this plan

794 - Yanny Webb-Walker

Stop giving building permits for building close to the coast or low lying land. That will be costly in the future. It should have been stopped years ago

>>>

[Other/Special Interest Topics>Creating a Climate Fund]

Surely the first and easiest is not to allow building in silly places. Let's plan and be sensible about it, but not wasteful

8 - Justin Yudistira

[Rates > Other]

-immediately densify and upzone the whole city, or at least according to the MDRS, because more people residing in the city will mean more rates, which means rates per capita should go down

>>>

Focus on making Christchurch a denser city, with more people in the centre

814 - Malcolm McKellar

Density the central city rather than the suburbs. Stop disconnected green field development.

868 - Lucas Moreno

Flood protection: You need to start stopping (or at least decentivising) all kind of work in the areas that will be highly likely to be flooded in the next 10 years. By this, i mean no more houses in certain areas, or any other capital programme. coastal areas are key. Build instead parks, reserves, etc. You talk a lot about Climate Change, yet you are just not tackling the obvious big elephant in the room of start moving people out of the areas that will be more affected.

Not Stated

1117 - Brent Elder

Nothing here about ensuring adequate resources for the growing population. I think worth considering that, here or elsewhere.

113 - Sarah Cragg

Still wonder how to get more kiwis loving the idea of apartment living - seems like a bit of a culture shift is needed. And cheaper apartments!

1430 - Dan Hartwell

Other councils have much better noise (construction/heatpump/pool unit) policies eg. Auckland uses descriptive language rather than dB levels, Dunedin has neighbourly heat pump policies. Chch is more lax and can lead to resident conflict that will only get worse if the MDR rules come in.

Sunlight is important. The national housing density rules are a joke. We need to push back against this policy and return to existing recession plane rules.

145 - Lisa Cowap

Support for a high school in Halswell

1500 - Warwick Schaffer

The use of unlikely scenarios are putting more areas into high risk zones than need to be. The process is being made more costly than it needs to be and doing more damage than good both now and for future generations.

152 - John Stickleby

Review all the United Nations / WHO NGO imposed "requirements" and thoroughly ask yourselves who will seriously benefit from 15 minute cities, reduction in suburban speed reductions. All frameworked in UN Agendas 2021 & 2030.

>>>

As stated before do your homework on the woke propaganda BS that is being touted by NGO's. The ruse is up and to follow the "climate crisis" is detrimental madness.

>>>

Stop the intense housing. Will lead to community ghettos emerging. They type of buildings are an eyesore on the previous pleasant suburb.s

>>>

Stay well away from anything to do with the dictates of WEF the UN Agendas and the WHO. This is CHC NZ and we are in charge of our destiny not the dictates of others.

1532 - Kit Doudney (Avon-Heathcote Estuary Ihutai Trust)

[Strategic Direction > Other Policy Matters]

We ask the city council to investigate and implement increased legal protection for the wildlife of the Estuary/Ihutai.

>>>

In its District Plan the Christchurch City Council regards the estuary and its environs as a “Site of Ecological Significance” (SES/LP14). Again, this seems to be an honour rather than a protective measure. Even though the estuary has this status, the City Council itself has been investing in feasibility studies for a walking/cycling track along the western edge of the estuary near the Wildlife Refuge – if the City Council were to regard its own District Plan designation seriously then it should never have started these feasibility studies.

But those three measures do not actually constitute legal protection for the tidal flats and body of the estuary. As an example - currently the indigenous birdlife of the estuary is at risk because of human activity in the estuary. >>> but there are other recreational, commercial or transport threats which also need to be managed so the estuary is better protected. For example, kayakers, horse-riders, walkers, trail bikes and so on are frequently seen intruding into areas where birds seek sanctuary. An increased, formal level of protection would send a clear signal to potential users that the estuary is precious and cannot be tampered with.

1578 - Lucia Campbell-Reeves

we need to absolutely prioritise building a climate-friendly and carbon neutral city that prioritises urban density and public transport rather than invest millions into stadiums and heritage like the cathedral.

161 - Sam Apps

Public transport isn't a thing here and with all the high density building going on there will probably be a noise ban in town soon because someone has moved into the area and doesn't like it

1618 - Zachary Imhoof

Put in place “Medium Density Residential Standards” (MDRS) citywide

1619 - David Hera

Lifting Up Underserved Communities: Building a truly livable city means ensuring it serves everyone equally: Address affordable housing via mixed-income developments and supportive housing programs.

1692 - David Bluck

[Rates > Residential Rates]

CCC needs money to allow more land to build houses, to make them more affordable. It is unfair how the under generation of people has been priced out of the housing market, while the comfortably well off older generation is protected most who own multiple properties and who obviously don't want to pay more. [Other/Special Interest Topics > Social Housing]

1750 - Edel Lougheed-Deane

Transport is great. However, new subdivisions are being built with no consideration for bus routes. Some houses for example in the Haslwell area will be nearly 3km from their nearest bus stop. We're trying to get people out of their cars not back into them.

1985 - Laura Tretheway

Also, I'd love to see more on rental areas designated for students to protect how high rents can be raised, to support the number of Canterbury students remaining - as they're coming now because of how unaffordable auckland/wellington has become - but let's be honest, that's coming for us soon also.

1998 - Grace Robinson

To ensure a growing ratings base and equitable cost distribution, the Council should commit to implementing the Multiple Dwelling Residential Scheme (MDRS) by 2025.

2069 - Christine Whybrew (Heritage New Zealand Pouhere Taonga)

HNZPT supports the Council's continued efforts to understand and respond to the effects of climate change. Heritage sites can be significantly affected by the impacts of climate change, including the loss of archaeological sites through sea level rise, and their continued retention requires us to understand these impacts and to respond to them effectively.

We note that the funding has been split into programmes that reduce climate change effects, and those to develop better resilience to climate hazards. HNZPT supports the identification of projects that have a direct impact on climate change mitigation, including major cycleways and the urban forest. We also support the proposed projects that directly help the city adapt and build resilience including the Ōtākaro Avon River Corridor Programme.

In addition, HNZPT recognises the Council's pledge that all projects, throughout their planning, design, development and construction, must take climate change mitigation and resilience into account

2183 - Hali Stauffer

Here are my thoughts on key priorities: 5. Lifting Up Underserved Communities: A truly livable city is inclusive and equitable. To uplift underserved communities, I recommend: Addressing affordable housing shortages through mixed-income developments and tailored support programs. - Prioritising public transport and green space improvements in historically marginalised neighbourhoods. - Collaborating with community organisations to ensure solutions are responsive to the needs of all residents.

>>>

I'd like to highlight several critical areas that Council should prioritise: 5. Adoption of Medium Density Residential Standards (MDRS) citywide: Enabling multi-storey, closer-knit housing developments through MDRS will address housing shortages, generate additional rates revenue, and foster more sustainable urban growth.

2193 - Leanne Reid

Stop requiring so much gardens in new developments (not parks, parks are important). Gardens cost to upkeep, are difficult for the council to upkeep and now with water rates people aren't watering them with their private water.

2329 - Heather Bundy

Planning changes are required at Lyttelton, Norwich Quay. The Lyttelton port overlay restricts the use of properties in that part of Lyttelton, in the Banks Peninsula commercial zone on Norwich Quay. Since the loss of so many buildings in Norwich Quay the zone described has restricted the rebuild possibilities. Land owners there cannot sell, develop, or replace lost buildings. The port zone was never warranted and now the earthquakes have virtually made the zone unusable. This is of great detriment to the owners who still pay rates but can't reasonably use their land and develop buildings that are needed, ie, Apartments. There is no demand for more shops and offices at Lyttelton, but a large demand for residential, so change the zone to allow apartments. In many parts of the city apartments and other uses co exist. Examples. The Novotel at the airport. Large overseas aeroplanes motor up to right beside the 200 room hotel to the airbridge. Riccarton road. Apartments at the root of Riccarton road by the roundabout. Brougham street. Many apartments line this very busy road. including council owned. Actions required by this Submission. Delete all port noise overlay provisions from Norwich Quay Lyttelton. Let Lyttelton properly recover from the Earthquakes without unnecessary impediments. Allow residential development on both sides of Norwich Quay. The area described must include both sides of Norwich Quay, including the south or lower side, otherwise delineated presently as Banks Peninsula commercial. Port activity has largely changed to around the corner at Cashin Quay. The present uses in front of the town, loading logs and handling Fertiliser cause no noise or disturbance of any kind. Therefore the port noise overlay for that area is simply unnecessary and is now completely redundant.

>>>

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design & Urban Regeneration > Urban Regeneration]

Council and LPC are frustrating Lyttelton peoples aspirations. Changes are required so that Lyttelton can properly recover after the earthquakes. For many years Lyttelton residents have asked for changes in the lower township. Norwich Quay has so many vacant sites that cannot be reasonably reused or sold due to a redundant noise overlay. This swathe of bare commercial land is there because Council will not attend to the necessary changes to allow redevelopment. Council already has unmet obligations from the masterplan, sections m1 & m2. It has simply delayed, not attended to, obfuscated & run out reasons why it thinks it cannot be undertaken. Council staff are not paying rates on this bare land, different story if they were. Ratepayers have been treated unequally, the CCHL company first & lets not worry about the town of Lyttelton and its planning problems. This issue should be aired and discussed publicly. Council start the changes required, the excuses have all run out.

2387 - Jed O'Donoghue

[Rates > [City Vacant Differential]

The rating differential on vacant land is unfair for the many vacant blocks on Norwich quay. This is because of LPC's noise overlay. This greatly restricts development on these blocks of land. While this is in place there should be no differential on these properties. Given that port work has mainly moved eastwards this noise overlay is no longer required. This should inform the District Plan.

2457 - Hayden Johnstone

I do think a goal for the council, going forward, should be to continue to intensify both the areas of economic interest such as around malls and the central city but also residential neighbourhoods as well. Obviously there should be a balance to this as I can understand that nobody wants an 6 story apartment complex in the middle of the 1 story homes but 2-3 story townhouses in residential areas and some more apartment complex's in the central city could be a good source of new income as a previous property paying one lot of rates can now pay 2-5 or more. It could also increase housing stock without destroying the environment around our city.

2465 - Nicky Snoyink (Forest and Bird)

The identification of Significant Natural Area (SNA) work needs to be on-going, despite central government direction. Adequate policies and rules, along with actively working with landowners to ensure the protection and enhancement of these special areas is vital in addressing the biodiversity crisis.

Forest & Bird seeks that Council ensure the SNA programme is properly resourced towards increasing biodiversity and supporting landowners towards that end.

2467 - John Ogier

There should also be a limit on them as there is in Barcelona. [Coder note: Airbnb]

2516 - Robin Palmer

Stop limiting car parking that commercial premises can provide - one example is a medical practice that could provide more parks but is prevented from doing so. Surely unwell people can be granted the convenience and ease of motor transport.

2540 - Jocelyn and Caroline Pappill and Syddall

The work done by the Greater Christchurch Partnership around higher density housing around key urban hubs and transport routes is important whilst also ensuring we don't lose sight of the importance of open space amenities and environmental enhancement.

There are a number of challenges in urban planning and development – currently as we intensify we see an increase in hard surfaces leading to increased runoff issues and infrastructure strain. Balancing urban development with green spaces is highlighted as a challenge, especially in brownfield areas like Linwood. What regulations can the CCC introduce to reduce the amount on hard surfaces during new builds?

2608 - Simon Henry

Stop allowing cell phone towers to be put up everywhere. You are ruining the city and harming people. I will leave this city because of this. And the water issues.

>>>

Less cell phone towers.

2784 - Jenny Smith (Te Whare Roimata Trust)

We are acutely aware that the Inner City East Linwood West neighbourhood has long been a marginalised neighbourhood, rated 8-10 on the NZ Social Deprivation Index (most vulnerable). Since early European Settlement these neighbourhoods have been home to the city's poor, especially post-war. Here low income single people, couples and sole parent families with one or two children have been housed in low cost private rental housing. This unique housing role has not been easily found elsewhere in other parts of the city. The neighbourhood is also home to a number of social service agencies, many strategically located to be close to the people they support. The largest, and most known, is the Christchurch City Mission. Post-quake much of this affordable housing has been replaced by housing targeted at high income earners resulting in the displacement of the traditional dwellers. The displacement effect has seen people holed up in temporary accommodation - often in lodges on the outskirts of the city, or local backpackers, while others have become homeless. This has had a damaging impact on support networks and undermined the strong sense of community that this neighbourhood has long been known for. While we recognise the need for the city to grow upwards to accommodate growth, we strongly advocate that housing intensification must be done well if we are to avoid the destruction of an already established neighbourhood with a strong sense of community. This is to ensure all can thrive and have equitable access to housing not just high income earners, and as well the opportunities to participate and belong. We firmly believe this will require an interventionist approach to the District Plan rather than the current hands-off, market-led approach currently favoured under the NPS-UD. This will require prioritising the needs of traditional low-income dwellers so they too can thrive and contribute.

We refer you to the Inner City East / Linwood Revitalisation Plan 2021 prepared by the Inner City East/Linwood Revitalisation Working Group undertaken in partnership between the Christchurch City Council, Te Whare Roimata Trust and the local community. In Te Whare Roimata's submission on Plan Change 14 we strongly advocated for the need for Special Character Areas to be created in areas like the Inner City East / Linwood West where there is a high proportion of Naturally Occurring Affordable Housing. These Special Character Areas need to be considered as a Qualifying Matter, enabling the Council to have a range of regulatory options and non-statutory planning supports such as affordable housing targets and rates rebates. We believe the District Plan would be strengthened by the adoption of these planning tools.

We refer you to the Inner City East / Linwood Revitalisation Plan 2021 prepared by the Inner City East/Linwood Revitalisation Working Group undertaken in partnership between the Christchurch City Council, Te Whare Roimata Trust and the local community.

In Te Whare Roimata's submission on Plan Change 14 we strongly advocated for the need for Special Character Areas to be created in areas like the Inner City East / Linwood West where there is a high proportion of Naturally Occurring Affordable Housing. These Special Character Areas need to be considered as a Qualifying Matter, enabling the Council to have a range of regulatory options and non-statutory planning supports such as affordable housing targets and rates rebates. We believe the District Plan would be strengthened by the adoption of these planning tools.

>>>

We note that with the projected growth in the Central City there will also be the need for the development of new schools to meet growing population demands. We are aware that Christchurch East School's roll continues to grow and soon will reach capacity. We wonder what thought has gone into planning for meeting the educational needs of school children in the expanding population of the South East Central City neighbourhoods and whether there isn't a need to do so.

2787 - Jean Drage

[Strategic Direction > Other Policy Matters]

Whilst the discussion on this long term plan includes reference to future changes to the three waters, the RMA, recommendations from the recent Inquiry into the Future for Local Government and (the new kid on the block) City Plans, central government is still to address the urgent funding needs of local authorities

2799 - Dot Lovell-Smith

Hornby is an area where Council has allowed the establishment of many fast food and liquor outlets so there is a need for increased rubbish collection and surveillance of footpaths for broken glass, and other damage.

Think of future plans to make the Roberts road shingle pit a lovely recreational site at the end of its life as a dust producing shingle pit . Force the owners of the shingle pit to plant a dense tree strip right around it to stop the silicon containing dust drifting over the houses of Islington, Yaldhurst Rd and Hei Hei. It is dangerous to our health.

2809 - Susan Thorpe

6) WITHDRAW SUPPORT FOR SNA'S AND PNA'S

SNA'S AND PNA'S under the camouflage of preserving biodiversity, introduce ever-increasing regulations, restrictions and vetoes on property owners, which can make farms unviable, and which Maori in particular have described as 'land grabs'.

 No buy in to further ECAN's Special Natural Areas (SNA's)*

 No buy in to further DoC's Protected Natural Areas (PNAs)*

[Full attachment available]

2810 - Kari Hunter

We need you to help end housing deprivation, unaffordable housing costs, and further urban sprawl. We currently need more housing, and this is expected to increase. I propose that the Council:

- Require well-planned medium density residential and mixed development near public transport nodes (3 – 4 storeys).
- Build more public council housing that is well-planned, healthy, affordable, energy efficient. Cities that have healthy, affordable stable housing tend to have a significantly higher proportion of public housing than does Christchurch.
- Stop urban sprawl. This will reduce the amount of new roading and services, and reduce the lengths that will need to be maintained.

>>>

Everyone needs healthy affordable roof over their heads. This not likely to be provided for adequately by the market.

2836 - Jillian Frater

I consider the Council should provide build a denser city and restrict urban sprawl

2865 - Natalie Henderson

No mention of spacial planning in terms of housing - going up is WAY better than going out. Higher density is better for everybody, and planning for 15min communities is excellent idea.

2868 - Jonty Coulson

Other active and public transport policies and spending should be implemented. This includes restricting urban sprawl, reducing road funding, providing better public transport including increased support for a mass rapid transit corridor, and allocating funds to safer speeds projects.

296 - Deborah Spencer

what about affordable housing?

2998 - Jane Higgins (Christchurch Methodist Mission)

The Plan notes that by 2034 there will be an additional 32,000 people living in Christchurch and that this population will be an ageing one. We are concerned, therefore, about the lack of attention paid to housing in this Plan. The supply of safe, affordable, quality housing, particularly for the growing population of older residents, is already a significant issue for many. We encourage Council to consider housing as a core infrastructure issue.

>>>

We affirm the Council's involvement in the Greater Christchurch Partnership Housing Action Plan. This is a vital step in addressing the housing crisis, and a recognition that local government has a crucial role to play.

3016 - Zarah Green

[Spending>Capital Programme (General)]; [Transport>Roads (Capital)]; [Transport>Transport (Operations)]

This needs to be thought about alongside external factors as well. 2 examples. The people of Selwyn are using more and more of the roading infrastructure in Halswell etc but NZTA don't have onramps / offramps to the Southern Motorway to support increased levels of traffic in Halswell. Another example is the Ministry of Education doesn't want to build another high school in the Halswell / Prebbleton area, but the footpaths, cycleways and bus services don't support children getting to Hilmorton high school in a safe manner.

320 - Ian Knewstubb (Lyttelton Times Ltd)

Lyttelton Times Ltd own a property at 2 Norwich Quay, Lyttelton. The property is occupied by the LytteltonTimes Building and is not vacant. The building was damaged in the earthquakes and we are at present in the throes of obtaining both a resource consent and a building consent to enable remedial repairs including earthquake strengthening. An issue for all the sites on Norwich Quay is the impact of being in the Port Noise zone and the onerous restrictions placed by the Port Company on what were in many cases buildings with an historic accommodation component.

>>>

I shall be lobbying the community board and asking them how the Quay once described as a "Fine Esplanade", has been allowed to become such a desolate place and how Fulton Hogan have been enabled to use a significant part of it as an Industrial storage area in what is Zoned Commercial?

3411 - Marian Krogh (Protect Our Winters NZ)

For too long, the north of the central city has not had a supermarket in walking distance as Foodstuffs has held their Salisbury Street site at ransom until the CCC completes this project. Significantly, this holds back the potential growth and intensification of the northern city as well as the viability of the South-East Central Neighbourhood Plan.

>>>

General Significant Natural Areas? What approach will the council take? We need to continue to progress this - regardless of government direction.

>>>

Transport makes up 54% of Christchurch's gross emissions. There needs to be a bigger emphasis to reduce these emissions. POW suggests that the council prioritise higher density across Christchurch. Urban sprawl needs to stop. The outer suburbs are limiting options for future public green space and productive land. Higher density means public and active transport networks will be more efficient. Higher density also means that private car use would be less as people will live close to areas of work, study, play, and shop. Fewer cars means less air pollution, fewer road deaths, a quieter and nicer city to be outside in.

3471 - Murray Irvine

Yes you should change the land in the Avonhead, Harewood, Casebrook, area it can be subdivided further. This is unproductive land that cannot be used for agriculture because of the close density of the current housing. We own 6 ha in Harewood Road which we can do nothing with it. If it was rezoned into residential or lifestyle you could take several hundred thousand dollars a year in rates.

>>>

Change the airport decibel lines to accommodate more development only a few kilometers from the square and city centre.

>>>

Yes please revisit the nonproductive land in Harewood and Sawyers Arms road that is producing nothing but cannot be subdivided down lower than 4 ha. This is just crazy and has no sense at all.

3483 - Jo Bethell

I strongly encourage the council to work the regional council, and central government, to reduce the unnecessary disposal of soil disturbed through land redevelopment processes to landfills (refer to recent PCE reports on this, and the value of urban soils<https://pce.parliament.nz/explore/urban-soil/>. This is also in line with MfE Waste Strategy Goal 8). As well as building in waste minimisation initiatives such that there is less waste (and recycling) to collect, and to ensure that contamination of recycling is minimised so that the material can actually be recycled!

3485 - Dr Sally Price

On a similar note, it is great to see the installation of all the cycleways, but with upcoming potential increases in housing density, care needs to be taken and allowances made for car parking (not removing it all) so that retailers can survive and people can have easy access to their homes (for those that need their cars for their day-to-day transport).

3493 - Brendon Lee

I'm ashamed to live in CCC where CCC listens to a small group of stakeholders; the residential consortiums in areas like Merivale or Riccarton who openly oppose the national plan for urban intensification. Those people from those consortiums do not speak for the 1st time home buyers, nor speak for affordable housing. Imagine if CCC would make building consents much easier without the unproductive, restrictive red tape, that it deters residential building in Christchurch, and instead, put their resources to build in areas like Auckland where their city councils are more pro-Intensification building. By increasing the # of dwellings in Christchurch, you increase your tax base, which increases your revenue, and then we would not be faced with such 13% rate rise this year. NIMBY has overtaken Christchurch and i'm quite ashamed when I look at world class cities in other countries like Vancouver, Canada (where the city pushes for 'lane houses' - they actually help you build and get consent, not like our CCC engineers that find every any to fault submitted building plans ; just so they can serve their own legitimacy working at the helm of CCC.

>>>

A clean, prosperous city, means a city that increases productivity for all. Starting with increasing residential density builds. When people spend less time commuting (because they don't have to live out in Rolleston or Belfast), you save time, which time is $. This means multistory complexes. Reduce the red tape in consent approvals for building because $ flows anywhere. If we make it hard to build in CCC, then we will see fewer capital investment in favour for places like Auckland or abroad.

3525 - Andrew Hey

More for affordable and accessible housing

3552 - Alice Neylon

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Urban Regeneration]. [Grants & Funding > Other]

I dont want to see what happened in Auckland with Taylor Swift happen in Christchurch. I also dont want what happened with Darude to ever happen again. Please make the city attractive to international music acts.

3577 - Marie Byrne

I note an increasing number of housing developments in Phillipstown with multiple unit structures replacing single 'unit' properties and increasing the number of people using our infrastructure services. I question whether our infrastructure has the capacity to cope with the increased demand. Does the underground waste network have the capacity to cope? As an example, already I note that the increase of on-street parking that is coming with the increased housing density on the streets of Phillipstown is causing congestion and difficulties with service vehicles such as rubbish trucks manoeuvring through the suburb.

3613 - Catherine McLeavy

Stop allowing development in coastal, low lying or river suburbs.

3614 - Lin Roberts

What approach is the council taking to Significant Natural Areas?

- Transport makes up 54% of Christchurch's gross emissions; cars alone are 22%, whilst utes and vans are 10%. There were also 462 premature deaths attributed to human-made air pollution in Christchurch in 2016. The bulk of this air pollution is caused by exhaust fumes from fossil fuel vehicles.
- We need to focus on reducing these emissions and deaths. We can do so by:
 - o Ensuring we build a denser city, not continuing to sprawl out over our farmland

3615 - Janine Clarke

As previously stated we need to look after our environment so that it looks after us. Having recently returned from living in the UK where housing developments have been built on flood plains, and the consequences of that, putting up parking lots and paving paradise is also an issue we need to be wary of.

3621 - Morgane Honore

Christchurch City Council needs to commit fully to implementing the Multiple Dwellings Rating System (MDRS) by 2025. By expanding the rating base through zoning for more buildings, the costs can be spread more equitably among residents. This move will support the city's growth and ensure a fair distribution of rates.

3637 - Sam Davidson

Integrating degrowth principles into the LTP is vital. This includes prioritising green spaces over urban sprawl, reducing the emphasis on growth-driven economic models, and focusing on sustainability. Planning should not just mitigate ecological and climate risks but also proactively reshape our urban environment to reduce consumption and production patterns that exceed our ecological boundaries.

>>>

In conclusion, while the LTP addresses several critical areas, it requires a more ambitious approach to sustainability and degrowth, ensuring that Christchurch can thrive within its ecological limits and contribute positively to the global effort to prevent ecological collapse. By embracing these principles, Christchurch can lead by example in creating a sustainable and equitable future.

3658 - Tom Logan

1. CCC should commit to implementing MDRS in full by 2025, in order to maintain a growing ratings base.

>>>

City-wide (not just coastal) adaptation planning is required to consider the potential impacts from a changing climate. This includes the effects of heat, wind, wildfire, river flooding, groundwater rise, etc. on infrastructure, buildings, workers, and residents, among others.

3683 - Max Sullivan

It is also crucial to increase density and avoid urban sprawl.

3745 - Victoria Rathgen

Setting up all the units in suburban residential area has destroyed the community harmony. People do not want to live next to 50 units and leave if they can sell - after all who wants to buy it. This has caused greater infrastructure problems such as sewage, water which as a community have to pay for all the units that weren't wanted in the first place...no one is happy except the developer.

>>>

Why so many died scrap car yards in Bromley all stacked up so high - hope no one starts a fire or similar.

3748 - Greta Bond (Age Concern Canterbury)

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Social Housing]

While we understand the sunk cost on Te Kaha, it seems a slightly skewed priority, particularly when compared with the amount that has been allocated to housing. Older people in Canterbury increasingly do not own their own homes, and the rental market can be very difficult to navigate for older people (particularly those on fixed incomes).

It is estimated that by 2040, around 50% of people turning 65 will own their own homes and our rental market is simply not set up to cope with this. Private rentals (renewable each year) do not provide secure tenancy for older people, who are reliant on their local communities in a way that younger people may not be, and who may not have the ability to resettle in a new area if required to do so. Many who don't own their own home will not have the option of moving to a retirement village; low-income, warm, dry, social housing will be needed - it would be good to see the CCC developing planning around how to support this cohort, before they arrive. We see a number of older renters even today who need support to find appropriate housing

3845 - Wolfgang Rack

It feels like continuing business as usual. The city is spreading out in area, instead of more densified living in the newly developed suburbs. House densification seems happening only in the inner suburbs. As a consequence, public transport and cycleways stay underdeveloped, individual transport is encouraged and increasing, and rates are skyrocketing to maintain the infrastructure.

3849 - David Peddie

Housing development outside city limits need careful planning. Within the city new housing should include enough off street parking for residents

3850 - Stephanie Remington

Stop building houses along the beach fronts where we know is a huge tsunami risk.

>>>

Stop building new houses on beach fronts which we know will be a risk in the near future. Use some common sense!

3856 - Portia Bishop

[Rates > Other]

Implement MDRS by 2025 for more equitable distribution of rates

3862 - Katharine Metherell

Council needs tighter controls on facilities developers are providing in new subdivisions, this includes trees and landscape values, pedestrian and cycle access and community facilities. Halswell has limited cafes - all good but with no safe community space around them. Even the cafe at Halswell quarry opens into the car park which is not ideal for families with young children. If subdivisions services are interrupted by private or council land then the developer should be forced to provide a sufficient contribution to connect facilities, and the timeframe of the connection needs to be realistic to the demand of use.

3915 - Redacted Redacted

-Commit to implementing MDRS in full by 2025 to maintain a growing ratings base.

3936 - Carley Dove-McFalls

[Rates > City Vacant Differential]

The city vacant differential rates should be expanded to all commercial zones and car park development should be banned from qualifying as development. Development on this land must be green space, multi use buildings, community centres, or dense housing.

3939 - Michele Hollis

[Grants & Funding > Arts Centre]

More broadly, don't expect single institutions to swim against a tide while making that tide stronger -- every time you encourage more greenfields development, downgrade active and public transport in the city centre, continue to enable landlords to use their central city property as gravel carparks (while others invested in parking buildings), or give in to NIMBY pressure, you make it harder for places like The Arts Centre which need a greater concentration of people living, working and playing around it.

3941 - Georgina Stanley (Smith Street Community Farm Trust)

[Grants and Funding > Other Community Grants and Funding]

Finding ways to develop funding schedules that support community organizations to be more resilient to change. Change happens not just from funding cuts but because of the unforeseen needs of communities. The increased density in our neighborhood as well as the cost-of-living increase means we now support a neighborhood three times the density we had three years ago. Supporting communities' organizations that are seeing rapid increases in neighborhood density to enable us to welcome new residents and support their need to put down roots and connect to their neighbors.

>>>

Opening up funding to communities that are experiencing rapid intensification. The change in residential density has impacts on both new residents and existing residents, supporting community organizations to grow with their communities.

3977 - Defyd Williams

High rise in inner city would be best way to revitalise inner city. What is happening at the vacant Christchurch Women's Hospital site?

418 - Molly Magid

I think the city needs to focus on increasing housing within the city that allows for increased active transport and for the construction of cycleways to connect parts of the city.

4264 - Sam Newton (Recreation Aotearoa)

63. Council planning needs to adopt a long-term approach that considers factors such as urbanisation, population growth, and an ageing population, to ensure recreation can continue to thrive amid change.

[Full Attachment Available]

533 - Judith Livingstone

[Strategic Direction>Climate Change]

In-building of units / houses without trees is not helping the climate. Concrete jungles cause flooding as the rain etc can't soak away into the ground therefore cause flooding

570 - Greg Partridge

I agree that our waterways need protecting, and should not be allowed to deteriorate any further than they already are. Protecting our waterways is crucial. Sadly, due to housing intensification across Christchurch (which has been enabled by the CCC), greed driven property developers have been allowed to clear-fell thousands of well-established and mature trees across our city, all at the expense of the natural environment. This stripping of the existing tree canopy coverage is incredibly detrimental to the environment and overall health and wellbeing of our city. Urban development increases the contaminant load in stormwater discharges and contaminant load and pollutant volumes which are being flushed into Christchurch waterways out of all of the pipes which have no pollution filters on them other than stormwater grates in the gutters which do nothing to prevent heavy metals, micro plastics, oil and other waste being poured into the rivers and streams of Christchurch.

>>>

Agreeing on the need to protect our waterways, it's unfortunate to witness the clearing of well-established trees due to housing intensification, a lack of affirmative action and poor decisions facilitated by the CCC. This has led to increased stormwater contamination and environmental degradation.

>>>

Agreeing on the need to protect our waterways, it's unfortunate to witness the clearing of well-established trees due to housing intensification, a lack of affirmative action and poor decisions facilitated by the CCC. This has led to increased stormwater contamination and environmental degradation.

>>>

Agreeing on the need to protect our waterways, it's unfortunate to witness the clearing of well-established trees due to housing intensification, facilitated by the CCC. This leads to increased stormwater contamination and environmental degradation.

>>>

It has been unfortunate to witness the clearing of well-established trees throughout Christchurch due to housing intensification, facilitated by the CCC. This has arguably led to increased stormwater contamination and environmental degradation.

6903 - Don Jellyman

With increased housing density (infill housing; smaller sections; multiple townhouses on single property etc), people will need more access to 'green' places. Waterways are a key feature of Chch, a protection (communities adopting a stretch of river) + enhancement are essential.

781 - Jenene Parker

Keep our ARABLE land for food not houses or industry.

855 - Anna van Haastrecht

Quite frankly I do not understand why the Council uses so many contractors; contractors are in business to make a profit, a profit that the rate-payer pays for! Apart from that, some are completely useless. A prime example of this is Armourguard, responsible for, amongst other things, noise control. I have literally been bullied out of my home by an incredibly noisy neighbour, without Noise control, or better Armourguard, doing anything at all. And yes, this case is now before the Ombudsman!

Population, Household & Business Growth

General Comments

2 submissions were received addressing population, household & business growth

1 comment opposed, and 1 comment suggested what could be done differently.

Officer Response

The two submitters made comments relating to population and household growth in the city.

The Council uses StatsNZ Household and Population projections to plan for future growth. Christchurch is a growing city, our population has grown by around 70,000 years in the past 30 years and is expected to grow by additional 70,000 in the next 30 years. StatsNZ regularly produces three growth scenarios (low, medium and high). In Christchurch our actual growth has typically tracked closely to the medium scenario, so this is the one we tend to use for our planning. The focus is on identifying the scenario which represents the most realistic of future growth. Over or under planning for growth comes with risk, so we undertake a range of monitoring that helps us understand how growth is tracking and what future growth scenario is most likely. The organisation uses these projections and the outputs from our growth models to ensure that we are catering for this growth in our planning.

Many aspects of growth are impacted by Central Government policy, it is the Council's job to plan and prepare for growth that may occur in the city as a result of these policies. This includes implementation of the Government's National Policy Statement on Urban Development. Objectives of the NPS-UD seek that "New Zealand has well-functioning urban environments that enable all people and communities to provide for their social, economic, and cultural wellbeing, and for their health and safety, now and into the future." As expressed, the Council is to support the well-being of people who choose to live, work and visit Christchurch. Furthermore, the NPS-UD anticipates "Planning decisions improve housing affordability by supporting competitive land and development markets". Inherent within the economy is competition which is supported by enabling growth.

Oppose

3733 - Helen Reason

There is an underlying assumption throughout the Plan that population and economic growth will continue indefinitely and that the former must be accommodated and the latter planned for. I contend that neither of these assumptions is consistent with long-term sustainability. I note the presence of the phrase "sustainable growth" in the Consultation document (page 17). This concept has long been questioned and effectively demonstrated to be fallacious (see, for example, "The End of Growth" by Richard Heinberg). Rather than assuming indefinite growth in the population of Otago, a sustainable approach would ascertain the biological carrying capacity of the city and immediate hinterland in terms of essentials such as food, water and waste-assimilative capacity. This carrying capacity would provide a limit to be observed by the sum of practical activities by Council. The limit would have some flexibility that might allow for growth as new resources are made use of but any growth should remain constrained by such 'affordable' limits.

The growth paradigm also underpins the approach to capital investment with an assumption of growth of financial capacity to cover debt repayment. Despite long term prognostication of financial events by the Council's consultants, in truth the future is much less certain or predictable and any likely changes as a result of e.g. climate change, are likely to be negative in terms of economic growth/financial capacity.

The incorporation of growth into the Plan adds costs. A second feature of the Plan, also unquestioned, which contributes to increasing costs is the drive for superlative achievement in all facets of life in Otago. It is impossible to extract the component of costs that this imperative results in, but I suggest that it is significant. In a time of evident constraints, I question the advisability of pursuing excellence in all fields with such single-mindedness. Surely adequacy is a more appropriate approach

>>>

In summary

I am advocating for: An assessment of the role of growth assumptions and aspirational targets in the Draft Plan and development of a strategy that recognizes limits to growth and the nature of true long-term sustainability

Other

1932 - Cynthia Carey

(no more taking in refugees that over populate our cities and neglect our citizens and would be a help on infrastructure)

Strategic Transport

General comments

301 submissions were received addressing strategic transport.

36 comments supported, and 8 comments opposed strategic transport.

133 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 134 comments provided general feedback addressing strategic transport.

Officer Response

Submitters stated support for greater investment in improving peoples' travel choices, including:

- Reducing emissions / car use

Many submitters highlighted the need for the city to reduce its emissions through reducing car use. Suggested mechanisms to do this were: expanding and accelerating the cycleways programme (both major and local); public transport improvements; safe speed neighbourhoods; traffic calming; upzoning urban areas and allowing more mixed use; and congestion charges and more parking charging.

In 2019 Council set a target for the city in the 2021 Ōtautahi Christchurch Climate Resilience Strategy to have net zero greenhouse gas emissions by 2045, and a 50% reduction by 2030 (from 2016/17 baseline, excluding methane). On-road transport contributes 38% of the city's emissions, so reducing on-road transport emissions is an essential part of meeting this target.

Meeting these targets will require a broad range of changes to the transport system across a range of organisations to occur. Many of these sit with central government, for example strengthening the emissions trading scheme and its carbon budgets, policy settings around incentivisation of zero-emission vehicles, and investment decisions for the National Land Transport Fund. Others sit with local government, including the extent to which council ensures its streets are safe and attractive for zero-emissions travel, the transport options it enables; the way it charges for its infrastructure (including car parking); and the way it controls and incentivises the urban form through planning and rating settings. The recently adopted Greater Christchurch Spatial Plan aims to “focus growth through targeted intensification in urban and town centres and along public transport routes”. It includes a direction to ‘prioritise sustainable and accessible transport choices to move people and goods in way that significantly reduces greenhouse gas emissions’.

Work done to date by both council, ECan and national agencies suggests that a future transport system consistent with our targets will feature both zero-emission vehicles and substantially reduced use of cars.

The LTP goes some way towards transitioning our local transport system into this future system, by including foundational investments in cycleways, public transport improvements and more walkable neighbourhoods including reduced speed limits, footpath improvements and improved amenity (such as, street trees).

Developing an updated strategic transport plan outlining the Council’s transport emissions reduction plan is an action in the Council’s Climate Resilience Strategy. A new strategic transport plan is currently under development, which will provide the strategic direction for transport in Christchurch over the next 30 years.

- Investing in mass rapid transit for the city

Many submitters expressed support for implementation of mass rapid transit to be budgeted in this long term plan. Most talk about light or heavy rail, a smaller number want express electric buses. One submission was opposed to mass rapid transit, primarily due to cost.

Together with its Greater Christchurch Partners, council is progressing investigations into mass rapid transit in Christchurch. An Indicative Business Case (IBC) was completed in 2023 and its recommendations were adopted by the Council and our Greater Christchurch partners. The IBC recommended a street-running system from the city centre to Hornby using Main South and Riccarton Roads, and to Belfast using Papanui and Main North Roads. The travel mode has not been determined and it could be either light rail or large articulated buses in a busway.

The long-term plan contains funding to progress the next phase of the project, a detailed business case, but not implementation as funding arrangements for the implementation phase are yet to be agreed.

ECan’s Regional Land Transport Plan includes $800m budget for mass rapid transit over the next ten years, which would likely cover the detailed business case and pre-implementation phases, corridor protection and all necessary land purchase. The extent to which central government will fund this project over the next three years will be confirmed when the National Land Transport Programme is announced in early September 2024.

Staff advice is to continue as planned with our Greater Christchurch partners to the next MRT route protection phase.

- Investing in passenger rail for the wider region

Many submitters expressed support for a passenger rail service on the existing lines. Various ideas were put forward including servicing Darfield, Amberley, Rolleston, Rangiora, Lincoln and Kaiapoi. One submission proposed a new railway line looping westward to service the airport.

Some submitters expressed support for planning for and investing in passenger rail service beyond Christchurch City. The Regional Transport Committee (RTC) has been progressing work on this topic in recent years.

Recent work

In February 2022 the RTC received a notice of motion from former ECan Councillor Tane Apanui seeking to trial a start-up passenger rail service, such as Te Huia which operates between Auckland and Hamilton. In response, ECan developed the Canterbury Passenger Rail Technical Paper which explored different options for regional passenger rail service. In August 2023 the RTC voted to request that ECan commission the next planning step, being development of a market and rail utilisation study, which is scheduled in Year 2 of the ECan LTP. The RTC also included inter-regional passenger travel within the future development section of the 2024-34 Regional Land Transport Plan, which means that the activity is not funded but is identified as an activity that is scheduled for future investigation.

The Council's current public transport priority is implementing the Public Transport Futures Business Case (improving our existing bus system) and progressing the Mass Rapid Transit Detailed Business Case. Both will result in significant benefits for Christchurch City and the sub-region.

However, there are benefits to continuing to investigate intra and inter-regional rail options for regional transport decarbonisation. The most appropriate place to undertake and influence the pace of this assessment is at a regional level.

- Better providing for inclusive access and equitable travel options

Submitters highlighted the need for council to provide for residents who cannot drive for various reasons, such as, age, disability, finances. Suggested ways of doing this included improving public transport, cycleways, safe speed neighbourhoods, improved footpaths, better wheelchair accessibility, demand responsive transit. One suggested prioritising these in lower decile areas, such as, East Christchurch.

The transport network plays a key role in how everyone gets around Ōtautahi Christchurch. The network is currently most useful to those with access to a car, and it can be a challenge to navigate for those who don't.

Many people cannot drive such as young and older people, people with disabilities, and people who cannot afford a vehicle, and they are all dependent on walking, cycling, public transport, taxis, and rides from others. Creating genuine and safe travel choices for people helps to improve transport equity.

The draft LTP goes some way to ensuring inclusive access and equitable travel options through its cycleways programme, public transport improvements including bus stop upgrades to wheelchair accessible standard, more walkable neighbourhoods (including safe crossings and speed limit reductions), and improved footpath maintenance. We continue to partner with ECan and central government to improve public transport services in the city and advocate for continued affordability.

- Safer streets, especially around schools

Submissions called for council to provide safer streets for residents, especially those around schools. Ways of doing this included rolling out safe speed limits, banning car parking outside school gates, more cycleways and more pedestrian crossings. One suggested prioritising these in lower income areas. Others suggestions included school cycle skills and training, bike bridge (adult cycle skills), changes to driver licensing to increase competence, compulsory driver training for tourists renting vehicles, and compulsory stand down periods for long-distance travellers.

Some submitters expressed support for safer infrastructure for walking and cycling, especially around schools.

While speeds are often a key factor, there are many different common contributing factors to serious crashes, and the problem is complex. Safely designed infrastructure, safe and appropriate speed limits, and active enforcement can all contribute to safer streets.

Council has been implementing numerous safety focused capital projects over previous years, and the number of people dying or seriously injured on our roads has generally decreased over the past decade. For example, the minor safety improvements programme has implemented low-cost safe system infrastructure at a number of high-risk locations around the city. Additionally, the Council has implemented safer speed limits around the city and more recently around all schools.

Further staff advice on safety is detailed in the 10.1 Transport (Operations) submission response

Submissions contained a range of views on:

- Prioritising cycling and walking

Some submitters strongly supported more investment to improve walking and cycling infrastructure citing their reduced environmental impact, lower capital and maintenance costs, lower user costs, safety benefits, reduced congestion, tourism, health, wellbeing, cleaner air, and improved amenity. A smaller number of submissions strongly opposed investment in walking and cycling citing cost, inconvenience to motorists, and only small numbers of people using cycleways and footpaths.

The Major Cycle Routes programme was initiated in 2013 and is currently approximately two thirds complete, with the remaining third scheduled to be completed over the next decade. Progress to date has resulted in an increase in cycling in the city: since 2017 the number of daily cyclists has grown by 40% across the city, virtually all of it in the areas where major cycleways have been built. The associated local cycleway connections programme has some work scheduled within the ten years of this LTP, but is mostly scheduled to occur beyond the ten year timeframe.

The LTP transport programme has funding allocated for footpath maintenance and improvements, continued completion of the MCR network; and the safe speed neighbourhood programme.

Further staff advice is detailed in the 10.3 Cycleways (Capital) submission response.

- Prioritising public transport

Most submitters supported public transport in a general sense but did not give reasons why or specifics of what they want to see. A smaller number of submitters opposed public transport, citing cost, not many people using it, or the fact that they don't use it.

The LTP currently includes allowance to improve public transport through the "PT Futures" programme. In early years this includes relatively low cost improvements including more bus shelters, information and wayfinding, changes to traffic signals to prioritise buses (right-turn arrows, phasing), and some smaller sections of bus lanes (the biggest one being the extension of the Lincoln Road bus lane to Wrights Road). In latter years there is a greater allowance to enable more substantial improvements such as longer lengths of bus lanes and multi-modal transfer hubs where multiple bus routes intersect.

Further staff advice is detailed in the 10.5 Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital) submission response.

- Changes to parking and road pricing

Submissions called for the introduction of congestion charging and/or toll roads, and higher and more extensive parking fees, to reduce traffic and generate revenue for improvements to public transport, walking and cycling. A smaller number of submissions opposed increases to parking fees.

Road users in Christchurch are currently charged indirectly for the upkeep of our roads through rates, the national system of registration fees, fuel excise duties and road user charges.

Road pricing to more proactively manage congestion or reduce emissions would require significant legislative and systemic change. Enabling congestion and time of use charging is being investigated as part of wider Government review of transport fees and financing. The initial focus is likely to be on Auckland but with signals that, if successful, any road pricing scheme could be expanded to other cities in future.

Regarding road pricing, staff advice at this point is to continue allowing central government to take the lead and to monitor developments.

In contrast to road pricing, Council does already have the legislative ability to price parking. Most on-street parking in the city is currently provided free of charge, with the exception of some central city metered spaces. Council also own two central city parking buildings which have usage fees.

Regarding parking pricing, the Council takes a market based approach to setting parking fees. This includes regularly reviewing the parking charges set in other main centres around New Zealand, and taking a comparative approach as appropriate to local market conditions. If there was a desire to elevate the priority of parking pricing in the LTP, hourly charging rates could be changed through annual reviews and/or metered on-street parking could be expanded.

The LTP consultation document also included a proposal to introduce user-charges for council off-street parking areas in parks.

Further staff advice is detailed in the 10.6 Carparking (Capital) submission response.

Support

1104 - Kate Bevin

[Transport>Cycleways (Capital)]; [Transport>Footpaths & Streetscapes (Capital)]

Please continue to promote and encourage sustainable transport and build safe cycling and walking infrastructure across the city.

1229 - Cassandra Albert

Put money into "Mass Rapid Transit" (MRT) - the population is increasing and so are our carbon emissions. MRT is cheaper for passengers (you) and cheaper for the Council than roads, freeing up money for climate work and getting you around the city with lower emissions.

133 - Alan Mears

Given the issue of Climate Change repercussions it seems vital to promote alternative modes of transport (walking, biking) rather than facilitating the use of more motor vehicle

1350 - George Ambridge

[Three Waters > Other]

I agree the majority of spending should be on safe, low-emission transport choices and upgrades to three waters infrastructure.

1365 - Valerie Grose

I believe we need to keep promoting public transport as a way to reduce the cars on the road and provide this service for people that need it as they may not be able to drive or be able to afford a car

1456 - Henry Bersani

Implement a mass rapid transport system

>>>

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

Roading and cycleways Higher priority to public transport and cycling infrastructure that make a safer, more accessible city that encourages health and wellbeing, reduces wear and tear on roads, and improves congestion and air quality. This is particularly important for me as someone who prefers to cycle but has had a number of scary experiences where cars have driven on cycle lanes (one where I was knocked off my bike, 1.5 years later I still feel shoulder and back pain) Growing the network of protected cycleways and designing all new road developments with cycling in mind should be a priority and will see fewer people in cars and more on bikes more investment needed in climate neutral travel since car travel makes up a high % of CO2 emissions. Cycling & public transport needs to be prioritised.*

1852 - Jessica Lamb

2261 - Tony Hampton (Health New Zealand Te Whatu Ora – Waitaha | Canterbury)

Transport, Safety, Access and Environment: Access Ref. Page 106	Health NZ Waitaha Canterbury agrees that inadequate or unequal access to transport networks can create economic disparities between communities. Mitigations include development of integrated transport systems and modes of transport to improve access for communities. CCC is also proposing prioritising neighbourhood access to everyday essential services without requiring use of a private car. This is reflected in the service level target to increase access within 15 minutes to key	Support: the prioritisation of improvements to passenger transport services linking key activity centres and the central city, including health and hospital services. Recommend: CCC planning regulations consider and enable the development of larger health service
---	--	--

	destination types by walking (to at least four of the five basic services: food shopping, education, employment, health, and open spaces). We note historical performance sits at 45% with CCC targeting ≥51% by 2027-2034. Health NZ Waitaha Canterbury support this and notes the change in model away from stand-alone general practices to larger health hubs bringing together integrated health services would support this goal.	hubs within residential neighbourhoods. Recommend: CCC work with Health NZ Waitaha Canterbury and Iwi Māori Partnership Boards to understand the health needs of local communities.
--	--	---

2520 - Graeme Fraser (Diamond Harbour Community Association)

Priority should be given to public transport which serves the needs of residents while lessening carbon emissions.

2559 - Michael Campbell

Yes: Transportation makes up an unbelievable amount of our emissions. This needs to change and I support the following recommendations to Council: - Prioritise planning and constructing a denser city while curbing urban sprawl into remaining green spaces and productive land. >>> Furthermore, I call for the reinstatement of various separate projects within the Draft LTP Capital Programme that contribute to mode diversification and safety enhancements in heavily trafficked areas. Additionally, I request that the funding models for certain programs revert to the Current Amended LTP 2024-2034 funding allocations to ensure continuity and effectiveness. Lastly, I completely support heeding the advice from He Pou a Rangi - Climate Change Commission to complete projects related to Major Cycle Routes, Local Cycle Network, or Cycle Connections programs by no later than 2030, aligning with the recommended completion of Rapid Transit Networks by 2035. [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)] [Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)] [Transport > Footpaths & Streetscapes (Capital)] [Strategic Direction > Climate Resilience]

275 - Phillipa Callick

I appreciate having a regular bus services in my area. The long term focus must be getting people out of cars and into sustainable public transport.

2829 - Jennifer Dalziel

[Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

Encourage more cycling and walking. The number of people cycling has increased exponentially in the last few years . this is because of the increase in cycleways.

2830 - Fiona Bennetts

[Transport > Roads (Capital)], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)], [Other/Special Interest Topics > Climate Adaption Fund]

CCC need to help people choose different ways to travel, such as cycling and public transport, by making cycling safer through separated cycling infrastructure and slower speed limits, and by making buses more frequent and reliable by creating more bus lanes all across the city in congested areas. We also need Mass Rapid Transit to unlock the potential of much denser housing along the MRT route and prevent urban sprawl.

>>>

[Rates > Residential Rates]

• We should be bringing forward MRT for the city as this is a precursor to the confidence to build higher density in the city and along the MRT corridor, and therefore a greater rate base. • The high rate increase is a reflection of the under-investment in the city over a long period of time and the challenges of the earthquakes. Failing to invest in the future will not attract new people and businesses to the city.

>>>

[Transport > Road (Capital)], [Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure] [Transport > Footpaths & Street Scapes (Capital)]

• Transport makes up 54% of Christchurch's gross emissions (cars constitute 22%, whilst utes and vans make up 10%). There is not enough of a focus on reducing these figures. I suggest that the Council consider: ○ The continuation, without additional delays, of the rollout of the Major Cycle Routes programmes, with a focus on completing the partially-complete projects of the Nor'West Arc, South Express, Northern Line, and Wheels to Wings cycleways. ○ Place a higher priority on progressing the Ōtakaro-Avon River commuter route to New Brighton and North-East Cycle Route to Bottle Lake, which would travel through areas currently underserved by existing infrastructure. ○ Place a higher priority on the Southern Lights cycleway, which will serve a community that has already shown high willingness to change mode from car to bike. ○ Ensuring that priority is given to planning and building a denser city (denser housing with lots of shared public spaces), and restricting urban sprawl across the remaining green spaces and productive land available in the city. Provide better public transport options (which will encourage mode shift from private motor vehicles) including fully rolling out PT Futures programme and the construction and permanent enforcement of more bus lanes which have worked well on major thoroughfares such as Lincoln Road and Papanui Road. • There were 462 premature deaths attributed to human-made air pollution in Christchurch in 2016. The majority of this air pollution is caused by exhaust fumes by fossil fuel vehicles. The aforementioned solutions could help in mitigating this issue. • I agree with the aim of increasing access by walking within 15 minutes to key destinations. This is key to livability and reducing emissions and will have a positive impact on local communities in terms of amenities and service availability.

>>>

• I agree that the delivery of School Cycle Skills and Training is good, but without tangible changes to the roads around schools then it is wasted capital. Children need safe networks to get to school. We support the funding of programmes that lower speeds, create safe raised crossings, and priorities separated cycle facilities. • I support the goals within the level of service section "Our networks and services are environmentally sustainable and increasingly resilient" but want to see more ambitious targets and actions to achieve these goals. • The removal of the majority of the Local Cycle Network (LCN) and Cycle Connections programmes from the Draft LTP Capital Programme presents an unacceptable delay and risk to our city. This programme is designed to aid in both feeding users onto the Major Cycle Routes (MCR), and as significant improvements to local cycle infrastructure. Some of these improvements would provide missing links from MCRs to popular destinations which are nearby but not served by the MCR itself, such as Westfield Riccarton from the South Express. Without these improvements, the usefulness of the cycleways is greatly reduced for some people who are not willing to bike unless they can get all the way to their destination safely on a cycleway. There is also a higher likelihood of serious injury or death to cyclists in our city than there should be due to driver behaviour, so infrastructure is needed to protect vulnerable road users until there is a culture shift. The removal or deferral of these projects is not in line with Strategic View 3 "Ensuring Resilience to the Impacts of Climate Change and Natural Hazards", or Strategic View 4 "Planning and Investing for Sustainable Growth" or their respective Strategic Responses and Action Areas given in the council's Infrastructure Strategy (pp.14-16) document attached to this Long Term Plan. • To this end, I request that the following removed Local Cycle Network and Cycle Connections projects be reinstated to the LTP 2024/2034: ○ Waitai Coastal-Burwood-Linwood Community Board: ■ Burwood Ward: ● 41852 - Cycle Connections - Ōtakaro-Avon Route ○ Waimāero Fendalton-Waimairi-Harewood Community Board: ■

Fendalton Ward: ● 44709 – Local Cycle Network – Greers Rd ■ Harewood Ward: ● 41853 – Cycle Connections – Wheels to Wings ● 12692 – Belfast Park Cycle & Pedestrian Rail Crossing ■ Waimairi Ward: ● 44696 – Local Cycle Network – North West Outer Orbital ● 44707 – Local Cycle Network – Bishopdale & Casebrook ○ Waipuna Halswell-Hornby-Riccarton Community Board ■ Halswell Ward: ● 44710 – Local Cycle Network – Halswell to Hornby ● 17059 – Cycle Connections – Little River Link ■ Hornby Ward: ● 41849 – Cycle Connections – South Express ● 44697 – Local Cycle Network – South West Outer Orbital ● 44712 – Local Cycle Network – Springs Road ■ Riccarton Ward: ● 41847 – Cycle Connections – Nor’West Arc ● 44695 – Local Cycle Network – Inner Western Arc ● 44698 – Local Cycle Network – Burnside to Villa ○ Waipapa Papanui-Innes-Central Community Board ■ Central Ward: ● 44693 – Central City Projects – Cycle Connections ● 44699 – Local Cycle Network – Palms to Heathcote Express ● 44706 – Local Cycle Network – Avonside & Wainoni ● 44713 – Local Cycle Network – Ōtākaro-Avon ■ Innes Ward: ● 44701 – Local Cycle Network – Northern Mid Orbital ● 44702 – Local Cycle Network – Northern Outer Orbital ● 44703 – Local Cycle Network – Northwood ○ Waihoru Spreydon-Cashmere-Heathcote Community Board ■ Cashmere Ward: ● 41850 – Cycle Connections – Southern Lights ● 44711 – Local Cycle Network – Opawa, Waltham & Sydenham ■ Heathcote Ward: ● 41844 – Cycle Connections – Heathcote Expressway ● 41851 – Cycle Connections – Ōpāwaho River Route ●

Within the Draft LTP Capital Programme, we also recognise and call for the following separate projects to be reinstated: ○ 53733 – Heathcote Street Pocket Park & Pedestrian Development ○ 53734 – Ferrymead Towpath Connection (FM5) ○ 914 – Core Public Transport Corridor & Facilities – South (Colombo St) ○ 60276 – Public Transport Improvement Programme (Brougham & Moorhouse Area) ○ 60250 – Programme – Electric Vehicle Charging At City Council Off Street Parking Buildings & Facilities ○ 26623 – Edgware Village Masterplan (A1) ○ 63365 – Central City Projects – Active Travel Area ○ 17862 – Clyde, Riccarton & Wharenui Intersection Safety Improvements ● Each of the aforementioned programmes represents an investment either in transport mode diversification or an opportunity to improve safety in a highly trafficked area. ● Within the Draft LTP Capital Programme, I ask that the funding models for the following programmes revert to the Current Amended LTP 2024-2034 funding allocations: ○ 26611 – Major Cycleway – Wheels to Wings Route (Section 1) Harewood to Greers ○ 26612 – Major Cycleway – Wheels to Wings Route (Section 2) Greers to Wooldridge ○ 26613 – Major Cycleway – Wheels to Wings Route (Section 3) Wooldridge to Johns Road Underpass ○ 23101 – Major Cycleway – Nor’West Arc Route (Section 3) University to Harewood (Note: only move the funding back to earlier years 2024/25 and 2025/26 but keep the increase of total funding to $21,704,400) ○ 18396 – Te Kaha Surrounding Streets ○ 26604 – Major Cycleway – Ōpāwaho River Route (Section 1) Princess Margaret Hospital to Corson Avenue ○ 26606 – Major Cycleway – Ōpāwaho River Route (Section 2) Corson to Waltham ○ 26605 – Major Cycleway – Ōpāwaho River Route (Section 3) Waltham to Ferrymead Bridge ○ 23100 – Major Cycleway – Heathcote Expressway Route (Section 2) Tannery to Martindales ○ 26607 – Major Cycleway – Southern Lights Route (Section 1) Strickland to Tennyson ○ 26601 – Major Cycleway – Ōtākaro Avon Route (Section 1) Fitzgerald to Swanns Road Bridge (OARC) ○ 26602 – Major Cycleway – Ōtākaro Avon Route (Section 2) Swanns Road Bridge to Anzac Drive Bridge (OARC) ○ 26603 – Major Cycleway – Ōtākaro Avon Route (Section 3) Anzac Drive Bridge to New Brighton (OARC) ○ 1986 – Programme – Major Cycleway – Northern Line Cycleway ○ 47031 – Major Cycleway – South Express Route (Section 2) Craven to Buchanans ○ 1341 – Major Cycleway – Nor’West Arc Route – Annex, Birmingham & Wrights Corridor Improvement ○ 1993 – Programme – Major Cycleway – Nor’West Arc ○ 17060 – Cycle Connections – Uni-Cycle ○ 930 – Sockburn Roundabout Intersection Safety Improvement ● I ask that the funding models for the following programmes move to earlier years of the LTP as they are currently funding very late in the 10 year plan: ○ 75070 - Memorial Ave Cycle Lanes ● I support keeping the following programmes as they are currently funded in the draft LTP: ○ 73854 - Programme - PT Futures (Externally Funded) ○ 75363 - Programme - Mass Rapid Transit ○ 59181 – Central City Projects – Antigua Street Cycle Network (Tuam-Moorhouse) ○ 65923 - School Safety ○ 68430 – Ferry Road Active Transport Improvements

>>>

- Wayfinding for cycleways should be improved. The current signs are lacking in detail and missing some important landmarks/destinations. For example, signs on the South Express do not include the street name and direction to Westfield Riccarton (down Division Street).
- I support the continuation of the Speed Management plan “Safer Speed Plan” as soon as possible to prevent unnecessary potential deaths or serious injuries.
- I also request that in line with advice from He Pou a Rangi - Climate Change Commission given to the Government in April 2023 (2023 Draft advice to inform the strategic direction of the Government’s second emissions reduction plan) that none of the above projects related to aspects of the Major Cycle Routes, Local Cycle Network, or Cycle Connections programmes be scheduled for completion any later than 2030. This advice also recommends the completion of Rapid Transit Networks no later than 2035, which we also advocate for. • Continue the investigation of the central city shuttle trial. • Adding more bike parking around the city. There is a lack of bike parking in the south west and most other areas outside the central city. There are also areas within the central city which need more bike parking. Lyttelton needs more bicycle parking outside the library and new museum. Please consider adding bicycle parking and storage lockers near the gondola, as consulted on two years ago but removed from the final project, in case cyclists can't take their bikes on the bus through the tunnel due to the racks being full. • Protection of potential MRT corridors should be investigated. • Protection of future MCR corridors should be investigated. This will prevent parts of future MCRs from being constructed to poor quality. For example, the Northern Line at the north end of Saint James Park has recently become a dangerous blind corner because the corridor was not protected and a new housing development built a fence right up to the corner of the property adjacent to the cycleway which blocks visibility and narrows the path (making it difficult to navigate on a mobility scooter, trike or cargo bike). - Provide children with safer ways to get to school. One of the best ways is to remove parking within 50m of a school entrance and prioritise active ways of getting to school. Wellington is trialling closing a road at the entrance of a school and some countries close the road at school start/finish times. A study in Warsaw (<https://www.mdpi.com/2071-1050/16/8/3380>) showed that closing the road outside schools during the morning rush hour reduced NO2 concentrations by more than 30%.

2856 - Rachel Puentener

[Transport - Cycleways (Capital)]

I strongly support all activities that encourage and enhance cycling, and the use of public transport and alternative transport options. Libraries and other infrastructure which encourages community and supports the marginalised is very important to me.

2865 - Natalie Henderson

2868 - Jonty Coulson

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > City Planning], [Transport > Roads (Capital)], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Great Christchurch Partnership], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Strategic Transport], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Coastal Hazards Adaption & Adaption Planning]

Other active and public transport policies and spending should be implemented. This includes restricting urban sprawl, reducing road funding, providing better public transport including increased support for a mass rapid transit corridor, and allocating funds to safer speeds projects. I also support the continuation of the safer speed plan, including a blanket reduction of in-city speeds to 30km/h. As the CCC has stated road resurfacing will be more expensive going forward, safer speeds and traffic reduction are the best ways to reduce wear and tear and save money for other climate-focused projects.

>>>

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Creating a Climate Fund], [Parks > Biodiversity & Ecological Restoration], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Strategic Transport], [Fees & Charges > Car Parking (Parks)]

It is vital for the city council to understand that spending money now means saving money in the future. As a result cost reductions cannot come from cuts to climate change, biodiversity or active transport programs. All of these will have positive returns in the long term. The council should instead extract value from existing assets such as the parking charges to botanic gardens and Hagley park mentioned earlier.

>>>

The city council should also implement a serious mitigation plan, including reducing car and truck travel dramatically, whilst levying greater fees for international travel through the airport and cruise ships. Other avenues for transport emissions mitigation come through safer speeds plans and encouraging active transport through the construction and maintenance of more bike lanes, as outlined previously in this submission.

>>>

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Coastal Hazards Adaption & Adaption Planning], [Parks > Biodiversity & Ecological Restoration], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Strategic Transport], [Strategic Direction > Our Treaty Relationships]

As previously stated in my submission (where relevant), I believe more funding and support should be provided for: - Climate Mitigation and Adaptation - Centering public and active transport - Creating a robust biodiversity plan with increased funding and emphasis on naturally regenerating forest. - Enabling Tino Rangatiratanga and Te Tiriti o Waitangi to be a core part of decisionmaking processes.

3035 - Claire Coveney

I would have preferred to see light rail between Lyttelton, Rolleston and Rangiora get a chance.

3166 - Arwen Sommer

I like everything proposed in the Transport aspect of the plan. Christchurch would be a great place for a light rail or wider modern tram network if that was ever up for consideration.

3209 - Anouk Minnaar

>> More focus on multimodal transport solutions >> Continue the rollout of the Major Cycle Routes without additional delay. >> Bring back the Local Cycle Network (LCN) and Cycle Connections >> Provide better public transport options; including installing more bus lanes, smaller busses and better enforcement of bus lanes >> Reinstate separate projects for their benefit of improved travel choice and amenities/safety for busy areas

3254 - Tracey Jury

[Transport>Cycleways (Capital)]

I support integrated cycle routes, and encouraging public transport.

3369 - Brent Thompson

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > City Planning]

I think not quite. There should be less focus on roads specifically, and more focus on making the city less dependent on cars. I would like to see more focus on making the city more livable, and easier to get around on foot, cycling or using public transport. I am particularly impressed with the pace of change that has occurred in Paris recently, and I believe we could learn a lot from what they're doing to make their city more human focused and less car focused.

3373 - Michael Netto

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)], [Transport > Roads (Capital)]

While I support the idea of sustainable transport solutions, such as cycleways, I am compelled to express my concerns regarding the current execution of these projects. As our city expands, the need for robust road infrastructure becomes more acute. Reducing double lanes to single lanes for the creation of larger cycle paths does not seem to align with the practical needs of a growing population. This approach often leads to increased congestion, higher fuel consumption, and a negative impact on daily commutes. Moreover, our public transport system does not compare favorably with those in other major developed cities, which limits practical alternatives to car use. The good intentions behind expanding cycleways seem to overlook the reality that not everyone is able to cycle, whether due to skill, health, or weather conditions, particularly during the colder months. I urge the Council to consider more cost-effective and practical solutions for cycleway projects that do not drastically alter existing road infrastructure. A more balanced approach could focus on enhancing our public transport system to make it a more viable option for everyone.

3379 - Mike Currie

[Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)], [Strategic Direction > Have We Got the Balance Right?]

We believe more money should be going into funding public and active transport and mode shift from personal vehicle use towards active and public transport.

3415 - Allan Taunt

There needs to be more investment in the following areas:

- Enabling access to services and resources within people's local communities (thereby reducing unnecessary travel). It is a challenge to improve the direction of a population, while there has been some progress being made, we still have not broken away from the traditional thinking of urban sprawl and private motor vehicle dependency. As an example, induced demand on roads is not understood by everyone. We know this is unsustainable both for people's quality of life and the for the health of the environment. Strong support for active and public transport is the heart of a modern Ōtautahi where people can enjoy their everyday lives.

3417 - Jack McConnell

Christchurch is a sprawling city with a growing population, the transport options we have in place are not adequate.

>>>

Vision should be on transport and walkability. Car dependency is the biggest obstacle to Christchurch being a "real city"

3501 - Malcolm Long (Ōpāwaho Heathcote River Network)

16. We congratulate the Council on the progress made in the Greater Christchurch Spatial Plan to date.
 - 16.1. As greater use of public transport is the only effective means to reduce urban river contamination from private vehicles, we are most supportive of increases in public transport provision.
 - 16.2. We support the Council moving rapidly, in conjunction with regional partners, to accelerate the timescale of planning for Mass Rapid Transport options as envisaged in the Greater Christchurch Spatial Plan.

3575 - Anna Hansson

[Transport>Cycleways (Capital)]

Overall though I am supportive of encouraging more active and inclusive forms of transport.

3622 - Jono de Wit

I give my strong support to the following programmes and request they stay funded in the draft LTP as they are currently: * 75363 - Programme - Mass Rapid Transit

3690 - Jono de Wit (Greater Ōtautahi)

We note are strong support for keeping the following programmes as they are currently funded in the draft LTP: * 75363 - Programme - Mass Rapid Transit

3725 - Richard Smith

Electric Vehicle Charging At City Council Off Street Parking Buildings & Facilities 26623 –

>>>

We note are strong support for keeping the following programmes as they are currently funded in the draft LTP: 73854 - Programme - PT Futures (Externally Funded) 75363 - Programme - Mass Rapid Transit 59181 – Central City Projects – Antigua Street Cycle Network (Tuam-Moorhouse) 65923 - School Safety 68430 – Ferry Road Active Transport Improvements

3873 - Angela Curl (Transport, Society and Environment Group, Department of Population Health, University of Otago Christchurch)

- Our submission focuses specifically on the aspects of the Long Term Plan relating to transport as this reflects our collective expertise.
- We broadly support the strategic directions for transport laid out in the plan and the investments allocated to them. We would like to see further increases in funding to support this important activity class.
- We particularly commend Christchurch City Council for following best practice directions for transport planning, including in a holistic focus on social, economic, environmental, and cultural aspects of the impacts of transport systems.

532 - Chris Abbott

[Stratgic Direction>Have we got the balance right?; Transport>Cycleways (Capital)]

It is good to see money being spent on cycling facilities - but there is always more that could be gained. Cycling facilities help Chch in many ways - reducing traffic congestion for those who insist on using cars, - doing a bit towards the CCC and government-recognised climate emergency - as attractions to visitors - helping residents get fitter and healthier, both mentally and physically

536 - Marilyn Yurjevich

[Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]

An efficient public transport system is essential in light of the devastating consequences of not reducing CO2 emissions.

>>>

More public transport and active transport

550 - Colin Mansell

[Grants & Funding > Arts Centre], Three Waters > Other], [Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?]

Not all of it. Yes the water must be safeguarded and public transport improved but you need to protect people's well-being and mental health. So fewer cars, more outdoor activities and more protection for culture, in particular the Arts Centre. Christchurch must not be turned into yet another car dominated anonymous City like Auckland or Melbourne.

812 - Matthew Fagan

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Greater Christchurch Partnership], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > City Planning]

I think there is not enough focus on transit. CHCH is getting too big to not have a few rail corridors. To coincide with this we need higher density living, not more suburban sprawl.

>>>

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

Most of these are good, but there needs to be more investment in public transit and cycleways.

883 - Elizabeth Steel

I'm pleased that you have said that you'll be completing the Nor'est Arc, the Northern Line, the Wheels to Wings, and the South Express. these will be valuable investments in cyclist safety and encouraging people to bike more. I would encourage you to carry out your funding plans for the Ōtākaro Avon River Route, the Ōpāwah Heathcote River Route, Southern Lights, and Little River Link. I think these will be very beneficial. I am glad to see the proposed funding for the buses and bus infrastructure. However, I would like to see more buses, and the existing ones run more often. They are a vital part of the community and allow people to get around easily and cheaply -- to vital things to a thriving city.

Oppose

1069 - Kieran Norton-Taylor

Less focus on the bus transport system for adult groups, it is great for school kids but unpopular in adult transport

1407 - Scott Butcher

[Strategic Direction > Climate Change], [Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?]

No I think the budget does not reflect the urgent climate and biodiversity crisis that we face. The proportion of money spent on road renewals and infrastructure for cars vs other forms of more sustainable transport seems disproportionate.

1412 - Derren Macnicol

No, should spend more on cycleways and public transport so less cars on road

1519 - Matthew Williams

Its incredibly hard to tell, but it looks like we spending too much on Transport access for instance defer transport access goals and focus on delivering core services.

>>>

2429 - Neil Ricken

[Spending > Te Kaha], [Recreation, Sports & Events > Pools], [Three Waters > Taumata Arowai Requirements]

Traffic calming measures throughout the city are unnecessary.

3839 - Samantha Dryden

Less should be invested in car-centric infrastructure.

3994 - Sarah Boje

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Creating a Climate Fund], [Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

Waste of money. Climate change is political volleyball. Unrealistic expectations. I am not giving up my car to take a bus everywhere. Its not possible. People have things to carry that are heavy, and are time poor as it is. The science is nuts - fear porn.

814 - Malcolm McKellar

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?]

No. Too much emphasis on car transport. Need better public and active transport options. Need to keep in mind that the council encouragement of cars has a direct negative impact on health

>>>

Less on private transport please.

Other

1104 - Kate Bevin

[Fees and Charges>Car Parking (Parks)]

I think if you're going to charge for parking at selected parks, you also need to educate people on alternative forms of transport to get to these places e.g. public transport, cycling and walking. This will also decrease carbon and increase health outcomes for people. Maybe staff could go to these key areas before the changes take place to educate people about the alternatives and provide information on how they can access them.

1133 - Julie Stewart

Priorities for public transportation are essential

>>>

[Transport>Carparking (Capital)]

There should be more public transport so there is less need for car parks

1185 - Greg Ritchie

More future focus on autonomous cars, more frequent electric buses and light tram from city centre to Brighton.

1309 - David Simpson

[Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

Spend on low carbon transport and climate resilience - not stadiums and airports.

1517 - Felix Harrison

Also, focusing on eliminating personal vehicle use as much as possible should be high on the priority list. Make driving in the city as inconvenient as possible and bussing, walking, and biking the most affordable, time efficient and enjoyable options. This will help to achieve several of your stated goals such as, Eliminating emissions, caring for future generations, prioritising wellbeing and access to connection (people are more likely to connect when they are not in their cars and are much healthier when they bike everywhere), Inclusivity and equity (many people cannot afford cars and the city is still predominantly organised around motor traffic. this organisation is a barrier to opportunities for the less fortunate)

1522 - David Alexander

I don't think we should increase capacity for private cars, I think congestion should be managed through congestion charging.

1572 - Olive Easterbrook

Some of this is ok. Transport should be on public transport getting people out of cars and onto footpaths, buses and bikes to decrease emissions.

>>>

We need to be quickly working on public transport options and make it safer for cycling and walking. It is not always safe for me to walk or cycle around this city. We need to decrease our emissions now.

1612 - Emma Johnson

I am concerned that the investment in roading is so significant when public transport seems woefully underfunded - surely a CCC looking to install a green and liveable city and reduce emissions would do best to rebalance here?

1691 - Jesse Newman

[Transport > Roads (Capital)], [Transport > Carparking]

Not entirely, I feel that funding transport infrastructure that encourages greater car use rather than moving as many trips as possible to public transport, cycling, scooting, walking etc is short sighted and unsustainable (we cannot simply keep building more roads and parking buildings - it's expensive and exacerbates traffic issues).

>>>

[Strategic Direction > Additional savings and efficiencies], [Spending > Te Kaha]

Mothballing the stadium build and pursuing more efficient and sustainable modes of transport would significantly reduce council outgoings freeing money to keep rates rises in the low double figures.

Less on transport geared towards private motor vehicles (both roading and parking). Cease work on Te Kaha.

>>>

The proposal looks good (more on transport not geared towards private motor vehicles would be wise) but I am concerned that much of the good stuff (ie sustainable options that would improve every aspect of resident's daily lives) depends on this government's approach to transport which seems thus far to be backward-looking and preferring of ideology over best practice.

1699 - Dominic McKeown

>>> look to long distance trains from amberly to ashburton to transport people. duplication of the rail line north from christchurch station to the waimakariri river should be looked at within the next 3 years with works starting in 4 years. [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)] [Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]

1709 - Aaron Cumming

We should have had a high speed train service to both Rangoria, Woodend and Rollerston by now, but instead we have a crap bus service that does nothing but add to congestion and noone wants to use it. [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)] [Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?]

1734 - Fergus O'Neill

[Transport > Cycleway (Capital)], [Other/Special Interest Topics > Creating a Climate Fund]

No, the long term plan should have more emphasis on public transportation and active transportation. This also includes a need to invest in cycle infrastructure which requires little maintenance and has numerous active health and environmental impacts. There also should be some more investment in mitigating climate change.

>>>

Changes in rates should account for continued investment in public and active transport as well as climate change mitigation. If the rates are lowered, this is nice but future generations will suffer due to the lack of adequate services available to them.

>>>

Better public transport options such as light rail, better bus frequencies and services. More cycleways! the current cycleways are great and are used frequently by commuters and stopping the progress of this is a backwards move.

1770 - Richard Davies

We need better public transport in chch, make plans for light rail in the future

1780 - Alison Griffith-Collins

Transport should include more development of alternative transport that is not based on fossil fuels. Thanks for supporting cycling, BTW. The council is doing a great job on this--much appreciated.

1819 - Gavin Millar

Transport funding remains heavily focused on infrastructure for cars rather than investing in making Christchurch less car-centric.

1834 - Judith Penney

The community in Halswell is struggling with the massive growth well before the planned 2043 (South West Corridor Plan 2009) and there are many gaps in the infrastructure particularly in safe travel to schools, footpaths and roading. While changes to Planning require some to be completed by the developer, there are clearly defined gaps. These must be addressed as a priority.

1882 - Anna-Marie Browne

[Transport>Cycleways (Capital)]

They should also fund Mass Rapid Transit, work with Dunedin to make an intercity passenger train,
and complete all major cycle routes and local connections.
by 2026

1893 - Elizabeth Sinclair

Better bus links would help too.

1930 - Kate Yeoman

Funding for transport needs to be totally focused on a reduction in fossil fuels use & carbon emissions

>>>

- public transport needs to be expanded + funding for biking & other alternatives to cars.

1945 - Lucy Howell

We should be considering greening our road and city spaces. Greening cities has a great positive impact on transport networks as well as community health and wellbeing, and environment.

>>>

. also the CCC seems to be focused mainly the maintenance of roads rather than making them safer especially for pedestrians and cyclists despite the fact we should be encouraging less people to drive.

1952 - Xin Yi Wong

Refer previous comments. We need to invest more in our streets to make them places that prioritise people over cars. Ōtautahi have long been wedded to their car and for good reason - the way the city is laid out requires use of the car in many situations. We need to adapt our streets and movement networks so they are more attractive environments to walk and cycle, as well as using the high proportion of our land dedicated to roads to be multi-functional, e.g. creating sustainable drainage networks with planting that also helps to improve air quality (a byproduct of a car-reliant city). There are so many positive knock on effects of designing for people and climate - at this stage of the climate crisis, providing for the car must be our lowest priority.

1959 - Brad Waldon-Gibbons

In particular the "Transport" programme is disappointing. I want to commend you on continuing to support and fund sustainable transport options like cycling and shared transport. I feel greater resource and attention should be prioritised for these programmes over Carriageway renewals. You will leave the burden for our young people to deal with if we continue to drag out the current paradigm that is no longer fit of our changing environment. Please can you be more ambitious with the critical work that must be done.

>>>

a wider programme of encouraging more people into shared transport or green-transport is needed.

2004 - Olivia Halaifonua

No, I wish we were spending more on environmentally friendly modes of transport (cycle lanes, ~~buses~~ improved bus systems) than roads.

2013 - Rata Harper

More money needs to be put into mass rapid transit, it's cheaper for passengers, cheaper to maintain than roads, and reduces emissions.

2082 - Bluebell Barr

I love biking and walking around the city and there is just no focus on making this city accessible for biking and walking.

>>>

Should prioritise making the city more walkable, adding more cycleways, etc.

21 - Tyrone Low

[Transport > Cycleways]

No - more needs to be spent on sustainable travel solutions. Cycleways and rail especially

2111 - Vaughan Wright

If money is being spent in this area a reliable and regular service needs to be available. A REAL cost analysis needs to go into the viability of electric transport as these items are expensive to source with little to no re sale value

2183 - Hali Stauffer

I'd like to highlight several critical areas that Council should prioritise: 3. Implementation of Mass Rapid Transit (MRT), specifically trams: Prioritising MRT over roads offers numerous benefits, including cost-effectiveness for both passengers and the Council, reduced emissions, and improved city connectivity. Allocating funds for MRT development will contribute to a more sustainable and efficient transportation system.

2254 - Caitlin Raudsepp

We need other transport options - the buses are unreliable, and the inner city is not ideal for car usage.

2263 - Scott Babington

Need to continue to invest in other options for travel, than one person per vehicle. We did it with home fires, now we need to address our carbon footprint.

2377 - Hannah Maxwell

Please invest in planning for commuter rail in Canterbury.

2411 - Rachel Montejo

I would like transport to prioritise bike promotion and buses significantly

2476 - Reuben Scott (Simeon Park Community Group)

Investigate rail service to Rolleston and Rangiora on existing routes.

2506 - Logan Brunner

I believe more focus should be on building separated bike lanes throughout the city, as well as making the city centre more bike and pedestrian friendly. This improves safety and mobility in Christchurch, which is already well-positioned to be the most accessible city in New Zealand. Currently, there are many busy streets with cars and lots of parking places in the city centre. These streets break up the city and the parking takes the place of what could be businesses which promote a more vibrant social scene.

2508 - Oliver Hutchison

I support significantly increasing investment in cycling, other active modes, and public transport. Active transport investments are very cost effective, low maintenance, low impact. Not to mention the positive outcomes for health, climate, and placemaking.

2518 - Claire Mulcock (Deans Avenue Precinct Society Inc.)

[Transport>Car Parking (Capital)]

Parking for Commuters Our neighbourhood and adjacent areas close to Hagley Park (including Lowe Street area) are increasingly being used during the day for street parking by commuters coming in from the west or south, leaving their cars and heading into the city on foot, scooters or by bus. Funding should be allocated to set up the 'old' Blenheim Road land on both sides of the railway for public parking so that residents and businesses have access to street parking near their homes and businesses during the day.

2538 - Libby Ornsby

[Transport>Roads (Capital)]

As too the roading, it feels like we have wasted a lot of money creating a shambles of a roading system in an effort to reduce cars in the roads to reduce carbon emissions, resulting in more congestion and more emissions. This will cost a fortune to correct.

2540 - Jocelyn and Caroline Papprell and Syddall

We would also like to see continued progress on planning for mass rapid transit corridors.

2559 - Michael Campbell

Bringing in user pays parking charges and congestion charging in areas across the city. Congestion charging would be most effective where the Council infrastructure is used heavily by non-council ratepayers, such as roads that come in from the Waimak and Selwyn Districts. I would also support congestion charging should be used in other areas of high demand such as the arterial roads into the CBD.

2693 - Tanya Markman

Safer roads. I value safe roads. This involves looking at the driving capabilities of drivers in and around Christchurch – both local and tourist alike. I see a need for improvement in road driver safety and moot the idea of a programme, worked in conjunction with NZTA, that incorporates :

- a compulsory 'safe driving' programme for all van/car rental businesses in the greater Christchurch area to administer to their clients
- a compulsory stand down period for people who arrive into Christchurch after spending long and continuous hours travelling to our city
- the development of an 'equivalence based' drivers license standard

2695 - Dave Gardner

Transport need to focus more on alternative ways of travel for people, so they are not forced to buy a car and pay for insurance, petrol, car maintenance, and rego.

2701 - Blair Smith

A Congestion Charging area within the Central City during hours of high traffic (Mon-Thu 9am-5pm, Fri-Sat 9pm-2am)

2751 - Helen Holyoak

Transport should have a focus on reducing car use and having alternatives to cars in place

2780 - Maree Hemingsen`

- Make Christchurch accessible - not just to cyclists and commuters.

2799 - Dot Lovell-Smith

Work with ECAN and other local Councils to form a publicly owned Transport Board to coordinate the provision of public transport through out the city suburbs and wider Canterbury area. This should cover rail and road public transport and the buildings and infrastructure to support the comfort and wellbeing of all passengers

2810 - Kari Hunter

(Other/Special interest Topics > Public transport, Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

In order to reduce transport emissions rapidly, we need to largely phase out combustion-fueled transport. We need to reduce ICE transport (that is, fossil fuels, “bio-fuels”, “SAF”) by at least 50% by 2030 and at least 70% by 2034. EVs cannot replace them all; “bio-fuels” emit GHGs; hydrogen cannot be sustainably produced on a scale to replace more than a small portion of current transport energy. To make this possible, we need you to:

- Rapidly modify the transport system so that active and public transport can quickly become the main modes for most trips. Make it workable to live well without owning a car.
- Rapidly reallocate more space from cars to active transport. Use separated lanes, filtered permeability, and where workable, consider super-blocks or similar. The major cycleways that have been put in place make a real difference. However, we need fully connected routes to enable far more people to have this option. The east side of the city is particularly in need of more safe cycle routes, especially to access the schools.
- Reduce urban speeds to 30kph or lower in all urban streets except for major thoroughfares where there are safe effective active travel options. of the city. The patchwork of slower speeds is an improvement. However, compared with that, 30kph more generally will be more cost effective and more affordable, and will have only a small effect in reducing car travel times.
- Support the local development of capabilities for designing and manufacturing appropriate human-powered and low-powered transport options.
- Do not build more roads or lanes for cars and trucks in the hope that this will reduce congestion. These measures will have multiple co-benefits, in health from more movement and less exhaust fumes, in less heavy metals to our waterways, in more space for people to connect, and in a more pleasant and inviting city that is less noisy, smelly and toxic. This needs to be planned in conjunction with planning towards more medium density housing, a 10 – 15 min city approach and an end to sprawl urban. This will also help reduce travel times. We need you have this largely in place by 2030, for consistency with GHG emission targets and with protecting our human habitat. The costs of prioritising these changes should be found by de-prioritising work on roads and lanes for motor traffic

2820 - Brendan Ross

ONGOING ANALYSIS OF INFRASTRUCTURE AND MONITORING OF USE IS WELL AS DISCOURAGING CAR USE

2823 - Aurora Garner-Randolph (School Strike For Climate Ōtautahi)

Vital infrastructure doesn't include roads for cars. It includes roads that can be equitably used by pedestrians, cyclists, and public transport users. These aren't getting enough money in the LTP. In particular, we'd like all MCRs (Nor'West Arc, Northern Line, Wheels to Wings, South Express, and Ōtākaro Avon) to be completed by 2025, as well as the Memorial Ave bike lanes.

2836 - Jillian Frater

We should also be bringing forward the investigation into Mass Rapid Transit for the city as proposed by the Greater Christchurch Partnership.

>>>

I consider the Council should bring forward the Greater Chch Spacial Plan and Mass Rapid Transit, create an express bus trial of the proposed MRT >>> work towards the aims of a 15-minute city.

2841 - Hunter Craig

It's a tricky thing to get the scale right, light rail seems like a good option, but I'm not sure we have the population to justify it [Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]

2855 - Kat Forrester

As long as part of the transport plan involves light rail consideration then yes.

>>>

Light rail! The first line needs to go from Rangiora/Kaiapoi through the city centre down Colombo street and out to Halswell. That's your main arterial line. The it can branch off from the city centre through Riccarton road and Clyde road out to uni and Ilam, and down Cashel street out to Linwood and New Brighton.

2868 - Jonty Coulson

Other active and public transport policies and spending should be implemented. This includes restricting urban sprawl, reducing road funding, providing better public transport including increased support for a mass rapid transit corridor, and allocating funds to safer speeds projects.

2869 - Josiah O'Neill

[Transportation > Cycleways (Capital)], [Transportation > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]

I think transportation investment is very important. I rely on the city bus network and my bike for all my transportation. The bike network is amazing and I want to see it extended through the city. I also think that improving bus infrastructure since as building bus lanes, improving bus stops and worke Ecan, neighbouring councils, and central government to implement PT futures and mass Rapid Transit should be prioritised.

2919 - Hayley Guglietta (Avon Ōtākaro Network INC)

Transport

Most of our gross emissions come from transport, we must reduce that and the best way to do this is to have a range of active transport happening. We need safe infrastructure to achieve this, this infrastructure does not have to cost millions of dollars, temporary and light solutions can be put in place whilst funding is found for more permanent solutions.

2922 - Zak Morrison

- Implement measures to promote the use of public and active transport, thereby reducing the impact on roads and aligning with sustainability goals.

>>>

Considering progress is appearing to be made with the MRT the Council should already start enabling infrastructure that facilitates it arrival, even if the MRT is canceled we should still strive towards such ambitions. By focusing on comprehensive solutions for transportation and green infrastructure, Christchurch can become a model city that prioritizes sustainability and quality of life.

- Implement a Congestion Charging Area within the Central City: Introducing congestion charging during peak traffic hours and periods of high demand could reduce traffic congestion, lower emissions, and generate revenue. This measure would encourage the use of alternative transport modes and could fund improvements in public transport and cycling infrastructure.

2934 - Monica Richards

Spend on light railway and electric buses - cheap, frequent and mass transit.

>>>

Focus transport spending on green, sustainable mass transit systems.

2954 - Tim Frank

As the provider for infrastructure, CCC needs to do more to enable more reliable journey times for buses. One of the problems with a largely bus-based public transport system is that priority measures are not implemented. All of the high frequency bus routes need to have a systematic audit done for the whole bus routes, noting where journey times are particularly slowed down or unreliable. This then needs to be addressed in the following ways: • bus route changes • intersection changes • bus lanes • bus priority measures • other road layout initiatives One example is the intersection between Main North Road, Harewood Road and Papanui Road. Currently, about 12 buses an hour turn right from Main North Road into Harewood Road. There is no right turn arrow for these buses and the time needed by these buses to turn is highly variable. If they can go through, it is normally on a red light. With our ageing population more needs to be done to facilitate crossings of busy roads. More and more people cannot drive any more. They are reliant on taxis and buses. However, taking the bus is often difficult, because crossing a busy road is just about impossible for people with impaired mobility. Maintenance of streets needs to be sympathetic to their use. In particular, chip seal should not be used for roads that are major cycle routes. Trafalgar Street, which is part of the Papanui Parallel, recently had chip seal applied to it. It can't be because of fiscal restraint. About two months later Church Lane in Merivale was resealed with a surface that would be ideal for cyclists, even though this street is not used by many cyclists. While the cost of cycling projects may seem significant, they are really a catch-up from decades of motorcar-centric city planning and investment. For many years Christchurch streets were used by more cyclists than cars, but investment to make streets and roads fit for cars has pushed bikes from them. Current investment in cycling infrastructure has to be seen as a rebalancing of such one-sided investment.

2958 - Chris Sinclair

Is light rail feasibility being considered and getting people out of cars? Why not negotiate part of KiwiRail land to run light rail from Rolleston and Kaiapoi/Rangiora to central Chch (original railway stn site).

30 - Brendon Tate

One thing we should be focused on delivering is a mass rapid transport link. Christchurch being in the top 2 places in the country that have the highest number of vehicles on our roads. We are not going to reduce emissions by doing nothing and not giving people a genuine alternative option to get to where people need to go. We should have either heavy commuter rail which covers most places compared to light rail that would only service people in that area, or a combination of the two ideally. If this city continues to do nothing Australia is looking much more attractive option for people with a train network going everywhere and is popular.

>>>

More money should be going into funding a new Mass rapid transport solution Heavy Rail, Light Rail etc

3016 - Zarah Green

[Transport>Transport (Operations)]; [Transport>Cycleways (Capital)]; [Transport>Roads (Capital)]; [Other/Special Interest Topics>Public Transport]

I think some of the climate driven initiatives are done because it's the right thing to do, not because it's the right thing to do right now. An example is the cycleway on Selwyn St, it makes the Southern Motorway far more congested. The motorway is fed by a large number of workers in the Wigram area in the industrial zone who all go via Parkhouse Rd because there is no bus service there nor onramps / offramps to the motorway on Awatea Rd. Congestion is increasing but the first step before changing light cycles on Selwyn to better suit the cycleway is to ensure the feeder locations have good public transport options and faster ways to clear from congested areas.

3018 - Kristal Jenkins

Christchurch does need better transport. Would be cool to have a train system making it easy to go to Rangiora and Rolleston.

3031 - Lee Osborn

[Transport>Cycleways (Capital)]; [Transport>Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]; [Strategic Direction>Have we got the balance right?]

Transport initiatives such as more reliable public transport and facilitating safe cycling are good but even more could be done. Christchurch is perfect for cycling, being flat and with a mainly dry climate. We should prioritise cycle lanes that physically protect cyclists and promote our city as a "cycle city" for sustainable tourism. Currently we would be inviting tourists to risk their lives on most of our roads. Cycleways are expensive but they will never be cheaper and reduce car travel.

3035 - Claire Coveney

Yes we need to increase our electric fleet of buses.

3046 - Gisela Faber

[Strategic Direction>Have we got the balance right?]

Christchurch needs to follow centres moving away from individual car transport.

>>>

[Spending>Our Proposed Spending]; [Rates>Other]

IF it was investment predominantly for getting cars and trucks out of city boundaries as much as possible ... and not attract them to yet another stadium I might agree.

3087 - Lucie Masselink

I think the emphasis to get people out of their cars should be making public transport better. I would be happy to pay as long as I don't have to transfer 3 times having to wait 30 minutes for a connecting bus to get somewhere.

>>>

And if so much money is invested in transport, why is public transport not better organised and connected?

>>>

[Fees & Charges - Car Parking (Parks)]

No, as long as the fees are reasonable. And invest the money in improving public transport

3099 - Stephen Miller

Look at a congestion charge to keep unnecessary cars out of the central city. Increase parking costs in the city (like Australian cities do) to make it prohibitive to park. The bus service works perfectly well for most people. Put in speed cameras and parking cameras as a revenue collector (again as Australian cities do). The motorists will not like it but it is exactly what Australian and European cities do.

3103 - Philippa May

I would really like to be able to use public transport. For some reason the Cashmere bus service which years ago ran on both Dyers Pass and Hackthorne Roads no longer operates on Dyers Pass Road. I regularly see huge buses, often two within minutes of each other, traveling on Hackthorne Road with only a few passengers on board. What happened to the smaller buses I used to see on our city streets? I believe it would make sense to have smaller buses, and more of them. Particularly on the hill routes. For residents of the Dyers Pass Road low to mid slopes, particularly the section from the first corner from the bottom up to Kidson Tce/Whisby Road or thereabouts it is not an option to catch a bus as the nearest stop is 1km or more away and a hill walk. There were formerly stops opposite Overdale Drive and at Whareora Tce/McMillan Ave by the Village Green. I would very much like to see this service reinstated so that the locals have the option of catching a bus rather than driving into the city or suburbs.

3105 - Tracey MacArthur

Missed opportunity after the EQs to establish light rail park and ride which so many suggested during 'share an idea' consultation process.

3131 - Johannes (Hans) Van Oyen

See comment in section 2. We have had a "build it and they will come" philosophy when it come to transport alternatives which is clearly is not working, I still see too many empty busses & under used cycle ways. Christchurch is too small to support an efficient rapid transport system so people must resort to cars to get around, this will not change anytime soon, we will never be like Amsterdam or New York.

3136 - John Hynes

reducing the number of people commuting to work/school by car every day when there is an alternative.

3248 - Dave Edwards

[Transport>Cycleways (Capital)]; [Spending>Capital Programme (General)]

Why really are millions being spent on cycle ways, I hardly see anyone using them. The cities a horrible place to bike, wind, rain and cold distract from any enjoyment. I believe mopeds and small electric or motorcycles are a better answer..

3250 - Hannah Murdoch

Better public transport. Make car use less convenient (as well as retaining accessibility)

3317 - Nik Kneale

[Grants & Funding > Arts Centre Funding]

Prioritise active travel. Fund the Arts Centre. Both in the interests of providing value to our people (through healthy living and access to culture and heritage) and to reduce the cost to ratepayers into the future.

>>>

Double down on funding active travel options and safer school journeys.

3319 - Ryan Moore

[Fees & Charges > Car-Parking Fees (on-street & off-street parking)]

Yes, cost reductions should not come from any kind of service cut or cuts to future-focused projects such as climate change and active transport projects. Revenue could be generated from congestion charging and increased parking charges.

3363 - Brodie Marra-Stevenson

Rather than transport infrastructure being largely roading projects, we need long term environmentally friendly public transport options funded through rates and planned by the council.

Light rail, passenger rail investment into regional services from chch. The bus system is horrendous.

3440 - Vanessa Ruppert

[Transport>Cycleways (Capital)]

More bike lanes, no cars in the city center

3486 - Kelly Chapman

[Transport>Footpaths & Streetscapes (Capital)]

I would like to see more of a focus on providing safe options to get around the city, including the provision of appropriate footpaths and crossings for our children to get to school (e.g. crossing Dunbars Road for children to Aidenfield to get to Oaklands School). There seems to be relatively easy options that need to be implemented to keep our kids safe, with an added benefit of improved learning and health outcomes for our kids and reduced carbon emissions.

3550 - Sam Hewitt

[Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

The council should ruthlessly prioritize active and public transport infrastructure funding over car infrastructure. Planning cities for the car will bleed the coffers of any city dry. Our long term plan should be for how we want our cities to look in the future, not how they are today. I would like to see more funding allocated to active and public transport infrastructure, particularly with regard to mass rapid transit and cycleway expansion.

>>>

I think we should have a mass rapid transport system at the very least for efficiently moving the people required for major events.

3562 - AJ Russell

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Creating a Climate Fund]

Yes create an adaptation fund BUT stop contributing to the climate crisis at the same time - so stop encouraging car use, and fossil fuel use of other kinds, and make it much easier to travel around the city in any way without fossil fuels.

3569 - Sarrah Walters

[Transport>Cycleways (Capital)]; [Transport>Footpaths & Streetscapes (Capital)]

I am not a resident of Christchurch, but work in Christchurch 3 – 4 days per week and volunteer with a Christchurch-based community organisation. My interest is particularly in transport as a means of reducing my own environmental impact and because I strongly dislike the waste of time and energy created by congestion. On the majority of workdays my transport into Christchurch is on the bus (along with my spouse) and my transport to my workplace is on my bike. I also cycle as part of my work with people with intellectual and physical disability and having safe places to cycle as part of our transport rather than only being able to cycle recreationally is beneficial for both physical and mental wellbeing, as well as being more cost effective. Investment in footpaths and cycleways is important for transport and for recreational users, contributing to healthier people who are more connected to the places they spend time. There is a lack of recreational seating in some newer developments, such as Aidanfield and around Ngā Puna Wai. This can make facilities less accessible as there is no opportunity to rest or enjoy the surroundings. Ensuring transport is multi-modal, allowing connection to different modes of travel for different parts of the journey is important. Reducing the number of single occupant private vehicles will go a long way towards making Christchurch a more liveable city and impacts across the well-beings.

>>>

It is anti-democratic that the transport choices of people in Christchurch are so manipulated by the direction of central government, however the four strategic priorities listed, along with a reduction in emissions, would be more cheaply and efficiently met through investment in public transport and reducing congestion. There are a multitude of studies showing that the community benefits, people are happier and healthier and that children are better learners at school through active transport. Government direction changes but planning for the best solution can and should continue regardless of the whims of government even if the timing changes.

3586 - Rachel Geddis

Light rail, and the utilisation of existing rail networks is a lost opportunity that we will regret not having in 10 years time.

3601 - Bridget Allen

[Transport>Cycleways (Capital)]; [Transport>Transport (Operations)]

I do not see anything about helping public transport and cycleways to Brighton, the city to sea is a long way for commuters to use and is a recreational route. Traveling from South Brighton to the city can take up an hour.

3604 - Caroline Burt

[Spending>Capital Programme (General)]; [Transport>Roads (Capital)]; [Transport>Footpaths & Streetscapes (Capital)]; [Transport>Transport (Operations)]

It is my understanding that there is little to nothing for the area of Halswell, one of the fastest growing areas of our city. Yes, much of what is required will be covered by the land developers. However, there will be gaps in the Halswell transport infrastructure due to the increased development and the change in the way the people now reside on the land. Such as missing safe crossing zones for school children, missing links in footpaths, current roadways with increased use and traffic types that it was not built for. Consideration also needs to be given to the impact on the roadways from the developments in the Selwyn district that will impact the Halswell area. The further Prebbleton and Lincoln develop, in particular towards the Port Hills, there will be an increase of usage on roads such as Saby's Road and the supporting roadways.

3625 - Angela Brett

[Transport>Roads (Capital)]

While I support looking after currently existing infrastructure, I would like to see a gradual shift away from prioritising driving private cars over other modes.

3627 - Patrick O'Kane

[Strategic Direction>Have we got the balance right?]

I have small children and work in the hospital so really need to use my car to commute. The plan does appear to not support car use in the city long term and only support cycling or an inefficient public transport service. While I appreciate the need to expand these long term, it should not be at the expense of people just trying to get through day to day (the days are long enough without adding more to the commute time from getting the bus after work and collecting kids from daycare). I think some balance should be brought back to helping people access the city.

3636 - Kay Robertson

Recently, the intersections near my house was redone and a couple of nice ladies came round to talk to residents about the affects of the construction. We got onto the subject of trams that used to go down Opawa Rd and the lady said they were still there; that the construction work had to be careful not to damage them. I was gobsmacked! I didn't know that. I assume they'd been pulled up. If this is correct, I'd like to see us consider restoring the amazing tram system that we used to have. We could be like Melbourn or San Francisco. Trams should be just an overpriced tourist attraction in the CBD. They could be everywhere. Let's face it, trams are fun, they are sexier than busses. Perhaps modern trams could be autonomous/computerised. It would be easier than autonomous cars. I'd like to see Christchurch investigate this. The fact is that most of Christchurch' greenhouse gas emissions are from transport fuels. We need to reduce that drastically, for our health (every year you should double the road toll - that's how many people die from respiratory complication due to transport emissions) and for the planet's. Christchurch used to have trams and the most cyclists of any city in the world (according to the Canterbury Museum guide). We could do that again.

3639 - Stephen Burgham

and lack of money allocated to infrastructure (despite central government cutbacks) for cycleways and pedestrian safety is not enough. We need to invest in making more pedestrian-friendly spaces in the central city, and remove vehicles from a number of additional roads (such as inner Colombo St and the Square.

3659 - Alex van den Broek

More money and allocation does need to be spent on alternative travel and public transport however. Yes its expensive, but once its in it will serve us for a long time. Maintaining roads is even more expensive so I'm not really worried about expense as an argument. I also think we are a large enough town for tram/light rail. Freiburg (im breisgau) has an amazing public transport and cycle system and is a similar size. There are actually countless examples of this all over the world. Do it now, not later.

3683 - Max Sullivan

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)] , [Other / Special interest Topics > Public Transport]

In terms of transitioning, this means much more investment into sustainable transport systems like bus, cycling and (ideally) passenger rail.

3690 - Jono de Wit (Greater Ōtautahi)

This advice [Coder note: advice from He Pou a Rangi - Climate Change Commission] also recommends the completion of Rapid Transit Networks no later than 2035, which we also advocate for.

>>>

Protection of potential MRT corridors should be investigated.

3705 - Glenis Youngman

The council needs to respect the choices of people to use what form of transport they choose. Those who drive petrol driven cars should not be penalised as electric cars are not sustainable.

3724 - Terence Sissons

Council emissions - support the gradual move to use of EVs at the same rate as the rest of the community but not the wholesale replacement of the vehicle fleet with EVs.

3743 - Ben Ellis

Fast links to Rolleston and Rangiora would be great, but I realise they require buy in from adjacent councils.

3758 - Mads Churchhouse

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > City Planning], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

Bike lanes, light rail, etc these should all be at the top of the list along with dense social housing which directly tackles the urban sprawl.

3764 - Jack Gibbons

I also strongly support keeping the following programmes as they are currently funded in the draft LTP: >>> 75363 - Programme - Mass Rapid Transit

3769 - Dawn Smith

A light rail network to the regions would be a very good option.

3779 - Layling Stanbury

[Other/Special Interest Topic > Public Transport], [Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]

For roads and transport infrastructure: please focus more on public transport system (when will we get trains back, and busses that actually run frequently and to the areas people need them) rather than building more lanes and highways.

3780 - Jack Halliday

I support the following as they are proposed to sit in the LTP: >>> 75363 - Programme - Mass Rapid Transit

3787 - Deb Donnell

I've also seen that the Greater Christchurch councils are looking at future public transport investment such as light rail! Any discussions or consideration of this needs to be stopped immediately, as we the ratepayers in all three councils areas cannot afford $4.05 billion (estimated in 2023) for another white elephant project (remember how Labour wanted to build light rail in Auckland and not a centimetre was laid but plenty of money went on consultants. Do not repeat that mistake.)

3802 - Matthew Baird

[Transport > Roads (Capital)]

No, there are three reasons for this: 1. The cost of road maintenance is too high. We need to be working to reduce this over time by reducing the wear and tear on the roads. Our current model encourages car dependency and ever increasing traffic and congestion. The best way to reduce traffic is to encourage uptake of public and active transport; we should be building more cycleways (that require very little maintenance), and adding more bus lanes to make public transport quick and reliable.

3806 - Simon Green

Would love to see some forward thinking around commuter rail - esp linking the city to North Canterbury

3816 - Annette Bolton

Transport need to account for urban sprawl and too many people commuting by car. Would like to see serious investment in rapid transport options not more roads - that doesn't support climate mitigation at all and adds to air pollution. The buses don't cut it and not everyone will cycle.

3835 - Hiren Patel

More spending on Public Transport and active transport (e.g. Cycling, walking, scooting, skateboarding, etc.) would be a win-win solution. It'll make it safer for everyone to get from A to B (especially kids and students), less traffic congestion in town, less carbon emission, and reduced maintenance cost for the council.

3841 - Kate Hodgins

With transport equating to 40% of our city's carbon emissions and the council already saying we are unlikely to meet our reduction goals, we need to maintain (at the very least) our level of investment in low emission modes and especially in safe active transport networks.

3874 - Simon Gray (The White Room)

More >>> investment in alternatives to cars

3879 - Douglas Horrell

The Council's balance is skewed on roads and transport, with one of the the largest budget lines being repair and renewal of roading. Roads excepting major arterials have a poor return on investment for the number of people who use them, whereas public transport, mass transit and cycling and walking infrastructure cost much less per kilometre traveled per person over their lifetime. I'd like to see the Council pulling back from trying to maintain every road in the city to the same standard for the luxury of motorists and concentrate on spending on fewer roads, the public transport network and cycling and pedestrian infrastructure to move people instead of vehicles. this could mean making some residential areas of the city less accessible to through traffic and rat running commuters, but would dramatically cut road wear in those areas. Less spending on roads would allow greater spending on community facilities, culture, and things that make Christchurch a good place to live in. Tourists are unlikely to say that what they like best about Christchurch is its roads. We should take the hint and spend on something that actually adds value to the city

>>>

I find it ironic that cycleways and public transport are claimed by CCC as climate change spending, while a much, much larger portion of the budget is allocated to wrecking the climate through road and parking spending on what is now the city with the highest per capita car ownership in the world. I support spending that gets Christchurch peoople out of their veicles, be it active and public transport, or ensuring developers design better communities with the infrastructure people need to get by using their car less.

3889 - Jessica Rees

[Fees and Charges > Car Parking (Parks)]

Having a point of free inner city parking ensures more equitable access to our beautiful city. We need to improve public transport options to different areas of our CBD to ensure that this is not lost if introducing parking charges.

3903 - Jeremy Lynn

For transport, I would appreciate targeted rates e.g. toll roads so surrounding councils pay appropriately or congestion charges.

3906 - Sarah Bennet

[Transport > Cycleways], [Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure], [Other/Special Interest Topics > Public Transport], [Transport > Roads], [Transport > Parking]

Bike lines, increased bus lines and infrastructure, investment into passenger rail and other alternatives to cars are the only investments appropriate when it comes to transport. Any investment into roads, highways, parking projects etc which only serve to reinforce private car ownership & use as the default way of getting around is deeply problematic when considered against the backdrop of the ecological & climate emergency our world currently faces.

3921 - Alison Loveridge

Mass public transport along the main urban corridors should be prioritised accelerated.

3936 - Carley Dove-McFalls

[Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

Not enough money is going towards public and active transit and climate change mitigation

3941 - Georgina Stanley (Smith Street Community Farm Trust)

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

There have been too many cuts to scheduled cycle way and active transport improvements. With the increased density of our inner city suburbs, such as Philipstown, Charleston, Linwood, Waltham and Woolston active transport to local amenities needs to be maintained and enhanced to enable safe movement through their respective neighborhoods.

3945 - Callum Snell

We believe more money should be going into funding public and active transport and mode shift from personal vehicle use towards active and public transport.

>>>

Increasing use of active transport and public transport reduces wear on our roads

>>>

We need to continue investing in active/public transport infrastructure

3957 - Anne Scott (Spokes Canterbury)

We should be bringing forward MRT for the city as this is a precursor to the confidence to build higher density in the city and therefore a greater rate base.

>>>

[Transport > Cycleways]

We also request that in line with advice from He Pou a Rangi - Climate Change Commission given to the Government in April 2023 (2023 Draft advice to inform the strategic direction of the Government's second emissions reduction plan), and the 2024 Draft advice on the fourth emissions budget period (2036–2040) that none of the above projects related to aspects of the Major Cycle Routes, Local Cycle Network, or Cycle Connections programmes be scheduled for completion no later than 2030. This advice also recommends “the completion of Rapid Transit Networks any later than 2035”, which we also advocate for.

3986 - Chris Kelly

Comments: Do more, we need to stop spending on roads and force people to walk and bike and only get jobs within their 15min zone.

>>>

*Transport = the aim is to reach our smart city goals by 2030, in which most people don't own cars, they won't need them, those who must have them for work will require sustainable models like full electric, hydrogen or newer technologies. All cars will have permits to restrict use in future.

3989 - Mary O'Connor

On page 31 regarding Transport, you propose spending $1.6 billion over 10 years across the entire transport network.

There is no mention of train travel for passengers or freight. I would like to see some travel moved onto the train network.

3998 - Ben Alder (Christchurch Envirohub)

roading, when at both national and local level there needs to be a comprehensive strategy to transition commercial and residential vehicle traffic from fossil fuels (to meet international obligations to reduce carbon emissions - and our moral obligations to our mokopuna)

For anyone who has ever studied traffic congestion, or read Ben Elton's Gridlock, more roads creates more congestion (pollution, incidents etc, which all have a cost implication). Incentives work: the council needs to be motivating sustainable behaviors such as cycling or carpooling.

4004 - Nathalie Le Bras

CHRISTCHURCH = QUALITY OF LIFE.

More cars in city decreases quality of life for everyone.

We need better public TSP = buses.

4035 - Simon Ashby

For roading focus on user pays and introduce tolls

>>>

User pays

448 - Nick Campbell

[Transport > Transport (Operations)], [Transport > Roads (Capital)], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)],

I think the percentage or vision of how to budget between vehicle transportation/public transportation vs cycleways for a very select few to use is incorrect. How Christchurch is so spread out, the growth of Christchurch is hugely to the out lying areas not central. CCC needs to focus on improving the quality of the roads, the flow of the roads PRIOR to spending huge amounts on cycleways that bring no income/major benefit to Christchurch. The design of roads/subdivisions is very poor which creates ongoing funding issues because the time wasn't spent back at planning stage, instead a very large bill occurs 10years down the track when local residents are complaining about (speed,traffic issues, car crashes) but no allowance or thought was put into this at planning stage even when residents brought it up.

48 - Kean Mitchell

[Transport > Other]

Train/Tram travel over the coming years is critical. We need to increase spending and utilise the existing infrastructure better. train tracks exist in the three road pinch points (some of the busy roads - the travelers are not CCC rates payers. Funding of our alternative train options to those regions, should be funded by road user charges..... Why should local rate payers have to suffer traffic congestion from non-rate payers?

569 - Malin Smith

I would like to see investment in rail and train, stop the reliance on road as only option

585 - Danny Rood

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

In 2023, 54% of Christchurch emissions came from transport. This needs to be reduced at pace. The best way to achieves this is promoting more active and public transport. More cycleways need to be built to connect our existing network. This can ensure our city can be the New Zealand city that leads action on mixed modal transport models, while reaping all the benefits. I will be attaching a proposal for mixed-modal transport around the Moorhouse Avenue and Colombo Street intersections.

[Full Attachment Available]

>>>

[Transport > Roads (Capital)], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

Too much money being spent on carriageway maintenance. More money will need to be spent on building and maintaining cycleways. While I can appreciate the honest anxieties and cautious curiosity towards more room for cycleways, pedestrian spaces, and removing carparks, these options bring a plethora of benefits to civil society and local businesses. Chiefly, these are productivity and health (both physical and mental), as space is prioritized to moving more people efficiently, and less air pollution is created. With 3300 premature deaths coming from air pollution in NZ each year, this is our opportunity to ease pressure on the health sector and increase life expectancy.

615 - Michael JasonSmith

I encourage The Council to continue to work at reducing the use of motor vehicles, in favour of active transport and public transport. This will allow The City to reduce the operational cost of transport as the maintenance cost and asset renewal of roads will be reduced.

>>>

Prioritising roads for motor vehicles is an unwise use of ratepayers' money. Options for active transport, including walking and cycling, have greater long term sustainability and affordability compared to roads for motor vehicles. The lack of transport choices in the East of The City increase the economic challenges for the residents of the area. Electric vehicles will have a higher initial cost, compared to second-hand internal combustion cars, for the period of covered by the long-term plan. Fuel for internal combustion engines will become far more expensive during the same period. Active transport is a cheaper and more effective option for residents — compared to either electric or fossil-fuel powered vehicles. However, residents have to be supported in choosing active transport.

>>>

The Council should review the services provided to the users of motor vehicles to reduce the cost to ratepayers. An example is the cost of providing parking for vehicles. Another is to reduce the speed on the roads to reduce maintenance costs.

>>>

The Council should continue to support the Mass Rapid Transit initiative, and factor it into the Long Term Plan. The City needs trams down Papanui Road and Riccarton Road, for all the reasons detailed in the Mass Rapid Transit Indicative Business Case prepared by the Whakawhanake Kāinga Committee of the Greater Christchurch Partnership.

635 - Ashley Campbell

I also want to see priority given to safe active transport, especially around schools, even if that does inconvenience some motorists (and I am a motorist). Petrol costs money, and it's only going to cost more and more. Give people a safe option to travel that doesn't involve constantly spending more of their income on petrol. Give children a safe way to get to school that doesn't involve their parents driving them. This is essential, especially in lower socio-economic areas where people are REALLY struggling and need travel options that don't cost so much money.

>>>

Most of Christchurch's gross emissions come from transport – we MUST reduce that. I've outlined above why it's so important to people financially to provide safe, cheaper ways to travel, but it's also vital for our climate. Please, please, fast forward on active transport – using less expensive temporary solutions as in the Park Tce cycleway, if that is the easiest way to get them established. We can then pay for the permanent infrastructure over time – and will have the user figures to be able to prioritise according to use and need.

657 - Murray Peacock

Light rail/ trams should have been part of the infrastructure rebuild after the Earthquake, certainly on core routes such as to the airport and from Rangiora /Pegasus /Rolleston to the city. Apparently fares are lucky to pay 10% of the cost of the buses, this is totally unacceptable and central government need to be more involved

659 - Matt Dumont

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

In general I am supportive; however I would like to see additional funding for bringing forward cycleways and also for bringing rapid mass transit to the greater Christchurch area (eg. rail links between Rangiora and Rolleston)

687 - Anna Laurenson

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)], [Spending > Capital Programme (General)]

This all needs doing. Everyone uses water and roads/footpaths. If you haven't already please stop with the damn cycleways. Millions wasted to keep a small population happy. The entire central city is a nightmare to get through/into. Please put more thought into future projects.

6903 - Don Jellyman

Comments: Transport: must reduce GHG emissions. Encourage public transport & address traffic congestion

785 - Ariana Tikao

[Other/Special Interest Topics>Public Transport; Transport>Cycleways (Capital)]

I feel that having quality and affordable bus services in Ōtautahi is really important, and as a cyclist I'd like to see the development and maintenance of cycleways, as cycling is my main mode of transport. More could be done to encourage Christchurch people to cycle more regularly. I'd like to see more cycling only pathways as it does not always seem very safe on shared cycle/walk paths. Some of the cycle routes in and around Hagley Park are not all that safe, such as the intersection on the corner of Park Tce and Harper Ave seems particularly problematic. It would be good to see a full review of cycle ways in that area.

Not Stated

1001 - Jessica Schulz

Trains should be looked into the cut road traffic from Rangiora and to Rolleston

1061 - Racheal O'Brien

I think you missed your chance. The earthquakes was the time to consider options for light rail and to reduce cars on roads and access to better public transport but you didn't take that opportunity.

1071 - Brian Donovan

Light rail should have been put on the agenda.

1102 - Robyn Warburton

Economical and efficient transport should include east Christchurch!!! One of the poorer areas not well serviced generally.

1116 - Stephan Lloyd

I would like to see more of a drive towards rail transport between Christchurch and the surrounding towns (Rangiora, Kaiapoi, Amberly, Rolleston, Lincoln). Would require cooperation between central government and Selwyn and Waimakariri councils.

1164 - Andrea Davis

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Urban Design]

Look at what Rob Adams did for Melbourne City by getting the cars out and bringing the living back into the down town, including lots of green spaces and trees for hanging out in summer. Save money on trying to widen roads to make it better for congestion, look at how to draw young people to live in the city and they will not drive to work they will walk to work.

>>>

[Strategic Direction > Climate Change], [Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]

You have mentioned your are making management changes to your delivery of services. It is important you are honest with residents about what is coming and that is higher and higher costs as we try to move to more sustainable development. It seems the past 4 years of NZ green field developments and urban sprawl has turned up 4.9% rise in GHG emissions in 2021, by households with so much private car use to access work. The express bus lanes for morning and evening commuting along sensible routes is a must. The future is not to replace every car with an ecar it is to create a dignified rail system that brings Rolleston and Northlake residents into a dignified train stations within the city boundaries. The borrowing is not a good idea but decentralising services such as solar electricity for business for daytime use, sewerage and water treatment by subdivision not pumping to one big place that at capacity may leave all residents in the poo, rather than a small number when the smaller systems might fail. Spend the money as if you are thinking about the next 4 generations not as if you are fixing and reacting to problems from yesterday.

1178 - Eva Fenwick

[Other/Special Interest Topics>Public Transport]

Push to fully electric, more busses meaning paying drivers more.

>>>

[Fees and Charges>Other]

Christchurch is not a walkable city. Public transport will also need to be improved if cars are expected to pay to go to more places.

1191 - Ava Johnson

This is critical infrastructure for the wellbeing of people in the city and our transition away from fossil fuels - same with Mass Rapid Transit by the way!

1203 - David Moore

[Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

If we are truly in a climate emergency, the ratio of spending should be changed to further favour more sustainable transport options over private vehicle use.

1221 - Lynette Sessa

I notice that the bus (transport) usage is fairly low. Often the buses have only 2 or 3 people. Surely implementing smaller vans would be more economical?

1282 - Kelvin Lynn

We need to grow a generation of young people more likely to walk, ride a bike or use a bus if we are to do anything significant to our emissions.

1293 - Jill Rice

The public transport system is still inadequate. We need light rail and need to use existing tracks for passenger rail from satellite towns.

>>>

Better use of existing rail tracks and consider light rail for the city.

1331 - Robyn Lynley Capon

Can we have rail from Darfield and Amberly for commuters

1336 - Chris Woodruff

Light Rail Amberly to the city

1348 - Richard Pickering

There are a lot of platitudes in the plan about ‘integrating’, ‘managing’, ‘prioritising’, ‘improving’ etc etc but no real action behind the words. We have lived overseas as well as NZ and Chch is one of the worst cities we have encountered for traffic congestion and its associated effects such as pollution, respiratory illness and travel across the city. London has had a congestion charge since 2003 – 21 years ago. And what is the plan here to alleviate the noxious effects of car overuse? Stuff all. Oh dear, we can’t upset the car-owning public and Mums who take children to school. Consequently it’ll be business as usual with more traffic, pollution, frustration. Chch has followed the failed experiment of suburban sprawl with huge developments of oversized houses and corresponding one person per car commuting. You state in your LTP – “Transport emissions contributed over half of the gross emissions in 2019” and “ ... even with the level of direct and indirect investment ... , it will still be unlikely that we will reach our emissions reduction targets as a Council or as a city.” Given that you accept that transport is a major contributor to CO2 emissions, how about taking a bold approach to passenger car overuse? If existing buses cannot cope with extra passengers created by a congestion tax, then encourage car-pooling to share costs or implement ‘Park and Ride’ schemes.

1362 - Pablo Rodriguez

Ensure that bike lanes and pedestrian safety are central considerations in all road development and renewal projects, rather than being secondary concerns.

>>>

Prioritize and increase wheelchair accessibility

1419 - Aidan Chrystal

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Great Christchurch Partnership]

MRT options need to be prioritised and reshaping the inner city to be pedestrian orientated

>>>

MRT Options Light Rail is proven to revitalise cities worldwide

1431 - Carissa Ptacek

MRT - I agree that the population density doesn't warrant rail and that BRT will likely be preferred option.

>>>

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)], [Parks > Otakaro Avon River Corridor Regeneration]

Love the Cycleways, Otakaro River corridor restoration/improvements to red zone, MRT - please remove rail from the option and confirm Bus or other innovative technologies, Disposal of properties seems reasonable

1448 - Josh Fiveash

Public transport will never succeed as local and national govt have no business scene and love to be top heavy

1452 - Maraed Riley

Advancing Public Transport and Bike Lanes: A forward-thinking city prioritizes efficient public transport, curbing traffic congestion, enhancing air quality, and fostering healthier lifestyles. Perhaps investing in car sharing, car pooling initiatives. Please stop allowing cruise ships into Lyttelton they are the biggest climate emitters in the transport sector.

1464 - Jeffrey Packard

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration>Strategic Transport]

Encourage all children to ride bikes, and make that a priority. This will encourage people generationally to be more aware of cyclists. Cyclists drive differently around other cyclists. Also increasing the cycling infrastructure throughout the city is extremely important.

1508 - Mb Brennan

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Public Transport]

Public Transport is a problem area (is underutilized -needs a more lateral approach- on demand smaller vehicles ?. lets utilize our existing railway corridors?)

1546 - Robert Fleming

[Strategic Direction > Climate Change], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > City Planning]

The next 10 years are going to be more challenging as the effects of a change in climate will see more extreme weather events and resulting damage. We have to work harder to reduce emissions and be smarter with mitigating the damage of weather extremes cause. Continued urban sprawl does nothing to help; in fact makes a mockery of the intentions. Increasing the living density in a managed way, which improves amenity and reduces the dependence on longer travel times and journeys is the only way forward. More stick, and carrot are required.

1547 - Graham Allan

maybe a light rail system

1646 - Dale McGregor

I was under the impression that the CCC sold its bus service as unprofitable so why are you spending $1.6 billion on something that does not exist.

1648 - Andrew Bowman

Additionally (though far more minor), it is disappointing to see that light rail >>>has not been planned for.

1666 - Colin Peebles

We need to invest in public transport. EVs are only part of the solution to climate change and good public transport - light rail or rail - is essential.

1676 - James Boland

Where is the mention of funding for feasibility of mass rapid transport? Should that be listed in the LTP?

168 - Brydie Lauder

[Transport > Other]

as long as the focus is on improving public transport, encouraging people to use public transport, walk, or cycle, and reducing the number of cars on the road.

1764 - Chris Conwest

[Grants & Funding - Orana Park Funding]

You need to better fund Orana park, it is one of the last iconic symbols of Christchurch left standing. A bus route should be set up, directly from the airport to enable anyone in Christchurch and international tourists to use it.

179 - Bridgette Smith

Stop the ridiculous ideology.

187 - John Draper

Focus on public transport.

1876 - Mika Clapson

* Fund Mass Rapid Transit

1884 - Sophie Robb

I will never bus from Avonhead with 2 children as its too expensive and too hard to get a metro card

191 - Jenny Harlow

Light rail!

1946 - Zachary Reynolds

[Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]

more Public transport, eg better buses, trains, trains inter-city & intracity, yeah

>>>

Mass rapid transit, please, more people

1985 - Laura Tretheway

I'm interested to hear what happened to the rail project that would service Canterbury long-term? Starting with Papanui to Ilam, and eventually stretching into North Canterbury/Rolleston? That feels like a really necessary project considering how populated our city is becoming.

2044 - Rachel Murdoch

I think the provision of light rail services between the Greater Christchurch councils would have a transformational impact on the city - making it an even better place to live - allowing people better connections with the surrounding areas of Christchurch as well as its central city without the environmental and economic costs of car travel (including roading maintenance). To deliver those services however will require a fully aligned commitment by the Greater Christchurch councils and its partners (including Waka Kotahi) - I would like to see dedicated rates put towards saving for the delivery of this infrastructure in the future.

2087 - Emma Norrish (Waipapa Papanui-Innes-Central Community Board)

The Board is also committed to supporting the Ōtautahi Christchurch Climate Resilience Strategy's Climate Goals along with advocating strongly for active transport modes and networks to support walking, cycling, and public transport.

2251 - Mobim Mathew

Consider light rail option between districts to attract more people.

2391 - Mitchell Rogers

Decentivise cars.

24 - Kaaren Mathias

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > City Planning]

More priority to densification of city, active transport, cycle and walkways and away from car parking and roading.

246 - Rose Shayler

Chch should have rail. Public transport is terrible in this city.

2462 - Mark Cox

Your public transport is terrible, I would use a train if I could with direct lines using the older stations, Rollerston and Rangiora should be hubs also funded by Selywn and Waimak DC's. I would reduce the funding for the buses and move more into getting a local rail system up

247 - Daisy Cassels

trams, trains lightrail, buses are useless

2491 - Heidi Warren

Passenger rail and passenger trams please. Less expensive carparks.

2533 - Steven Muir

[Other/Special Interest Topics>Creating a Climate Fund]

achieving emission reduction targets now seems to be higher priority than a future fund. switching people from cars to active transport is best option for this

2540 - Jocelyn and Caroline Papprell and Syddall

As our population grows and ages, we need a more comprehensive mix of accessible transport options such as improved public transport, dedicated, safe & joined up cycleways, slow-zone areas for safe inner-city & suburban pedestrian activities, and improved footpaths (wider, fewer cracks, tree root trip hazards) so they are safer for low-vision people, the elderly.

2570 - Marie Gray

We need to urgently lower our emissions and to invest in resilience. Transport is the main lever CCC can pull to reduce emissions. >>> [Strategic Direction > Climate Resilience]

262 - Maria Mendoza Nieto

Light rail is becoming more and more necessary as an alternative to private vehicles and buses as it would reduce road congestion and stimulate the economy as more people would get moving and participate in the local economy

2735 - Lydia Zhong

Christchurch needs better transport. Why we don't built and reuse the train?

2750 - Helen Johnstone

Consider light rail again in the future.

2784 - Jenny Smith (Te Whare Roimata Trust)

We strongly advocate the need to explore and develop demand responsive transport solutions as well as looking at other options for older and less mobile people.

281 - Selwyn Gamble

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Greater Christchurch Partnership]

It's just as much your responsibility for making rail sellable to the general public of Christchurch as Waka Kotahi, Environment Canterbury and the NZ government. Why is it that it feels like it's only young people with picket signs even talking about rail as a viable option. People don't believe in it because it's these institutions that continue car dependancy propaganda. I mean the way people drive these days, you genuinely think they would be happy to hit pedestrians for sport. Like isn't that messed up? It's also upto your institutions to create political will not just activists who get marginalised for being a perceived minority or crazy voice. Have we even thought to consider how Christchurch ran before the age of the car and what lessons we can learn from that?

2828 - Thomas Kulpe

Council does not seem to support the introduction of more EVs. There is no mention of supporting/mandating charging stations. There is no mention of light rail.

289 - Julian Springer

get ready for a 1m person chch. Infrastructure investment and planning for over ground MRT is vital

2947 - Katia De Lu

First, some facts: - Transport makes up 54% of Ōtautahi | Christchurch's gross emissions; cars alone are 22%, whilst utes and vans are 10%. - There were 462 premature deaths attributed to human-made air pollution in Ōtautahi | Christchurch in 2016. The bulk of this air pollution is caused by exhaust fumes by fossil fuel vehicles. Behind these numbers are real human lives and real human suffering. We need to focus on dramatically reducing these figures by inducing a mode shift away from private vehicles to active and public transport instead.

2953 - Quentin Kelly

Transport. The roads are shit, congestion is shit, infrastructure is shit. I recently went to Adelaide and I can tell you they are doing things right. Coming back to Christchurch after some weeks away my eyes are opened as to how the city is being strangled. The council traffic management team need to be fired for incompetence. Intentional bottlenecks in roads to cause congestion to make it look like 'something else'. Where is the fucking train system from north and south canterbury? An absolute no brainer.

307 - Rata Jamieson

Christchurch's highest emitting sector is transport at 54%. The council should focus on the shift to using more public transport and creating a more efficient system.

3123 - Kate Markman

I'm not really across how it is funded, but really think we should be focussing more on public transport in addition to buses

3125 - Gabrielle Humphreys

Smaller e buses

314 - Vaughan Kirkland

I know it is more an Ecan issue but please do not permit light rail to be built . The proposals to build it along Papanui rd fails every sense check as it would be incredibly expensive and yet only cater to a very small catchment of ChCh residents and assumes that a very large segment of that catchment population works in the CBD. I am also opposed to significant commuter rail developments as sometimes proposed where the main beneficiaries would be people living outside in commuter ,towns outside ChCh and yet most the cost would be carried by ChCh ratepayers.

3222 - Mark Rayner

A move to hydrogen powered vehicles should be fast tracked before we are overrun by non sustainable EV's.

3354 - Andrea Langan

Brighton tram link tourist and transport into the city

3357 - Merav Benaia

In my submission to Ecan I recommended increasing the frequency of Buses during the weekend. I recommend council work together with Ecan to enable this option.

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > City Planning]

Transport makes up 54% of Christchurch's gross emissions. Council needs to focus more on reducing this figure. To achieve the goal of reducing emissions, and expenses, council should encourage planning and building a denser city with better public and active transport options. The continuation, without additional delays, of the rollout of the Major Cycle Routes programmes, with a higher priority on the Ōtakaro-Avon River and North-East Cycle Route, which would travel through areas currently underserved by existing infrastructure. The idea of 15 minutes city is key to creating a vibrant, livable city. It will have a positive impact on communities, council services and businesses. The School Cycle Skills and Training and council support for adult cycling skills (such as Bike Bridge) are good and council should continue to support them, but without meaningful changes to roads around the city in general and around schools in particular this is money down the drain. Children need safe routes to get not only to their local school but also to all other activities they participate in. There should be funding for lowering driving speeds, creating safe crossings and cycling routes.

3392 - Stephen Wood

Christchurch has changed significantly from when I lived here as a university student to living here now as a retiree. It has grown and survived the earthquakes. For me the biggest improvement is that we have more of our city's public spaces that are not given over to the operation of motor vehicles. We have safe cycle routes in places, and parts of the CBD which are shared space with fewer cars. It's not just about cycle-ways, its about imagining and realising a city that is more pleasant to live in. A month ago I heard talks from Janette Sadik-Kahn and Salvador Rueda about how they'd transformed their own cities (New York and Barcelona respectively) simply be reclaiming spaces from cars. We could do it too, but still leave a viable network for cars to get around.

3411 - Marian Krogh (Protect Our Winters NZ)

POW agrees with the goal of increasing access by walking within 15 minutes to key destinations. This will mean a more livable city, lower emissions, and a happier population with everything nearby.

3413 - Janey Archbold

Rail. Buses are a waste of time. Rail from the north and south will liven the city

3423 - James Upton

A public transport infrastructure that takes pressure off congested travel routes could form part of an overall strategy to reduce dependence on daily use of (one occupant) trips. How to get there might be a trial and error thing for a few years but anything is possible and it might not be that obvious at the moment.

3444 - Jo McGregor

Your vision needs to focus on what the people want. Stop the 15 minute city nonsense that other cities are signing up to. We want a city free of spy cameras.

3464 - Serena Smith

I personally think, that if you want a 15 minute city, look in WCC (Wellington City council) of how they are doing theirs, their ideas are amazing. You could take leaf's out of their book. Not enough space to write a book about it.

3493 - Brendon Lee

Remember, the more difficult you make the public doing commutes by car to and from work, the lower the productivity as an aggregate. How well utilised are these cycle ways and paths for those commuting to work and back home when you're trying to address climate change. The model needs to be looked at an aggregate, meaning if you want people to commute by bicycle or foot traffic, then you must also require increasing building intensification. Otherwise people will just move to Rolleston and drive their car. On a whole, NZ has been a place where we build outwards, while every major city around the world builds UP (multi-story high rises, etc.). Which model serves better in terms of addressing climate change? Certainly not by building single story houses, filling up areas like in Lincoln.

3535 - Anna Harper

Having lived and worked in Hong Kong, Tokyo, Sydney, London, Copenhagen, Bangkok to mention a few, it is important to ensure Christchurch is a liveable city where people are able to freely move about, to travel across the city with ease and to have access to the amenities. It must not become a locked down city, where it is too costly to live, or to experience life, culture, the arts and sporting activities. No 15 min cities, or invasive technologies.

3558 - Patrick Kennedy

We have so much potential as a city, with our new public facilities coming on line, but we can do better. We have a loose plan for a more liveable city, with an actual rapid transit line under the Huihui Mai Greater Christchurch plan. Why aren't we leaning in on this?

3614 - Lin Roberts

2. Transport: Balance needs to shift away from motor vehicles to public transport and active transport, and much more ambitious goals set for improvements in the share of non-car modes in daily trips (p109, vol1).

3645 - Sophie McKenzie

Regarding transport, there is a need for this significant model shift in the city.

3648 - Yvonne Russell

We have been told about the ageing population yet where is the support for their affordable , efficient , transport ?

3740 - Nicky Sharples

Long term do we need good and valued public transport system to discourage reliance on cars.

3747 - Nick Meeten

Transportation investments should provide for the growth of different modes of transport between vehicles (e.g. cars/trucks) and pedestrians. Examples are: more e-bikes, more elderly on mobility scooters, more e-scooters, more normal bikes.

3748 - Greta Bond (Age Concern Canterbury)

[Transport > Operations], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)], [Transport > Footpaths & Streetscapes (Capital)], [Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure]

Accessible public transport options for all people is a very high priority, as is spending on footpaths and cycle routes. We would encourage CCC to stand firm on its vision of an accessible Christchurch, regardless of any pressure upcoming from the Government (for example to invest more in new roads of "significance" or increase speed limits, especially those in urban areas). An extensive, well-maintained and accessible public transport network ensures that all people can participate in city life, and also makes it easier for older people, and families, to access other services (for example, medical appointments, or schooling).

Our transport network must be inclusive, and developed with that eye for accessibility. Better designed bus-stops, and a more family friendly environment at the Bus Exchange, would assist in this area. We are excited by the proposals for an increased cycling network and greater attention to options for those who no longer drive (and for those who, given the opportunity, would prefer to use public transport more).

3763 - John Graham

We don't all want to be riding bikes & scooters & taking the buses.

3795 - Bede Cunningham

need plan for light rail.

3809 - Johnathon Ridden

Transport infrastructure investment needs to support clean green investment (e.g. Rolleston - Christchurch - Rangiora light rail, EV network, electric bikes and vehicles, cycle network), not un-climate friendly transport.

>>>

Good climate focussed investments. Need to look to 30-40 year programme to install light rail between Rolleston - City Centre - Rangiora to reduce single occupant vehicles (or other incentives to reduce single occupant vehicles).

3812 - Nick Paris

The transport funding future must include either heavy or light rail to safeguard the efficiencies of Christchurch in the future.

3819 - Jessica Halliday

I think transportation is one of the things that Council should spend money on getting in balance with our carbon emission reduction target, and in terms of creating greater equity - especially for those who are on lower incomes, are children/young people or adults who don't/can't drive. Being car dependent is incredibly expensive - and giving people meaningful choice in how they get around their neighbourhoods and the city will mean more money in our pockets at the end of the week/fortnight. This means good investment in public transport (the parts CCC are responsible for: bus lanes, bus stops) and active transportation: walking and cycling/micro mobility.

3830 - Brenda Banning

I do think there needs to be more needs to be considered on transportation/movement of people around the city spaces. There needs to be less dependence on individual cars.

3837 - Dermot Coffey

[Strategic Direction > Community Outcomes & Strategic Priorities]

I mainly support the vision. I would however strongly advise incorporating the word "healthy" within the outcomes (perhaps a "green, healthy, liveable city"). Unless this is specifically included as an outcome, it may well be overlooked, despite the fact that many of the social and environmental determinants of health being directly affected by the decisions the Council will make on funding. This is particularly the case with respect to transport- recent studies in Aotearoa NZ have shown that the health impacts, premature deaths and health costs of air pollution due to vehicle use (exhaust particulates, nitrogenous gases and brake/tyre/road dust particular) are significantly higher than previously estimated. Across the country, this represents over 2,000 premature deaths and $10 billion annually due to air pollution alone, dwarfing the ~350 deaths and ~$2.5 billion costs due to road trauma. Funding active transport appropriately also improves public health due to reduced physical inactivity, reduced noise pollution, improved neighbourhood connectivity and improved independent transport for all (recognising that no children under 16 and a significant proportion of adults cannot drive, even if they can afford the running costs of a car)

3846 - Rebecca Finch

What about rail to Rolleston and Rangiora?

3893 - Joe Pope

Electrification

3935 - Michael Healey

I live in a city called Christchurch. Transit-orientated development is the future of Christchurch. What is TOD? From 'the horse's mouth', or Peter Calthropew in this case: "moderate and high-density housing along with complementary public uses, jobs, retail and services, are concentrated in mixed-use developments at strategic points along the regional transit system." In the wake of the 2011 earthquake, Christchurch underwent rapid depopulation of its urban core and a corresponding expansion of new housing developments in the surrounding satellite towns through large-scale 'greenfield' developments. Following the publication of the (Greater Christchurch Public Transport Futures MRT Interim Report, 2021), three transport infrastructure solutions have been proposed: (i) heavy rail using existing networks, (ii) street running limited-stop routes, i.e., buses, (iii) street running corridor focused routes, i.e., trams. The interim report does not provide fine-grained information about the built environment, its suitability to successfully support Transit Orientated Development, or how this might inform choosing a particular infrastructure proposal. Furthermore, the Christchurch City Council CCC does not have TOD-specific planning regulations that might ensure quality design and successful built outcomes. Much of this reluctance to intermesh public transport proposals with TOD urban design principals can be explained by; (i) the early stage in the transport feasibility study, (ii) the absence of inner city track infrastructure for public transport since the removal of trams in 1953 (iii) the reluctance of developers to commit to high-density developments given the perceived preference for detached housing and private car ownership. The central issues of urban density and walkability that underpin any successful TOD project have been addressed to a limited extent by Jan Gehl's 2009 study "Christchurch Public Space Public Life" and Christchurch City Council 2015 "Christchurch Central Recovery Plan" – both these documents focus on the inner city, where designers have been given a tabula rasa for extensive shovel ready building and landscape projects follow the earthquake. Still, it is noted that the respective western and northern transport links proposed in the (Greater Christchurch Public Transport Futures MRT Interim Report, 2021) will necessarily be inserted into the city fabric around existing commercial, industrial, heritage and suburban areas. The apparent lacuna in TOD planning and rules for Christchurch highlights the need for further investigation into the local conditions of each transport node; for if the general formula of (low population density = high government investment) holds in the case of Christchurch, then there is the risk of getting the scale, urban form or funding the model wrong if developers piggy-back off increased property values and the removal of height restrictions without informed public & community consultation.

>>>

There are three proposed transport modes for TOD following the publication of the (Greater Christchurch Public Transport Futures MRT Interim Report, 2021) three transport infrastructure solutions have been proposed: (i) heavy rail using existing networks, (ii) street running limited-stop routes, i.e., buses, (iii) street running corridor-focused routes, i.e., trams. I'm throwing my weight behind horse number three - It's a winner! Why? • Street running corridor wins value capture option and population support increase. It has other advantages as it is the only option that creates a walkable TOD network corridor where many of the stops are within an 800 m walkable distance from each other. • The choice is between fast (sub 30 min) access for commuter town vs finer grained urban corridors. • From the perspective of community building and New Urbanist values, recall • From Peter Calthorpe's definition of TOD is "developments at strategic points along the regional transit system". • Street running corridor would be the preferred option as it brings more density and walkable suburbs that are otherwise isolated. •It will affect Scenario Change in Land Value Change in Population along the Corridor •Change in Employment along the Corridor. Defining what constitutes walkability, mix-use, and density in one place is complex and may be perceived differently in another. There is a risk of getting the scale, urban form or funding the model wrong if developers piggyback off increased property values and the removal of height restrictions without informed public & community consultation. The key is self-funding value capture through increased land prices, which can fund community services, social housing, and infrastructure. Besides questions of implementation and funding, there is often some choice between satellite access for commuter towns vs finer-grained urban corridors. From the perspective of community building and traditional (healthy) urbanism, a street-running corridor is preferred as it brings more density and walkability to otherwise isolated suburbs.

3949 - Fay Brorens

RMT for Rolleston and Rangiora areas.

396 - Daniel Jackson

I think investment in our great public transport system is vital to continue us towards a green, livable and adorable city to live in. A form of passenger light rail connecting from Springfield, Amberly, Rakaia and potentially Akaroa to Christchurch would do wonders for house prices, varying lifestyles through the city and now is the best time to do it. The city is growing rapidly and the longer a large and critical project (one that all major and acclaimed cities in the world has already done) the more it will cost the the harder it will be to do it right the first time (learning from Auckland).

>>>

Walking around the city centre has been great, not needing to worry about cars and having so many things within a short walk is perfect. I do with that this form of people first public space could be extended to other parts of the city so that the central city isn't the only walkable sector.

4003 - Kristine Jolliy

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > City Planning]

I would like to see Christchurch as a leader in being a "Green NZ City" E.g. similar to Denmark.

Less cars, more bikes, green spaces, 30 kilometre walking city. Fast smaller trains, free buses (make them smaller though).

Melbourne bans Utes from the inner city streets. We should to the same. Scotland has fast small trains out from the city to rural areas. It works!.

4027 - Rona Buttimore

Need light rail. Works well in other centres

>>>

Light rail...

416 - Mike Cleaver (Canterbury)

My biased view is that people need more independent mobility options. As such cars should be de-prioritised.

>>>

I would like to see more bias put into mass transit, and I consider any transit where people take up less than one car's room per occupant to be that. Cycles, mobility devices, buses, and trams all take up much less room per person travelling. They then have many impacts including but not limited to congestion improvements, pollution reduction, individual health improvements, accessibility of services and availability of options for individuals and finally financial impacts are clear. Cars cost more than the fuel it takes to run them, initial expense, servicing and repair, licensing and insurance are all regular and high costs that may seem to ignore. From the Cities point of view, roads are expensive to build and maintain, especially to the degree needed for the amount of car traffic currently present. Reducing that reduces the cities expenses. Having fewer cars around makes the city a more pleasant place to be, promoting visitors to come and stay longer. Having modern public transport available in a variety of forms (for example rentable scooters and bikes, as well as buses and trams) is becoming a much more desirable trait in a city from a global stage POV. With the new stadium, if there was less traffic and many more viable alternatives to accessing events, I think the city would find much greater success with the use of it. Cars should not be promoted as a way to enable independent travel. That is my main focus of the feedback. I understand and accept everything else raised, the balance seems sensible and would suggest viable long term sustainability of the city. I can recommend <https://www.strongtowns.org/> as a place where research has been done into making cities more financially stable whilst also improving their desirability. I think this is an important aspect of planning city spending for a decade.

>>>

I would be disappointed if, like the current coalition government, significant importance was placed on new roads for cars, when better road usage could be achieved by reducing current need for car-based transport across the city. meaning the need for new roads would be reduced.

>>>

I will reiterate that I feel transport costs should focus less of making cars the best option for travel, and more about utilising what's currently available and making it more accessible to more people that walk, cycle or use other independent mobility devices.

>>>

As to climate change, I think that current expenditure can have that in mind, as I have repeated, cars are not great for a city environment and alternatives should be made better and easier.

418 - Molly Magid

Improving the city for active transport and public transport like walking, biking, and buses.

426 - Elyse Thompson

Public transport needs to be prioritised. As the population of Ōtautahi Christchurch grows, reliance on cars must decrease. It's already more congested than it was 5 years ago. Busses are not enough. I know it's silly, but there is a stigma against busses. It also takes ages to get anywhere on busses. A lightrail system or trams would be a better choice. Look at cities across the world and what public transport options are in place. It's a no-brainer.

454 - Jude Rogers

[Transport>Cycleways (Capital); Transport>Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital); Transport>Footpaths & Streetscapes (Capital)]

Prioritise public transport, cycleways and foot traffic.

458 - Christine Cockle

[Transport>Cycleways (Capital)]

Taiho on the cycleways and the EV obsession

[Coder note: Taiho = retreat, withdraw, retire]

464 - Mary McCammon

[Transport>Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]

Public transport a priority please.

467 - Anna Scheirlinck

Transport funding should focus on public transport and active transport. It needs to be climate friendly and create a greener city, breathing in fumes while cycling around the city is disgusting. 30km/hr roads in the CBD are great.

472 - Alessandro Grida'

people need to use more public transports during the weekdays to make the transport infrastructure to be sustainable and worthed to keep spend money on it

482 - Graham Townsend

Amsterdam is a thriving city where the private car does NOT rule. It is pedestrian and cyclist friendly and a wonderful city for tourists to explore. For environmental and health reasons we need to get more Kiwis out of their cars.

490 - Linda-Jean Kenix

I would like to see more investment on transportation that is sustainable. Even more bike lanes, passenger rail on train tracks that already exist. Also, people on bikes should be able to take the bus free through the tunnel to the first stop on the other side. Otherwise, there is no way for bicyclists to get from Lyttelton to town unless they go over the Port Hills or pay a fare just for one stop.

506 - Conal McCarthy

Public transport is good

526 - Stephen French

Christchurch is served by an excellent bus system that could be expanded more into the nearby new centres of populations particularly if there were more park & ride options provided. The development of cycle paths should continue though should be required to be used by e-scooters rather than the dangerous pavements. The introduction of reduced speed limits in business streets and housing estates is another safety measure worth developing further.

531 - Cameron Bradley

[Transport>Transport (Operations)]

I would like to see more $ go towards walking, cycling, and public transport in order for us to meet our emissions reduction targets, improve our health, help Christchurch densify in a positive way, and reduce the long term debt needed to fund roads for cars.

534 - Russell Hignett

[Transport>Carparking (Capital)]

I would like to see parking hubs in suburbs considered to supplement and feed into bus services.

537 - Beverley Cocks

[Transport>Carparking (Capital)]

You waste money on Park Terrace and Gloucester Street. Totally unnecessary. What is necessary is a City Council Car Park Building verbally promised by the Council some time ago between the Theatre Royal and the new Court Theatre

563 - Tobias Meyer

[Transport > Roads (Capital)]

We should spend less on road maintenance and more on investing in active transport that will help reduce emissions. This will save money as pedestrians and bikes cause very little damage and will encourage people out of their cars.

>>>

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

We should prioritise connecting the existing cycle network and improving the walkability of suburbs. I would like to see the council being more visionary in their approach to planning. Improving walkability is good, as is continued investment in cycle facilities. Please continue and increase speed of these changes. Currently, cycling around the city is often an unpleasant experience. There is lots of glass on the roads and intersections that are difficult to safely cross. Even when cycling in cycle lanes, almost daily I need to take evasive action to protect me from drivers turning into me without indicating, or opening their doors without looking.

581 - Paul Amtman

This council has put cycleways above roading, and while some cycleways achieve good results others are questionable. the roads are now in an appalling state. Just look at Langdons Road. Also putting the wheels to wings on the busy Harewood Road is stupid.

587 - Diana Holderness

Every day i see empty buses. I know they are used at peak times and by school children. Seems a problem to me that they are empty during the day.

611 - Kate East

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

Public transportation is key for Christchurch to link our suburbs and inner city. We need fast and reliable transportation. Bus lanes are a great start, but we also need the government to invest in our city and build light rail. I know this is out of the scope of this draft, but we need to be advocating and pushing for our city to develop and grow, not more of the same old that hasn't and won't work. We have an opportunity to replicate the success of Melbourne's public transport sector. Our population is only growing so we need to plan for the future we WILL have, not some convenient ideological view of "the good ol days" where you could "find a car park in town..."

623 - Linda Everett

Are cheaper transport options being looked at. I know the Council is keen to increase cycleways, but there are still a lot of older people who cannot cycle, and rely on public transport to get around.

627 - Alex Lewis

[Recreation, Sports & Events > Community Arts]

While Roads and transport infrastructure is valuable, I think there should be more focus on environmental resilience and the arts. We need long-term planning to transition Christchurch away from being dependent on cars, such as an expansion of safe-cycling infrastructure and upgraded public transport. Additionally, sacrificing cultural and artistic support in favour of infrastructure erodes the reasons why Christchurch is such a multi-cultural, dynamic and interesting city.

636 - Ben Taylor

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > City Planning]

Transport makes up the majority of Christchurch gross emissions, with cars alone contributing 22%, there needs to be a focus on reducing these figures. Building a denser city and creating mode shift out of private cars into public transport or cycling.

639 - Paul Clark

Key projects need forward planning ie. bikes take up much less space than cars done right it could save a heap of congestion.

666 - Stephen Palfrey

[Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

No new roads, no new cycleways just maintain the roads we've got and plan for climate change e.g. sea level rises - Diamond Harbour needs security of transport network

694 - Lucia Rivas

Hopefully transport initiatives have a climate change focus. Not just cars!

718 - Sharon Pheasant

I don't think so. We have an aging population as a city and there seems to be far too much emphasis on cycling which is not an option for elderly, disabled and those with young children as a general rule.

724 - Sophie Cooney

Would be great if there were trains eventually, eg: to the airport - but I know that could be completely impossible too. The infrastructure required is a massive undertaking think about the basics, things people actually need, not what everyone wants.

733 - Tania Thompson

750 - Simon Walker

If we grow like Auckland do we need to consider transportation from Our neighbouring districts.

768 - Volker Nock

Christchurch needs more significantly more investment into alternative transport options, such as light rail and suburban trains on the existing lines.

816 - Murray Dickinson

Our Low carbon future is not based on a mass-transit or cycling. It is EV power units replacing ICE power units. While you need to make investments in PT and Cycleways, technology will supersede your strategy.

817 - Paul Christensen

[Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

The document does not give information on effects on emissions for the transport program. The program will not have an effect on emissions from transportation. The Ōtautahi Christchurch Greenhouse Gas Emissions Inventory, FY23 lists transportation as 54% of the city's emissions. It also states that on road transport emissions have decreased by <1% since 2019. To have an effect on emissions there needs to be a focus on active transport and public transport. The plan presented continues to focus on transportation by private car. $1billion spent on roading. Only $318million is proposed to be spent on projects that have a direct impact on climate change mitigation. That balance of spending will not result in the Council decreasing on-road transport emissions.

818 - Bevan Phillipson

[Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]

Not able to at this time. Yes do feel a "loop" rail transport system from Addington city area including Northern, Southern, Airport, needs research for viability before it is too late.

852 - Ben Tyas

[Strategic Direction > Climate Change], [Parks > Other]

Given the damning stat that Christchurch's on road emissions only decreased 1% since 2023, there should be significantly more attention to encouraging lower emission travel such as focus on safe cycling lanes rather than improving roading infrastructure which will only encourage more unsustainable vehicle activity. Acting on the urban forest plan is an excellent step and maintaining momentum allowing large scale roll out will be an excellent outcome for the city. These two points should see long term returns for the city, reducing the need for expensive climate change adaptation and associated costs.

856 - Ralph Hobbs

I know it would cost billions but I a train/light rail system in CHCH would be incredible and make it the best city in the world. I understand there is no prospect in the short-term moneywise, and there has probably been exploration of this in the past, but some kind of long-term exploration exercise would be an exciting start.

865 - Kelvin Duncan

Double-deckers. The electric buses have more limited seating arrangements, so double-deckers? I am using the service more and more and appreciate it. Especially your art in providing shelters. But, what if auto-drive Uber-type services come in providing cheap door-to-door services. Are you flexible enough to adopt this technology? It will be here soon.

885 - Denise Kidd

better collaboration with neighbouring councils for public transport provision including light rail from Rolleston to ChCh city

900 - Bill McElhinney

Needs to continue to future-proof our city.

907 - Mandy Jarden

Keep making bus lanes priorities, bike lanes priorities, and it would be great to have a plan with central government to develop light rail systems

Coastal Hazards Adaptation & Adaptation Planning

General Comments

76 submissions were received addressing coastal hazards adaptation & adaptation planning (CHAAP).

24 comments supported, and 6 comments opposed CHAAP.

36 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 13 comments provided general feedback addressing CHAAP.

Officer Response

Themes raised by submitters were:

Start planning for managed retreat.

- As sea levels rise, coastal areas will become increasingly vulnerable to flooding. We need to start planning for the managed retreat from these areas.
- “I think that some areas of Christchurch will be lost to rising sea levels. Managed retreat instead of resilience spending.”

Response to: Start planning for managed retreat.

The retreat of public assets from areas at risk of coastal hazards in the Whakaraupō – Lyttelton Harbour to Koukourarata – Port Levy area is currently being explored through the CHAP programme. It is intended that the CHAP programme will move around the district to undertake adaptation planning over the coming years. The retreat of assets will be one of the options considered in how we might adapt our assets to deal with the impacts of rising seas into the future.

With 20cm of sea-level rise, there is $14b worth of private properties exposed to coastal hazards across the Christchurch district. Central Government is responsible for making the laws and setting up the funding arrangements to support managed retreat. The Ministry for the Environment is currently progressing this work. Ahead of receiving this guidance, the Council has decided to focus its adaptation planning on public assets that contribute to the health, safety, and wellbeing of communities. This was done with the aim of providing a greater level of confidence in the implementation of adaptation options.

A smaller subset of submitters also clarified that public funding should be focussed on public assets, and that private property owners have responsibility for their assets.

- “Protect CCC assets but private landowners should look after their own.”

The use of climate change scenarios is unrealistic, planning for this is harmful to property owners and is a waste of money.

- Sea level rise will not happen at the rate at which it is currently predicted to do so by the Council. Climate models are inaccurate, and the scenarios being used by the Council to model climate change are too extreme. It is wasteful to be spending money planning for this.
- “Sea level rise is a myth and it is wasteful to plan for something that is not going to happen at the rate that woke models predict.”

Response:

The Council takes direction on climate science from the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC) and the Ministry for the Environment (MfE). The IPCC concluded that human caused planetary warming was unequivocal. Proactively responding to climate change will deliver many benefits for our community and Council has therefore identified climate resilience as a strategic priority.

The most recent MfE interim guidance on the use of new sea level rise projections recommends using five shared socioeconomic pathway (SSP) scenarios for sea level rise projections, including the upper-range scenario SSP5-8.5, and upper likely range of 8.5H+. Where available, data on local vertical land movement should also be considered.

The Dynamic Adaptive Policy Pathway (DAPP) planning approach which we are taking has a strong focus on adaptability which allows us to plan around uncertainty by focusing on pre-determined signals, triggers, and thresholds, instead of timeframes.

Trigger points allow us to act in response to signals to prevent an unacceptable threshold being reached. This approach reduces the risk of maladaptation by ensuring the most appropriate action is taken at the right time and helps to effectively allocate resources. At each stage of the adaptation pathway, options are reassessed as new information and technology becomes known. This approach keeps the pathway flexible and avoids path dependencies where possible.

Climate change modelling is having negative impacts on private properties, and managed retreat is unfair for homeowners.

- “Properties are at risk of becoming valueless due to discredited and exaggerated geo science data.”

Development in high-risk areas should not be allowed.

- Climate-related risks are predicted to increase over time. We should be limiting future exposure by preventing development in the most at-risk areas. Otherwise, we risk expectations of financial assistance should future disasters occur or managed retreat be required.
- “If there is a climate crisis (so the CCC says) why are we still building houses on the coastline.”

Response:

The Council is proposing to notify the Coastal Hazards Draft Plan Change later in 2024.

Coastal hazards are also being considered as a Qualifying Matter as part of the Housing and Business Choice Plan Change PC14 restricting intensification (over and above what is enabled by the operative District Plan) in areas identified at risk of coastal inundation, erosion and tsunami. Decisions are required to implement the National Policy Statement on Urban Development (NPS-UD) by September 2024, which includes commercial centres and areas within a walkable catchment of those centres. Both pieces of work aim to limit development rights in at-risk areas, and consequently also limit the amount of infrastructure exposed to coastal hazards in the future.

Support

1100 - Alistair McKinnon

[Strategic Direction>Climate Change]; [Strategic Direction>Additional Savings & Efficiencies]

We need to look at the climate change reducing features and maybe delay these, however, impact changes due to raising sea water do need to happen.

1397 - Andrew Sprouse

I think it's really important to maintain our coastal defences

1474 - Céra Dernhagen

[Three Waters>Stormwater & Land Drainage]; [Three Waters>Waterways Quality & Compliance]; [Other/Special Interest Topics>Creating a Climate Fund]; [Strategic Direction>Have we got the balance right?]

Clean Water and Climate Resilience: Water protection and climate change adaptation are essential. I encourage: Why it's personal I am originally from a place that has experienced and is experiencing an increase in wildfires. A little over a decade ago almost my entire town was wiped out by a runaway wildfire due to poor management and climate change induced heatwaves. I want to make sure our home is ready for our changing climate. Solutions Rigorous protection of waterways through stormwater management, reduced pollution, and natural filtration systems. Increased investment in infrastructure designed to withstand the impacts of climate change (e.g., flooding and sea-level rise), including nature-based solutions. Accelerate Adaptation efforts - invest much more than the laughably small 1.8 million per year Climate Resilience Fund - Expand the program. Start the plan immediately and invest more than the current proposal. We have created enough climate debt for our Rangatahi. It's time to properly invest in their future.

1616 - David Thomson

Encourage managed retreat and prevent any new building on risky land

2477 - Rachael Ann

The coastal environment.

[Coders note: in reference to capital spend]

2520 - Graeme Fraser (Diamond Harbour Community Association)

We support urgent measures to protect our essential infrastructure from tides and possible sea level rise.

253 - Daryl Cotterell

[Grants & Funding > Arts Centre Funding]

happy to agree if it were ratified with due diligence , unlike what is happening with the proposed lack of support for the Arts Ctre.

2570 - Marie Gray

I support speeding up adaptation planning through investing the extra $1.8m to boost community planning, preparedness and resilience to these impacts.

268 - Kathryn McNeil

[Spending - Capital Programme (General)]

Three waters, transport, and solid waste and resource recovery - yes. These things are essential. As is climate change adaptation, which isn't mentioned in the list. Libraries, 100% maintained parks and Te Kaha are the nice-to-haves. Focus on the essentials.

>>>

It's probably a good idea. I wouldn't like it to be spent buying out private property, but for publicly owned property, yes.

2821 - Dave and Denise Falls

happy with investment in flood protection + tree planting.
- happy to mitigate against sea level rise.

2847 - Colleen Philip (Sustainable Ōtautahi Christchurch)

The additional $1.8 million spend: More efficient to do it faster. False economy to wait. You need to be responsive to all the public consultations which have emphasised the desire for climate action. Including "What Matters Most" as this LTP was being prepared. The Council - community relationship must be strengthened and ignoring oft repeated community priorities, for expediency, will not help at all. [Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)] [Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

2868 - Jonty Coulson

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > City Planning], [Transport > Roads (Capital)], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Great Christchurch Partnership], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Strategic Transport], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Coastal Hazards Adaption & Adaption Planning]

Other active and public transport policies and spending should be implemented. This includes restricting urban sprawl, reducing road funding, providing better public transport including increased support for a mass rapid transit corridor, and allocating funds to safer speeds projects. I also support the continuation of the safer speed plan, including a blanket reduction of in-city speeds to 30km/h. As the CCC has stated road resurfacing will be more expensive going forward, safer speeds and traffic reduction are the best ways to reduce wear and tear and save money for other climate-focused projects.

>>>

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Coastal Hazards Adaption & Adaption Planning], [Parks > Biodiversity & Ecological Restoration], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Strategic Transport], [Strategic Direction > Our Treaty Relationships]

As previously stated in my submission (where relevant), I believe more funding and support should be provided for: - Climate Mitigation and Adaptation - Centering public and active transport - Creating a robust biodiversity plan with increased funding and emphasis on naturally regenerating forest. - Enabling Tino Rangatiratanga and Te Tiriti o Waitangi to be a core part of decisionmaking processes.

2899 - Victoria Nebbeling

Investing in climate resilience initiatives for the coastal environment.

3055 - Josephine Drysdall

The council must address climate change at a systemic level, balancing mitigation and adaptation. [For instance, mitigating with >>>, and adapting with coastal community planning that truly involves those communities. Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)] [Parks > Tree Canopy] [Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

3209 - Anouk Minnaar

[Rates > Residential Rates], [Rates > Business Rates], [Rates > Remote Rural Rates], [Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]

It is essential to keep investing in climate adaption projects and climate mitigation projects.

>>>

Heathcote Floodplain Management Implementation must be brought forward to 2025 in order to provide protection from further floods such as the Woolston floods.

3501 - Malcolm Long (Ōpāwaho Heathcote River Network)

Strategic Planning and Resource Consents
Undertake adaptation planning by establishing Coastal Panels, identifying community objectives and Priority Adaptation Locations, drafting and testing adaptation pathways with the wider community and submitting adaptation plans for Council approval. Target: Two adaptation areas per annum	Support but prefer accelerated adaptation efforts See below

3576 - Noeline Allan (Cass Bay Residents Association)

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Creating a Climate Fund]

If we do not put investment into lowering the effects of climate change now the costs could be a great deal more in the long run. We have seen the devastation caused in other parts of the country due to adverse weather conditions and we know that storms will become more frequent and damaging. Investment now will help minimize the worst effects. For instance, the road to the boatsheds in Cass Bay is being undermined by erosion from the sea. This will put the road in danger of collapse. Three historical, warm springs which run out on the beach under this road should be properly piped and could be enhanced for public enjoyment. We need to prepare for future events by creating a Climate Resilience fund so that we have enough funds to deal with any emergency like earthquakes and landslides.

3723 - Don Babe

Coastal retreat is going to be a big issue as the number of events that impact the coast become more severe and regular. Just saying that someone in the future should do the work will not be helpful, it needs to be started yesterday.

3889 - Jessica Rees

Coastal plan should be accelerated

3899 - Harrison McEvoy

[Parks > Biodiversity & Ecological Restoration, Other/Special interest Topics > Creating a climate fund]

Council must allocate more funding to implement the biodiversity strategy (less than 50% of actions are currently being implemented). There must also be consideration given during this LTP period to the creation of a fund or allocation for preparation to undertake Climate Mitigation works or Managed Retreat in future.

3939 - Michele Hollis

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Creating a Climate Fund]

I would like to see a specific climate levy, with money used for climate adaptation including preparation for the need for managed retreat in some coastal and flood-prone areas (eg lower Heathcote). I do not think the climate levy should be used for mitigation - that should be core to all spending decisions by Council that ewaulting emissions be low/zero.

>>>

[Parks > Biodiversity & Ecological Restoration]

Keep up the dune restoration! As a New Brighton resident I know how vital this is to the physical survival of our community in the face of sea level rise.

505 - Laura Jones

Christchurch is a very low lying city and adaptations are needed for sea level rise and adverse weather events

816 - Murray Dickinson

Climate Change is a challenge and we need to consider how we retreat from areas (south shore)

Oppose

1327 - Chris O'Brien

[Borrowing & Debt Management > Borrowing & Debt Management]

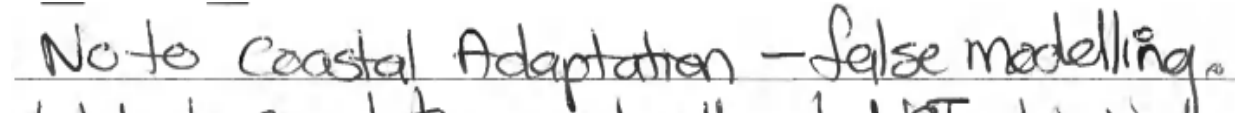

Sea level rise is a myth and it is wasteful to plan for something that is not going to happen at the rate that woke models predict. Given the huge 2.2 billion debt and that around a quarter of our rates go to servicing debt forget about spending in the red zone. Do the bare minimum to make this area more useable.

1395 - William Wallace

Managed Retreat is a farce. Stop the climate change nonsense in relation to coastal property. If seafront properties are so much at risk, then why are they being sought after (often by wealthy buyers from abroad) and why are insurance companies still taking on that risk?

2690 - Robbie Dobbie

No to Coastal Adaptation - False modelling

3206 - John Gudgeon

Give up on any work regarding "coastal retreat" or "climate mitigation". It is an expensive scam and an unfair way of getting people out of their homes.

3724 - Terence Sissons

I'm not convinced about the need to provide for sea level rise which is a risk identified in models as oppose dot the real world. The models have not produced and accurate forecasts to date.

>>>

See my earlier comment on flood protection - necessary but delay work on sea level rise which has not been shown to be a real risk

3810 - Caleb Buchanan

[Parks > Heritage (Capital)], [Libraries > Libraries (Capital)]

I don't feel the amount of money for the parks heritage and coastal areas or the library are necessary

Other

1087 - Julie Hansen

[Transport>Cycleways (Capital)]

To keep people in my community safe I would like to have a safe biking track along Lower Styx Road. This is a very dangerous road currently to bike down due to being a very narrow road and no verge to bike on. But it is also a very popular road for bikers to use as it's access to Burwood forest and Spencer Park. But I also would like a stop bank along the Styx River due to flooding concerns in this area. So a bike track on top of a stop bank would cover both of these concerns.

>>>

Stop banks along the Styx River and along the Waimakariri River Estuary!!!!

>>>

A much needed stop bank to continue the stop bank from Brooklands and around Seaview estuary. To not only keep Brooklands and Spencerville safer from flooding but also the wider community of Christchurch.

1157 - Justin Rogers

Get ahead of natural hazards and flood areas by sharing the relevant information - delaying the news will only further distort the property and insurance markets.

1191 - Ava Johnson

Coastal environments are crucial defence for storms and floods! No money should be spent on activities that degrade this environment.

1229 - Cassandra Albert

[Parks > Parks Maintenance], [Parks > Foreshore]

Coastal environments serve as our primary shield against the ravages of storms and floods. Beyond their protective role, these habitats are essential for fostering recreation and supporting vibrant tourism industries.

Parks, as quintessential green spaces, serve as hubs for community connection and leisure activities. It is imperative that we allocate funds judiciously, prioritizing investments in initiatives that nurture the health and resilience of our coastal ecosystems.

Any expenditure on recreational pursuits that degrade the environment, such as golf, must be adamantly opposed. Our focus should be unwaveringly directed towards safeguarding and enhancing the ecological integrity of our coastal areas for the benefit of present and future generations.

1339 - Carol Marie Ferrier

Make sure you have good planners and geologists that can identify future hazard areas. No subdivision in low lying areas, fire risk areas, flooding, sea level rise etc. Think!

1498 - Charlie Due

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?]

[Spending>Our Proposed Spending]

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration>Coastal Hazards Adaptation & Adaptation Planning]

I feel as though CCC could be prioritising mitigation of flood risk as much as possible to ensure managed retreat strategies have minimal effect on Christchurch residents.

1545 - Jasmine Arps

[Other/Special Interest Topics>Creating a Climate Fund]

The CHAP team's mahi is amazing and needs to be resourced to roll out across the district ASAP

1692 - David Bluck

Stupidly high house prices mean that young people are unable to buy houses, hence have less interest in responding to this survey. The older richer people who will respond to this probably don't care

1838 - Charlotte Holland

Move up the spend on coastal adaption planning.
Entirely worth 19 cents per week. Waiting 3 years to start a process that is going to take a long time but is crucially important doesn't seem to align well with goals & values.

1969 - Christine Dann

3 Sea level rise and coastal erosion

3.1 The CCC Climate Resilience Strategy 2021 focuses largely on coastal hazards caused by sea level rise and related erosion and degradation of habitable land and land transport routes. This is understandable given the extent of the city's coastline, and the severity of impacts as the sea rises over (or beneath) the land. The consultation process on coastal hazards currently underway will hopefully provide good guidance on where the most severe and urgent impacts will occur, and how to deal with them most effectively.

3.2 However, while Christchurch's eyes are on the sea – the hills are burning, and slipping down to the coast. Hillside and cliff erosion is almost always caused by severe storms, which buffet and saturate the land. Adapting to the impacts of coastal erosion must include looking at ways to mitigate storm damage to hillsides as well as beaches.

Recommendation 3 Christchurch city needs to evaluate the contribution of severe storms and related flooding to coastal erosion, and the impacts on hillside housing, infrastructure, vegetation and soils, as well as the impacts at sea level.

[Coder Note: Full attachment available]

2174 - Ivan Andrews

[Transport > Other]

If seen very inadequate.
Increasing our coastal climate resilience, and reducing our reliance on private transport are both crucial

2354 - Chantelle Chalmers

Our coastal environment and housing should be a bigger portion of the spending.

2385 - Ezra Mussa

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Creating a Climate Fund]

CCC says in the LTP that sea level rise threatening homes is “mitigated” by “homeowners [being] anxious and uncertain”. This isn’t good enough; CCC has a responsibility to residents who live in houses that CCC zoned to get built. Therefore, CCC must start a managed retreat program in 2025, with compensation for renters.

2389 - Aurora Garner-Randolph

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Creating a Climate Fund]

CCC says in the LTP that sea level rise threatening homes is “mitigated” by “homeowners [being] anxious and uncertain”. This isn’t good enough; CCC has a responsibility to residents who live in houses that CCC zoned to get built. It is disrespectful to homeowners who will experience flooding not to support them. Therefore, CCC must start a managed retreat program in 2025, with compensation for renters.

2520 - Graeme Fraser (Diamond Harbour Community Association)

- I think coastal adaptation measures should be introduced sooner rather than later, prioritising locations where even existing tides threaten our essential infrastructure, for instance the road round from Teddington to Charteris Bay.

2532 - Ken Begg

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Creating a Climate Fund]; [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > City Planning]; [Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?]

No.

I would support spending more on climate change adaption and focusing on properties at risk from climate change. I would like legislation to prevent further development in areas of greatest risk.

2563 - Kim Money (North Beach Residents' Association)

It is of great concern to us as coastal residents that the climate change planning by CCC is still predicated on the use of the most extreme Independent Climate Change Panels (IPCC) scenario, RCP 8.5 (Representative Concentration Pathway). The RCP8.5 was not intended to be used to create policy. The creators of RCP8.5 had not intended it to represent the most likely "business as usual". Therefore, the CCC planning around RCP8.5 must be removed and a more likely scenario used for planning. Plan Change 12 proposed by CCC is based on this and subsequently lead to "avoidance" of new building. We request that Councillors action this. These extreme planning measure will be even more detrimental than the Residential Unit Overlay (RUO) issues that coastal residents experienced some years ago. If PC 12 goes ahead, Council has intentionally removed the need for Coastal adaptation conversations. A more realistic planning approach will positively influence the LTP budget. [Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

NBRA is grateful for Christchurch City Council's interest to regenerate the Eastern side of Christchurch and appreciates the progress that has been made to date in New Brighton. We would like to see these efforts continued with momentum. This submission highlights the key local projects and funding in the LTP that NBRA supports and would like retained, but also proposes that some projects be brought forward, have more funding allocated to them, or be reinstated from previous AP/LTPs.

Cygnets Street Ocean Outfall Pipe Remediation:

There has been much correspondence with regards to the Cygnets St Ocean outfall pipe and the sand accretion that blocks the end of the ocean outfall pipe preventing stormwater from being released onto the beach and therefore causes flooding on Marine Pde and neighbouring properties in this area. There was $260,000 in the 2022/23 AP budget, this was reduced to $36,000 in 23/24 AP budget. A man hole was installed for an inspection point, however, no further work has been carried out. We support further funding to ensure that the outfall pipe is extended (as per the lengths of the other existing outfalls in this area), to help minimise the sand accretion around the opening of the outfall.

Our understanding is that this piece of work is not to be remediated or further looked into until the Coastal adaptation conversation has been had with residents. This could take some years. We would like to remind Councillors that delaying this simple remediation work is another neglected/delayed issue to add to the Coastal Wards growing list of issues that are affecting our residents. It is a maintenance issue and this outfall will be in operation for many years to come. Other areas of the city have similar issues and are being remediated. We request the same and that this issue is revisited and funding added back into the 24/25 LTP.

[Three Waters > Stormwater & Land Drainage (Capital)]

2606 - Asif Hussain

After the Cyclone Gabrielle and Auckland flooding in 2023, the government set up a new service to support homeowners with natural disaster insurance claims. Christchurch is no different. I urge the Council to embed a permanent Claims Resolution Services as part of its Climate Change Adaptation Service Resolving disputes and claims by supporting homeowners and businesses with insurance claims. This could be done by setting services such as The Insurance & Financial Services Ombudsman (IFSO) Scheme set after the 2011 Earthquakes to resolve complaints about insurance and financial services.

2810 - Kari Hunter

[Three Waters > Wastewater (Capital)]

Begin investigating possibilities for new systems for the future City's human waste.

People in a city need sanitation as one of the most fundamental needs. Our current waste-water system will become vulnerable to sea-level rise and storm surges. Begin with:

- Research to find a range of possibilities that may be suitable for our geography.
- Include among the possibilities household and community-scale composting (Amongst other sources, check out the Humanure Handbook, Joseph Jenkins)
- Develop and trial pilots

We need to have a new system in place before the old one gets swamped. This is one of the biggest challenges ahead for the city. It will take time to investigate options, choose wisely, and implement a new system. We don't know exactly how soon that will happen. We need you to begin now. The sea-level rise predictions that the Council has been guided by are several years old, and optimistic even then. Since then, new information suggests that it could go faster. (For instance, recent studies suggest that climate may be more sensitive to increases in GHG than previously estimated.) I have been hearing from climate scientists, including one's who have contributed to IPCC reports, that the range of reasonably possible global sea-level rise by 2100 could go up as high as 2–3 m. I think our wastewater system will be at risk before it gets that high. If you buy insurance for a house or car, you understand the value of preparing for less likely but worse possibilities, even when you hope for the best.

2828 - Thomas Kulpe

Managed retreat means also removal of assets from currently occupied sites - a major cost. Council should not only plan to rebuild on higher ground but also plan for deconstruction and renaturation.

2832 - Riley Neupauer (University of Canterbury Green Party)

[Rates > other, Three Waters > Stormwater & Land Drainage, Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design & Urban regeneration > Coastal Hazards Adaptation & Adaptation planning, Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

It is somewhat understandable that the Council would consider trying to slow the rise of rates. However, this clearly must come at the cost of investment in crucial infrastructure and services, making it a tradeoff that is in no way justified. Ample funding is necessary to maintain the performance of our facilities, and Christchurch is already heavily strained as it continually struggles to meet development goals. This is not some unfounded speculation: the Council repeatedly acknowledges that this is the case. To quote directly from the Stormwater Activity Plan and Land Drainage Asset Management Plan: "Sea level rise will expose infrastructure in low lying coastal communities, causing damage. The existing sea outfalls will be unable to discharge storm flows increasing the chances of flooding. This can result in water backing up a long way inland so that flooding may also affect communities that are further from the coast. Recent studies have identified that we can already expect higher storm tides than previously thought. Investment in larger capital works such as combined catchment pump stations may be required, seawalls and stop banks constructed... To date, the business has progressed with minimal actions to respond to the declared Climate Change Emergency." This is an alarming trend across Christchurch. The Council has continued to dole out meagre amounts of funding to indispensable utility services like water management, which are buckling under the weight of their ongoing projects. Even our roadworks are struggling to stay up to standard. The Transport Asset Management Plan states that "without an appropriate increase in funding, the backlog or gap will increase, putting more pressure on our ability to meet agreed Levels of Service and continuing to impede our efforts to lift the community satisfaction survey results." How are these services expected to reach their objectives in a timely or efficient manner? The UC Greens urge Council to realign its stance on rates, taking a holistic perspective that more appropriately reflects the challenges our city is facing. Christchurch and its infrastructure cannot adequately progress to meet the needs of its citizens with the current pace of spending. Is the pretence of low rates worth maintaining when it so clearly will directly inhibit the well-being of our communities?

2835 - Emma Rodriguez Dos Santos

Do you have any comments on our additional proposals to invest more in adapting to climate change? There's probably not enough space in the boxes for this! Other more qualified organisations will no doubt comment fully on this, but in short CCC needs to ensure all residents get equitable protection to adapt to climate change, and that it is appropriate for each unique areas needs.

3317 - Nik Kneale

Accelerate work around changes to coastal communities in anticipation of climate change effects

3366 - Robert Manthei

There is nothing specific about coastal erosion and coastal residential retreat. This problem is already upon us--it not something we can plan for over 10 years and hope that a budget of 318m will provide any kind of a solution.

3746 - Quinn Ledgerwood-Gee

[Strategic Direction > Climate Change], [Grants and Funding > Requests for additional grants and funding], [Three Waters > Stormwater & Land drainage (Capital)]

CCC says in the LTP “While climate change has not been caused by Council”. In future, CCC must be honest about its contributions to the climate crisis, and take mitigation seriously. CCC says in the LTP that sea level rise threatening homes is “mitigated” by “homeowners [being] anxious and uncertain”. This isn’t good enough; CCC has a responsibility to residents who live in houses that CCC zoned to get built. Therefore, CCC must start a managed retreat program in 2025, with compensation for renters. Because the climate crisis will massively increase the scale of flooding, the stormwater system must be bolstered with adequate green stormwater infrastructure across the whole city built to handle high intensity weather events. Because the climate crisis will massively increase the scale of rain events, concrete surfacing on roads will cause more strain on the stormwater system because of the non-permeable surface. Therefore, CCC should immediately commit to desurfacing many roads and replacing them with rain gardens or other green stormwater infrastructure. The city council’s sustainability fund ends in the financial year of 2025. This fund is designed to help schools, social enterprises and small businesses focus their efforts on sustainability. We need to get this reinstated with increased funding in future years.

3798 - M-Webb User

The hill slopes are vulnerable to intense storms and intense development - they need protection not just via plantings but also in the council planning/consents/land use rules. Mapping the vulnerable areas limiting land use to adapt to changes is just another way. Definitely do more mahi on the coastal hazards adaptation plans around the peninsula.

3830 - Brenda Banning

Need to plan for sea-level rise in plans.

3839 - Samantha Dryden

These are all good things, but I think even more could be invested into coastal and climate hazard adaptation,

3841 - Kate Hodgins

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Creating a Climate Fund]

The option to fast track investment in coastal adaptation should be very seriously considered. Communities along our coast have already had to relocate. Roads are vulnerable. We need to understand and plan for these impacts now.

3877 - Hilary Quayle

Spend the money on coastal adaptation.

3898 - Richard Smith

TOO MUCH FOCUS ON COASTAL - PROTECT CCC ASSET BUT PRIVATE LANDOWNERS SHOULD LOOK AFTER THEIR OWN

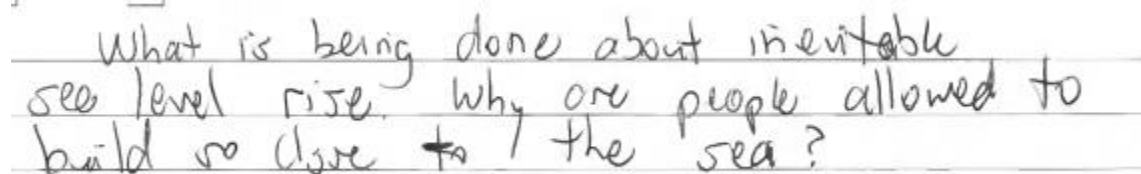

>>>

REDUCE the Coastal Adaptation Planning Programme costs - challenge the design/consultant costs, get value engineering done, look to in-house the work, slow down the programme

3949 - Fay Brorens

Engage with coastal communities

3985 - Benjamin Lowe

What is being done about inevitable sea level rise. Why are people allowed to build so close to the sea?

4033 - Juliana Venning

Our coastal environment requires 'expert' input from persons able to predict where monies need spending. With erosion and inshore fishing our marine mammals are at risk also. For a period I was on Redcliffs group looking at Civil Defence and emergency preparedness. There seems to be a deficit in understanding priorities for preparing for natural but potentially disastrous events. As for protection for marine sanctuary and marine mammals that also urgently needs addressing.

6900 - Geraldine Jellyman

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Creating a Climate Fund]

Because there are so many vocal climate change sceptics maybe its better to give it a different name. We all experience adverse weather events so maybe it needs to be a fund for both weather emergencies and preventative protections. The swale work around the city would be a good example of excellent preventative measures. However sea level rise has to be taken seriously and if people build on coastal edges the consents need to say there will be no compensation for erosion. Some areas in NZ have had that policy for a number of years or stop consenting coastal building.

Not Stated

1216 - Glenn Maguire

Don't allow building in high risk zones

1358 - Rob Noster

If there is a climate crisis(so the CCC says) why are we still building houses on the coastline.

1522 - David Alexander

I think that some areas of Christchurch will be lost to rising sea levels. Managed retreat instead of resilience spending.

1650 - Deb Osborn

The consensus of the coastal residents is that CCC is staring us out, making us empty promises until managed retreat becomes the only option

213 - Diana Plesovs

Protect coastal environment by starting managed retreat, not retaining coast and estuary edge. The old adage applies-Buyer Beware

2272 - Tegan Jones

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Heritage (strategic)]

Natural spaces, heritage sites and our beaches are all crucial for the health and wellbeing for the people, animals and land of Ōtautahi

267 - Fionn Walker

I think There are very important, but preservation of the coastal area should include the wider Brighton area too. So there are people to enjoy and contribute to the preservation of that space.

>>>

Climate should be an immediate issue, not addressed through roads

277 - Jane Harrison

Coastal adaptation must be a top priority, as this will require extensive community input and will be expensive to implement. We won't be able to pay for it if we leave it until the last minute.

2809 - Susan Thorpe

4) MANAGED RETREAT

Managed Retreat is the latest example of a runaway RCP 8.5 worst case scenario, which is now employing a huge army of bureaucrats who support a false hypothesis put forward by ideology driven climate planners. Properties are at risk of becoming valueless due to discredited and exaggerated geo science data.

1.5mm annual sea level rise amounts to 15cm per century, which is easily manageable by CCC on behalf of citizens..

The above definitive annual sea level rise of 1.5mm arises from the meticulous 2020 New Zealand wide study by Dr Paul Denys and colleagues, as in the following quote from their research article: Sea Level Rise in New Zealand: The Effect of Vertical Land Motion on Century-Long Tide Gauge Records in a Tectonically Active Region. Paul H. Denys, R. John Beavan, John Hannah, Chris F. Pearson, Neville Palmer, Mike Denham, Sigrun Hreinsdottir

Key Points

- We use 15 years of continuous GPS data to estimate vertical land motion and use precise leveling data to determine the stability of benchmark networks
- The vertical land motion also includes an estimate of accumulated seismic events including postseismic deformation and slow slip events
- The vertical land motion corrected trend gives a sea level rate of $+1.45 \pm 0.36$ mm/year (1891–2013)

ANOMALY IN CCC SEA LEVEL RISE REPORT - CONCERNING DIVERGENCE OF SCIENTIFIC OPINION

As the above Sea Level Rise research study by Dr P Denys and colleagues was released in January 2020, which takes into account vertical land motion from seismic activity as well as historical tide records, I am struggling to comprehend how the 2021 Coastal Hazard Assessment for the Christchurch District, a summary report commissioned by CCC, took no account of these definitive findings, and instead confidently predicted in the CCC report videos:

CCC HAZARD REPORT: IN 100 YEARS SEA LEVEL WILL RISE BY UP TO 1.4 METRES

And yet the Denys and colleagues' report clearly shows:

DR P. DENYS RESEARCH: IN 100 YEARS SEA LEVEL WILL RISE 15 CENTIMETRES.

As a ratepayer with only basic science education, I have noted the above anomaly after only a few hours of research. It now seems that Managed Retreat policy, using RCP 8.5 worst case scenario modelling, is being developed and imposed on District Councils and City Councils by Regional Councils, DoC, MfE and NIWA. NIWA receives funding of $160 million annually, as a climate research agency. If it has become a purveyor of discredited climate modelling, there needs to be an urgent inquiry into its role in providing the NZ public with accurate weather data.

It is thus of great concern that, as directed by government bodies, whole council departments with scientific advisers adopt implausible data which lead to policy planning unfit for purpose, with consequent wasteful expenditure. This is counterproductive for the long suffering ratepayers of regions drowning in debt. Councils are required to use reliable science and act in the best interests of ratepayers, not adopt RCP 8.5 extremes with 1% probability.

An independent science panel convened by Kapiti Coast District Council has already shown the council used 'science not fit for the purposes of planning' in placing coastal hazard lines on 1500 LIMs. Following a court ruling, the coastal hazard lines were required to be removed. Litigation may well follow this error, which unjustifiably caused 300 residents to sell their properties.

It would be unfortunate to see implausible RCP 8.5 extreme sea level data produce a similar outcome for a CCC policy decision, especially as CCC has stated that 3,000 properties worth $14 billion are at risk, in a 2023 climate adaptation study for the Environment Select Committee. CCC needs to proceed with extreme caution, as the Coastal Adaptation Plan, although not statutory, is leading planners inexorably towards 'managed retreat'.

 Reject 'managed retreat' policy, which uses fanciful and discredited geoscience data.*

 Prune out all RCP 8.5 extremes with 1% probability.*

- * Request an urgent enquiry into NIWA's role as a purveyor of discredited RCP 8.5 models.
- * Withdraw from usage of the non-statutory Coastal Adaptation Plan (CAP).
- * Axe Coastal Adaptation Plan spend of $1.8 – 3.6m per year.
- * Use the statutory Coastal Policy Statement / Coastal Hazard Risk Statement.
- * Revert to historically accurate tide gauge data in support of CPS / CHR.
- * Use reliable science in planning policy.
- * Cull staff from all phases of discredited 'managed retreat' RCP 8.5 policy planning.

3444 - Jo McGregor

The council paid $25 BILLION to Jacobs - a USA company, to consult to the council about sea level rise. >>> What a joke.

3921 - Alison Loveridge

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Creating a Climate Fund], [Other/Special Interest Topics > LTP Consultation], [Transport > Transport (Operations)], [Resource Recovery > Resource Recovery (Capital)], [Parks > Other], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > City Planning]

No, climate change is going to require more adaptation/mitigation and spending should start sooner (later start is stated in the Vol 2 page 6, 36 etc). Expectations of timing of impacts are presented in a way that pushes out need for change rather than giving lower impacts that will occur soon.

The current plan makes it difficult to track exactly how much is being allocated to climate change as the budget figures tend to include climate related spending in with other spending on relevant areas such as transport, waste water management, flood preparedness, and so on.

Coastal retreat and active transport are the most transparent areas but active transport receives less funding than needed and delivers on safety and affordability for many ratepayers. Active transport spending is a cheaper way to manage and avoid impacts than building or roading upgrades to meet more challenging conditions such as hazard impacts from climate change.

Waste management infrastructure may require new responses but there is little detail on this making it difficult to comment.

Creation of wetlands is positive, but may be linked to greenfields urban development which also create more emissions than infill housing within the existing city footprint.

Acting sooner will always be cheaper in the long run than responding at the last minute and gives better intergenerational equity.

4021 - Cornelis F De Jager

[Three Waters > Stormwater & Land drainage (Capital)], [Other/Special Interest Topics > Creating a Climate Fund]

Whether we consider "climate change" a risk or not, we should be future planning, especially in the areas of flood risk and coastal inundation.

452 - Mark Penrice

[Spending>Te Kaha]

Too much on the stadium, not enough on retreating or coping with sea level rise.

Urban Design

General Comments

19 submitters provided feedback addressing urban design.

2 comments supported, and 0 comments opposed urban design.

11 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 6 comments provided general feedback addressing urban design.

Officer Response

Submissions in this category recognise the value of good urban design and request the Council to focus on:

- Retention of established trees and encourage more tree planting
- More planting and permeability in new developments and vacant spaces
- Residential intensification to reduce car dependency and enable connection between communities
- The run-off effects of infill housing on other properties and treatment of storm water
- An integrated approach to urban planning focusing on transport and green infrastructure
- Need for a 'heart' to the city, focusing less on roads and more on green spaces, trees and attracting young people
- More small shopping hubs with green space and trees
- Improvements for the East of Christchurch and New Brighton to attract people and business

- Enforcing accessibility standards in buildings and spaces, and fostering a culture of inclusion to create a more equitable and accessible city for all
- Amenity concerns including proliferation of road cones, kerbs and road markings with need for a more joined up approach
- Work with alternative living communities and model practice for more mainstream residences
- Support sought for funding of strategic street art programme
- To be evidence based and bolder with urban design

Overall the levels of service relating to Urban Design as set out in the draft Long Term Plan 2024-34 would support the submissions in this category. Urban design advice and analysis supports high quality urban development and vibrant public spaces.

Urban design advice is provided for new developments through the resource consent process, particularly at the pre-application stage so that anticipated outcomes and benefits are well understood by developers and solutions identified early. Independent design review is provided through the Christchurch Urban Design Panel, and the Akaroa and Lyttelton design review panels. Urban design advice is supported by design guidance and practice notes, with the development of further guidance identified as a priority to support implementation of new District Plan provisions following decisions later in 2024.

Climate change is one of the Council's strategic priorities and is a key driver of the 2024-34 Long Term Plan. Submitters recognise the importance of good urban design and planning to achieving this priority. The Activity Plan for Planning and Consents identifies future work programmes, including local area planning and implementation of the Greater Christchurch Spatial Plan, which will provide further opportunity to achieve a more integrated approach to urban development including improved integration of land use, transport, and green infrastructure. Funding will need to be considered through a future Long-Term Plan or Annual Plan to support implementation.

The Council has recently adopted the Urban Forest Plan which seeks to improve the city's tree canopy cover. Proposed changes to the District Plan (through Plan Change 14) include protection of scheduled trees and introduction of a 20% tree canopy cover for new residential developments or payment of a financial contribution to enable planting on Council owned land. A decision will be made on this plan change in late 2024.

Additional regulatory and non-regulatory mechanisms to improve sustainability outcomes within new developments will need to be considered beyond the current plan changes if a step change is to be achieved. Implementation of existing District Plan provisions, including those for landscaping and site coverage, will remain critical in the interim.

Street art:

Whilst street art has been supported by grant funding and project delivery in our city making and enliven programmes, the submission seeking support of a strategic street art programme is best considered by the arts and community funding teams and through grant funding processes.

Other categories:

Urban design related topics also arose in other categories. For example City Planning in relation to urban form and intensification, residential amenity, and character areas. Responses are contained within those categories.

Support

2830 - Fiona Bennetts

[Parks > Tree Canopy], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)], [Grants and Funding > Other Contestable Funds]

There are significant physical and mental health benefits to cycling and walking in biodiverse areas. These benefits include:

- Creating a healthier environment through increased CO2 absorption from plantings, and increased filtering of stormwater from rain gardens and the like, keeping our rivers and oceans cleaner and safer for aquatic species.
- plantings creating shady areas that reduce surface heat and sunburn.
- reduced stress and increased well-being through greater connection to the natural world, including indigenous plantings and wildlife such as native birds.

3683 - Max Sullivan

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design & Urban Regeneration > City Planning]

The current nature of our city is very flat and sprawling, which has the current negative impacts of separating residential and recreational areas, and increasing the distances between communities, which with the city's current transport system then goes on to increase car dependency. We should be making strong motions to densify our city, which can start by increasing storey-zoning for our dense-ish areas like the city centre and Riccarton, and implementing the floated plan to allow residential houses to build up three stories.

Other

1164 - Andrea Davis

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Strategic Transport]

Look at what Rob Adams did for Melbourne City by getting the cars out and bringing the living back into the down town, including lots of green spaces and trees for hanging out in summer. Save money on trying to widen roads to make it better for congestion, look at how to draw young people to live in the city and they will not drive to work they will walk to work.

1232 - Heather Young

The tourism and revenue showcase of Christchurch should be Brighton, South Brighton and Southshore beaches, reserves/estuaries - in addition to Sumner Beach, Taylor's Mistake, Governor's Bay and the CBD and the Avon River corridor. Instead, Brighton has been allowed to be the eyesore of Christchurch. Do NOT let housing intensification developers build without car parking spaces and turn Brighton and the Spit into an urban slum!!!

1265 - Jill Banbury

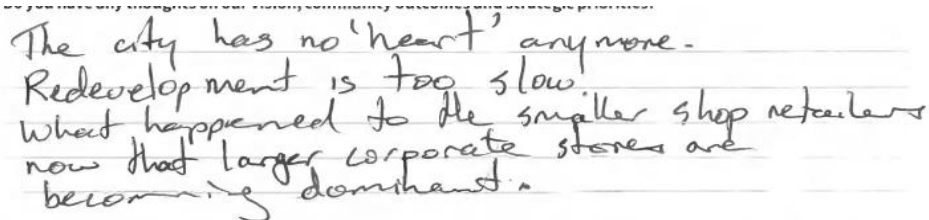

Yes, I would like to see more trees in the new subdivision. I live in Halswell and it is treeless in these subdivisions. As part of the consent, developers should be leaving the established trees there and plan around them. We have just had some major trees cut down in Milns Road for yet another subdivision. Sections are very small and therefore not able to accommodate established trees. This not only makes it unattractive but we are very exposed to the easterly wind. There is definitely no tree canopy here or likely to be.

2183 - Hali Stauffer

I'd like to highlight several critical areas that Council should prioritise: 10. Promoting accessibility and inclusivity: Enforcing accessibility standards in buildings and public spaces, enhancing support for people with mobility issues, and fostering a culture of inclusion are vital for creating a more equitable and accessible city for all residents. By prioritising these areas, Council can deliver tangible benefits to the community, foster inclusivity, and build a more resilient and sustainable future for Ōtautahi.

2786 - Redact Redacted

[Strategic Priorities > Community Outcomes and Strategic Priorities]

The city has no 'heart' anymore.
Redevelopment is too slow.
What happened to the smaller shop retailers now that larger corporate stores are becoming dominant.

2796 - Annelies Pikelharing

Shops. I find shopping malls depressing, noisy, and totally uninspiring and suffocating. Much more inviting will be small shopping hubs, with a village kind of feel, with lots of green, and trees that give shade.

2829 - Jennifer Dalziel

Stop cutting down trees and stop allowing concrete covered housing developments that will absorb heat and reflect it back making cities hotter in the future . Tokyo is encouraging tree planting in all vacant spaces to help mitigate the effect of concretification

2922 - Zak Morrison

- Integrated Approach to Urban Planning: Adopt a more holistic approach to urban planning that integrates transportation and green infrastructure, ensuring that all initiatives are mutually reinforcing and contribute to the broader vision of a sustainable city.

2999 - Reuben Woods (Watch This Space & The Flare Street Art Festival)

[Grants and Funding > Requests for addition funding, Recreation, Sports & Events > Community Arts, Strategic Direction > Community Outcomes and Strategic Priorities, Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Urban Design]

We believe that with specific investment towards a strategic street art programme, the city will grow its global creative profile, provide meaningful pathways for young people here in Ōtautahi to thrive and contribute, while also engaging diverse communities. Street art reflects a collaborative and confident city by utilising our surrounding environment to tell our stories in lively and engaging ways - creating a sense of belonging and making spaces memorable and welcoming. Street art has already proven its ability to position Ōtautahi as a cultural powerhouse city - where freely accessible creative expressions empower our communities to reflect on what makes us unique and in doing so has attracted attention from around the globe, placing us at the forefront of urban creativity. Street art thrives when creating partnerships between private, public and community-centred participants. Recognising the potential for innovative and wide-ranging initiatives and outcomes by harnessing different networks, street art's benefits help a wide cross-section of our community and reflect a thriving city. Street art is dynamic and allows for constant participation, refreshing and re-imagining the urban landscape in surprising and powerful ways. This ensures generations are continually able to contribute and ensure the cityscape reflects the contemporary experience in a way that is distinct from other types of public art. Street art is incredibly accessible and aims for inclusivity and connection, ensuring the voices and expressions of our people are clearly evident in our shared landscapes, providing well-being through visibility and participation. Ōtautahi has established itself as the leading destination for street art and urban creativity, drawing the eyes of both Aotearoa and the world to its walls and streets. This submission will deliver on the vision, community outcomes and strategic priorities of the Long Term Plan - providing opportunities for future generations through embedding urban creativity and creating dynamic pathways for development and growth that will cement our status as a cultural powerhouse destination. The submission prioritises accessibility, participation and community development through street art, reaching wide audiences and providing continuous and thoughtful activation and programming.

3375 - Sarah Hadley

Encourage people to plant more trees.

>>>

Encourage people to not litter and take pride in their gardens. Plant more trees and lay less asphalt.

3575 - Anna Hansson

[Parks>Tree Canopy]; [Parks>Parks Maintenance]; [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration>City Planning]

The only thing I would say is that there needs to be more greenery / permeability in around new developments too. There is way too much concrete being poured.

Not Stated

2816 - Susan Eleanor Peake

I have paid several $k to mitigate the flooding of my 34 yr. property in Paparua - some caused by infil housing run off + being at the lowest point of the street.

313 - Isabell Booth

The East of Christchurch suffers from lethargy. Demolition of useless buildings seems a better way to 'develop' the area. Empty shops do not attract people. The hot pools are great & indicate the the existing mall should be totally rebuilt to renew investment & destination shopping. The easterly Mall aspect should be changed so the cold easterly wind is not a factor to people staying in the area.

372 - Kyle Bluck

I like how the council values good urban design taken from evidence based success stories from places like the Netherlands. I think the council should be bolder, even.

3748 - Greta Bond (Age Concern Canterbury)

[Strategic Direction > Community Outcomes & Strategic Priorities]

The draft plan promotes community participation, and involvement in city life, which is great. It also aims to make Christchurch "accessible" although this accessibility is included under the "green, livable" city. An accessible city benefits not only older people, or people living with disabilities, but families with young children, and many others. As such, accessibility (in terms of walkability, public transport and even regulations about building access, signage, and spaces that are accessible to those with hearing or visual impairments) must be top of mind in all planning. It is easier to design this into Council spaces and public areas, rather than try to retrofit them down the track. We love the idea that "no one is left behind" - but would like to emphasize that this cannot be an afterthought, but, as with cultural safety, must be top of mind as projects are begun, not tacked on later. Too often accessibility is jettisoned where projects run overbudget, and considered as a "nice to have". Future Christchurch should be accessible -and welcoming - to everyone. Yes, this may cost more, but an accessible Christchurch for all ages, all abilities, all cultures is worth prioritising. with expertise and consultation occuring with stakeholders (including a wide range of ages, abilities and cultures) AT THE BEGINNING of the process, and additional costs as they arise budgeted as a must-have on all civic projects.

3791 - Sandra Beltman

I would like to see council work with groups who wish to form (project villages) alternative living communities using strongly sustainable practices and circular economies, as studies/models for the success of various practices, which could then be adopted by other more mainstream residences.

386 - Christine McPhail

I feel the city is losing a lot of its charm. The city banks of the Avon in Rolleston Ave are spoiled by a plethora of striped cones and kerb strips. Its just ugly there are so many signs and road markings there does not seem to be a joined up plan

Urban Regeneration

General Comments

40 submitters provided feedback addressing urban regeneration.

7 comments supported, and 1 comment opposed urban regeneration.

24 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 11 comments provided general feedback addressing urban regeneration.

Officer Response

Submissions were received on the following topics:

City-wide/general

- Walkable environments: requesting 'people first' public space extended beyond the Central City.
- Beggars: requesting a city-wide response plan.

Central City revitalisation

- State of Central City – seeking urgent work to improve the CBD.

- Visitor attraction – seeking more people coming into the city centre; a return of Friday night shopping in the city centre, supported with free Friday night parking; and more green through the business centre, particularly to the east of Manchester Street.
- Cathedral Square – asking that further improvement be paused.
- Salisbury Street – seeking that two-way conversion be brought forward and a cycleway added, to support supermarket development and residential intensification.
- Hotel development – seeking Council support, to assist Central City venues.
- Performing Arts precinct – supporting the proposed $25m budget; seeking additional allocation.
- Night economy – seeking more emphasis on night-time activity; suggesting a 24-hour/night-time economy strategy; and seeking information on when a large nightclub will be built in the city.
- Ex- Christchurch Womens Hospital site – seeking information on ownership and rates.

Suburban centre revitalisation

- Lyttelton: seeking support for redevelopment of sites on Norwich Quay (amenity improvements, resolution of port/inner harbour waterfront access); and fixing the former stables in Donald St.
- Sumner: concerned that opportunities to rebuild Sumner and New Brighton haven't eventuated; conversely requesting the Council stop 'beautifying' Sumner.
- Linwood/Linwood Village: requesting more investment in Linwood to develop a more inviting neighbourhood; conversely questioning investment in Linwood Village.
- Selwyn Street: supporting the streetscape funding in the LTP.
- Edgware Village: requesting that funding be retained for the Edgware Village Master Plan's proposed streetscape upgrade, noting benefits for travel choice, safety, amenity and identity.
- Ferry Road: concerned to see removal of projects: Heathcote Street pocket park and pedestrian development (CPMS #53733) and Ferrymead towpath connection (CPMS #53734).
- Diamond Harbour: supporting the funding to revamp Diamond Harbour Village.
- Akaroa: seeking funding to enhance the character and development of "special neighbourhoods" recommended in the Banks Peninsula Destination Management Plan.
- Richmond: seeking a long-term urban plan for Richmond, specifically the area of Stanmore Road between the Ōtākaro Avon River and North Avon Road.
- Northlands Mall: requesting community safety initiatives, in relation to youth safety issues, crime prevention, crime prevention through environmental design (CPTED) and harm-reduction.

Enliven Places Programme – supporting ongoing funding for Life in Vacant Spaces, and suggesting the Council consider the Street Art proposal by Watch This Space.

Barrier/derelict sites & buildings – seeking that the Council: makes owners of derelict buildings demolish or repair, and owners of vacant lots build or sell; come up with better/ immediate solutions for empty, decaying buildings / land in the CBD; and consider the New City Hotel a barrier site.

Having considered all submissions, there are no compelling matters raised that require significant change of plans for this activity. There are several items raised that require further investigation, with no immediate resource requirements. These topics can be investigated separately to the LTP.

City-wide/general

- General (walkable environments): Creating safer and more inviting street environments for pedestrians drives many of the Council's capital projects (e.g. suburban centre master plans' streetscape upgrades that create higher quality pedestrian environments). The Draft LTP includes funding for mall and laneway connections in New Brighton. Wider berms also provide opportunities for outdoor dining and the Council encourages private developers to include pedestrian laneways and courtyards in their developments when possible/appropriate.
- Beggars: The Council is currently developing a city-wide response plan. This involves collaboration across Police, Corrections, City Mission, the business association and Council staff. Meanwhile, staff are working with partners to respond to issues as they arise.

Central City revitalisation

- State of the Central City – The Council continues to encourage vacant site and derelict property owners to take responsibility, through use of dialogue, rating and enforcement action. Ultimately, redevelopment of land is driven by owners and the Council has limited power to drive redevelopment.
- Visitor attraction – Creating a vibrant and thriving Central City is a focus for the Council.
 - The Council, other agencies and private developers continue to develop public and commercial developments that attract people back to the city centre. Te Kaha/Canterbury Arena, Parakiore/MetroSports and the Performing Arts Precinct will come online in the next 24 months, alongside new retail and hospitality. Growing the residential population is also being encouraged.
 - Any decision on returning Friday night shopping would sit with individual businesses rather than Council. The Council will raise this suggestion with the Central City Business Association.
 - Friday night free parking is not a current initiative. The Council takes a market-based approach to setting parking fees, based on supply and demand for parking around the city. The implications of reducing parking fees in the Central City include loss of revenue, longer stays by users and less turnover for parking spaces.
 - Central City greenspace east of Manchester Street is being sought through the South-East Central Neighbourhood Plan, with potential delivery via development contributions funding. Increasing tree canopy is also being sought through the Urban Forest Plan.
- Cathedral Square – The Council's current phased approach matches delivery with new or repaired buildings - primarily on the western side of the Square - ensuring the levels of footpaths serving those buildings is correct and consistent with the wider area. The intention is to continue with this strategy, reflecting the submitter's view.

- Salisbury Street –The upgrade of Salisbury Street was removed from the draft LTP to make the capital programme affordable and deliverable. However, it remains an important project and a key part of the An Accessible City programme.
 - Hotel development – Several developers and hotel operators have projects at various stages from preapplication discussion to construction for the delivery of 50 - 200 room hotels. Ultimately, decisions to proceed lie with private business; however, given growing tourism numbers and the construction of Te Kaha, there is incentive to proceed.
 - Performing Arts precinct – the Council is committed to delivering a successful Performing Arts Precinct, including the supporting public realm.
 - Night economy:
 - The current framework of policies enables the private sector to invest confidently in the Central City– including in entertainment and other nighttime focused activity. Recent work includes: increasing perception of safety; and a process to review noise limits, with initial consultation finding that most residents are happy to tolerate higher noise levels in the Central City. Continuing to fine-tune regulation and support a good mix of activity will give businesses confidence to invest in a vibrant night-time economy.
 - A further Strategy to attract people to the city in the evening hours may be beneficial – officers will develop further advice and report back separately to the LTP.
 - Ex- Christchurch Womens Hospital site – The site remains owned by Te Whatu Ora – Health NZ, which pays rates on what is currently a vacant site. If no longer required for hospital purposes, the Christchurch District Plan encourages comprehensive residential development of the site.
- Suburban centre revitalisation
- Lyttelton:
 - Although the small-scale amenity improvements along Norwich Quay anticipated by the master plan have yet to be funded, NZTA, the Council and Lyttelton Port Company (LPC) improved various pedestrian connections between 2017 and 2021. The proposed extension of the City Vacant Differential Rating (which levies higher rates on vacant sites) and its accompanying rate remission where landowners bring sites into temporary uses or invest in site amenity improvements may also influence improvements. District Plan amendments in 2019, removing the minimum number of on-site carparks required for new developments in Lyttelton's Commercial Banks Peninsula Zone, also support economic feasibility of vacant site redevelopment on Norwich Quay.
 - Parks staff (assisted by ChristchurchNZ's Urban Development Team), are investigating options for the future use and repair of the Donald St stables, involving detailed site and feasibility assessments alongside community and market demand analysis.

- Sumner: Implementation progress of the suburban centre master plans detailed on the Council webpage <https://www.ccc.govt.nz/the-council/plans-strategies-policies-and-bylaws/plans/suburban-centres-master-plans/> . Approximately half of the Council's actions in the Sumner master plan have been completed or commenced. The remaining capital projects have not been prioritised in the Waihoru Spreydon-Cashmere-Heathcote Community Board Plan 2023-25 or the LTP. Nevertheless, funding for community-led placemaking projects and city making partners remains available.
- Linwood/Linwood Village:
 - The wider Linwood area is a focus for future local area planning as part of implementing the Greater Christchurch Spatial Plan. This will support population growth/housing, renewal/support of Eastgate's function, blue and green networks and social wellbeing.
 - Linwood Village has been prioritised for additional support since 2011, resulting in community collaboration and implementation of the Linwood Village Master Plan and the Inner City East/Linwood Revitalisation Plan. The public realm upgrades (including the streetscape upgrade and 'Greening the East' tree planting) and Enliven Places Programme support for vacant sites won't address all challenges for this centre, but will improve the amenity, functionality, safety and encourage private investment.
- Selwyn Street: the submitter's support for the proposed LTP funding is acknowledged.
- Edgware Village: The Edgware Village Master Plan includes an action to improve streetscape and movement, some of which has been delivered in part (cycleway, planters, tree lighting, benches, landscaping, cycle/fixit stands). Remaining aspects have not been prioritised in the Draft 2024-34 LTP, as funding these would impact on the delivery of higher priority capital works.
- Ferry Road: Funding to deliver the pocket park and towpath connection has not been prioritised in the Draft 2024-34 LTP as this would impact delivery of higher priority capital works.
- Diamond Harbour: The submissions in support of retaining budget allocations in the LTP in support of the community-led plan 'Getting to the Point' are acknowledged (CPMS #65004, 74021, 60387).
- Akaroa: ChristchurchNZ is progressing actions from the Destination Management Plans, including (for FY24/25): Dark Sky/Star Gazing Trail, Provenance, Cycle Trail Connectivity and Sustainable Tourism Trails/Itineraries. Engagement and collaboration with Banks Peninsula Geopark, Rod Donald Trust and Te Pataka o Rākaihautū Banks Peninsula Community Board regarding Banks Peninsula-focussed initiatives will continue. ChristchurchNZ intends to continue addressing cruise visitation and community impacts, and collaborating with key agencies, including Akaroa District Promotions, to ensure resource alignment as part of achieving momentum in delivery of Te Pataka o Rākaihautū Destination Management Plan.
- Richmond: Neither Richmond nor the area of Stanmore Rd between the Ōtākaro Avon River and North Avon Rd have been identified as a Priority Regeneration Area in the Greater Christchurch Spatial Plan (which informs the Council's future neighbourhood planning focus). However, the Council provides resources (e.g. the online Shape Your Place Toolkit and associated funding) to support community-led planning and place-making projects.

- Northlands Mall: A pilot initiative, introduced as a short-term response to the youth safety issues at the shopping centre and the bus exchange in front of the mall during 2022/23, identified medium-term solutions. Better Off Funding budget was allocated to help establish a Youth Hub in a surplus shop beside the mall as a collaboration between Papanui Youth Development Trust, Te Ora Hou, Papanui High School, the Mall management and Waipapa Community Governance Team. This investment and collaboration will support future initiatives developed by the young people to reduce harm and address safety concerns. The project will also look at what is working well, with a view to introduce this approach into other locations. Further collaborations with other youth organisations to share learnings is already underway. The Community Board has also granted Better Off Funding for CPTED initiatives in Shirley.
- Enliven Places Programme – The Council provides $80,000 annual funding to Life in Vacant Spaces; the submitter’s support is acknowledged. Street art is one method to support revitalisation and community identity. The Council’s Enliven Places Programme has supported multiple street art murals including the Life in Vacant Spaces/Watch This Space’s Graffiti Jam in Lyttelton; further street art murals are planned.
- Barrier/derelict sites and buildings – The Council only has certain powers to encourage demolition or repair of buildings and has found it better to work with owners to achieve good outcomes. The Council also encourages private investment in the Central City and has proposed extending the City Vacant Differential Rating as noted above. The New City Hotel was not identified as a barrier site at the time the programme was established. Officers will develop further advice regarding the future of the Barrier Sites programme, both in the Central City and suburban areas and separately to the LTP.

Support

2012 - Nick Boyd

There are still derelict buildings ruining the city. These owners must be made to demolish or repair them. It’s been 13 years! Likewise those with vacant lots need to build or sell. Japan would’ve built 4 cities by now and they all would be as good or better than ours. Get moving

2235 - Cara Paterson (Creative New Zealand)

We are encouraged to see the draft LTP includes an allocation of $25 million for the Performing Arts Precinct. The precinct will be a catalyst for the central city and build audiences, increase economic activity, and make arts experiences more affordable and accessible. As the Precinct’s development continues, we encourage Council to continue engaging with key stakeholders such as creative communities, business owners and tourism stakeholders, to consider how to promote upcoming events and shows, and enable other sectors (eg, hospitality) to work alongside the Precinct to drive economic, social and cultural growth.

2850 - Neil Cooper (Greater New Brighton Community Leadership Group)

We support ongoing funding, as offered in previous years, for Life in Vacant Spaces to enable them to continue delivering their services across the city and in New Brighton.

2852 - Aaron Ghattas

Really need to bring more people into the center city to build more community cohesion & buildings. Start to reduce the scares & setbacks of the earthquake.

2863 - Lynne O'Keefe

Funding or some funds should be retained for the Edgware Village Master Plan to provide village identifying streetscape especially when the Edgware Pool is reinstated.

3411 - Marian Krogh (Protect Our Winters NZ)

Within the Draft LTP Capital Programme, we ask for the following separate projects to be reinstated:
26623 – Edgware Village Masterplan (A1)

3913 - Mark Darbyshire

I support the following list of capital projects as also stated in the submission of Greater Ōtautahi. >>>Edgware Village Masterplan (A1) 63365 – Central City Projects – Active Travel Area

Oppose

1043 - Shafali Verma

Whats the point of wasting money in Linwood village? What will that achieve in a long go? Simply nothing!

Other

1105 - Lana Shields

[Recreation, Sports & Events>Community Arts]

I think you should consider the Street Art proposal by watch this space - the street art is such a great look for residents and visitors - just wandering around the city seeing the narratives through art is pleasing on the eye, it gives people a cost effective option when budget is tight

154 - Chrysler Wiparata-Hammond

I'd like to see the central city more inclusive. There's a lot to do for families and children but nothing for young adults. Would be nice to have a better night life, night markets and night events without old crusty people calling noise control on the bars at riverside.

1690 - Richard Suggate

Retain the allocation for Diamond Harbour Village development. [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]
[Parks > Parks Paths and Walkways]

2046 - Nathaniel Herz Sardine

More money to invest in Performing Arts Precinct.
Put NOT for Court Theatre.

2087 - Emma Norrish (Waipapa Papanui-Innes-Central Community Board)

Community Safety Initiatives: The Board indicated in its Board Plan in relation to its prioritisation of safety initiatives that it will, among other things: "• Advocate for short and medium-term solutions to address youth safety issues at Northlands Shopping Centre and the surrounding area. • Where appropriate partner with government agencies, local businesses, and the community to support safety and crime prevention initiatives in our board area. • Advocate that Crime Prevention through Environmental Design (CPTED) principles are considered on appropriate projects. • Continue to provide community investment through the provision of funding to support community groups addressing harm-reduction initiatives." These prioritisations from the Board Plan have been developed in conversation with the community, and out of the Board's experience of the need for these initiatives to support creating safe places to live.

2206 - Nikki Rogers (Hospitality NZ)

Other areas of opportunity

26. As 24-hour economies gain traction around the world, Hospitality New Zealand believes there's an opportunity for Aotearoa to follow suit. Following the infamous Sydney lockouts, New South Wales Government has developed a 24-hour Economy Strategy aimed at building a vibrant and strong 24-hour economy where the principal activity is not about the consumption of alcohol. We encourage Christchurch City Council to consider if a night-time economy strategy is appropriate to support city vibrancy.

2610 - Keith Harris (Akaroa District Promotions (ADP))

To this end we ask that recognition of at least some of the recommendations of the Destination Management Plans be incorporated in the LTP. For example, the enhancement of the character and development of the “special neighbourhoods” of Banks Peninsula, incentives for regenerative practices and greater recognition of the uniqueness of its inherent cultural, arts, and heritage ethos.

2639 - Callum Ward (Waihoru Spreydon Cashmere Heathcote Community Board)

Safe Transport Choices are a key priority in the Waihoru Spreydon-Cashmere-Heathcote Community Board Plan, so in order to achieve these the Board wishes to see the following: • Support Completion of Selwyn St Masterplan • The Board supports the Selwyn St Master Plan remaining in the LTP and to be completed once the Brougham St upgrade has been completed.

2817 - Emma Twaddell (St Albans Residents' Association)

We submit the funding tagged for the Edgeware Village Master Plan to be kept in plan. This has remained unspent due to the financial disruption to the business owners from the years of work on main sewer and water lines in the area. The upcoming opening of the Edgeware Pool will bring more people into the area and this funding will support the improving the safety and identity of the heart of St Albans.

2852 - Aaron Ghattas

It is clear though over the past decade that many other areas have had considerable investment and Linwood Central and residential streets have been untouched. Let's consider Wigram, Sumner & Riccarton and the revamp and development however a center so central like Linwood should be developed to encourage a more inviting neighbourhood, considering its location to the town center, coast and actives.

3093 - Gareth Cook

Stop beautifying Sumner when other suburbs such as New Brighton still require basic maintenance and repairs to infrastructure.

320 - Ian Knewstubb (Lyttelton Times Ltd)

I hope the council will fix the old brick buildings on Donald St, Lyttelton

3436 - Sara Campbell

Reinstate the following separate projects for their benefit of improved travel choice and amenities/safety for busy areas: 26623 – Edgeware Village Masterplan (A1)

3497 - Cerys Fletcher

Finally, the following separate projects must be reinstated. They provide ratepayers with more options for how they get around, and make it safer to travel through busy areas. These help support the development of a city that is built for people, and for them to be able to move through it safely, and with enjoyment. 26623 – Edgeware Village

3619 - David Fuffy (Richmond Residents' and Business Association)

Due to a marked increase in the number of beggars operating in our shopping precinct, we would like the Council to initiate a city wide response programme in collaboration with community organisations, the Police and Social Services. The installation of CCTV along Stanmore Road between Draper St and North Avon Road may be one small way of establishing the extent of this problem as there have been increasing reports of beggars demanding money and accosting residents in this area.

>>>

In the “Council’s Draft Long Term Plan 2024-2034”, the section described in the “Community Outcomes and Strategic Framework” (pages 3-7) details the attributes needed for Christchurch to exist as a thriving prosperous city.

There have been numerous reviews of Richmond which have contained a number of proposals for an urban plan for our area. These have detailed what amenities we already have, and suggested what other amenities are required to ensure our neighborhood is active and proportionate to other areas that have seen a lot more progress. The R.R.B.A. has contracted an “Activator” who is doing further research; data gathering, seeking opinion, etc. and some of this work is relevant to the production of any urban plan. Council involvement in the production of a long-term urban plan for Richmond should, in our opinion, be part of any city development plan.

We have played an active role in discussions and submissions in forums associated with the Christchurch District Plan and the Greater Christchurch Spatial Plan. We continue to press for continued dialogue and opportunities to work collaboratively as further planning develops. The best way to enrich a community is to have the community involved in deciding what works, and what is still needed. Through developing ownership of the assets, a proud, engaged residents, Community Boards and Council will achieve the best possible outcomes for all.

>>>

In light of the initiative which has led to the development programme addressing community needs in the Linwood area of Stanmore Road, the R.R.B.A. would like to see a similar working group established to explore the rejuvenation of Stanmore Road between the river and North Avon Road. Such a project could look at creating a healthy, thriving commercial environment, creating an ecologically sensitive environment, enhancing the health and safety of our residents and interweaving the demands of infrastructure, e.g. road transport.

“We are investing in our area to benefit our wider community and ensure that residents have access to great services and facilities.” (Jake McLellan)

3621 - Morgane Honore

Reinstate separate projects aimed at improving travel choice and amenities in busy areas, Edgeware Village Masterplan

3622 - Jono de Wit

* I request the following projects be reinstated to the draft LTP because they will provide great improvements to accessibility, safety and mode shift from vehicles: * 26623 – Edgeware Village Masterplan (A1)

3690 - Jono de Wit (Greater Ōtautahi)

we also recognise and call for the following separate projects to be reinstated: * 26623 – Edgeware Village Masterplan (A1)

3780 - Jack Halliday

As mentioned previously, I am incredibly disappointed to see mass removals and delays of projects I care about such as >>> urban revitalisation

3817 - Melissa Macfarlane

I support the development of a thriving city and applaud the development of the alley and laneways throughout the center of the city which are bringing a lively active feeling.

I would like to see a return of Friday night shopping in the city center with free Friday night parking. (I note that Oxford Lane is blocked off at night which is disappointing).

I would like to see more green in our liveable city, particularly through the business center, but am loving the reserves and walkways to the west of Manchester Street.

3833 - Jamie Stratton

Come up with better and more immediate solutions for empty or decaying buildings and land in the cbd

3856 - Portia Bishop

Please reinstate the following projects as they benefit increasing travel choice and safety: – Edgeware Village Masterplan (A1) 63365

3913 - Mark Darbyshire

In addition, New City Hotel should be considered a "barrier site" in the hopes of working towards a solution for this eyesore which hosts and attracts criminal behaviour.

>>>

Addressing vacant and barrier sites in this southern fringe of the city centre needs to be a priority. So far Atlas Quarter has recorded 45 security/crime incidents. These are contributed to by the abandoned atmosphere of surrounding sites, buildings, and streets. More incidents have likely gone unreported. Council has a role to play in bringing this area to life to avoid further issues.

3957 - Anne Scott (Spokes Canterbury)

Within the Draft LTP Capital Programme, we also recognise and call for the following separate projects to be reinstated:

- 26623 – Edgeware Village Masterplan (A1)

Not Stated

1293 - Jill Rice

Don't remove the funding already allocated to revamp Diamond Harbour Village.

2329 - Heather Bundy

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design & Urban Regeneration > City Planning]

Council and LPC are frustrating Lyttelton peoples aspirations. Changes are required so that Lyttelton can properly recover after the earthquakes. For many years Lyttelton residents have asked for changes in the lower township. Norwich Quay has so many vacant sites that cannot be reasonably reused or sold due to a redundant noise overlay. This swathe of bare commercial land is there because Council will not attend to the necessary changes to allow redevelopment. Council already has unmet obligations from the masterplan, sections m1 & m2. It has simply delayed, not attended to, obfuscated & run out reasons why it thinks it cannot be undertaken. Council staff are not paying rates on this bare land, different story if they were. Ratepayers have been treated unequally, the CCHL company first & lets not worry about the town of Lyttelton and its planning problems. This issue should be aired and discussed publicly. Council start the changes required, the excuses have all run out.

322 - Richie Connell

We need to showcase why this region is a great place. We can market the top services, education, lower housing prices, less traffic etc. We have a strong economic backbone here, tempered with some lack of imagination. But the CBD is a massive embarrassment so long after the EQs. I feel ashamed about some areas that continue to look like the Gaza strip. I actually think the CBD area is shameful, full of homeless and lacks ambition. It pains me to say that, but I travel to the likes of Sydney, Melbourne, LA, San Fran etc. and they have bigger problems than us, but are clean and don't look like a bomb site. Get it together!

>>>

You have a big challenge. But do the small things well and think big on how to regenerate the CBD.

354 - Vivienne Allan

[Other/Special Interest Topics > New Brighton Suburban Master Plans / Oram Avenue]

I worked with Civil Defence and CERA and later with Housing NZ during and after the quakes and have seen the damage at first hand. It is 13 years on now, and the opportunities to rebuild Sumner for example and turn it into the superb place it could have been haven't eventuated. Similarly New Brighton. So many people had wonderful ideas for both areas.

3552 - Alice Neylon

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > City Planning], [Grants & Funding > Other]

I don't want to see what happened in Auckland with Taylor Swift happen in Christchurch. I also don't want what happened with Darude to ever happen again. Please make the city attractive to international music acts.

3690 - Jono de Wit (Greater Ōtautahi)

For too long, the north of the central city has not had a supermarket in walking distance as Foodstuffs has held their Salisbury Street site at ransom until the CCC completes this project. Significantly, this holds back the potential growth and intensification of the northern city as well as the viability of the South-East Central Neighbourhood Plan.

396 - Daniel Jackson

Walking around the city centre has been great, not needing to worry about cars and having so many things within a short walk is perfect. I do wish that this form of people first public space could be extended to other parts of the city so that the central city isn't the only walkable sector.

3976 - Elizabeth Pugh

programme?

Warespart: ^U Approx 35 million on 'The Square' and surrounds. I think the Square should be untouched (apart from broken dangerous pavers) until "all" is complete - ie New Hotels, the land outside the PO (Colombo/Herford) etc all rebuilt - Then set out doing the revitalisation of the Square, once!! and well

4005 - Janet Lockyer

Who owns the old Christchurch Women's Hospital site between Durham Street and Colombo Street? It has been empty for many years apart from some parking. Could it be sold? Does anyone pay rates on it?

47 - Jamie Billings

When will we see a large nightclub built in the city?

48 - Kean Mitchell

Why is CCC not promoting or supporting the building of Hotels in Christchurch more. Spending/Bidding on having more events when the hotel beds volume does not meet the current demand, looks to me like a waste of money.... Would we not be better placed to do both ?

Heritage (Strategic)

General Comments

21 submitters provided feedback on the strategic direction of heritage (excluding funding for restoration projects).

5 comments supported, and 1 comment opposed the strategic direction of heritage.

6 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 9 comments provided general feedback addressing the strategic direction of heritage.

Officer Response

Submissions were generally supportive of heritage protection and retention, and for the proposed spending on the repair and upkeep of Council owned heritage assets, such as the Provincial Council Buildings, and its role in the identity of the city and the health and well-being of the citizens.

Submissions have sought reinstatement or introduction of the following methods for heritage protection including:

- Incentive grant funding to assist with heritage conservation,
- Intangible heritage funding
- Funding of the Heritage Festival
- Financial assistance with the resource consent process for heritage works, including pre-application advice
- Rates remission for heritage properties

The reasons cited by submitters for heritage grants and other financial support is that heritage supports the identity and attractiveness of the city as a place to live and as a destination to visit.

A number of submitters opposed funding to support heritage, seeking the following –

- Owners should pay for heritage
- Protection should be removed for vacant heritage buildings with reference to those within the 4 avenues
- Recognition that some buildings are uneconomic to retain.

There was also a call for CCC owned heritage buildings to be tenanted at all times and for an Islamic installation at the Arts centre.

The protection and retention of heritage is recognised and aligns with the policy direction in the Council's Heritage Strategy, Our Heritage, Our Taonga – Heritage Strategy 2019–2029 and District Plan, noting the vision and outcome of Kaitiakitanga in the Strategy -

Vision

We work together to recognise, protect and celebrate our heritage, which weaves our stories and places together, and is vital to the identity and wellbeing of our communities and the district.

Outcomes

Kaitiakitanga – Protecting and caring for Our Heritage, Our Taonga Our heritage is resilient and protected through best practice conservation, traditional knowledge, support and stewardship.

A draft Level of Service for Heritage is to “Provide heritage advice to support Resource Management Act statutory processes” contributes to the protection of heritage.

There are a number of methods available to Council to protect heritage and Council's draft LTP proposes the heritage team continue to provide advice to support statutory processes under the RMA.

If Heritage grant funding were reinstated and/or other financial methods introduced (e.g. festival), it would encourage investment in heritage and the local economy. It could also incentivise owners and kaitiaki to undertake works to protect, maintain, repair and upgrade heritage buildings, places, structures and objectives. In doing so, it can contribute to the protection of the district's heritage consistent with the vision and outcomes of the Heritage strategy and District Plan, particularly where it is in private ownership. Where heritage buildings are not maintained, there is a risk of it falling into disrepair and financial methods enable Council to demonstrate a level of support to achieve outcomes sought by the Council and community.

Intangible heritage projects and the annual Heritage Festival have been very popular with the community for many years and create and support greater community engagement and cohesion.

There would, however, be costs if these methods were reinstated. As background, the Heritage Incentive Grant fund was an annual fund provided for in the 2018-28 Long Term Plan with the carry-forward of remaining funds of $1.042m approved for inclusion in the 2021-2031 Long Term Plan, equating to $347,389 per annum. To introduce any financial method for protection of heritage will affect rating, the level of impact dependent on the amount of funding. Furthermore, any future funding would require resourcing by the Heritage team.

There is a risk of a loss of heritage in not providing grants or other financial incentives, particularly where the landowner does not have sufficient funds/ the work required is not viable. Notwithstanding this, there is the ability to draw funding from other sources, including Heritage NZ and private sources, albeit being limited due to the scope of those funds e.g. nationwide.

The Arts Centre funding is being dealt with by other Council officers but there are numerous inclusions in submissions in support of funding the Arts Centre.

Support

2485 - Lucy hill

[Grants & Funding > Arts Centre, Spending > Te Kaha)

no, I think it is really important to keep what already exists rather than creating new things. I have always thought that the arts centre was an amazing and valuable cultural asset, especially in Christchurch where there are barely any heritage sites. i feel that its important to keep them, its a place that is vibrant and used daily whereas the stadium wont be.

2513 - Lucy Richardson

Save the arts centre heritage buildings

2712 - Imogen Maxwell

[Transport]

More funding on heritage please and transport.

2851 - Katharine Watson (Christchurch Archaeology Project)

Based on our submission above, we recommend that:

2. Council considers the reinstatement of grant funding for the Heritage Festival and the Intangible Heritage Fund.

Christchurch Archaeology Project is a not-for-profit organisation, set up to save, share and research Ōtautahi Christchurch's archaeological heritage. At the core of our work is the Ōtautahi Christchurch archaeological archive, a rich archive of material recovered as a result of the archaeological authority process (under the Heritage New Zealand Pouhere Taonga (HNZPT) Act) following the Canterbury earthquakes of 2010 and 2011.

The importance of Ōtautahi Christchurch's heritage

We strongly support CCC's recognition that Ōtautahi Christchurch's diverse heritage must be protected and supported, and that this heritage contributes to our city being a creative, cultural and events powerhouse. The cultural diversity of our city is unique and fundamental to our identity. It is also part of what makes Ōtautahi such a fantastic place to live, work and play. Some of this heritage is relatively modern, but other aspects of it date back centuries. It is important that all of this heritage continues to be recognised, celebrated and made accessible for all.

Specific heritage funding

We strongly support the funding of specific heritage projects, particularly the funding set aside for the internationally significant Canterbury Provincial Council buildings. As the earliest seat of government for not just Ōtautahi but also Canterbury, these buildings have a significance beyond Christchurch itself. They provide tangible evidence of how the province saw itself and its grand hopes and ambitions. Their architectural values are widely recognised and it is important that these buildings are saved and preserved for all to enjoy in the future. www.christchurcharchaeology.org

The Intangible Heritage Fund and the Heritage Festival Grants

As noted and commended above, the Draft Long Term Plan explicitly recognises the diversity of Ōtautahi's heritage and the importance of this to the city. However, this is undermined by the removal of both the Intangible Heritage Fund and the Heritage Festival Grants. These are both relatively small funds, but are critical for supporting our diverse heritage, making small sums of money available to a range of often quite small not-for-profit heritage groups and projects who have few other funding avenues available to them. These funds have been critical in enabling the diversity of our heritage to be celebrated, enjoyed and made accessible to all. Without this funding, many groups may no longer be able to participate in the Christchurch Heritage Festival, thus reducing the diversity of the programmes offered, the range of people who can participate and the overall accessibility of our heritage. Removing these funds is not an appropriate way to recognise and celebrate the importance of Ōtautahi's heritage.

512 - Rosalind Butdon

[Grants & Funding > Arts Centre]

Not enough emphasis on culture and heritage. The Arts Centre are city features in doubt which need council help to survive . Both are the character and history of Christchurch. The soul of the city . Give heart and soul to Chch. To stop supporting the vibrant energetic much loved Arts Centre would be a travesty after so much effort has gone into revitalising it in the last ten years .

>>>

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Cathedral], [Grants & Funding > Arts Centre]

There is not enough support for culture and Heritage . Particularly the Arts Centre and the Cathedral both crucial community treasures much used and loved . The heart and soul and character of the city. Without them the city would be a sadly deprived place. History is important . So much effort has gone into ensuring the Arts Centre is a centre of energy and vitality and people. Pity to lose it .

Oppose

2069 - Christine Whybrew (Heritage New Zealand Pouhere Taonga)

In general, HNZPT supports the proposed contribution to heritage protection throughout the Plan and recognises that $51 million of total proposed spending is allocated for heritage projects over the ten-year period. 8. However, we are disappointed to note that:

- There is no provision for a heritage grant to incentivise owners to undertake works to protect, maintain, repair and upgrade heritage buildings;
- From July 2023, processing time and costs (including consultants) will be charged for the processing of applications involving heritage related protections in the Christchurch District Plan.
- The commitment within the previous Long Term Plan to provide Intangible Heritage grants and to assist with the Heritage Festival has been removed;

>>>

Christchurch has a vast range of structures which are significant because of their heritage values, and many of these are privately owned yet still contribute to the district's sense of belonging and way of life. Financing the maintenance, repairs, strengthening and upgrade of these structures can often be financially challenging for owners. In the past, the Council's grant funding has incentivised investment by private owners in the retention, upgrade and maintenance of their buildings, and yet the proposed Plan does not provide any form of grant funding for privately owned heritage buildings.

HNZPT considers this disappointing as it disincentivises the purchase or ongoing maintenance of heritage buildings and indeed diminishes the perception of how the Council values the built heritage of its district. HNZPT would strongly support the reinstatement of the Heritage Incentive Grant, or a similar funding channel, to address this need.

HNZPT is also disappointed to note that from July 2023, processing time and costs (including consultants) will be charged for the processing of applications involving heritage related protections in the Christchurch District Plan. We consider that this will place yet another financial hurdle for heritage building owners which will further disincentivise the appropriate level of maintenance and repair. It also has the potential to increase the risk of works being undertaken without consent, which could be to the detriment of the heritage values of the property.

There are a range of other incentives Council could utilise to promote the protection and conservation of historic heritage. HNZPT supports incentivising the retention and continued use, including promoting appropriate adaptive re-use, of heritage through various mechanisms available to the Council, which could include the remission of rates for landowners of historic heritage and the provision of free specialist advice to heritage building owners.

The Christchurch Heritage Festival is an important community tool to enable greater understanding and appreciation of the vast and significant heritage on our doorstep. It is an opportunity to share the stories of the past and identify what links the community to the city, in a fun and family-friendly forum. HNZPT acknowledges the considerable staff time that Council contributes to coordinating and promoting this festival. In past festivals, grant funding has allowed communities and interest groups with no alternative source of funding to host events and produce resources to tell their own stories of life in Ōtautahi Christchurch. HNZPT encourages reinstatement of this fund to ensure the diversity of historical experiences in Ōtautahi continue to be showcased and celebrated by the Christchurch Heritage Festival.

Other

13 - David Thorn

Heritage should be user pays by the person who owns a heritage property,

1913 - Liz Meek

[Transport > Transport (Operations)]

Chch always had bumpy roads before the quake - it's built on a swamp. Suggest you scale back on the idea of perfect roads and look more at how to increase ways to get the regions like selwyn and Waimakariri to work with you on commuter transport for the long term eg trams/trains

2802 - Yvonne Palmer

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Engagement & Communications (General)]

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration>Heritage (Strategic)]

THERE ARE ONE HERITAGE HOUSE AND ONE HERITAGE COTTAGE THAT HAS HAD NO TENANTS FOR ALMOST TEN (10) YEARS ON MAIN NORTH ROAD BELFAST. ALONG WITH A MUSEUM FACILITY. WHY HAS THIS NOT BEEN RENTED OUT TO SUITABLE TENANTS WHICH WOULD PROVIDE ACCOMMODATION WHEN THERE IS A SHORTAGE. PLUS KEEP THE BUILDINGS IN GOOD CONDITION.

I am very disappointed that staff who promise to get back to me when I have made contact about knowing suitable tenants who have needed accommodation failing to make no effort to ring or email me with an answer. Not good enough!!!!

289 - Julian Springer

Secondly, follow in the footsteps of Wellington CC and de list any listed/character buildings which sit empty if they are not being developed within the 4 Aves.

3479 - Rhys Glenjarman

The heritage of chch must have continuous funding to ensure the psychological wellbeing and recovery of the city after the earthquake. Many feel the city has been left to rot by successive local and national level governments and the council should increase rates where necessary to ensure the development of the city.

>>>

The current vein of architecture (brutalism) is often called 'Russian gulag grey' by locals, and tourists are not impressed by the area around cathedral square, mainly Te Pae and the central library.

3793 - Mark Gerrard (Historic Places Canterbury)

[Grants & Funding > Arts Centre]

"Our Heritage, Our Taonga" Heritage Strategy 2019–2029

The Council's roles and responsibilities are clearly outlined in its own Strategy. In the Strategy's Executive Summary: "This strategy recognises that the Council has a leadership role in facilitating a collaborative approach with its partners and communities, ensuring a broad range of our built and natural, tangible and intangible heritage is recognised, protected and celebrated."

The Strategy also states: "The Council's roles in heritage ... Funder"

If the Arts Centre were to become insolvent due to the Council choosing not to fund it, HPC is of the opinion that the Council is in breach of its Heritage Strategy. "Our Heritage, Our Taonga" Heritage Strategy 2019–2029 adopted by the Council and was widely consulted and supported by Christchurch Residents.

The Council appears to have the expectation the Arts Centre should be run solely as a property company. According to media reports The Arts Centre Trust has been successful in its commercial tenancing.

HPC notes the Arts Centre is legally required to focus on the arts, culture, education, and creativity. The (Arts Centre) Act forbids selling off part or all of the land so securing a loan against assets is problematic and it is doubtful the Trust could service a commercial loan.

Administration: We understand the Arts Centre senior managers pay scale is lower than their Council equivalents at the Art Gallery and 4 of the staff positions are funded by grants. If the Council had concerns why didn't it work with the Arts Centre Trust and Management Team to address its concerns? The Arts Centre has outstanding Heritage Buildings and is a Christchurch cultural powerhouse that generates 1 million visitors a year with a number of commercial tenants and home to 70 entities. It runs education programs as hosts galleries, opera, jazz, Matariki children's theatre to name but a few. Why would the Council risk such a successful enterprise? The only Council enterprise, HPC considers the equal of the Arts Centre are the Cities Libraries, another cultural powerhouse.

>>>

[Grants & Funding > Other Contestable Funds]

"Our Heritage, Our Taonga" Heritage Strategy 2019–2029 In the Executive Summary: "This strategy recognises that the Council has a leadership role in facilitating a collaborative approach with its partners and communities, ensuring a broad range of our built and natural, tangible and intangible heritage is recognised, protected and celebrated." The Strategy lists "The Council's roles in heritage ... Funder" By not offering Heritage Grants until 2031/32, HP considers the Council is clearly in breach of its Heritage Strategy. This Strategy was widely consulted and supported by the Residents

[Full Attachment Available]

Not Stated

126 - Julie Foley

[Grants & Funding > Arts Centre Funding]

The build fabric of the city is also important. Given the number of older and heritage buildings that have already been demolished post earthquake, it is essential that we treasure what is left, for example, the Arts Centre and the Provincial Council Buildings.

2272 - Tegan Jones

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Coastal Hazards Adaptation & Adaptation Planning]

Natural spaces, heritage sites and our beaches are all crucial for the health and wellbeing for the people, animals and land of Ōtautahi.

2817 - Emma Twaddell (St Albans Residents' Association)

Do not remove Heritage Building protection such as on the Blue Cottage and Harley Chambers.

3745 - Victoria Rathgen

Heritage is nice to have but not needed, do the now and tomorrow.

3868 - Don Gould

Members I know of at least two projects that have been held up because of heritage issues that it seems staff care more about process than anyone in the community cares about the buildings that are more than end of life, not economic to fix and not of public interest.

3935 - Michael Healey

Proposal 1 Permanent Hospitality - Arts Centre Architectural Intervention One of my significant reservations about Islamic architecture in New Zealand after being involved in some initial concept design on a project several years ago is the need for experienced craftspeople to execute such things as muqarnas, mashrabiya and plaster work with the required skill and detailing. I wish to propose a permanent architectural installation within the Christchurch Arts Centre. Given historical sympathies with Gothic architecture, an architectural intervention such as a murqana embedded into the building fabric of the art centre may be both sympathetic and signal a permanent re-orientation in the hospitality of this building. There is a precedent for this in the contemporary interpretations of gothic grotesques already on site. I suggest a small-scale intervention such as replacement column capital or a squinch to be specified in masonry or ceramics. Such a project could be executed by an international master in residence (they have apartments for just this sort of thing on site), and the occasion could be used for training local stonemasons or allied craft persons who are already very skilled, as well as further workshops and community activation. This idea came to me when reflecting on the time I lived in an Orthodox monastery in the Sinai of Egypt known as St Catherine's; over the last 1400 years, a strong relationship had been formed between the mostly Greek-speaking monastics and the local Bedioun - so that a small mosque was built inside the stone walls of the monastery. It may be an excellent idea to liaise with the Princes School of Arts, which has interested alumni all over Australia, for a potential workshops program. Both organizations are aligned with the project goals. The conceptual goal would be to illustrate "they are us" through the affinity between architectural styles, one that might only be recognized by an educated eye, and thus create a point of meditation on shared heritage and historical exchange through the presentation of the installation.

506 - Conal McCarthy

Water is important yes but heritage deserves more, that is what ChCh is known for.

570 - Greg Partridge

So many of our heritage buildings were lost or have been left to deteriorate, with two on Fitzgerald Avenue (Englefield Lodge and 187 Fitzgerald Avenue), being left to decay to the point of near total loss. Yes both are privately owned properties, but surely if the CCC values heritage there should be levers that you can activate to prevent examples like this becoming fodder for a demolition crew. Englefield Lodge has as much historical importance as what Mona Vale does, and yet it's been ignored by the CCC.

64 - Lindy Drury

It is vitally important that major heritage buildings are maintained for future generations.

>>>

It is vitally important that major heritage buildings are maintained for future generations.

Greater Christchurch Issues

General Comments

8 submitters provided feedback addressing Greater Christchurch Issues (e.g. Greater Christchurch Plan, including Greater Christchurch Spatial Plan and/or mass rapid transport). Many submitters addressed their desire for mass rapid transport to be implemented from the edges of Christchurch, into the city.

1 comment supported, and 0 comments opposed Greater Christchurch Issues.

3 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 4 comments provided general feedback addressing Greater Christchurch Issues.

Support

2121 - Cassie Welch (National Public Health Service (NPHS) Te Waipounamu)

Housing

24. NPHS Te Waipounamu supports the CCC's involvement in the Greater Christchurch Partnership (GCP) Housing Action Plan and encourages the Council to dedicate funding towards completing the actions in this plan. Housing is a critical determinant of health,^{20 21} and the places people live are also critical in enabling (or negating) health and health-promoting behaviours. The GCP Housing Action Plan has the potential to support people in Christchurch to access healthy, warm, sustainable and affordable housing.

[Coder Note: Full attachment available]

Other

2768 - Suzanne Wallace

Work to be done closely with Selwyn & Waikato

>>>

work with Selwyn

1 Waimak to secure necessary expertise.
4 Co-ordinated approach.

3029 - Rodrigo Gomez Fell

>>> should also consider the pressure towards infrastructure due to the future growth of Selwyn and Waimakariri districts.

3527 - James Stringer

[Strategic Direction>Additional Savings & Efficiencies]

Consider the advantages/disadvantages of a super-city approach for Christchurch, Selwyn & Waimakariri districts. With geographical boundaries getting more blurred each year and residents of all districts simply referring to home as "Christchurch," it would seem opportune to look at how merging these would reduce longer term costs and improve the rating income allowing for the services that residents from all 3 districts use on a daily basis already.

Not Stated

2256 - Peter Scott (Environment Canterbury)

We value the collaborative relationship with you under the Greater Christchurch to address the strategic opportunities and challenges facing the sub-region. This includes the recent focus of the Partnership to develop the Greater Christchurch Spatial Plan – a shared blueprint for how the sub-region will grow and change over the next 30 years and beyond, and remain an attractive place to live, learn, work, visit and invest. There is the opportunity for us through this Long-Term Plan to begin to deliver on the Spatial Plan, and in doing so, deliver on our communities' aspirations for the future of Greater Christchurch and the places within it.

2586 - Leeann Watson (Business Canterbury)

Christchurch is the main centre in Canterbury. While not required to by law, careful consideration should be given to ensure that decisions made in Christchurch are not at the expense of wider Canterbury but support it to thrive. All opportunities to collaborate and share value across Hurunui, Waimakariri, Selwyn and Mid Canterbury should be considered as part of the leadership role Christchurch City Council has in our region. What is good for Canterbury is good for Christchurch and vice versa.

>>>

The Council must ensure that they take a wider regional view recognising that good outcomes for our region mean good outcomes for our city. The Government is looking for well organised, collective aspirational thinking from regions and the Christchurch City Council have a key role to play in this, alongside other District Councils. As an independent, neutral organisation, Business Canterbury can assist in this process.

2748 - Kyla Jasperse

We continue to pay rate for infrastructure that is used by other significant users such as roading, the impact of strong residential growth in the Lincon area has significant impact on cost of infrastructure but no contribution.

3311 - Michael McEntee

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

I am sick to death of seeing empty cycleways. All you are doing is subsidizing someone's fitness goals, the CCC run gyms aren't free yet we spend millions on cycleways. Christchurch is cold and bleak 5 months of the year. A rail line from Rolleston/Lincoln or Kaiapoi to the city would do so much more to ease congestion and reduce vehicle emissions yet you keep flogging the dead horse that building cycleways will get more people on bikes.

Other/Special Interest Topics

Creating a Climate Fund & Accelerating Climate Adaptation

General Comments

778 submitters provided feedback on the proposals to create a climate fund and/or accelerate climate adaptation.

369 comments supported, and 88 comments opposed the proposal.

248 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 123 comments provided general feedback addressing the proposal.

Officer Response

Council sought feedback on two climate adaptation-related proposals:

- Creating a dedicated Climate Resilience Fund to fund actions identified in adaptation plans and address inter-generational equity issues by introducing a rate increase of 0.25% (16 cents a week), building up to a 2.25% rates increase, and amassing up to $127m over the lifetime of the LTP.
- Accelerating adaptation by bringing forward to F25 the additional investment of $1.8m to ramp adaptation work up across the district with a rates impact of 0.29% (19 cents a week).

What submitters said in support of the proposals:

- Christchurch is highly exposed to climate hazards, so we must invest in climate adaptation: Climate change is the biggest challenge of the century. Different parts of the district are highly exposed to different climate hazards. Low-lying inland and coastal areas are prone to flooding, while the hilly areas around Te Pātaka o Rākaihautū Banks Peninsula are prone to slope instability and wildfire risks. The risk of these climate hazards does not purely lie in the future, we are already seeing them now. The magnitude of this risk is high and we are starting to see partial insurance retreat. The projected costs to infrastructure don't yet take into account the flow-on economic losses and wellbeing impacts to communities and businesses.

Bold leadership is urgently needed to establish the Climate Resilience Fund and accelerate adaptation:

- Act with urgency, no delays – Climate change is unpredictable and accelerating faster than Council can plan. It's crucial to our future to act. It would be reckless to procrastinate, the cost of inaction is too great. We should have established this fund years ago.
- “Start preparing for climate change effects now, stop kicking the can down the road.”
- Be bold and walk the talk – Council should be responsive to feedback from public consultations in the past stating the emphasised desire for strong climate action. Climate change is a Strategic Priority, but the draft LTP contains insufficient climate action, and these investments are positioned as optional and delayed rather than proposed for immediate action. Climate action is an essential Council service.
- “You declared a climate emergency, live up to it and act now for future generations.”
- Climate leadership grows confidence and improves wellbeing – Cities that demonstrate leadership and invest in resilience will alleviate mounting community anxiety and build confidence that attracts new residents and investors. Other cities are already doing more. Council decisions now (either action or inaction) will have lasting impacts.

Establishing the Climate Resilience Fund is prudent and proactive financial planning:

- It's cheaper to prepare than to rebuild – It's responsible stewardship to hold insurance and in the long-term financial interests of Council to establish this fund now. Every $1 spent now on adaptation or resilience will save up to $2-15 in disaster recovery. If we don't start now, Council costs and rates will be a lot higher in the future.
- “These costs will have to occur by the city at some point in the future, the longer we wait, the higher the costs and subsequent rates bump.”
- The fund responds to the uncertain timing of adaptation investment - It would be short-sighted to expect that adaptation can be solely funded through the existing capital

- budget. A dedicated fund is responsive to timing uncertainties, it helps us be proactive, rather than reactive; and it allows us to spread the costs evenly over time and location.
- Strong governance and controls are needed to manage this fund – Proposed controls included ring-fencing the fund to respond only to actions identified in adaptation plans, regular audits, and reporting, and a super-majority for any change to spending criteria.
 - Dedicated funding is necessary for public confidence in adaptation planning– The fund should be in place once the first adaptation plan is delivered.
 - “If you won’t invest in adaptation there is no point even having the conversation.”

Inter-generational equity is a crucial aspect of the Climate Resilience Fund:

- Equity and fairness issues must be addressed – The burden of climate change is not evenly spread; it falls disproportionately on our children and our children’s children. Current ratepayers have benefitted from a high emissions lifestyle, and it would be inequitable to burden future generations who have not enjoyed these benefits. The business-as-usual approach of debt-funding capital expenditure exacerbates this issue.
- “We have created enough climate debt for our Rangatahi. It’s time to properly invest in their future.”
- Young people are scared and anxious about how climate change will impact their future – Young people feel deeply concerned about the future and see a lack of action on emissions reduction as an indication that older generations are recklessly disregarding their future quality of life. This sense of disempowerment is creating anxiety and depression. Knowing action is being taken would help with youth mental health and wellbeing.
- “I want to live out my future and dreams without having to stress about if I will survive let alone if my children...will survive.”

Accelerate adaptation planning:

- Planning should be brought forward before big events impact us: Wake-up calls like Cyclone Gabrielle and the Port Hills fire indicate that we need to be better prepared, but we do not have the luxury of time. Work to reduce our exposure and prepare for the impacts of these climate-related hazards will take time.
- “Coastal adaptation must be a top priority, as this will require extensive community input and will be expensive to implement. We won't be able to pay for it if we leave it until the last minute.”
- Take a multi-hazards approach to adaptation planning: In addition to the focus on coastal adaptation, we need to prepare for multiple climate impacts, including wildfire, extreme heat, and river flooding.
- Acceleration supports community wellbeing: It’s essential that communities are at the heart of these processes and planning should prioritise the most marginalised communities. Early planning is key, with proactive adaptation able to maximise co-benefits and health and wellbeing, whereas delayed adaptation can result in maladaptive actions with poorer outcomes.
- Build resilience by investing in community education: Council should invest more in education to ensure communities are aware, prepared and better equipped to respond.

What submitters said in opposition to the proposals:

- It's not affordable right now: The cost-of-living and other pressures on rates, means that the timing is not right now. Council expenditure should be focused on essentials only. These proposals are examples of wasteful spending. We are still dealing with the financial consequences of the earthquakes and pandemic. Council should rely on debt headroom and the existing capital programme instead.
- Climate change denial: Climate change is ideological, it's a hoax, and/or the climate has always changed. The science is not settled, and Council should engage with real scientists. No action should be taken unless we start to see the impacts of climate change locally.
- "Weather happens, always has, and always will."
- Its futile to act and/or it's not Council's responsibility to act: The scale of the climate change challenge is too great, and any Council action is inadequate. New Zealand is only a small contributor to emissions compared with other larger countries. Others with greater responsibility should act, for example central government, the international community, or global corporations.

Other feedback from submitters

The proposed Climate Resilience Fund is insufficient / can it be grown faster?:

- The proposed fund is too small – $127m is not sufficient to meet the scale of the challenge. It should be a significantly higher proportion of rates; and that proportion needs to grow over time as the community builds a greater understanding of climate change impacts.
- "The climate fund is good, but it isn't big enough. It should be a hundred times the size."
- Bolster with other sources of funds – Other options to grow the fund included profits from Council-owned land sales, arrival taxes of $5 on international arrivals at Christchurch airport, a surcharge on international conferences, and delaying or deferring other Council work.
- Higher targeted rates for emitters – High emitting businesses should pay a higher targeted rate ie car-dealers, petrol stations, commercial parking providers, and developers in higher risk areas.
- Other climate action should also be prioritised – Other types of climate action were also seen as of high priority, including investment in public transport and cycleways, creating a sponge city through better stormwater management and drainage using raingardens and increased permeable surfaces. Linkages were made between climate adaptation and supporting biodiversity to adapt and thrive.

Christchurch District has a high level of exposure to the impacts of sea level rise

Christchurch District has 397km of coastline creating a high level of exposure to coastal flooding, erosion and rising groundwater along the coastline, estuaries, and river systems. We are anticipating a further 14cm -23cm of sea level rise by 2050, and 38cm – 1m of sea level rise by 2100.

Modelling indicates that within approximately 25 years (by 2050), an estimated $3.2B of our roads, and drinking, waste and stormwater network pipes are exposed to coastal hazards, alongside $14B of private properties. However, over the following 50 years to 2100, the scale of exposure does not exponentially increase. This suggests that if Council invests heavily in adaptation planning in the short term, we may be able to effectively and significantly reduce our exposure early. However, if we delay, we will experience significant negative impacts both directly to our infrastructure and to the communities who are dependent on those services.

Proposal: Accelerating adaptation

In late 2020, Council established the Coastal Hazards Adaptation Planning (CHAP) programme to undertake adaptation planning with communities and rūnanga. Due to the scale of exposure across the district, the number of communities affected, and the time required to plan collaboratively with communities, adaptation planning is occurring in tranches.

Planning has been underway in the Lyttelton Harbour-Whakaraupō and Port Levy-Koukourarata Adaptation Area, with the first adaptation plan due in late 2024/early 2025. Planning is undertaken in partnership with a Coastal Panel comprised of community and rūnanga representatives, with several wider community engagements throughout the process. At the current pace, it is anticipated that it will take up to 14 years to complete the first round of planning across the whole district.

The CHAP team is currently limited to 5 FTEs, with 1 FTE funded through Better Off funds. With further investment, adaptation planning could be scaled up and sped up, providing Council and communities with greater certainty sooner.

Proposal: Establishing a Climate Resilience Fund

Adaptation plans identify a pathway for responding to coastal hazards, with actions to be undertaken when signals, such as increased sea levels, require action. While a preferred pathway and actions are identified, alternative options remain in place to build in flexibility to future change. These adaptation plans, developed by the Coastal Panel in each area, provide long-term direction for the protection, adaptation or removal of Council assets and infrastructure over a 100-year timeline.

While we know that investment will be needed, a high degree of uncertainty remains around the exact timing of sea level rise and therefore the exact timing of these investments. While some investment in the short-term can be programmed into Long Term Plan capital expenditure, the uncertainty in the medium to long term is not easily managed within standard local government planning and funding practise. Specifically, adaptation plans respond to signals and triggers, not to deadlines – and significant delays in seeking budget approvals through Council planning processes could drive maladaptive responses.

The creation of a Climate Resilience Fund provides greater flexibility to invest in a timely manner, it provides for greater transparency in adaptation funding, and it allows for re-prioritisation exercises when competing demands in the future necessitate hard decisions. In short, it is an adaptive response to adaptation.

In addition to these points, the future costs of adaption are expected to be extremely high; and future Councils may face difficult decisions. This proposal allows for the accumulation of funds for that longer-term future and in doing so, it partly addresses intergenerational equity issues by collecting funds now for distribution in the future.

The LTP Consultation Document proposes that if this fund is supported, further work is required to establish appropriate governance arrangements and criteria for accessing the funds. This work should also consider innovative approaches to seeking other sources of revenue in addition to rates, as proposed by submitters.

Response to: Climate change is a hoax

The Council takes direction on climate science from the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC) and the Ministry for the Environment (MfE). As a member country of the IPCC and the UNFCCC and a signatory of the Paris Agreement, New Zealand takes direction from the scientific and technical outputs of the IPCC. The Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change concluded that human caused planetary warming was unequivocal. Proactively responding to climate change will deliver many benefits for our community and Council has therefore identified climate resilience as a strategic priority.

Response to: Its futile to act / it's not Council's responsibility to act

Council, on behalf of the community, is responsible for managing the risk to Council-owned assets and income. In addition, Council is required to develop and implement plans for the identification and management of risks associated with coastal hazards, and where appropriate, work in partnership with communities to do so.

Response to: Take a multi-hazards approach to adaptation planning:

Staff agree that over time a multi-hazard adaptation planning process is necessary. Currently there are three key constraints to this occurring, firstly, there is no national guidance for non-coastal hazards adaptation planning, secondly, the CHAP team's current resourcing is focused around coastal expertise; and thirdly, CHAP team resourcing – even if further investment occurs through this LTP – is sufficient to address only coastal hazard risk.

Council could choose to re-direct resources away from coastal adaptation and towards the development of adaptation planning processes for other climate hazards, however that would slow the planning for sea level rise impacts.

The CHAP team are preparing for this future need by investing in the development of the Council's Risk Explorer which will increasingly model the impacts of non-coastal climate risks on the district. Development of this tool will support Council to better understand our current and future risk profile which can inform the prioritisation of adaptation practitioner resources.

Support

104 - Jennifer Maghzal

Climate change is our reality. To not address it and plan for it is foolish.

1061 - Racheal O'Brien

Look at what we can all do now balanced with where we want to be in the future eg 2030 sustainable goals but it requires more of a general public move in mindset to this than just a council imposed

1098 - Eric Pawson

how else is the city going to make any progress towards its own emissions targets?

113 - Sarah Cragg

We will save more money and more planet!

1157 - Justin Rogers

there'll be a lot of properties to buy out or protect in the future. Best to start saving for that now.

116 - Jarrod Coburn

I think it's fair to say that the generations who pay rates now all contributed to (or at least benefited from) global warming. So we should be putting something away to offset future issues.

1191 - Ava Johnson

- Urgently accelerating adaptation efforts and expanding the Climate Resilience Fund to adequately address future challenges.

12 - Jalori Mathias

Yes, climate change adaptations should be a big focus and you should stop all work on tarras airport.

1203 - David Moore

Climate adaptation is mandatory and needs to be started as soon as possible. Climate induced changes will happen rapidly, and we should be prepared.

1241 - John Ballantyne

Climate change is already happening. Adapting and investing in ways to protect our community is a priority and needs to be pushed forward in council planning.

1258 - John Chrisstoffels

Do it now before it is too late.

128 - Elizabeth Ackermann

Its needed as we are a flat sinking city

1294 - Donna Macalpine

we cant save the world when its too late start now

1324 - Anaru Matai

Important

1346 - Bianca McKinnon-Gee

It's a no brainer. Climate change is here now.

1352 - Lin Klenner

It does not matter what we believe this is caused by but we need to adjust, and fast! It seems CRAZY to not include this and get on with it.

1355 - Andrew McCarthy

Yes re the fund, but good luck trying to keep politician's mitts off it. You don't need to spend a whole lot of $ on reports whose conclusions are a mix of the insipid and blindingly obvious, e.g. climate change presents risks that costs of flooding will increase.

136 - William Fulton

We would be foolish to ignore the potential impacts of Climate Change.

1362 - Pablo Rodriguez

Insufficient funds are currently allocated for climate change adaptation efforts. It's essential to allocate resources to establish a climate adaptation fund. We've accumulated significant climate debt for our youth. It's imperative to make substantial investments in securing their future.

1385 - Bernice Kilkelly

Lets be proactive not reactive! Lets be leaders not followers.

1430 - Dan Hartwell

We owe it to our tamariki

1436 - Victoria Andrews

Prioritise and accelerate the council's Coastal Hazards Adaptation Planning Programme and establish a Climate Resilience Fund and Civic Defence.

>>>

As a resident of Akaroa I have witnessed sea level rise in relation to the harbour in a matter of a few years. It is happening at an alarming rate. As such it is an urgent matter which cannot be ignored or put at the bottom of the list for action at some point in the future.

[Full attachment available]

1451 - Jodie Langston

[Other/Special Interest Topics > LTP Consultation]

- Make more effort to make your plans/ desires known and what the opportunities for the communities are to engage with the information and make informed choices. Only found out about all this from word of mouth. conveniently not advertised. Decisions today will affect our current youth. they have voices and opinions on their future. Find ways to engage them. Trams may reduce congestion and improve safety inner city. People living in Brighton are going to be homeless as the coast line degrades. support them finding homes.

1452 - Maraed Riley

Insufficient funds are being earmarked for climate change adaptation efforts. Allocation to a dedicated climate adaptation fund is imperative. The burden of climate challenges borne by our youth (Rangatahi) underscores the urgency for substantial investments in securing their future.

1464 - Jeffrey Packard

There should be a climate adaptation fund to ensure innovation and insurance against the impacts of the changing climate.

1474 - Céra Dernhagen

I understand these priorities require significant investment, but I believe they represent responsible stewardship of resources and a brighter future for Christchurch. We have the chance to shape a place where everyone thrives—a city known for its sustainability, equity, and commitment to its citizens.

>>>

[Spending>Our Proposed Spending]

There is not enough money being allocated for the adaptation for climate change. There should also be resources allocated to a climate adaptation fund. We have created enough climate debt for our Rangatahi. It's time to properly invest in their future.

>>>

More investment in adapting to climate change

>>>

[Three Waters>Stormwater & Land Drainage]; [Three Waters>Waterways Quality & Compliance]; [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration>Coastal Hazards Adaptation & Adaptation Planning]; [Strategic Direction>Have we got the balance right?]

Clean Water and Climate Resilience: Water protection and climate change adaptation are essential. I encourage: Why it's personal I am originally from a place that has experienced and is experiencing an increase in wildfires. A little over a decade ago almost my entire town was wiped out by a runaway wildfire due to poor management and climate change induced heatwaves. I want to make sure our home is ready for our changing climate. Solutions Rigorous protection of waterways through stormwater management, reduced pollution, and natural filtration systems. Increased investment in infrastructure designed to withstand the impacts of climate change (e.g., flooding and sea-level rise), including nature-based solutions. Accelerate Adaptation efforts - invest much more than the laughably small 1.8 million per year Climate Resilience Fund - Expand the program. Start the plan immediately and invest more than the current proposal. We have created enough climate debt for our Rangatahi. It's time to properly invest in their future.

1498 - Charlie Due

except for prioritisation of climate change and flood mitigation programmes.

>>>

do as much as you can. The key thing is to reduce CCC's exposure to managed retreat strategies that may result in displacement of certain communities

1509 - Charles Drace (350.org Christchurch)

Need more funding for long term climate protection measures and to pay for future damage from global warming events.

1515 - Andrew Douglas-Clifford

Climate change should be a high priority for the council - even in the best-case scenario, there will almost certainly be negative climate consequences that will have to be dealt with, so a fund to support this will be important. It must deal with mitigation AND adaptation however - without mitigation the adaptation will only continue to become more costly.

1520 - Wendy Butcher (Canterbury WEA)

Maximum effort must be put into climate change impact mitigation

1525 - Caroline Mason

We need to get serious about climate change and considering how it will affect our communities

1530 - Robyn White

essential to invest on these future things or else we will suffer more long term

1544 - Daana Watson

[Spending > Te Kaha]

I would rather pay a small increase of 0.29% in rates now to combat climate-related issues, than the 2.4% Te Kaha levy.

1546 - Robert Fleming

We have to do this. Our standard of living will be affected if we do nothing; a little pain now just may help mitigate it.

1548 - Robert Love (Selwyn District Council)

SDC supports funding for climate change related projects such as public transport, cycleways, and urban forests.

1572 - Olive Easterbrook

I think we need to start saving now events that will happen, and are happening, with climate change. Otherwise my generation and others to come will end up paying for it

>>>

If we act not to decrease our emissions it will save us money in the long run. We need to focus on public transport, cycle lanes and start making changes to reach our emissions targets. This is urgent and needs to happen now!

1578 - Lucia Campbell-Reeves

Investing in adapting our city to being climate friendly should take priority over everything else. It doesn't make sense to focus on anything else when it will all be at risk of all effects of climate change.

1585 - Rachel Smith

It is inequitable and unjust to not be investing and saving for climate change adaptation and instead pass this debt on to future generations

1619 - David Hera

Expand the Climate Resilience Fund, starting with an immediate and substantial increase in funding.

>>>

The current allocation of funds for climate change adaptation is insufficient. Additional resources should be directed to a climate adaptation fund. We have accumulated significant climate debt for our Rangatahi; it is now crucial to invest adequately in their future.

1658 - Justin Fletcher (Predator Free Waimairi Beach)

Climate: Again climate is identified as a top priority however, by its own acknowledgement, this LTP is going to fall short - "it will still be unlikely that we will reach our emissions reduction targets as a Council or as a city" - P.33 CCC Draft LTP Consultation Document. The options to bring forward climate adaptation funding and create a climate adaptation fund must surely be adopted. Given their close relationship and mutual benefits it should also follow that climate adaptation measures simultaneously support indigenous biodiversity.

>>>

[Parks > Biodiversity & Ecological Restoration]

Climate change adaptation and supporting biodiversity go hand-in-hand. Consideration should be given to having a larger dedicated fund that supports both climate change adaptation and biodiversity.

1689 - Josiah Morgan

I want to see more money put into anywhere that will help the climate too.

>>>

There is no question that this is essential. The science is clear. The will of the people is clear - look at the most recent School Strike. The only question is, will you let your politics get in the way? Please create a climate adaptation fund. I note that adaptation is not enough - we must prevent as much as possible.

1690 - Richard Suggate

We need this to develop a capital pool to be used for the cost of managing greater future infrastructure costs and demands.

1694 - Tamsin Page

This needs to be a priority.

1695 - Jordan Wyatt

I very much support doing more for the planet.

1734 - Fergus O'Neill

High priority for the council!!! Even if there is success in limiting global warming, there will be still be more negative extreme weather and sea level rises that need to be addressed. Plans and funding must be in place for this.

>>>

[Transport > Cycleway (Capital)], [Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Strategic Transport]

No, the long term plan should have more emphasis on public transportation and active transportation. This also includes a need to invest in cycle infrastructure which requires little maintenance and has numerous active health and environmental impacts. There also should be some more investment in mitigating climate change.

>>>

Changes in rates should account for continued investment in public and active transport as well as climate change mitigation. If the rates are lowered, this is nice but future generations will suffer due to the lack of adequate services available to them.

1819 - Gavin Millar

[Transport > Other], [Other/Special Interest Topics > Tarras Airport]

We need to invest now to be able to adapt to climate change, we also need to invest to stop contributing to it. It makes zero sense to continue pouring money into carbon emission causes such as car-centric infrastructure, Tarras airport knowing that it will lead to us spending more in the future on mitigation. Stop making the problem worse with your decisions now.

1839 - Catherine Grima

This is paramount. Our hills are burning more frequently and this is because of our dry weather and strong winds, coupled with our pastoral and commercial plantations just waiting to be ignited. Plant more native, local species on a wide-spread level over our hills. Plant more urban trees to expand our urban forest. Increase flood defense of our coast using natural means (ie not concrete sea walls etc.) . Make our rivers more flood resilient to protect our homes at lower elevations.

1852 - Jessica Lamb

More money needs to be spent than helping communities be resilient & adapt.

>>

Climate change is already impacting Atascosa's communities so it is vital this fund is created so that our communities can be resilient in as extreme climate events continue to occur.

1859 - Lucy Gray

Do you have any comments on operational spending:

We need this funding to be prioritized.

1882 - Anna-Marie Browne

to climate change.

The Christchurch City Council needs to urgently tackle its impact on climate change. I, like many others of my generation are extremely concerned about the climate crisis, especially since we were too young to contribute to the problem. If we maintain the status quo, rangitahi and their descendants will suffer the consequences far into the future. The science behind climate change is very real but our actions so far have been too slow to react, thus far. We can change that with a targeted vision

1889 - Grace Rotherham

Climate resilience is so important because without we simply won't be able to inhabit our planet.

>>>

I am scared about the future of our planet and we need to invest more towards adapting to climate change now!

It's more more important to focus on a sustainable future than keeping rates low!

191 - Jenny Harlow

I don't have children so I am not in the group who should be most concerned about this, and selfishly I don't feel that strongly, but overall the more that can be done now to plan for climate change the better for those who are coming after us.

1923 - Matilda Moran

Climate change can not be ignored or denied. We need everything we have to help fight. More funds are needed. More needs to be done around things like restoring passenger rail, more bike stands and pathways etc.

1931 - Roz Kinraid

If we don't spend now it will cost more in the future when it comes to climate change.

1945 - Lucy Howell

I absolutely support this fund but greater action is needed for the council to address climate change at a systematic level considering both mitigation and adaptation. These should prioritise adaptation that focus on marginalised communities. The CCC should consider easy to achieve climate mitigation projects like public transport and cycleways. The CCC should also be looking to speed up resilience projects such as the Urban Forest Plan.

1950 - Shanae Kirk

It is very important do as much as we feasibly can to mitigate climate change, to minimise the impact on our communities, and ensure that the burden is not entirely left to the younger generation.

1951 - James Beck (Eco Church New Zealand)

This will soon be the most pressing issue affecting our communities in tangible ways. We need to respond now!

1959 - Brad Waldon-Gibbons

the climate resilience fund for adaptation plans should be increased with the 0.27% suggested.

>>>

I believe the "accelerating adaptation effort" option should be brought forward to the increase of 0.29%.

1960 - James Beck (The River Ōpāwaho)

These issues are only going to become more tangible, and we need to act now.

1973 - Jean Fraser-Hoult

TAKE IT SERIOUSLY!

1978 - Robyn Lavender

Climate change is the most pressing issue right now because there will be nothing left to invest in, build or work for when the planet is destroyed because of what this government is or isn't ~~is~~ doing. We need to invest in climate justice or there will be nothing left for me and my children to inherit apart from the terrible consequences of not striving for a healthy planet and a stable climate spend more on ~~protect~~ climate and

>>>

1984 - Chenille Anderson

to climate change:

The Climate Crisis is the most important issue we are dealing with.

>>>

Fund it

1991 - Stevie Florent

A fund should be established, but greater action now is also required that takes into account the four R's of climate justice (i.e., acknowledging root causes of climate change, reparation, recognition and representation and rights and responsibilities). A portion of the climate resilience fund should go to mitigation and another portion to adaptation.

2007 - Olivia Wesley

No I think you've covered it

2011 - Lauren Sturm

I think / agree that we should invest more time and education into adapting to climate change. We need to teach the up coming generation(s) about this to prove to them they're not doomed. They can do something. We're connected to Earth and as long as we have a voice so does she. Also - interact w/ our surroundings while we can!

>>>

if you have any comm

Do it!

2013 - Rata Harper

Much more attention needs to be put into addressing the climate crisis. Climate change is a catastrophic event that won't go away if you ignore it - the source of the problem (carbon emissions) needs to be dealt with NOW, before it is too late to make a meaningful difference to the amount of global warming that occurs.

Similar global warming had happened in the history of this planet, and during one of these times, under very similar circumstances to what are happening now, over 95% OF ALL SPECIES on this planet died out... if we don't act now, this could be us. (it was called the Permian mass extinction)

I urge you to take urgent action to stop this crisis before it's too late, not just for us, but for future generations and all other life on this planet. We need to act now.

I have contributed in no way to this crisis, yet I am left to face the consequences of it - How is that fair?

>>>

do you have any comments on the climate resilience fund?

These projects need to be bigger, the amount of money should be increased. The people who contributed to this crisis should be helping to pay for our future.

>>>

did put money into climate and flood protection.

2018 - Pippa Marshall

to climate change:

We need more sustainable messages about water and affordable. We need to go actually focus on technology and protecting

It is unfair that we are so young but yet are the only ones who are fighting for our future for it is not good enough.

2026 - Rena Oliphant

It's a great idea! - I think working with those who are / will be affected to plan exactly what the investment will fund - this way the outcomes will be based on people and their needs, experiences and expectations in these circumstances - not ~~just~~ just what the Council would see fit + ~~for~~ input from a range of people e.g. age, ~~sex~~ ethnicity etc.

>>>

- especially for vulnerable communities
e.g. Maori - focusing on these groups as well as a wide spread / general fund.

>>>

Tell the Council how scared you are about the climate crisis

Very - I don't want to have children because of it, and have to spend my life fixing ~~the~~ ^{the} mess

Tell the Council how unfair it is that you're too young to have contributed to the crisis, but have to pay the costs of past generations!

Tell the Council that they need to invest in the climate now!

Not now, yesterday, now is the least you can do.

Tell the Council that it's talking about keeping rates low instead of the sea level, as the climate crisis gets worse every year!

NO Capital gain on a flooded planet → fix this first

Tell the Council why you care! There are no wrong answers here, just talk from your heart :)

I care because it's not only my concern, responsibility & future but also the next generations XYZ - so I am thinking beyond myself (unlike the current Govt.)

2038 - Colbie Van Dyk

I'm absolutely horrified for my future. It's so important you fund and educate to help the climate crisis. I want to live out my future and dreams without having to stress about if I will survive let alone if my children and so forth will survive.

2049 - Elsie Andrew

[Strategic Direction>Climate Change]

The council should treat the climate crisis with the utmost urgency. We need to be working to reduce our emissions significantly, and working towards a more sustainable Ōtautahi. This is an emergency and should be treated as such.

2057 - Alicia Moggre

future proofing/climate change resilience needs to be prioritised above almost all else. I don't have the expertise to judge if this is what the above numbers relate to.

>>>

Given the science of climate change and the impacts it will have this is a critical way for residents today to support future residents by sharing in the costs of adaptation rather than leaving it to our children who will be most affected. As much as we can do in advance to prepare for sea level rise, increased weather events, and doing the work to reduce emissions will all be cheaper than dealing with issues after they happen. These amounts should be higher than proposed.

2060 - Liv van Workum

Just that it is vital for future generations and our health now to care for our planet.

2071 - Paul Broady

- Additional climate resilience funding is likely to be needed sooner than the Plan seems to envisage.
- Climate impacts are increasing at a faster rate than previously predicted.
- The Plan states that "...future generations may need to contribute more....." (Consultation document, p52). It is likely that people younger than 40 y will be considerably affected by climate impacts which will increase as atmospheric GHGs inevitably continue to increase over the next few decades.
- The accumulation of $127 million over the next ten years seems a very small amount for adaptation to the challenges ahead of us. Surely this will have to be increased. Support for an increase will mount as impacts increase.

2095 - Hanna North

Do you have any comments on the Climate Resilience Fund?

don't forget to PREVENT the bad things from happening as well as being able to recover from them

>>>

Climate changes

2097 - Marie Haley

As a rural property who has been affected by major storm events I have the experience to say that resilience to storms is vital, most importantly managing rural roads and IMPROVING them to ensure they hold up in storms, adding additional culverts that have been buried and lost over time, clearing gutters, ensuring that the roads are resilient to 1/200 year events is vital. As is civil defence and rural communications. These things are more important than nice to have stadiums, cathedrals and swimming centres that rural people can hardly access and use anyway.

2099 - Eli Watson

Do you have any comments on the Climate

We need to make more of an effort to combat climate

>>>

Climate change.

The climate crisis needs to be prioritized.
We need more cycle ways and more encouragement to cycle.

2105 - Tawhai Darnielle Te Karu

Fund it!

2108 - Briar Rotherham

I am scared for the health of our climate.
It is unbearably unfair that I am too young to contribute so the crisis but I will have to pay. INVEST IN CLIMATE NOW!!!
You talk about the ~~Pa~~ keeping the rates low
What about the sea levels? I care so strongly about this because it is my Future.

2112 - Matt Easterbrook

We need to invest more in climate change. If we don't this cost will only get passed on to future generations

>>>

Yes!!! Our current lifestyles have created climate change so we should be the ones paying for it not leaving it for others to deal with in the future

2121 - Cassie Welch (National Public Health Service (NPHS) Te Waipounamu)

39. NPHS Te Waipounamu supports CCC in accelerating adaptation planning and creating a Climate Resilience Fund. We recommend prioritising this work to protect communities and reduce the worst health and wellbeing outcomes of climate change.

40. NPHS Te Waipounamu also notes that the timing of adaptation planning and implementation matters. Proactive adaptation planning and measures can maximise the co-benefits for health and equity, and best support efforts to protect and promote wellbeing.³⁵ Late or poorly planned adaptation can lead to maladaptive actions that can result in worse health outcomes and increase inequities in a community. NPHS Te Waipounamu therefore strongly supports option (c), which will enable CCC to proactively work together with communities to create adaptation plans.

[Coder Note: Full attachment available]

2155 - Geoffrey Sugden

This needs to happen now. While it will hurt a little now, not doing it will hurt a lot more in the future.

2172 - Tobias McKellar

Climate change is real and a significant concern to me. I feel that only 1.8 million dollars will not go a long way to improve understanding of climate issues and even if an understanding is gained then more funding is necessary to act on those findings.

2180 - Amy Elliot

If investment isn't made now it will be more costly in the future, urgency is key and more must be done immediately.

2181 - Liviah Rachel Bramley

URGENCY is key in preventing climate change. More must be done faster

2189 - James Riddoch (Property Council New Zealand)

In principle, we support the Council's option to accelerate adaptation planning by bringing forward an additional $1.8 million annually to 2024/25. However, we note that this spending needs to be purposeful, in that any expenditure should be outcomes driven. We look forward to seeing completed adaptation plans in the near future. 9. Climate Change Resilience Fund

We support the creation of a climate change resilience fund in principle, given that it will help with ensuring community facilities exposed to climate hazards are more resilient. While we are pleased to see that this fund will be ringfenced, we cannot comment further without knowing how the fund will be established, managed, and governed.

22 - Grace Colcord

For Christchurch this could be important, although I think this should be miniscule in comparison to the funding for preventative measures.

2214 - Paul Kruger

Damages brought about by climate change are advancing at much faster pace than anticipated, we need to act now (well, years ago). Cheaper to mitigate and adapt than repair when it's too late,

2246 - Karen Johnston

I imagine this will be a little like kiwi saver. Once it is started people will like the fact that we have finance in place to assist.

2256 - Peter Scott (Environment Canterbury)

Option to accelerate adaptation planning

We support accelerating adaption efforts for the most at-risk communities in the district.

Option to create a Climate Resilience Fund We support a Climate Resilience Fund.

We would like to acknowledge the experience, expertise and time your staff and elected members have committed to the Canterbury Climate Change Working group and Councillor Reference Group under the Canterbury Mayoral Forum. Your Council's contribution in the coming years will be important as implementation of the Canterbury Climate Partnership Plan begins. As Canterbury councils we will have to increase our efficiency and effectiveness as we respond to climate change, and work together on building community resilience to natural hazards.

2269 - Lyn Leslie (Te Pātaka o Rākahautū Banks Peninsula Community Board)

We encourage an increased investment in Climate Resilience, as recognised by the Coastal Hazard Adaptation Plan. More support in this space will grow the capacity and availability of the programme to inform other Council work. Such investment will inform a proactive and prudent management of Council's assets. The Board believes this work is a high priority and umbrellas the majority of Council's work.

>>>

The Board would support a Climate Resilience Fund. The Board believes that such fund is imperative considering the reality of climate change and its impact on Te Pātaka o Rākahautū Banks Peninsula communities. The Board agrees with bringing forward climate change adaptation proposals/projects as proposed. Climate Change is at the top of our communities thinking. The Board has many examples of what climate change is doing to areas within Te Pātaka o Rākahautū Banks Peninsula. It will help identify areas that will need to be adapted, prior to more resources being funnelled into these projects. The council can conduct comprehensive assessments to understand climate change impacts on key infrastructure and community well-being. This analysis helps identify areas at risk and prioritise them for action include improving emergency response plans and supporting community resilience groups with resources which can be tap into in case of a natural disaster. Local communities of the peninsula re resourceful and these proactive measures from the council will enhance community resilience and reduce their vulnerability in the long-run. The Board would like the Council to maintain the spend on proposed capital projects and include an inundation lens.

2272 - Tegan Jones

I don't want us to rely on the ambulance at the bottom of the cliff when we could just build a fence.

2275 - Bridgette Pedofsky

No you are doing the right thing

2308 - Sarah Elicker

We need to focus on climate change adaptation and resilience.

2309 - Margaret Austin

Climate Change is going to affect everyone and must be uppermost in our agendas and actions.

2311 - Paul McMahon (Waitai Coastal-Burwood-Linwood Community Board)

The Board notes the urgent need for integrated coastal hazards adaptation and emergency response planning.

>>>

The Board would support additional funding for Coastal Hazards Adaptation Planning and for Civil Defence preparedness and response planning. We consider both can and should be addressed in an integrated manner, supported with funding and some urgency. Our Board Area, along with Banks Peninsula communities, will be most affected by sea level rise and tsunami events. While the Board supports the upgrade of the Tsunami Warning System, this does not relieve the Council of the need to fund the completion of an evacuation plan, a response plan, and supporting our communities in their preparedness.

2312 - Christian Schipani

[Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

It is of the utmost importance to prioritize climate adaptation earlier than later. Christchurch has a mounting problem: The public media has noted Christchurch City has $3.2Billion worth of infrastructure exposed from coastal hazards at 20cm of sea level rise (expected to occur by 2040-2048 - NZSeaRise Project). This figure is an underestimate of our cities risk for two reasons - (1) it does not factor in other climate-influenced hazards (wildfires, river flooding, etc.), and (2) it only reports the direct cost of infrastructure exposure and does consider the indirect costs that individuals, communities, and businesses will face from the disruptions. This risk will continue (and has been shown) to increase overtime. While the accuracy of final numerical figures are not important, the order of magnitude of our issue is. There is no better time than now: Multiple research and practitioner studies have shown that for disaster risk reduction, climate adaptation, and general resilience investment we save 2-15 dollars for every dollar spent today (Society saves $6 for every dollar spent on climate change resilience, The CSIRO contended: A $1 investment in climate adaptation or disaster risk reduction saves between $2 and $11 in post-disaster recovery and reconstruction., Academic studies find every dollar invested in disaster risk reduction prevention can result in savings of $3 to $15 in disaster losses.) - a 2-15x RoI. The cost of inaction or delay is far too great to ignore, these costs will have to occurred by the city at some point in the future, the longer we wait, the higher the costs and subsequent rates bump. Equally, this work must be progressed to better inform future investments from the Council (e.g., landuse allocation) to ensure future assets are planned for areas that won't incur undue damages from foreseeable risks in future. This will have wider benefit on our city: This is a chance for Christchurch to be a leader of local governments by addressing this front on - giving further reason to attract new residents, businesses, and sectors to call Christchurch home. Bringing this work forward will address the mounting anxiety and build confidence within residents, iwi/Māori, communities, and businesses that the council is (1) taking action, and (2) supporting them to make better decisions on their own. The faster this work is completed, the sooner the amounted resources and evidence can be provided to rate-payers so that climate resilience can be built not just by the council but by communities. As stated above, the problem we face is not going away and will continue to grow over time. Current council processes are inadequate to fund climate resilience & adaptation: Adapting infrastructure and communities to these risks takes time, requires large stakeholder input, must chose from a wide range of possible options, and must be done dynamically (as required by National Policy & Guidance). This means that while we know community X and asset Y require some form of intervention, we often don't know which of the available intervention options should be used (and therefore how much it will cost), and when it will come off the cities balance sheet. For these reasons, it is difficult to provide concrete dates and budgets for adaptation options that is often expected for a three year LTP cycle. Having a dedicated climate resilience fund would support this dynamic approach which subsequently will allow communities, businesses, and the council to make adaptation decisions and investments at the appropriate time. A failure to prioritise and prepare funding now is a direct discrimination of future generations: As mentioned above, we know these challenges are mounting, and will continue to mount - this is our reality. The longer we leave adaptation decisions, the greater the burden we place on the future of our city. This raises concerns of intergenerational inequities - The Council needs to ask itself what burdens and opportunities it is leaving to our children, grandchildren, and great grandchildren. References/Sources: <https://www.searise.nz/maps-2> <https://grist.org/article/society-saves-6-for-every-dollar-spent-on-climate-change-resilience/> https://nema.gov.au/sites/default/files/inline-files/28605%20NEMA%20Second%20Action%20Plan_V10_A_1.pdf <https://www.voanews.com/a/un-report-investing-in-disaster-risk-reduction-saves-lives-money-/6269328.html> <https://environment.govt.nz/publications/coastal-hazards-and-climate-change-guidance/>

I undertook a thesis in fire risk in the port hills (2017) with relation to urban development and land use reinstatement. Climate change is a concrete cost, it's often not an investment but a cost avoidant action, as shown earlier this year with 2024 fires

2327 - Charles Shaw

A climate adaption fund would help mitigate potential problems in smaller communities, including those close to the sea around Banks Peninsula.

2344 - Sarah Elicker (Te Huarahi Linwood Avenue School)

We would like to see climate change resilience and adaption measures ramped up and brought forward.

2345 - Deirdre Cottrell

The sooner climate change issues are addressed the better for future generations. It could also be less expensive overall.

2354 - Chantelle Chalmers

I am particularly enthusiastic about the opportunity to expedite adaptation planning and establish a climate resilience fund.

>>>

Christchurch is facing a major problem that is growing every day. According to the public media, the city's infrastructure, valued at $3.2 billion, is at risk of being exposed to coastal hazards if the sea level rises by 20cm (which is expected to happen by 2040-2048 according to the NZSeaRise Project). However, this estimate is not comprehensive as it doesn't take into account other climate-related hazards like wildfires, river flooding, etc. Additionally, it only accounts for the direct cost of infrastructure exposure, but it doesn't factor in the indirect costs that individuals, communities, and businesses will have to bear due to the disruptions. This risk will continue (and has been shown) to increase overtime. While the accuracy of final numerical figures are not important, the order of magnitude of our issue is. We need to act now!

Multiple research and practitioner studies have shown that for disaster risk reduction, climate adaptation, and general resilience investment we save 2-15 dollars for every dollar spent today (Society saves $6 for every dollar spent on climate change resilience, The CSIRO contended: A $1 investment in climate adaptation or disaster risk reduction saves between $2 and $11 in post-disaster recovery and reconstruction., Academic studies find every dollar invested in disaster risk reduction prevention can result in savings of $3 to $15 in disaster losses.) - a 2-15x RoI.

The cost of inaction or delay is far too great to ignore, these costs will have to occurred by the city at some point in the future, the longer we wait, the higher the costs and subsequent rates bump. Equally, this work must be progressed to better inform future investments from the Council (e.g., landuse allocation) to ensure future assets are planned for areas that won't incur undue damages from foreseeable risks in future. Christchurch has the opportunity to lead other local governments by taking action to address the current situation. This will help attract new residents, businesses, and sectors to call Christchurch their home. By prioritizing this work, the council will help alleviate mounting anxiety and build confidence among residents, iwi/Māori, communities, and businesses. This will demonstrate that the council is taking action and is committed to supporting them to make better decisions on their own.

The faster this work is completed, the sooner the amount of resources and evidence can be provided to rate-payers so that climate resilience can be built not just by the council but by communities. As stated above, the problem we face is not going away and will continue to grow over time. Current council processes are inadequate to fund climate resilience & adaptation - Adapting infrastructure and communities to these risks takes time, requires large stakeholder input, must choose from a wide range of possible options, and must be done dynamically (as required by National Policy & Guidance). This means that while we know community X and asset Y require some form of intervention, we often don't know which of the available intervention options should be used (and therefore how much it will cost), and when it will come off the cities balance sheet. For these reasons, it is difficult to provide concrete dates and budgets for adaptation options that is often expected for a three year LTP cycle. Having a dedicated climate resilience fund would support this dynamic approach which subsequently will allow communities, businesses, and the council to make adaptation decisions and investments at the appropriate time. A failure to prioritise and prepare funding now is a direct discrimination of future generations:

As mentioned above, we know these challenges are mounting, and will continue to mount - this is our reality. The longer we delay making decisions about adapting to changes, the more we are putting the future of our city at risk. This raises concerns about fairness between generations. The Council needs to consider what kind of responsibilities and opportunities it is leaving for our future generations such as our children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren.

2362 - Rosalee Jenkin

I want to see climate adaptation as a high priority for Council.

2380 - Ben Comfort

Keep doing it

>>>

Keep doing stuff for climate change and ease the burden for younger people

2384 - Susan Goodfellow (Central Plains Water Limited)

At its very core, CPWL's provision of reliable irrigation and stock drinking water bolsters the farming community's resilience to the potential effects of climate change. At the same time, the Scheme's infrastructure has the potential to benefit communities in ways that go well beyond the 'on-farm' benefits. For example, the Scheme currently provides 20 connection points to supply water to Fire and Emergency New Zealand for firefighting purposes, and the pipeline has the potential to supply raw water to drinking water treatment plants should an event adversely impact council infrastructure. CPWL has a particular interest in maximizing the value gained for communities from the Scheme's infrastructure (within the constraints of the resource consents held for the Scheme) and advancing community resilience to the effects of climate change and natural disasters such as earthquakes and extreme weather events. CPWL welcomes the comments in CCC's Consultation Document¹ on the need to plan for resilience to climate change and for adapting to climate change. We also acknowledge the challenge of balancing the needs and perceptions of the residents of Christchurch City today while at the same time providing for the future needs of the city. The Consultation Document (page 12) states that CCC is "responding to climate change by working towards targets for reducing emissions and by helping our communities prepare for and adapt to our changing climate". Areas of spend in this regard are identified and options for further investment are discussed. Concerning planning for resilience to a changing climate, CCC states that its preferred option is to focus on adaptation to the effects of climate change (i.e. responding after the impacts of climate change have been felt) rather than funding projects to build resilience and thereby avoid (or minimise) the effects of climate change impacting Christchurch City (and its surrounds). CPWL considers that deferring investment in resilience projects today places the burden on later communities, where escalated adaption (and associated budgets) may then be needed. In CPWL's opinion, such an approach is not sustainable or integrated, and it is inconsistent with the 'community outcomes' and 'strategic priorities' identified on page 15 of the Consultation Draft. The outcome "A green, liveable city" includes 'building climate resilience' and the strategic priority addressing climate change matters includes 'investing in resilience', yet the Consultation Document proposes that there be no budget to support this area of focus in the near term. CPWL supports the alternative option being considered by CCC, that is to create a Climate Resilience Fund by July 2025 (as discussed on page 52 of the Consultation Draft) to accelerate work to ensure that key public infrastructure (such as roads, drinking water, stormwater and wastewater) is resilient to the changing climate and able to achieve the outcomes and priorities identified in the Draft Long Term Plan 2024-2034. CPWL considers that this area of work should include (amongst other matters) planning for unwanted events and working in an integrated manner with surrounding councils to consider how key infrastructure can be used to support communities across the region.

[Full attachment available]

2388 - Guy Tapley

Chch is built on a river delta and will become increasingly vulnerable to sea level rise and flooding. Bringing adaption work and associated expenditure forward is sensible to keep ahead of climate change impacts.

2396 - Sam Jenkins

Climate related spending is going to skyrocket over time, and so having a way to pay for this in advance of needing it is going to be crucial.

240 - Bella Zilber

I think that being better prepared for climate change is a positive. It would be short-sighted to delay this work. Bringing it forward seems like the best option to me.

2432 - Mark Morley

The changes and their consequences are coming and need to be planned for included funding.

2445 - Joseph Davidson-Labout

The fact of the matter is that the cost of a climate fund and climate planning is very little per household per year in terms of rates increases when compared to the benefit of proper preparedness to climate and environmental perturbations considering the exponential nature of the problem.

2457 - Hayden Johnstone

I think that doing any changes now/ creating a fund now is better than leaving it to later (as this is how we got into the problem with three waters by pushing the issues away until it couldn't be ignored anymore). As long as the fund is properly managed.

2461 - Marjorie Manthei

I support the Acceleration Option on p 51 and the Climate Resilience Fund being started asap.

>>>

There really isn't a choice. Climate change is a reality and we absolutely must do whatever we can to limit our contribution to it AND secondly to manage the effects.

2476 - Reuben Scott (Simeon Park Community Group)

Increase the funding and bring it forward as soon as possible.

2482 - Erin Stewart

We start paying for it now, or we'll pay even more later.

2498 - REDACTED REDACTED

I see climate funding as vitally important. We need to be planning for the future of our city and for future generations

25 - Ben Hart

Do it now and early, let's not get caught out. Also doing this early should be cheaper than leaving this to the last minute and be hit by inflation.

2503 - Lin Klenner (New Brighton Community Gardens)

WE need to install passion and compassion into our kids, who will need to deal with a lot climate wise and really make this a priority in everything we do.

2506 - Logan Brunner

Climate change and risk from climate-related events are the largest challenges we face. We need to be addressing these issues as soon as possible, since the climate is already changing rapidly, affecting our cities and the environment. Bring $1.8 million forward A. Christchurch has a mounting problem: The public media has noted Christchurch City has $3.2 billion worth of infrastructure exposed from coastal hazards at 20cm of sea level rise (expected to occur by 2040-2048 - NZSeaRise Project). This figure is an underestimate of our city's risk for two reasons - (1) it does not factor in other climate-influenced hazards (wildfires, river flooding, etc.), and (2) it only reports the direct cost of infrastructure exposure and does consider the indirect costs that individuals, communities, and businesses will face from the disruptions. This risk will continue (and has been shown) to increase over time. While the accuracy of final numerical figures are not important, the order of magnitude of our issue is. B. There is no better time than now: Multiple research and practitioner studies have shown that for disaster risk reduction, climate adaptation, and general resilience investment we save 2-15 dollars for every dollar spent today (Society saves $6 for every dollar spent on climate change resilience, The CSIRO contended: A $1 investment in climate adaptation or disaster risk reduction saves between $2 and $11 in post-disaster recovery and reconstruction., Academic studies find every dollar invested in disaster risk reduction prevention can result in savings of $3 to $15 in disaster losses.) - a 2-15x RoI. The cost of inaction or delay is far too great to ignore, these costs will have to occur by the city at some point in the future, the longer we wait, the higher the costs and subsequent rates bump. Equally, this work must be progressed to better inform future investments from the Council (e.g., landuse allocation) to ensure future assets are planned for areas that won't incur undue damages from foreseeable risks in the future. C. This will have a wider benefit on our city: This is a chance for Christchurch to be a leader of local governments by addressing this front on - giving further reason to attract new residents, businesses, and sectors to call Christchurch home. Bringing this work forward will address the mounting anxiety and build confidence within residents, iwi/Māori, communities, and businesses that the council is (1) taking action, and (2) supporting them to make better decisions on their own. The faster this work is completed, the sooner the amounted resources and evidence can be provided to rate-payers so that climate resilience can be built not just by the council but by communities. Climate Adaptation Fund: A. As stated above, the problem we face is not going away and will continue to grow over time. B. Current council processes are inadequate to fund climate resilience & adaptation: Adapting infrastructure and communities to these risks takes time, requires large stakeholder input, must choose from a wide range of possible options, and must be done dynamically (as required by National Policy & Guidance). This means that while we know community X and asset Y require some form of intervention, we often don't know which of the available intervention options should be used (and therefore how much it will cost), and when it will come off the city's balance sheet. For these reasons, it is difficult to provide concrete dates and budgets for adaptation options that is often expected for a three-year LTP cycle. Having a dedicated climate resilience fund would support this dynamic approach which subsequently will allow communities, businesses, and the council to make adaptation decisions and investments at the appropriate time. C. A failure to prioritise and prepare funding now is a direct discrimination of future generations: As mentioned above, we know these challenges are mounting, and will continue to mount - this is our reality. The longer we leave adaptation decisions, the greater the burden we place on the future of our city. This raises concerns of intergenerational inequities - The Council needs to ask itself what burdens and opportunities it is leaving to our children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren. References/Sources: <https://www.searise.nz/maps-2> <https://grist.org/article/society-saves-6-for-every-dollar-spent-on-climate-change-resilience/> https://nema.gov.au/sites/default/files/inline-files/28605%20NEMA%20Second%20Action%20Plan_V10_A_1.pdf <https://www.voanews.com/a/un-report-investing-in-disaster-risk-reduction-saves-lives-money-/6269328.html> <https://environment.govt.nz/publications/coastal-hazards-and-climate-change-guidance/>

2508 - Oliver Hutchison

Climate change mitigation and adaptation should be at the heart of everything that Council do. This is extremely high priority. We must have plans and funding in place to both mitigate our emissions and put in place adaptation.

2516 - Robin Palmer

might pay to set something aside for dealing with unpredictable events

2519 - Charlotte Withington

If a significant event happens it will affect more than just the small areas we're trying to protect .

2520 - Graeme Fraser (Diamond Harbour Community Association)

[Spending>Te Kaha]

I would rather spend 5% on these funds than on Te Kaha.

>>>

We welcome the above funds and urge that funding to address coastal adaptation be accelerated, so that costs are not greater if delayed.

2540 - Jocelyn and Caroline Papprell and Syddall

We feel however, that there needs to be more emphasis on long-term planning particularly with regard to climate change mitigation and preparedness. Spend now to prepare for likely impacts and that means reducing our reliance on fossil fuel transport & energy, and increasing the planted green-spaces in our city.

2544 - John Bannock (Governors Bay Community Association)

Large parts of the city will experience significant change as a result of the changing climate. There is a need for both mitigation and adaptation. Yes to bringing forward adaptation planning, and a climate resilience fund to protect and enhance infrastructure to respond to risk.

2550 - Jacinta O'Reilly

Adaptation now rather than later is cheaper

2552 - Katie Coluccio

In general, this spending should not be delayed. It will only cost more in the long term.

2554 - Paul Schwalger

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?]

For the most part, although I don't think we can look to defer work within the adaptation planning and climate resilience space for later.

2557 - Malcolm Warren

Do it, as this will benefit the majority of ratepayers and the future wellbeing of our region.

2558 - Mike Norris (Akaroa Civic Trust)

Support more investment in adapting to climate change The Civic Trust supports council's initiatives to plan for and mitigate the worst effects of climate change, while noting the particular vulnerability of Banks Peninsula communities to its inevitable effects. Inundation caused by sea level rise will affect roading and communications infrastructure, wastewater and stormwater; a warming climate will bring greater fire risk and more volatile storms, endangering both private and public property. Impacts will be significant – loss of communication and connection, economic (adverse effects on tourism and the businesses reliant upon it) and loss of/damage to private property. We note under the Levels of Service statement for Strategic Planning that Council intends to establish Coastal Panels to work with communities in low lying coastal areas to develop adaptation strategies. We are interested in this initiative and would welcome the involvement of the Akaroa Civic Trust in this process.

2570 - Marie Gray

I also support the proposed Adaptation Fund to build up funds over time so that we are not putting all the costs of adaptation onto our children.

2574 - Matthew Pont

We spend some money now, or significantly more later. You declared a climate emergency, live up to it and act now for future generations

2579 - Simone Hindin

If we don't start putting money in now we're going to be in a worse position later on.

2585 - Susan Macann

Get on with it. It's not going away.

2610 - Keith Harris (Akaroa District Promotions (ADP))

We support submissions and philosophies forwarded by the Banks Peninsula Community Board on climate change and regenerative practices.

2650 - Alexander Amies

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Public Transport]

Continue to adapt to climate change, and to reduce our carbon footprint (working with ECan to improve our bus services)

2658 - Finn Jackson (Summit Road Society)

[Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

In addition, we emphasise the importance of adaptation planning for the effects of climate change on the Port Hills, particularly in relation to the increased risk of wildfires. As the 2017 and recent February 2024 Port Hills Fires show, this is a real and present threat which is set to worsen. The Canterbury Climate Change Risk Assessment (2022) specifically identifies the Port Hills as an area where fire weather will increase over the coming decades. While sea level rise and coastal adaptation planning is important and we support its proposed acceleration, adaptation to land-based hazards like fire is equally important. We support the proposed climate change adaptation levy. We also request that the Council allocate funding to a recovery plan for the February 2024 fire, and investigate establishing an adaptation process for climate exacerbated hazards like fire on the Port Hills.

[Full attachment available]

2664 - Peter Galbraith

This must be a high priority for the council. Even if there is success in limiting global warming to 1.5 - 2 degrees, there will be negative externalities, (e.g. more extreme weather (as seen in Dubai just this week), higher sea levels) that need to be addressed. Council must have plans and funding in place to both mitigate our emissions and work on adaptation.

2672 - Ian Flatley

Start preparing for climate change effects now - stop kicking the can down the road.

2695 - Dave Gardner

Investing in the future for ourselves and our children is a good idea. Investing now will also help save lots of money in the future. Focus on footpaths, shared paths, cycleways, busways, as they are cheaper to maintain than roads, and help fight climate change

2697 - Laura Molles

I strongly believe we should be investing more in climate adaptation now rather than later. The magnitude of this challenge is only going to increase, and the later we wait to make decisions and act on them, the more dramatic and costly our responses will need to be.

2741 - Kevin Pluck

Seeing the erosion of the coast line along the estuary edge walk around the Avon Heathcote estuary makes it clear that climate change resilience must be a focus of the council. I have witnessed directly the disturbingly high waters of the most recent king tide which are expected to increase 20cm in the next 20 years according to the NZSeaRise Project. That height will overtop the current shoreline even without any flooding of the Avon and Heathcote.

1. Do you think we should bring forward to 2024/25 the additional $1.8 million spend currently proposed to commence in 2027/28, to accelerate our grasp of the climate risks? a. Christchurch has a mounting problem: The public media has noted Christchurch City has $3.2Billion worth of infrastructure exposed from coastal hazards at 20cm of sea level rise (expected to occur by 2040-2048 - NZSeaRise Project). This figure is an underestimate of our cities risk for two reasons - (1) it does not factor in other climate-influenced hazards (wildfires, river flooding, etc.), and (2) it only reports the direct cost of infrastructure exposure and does not consider the indirect costs that individuals, communities, and businesses will face from the disruptions. This risk will continue (and has been shown) to increase overtime. While the accuracy of final numerical figures are not important, the order of magnitude of our issue is. b. There is no better time than now: Multiple research and practitioner studies have shown that for disaster risk reduction, climate adaptation, and general resilience investment we save 2-15 dollars for every dollar spent today (Society saves $6 for every dollar spent on climate change resilience, The CSIRO contended: A $1 investment in climate adaptation or disaster risk reduction saves between $2 and $11 in post-disaster recovery and reconstruction., Academic studies find every dollar invested in disaster risk reduction prevention can result in savings of $3 to $15 in disaster losses. References below.) - a 2-15x RoI. The cost of inaction or delay is far too great to ignore, these costs will have to be incurred by the city at some point in the future, the longer we wait, the higher the costs and subsequent rates bump. Equally, this work must be progressed to better inform future investments from the Council (e.g., land use allocation) to ensure future assets are planned for areas that won't incur undue damages from foreseeable risks in future. c. This will have wider benefit on our city: This is a chance for Christchurch to be a leader of local governments by addressing this front on - giving further reason to attract new residents, businesses, and sectors to call Christchurch home. Bringing this work forward will address the mounting anxiety and build confidence within residents, iwi/Māori, communities, and businesses that the council is (1) taking action, and (2) supporting them to make better decisions on their own. The faster this work is completed, the sooner the amount of resources and evidence can be provided to rate-payers so that climate resilience can be built not just by the council but by communities.

2. Should we create a climate adaptation fund to set aside funds now to manage future necessary changes to Council assets, including roads, water systems, and buildings, in alignment with our adaptation plans? a. As stated above, the problem we face is not going away and will continue to grow over time. b. Current council processes are inadequate to fund climate resilience & adaptation: Adapting infrastructure and communities to these risks takes time, requires large stakeholder input, must be chosen from a wide range of possible options, and must be done dynamically (as required by National Policy & Guidance). This means that while we know community X and asset Y require some form of intervention, we often don't know which of the available intervention options should be used (and therefore how much it will cost), and when it will come off the city's balance sheet. For these reasons, it is difficult to provide concrete dates and budgets for adaptation options that is often expected for a three year LTP cycle. Having a dedicated climate resilience fund would support this dynamic approach which subsequently will allow communities, businesses, and the council to make adaptation decisions and investments at the appropriate time. c. A failure to prioritise and prepare funding now is a direct discrimination of future generations: As mentioned above, we know these challenges are mounting, and will continue to mount - this is our reality. The longer we leave adaptation decisions, the greater the burden we place on the future of our city. This raises concerns of intergenerational inequities - The Council needs to ask itself what burdens and opportunities it is leaving to our children, grandchildren, and great grandchildren. d. As mention earlier we are already seeing the direct impacts of insidious sea level rise with the erosion of the shoreline around the Avon Heathcote Estuary. New Brighton is particularly exposed to these effects being nothing more than a sand spit on the edge of the Pacific Ocean. A climate adaption fund is needed now to enable New Brighton families to either adapt their surroundings or relocate to somewhere less exposed. References/Sources:

<https://www.searise.nz/maps-2> <https://grist.org/article/society-saves-6-for-every-dollar-spent-on-climate-change-resilience/> https://nema.gov.au/sites/default/files/inline-files/28605%20NEMA%20Second%20Action%20Plan_V10_A_1.pdf <https://www.voanews.com/a/un-report-investing-in-disaster-risk-reduction-saves-lives-money-/6269328.html> <https://environment.govt.nz/publications/coastal-hazards-and-climate-change-guidance/>

2742 - Caroline Dagger

It is prudent to be considering adaptations now.

2746 - Helen Taylor

Doing the work now has to be better than waiting for when it might be too late.

2751 - Helen Holyoak

Prioritise spend on carbon emissions redcuton now should be priority over making infrastructure resilient. I dont think the we can reliably predict where money is truly best spent, and there is merit in building a cash reserve to deal with what happens as it happens so the outcome is reflective of society and needs at the time.

>>>

Spend on carbon emissions reduction now should be priority over making infrastructure resilient. I dont think the we can reliably predict where money is truly best spent in the future as society is changing and evolving in ways we just can't really foresee. There is merit in building a cash reserve to deal with what happens as it happens so the outcome is reflective of society and needs at the time.

2756 - Stephanie Defregger

Climate change is real. We need to act now.

2758 - Christopher Seay

This is an important priority for council and must be funded. Climate change is real and happening, and we must be ready for it's effects, even as we do as much as possible to limit it.

2761 - Annette and Michael Hamblett

>>> We support >>> boosting community preparedness to 2024-25 with the extra 20c/week it will cost. >>> I support establishing a Climate Resilience Fund that would begin to set aside money now for the extra it would cost me per week - we should have started it much earlier.

>>>

We support accelerating spending on climate change adaption

>>>

We are in a climate emergency. We should have been investing in this much earlier. We should not be delaying it. We are happy to pay more in rates to achieve this. The costs will be far greater if we delay action.

>>>

We support accelerating the Coastal Adaptation Planning Programme

277 - Jane Harrison

I think if we leave it too late we won't be able to pay for it. I believe everyone should contribute to this as we have all contributed to climate change over the years. However, I would like to see high emissions businesses pay more due to the ongoing impact they have on making the situation worse. High water users pay more, so why shouldn't high emitters?

2777 - Jennifer Hamilton

Should we establish a specific Climate Resilience Fund, to help manage the future impact of climate-related hazards on Council assets? Yes

278 - Robin Curry

Create the climate resilience fund, in line with councils acknowledged climate change.

>>>

See above and previous comments regarding searise.. I believe, like insurance, a little saving now will help in the future.

Yes, Council should bring forward funding for adaptation planning to boost it in 2024/25 year.

We as a Coastal Panel have been fortunate to have been involved in the first of these Panels so we now have an in-depth understanding of the depth and breadth of the impact that climate change will have on the City and Banks Peninsula. If the City does not accelerate the programme by funding another panel starting next year, then sea level rise could be having a significant effect on parts of the city before the programme is completed.

A review of the way the Lyttelton Harbour panel has worked could streamline the process and make savings in time and money so the programme could move faster but with the needed accelerated funds.

- We are supporting a proposal to accelerate funding for adaptation efforts –
Bringing forward funding to enable the CHAP to be accelerated.
 - this option is provided on page 51;
 - a small rate increase
 - bring forward coastal adaptation planning engagement with the communities affected
 - these are difficult discussions and the sooner we can start discussing this with affected communities, the better
 - The problems are not going to go away, and we need to start preparing now

Yes to creating a climate resilience fund –

The funding should start once the report from the Whakaraupo/ Lyttelton Coastal panel has been presented and then a communications strategy around the need to help manage future impacts which our generation have influenced.

We have considered the Council's proposed option which is to fund the climate change costs as part of the capital programme. For us this in brushing the needed extra funding under the carpet – we need to face up to reality and plan to fund this soon or the increase in the capital programme will be unsustainable.

1

We recommend that funding be broader than capital funding and that operational funding also needed to be directed and applied to more ecological restoration for wetlands and hills to prevent erosion, improve biodiversity at the same time as sucking carbon and to manage flooding.

- The cost of an extra 16c a week
- The Resilience Fun is innovative and may be the first one/only one led by a Council in the country.
- The Fund is pragmatic to plan and start a fund now for paying for costs that will incur later, rather than transferring the costs on to the next generation.

2787 - Jean Drage

[Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

And these core services must prioritise work on adapting to significant climate changes alongside a climate resilience fund for dealing with major events and changes that will eventually include managed retreat. It is positive to see this emphasised in the current long term plan.

2799 - Dot Lovell-Smith

I am prepared to pay a higher rate if there is an increase in work done to mitigate climate change. Fixing damage caused by climate change is already costing the community

>>>

I agree with option 3. but only if the accelerated work brings Christchurch closer to a being carbon neutral city

>>>

All ratepayers could contribute a small amount, $1 a week perhaps, as an insurance policy

2807 - David Close (Christchurch East Labour Electorate Committee)

Option to accelerate adaptation planning

We consider that the current provision of $1.8 million in the first three years is sufficient.

We applaud the thought behind this proposal because it points to the need to take action on the climate crisis without delay. However, we do not support creating a fund for the future. The best way to make the city financially resilient to cope with the climate crisis is to avoid taking on more debt than is strictly necessary. If the current Council manages its debt level down, it will assist a future Council to cope with what climate change brings.

2808 - Kate Whyte

Creating a Climate Resilience Fund. Again, we need to be investing now to meet the future costs. It cant all be left to the next generation.

>>>

In addition, I support:

1. The Council accelerating Adaption Planning. We must start investing now or the costs will only increase. It is not socially equitable to put this off potentially leaving the future increased costs to our children.

2817 - Emma Twaddell (St Albans Residents' Association)

We support a Climate Resilience Fund. Twe believe this money needs to be increased and the CCC policy needs to be clearer. Overall: no, we do not believe your balance is right as it does not focus on reducing emissions enough. There is a certain amount of focus on climate change mitigation, adaptation and resilience, and we do want that to increase. But it was difficult to find much focus reducing emissions

2827 - Carley Dove-McFalls (Generation Zero Ōtautahi)

We support the fund but also support greater action now that takes into account the four R's of climate justice (acknowledging root causes of climate change, reparation, recognition and representation and rights and responsibilities) The council are not addressing climate change at a systemic level, and therefore adaption without mitigation is just an ambulance at the bottom of the cliff. Generation Zero believes that a portion of the climate resilience fund should go to mitigation and another portion to adaption. Adaption measures that are funded should go towards our most marginalised communities. CCC could consider: - easy to build climate mitigation projects like active/public transport; - as well as dual climate adaptation/resilience projects like speeding up CCC's urban forest plan, which would allow for more trees to be planted to reduce carbon emissions and the urban heat island effect.

2831 - Sebastian Denize

Climate change is real, and vastly under planned for. The council needs to address it at all levels now, with urgency. All delays will lead to great future costs.

2832 - Riley Neupauer (University of Canterbury Green Party)

[Three waters > Stormwater & Land Drainage (capital), Other/Special interest topics > Creating a climate fund, Strategic Direction > Climate change]

The stormwater system is not ready for the climate crisis, and things must change urgently to prevent Christchurch from having an Auckland Anniversary Flood. More money must be invested in stormwater systems immediately. As much money as possible must be invested, because the "criticality" approach in the current LTP is not good enough to build resilience. However, new pipes can't fix the problem — which is an under-equipped stormwater system. Pipes can only carry so much water, which means in a serious weather event they aren't going to be able to carry all of the water. Instead, CCC should start creating tree pits and rain gardens right now, and continue to fund this for the remaining 10 years in the plan. One significant strain on the stormwater system is how much of the city's surface is hard roads. Because roads, and especially roads for cars, have to be harder than nearly any other city surface (to take the weight of cars), car dependence in this city causes even more strain on the stormwater system. Therefore, to reduce strain on the stormwater system, the amount of road surface should be reduced. This can be done by "greening" the city (such as by expanding grass verges), by using more permeable surfaces not suitable for cars (such as brick or semi-grassed paving, appropriate for pedestrians and cyclists), and by ensuring that no road is wider than it has to be.

These investments would unquestionably be a step in the right direction for Christchurch, a city that is currently ill-equipped to handle the ramifications of a rapidly worsening climate. The required rates increase is marginal, and completely justified by the need for environmental protections. To reject this opportunity for improvement would be utterly neglectful. The UC Greens advise the Council to allocate this investment towards climate resilience, instead of gambling on our future and sitting by idly. Even according to the Council's own calculations (refer to the coastal hazards portal), the residents and properties of Christchurch are already being jeopardised by the byproducts of climate change. Among other symptoms, this can take the form of coastal erosion, rising groundwater, and flooding, processes that are going to become exponentially exacerbated in the near future. This environmental deterioration poses a significant threat to our more coastal neighbourhoods, namely the vulnerable suburb of New Brighton. There are several geographical factors contributing to New Brighton's concerning predicament: close proximity to both the shoreline and the Avon River, in addition to the narrow structure of the peninsula, make the suburb particularly liable to suffer environmental damage. Given the risky nature of the location, the consequences of which will become increasingly severe, greater investment in climate protections is imperative, much more so than any commercial spending. Even the most optimistic projections expect that New Brighton properties will be repeatedly compromised by the rising sea level. Instead of ignoring this moral hazard, the CCC should begin planning a managed retreat from the region. This move is financially beneficial in the long run, as the New Brighton economy is already destitute, and has been on the decline for decades. With the safety of residents in mind, the majority of investment in the town should be aimed at mitigating the impacts of climate change.

2833 - Robbie Peacocke

It's happening whether we like it or not, and we're a low-lying swampy city. It will be more expensive in 1-2 generations if we don't invest now. Extreme events like Cyclone Gabrielle will only increase in frequency and intensity.

2834 - Geoff & Liz Carter

We need to address the immediate impacts of climate change like sea level rise. Building cycleways in Christchurch is going to have a miniscule affect on climate change throughout the world. Lets get on with dealing what we face now. This is particularly important for the Peninsula.

2836 - Jillian Frater

We need continued and increased investment in>>> climate adaptation and mitigation.

>>>

There should also be more work on climate mitigation and adaptation

>>>

So far, the Council has been undertaking climate adaptation work in relation to Whakaraupo and Koukourarata. The next steps will be to extend this to the remainder of the coastal area of Christchurch. If the existing programme is rolled out in its current form to the rest of Christchurch, this will take far too long. Consequently, more funding needs to be provided to ensure this work is completed sooner.

2842 - Ants Field

[Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)] [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

PLEASE create a Climate Resilience Fund to reduce the financial impact of climate change on future generations by establishing a Climate Resilience Fund now. The fund should be ringfenced to support actions originating from adaptation plans (described above). Actions which the fund should be used for include include things like: moving or raising lifeline roads (vital roads for communities) protecting or relocating our drinking water, stormwater and wastewater infrastructure, and ensuring our community facilities exposed to climate hazards are more resilient. >>>

>>>

[Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)] [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

Climate change is a HUGE issue. I have studied Climate change at Canterbury University, sadly I see most people don't have a deep understanding of it and often rely on rumour and opinion. Please CCC, please plan and mitigate as much as possible and as fast as possible.

>>>

We are in a Climate Emergency. Please do as much as possible to reduce emissions in all areas of CCC operations.

2844 - Albert Nisbet

Prioritise urgent climate change adaption. Reducing car use could feed into this.

2845 - Erin Todd

This is essential and needed immediately. Council must have plans with funding in place to lower carbon emmissions in the city.

>>>

[Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]

Any adjustments to rates must prioritise continued investment in vital areas such >>> climate mitigation and adaptation projects. These investments are imperative for safeguarding the well-being of future generations, and any deviation from this path risks exacerbating long-term challenges. Local governments need to stop deferring or discontinuing projects to accommodate rate cuts and instead prioritise the sustainable development and resilience of their communities.

2861 - Laila Jansone

I support expenditure to prepare for climate change

2866 - Samantha Cook

Let's not leave the climate debt all to future generations. It's great that there's an option to consider a Fund now. Thank you!

2868 - Jonty Coulson

In the climate crisis it is vital that governing bodies continue to invest in climate mitigation and adaptation. This funding must come from somewhere.

>>>

[Rates > Residential Rates], [Rates > City Vacant Differential], [Fees & Charges > Car Parking (Parks)], [Other Special Interest Topics > Creating a Climate Change Fund], [Three Waters > Storm Water & Land Drainage]

The increased funding through rates, climate conscious CVD plans and parking charges will be able to appropriately fund climate mitigation and resilience - including the stormwater activity plan, in which not enough funding has been provided for basic mitigation projects.

>>>

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

The cutting of numerous climate emergency response fund projects is counter to the council's goal of safeguarding its residents. As a result the cycle connections along Aldwins road, Cashmere road and Simeon street all need to be reinstated.

>>>

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Creating a Climate Fund], [Parks > Biodiversity & Ecological Restoration], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Strategic Transport], [Fees & Charges > Car Parking (Parks)]

It is vital for the city council to understand that spending money now means saving money in the future. As a result cost reductions cannot come from cuts to climate change, biodiversity or active transport programs. All of these will have positive returns in the long term. The council should instead extract value from existing assets such as the parking charges to botanic gardens and Hagley park mentioned earlier.

>>>

[Fees & Charges > Car Parking (Parks)]

Introducing parking charges is a powerful way to encourage a mode shift, as people will realize the value of biking and public transport. As a result, I support the proposed parking charges at the Botanic Gardens and Hagley park. Increased revenue generated can be spent on other climate positive projects.

2869 - Josiah O'Neill

[Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)], [Three Waters > Three Waters (Operations)]

I would like to reiterate my future investment, in particular to areas of public transport and bike infrastructure. 3 Water, climate change, and the Community.

>>>

Investing now to mitigate and stop the effects of Climate change is extremely important.

287 - Judy Yarwood

[Grants and Funding > Events Ecosystem Funding]

I support more for Climate change but balanced funding for major events

2899 - Victoria Nebbeling

These climate change initiatives are 100% needed for the safety of our communities and future generations! Why are these sitting outside as an additional cost to the current draft plan? They should be embedded in it as the backbone to the councils thinking and decision making.

2919 - Hayley Guglietta (Avon Ōtākaro Network INC)

Ōtautahi Christchurch Climate Resilience Strategy

We support a climate adaptation fund that aligns with this strategy.

>>>

Community Outcomes and Strategic Priorities

We support bringing forward the additional $1.8 million spent on assessing climate risks and accelerating a plan as it will save in the long run and boost our communities' preparedness and resilience.

2922 - Zak Morrison

Based on the information provided in the Draft Long Term Plan 2024-2034, establishing a Climate Resilience Fund is proposed as an option to address the future impact of climate-related hazards on Council assets, including roads, water systems, and buildings. This fund would be ring-fenced to support actions originating from adaptation plans, covering necessary changes to the capital programme in response to climate change. The early investment in this fund would result in a rates increase of 0.25% per annum over the LTP period, potentially amassing as much as $127 million if started in year two of the LTP. Given the significant and increasing impacts of climate change, such as more frequent extreme weather events and rising sea levels, it is imperative for the Christchurch City Council to prioritize the establishment of a Climate Resilience Fund. This fund would enable the Council to proactively manage the necessary changes to its assets to enhance resilience against climate hazards. The establishment of this fund aligns with the Council's commitment to mitigating emissions and adapting to the impacts of climate change, ensuring that Christchurch remains a sustainable and resilient city for future generations. The proposed Climate Resilience Fund would support actions that include moving or raising lifeline roads, protecting or relocating critical water infrastructure, and ensuring community facilities exposed to climate hazards are more resilient. These actions are essential for safeguarding the city's infrastructure and communities from the adverse effects of climate change. By setting aside funds now, the Council can reduce the financial impact on future generations and ensure that Christchurch is better prepared to face climate-related challenges. In conclusion, the creation of a Climate Resilience Fund is a prudent and necessary step for the Christchurch City Council. It demonstrates a forward-thinking approach to climate resilience, ensuring that the city is prepared to address the inevitable challenges posed by climate change. This initiative will require careful planning, management, and governance, but it is a critical investment in the city's future sustainability and resilience.

2923 - Amanda Peter

key really - >>> and adapting for climate change

>>>

what the quakes taught us was you have to be prepared and need a lot of resources, especially experiencing fast growth.

293 - Monique van Veen

Overall yes but I'm concerned about the lack of allocation towards a Climate Resilience Fund and very minimal spending allocated for climate adaptation. Given this is a long term plan, I'd like to see the emphasis on the 'long, long term' come through more - we're a city with a growing population and one where many people come to have and raise children. I'd like to think we are planning and safe guarding for our tamariki to have a future here, not just for the next few years.

>>>

I strongly support the implementation of a climate adaptation fund. If we are serious about the 'long, long term' planning for our city and its future residents then we need to get this started urgently.

>>>

My request would be to seriously consider the slightly higher proposed rates so that we are planning for the longer term 'bigger picture' proposals to secure our community against increasing climate threats. Climate adaptation planning, and an associated Climate Resilience fund to implement adaptation projects, is vital to protecting future generations in our city. It's fantastic to have flourishing events and conferences in the shorter term (5+ years), but these do not serve us if we can't also begin to plan (and save) for longer term climate adaptation needs as our city grows and ages.

2993 - Nikki Staskiewicz

We also support the continued funding of the Sustainability Fund, as it seems to have dropped off the plan entirely after this year. Both of these funds have huge impacts in our amazing network of community gardens, especially addressing climate change/climate resilience objectives and the cost of living crisis, but working to create a strong and united Ōtautahi Christchurch, as we head into an uncertain future.

>>>

Climate change is happening. Budget for it or be left behind.

302 - Bronwyn Roberts

Need to be more proactive on climate change

>>>

It seems lack of investment in the past has helped to create some of the problems we now have we cannot keep expecting future generations to pay for our mistakes

3022 - Brian Craig

I think it is wise to mitigate inevitable climate change as much as we can afford.

3023 - Carolyn Brown

Yes, stop pretending it isn't something we have to be worried about in the next 10 years.

3031 - Lee Osborn

Spend on prevention rather than damage repair down the track.

3042 - Elvira Cheng

[Strategic Direction>Additional Savings and Efficiencies]

Climate change adaption, increase city's resilience

3077 - Mike Davidson

Anyone who believes in climate change should support both the bringing forward of funding to accelerate adaptation planning with communities and a climate fund to help us adapt in the near future. We are a low-lying coastal city with a lot of communities who are at risk of sea level rise and coastal hazards, we do not have the time to do this one community at a time. Any Councillor who wants to debate climate change this is simply devoid of reality. The cost of adaptation on future generations should not be 100% borne by them - they did not cause this problem. Build up a climate fund (invested in a green fund), ensure it is ring-fenced to be only spent on future adaptation projects. Have a super majority to change any spending criteria

312 - Shane Binder

Some financial pain now will save substantially greater financial pain in the future. Climate adaptation will take very challenging conversations with some residents (as well as market-imposed changes such as insurance and rebuild costs) and this will take a long time. Best to start early.

313 - Isabell Booth

We really don't have the luxury of ADAPTATION to climate change. ACTION now is more urgent because climate change is here already. GET RID OF WATER SUCKING LAWNS & BERMS.

3136 - John Hynes

Adapting to climate change is important,

3169 - Barbara Brown

Everything that the rates pay for should be viewed through the lens of adapting to or mitigating climate change. The Council should also be trying more urgently to be carbon neutral. If the Council has declared that there is a climate emergency, what do we have in place to measure the effectiveness of our actions?

3174 - Gary Morrison

We need to recognize that climate change will be expensive and we have to plan. The sooner we start the more we can spread out costs.

3185 - Brian Darlow

Steps to mitigate and respond to climate change must be a priority

3209 - Anouk Minnaar

I urge the council to make this a high priority. Council must have plans and funding in place to both mitigate our emissions and work on adaptation so that negative externalities can be addressed.

3217 - Abdirahman Abdi

I'm happy that there is a plan for climate adaptation. I would like to hear what this work planned for 2027/2208 will look like.

324 - Richard Wesley

We need to do more to reduce our carbon footprint, but the biggest area of impact is within the transport area, its not just more money, but where the money is spent.

3250 - Hannah Murdoch

I am 30 years old. Older generations should be contributing to this fund now, to help us in the future, for services they've been using.

326 - Greg Dodds

It can't be ignored, and postponement is risk – climate changes are speeding up, happening more quickly than predicted.

3261 - Helena Campbell

Do things sooner before they are more costly later

3291 - Jess Kikstra

[Transport > Cycling]

[Three Waters > Waste Water]

[Parks >Parks Spending (General)]

[Recreation, Sports & Events > Rec & Sport (operations)]

[Libraries > Capital]

Capital program: Yes, particularly supportive of spending on cycling and active transport. I would also support behavior change programmes and consideration of incentives to encourage more people to bike. Supportive of improvements to waste treatment, parks and foreshore, recreation, libraries, and adapting to climate change.

3317 - Nik Kneale

I don't know why we're asking these questions. We have to invest if we want our kids to have a viable place to live.

3319 - Ryan Moore

Yes this is a great idea, we need to invest in as much as we can get away with as soon as possible.

3325 - Adele Geradts

Climate change is happening right now, and we need to adapt and prepare now because ten years from now, we will be in real trouble without funds and plans in place for the next ten or twenty years.

3341 - Maria Bartlett

The top two are right, necessary and unavoidable I would support the addition of a Climate Change Resilience Fund which should be a priority because pressures will only increase

[coders note. I believe "top two" is referring to operational and capital expenditure.]

>>>

[Three Waters], [Transport > Roads (Capital)], [Spending > Te Kaha]

Should be a priority - never going to get cheaper to address

3355 - Laura Coleman

The younger generation would choose this option, so we must make this choice to invest.

3372 - Jenny Bond (Te Tuna Tāone)

If the earthquakes have taught us anything it is that we need to be prepared for more 'red zoning'. We should not be leaving future generations to pay for the issues that we have created. The rate of change of climate indicators demonstrate that we must adopt a proactive posture.

3392 - Stephen Wood

I had a career as a scientist in a climate related area, so I'm aware that we've been talking about climate change for about 30 years longer than our politicians have. Kicking the can down the road for a few more years on this is not reasonable.

3411 - Marian Krogh (Protect Our Winters NZ)

Additionally, there is not adequate funding for managed retreat. With so many low-lying areas around greater Christchurch, there needs to be investment in retreat now, rather than a greater price being paid by future generations

>>>

This is absolutely essential. Even if we start reducing emissions rapidly and immediately there will still continue to be warming, extreme weather, and sea level rise. Council must have plans and funding in place to both mitigate our emissions and work on adaptation.

3412 - Alicia Harbison-Price

This seems like a cautious and prudent idea. We've seen how the earthquake has had a significant impact on the city for over a decade. We need to prepare ourselves and have funds available to be able to adapt or recover quickly when climate change impacts us.

3414 - Chrissie Williams

Adapting to Climate Change is highly supported by the community. The Coastal Adaptation Planning Programme is best practice, and an exemplar for the rest of Aotearoa. Accelerating the programme will ensure the actions that come from the process can be embedded in the District Plan which is urgent.

3415 - Allan Taunt

Climate change is inevitable. It is sound financial sense to put aside money to address the effects from this. We know the effects from climate change will be serious, we must be prepared. We must consider the effects of climate change in every decision we make.

3417 - Jack McConnell

Our youth will need to tighten our belts and change our habits going forward, sacrificing many creature comforts. It is only fair that those who benefited most from the pre-crisis should pay forward to alleviate the pressures on youth.

3423 - James Upton

In terms of urgency and importance, the proposal to invest in adapting to climate change is important, but needs to get underway now.

3430 - Philippa Upton

Yes this is very important and needs to be prioritised but there is a lot of work to be done to integrate effective mitigation into all aspects of urban planning and development. The proposed projects do not adequately address the problems we expect to face. The Council also needs to show it is serious about putting in place policies that help reduce the factors that cause climate change.

3435 - Alex Cornford

The council should take a pragmatic financial approach to global warming. The science and economics shows it's far cheaper to spend more now : reducing floods, droughts and sea level rise.

3436 - Sara Campbell

It is cheaper to spend on climate mitigation and adaptation now as it will be in the future. Over the years we have underinvested in infrastructure, it is time we addressed this deficit, it is not fair to burden our children with our underinvestment.

>>>

Climate mitigation and adaption needs to be given the highest priority

3466 - Mark Stapleton

Am in favour as it is a very important priority..

3479 - Rhys Glenjarman

This is a good start. However climate change has defied even the best statistical models, and remains unpredictable and is accelerating faster than many councils are adapting. This may need to be increased before 2034 to ensure health of citizens, such as shut down periods for labourers past a certain degree Celsius, which may need some financial assistance in the early days to ensure construction and other such businesses remain viable during the adaptation period.

348 - Christiana Raphael

On the last item - yes, accelerate funding but that should not include major events. We need to reduce our carbon footprint not increase it.

3482 - Col Pearson

I think we should be planning and putting resources aside to help adapt to climate change which is likely to be a huge issue for the city in the not distant future. Much better to be thinking about it ahead of time in an orderly manner than to have to play catch-up later.

3484 - Prue Stringer

Climate Change adaptation is going to be crucial, given how we have failed to sufficiently mitigate its effects. Climate Change effects are here already. Spend now!

3490 - Peter Minten

Climate change will cause sea levels to rise. There is nothing in your current LTP how CCC will deal with that. At a certain time the Pacific Ocean is banging on the doors at properties in New Brighton and Sumner and also council assets like roads need to be protected.

3497 - Cerys Fletcher

We also need to begin planning for adaptation to non-coastal climate hazards like extreme heat, stronger storms, river flooding and fire risk. Investigations should be made into the use of permeable surfaces and adoption of sponge-city principles across the city - somewhere like the Parakiore car park, for example, would have been an impactful place to trial this as it is such a large stretch of non permeable concrete which will not help mitigate flooding risks during the heavy rainfall we can expect with climate change.

>>>

This must be high priority for council.

3498 - Lucas Tomasi

It will be expensive to adapt our infrastructure now to be better resilient to the effects of climate change but it will be a lot more expensive to try fix it all later, we need to invest and develop now to ensure the safety of our city in natural disasters as result of climate change

350 - Chris Hoopmann

Focus on measures to reduce emissions, build resiliency in communities and reduce climate footprint now, instead of only focusing on preparedness for potential future climate related disasters.

3500 - James Wallis

We need to improve on this and prepare now for change

3501 - Malcolm Long (Ōpāwaho Heathcote River Network)

We believe that there is greater priority for funding in environmental areas. The current proposal is more than sufficient and could even be reduced to enable funding for other areas.

It is ideas such as this that are required to make adaptation preparations possible. We should not be leaving future generations to pay for the issues that we have created. The rate of change of climate indicators demonstrate that we must adopt a proactive posture.

3542 - Beatrix Gilling

Yes this should of course be a high priority. We are going to encounter more and more extreme weather and having council have more funds available for a quick response to the situation is vital for recovery.

3545 - Sarah Eve Tunstall

Investment in climate change adaptation will reduce future disaster based impacts on the city and it's finances.

3547 - Juliet Thomson

We need to go all we can to mitigate what we can and reduce further damage

3550 - Sam Hewitt

Spending now will save much more in the future. There is no point in kicking the can down the road. The time is now to make these investments for the future.

3558 - Patrick Kennedy

There needs to be a serious plan in place to deal with managed retreat due to the effects of climate change as part of this plan. Sea level rise and weather disasters will increasingly become part of our day-to-day lives, so a strong plan, combined with plenty of funding needs to be in place as soon as possible

>>>

A climate adaptation fund should be a major priority for the council. As a low-lying, marshy city, we are extremely vulnerable to climate-change-related disasters. We need to both mitigate our emissions, while also focusing on how to adapt to the already guaranteed changes.

3562 - AJ Russell

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Strategic Transport]

Yes create an adaptation fund BUT stop contributing to the climate crisis at the same time - so stop encouraging car use, and fossil fuel use of other kinds, and make it much easier to travel around the city in any way without fossil fuels.

3573 - Joyce Yager

Yes, create a climate adaptation fund and stick to prior commitments to emissions reduction. It is going to take some actual magic to reduce emissions by 50% in 2030 if the current LTP version is carried through.

>>>

I strongly support additional funding for climate change.

>>>

I strongly support a large climate change fund.

3575 - Anna Hansson

I am concerned that if we don't invest today in adapting to the environmental changes it will hurt so much more in the future when we start experiencing more and more extreme weather events or when the sea rises quicker than expected.

3576 - Noeline Allan (Cass Bay Residents Association)

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Coastal Hazards Adaptation & Adaptation Planning]

If we do not put investment into lowering the effects of climate change now the costs could be a great deal more in the long run. We have seen the devastation caused in other parts of the country due to adverse weather conditions and we know that storms will become more frequent and damaging. Investment now will help minimize the worst effects. For instance, the road to the boatsheds in Cass Bay is being undermined by erosion from the sea. This will put the road in danger of collapse. Three historical, warm springs which run out on the beach under this road should be properly piped and could be enhanced for public enjoyment. We need to prepare for future events by creating a Climate Resilience fund so that we have enough funds to deal with any emergency like earthquakes and landslides.

3585 - Rachel Fulton

This must be a high priority for the council. Even if there is success in limiting global warming to 1.5 - 2 degrees, there will be negative externalities (e.g. more extreme weather, higher sea levels) that need to be addressed. Council must have plans and funding in place to both mitigate our emissions and work on adaptation

>>>

Any change in rates must account for continued investment in public and active transport, climate mitigation adaptation. Investment now will save us money in the future, and protect future generations from unfair climate costs.

3596 - Susan Lau

[Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

Climate resilience should be considered a foundational aspect of long-term planning, not an optional extra. Money put towards supporting businesses, events and infrastructure can be wasted when we have not ensured our security in the face of ongoing major weather events and erosion.

You mention that a downside of not having a clearly ring-fenced fund for climate resilience and adaptation projects being slow to be completed is that it means future generations will have to pay more. This is inappropriate and immoral, particularly given that the younger generations are experiencing housing insecurity and a high likelihood of less financial support in retirement. A long-term plan begins now and looks to the future.

When it comes to matters of the climate and our city being livable, it is foolish to think that this is an area that can be postponed. The costs will not only increase in the future but they will increase by a much greater degree, and future generations are unlikely to be able to bear this cost.

3604 - Caroline Burt

Not investing in climate change initiatives is a bit like deferring maintenance. The work still needs to be done and when deferred will cost more.

3614 - Lin Roberts

This should be a high priority for the council. Even if humanity succeeds in limiting global warming to 1.5 - 2 degrees, there will be negative externalities (e.g. more extreme weather, higher sea levels) that need to be addressed. However, we have to both mitigate our emissions AND work on adaptation.

3615 - Janine Clarke

Actions which the fund could be used for include things like: • moving or raising lifeline roads (vital roads for communities) • protecting or relocating our drinking water, stormwater and wastewater infrastructure, and • ensuring our community facilities exposed to climate hazards are more resilient. This mistaken directly from the LTP document - I think it stands to reason that when we are spending money on maintaining our roads / water and stormwater infrastructure etc that we need to future proof them from a climate change aspect.

3617 - Bronwen Bisley

I support creating a climate adaption fund. Future generations are already going to carry the heaviest burdens of climate change, while current generations have benefited the most from the causes. We need to think of the future not only the short-term.

3618 - Chrys Horn

The GNS report released to Council in December 2023, indicated that: “Christchurch could see 14 to 23 centimetres of sea-level rise over the next 30 years. However, in places where land is subsiding at about 8 millimetres per year, such as parts of Brighton Spit and parts of Lyttelton Harbour and Koukourarata Port Levy, sea levels could rise by 38 to 47 centimetres – twice as much over the same 30-year timeframe.” (GNS Science Consultancy Report 2023/81) The Council really needs a climate resilience fund – ratepayers are going to feel better about having some money ready to go on this. It is clear that Council is going to have to deal with significant costs in the years to come with respect to climate change impacts. Planning for this financially needs to be starting NOW and not after the horse has bolted when people are going to be feeling even worse about rates affordability. While we would hope that Council would not be footing the full costs property losses it is clear that there is at least $3.2B in council infrastructure which could be affected by climatic events. This is a serious burden that should be shouldered from now on rather than being deferred onto people struggling even more than we are already.

>>>

The GNS report released to Council in December 2023, indicated that: “Christchurch could see 14 to 23 centimetres of sea-level rise over the next 30 years. However, in places where land is subsiding at about 8 millimetres per year, such as parts of Brighton Spit and parts of Lyttelton Harbour and Koukourarata Port Levy, sea levels could rise by 38 to 47 centimetres – twice as much over the same 30-year timeframe.” (GNS Science Consultancy Report 2023/81) The Council really needs a climate resilience fund – ratepayers are going to feel better about having some money ready to go on this. It is clear that Council is going to have to deal with significant costs in the years to come with respect to climate change impacts. Planning for this financially needs to be starting NOW and not after the horse has bolted when people are going to be feeling even worse about rates affordability. While we would hope that Council would not be footing the full costs property losses it is clear that there is at least $3.2B in council infrastructure which could be affected by climatic events. This is a serious burden that should be shouldered from now on rather than being deferred onto people struggling even more than we are already.

3621 - Morgane Honore

Climate Change Adaptation: Allocating resources to climate change adaptation projects is critical for building resilience and mitigating risks associated with rising temperatures, extreme weather events, and sea-level rise. This includes projects aimed at coastal protection, ecosystem restoration, and infrastructure upgrades to withstand climate impacts. By prioritizing these aspects of our capital programme, we can work towards building a more resilient, sustainable, and equitable community that is better prepared to address the challenges posed by climate change and other environmental pressures.

>>>

Absolutely, creating a climate adaptation fund should be a high priority for the council. Even if efforts to limit global warming are successful, the inevitable impacts of climate change, such as more frequent and severe weather events and rising sea levels, will require proactive adaptation measures. By establishing a dedicated climate adaptation fund, the council can ensure that necessary funds are set aside to manage future changes to council assets, including roads, water systems, and buildings. This fund will enable the implementation of adaptation plans that are essential for safeguarding infrastructure, protecting communities, and maintaining the resilience of our city in the face of climate change. Investing in climate adaptation now is not only prudent but also cost-effective in the long run. By taking proactive measures to adapt to climate change, the council can reduce the potential costs and damages associated with future climate-related impacts. Therefore, creating a climate adaptation fund is a necessary step towards building a more resilient and sustainable future for our community.

>>>

Sustainability and Climate Action: Emphasizing sustainability and climate action should be central to the long-term plan. Prioritizing initiatives that reduce emissions, enhance resilience, and promote environmental stewardship is essential for building a sustainable future for our city.

3622 - Jono de Wit

Council has declared a climate emergency, now is the time to act.

3632 - Judith Bell

If businesses have to relocate due to flood risk, it would be good to support them through it so they don't have to go out of business.

3644 - Yvonne Dixon

It is sensible to set up a climate Resilience fund.

>>>

The Climate resilience Fund is good. Much needed.

3645 - Sophie McKenzie

I think there is a big need to have reduce the financial impact that climate change does have on future generations. Which could be done by having a Climate Resilience fund established now.

3646 - Thomas Blakie

More for climate adaptation work.

>>>

You have to start investing in the future. You cannot wait any longer. If you wait you are simply pushing the burden onto future generations

3651 - Kate Innes

The more we can invest now, the less impact and cost there will be in the longer term.

>>>

[Transport>Cycleways (Capital)]; [Transport>Footpaths & Streetscapes (Capital)]; [Transport>Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]; [Transport>Roads (Capital)]; [Spending>Our Proposed Spending]

Would like greater funding for cycling, walking and public transport, and less money spent on roads. Would like greater funding for climate-related action, such as adaptation planning and a climate resilience fund.

3657 - Ruth Bullen

Ignore it at the cities peril, don't overcomplicate it, lots is to do with where we live, what we build and how we built it so someone needs to invest in the natural environment we are living in

3658 - Tom Logan

Christchurch is majorly exposed to climate change. There is $3.2 Billion worth of infrastructure exposed from coastal hazards at 20cm of sea level rise (expected to occur by 2040-2048 - NZSeaRise Project). There is almost $2 billion (rateable value) of residential buildings exposed to today's 1% annual exceedance probability coastal flood event (note that such an event has a 10% chance of occurring at least once in the next ten years). While we're already seeing increases in our insurance premiums (<https://www.rnz.co.nz/news/in-depth/513358/very-significant-rise-in-home-insurance-premiums-revealed>), we are likely to see 99% of these properties experience at least partial insurance retreat within the next ten years, and full insurance retreat within 20-25 years. This only considers the direct impact to residential property and the impact of indirect impacts, economic loss, and mental wellbeing implications will be substantially greater (Logan et al., 2023; Brunner et al., 2024). These figures also only consider coastal flooding. Christchurch also faces major risk from groundwater rise (which will exacerbate liquefaction and surface and river flooding, potentially quite far inland), river flooding, wildfire, and heat. This risk will continue (and has been shown) to increase overtime. The magnitude of the challenge means that we cannot afford to defer addressing the issue. Logan, T. M., Anderson, M. J., & Reilly, A. C. (2023). Risk of isolation increases the expected burden from sea-level rise. Nature Climate Change, 1–6. <https://doi.org/10.1038/s41558-023-01642-3> Brunner, L. G., Peer, R. A. M., Zorn, C., Paulik, R., & Logan, T. M. (2024). Understanding cascading risks through real-world interdependent urban infrastructure. Reliability Engineering & System Safety, 241(109653), 109653. <https://doi.org/10.1016/j.res.2023.109653> 1. Early investment is most efficient: Multiple research and practitioner studies have shown that for disaster risk reduction, climate adaptation, and general resilience investment we save 2-15 dollars for every dollar spent today (a 2-15x return on investment): (<https://grist.org/article/society-saves-6-for-every-dollar-spent-on-climate-change-resilience/>; https://nema.gov.au/sites/default/files/inline-files/28605%20NEMA%20Second%20Action%20Plan_V10_A_1.pdf; <https://www.voanews.com/a/un-report-investing-in-disaster-risk-reduction-saves-lives-money-/6269328.html>) 2. The cost of inaction or delay is far too great to ignore, these costs will be incurred by the city at some point in the future, the longer we wait, the higher the costs and subsequent rates bump. Equally, this work must be progressed to better inform future investments from the Council (e.g., land use allocation) to ensure future assets are planned for areas that won't incur undue damages from foreseeable risks in future. 3. Investment into climate resilience has wide co-benefits: This is a chance for Christchurch to be a leader of local governments by addressing this front on - giving further reason to attract new residents, businesses, and sectors to call Christchurch home. Bringing this work forward will address the mounting anxiety and build confidence within residents, iwi/Māori, communities, and businesses that the council is (1) taking action, and (2) supporting them to make better decisions on their own. The faster this work is completed, the sooner the resources and evidence can be provided to rate-payers so that climate resilience can be built not just by the council but by communities. (Housing, climate, and reviving our downtowns: <https://newsroom.co.nz/2021/04/20/housing-climate-and-reviving-our-downtown/>; Density done well can bring the vision of many residents to life for Christchurch: <https://www.stuff.co.nz/opinion/131348606/density-done-well-can-bring-the-vision-of-many-residents-to-life-for-christchurch>) 4. The liability of climate impacts remains unresolved. The failure of leadership from central government on climate change adaptation mean that there is inadequate policy and guidance to navigate the complexity of climate change and liability. Preliminary adaptation policy from central government indicates that the costs are likely to be shared with or shouldered by local government. It is imperative that we take action to reduce our risk and adapt to climate change as quickly as possible. 5. Successful adaptation requires regular engagement. Adaptation planning is not a one-off. Instead, climate change impacts need to be incorporated into all project considerations and regularly, recurring engagement will be required, along with monitoring of risk and environmental change, so that action can be efficient and effective when it is required. This approach will reduce cost in the long-run, but developing the approach and building community trust will require up-front investment. Adaptation Fund: 1. Council planning timeframes are inadequate to fund climate resilience & adaptation: Adapting infrastructure and communities to these risks takes time, requires large stakeholder input, must choose from a wide range of possible options, and must be done dynamically (as required by National Policy & Guidance). This means that while we know that a particular community or asset will require some form of intervention, we often don't (and due to the uncertainty, cannot) know which of the available intervention options should be used (and therefore how much it will cost). For these reasons, it is difficult to provide concrete dates and budgets for adaptation options that are often expected for a three year LTP cycle. A dedicated climate resilience fund would support this dynamic approach which subsequently will allow communities, businesses, and the council to make adaptation decisions and investments at the appropriate time. Such an investment would provide signals to businesses that it is worth investing in the city, given it has a plan to manage the disruptions we know will threaten communities worldwide. (<https://environment.govt.nz/publications/coastal-hazards-and-climate-change-guidance/>) 2. A failure to prioritise and prepare funding now is a direct discrimination of future generations: As mentioned above, we know these challenges are mounting, and will continue to mount - this is our reality. The longer we leave adaptation decisions, the greater the burden we place on the future of our city. This raises concerns of intergenerational inequities - The Council needs to ask itself what burdens and opportunities it is leaving to our younger and future rate-payers.

3660 - Alice Shanks

I always thought I would no see the impacts of the increase of GHG in the atmosphere in my lifetime. Now I am growing limes, passionfruit, and kawakawa where they have been frosted out in the past. The graphs of carbon in the atmosphere are steadily increasing. March was the hottest March ever recorded. The impacts are likely to come fast from now on so planning and preparation is essential.

3662 - Joan Blatchford

As a member of the current Coastal panel, I believe it is critical that the adaptation programme is accelerated. As we have worked through the project it has become very evident that some parts of the city will become vulnerable quite soon. The council and all its citizens need to be aware of the potential impacts of sea level rise on them in a timely manner and be preparing to adapt to these. I believe that Council should also be putting money aside now to fund the inevitable. To say that climate adaptation capital expenditure should be funded as part of the capital programme is short sighted. I think that it is unfair to load this onto future ratepayers when we have been part of causing it and it is likely that the increase in capital expenditure at the time may be unsustainable.

3672 - Neil McKenzie

An environmental fund (Climate resilience fund) I also agree with.

>>>

Yes. Climate change is happening. Don't let us be in a position where we are reacting after the event.

3677 - Sophie Shannon

Additional climate adaptation funding should be included

>>>

{Parks > Biodiversity & Ecological Restoration}

Please increase investment into protecting vulnerable habitats and species, as well as increasing climate adaptation and resilience.

3679 - Janet Perry

It seems like a good proposal as we will need to adapt & manage climate change is a must - however priority should also be given to looking at ways to reduce emissions and how we are contributing to climate change.

3681 - Tara Daellenbach

Adapting to climate change is critical to our future and therefore not something to cut costs on

3690 - Jono de Wit (Greater Ōtautahi)

There must also be consideration given during this LTP period to the creation of a fund or allocation for preparation to undertake Climate Mitigation works or Managed Retreat in future. The current LTP Capital Programme falls significantly short in this area, and does not plan for future Capital Expenditure that will be required. This is essentially passing the burden of this expenditure onto future generations.

>>>

Christchurch is majorly exposed to climate change with billions of dollars worth of infrastructure and property threatened by coastal flooding alone. These impacts, and the array of other climate-exacerbated natural hazards (groundwater rise, river flooding, heat, wildfires etc.), threaten the physical, mental, and economic wellbeing of our communities. Early investment into adaptation has been shown to have significant return on investment and has wide co-benefits. It is critical that this work is a cornerstone of all infrastructure investment going forward. A climate adaptation fund must be a high priority for the council. The cost of climate change is expected to be substantial and this cannot be allowed to fall entirely on future generations. Even with significant emissions cuts, we will continue to see major and worsening impacts from a range of natural hazards (coastal flooding, wildfires, river flooding, groundwater rise and associated liquefaction, wind, and heat). Council must have plans and funding in place to both mitigate our emissions and work on adaptation. Additionally, communities must be empowered and supported to lead their own adaptation efforts.

3701 - Rod Hay

Bringing investment forward would mitigate against much greater risks and costs down the track.

3704 - Logan Cane

I was disappointed to hear that the $1B being spent on climate change was already counted in other projects. I think climate change is really going to start biting in the next few years and we should either be saving or prioritizing resilience work we know needs doing now, because costs will only get more expensive as supply chains are disrupted (refer COVID-19 supply chain issues)

3706 - Ellie Stevenson

we need to both mitigate and adapt to climate change more. There is no guarantee that the world will preserve its current state; we have to roll the dice that an aggressive approach will come together with other bodies doing the same all around the world to minimise the harm done and retain what we love about life in Christchurch.

>>>

We're going to spend it either way. Do we want to wait for all the news items about how the good people of New Brighton are struggling to find new homes as the spit sinks into the ocean, or how Christchurchers already battered by the earthquakes are now suffering again from climate catastrophe, or do we want to get on with protecting people now, as is our responsibility? The North Island wasn't prepared for Cyclone Gabrielle. You cannot look at what tangibly, measurably happened and make the exact same mistake for no reason. We all know going into the future that some people will undermine climate action by saying we should mitigate climate change's impacts instead. Let's come together and do both.

3708 - Joan Simpson

You have to do it.

3717 - Sam Hampton (Te Pātaka o Rākaihautū Banks Peninsula Geopark Trust)

Greater emphasis on resilience. Changing climate will have varied and various impacts. Adaption and reducing emissions are critical, however enhancing and be action forward rather than reactive is key.

3721 - Benn Dickie

I believe that the Council should go for the options to accelerate adaption and create a resiliency fund. Yes it will cause a higher increase in rates. This will not get cheaper, it is best to invest early unfortunately.

3725 - Richard Smith

I believe the LTP fails to meet the bare minimum levels of investment required for climate mitigation. There must be a concerted effort to properly allocate capital to these ends.

>>>

These sea level increases will also impact Council Infrastructure and we need to move to adapt/mitigate with urgency. I believe that this should take precedence over some of the road maintenance funding.

>>>

There must also be consideration given during this LTP period to the creation of a fund or allocation for preparation to undertake Climate Mitigation works or Managed Retreat in future. The current LTP Capital Programme falls significantly short in this area, and does not plan for future Capital Expenditure that will be required. This is essentially passing the burden of this expenditure onto future generations.

>>>

Council must have plans and funding in place to both mitigate our emissions and work on adaptation

373 - Charlene Herring

Money spent on climate adaptation (assuming it is done well) is crucial to the future of everyone.

3731 - Heather McHarg

Adapting to climate change is an absolute priority

3735 - Natalie O'Connell

I support all targeted rates to reduce the impacts of climate change

3738 - Finn Jackson

I strongly support the proposed climate adaptation fund. Future generations will be paying the bulk of the cost for climate change adaptation, so the least current residents can do is start the process of saving now. It's long past time to get started.

3743 - Ben Ellis

Early investment is likely to allow future investment more value for money, and Christchurch is particularly exposed to climate change risks. More investment sooner please.

375 - Alex McNeill

This is so important. Please do this now, before another crisis like Covid hits, and we find an excuse not to invest in climate change adaptation. We need to invest now so that we have the money for when climate change really starts beating us up. We know we're going to need the money - let's get onto it now so it's ready to go.

>>>

These are all very important. [Coder note: For context "Three Waters is immediately critical and requires lots of investment for future"], as does climate change adaptation.

>>>

Climate change is the big one for me. I've got a lot of years left to live in Christchurch (hopefully!) and I want this to be a city where I can feel safe. Investing in adaptation now is key.

3759 - Ben Connolly

More needs to be spent on >>> climate change adaptation and mitigation.

>>>

We need to continue investing into the future, esp in regards to climate resilience/adaptation

>>>

this is absolutely essential

3760 - Simon Watts (SouthShore Residents Association)

2. We support both the establishment of a climate change adaptation fund and the proposal to vire future funding for adaptation conversations into the present as per the proposal, and thus bringing forward the adaptation conversation timetable.

3761 - Fiona Henderson

The sooner the better with respect to these matters.

3768 - Tracey Klatt

Climate change isn't going away - we need to prepare for it in various ways...

3770 - Jane Higgins

The climate crisis is upon us. As a country we are moving far too slowly to address this. We are placing an appalling burden on our grandchildren. We should be recognising that Business As Usual is not a sustainable option. Other cities around the world are taking the lead on mitigation and adaptation. We should be too. There are plenty of examples of cities the size of Christchurch doing much more to address emissions reduction and to design liveable 21st century urban areas that are no longer car-centric and that help biodiversity to flourish. Please recognise that we can't carry on the way we are. Please plan for a beautiful, decarbonised city that is healthy for humans and other species.

3778 - Tricia Urch

Vital

3779 - Layling Stanbury

if we don't invest now in adapting to climate change, we will die. it is as simple as that. if we die, so will the 'economyyyyyy' people keep blathering about.

3782 - Ramses Hunt

It needs to be done now, or will become more expensive in the future. It cannot be delayed

3783 - Arthur McGregor

We absolutely need to invest more to adapt to climate change. The more we can do in advance, the better prepared we will be and the lower the impact when things start to get worse. We also need to take more action now to reduce our emissions, otherwise we are just making life harder for ourselves (and the world) than we need to. Refer to previous comments around reducing car dependency in particular!

3796 - Danielle Millar

Again, I would rather my rates raise and have a functional city that is also prepared for the future.

3801 - Victor (aka Vince) Eichholtz

It doesn't get cheaper pushing the costs down the road.

3807 - Graeme Remington

Environment changes are inevitable and Counsels should have funding for this as a priority.

3809 - Johnathon Ridden

High levels of environmental investment are critically important to manage the impacts of climate change and sell the city as an eco-tourism destination.

[Parks > Tree Canopy]

We have been kicking this one down the road for several decades and are now seeing the impacts e.g. Port Hills fires (if we invested in removing highly flammable exotic species from residential areas, it would save money i.e. plant less flammable native forest!). This will provide a return on investment.

3816 - Annette Bolton

In terms of climate change, would like to see a resiliency fund - unless that is something that central Govt are working on. We need to be able to adapt parts of the city in anticipation of more floods, cyclones, heatwaves and over time rising seas.

>>>

Getting on top of climate change will reduce costs overtime by the city being better prepared for extreme weather events and shocks.

It would be good to embed this with planning (housing being more resilient and carbon neutral, better transport options, whilst taking advantage of our wonderful climate) - what else can we grow here?

It would be great to have a pro-active approach to dealing with extreme weather events, given the trauma experienced by many in Gisborne and Auckland. We can learn a lot from other cities and countries.

382 - Stephen East

This is absolutely vital!!!

3820 - Rowan Sprague

Very supportive of this.

3827 - Ken Morison

Climate change will be the biggest thing to hit Chch, NZ and the world this century. We need to prepare as we would for war. You can't kick this bucket down the road.

3830 - Brenda Banning

Accelerate climate resilience, sustainability where possible

>>>

Please be pragmatic with climate impacts as this is coming and putting things off is just creating greater future deficit

3835 - Hiren Patel

We should do everything possible to prevent a climate disaster rather than saving money for the recovery.

3836 - Tessa Morrow

Set aside funds?! It should be a PRIORITY!

3837 - Dermot Coffey

The necessity for more rapid investment into climate adaptation reflects underinvestment from both local and central government. Recent extreme weather events around the country and world show that we cannot depend on existing models for planning of weather and climate disasters.

3839 - Samantha Dryden

Absolutely we should be investing as much as possible towards climate change adaptation and mitigation.

3841 - Kate Hodgins

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Coastal Hazards Adaptation & Adaptation Planning]

The option to fast track investment in coastal adaptation should be very seriously considered. Communities along our coast have already had to relocate. Roads are vulnerable. We need to understand and plan for these impacts now.

>>>

Please do

3852 - Chris Coey

Case of starting to prepare for what is projected even if just the planning stages.

3853 - Geoff Curtis

There needs to be more investment in both climate mitigation, and climate adaptation.

>>>

Not investing in climate change mitigation is false economy - these costs will be larger if we leave it in favor of short-sighted cuts

3856 - Portia Bishop

I am begging that the council invests more into climate change, including the climate change fund. Christchurch's geography is very much prone to the effects of climate change, especially considering our coastal suburbs and areas like the port hills which are particularly vulnerable to wildfires. These decisions now are going to affect our community in the future. Quite explicitly, your action, or inaction, as outlined in the LTP as proposed is going to have lasting effects. Even smaller limitations to average temperature increases is better than the outcome of larger increases. Early investment is essential.

3859 - Sally Widdowson

We can't afford to wait on this issue.

>>>

I'd be happy to pay even more to fund some of your discretionary plans eg to accelerate climate adaptation and to crete a climate resilience fund. This issue is accelerating fast and it is a false economy to wait until disaster strikes.

3867 - Gemma Dioni

More needs to be done to reduce emissions and the impact on climate change. Need to be more adaptable to change.

3871 - Philip Buchanan

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)], [Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure], [Parks > Biodiversity & Ecological Restoration]

I agree with the sustained funding levels for core services and infrastructure renewal. I believe there should be higher investment into areas that will help combat climate change - building a convenient and grade-separated cycle network, increasing public transit, revegetation on the Port Hills, and building a climate resilience fund.

3875 - Maureen McCloy

I am very concerned though by the comments on page 33 where you say it will still be unlikely that we will reach our emissions reduction targets as a Council or a city. How can we accept a long-term plan for the next 10 years that is setting us up to fail? The time for action is now, not in ten years' time. By then it will be even harder.

>>>

We can't kick the can down the road on climate change - we must deal with it and doing so will be more expensive the longer we leave it.

3879 - Douglas Horrell

Please provide climate appropriate infrastructure now and stop kicking the can down the road - acting now is cheaper than it will ever be in the future. We need better public and active transport including cycling infrastructure. Missing footpaths in areas like Halswell should be provided, perhaps with bigger developer contributions that are more integrated into CCC master planning. Plant more trees to shade the city from hotter future summers. Invest in community centres and hubs, and community gardens to ensure that communities build resilience to be able to cope with future challenges caused by climate change.

3881 - Anne Scott

I would like to see more allocated to biodiversity and climate change.

3883 - Colin Meurk

we just have to do everything in our power to address this asteroid. the world and our city will fall apart if we don't!

3887 - Michael Patterson (Commodore Airport Hotel Ltd)

We realise that these steps will come at an additional cost to rates but readiness to deal with Climate Change is important.

3893 - Joe Pope

The council better shape up or face societal and fiscal catastrophe

3899 - Harrison McEvoy

This is a no brainer. Of course you should invest in preventing mass displacement and problems in our city.

3915 - Redacted Redacted

The Christchurch City Council has a responsibility to its constituents to address climate change. Local policies and initiatives such as the climate adaptation fund will have a significant impact on regional emissions, adaptation efforts, and overall community resilience. Climate change poses multifaceted threats to Ōtautahi Christchurch, including extreme weather events, sea-level rise along the coast, and disruptions to our delicate ecosystems. By creating a climate adaptation fund the CCC can mitigate these risks and protect the well-being of present and future residents, infrastructure, and natural resources.

3921 - Alison Loveridge

[[Other/Special Interest Topics > LTP Consultation], [-Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Coastal Hazards Adaptation & Adaptation Planning], [Transport > Transport (Operations)], [Resource Recovery > Resource Recovery (Capital)], [Parks > Other], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > City Planning]

No, climate change is going to require more adaptation/mitigation and spending should start sooner (later start is stated in the Vol 2 page 6, 36 etc). Expectations of timing of impacts are presented in a way that pushes out need for change rather than giving lower impacts that will occur soon.

The current plan makes it difficult to track exactly how much is being allocated to climate change as the budget figures tend to include climate related spending in with other spending on relevant areas such as transport, waste water management, flood preparedness, and so on.

Coastal retreat and active transport are the most transparent areas but active transport receives less funding than needed and delivers on safety and affordability for many ratepayers. Active transport spending is a cheaper way to manage and avoid impacts than building or roading upgrades to meet more challenging conditions such as hazard impacts from climate change.

Waste management infrastructure may require new responses but there is little detail on this making it difficult to comment.

Creation of wetlands is positive, but may be linked to greenfields urban development which also create more emissions than infill housing within the existing city footprint.

Acting sooner will always be cheaper in the long run than responding at the last minute and gives better intergenerational equity.

3939 - Michele Hollis

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Coastal Hazards Adaptation & Adaptation Planning]

I would like to see a specific climate levy, with money used for climate adaptation including preparation for the need for managed retreat in some coastal and flood-prone areas (eg lower Heathcote). I do not think the climate levy should be used for mitigation - that should be core to all spending decisions by Council that ewaulting emissions be low/zero.

>>>

It makes sense to spend money now getting prepared for climate changes to come.

>>>

Keep future proofing infrastructure for climate change. We will spend more later if we don't build it in now.

3945 - Callum Snell

Science suggests we are past the point of mitigation. The least we can do is put money into adaptation. It's more expensive to 'put he ambulance at the bottom of the cliff' and pay for recovery without adaptation and mitigation

>>>

We need >>> investment in climate mitigation and adaption!

3947 - Dave Kelly

As a country and a planet we have been putting this off for far too long.

3949 - Fay Brorens

Create a Climate Resilience Fund - everything is going to be much harder in the future,

>>>

Bring money for climate forward ($1.8m is not much for a city this size)

3950 - Cameron Paintin

A climate adaption fund created now for increased costs related to climate change in the future is an obvious thing to do, much like a saving for retirement

3957 - Anne Scott (Spokes Canterbury)

Spokes supports:

- Increased work on Climate Mitigation and Adaptation.

>>>

Early investment into adaptation has been shown to have significant return on investment and has wide co-benefits. It is critical that this work is a cornerstone of all infrastructure investment going forward.

A climate resilience fund should be a high priority for the council. The cost of climate change is expected to be substantial and this cannot be allowed to fall entirely on future generations. Even with significant emissions cuts, we will continue to see major and worsening impacts from a range of natural hazards (coastal flooding, wildfires, river flooding, groundwater rise 15 and associated liquefaction, wind, and heat). Council must have plans and funding in place to both mitigate our emissions and work on adaptation. Additionally, communities must be empowered and supported to lead their own adaptation efforts.

3958 - Emma Turner

We need to be proactive as much as practicably possible.

396 - Daniel Jackson

Climate action is an important investment. Many might balk at it but it's not the kind of thing you want to put off because you'll only need it when it's too late or costs too much. We should put the effort in while we have time.

3970 - Allannah Lovelady

I think it is extremely savvy to set this fund aside now. Climate change will, and is already having an impact on our day to day. Storm water and naturalised flood protection (such a investing in 'spongy' areas of our city, airing waterways, and allowing for natural water movement) management will be critical, as well as ensuring funding to be prepared for extreme weather events and upfront investment is a very good idea. Ensure that this funding is ring-fenced for climate friendly projects ONLY.

3977 - Defyd Williams

Emergency funds needed for natural disasters.

3980 - Marlene Rohan

I feel very strongly about saving for the future, to achieve something larger in the future eg. me going without to achieve my desire ability to buy my own house. Most people & families do not operate like this today, but THEY NEED TO! — & so does the Christchurch Council.

3998 - Ben Alder (Christchurch Envirohub)

Climate Change

We strongly endorse the creation of a Climate Resilience Fund, to set aside targeted funds for the city's management of climate induced issues.

>>>

We agree that the city should bring forward to 2024/25 the additional $1.8 million proposed for 2027/28 to accelerate how we address climate risks. The early investment would bring forward a rates increase of 0.29% but we would like the council to access the positive financial and wellbeing benefits of doing so.

4002 - Joanna Orr

Its the biggest risk for our city in the future, so we need to invest now.

4007 - Luka Whitaker

This should be one of the main priorities for New Zealand going forward.

4011 - Hilary Wilson

Wake up! This is essential, not just a "nice to have".

4016 - Joanne Zervos

Will govt fund this?

>>>

- Climate Change funding should be prioritised to resilient projects - eg. stop banks, stormwater, etc. These are more of a priority than cycle ways & trees.

4018 - Winston Howison

Retaining money for future contingencies is important.

402 - Cynthia Charron

Long-term thinking must be the council's mindset. CCC should bring forward the additional funding to accelerate coastal adaptation planning, as well as create a specific Climate Resilience Fund now. The relatively small increases to rates from 2024/2025 are outweighed by the benefits from including these two options now.

4020 - Brian Turner

It's meant to be a top priority for Council, not a nice to have!

4021 - Cornelis F De Jager

[Three Waters > Stormwater & Land drainage (Capital)], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Coastal Hazards Adaptation & Adaptation Planning]

Whether we consider "climate change" a risk or not, we should be future planning, especially in the areas of flood risk and coastal inundation.

4023 - Bethan Sommer

I agree we need a climate resilience fund. Because climate change is going to majorly impact us as a community. But what are we doing to play our part in protecting the climate we need to sustain our way of life or even a better one? We need to protect the taonga te whenua or any future you speak of even one with a resilience plan doesn't sound like one worth livening in. If we don't, how will we answer for future generations.

4025 - Robin Wynne-Williams

Climate change has gone on for ever, but is occurring quicker now because of the pollution that is occurring. ChCh cant stop the earthquakes, and a potential volcanic eruption, or a potential tsunamis, or a massive storm surge, but *ChCh needs to create a Climate Resilience Fund, and there needs to be closer collaboration between the local emergency service, the army especially, and air/ naval/ shipping services, and civil defence

4034 - Remy Barbier

We should pay more now so that future generations can better cope with climate change

>>>

It's a climate emergency. It's urgent. Spend more money now before it's even more expensive later. Our future hangs in the balance.

418 - Molly Magid

Climate risks are not a future problem, they are a now problem. This funding should be implemented as soon as possible.

>>>

Adaptation to climate change is incredibly important and there should be a focus on building resilience across the city not just to flooding but also to fires, heat, and extreme weather events.

423 - Linda MacIntyre

Immediate public education and real action is required, we are almost too late to prevent the massive load of Changes here now and daily increasing for all life.

426 - Elyse Thompson

It's paramount to invest in climate funding. Our descendants will suffer if we don't act NOW.

443 - Keryn Roberts

Sadly these costs are going to only increase with time so we should start planning ahead now.

452 - Mark Penrice

[Three Waters>Stormwater & Land Drainage]

We also need to accept that we cannot stop the sea and will need to retreat (stopbanks will mean we turn the city into a bathtub we need to drain by pumping).

>>>

[Strategic Direction>Climate Change]

CCC should spend more on adapting to climate change - its too late to fight against it.

467 - Anna Scheirlinck

Council should create a Climate Resilience Fund to help manage the future impact of climate-related hazards on Council assets, and bring forward adaptation planning

477 - Niki Davidson

NZ is already experiencing major climate change impacts- we need to be much more proactive in meeting future needs (and even more so with the current coalition governments failure to understand the importance of our planets ecosystems on human survival)

482 - Graham Townsend

It should by now be crystal clear that global heating is going to be the defining challenge of the coming century. It is not an 'externality'; it must be our central focus. Therefore we need to prepare for it NOW to the best of our ability, even if it costs more. To minimise resentment and pushback, there needs to be a concerted and wise effort to engage and educate the public, and consult with them at every step of the way.

523 - Andrew Eadon-Jones

All hands on deck for this issue. CCC needs to be at the forefront of preparing for the impacts of climate change.

526 - Stephen French

The issues are already urgent so there is no sense in putting off adaption strategies as costs will inevitably escalate in future years regardless.

531 - Cameron Bradley

[Strategic Direction>Climate Change]

We are already screwing future generations by ignoring our emissions reductions targets. The least we can do is put a few dollars aside to compensate them for a fraction of it.

536 - Marilyn Yurjevich

Climate adaptation fund would help recovery after yet another natural disaster.

554 - Veronika Gabel

I is prudent to calculate for future adverse events brought about by climate change.

585 - Danny Rood

This is the most crucial issue that affects our citizens. We have the chance to be leaders in New Zealand, the Pacific, and globally. I would like to see that with council taking bold and beautiful steps to ensure Ōtautahi Christchurch is a modern and thriving city. This includes creating a world-class multi-modal transport system, ensuring our housing stock is modern and efficient, and that more green spaces are created in the city. If we can't get people into nature, bring it to them to foster a culture that appreciates our natural environment. More money for; - cycleways - public transport - native tree planting - river restoration - warmer houses - sponge city initiatives

601 - David Ralph

[Strategic Direction>Climate Change]

Climate change is important topic...do not delay and invest

608 - Patrick Clarke

we are better to spend this money now while we can gain the most value for each dollar. if we wait the issues only increase and the cost to address these will no doubt increase as well.

611 - Kate East

This is the most important aspect of the long term plan!!! Without investment in climate mitigation we will play vastly more in years to come responding to events.

615 - Michael JasonSmith

The money to adapt and mitigate climate change should be set aside now. Resilience is best built over a long time rather than placing the burden on those in the future to make sudden and painful changes.

618 - Natalie Dixon

Just do it. Dont ask. Make the call, be brave and do the right thing for future generations.

631 - Cynthia Roberts

Biodiversity loss and rising sea levels, droughts and floods are all serious issues that need to be given priority so yes please make these an urgent priority.

636 - Ben Taylor

managing climate risks should be a high priority for the council and I strongly support bring forward the additional funding to help understand these risks better. Establishing a climate resilience/adaptation fund is an urgent and intelligent way to start help the council manage the future costs that the changing climate will impose on the council

637 - Bernice Swain

The sooner we act on adapting to climate change the better off our city will be. It's an investment in our future selves and our children.

645 - Stewart Mckenzie

Fully support bringing these initiative in early

>>>

[Revenue > Disposal of Council Owned Land]

I support this provided selling terms ensures the buyer is not planning to use the property for a GHG emissions intensive use; and the proceeds from the sale goes into the planned climate resilience fund

>>>

[Revenue > Disposal of Red Zoned Land]

I support this provided selling terms ensures the buyer is not planning to use the property for a GHG emissions intensive use; and the proceeds from the sale goes into the planned climate resilience fund

659 - Matt Dumont

every dollar we spend now will be worth hundreds in the future. we can't wait and it's in the long term financial interest of all CCC residents to pay now

6903 - Don Jellyman

Do you have any comments on our additional proposals to invest more in adapting to climate change:

Irrespective of the reasons, sea levels are rising, temperatures are increasing, weather is more variable + extreme. Eastern suburbs are at risk from sea inundation - coastal erosion will impact roading & water/power/cable systems etc. Plus we need some ^{financial} buffer against extreme events (tsunami; stopbank failure, grass fire etc)

699 - Helen Reddecliffe

Delaying this fund will mean higher costs in a few years time. It would be a political (expedient) solution, not a best practise solution. I believe we need to prepare for the Best Possible Planning for the future. Otherwise, the costs facing future ratepayers are going to be A LOT higher than those proposed for us now.

721 - Raphael Menke

Accelerate climate change adaption. Its cheaper to prepare than to rebuild!

752 - Vivienne Hewson

[Grants & Funding > Events Ecosystem Funding]

Investing in adapting to climate change is a bigger priority in my opinion than events

>>>

Ccc should prioritise this

759 - Rory Kinahan

We need a climate fund to spend money now on our future. Money spent now on protection and retreat will save fortunes in the future. How long until climate change increases sea and flood levels until critical infrastructure is damaged? What will happen to our drinking water as coastal inundation becomes a regular feature and our groundwater becomes contaminated? If we prepare for the inevitable, then at least we can give the city and its residents a fighting chance at a prosperous future. If we can afford $286 million, plus running costs for a sports ground, how come we can only afford a few million to protect our near and long term future?

769 - Julie Kidd

We are seeing some evidence to suggest more rapid changes in weather patterns and climate than scientists were predicting. Mitigation and adaptation have to be priority areas now, not leaving them to a future time.

782 - Áine Smyth

This great!!! Do more of this!!

784 - Sian Carvell

As I have mentioned throughout this submission, more focus and investment needs to centre on current and future impacts of climate change. If past Councils had had the courage and forward thinking to do this, we would now be in a position of resilience. As it is, we are in a position of compromise. We owe this to future generations. We and past generations created this problem, we need to support future generations, and all other living things to adapt and to thrive.

8 - Justin Yudistira

Creating a climate fund should be a high priority for councils, so we can fund future climate disaster rebuilds, managed retreats, and fund programmes to fight climate change.

>>>

Create and start saving for a fund to prepare us undertake climate mitigation or managed retreats in the future. it would happen due to the climate crisis, and it would be expensive. Better start from now.

>>>

We also need more investment on climate mitigation, both for reducing our pollution levels, and to face further climate change phenomenon that have increased in frequency recently.

812 - Matthew Fagan

Not investing in climate change now will increase the costs HUGELY for future generations. We need to start early!

815 - Sophie Ryan

Climate change is a huge issue that needs to be addressed sooner rather than later. It cannot be put off like funding is proposed to be.

817 - Paul Christensen

Adapting to climate change should be built into all Council planning. The climate adaption fund would be a start.

846 - Sarah Anderson

The potential havoc from climate change related events is almost certainly the single biggest threat to the greater Christchurch region. Building resilience is essential and money well spent.

856 - Ralph Hobbs

Do everything you can, this is the most important thing and is worth the extra money. Do more if you can, just focus on this it is the crucial to think long-term and stop pushing this priority back

857 - Kate Munro

Procrastination of climate investment in Christchurch will only mean longer term pain for communities and people

Oppose

1002 - Riley Mahuika

Don't, its not priority anytime soon.

1034 - James Forde

Leave it out until the concil can get its debt and overall costs down

1135 - Callum Wood

this is completely NOT a Council priority whereas core services only is the paradigm shift required by bold leadership

1303 - Paul Johnston

Do not create a climate adaptation fund.

132 - Jason King

What a HUGE waste of money why are you spending millions on this bullshit & WHERE exactly would those dollars go. what will 'build our resilliance'? it will be more crap spending on wasted projects. plaques about CO2 or something equally useless I presume.

1329 - Lynda Whitlow

although it would be nice to have, we cannot afford to increase this.

1332 - Liam White

Its a waste of money to make you feel good about yourself dont do it.

1334 - David Cowie

Reduce funding on the climate change nonsense. No point in sending the citizens and the next generations wealth on ideas that do very little to impact New Zealand's massive 0.2% contribution to climate change.

>>>

New Zealand as a whole just doesn't contribute very much at all to climate change (0.2%) compared to China, India or Pakistan who don't do anything at all to reduce their pollution.

1347 - Stephen Leon

Reduce other expenditure first.

1358 - Rob Noster

At this stage we need money for current project. Look at this in 10 years time.

1373 - Luke Lagan

You'll waste these funds or repurpose them. Stick to core infrastructure.

1467 - Alistair Falconer

Sea erosion protection and storm-water works etc, should be part of prudent 'business as usual' funding, so no extra attention is required. I am not in favour of funding 'climate change' politics into wasting more money on their popularist selective science. As an applied physicist (ie Certified Electrical Engineer) and in a genuine attempt to research the case for climate action, I read "Climate Aotearoa", which is edited by Helen Clark. Only one chapter is devoted to atmospheric physics, being written by one New Zealand's leading Climate Scientist. However, I was very disappointed, in that even though he presented a graph, in which he highlighted a dominate component consisting of a regular 15-year cyclical temperature variation, which over the same time period had a magnitude that significantly dominated the lesser magnitude of the upward trendline that they emphasize, he chose to make absolutely no mention (of the stabilising cyclical pattern), which as a scientist myself, I would consider worthy of attention and comment. This example of selective narrative convinces me that an unscientific agenda is being promoted, so please may the Council not waste any rate payer's money in supported such activity.

1519 - Matthew Williams

Whilst it should be a consideration in developing plans in general, a separate "slush" fund does not seem the appropriate manner to deal with it.

1699 - Dominic McKeown

the climate adaption fund is a waste of $$ and should be accounted for already, if not then people are not doing jobs properly. its awaste of time to set up an extra committee when people should be doing this any way as part of job.

1717 - Mark Doyle

It's not a priority for people in the current environment

1737 - Tim O'Sullivan

[Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

Please remove "climate change" from the plan. See my comments above. Climate change is a non problem. The weather forecast can not even tell me what the weather will be like at the end of the week, let alone saying that climate change will bring radical disruption in the future. Sea level rise will not be a problem in Christchurch, unless and earthquake drops the level of the land, as there is not enough water on the planet to increase the volume of water in the oceans necessary to raise the sea level. (The sea does rise every day at every high tide.) There is no prospect of Antarctica melting as it is too cold down there. Christchurch does not have to worry about this issue from a policy perspective. Anyone who would like to contribute to this fund should be able to do so but contributions should be voluntary and not tied to rates.

>>>

The projected climate resilience fund of $127m should be better applied to either debt reduction or the reduction of rates. Not every ratepayer will wish to pay for "climate mitigation" as it may not be a priority or the damage scenario may not be reasonable. Those ratepayers who wish to have a climate crisis should do so without interfering with those ratepayers who are not interested. Those ratepayers who wish to have an existential crisis over this issue should be free to do so and they may be willing to contribute to mitigation if that is what they believe in. There are higher priorities for Christchurch than worrying about the climate.

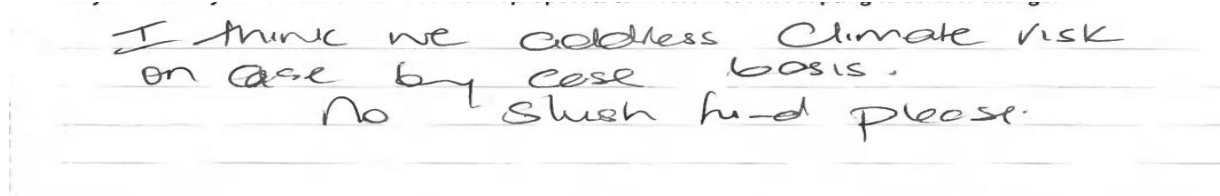

1806 - James Edwards

I'm really concerned about the new financial plans. Here's why this approach doesn't make sense and what we should consider instead: 3. Climate Resilience Fund: Clear Plans Needed: Asking for $127 million without a solid plan is risky. We should be using that money to cut down our debts, not sitting on it. Lower debt means less spent on interest and more flexibility for unexpected needs.

>>>

Asking for $127 million without a solid plan is risky. We should be using that money to cut down our debts, not sitting on it. Lower debt means less spent on interest and more flexibility for unexpected needs.

1833 - Mary McKeown

I think we address climate risk on case by case basis.
No Shush fund please.

1864 - Kylie Williams

Climate change aint going to change any time soon and we dont need the extrabpressure in the pepole at the moment.

1944 - Peter Salvesen

Wasteful spending to the reality of whats happening in the wider world

2065 - Robin Lake

I do not support the acceleration of the Coastal Adaptation Planning Programme before 2027/28. In the absence of completed adaptation plans across the city, I think that creating a larger fund has the potential to generate early requests and expectations for funding and competition between regions. I think the Council needs to be wary of becoming over-committed to responses to climate risk that also need to be the responsibility of central government, insurance providers, and property owners. For the same reasons, I would delay establishing a Climate Resilience Fund until perhaps 2027/28.

2079 - William Muir

We cannot afford this frivolous spending at a time when rates are being raised 3 times inflation

2084 - Sarah Donaldson

Now is NOT the time to increase investment in climate change strategies

2120 - Clover Sullivan

investing more into "climate change adaptation" sounds like a whole lot of people being paid to sit around, have lunch and get nothing done whilst being paid exorbitant, senseless rates. Stop wasting our money.

2136 - Clara Carey

CCC should already be considering climate change and necessary adaptation in its current capital works program. Infrastructure that will be affected by climate change should be being identified and necessary changes made during infrastructure renewal programs. If this isn't currently being done, then CCC should increase its 3 waters and transport budgets to make sure that infrastructure is being renewed and replaced with infrastructure that is resilient to climate change, rather than this being funded separately. If CCC need to bring the money forward to assist with planning for what infrastructure will need to be replaced and when, then that should be done so that there isn't a case of current renewals being replaced with pipes that aren't resilient and will need to be replaced within the pipe lifespans.

2297 - Andrew Walker

But you're doing this stuff anyway, why do we need to set aside more? Climate change is normal, more tax won't make it go away.

2301 - Ian Douthwaite

Don't.

2304 - Stephanie Burke

No, we are still recovering from quakes and covid.

2355 - Iain Sanders

This is a nice to have but doesn't address our most immediate concerns. If we face a major earthquake event or financial crisis, we will not be in a position to provide essential services let alone additions. This is a luxury item at this stage.

2439 - Callum Turnbull

Maybe one day, but we are in a recession and it is utter stupidity wasting money on this when some residents can barely afford to eat!

2521 - Stuart Jones

[Strategic Direction>Climate Change]

Do you have any comments on our additional proposals to invest more in adapting to climate change:

CLIMATE CHANGE IS JUST RIPPING RATEPAYERS OFF!!
NO SCIENTIFIC EVIDENCE FOR CLIMATE CHANGE IS JUST AGENDAS!!

2524 - Ruth Falconer

Work sensibly with what we've got. Build in resilience as you go.
You can't predict the future. We don't need a future fund.
Do jobs wisely now. (It's too likely to be squandered)

>>>

[Strategic Direction>Additional Savings and Efficiencies]

Climate change adaptation has got out of hand.
Is there really sufficient evidence based science to require all this spending + fear.

2529 - Bernard Newman

These added spends cannot be afforded until the Council has a rates neutral funding increase situation at hand.

2538 - Libby Ornsby

When spending is high, there is no need to sink more cash into this. While there is no question there are more weather events that cause untold damage currently we need to include plans to reduce the potential damage, a fund would just get gobbled up in nonsense and never get to the people who will need it in an event

2580 - Michael Neville

In no way should that climate fund be considered, purely to appease Sara Templeton. She does not care about the burden of rates increases on ratepayers, and only cares about pushing her ideals.

2584 - Susan Stevens

It is not an appropriate time to increase rates. Many people are already struggling with paying the existing rates.

2608 - Simon Henry

Dont invest more. It wont help anything.

2661 - Emma Battrick

When you consider the previous years surface floods that have damaged shops and the council hasn't done anything to rectify it don't see how it creating a fund for these things would help

2666 - Kathleen Crisley

SUBMISSION POINT 13: I do not support the establishment of a Climate Resilience Fund because the business case has not been developed for why such a Fund is needed. Council should be addressing adaptation as a matter of course in its development and maintenance budgets. I do not want another Fund established that creates additional overheads to administer and distribute

2690 - Robbie Dobbie

Do you have any comments on our additional proposals to invest more in adapting to climate change?

Absolutely NOT.

Councillors really need to understand the actual science behind climate change. Most climate articles are written by economists, political scientists & some by research funded by global interests.

High Level PCC Official Ottmar Edenhofer speaking in November 2010

"We redistribute de facto the world's wealth by climate policy... Basically it's a big mistake to discuss climate policy separately from the major themes of globalisation... One has to free oneself from the illusion that international climate policy is environmental policy. This has nothing to do with environmental policy any more."

Our Community Outcomes and Priorities

27 - Warner Wilson

Waste of time and money

2770 - Sarah Lassche-Jones

Its complete B.S
There is no climate change do some actual research on this! Stop wasting our money on this!

2793 -

I do not consent to the CCC to spending any money on any climate change initiatives, strategies, projects, infrastructure, programs, funds etc

2809 - Susan Thorpe

Climate Resilience Fund

How does the Council 'set aside funds' to 'manage necessary changes to the capital programme in the future' when YOU WOULD NEED TO BORROW THE MONEY AND THE FUTURE IS IMAGINARY? This proposed fund is a nonsense.

2872 - Kim Money

I do not support options to accelerate adaptation efforts. I do not support the Climate resilience fund CCC preferred option and I do not support CCC creating a $127million Climate resilience fund

294 - Michael Brantley

People spending our money act like Wellington; confusing trimmings for the whole purpose of city government. Roads sewage, water, power. Ask the extra stuff is that. Never more reality than in a recession. You confuse paying the bills and good on the table with a holiday in Australia. One of those is nice but not necessity. We expect you to be real like those off use with real budgets. Stop wasting our money.

3037 - Robert Fletcher

I don't see the point in seperately spending for climate change adaptation. It's just one of many considerations in infrastructure we need to fund (alongside demographics, changing demand etc)

3039 - Paula Allen

its a nice to have, spending shouldn't be governed by ideological beliefs

311 - Peter Clark

Stop being run by green extremists. Let the responsibility for adapting to climate change rest with the citizens, not the ratepayer

3127 - Dianne Downward

No to $127 million for The Climate Resilience fund. We need accountability for this money if this is for more consultants and models or for actual work that will make a difference. Climate change mitigation/adaptation has to be based on up-to-date science from different viewpoints, not one viewpoint. IPCC is one viewpoint. 1,000 scientists with same viewpoint, is still only one viewpoint. We need open, public debate of opposite views, this is real science and decisions need to be based on complete understanding & hard data not opinion and models. Council has already spent a lot to reduce emissions and emissions have gone up. Is reducing emissions the right focus?

3305 - Angelita Schwalger

Should really be a government funded action across the Country, not CCC

335 - Wayne Bates

It id ludicrous

341 - Paul Burbury

If the goal is infrastructure resilience, then most people would accept this is a good idea. The term 'Climate Change Initiatives' is politically charged and should be dropped. I would suggest renaming any projects linked to flooding, high winds, earthquake or sea level events as 'Infrastructure Resilience Projects'. Ultimately, the goal is resilience, not to change the climate.

3453 - Zeta Pringle

Rate payers are struggling with the cost of living so this deferment should be put in place. It is hard to survive let alone be successful.

347 - Catherine Webber

This is a central government problem for them to sort out not another cost to be added to our already exorbitant rates!

3471 - Murray Irvine

No point in investing in something that might never eventuate.

353 - John Mayhew

CCC can't do anything to stop or mitigate the climate changes so don't pretend otherwise and waste more rates.

3611 - Sharon Dowers

While the impacts of climate change are ongoing and this is a very important issue, now is not the time to impose further cost on rate payers.

3633 - Joanne Tindall

We are still recovering from the Pandemic and need to recover fully before proceeding with investing in Climate Change

3670 - Joscelyne Silcock

Don't include the resilience fund in our rates. Sam mcdonald had an alternative suggestion which sounded better

3687 - Rebekah Savage

Not at this time

3693 - Lynette Wills

This should be done without increasing rates. This is what the work of CCC Councillors is.. investigate some creative ways of keeping abreast of the future challenges but not by burdening current ratepayers un-necessarily.

3695 - Pamela Pye

It is not possible to assess what might be required at this stage so any investment should be deferred at this stage.

3699 - John McCombs

There is not sufficient amounts being spent on climate adaptation.

>>>

Plans to address climate adaptation and mitigation, and biodiversity loss are inadequate

3703 - Greg Hay

There are no immediate requirements, so funding in this space should be delayed.

3705 - Glenis Youngman

No spending on 'climate change mitigation' fund as is not necessary and should not be funded by ratepayers.

>>>

No more money needs to be invested in climate change as it is a hoax. Rate payers do not need to fund this at all. The council has enough debt without increasing it any further.

3868 - Don Gould

"Climate Change" has become a "faith" and I object. Some of the stupid stuff that members have asked for are just wrong, expensive and should be a breach of the LGA! I believe the council staff already know what the low hanging fruit are in terms of addressing pollution in the city. The council needs to stop doing the work of central government on this one and if members want to dabble in that area then leave and go work for central government either as an elected member or staff.

>>>

For example, we spend way to much on 'climate faith' activities that are the domain of government departments who are getting a 'free pass' in Christchurch because rate payers have been picking up the baton.

>>>

I understand there is a 'climate resilience tax' proposed, I object. We need to spend on projects today that we know need doing and not set up funds for a rainy day, it rains all the time in winter in this city. We need to keep the environment in sight in everything we do and it should be a core concern but not the driver of our activity. We need to get integrity back into our functions around waste and water. For example, the OPP plant we were operating is not clean, it was never clean, it stock piled, it bleached pollution in to the air. Our waste water treatment plant is now worse and needs to be sorted faster.

3961 - Paul Robertson

Stop wasting money on climate change, sort the things that actually need sorting and attend the things for which there is solid scientific evidence that there is a problem, not just things that are politically advantageous.

3978 - Sandra Bragg

Too much money is being wasted on climate change in NZ.
All paying high insurances to cover these events.

3982 - Duncan Taylor

No extra costs are acceptable given the current cost of living concerns

3993 - Hans Jorgen Andersen

SOME COUNCILLORS ARE PARANOID ABOUT CLIMATE CHANGE, ESPECIALLY THE GREEN AND SOCIALISTIC AND LABOUR MEMBERS AND WANT TO REFORM BIG AND COSY - SIMPLY NOT NEEDED, AND REALLY AN ISSUE FOR CENTRAL GOVERNMENT TO DECIDE ON

3994 - Sarah Boje

[Strategic Direction > Climate Change], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Strategic Transport]

Waste of money. Climate change is political volleyball. Unrealistic expectations. I am not giving up my car to take a bus everywhere. Its not possible. People have things to carry that are heavy, and are time poor as it is. The science is nuts - fear porn.

4014 - Stephen Hill

Clear Debt 1st.

403 - Paul Davis

I don't think the money is being well managed, so I prefer to leave it in ratepayers' hands.

406 - Angela Burrill

These are "nice to have" and not essential so should not be added to rates. We are in a cost of living crisis!

430 - Kate Porter

I don't think people are in a financial position to fund anything additional right now

433 - Derek Phelps

Just pure Crazy

459 - Aaron Watson

[Strategic Direction>Climate Change]

Until you can definitively prove that climate change is not a natural accruing event and that humans have no part to play and that this money will have any effect on changing the outcome stop wasting our money. Instead of looking at data over the past 100 years start looking at the data over 5000 years and it will debunk your entire theory.

481 - Tommy Ng

This is not the TIME...

5 - Dr M Peter Moore

It's sounds like setting another bureaucracy which is not necessary. All departments should be aware of the effects of what they do on climate change targets. Spending money on the "further work" is not appropriate.

540 - Ross Allen

Absolutely not - in fact we should be deferring or delaying expenditure on this to allow the science and evidence to catch up. Delaying action on climate change work will very likely result in greatly reduced costs for ratepayers. Already we have IPCC scientists stating that the commonly used RCP8 scenario is no longer suitable for policy making purposes, to be replaced by a scenario of around half that level of warming. Councillors need to do their homework on this issue. The current NZ Government policy for net zero will inevitably be watered down, probably after the IPCC AR7 science report is issued in two years time. The Council should not rush into major expenditure while this is pending. A more measured approach is appropriate, especially given the current cost of living concerns.

712 - Liz van Montfort

I don't buy into your climate drama. If the coastal land is no longer fit for purpose then that is an issue for residents and private insurers. Throwing more money at climate change now is not making any difference, in fact I see your emissions are rising. Cancel all cycleway infrastructure - thats a perfect example of not listening to your residents.

715 - Hayley Barrett

No. No, no, no. Just stop the spending. Stop. I can't say it any other way, but this is nice-to-have stuff and we just can't afford it. How about you councilors put your full salaries forward to cover these funds? Not keen? Now you know how the rest of us feel about these increases. No to extra climate change spending and cut back on current suggested levels.

742 - Mark Holland

Council does not have the money to do this so don't.

747 - Euan Gutteridge

We simply cannot afford this at present.

781 - Jenene Parker

If finances are managed correctly there shouldn't be a need for a separate fund. What's more important...cycleways or keeping the floodwater out

816 - Murray Dickinson

I don't agree with the Investment in Climate change.

843 - Ngaire Donelda Bacon

With City Council debt standing at 2.3 billion. We simply cannot afford a climate Resilience Fund

Other

1031 - George Tylee

Ensure ratepayer funding is focused on adaptation rather than reducing emissions.

1100 - Alistair McKinnon

[Strategic Direction>Climate Change]

We could bring forwards the 1.8million but should take it from the mitigation. More resilience as a priority at this point rather than mitigation (we are too small to make enough difference given our limited $, it is important but we can only live within our means and what is proposed is not for families)

1104 - Kate Bevin

I think education on how individual people can help mitigate climate change will help keep costs low and allow people to take personal responsibility.

1119 - Christine Rose (Māui and Hector's Dolphin Defenders NZ Inc)

Hector's dolphins are effected by climate change and more adaptation and mitigation is needed

1129 - John Clemens

Make sure "adapting to climate change" includes the inevitable changes that threaten our biodiversity: we need to be increasing our spend to manage or eradicate invasive organisms (e.g. feral animals, plants, microorganisms) that threaten our environmental values.

1164 - Andrea Davis

prepare for flooding but again not with stop banks and pumps but with opening up the hard surfaces and creating sponges, Try not to spend millions more on grasping climate risks, you know what is coming, it is drought, fires, floods and coastal erosions, which means contamination of aquifers, and during flood contamination of water mains. Allow residents to decentralise and have emergency water from rain water harvesting.

1168 - Annie Pattison

I think you should have back up plans and ways to pay for that, but setting up the fund now when people have no money might not be the best idea. Always listen to professionals.

1176 - Jamin Thomas

Rephase - this can be done in 2 years.

1191 - Ava Johnson

There is not enough money for adaptation to climate change, we have enough climate debt for our Rangatira, it's time to properly invest in the future!

1229 - Cassandra Albert

Insufficient financial allocation exists for climate change adaptation measures. Furthermore, there should be dedicated resources designated for a climate adaptation fund. The accumulation of climate-related challenges has imposed considerable burdens on our younger generation (Rangatahi). It is imperative that we prioritize substantial investments in their future resilience.

>>>

[Rates > Other], [Three Waters > Three Waters (Operations)], [Transport > {Transport (Operations)}]

This question is puzzling. I believe that merely raising the rates to the specified percentages isn't sufficient. Instead, I suggest increasing them even further to adequately meet the demands for climate resilience. In the current Long Term Plan, the Council's water engineers indicate a lack of funding for climate adaptation measures. Meanwhile, transportation engineers emphasize rising costs for car-centric road projects. Additionally, most climate-related initiatives are being postponed for several years, leaving Christchurch vulnerable to potential floods akin to those experienced in Auckland.

1232 - Heather Young

If you addressed coastal areas in a timely manner you automatically address many of those climate adaptation processes at a lower cost than setting aside a fund for later use.

>>>

Spending a much greater percentage on protecting the coastal environment provides dividends in the long term (look to Sweden and recent climate change legal challenges for inspiration)

1274 - Phillip Bewick

Spend the money we give you better.. gets deals. Companies want the work that's there. Makes sure they work to the budget. Make in their contracts fixed price jobs, no over spend

1309 - David Simpson

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?], [Spending > Te Kaha]

No. How can you tell me you've already committed $286 million through 2025-2027 to complete Te Kaha, and then suggest that possibly organising a climate resilience fund that could 'amass as much as $127 million' over ten years!? If my rates are to rise I expect you to prioritise the health and safety of future generations over sporting corporate profit.

1323 - Mark Hubbard

Don't ever make Chch residents pay for net-zero bullshit. It's a fraud, even if the science were right, Council spending my money toward net-zero will achieve NOTHING. Just do the basics.

>>>

Net-zero is bullshit. We are not going to be overrun by sea or drowned in rain. Seriously we're not. There's just climate: thank god for CO2, we're all dead without it and it follows warming, doesn't create it.

1326 - Allison Oneill

do it when you can afford it

1407 - Scott Butcher

[Parks > Biodiversity & Ecological Restoration]

No Council is probably spending enough on climate change currently. Not only would I suggest that CCC spend more on climate change, I would also suggest that Councils climate change and biodiversity programs work more closely. Progress on climate change can be advanced significantly if better collaboration occurs between biodiversity and climate change programs. Better collaboration can also bring about cost savings through breaking down organizational silos.

1417 - Richard Coburn

If it can be done without increasing rates - fine.

147 - Colleen Eason

Have a plan first.

1500 - Warwick Schaffer

We should wait to there is more certainty before spending a lot of money on this. We have time and the IPCC have a wide range of scenarios with the extreme end being in their own words unlikely.

1517 - Felix Harrison

I think you should be spending far more than 1.8million. The climate Crisis should be the largest concern of this city.

1541 - Maurice Adler

Only allow extra funding on what is really required, with no frills.

1545 - Jasmine Arps

I'd like to see more funding for climate resilience.

>>>

Spending on climate resilience needs to be increased to match the impacts

>>>

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Coastal Hazards Adaptation & Adaptation Planning]

The CHAP team's mahi is amazing and needs to be resourced to roll out across the district ASAP

1546 - Robert Fleming

[Grants & Funding > Events Ecosystem Funding]

It is a trade off. Major events aren't always compatible with our climate change goals and as we have seen with SailGP, controversial. I'm opposed to having to 'bid' for an event; the benefits aren't necessarily guaranteed for the ratepayers. I think the section below - More investment in adapting to climate change, should take precedence over our event funding.

1581 - Ann Kleiss

No extra funding to reduce climate change adaptation other than necessary to prevent flooding in flood prone areas.

1593 - Rick Houghton

Ensure legislation prohibits this spend from being diverted by future councillors.

1623 - Oliver Mould

Your planned climate adaption fund is too small. We need at least 1% of rates to be put towards it.

1628 - Matthew Brovelli

Be realistic about climate change and sustainability targets/plans. These are hot topics that create a lot of buzz but it is not from the majority of the population. If it was, the Green party would be in power. Focus on people and their wellbeing (current and future).

1680 - Lisa Lodge

Support farmers and growers financially to adapt to more climate friendly practises. Make it attractive to grow our own food and be more self sufficient relying less on overseas imports.

1709 - Aaron Cumming

This should not need to be an additional fund. Future planning should be part a normal budget. Again creating charges for items our rates should be used for. Total mismanagement.

1750 - Edel Loughheed-Deane

The management of this fund should be publicly available.

1814 - Jenny Atkin

Regarding the Climate Resilience Fund of $127 million: We don't have a clear and solid plan on what the money is used for. Instead, we need to use that money to reduce our debts. Lowering debt means less spent on interest and more flexibility for unexpected needs.

>>>

The Climate Resilience fund is asking for $127 million. But we don't know exactly what it will do. We need accountability for this money and this isn't being provided in the proposal.

>>>

Asking for $127 million without a solid plan is risky. We should be using that money to cut down our debts, not sitting on it. Lowering debt means less spent on interest and more flexibility for unexpected needs.

1829 - Stephanie Barbier

I agree that more funding is needed with a particular focus on preventing flooding

1837 - Rosalie Griffith

*Do you have any comments on our additional proposals to invest more in adapting to climate change?
CCC & Ecan should work on the same page - we don't want excessive rate rises.*

1838 - Charlotte Holland

- It seems a prudent idea but ~~moving~~ having a pre-emptive approach for how this fund is used would be good (rather than completely reactive emergency management).
- It would be good to see it put towards resilience & adaptation planning, consultation and even capital projects

1844 - Shelley Washington (Rod Donald Banks Peninsula Trust)

- Bringing forward funding for adaptation planning and boost overall community preparedness and resilience, including a Climate Resilience Fund. Banks Peninsula communities and ecosystems are very vulnerable to coastal hazards and other impacts of climate change.

1859 - Lucy Gray

Yes - bring $1.8 million forward.
 No - don't bring $1.8 million for → More than 1.8 million make it move!

Should we create a Climate Resilience Fund?

Yes
 No

Do you have any comments on the Climate Resilience Fund?

Highly invested in and secure and FAST.

>>>

Tell the Council that they need to invest in the climate now!

Invest Now!

1866 - El D'Arrioso

There is not nearly enough money going towards adapting to climate change. We have known about climate change for enough time that long-term ramifications should be anticipated, and infrastructure should be well on its way to addressing the effects of climate change such as flooding, rising sea levels, increased temperatures (especially in concrete jungles with little greenery to mitigate the sun's reflection + absorbing), carbon capture, and the loss of our carbon sinks.

1870 - Sharmilla Freeman

Make it bigger, all energy should be invested into this

>>>

Put more money into climate and flood protection

>>>

more $ into climate & flood protection

1876 - Mika Clapson

Please invest more in combatting climate change!

Pāpātūānuku is suffering and therefore we are too.

We need to ~~it~~ increase all climate funding

IMMEDIATELY! It's terrifying to see what's happening around the world as the climate changes and even more horrifying to see the future predictions for global warming, rising sea levels & the parts of the world that will become uninhabitable in a few years.

We can do our part. You, as the council, should be doing so much more. Right here. Right now.

>>>

Funding needs to increase in this area. Our planet & our people are SO MUCH more important than a stadium & a conference centre. Shift your priorities!

1882 - Anna-Marie Browne

Do you have any comments on the Climate Resilience Fund?

I'm happy that there are projects for the climate resilience, but I believe these projects need to go much further to tackle Canterbury's impact on the environment.

1913 - Liz Meek

Suggest you spend less on roading yo find climate change work.

1923 - Matilda Moran

More money should be brought forward. ✓

193 - Anne Mahan

But feel the full increase of .25% should be once there is more certainty of the actual fund

1930 - Kate Yeoman

Your proposals are inadequate.
Urgent change & action is required now - not in 3 years.
You must fund & act on recommendations for reducing climate change.

1938 - Alice Busbridge

Planet is shagged already anyway - you can't make any real change with that much money anyway.

1941 - Olive Harris

Do you have any comments on the Climate Resilience f it needs to be bigger

>>>

more into climate change

1944 - Peter Salvesen

Stop spending money on climate change, this is a natural weather occurrence and us turning off a few lights is going to make a difference.

1946 - Zachary Reynolds

There needs to be much more

>>>

make sure it's enough

1949 - Tessa Marshall

Do you have any comments on the Climate Resilience Fund:

These projects must have increased funding.

1965 - Grant Bowater

Trying to combat nature is like pushing water uphill - don't waste money trying to fight it off, but be ready to adapt to a changing climate.

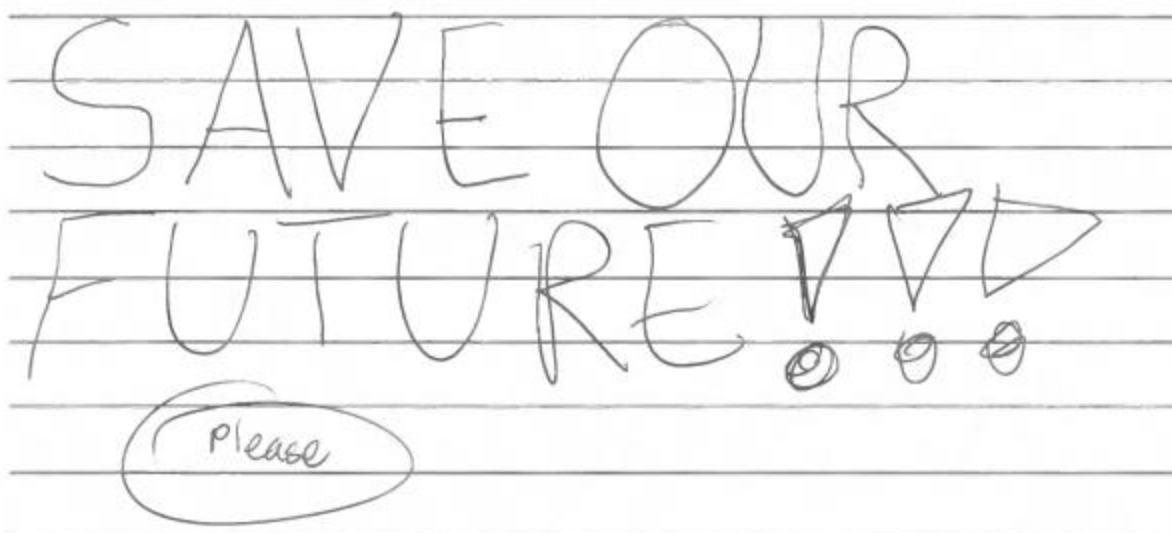

1968 - Kelly Osborn

Stop spending on climate change. It isn't an essential service.

1970 - Imogen Whaley

Bigger!

>>>

1977 - Nicholas Lealand

Operational Spending & Capital Programme Operational Spending means Council's regular spending on keeping the parks, libraries, pools, and other services running, funded from rates. Capital Programme is spending on Council's "assets", which includes things like roads, water pipes, and flood protection. Council isn't doing nearly enough to address the climate crisis. PAGE FOUR asks you to talk about what Council spends its money on. "Operational Spending" and "Capital Programme" are two types of spending that Council could be doing to take responsibility, but right now they're pushing it all into the far future when it'll be too late to take action. That's why you have to tell Council to put more money into these types of spending, and to put money into climate and flood protection.

>>>

There is not enough money being allocated for the adaptation for climate change. There should also be resources allocated to a climate adaptation fund. We have created enough climate debt for our Rangatahi. It's time to properly invest in their future.

>>>

Accelerate Adaptation efforts - invest much more than the laughably small 1.8 million per year Climate Resilience Fund - Expand the program. Start the plan immediately and invest more than the current proposal. We have created enough climate debt for our Rangatahi. It's time to properly invest in their future.

1994 - Eva Wilson

You must put more funding into climate issues. You cannot ~~to~~ put millions into new useless buildings and then claim to not have the money ~~to have the money~~ to put forward for climate issues, e.g. - paying £30m for a new stadium ~~which~~ when your climate budget is hardly more than this. You must do more. It is too late for small gradual change. Drastic change must be enforced and your long term plan is not good enough.

>>>

it needs to be bigger. More money needs to be put forward.

2004 - Olivia Halaifonua

I feel as though not enough effort and funding is going towards adapting to climate change.

As a young person I fear that those in charge do not care for my future and the future of next generations.

2038 - Colbie Van Dyk

Make the fund bigger!

2039 - India Johnson

the fund should have more money contributed

2043 - Philippa Cosgrove

[Strategic Direction>Other Policy Matters]

Needs to be a focus on equity & making the corporates/polluters pay eg. products sold in plastic should pay for the environmental cost of their products & packaging.

>>>

to climate change:

Needs to be about mitigation not just adaptation - moving quickly to becoming more sustainable & reduce our carbon footprint → having the courage to be NZ leaders in this.

2046 - Nathaniel Herz Sardine

More money needed!

>>>

- Double the climate change levy
- Plan for river flooding and fires
- Prioritise nature-based solutions

2071 - Paul Broady

• Far more needs to be done to inform the community about the need to reduce emissions and how this can be achieved. More funding is needed for effective public education. • This could be driven by increased funding to item 2.5.4.1 “building community resilience through public education and community engagement programmes”. • In particular, emphasis should be placed on descriptions of the behavioural changes which are needed, e.g. shifting to public transport, reducing car use especially for short journeys. • The “Climate action” link on the CCC website is a good move in the right direction but more impact could be made using spaces around the city to display posters showing appropriate messages. Leaflets to households would be another approach. • Residents need to see these messages regularly in their daily lives without having to make a specific effort (such as going to the Climate Action web pages).

2086 - Hao Ning Tan

Please Please Please invest more. Keeping rates down isn't as important as keeping the sea levels down.

The investment needs to happen as soon as possible, not three, five or ten years away.

>>>

No, Rates need to be increased to support work on climate change resilience & climate justice.

>>>

Do you have any comments on the Climate Resilience Fund?

The projects in the fund should be bigger and bolder. ~~Get the conversations~~

>>>

Do you have any comments on our capital spend or capital programme?

Please invest in climate resilience and flood protection

>>>

It's hard going at the moment, but it's going to get harder if we delay action on climate change resilience and engagement.

2087 - Emma Norrish (Waipapa Papanui-Innes-Central Community Board)

The Board signalled in its Community Board Plan 2023-25 that it is committed to supporting the Ōtautahi Christchurch Climate Resilience Strategy's climate goals and considers these options to advance investment in adapting to climate change as most consistent with those. Accordingly, it offers its support here in line with its vision for the Board area, reflecting that a resilient community, prepared for the ongoing impacts of a climate change, is a matter of due responsibility to invest in.

The Board also highlights in this respect that it shone through in the 'what matters most' early engagement on the LTP that 'climate change' was either the top or near top priority for the wards in the Board area, reinforcing the representative aspect of this advocacy. Particularly in relation to the Board's prioritisation of a connected transport network, and in regard to addressing flooding and intensification, the Board signalled in its Board Plan that it will consider the goals of the Ōtautahi Christchurch Climate Resilience Strategy in all decision making, and in this context it seeks that the Council consider these also in this matter.

21 - Tyrone Low

More needs to be done to prevent climate change, rather than 'adapting' to it

2102 - Laura Hayrick

I ~~Believe~~ Believe that more funding is needed in order for me and my children to have a future in NZ

2108 - Briar Rotherham

DO YOU HAVE ANY COMMENTS ON THE CLIMATE RE

Make it BIGGER!!!

2109 - Te Aomihia Te Huia

1.8 mil is buggerv all

2110 - Jennifer McMaster

These initiatives need to be bigger with more funding and resources.

2116 - Redacted Redacted

No,am writing to express my concerns about the allocation of public funds towards climate change initiatives by the Christchurch City Council. While I fully acknowledge the importance of addressing climate change, I believe it is essential to prioritize core services that directly impact our community's well-being. As a resident of Christchurch, I am deeply invested in seeing our city thrive and grow sustainably. However, I question the effectiveness and necessity of certain climate change programs funded by public money when there are pressing needs within our community that require attention. I trust that innovative solutions from experts outside the council, combined with the resilience of the free market, will play a significant role in addressing the impact of climate change on Christchurch. Therefore, I urge the council to focus on essential services and collaborate with external stakeholders to explore cost-effective and impactful strategies for addressing environmental challenges. Thank you for considering my perspective.

>>>

There are smarter people than at the CCC to help manage the real affects of climate change and as real problems come up the market will respond with solutions more efficiently and effectively than Christchurch City Council.

2119 - Andrew Cooper

Don't spend anything on climate change.

2166 - Wendy Everingham

Re climate change more work on upgrading rather than mitigation plus rolling about more plans for coastal areas faster.

2174 - Ivan Andrews

Do you have any comments on the climate resilience fund?
Insurance premiums are sky rocketing currently. we cannot provide climate resilience.

2179 - Nydia Garing

works on flood prevention and adaption especially in suburbs

>>>

we need more money to the things that ~~can~~ actually work

2183 - Hali Stauffer

I emphasise the need for: - Greater investment in climate-resilient infrastructure and adaptation measures, surpassing current proposals.

>>>

I'd like to highlight several critical areas that Council should prioritise: 7. Managed retreat with renters' compensation in at-risk areas: Proactive measures to address sea-level rise and coastal erosion, coupled with support for affected residents, are essential for ensuring resilience and fairness in vulnerable communities.

2190 - Stacy Rendall

Rather than a climate adaptation fund why not prioritise REDUCING EMISSIONS...? I.e. stop funding roads!

2269 - Lyn Leslie (Te Pātaka o Rākaihautū Banks Peninsula Community Board)

The Board believes that the Coastal Hazards Adaptation Programme should be accelerated and extended across the whole of Te Pātaka o Rākaihautū Banks Peninsula. The programme is essential for Te Pātaka o Rākaihautū Banks Peninsula for both Council's and communities' critical infrastructure. It will aid the Council to make informed decisions on the replacement of its assets.

>>>

The Board received a staff briefing on post Canterbury Earthquakes 2010/11 vertical land movement. The Board would strongly support funding to do further research work on Te Pātaka o Rākaihautū Banks Peninsula to inform any community/Council resilience work, with a focus on future-proofing and adaptability.

2277 - Josey Fleitas

Find a way to manage these things efficiently. Focus on efficient management and collaboration, so we can get the best possible outcomes for these investments.

2289 - Leonie Jackson

Climate resilience should be embedded into all areas of Council operations. Effects of all policies, on the environment, must be considered first. Climate change is real, despite what some within the council disagree with.

2308 - Sarah Elicker

This is so critical to invest now – the sooner the better – to reduce our costs later on and to keep our city livable & functional. We cannot keep deferring to other years and other rate payers. I liken the adaption fund to kiwisaver – building up a fund slowly over time to use in the future. I would like to see other ways to build up the fund in addition to rates, such as a $5 Christchurch airport visitor tax, or a small fee on Te Pae conference ticket holders, on Te Kaha ticket holders, on winning event bidders, and a landfill waste levy.

2314 - Mitchell Anderson

[Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

Yes. Christchurch has a mounting problem: The public media has noted Christchurch City has $3.2Billion worth of infrastructure exposed from coastal hazards at 20cm of sea level rise (expected to occur by 2040-2048 - NZSeaRise Project). This figure is an underestimate of our cities risk for two reasons - (1) it does not factor in other climate-influenced hazards (wildfires, river flooding, etc.), and (2) it only reports the direct cost of infrastructure exposure and does consider the indirect costs that individuals, communities, and businesses will face from the disruptions. This risk will continue (and has been shown) to increase overtime. While the accuracy of final numerical figures are not important, the order of magnitude of our issue is. There is no better time than now: Multiple research and practitioner studies have shown that for disaster risk reduction, climate adaptation, and general resilience investment we save 2-15 dollars for every dollar spent today (Society saves $6 for every dollar spent on climate change resilience, The CSIRO contended: A $1 investment in climate adaptation or disaster risk reduction saves between $2 and $11 in post-disaster recovery and reconstruction., Academic studies find every dollar invested in disaster risk reduction prevention can result in savings of $3 to $15 in disaster losses.) - a 2-15x RoI. The cost of inaction or delay is far too great to ignore, these costs will have to occurred by the city at some point in the future, the longer we wait, the higher the costs and subsequent rates bump. Equally, this work must be progressed to better inform future investments from the Council (e.g., landuse allocation) to ensure future assets are planned for areas that won't incur undue damages from foreseeable risks in future. This will have wider benefit on our city: This is a chance for Christchurch to be a leader of local governments by addressing this front on - giving further reason to attract new residents, businesses, and sectors to call Christchurch home. Bringing this work forward will address the mounting anxiety and build confidence within residents, iwi/Māori, communities, and businesses that the council is (1) taking action, and (2) supporting them to make better decisions on their own. The faster this work is completed, the sooner the amount of resources and evidence can be provided to rate-payers so that climate resilience can be built not just by the council but by communities. Should we create a climate adaptation fund to set aside funds now to manage future necessary changes to Council assets, including roads, water systems, and buildings, in alignment with our adaptation plans? Yes. As stated above, the problem we face is not going away and will continue to grow over time. Current council processes are inadequate to fund climate resilience & adaptation: Adapting infrastructure and communities to these risks takes time, requires large stakeholder input, must choose from a wide range of possible options, and must be done dynamically (as required by National Policy & Guidance). This means that while we know community X and asset Y require some form of intervention, we often don't know which of the available intervention options should be used (and therefore how much it will cost), and when it will come off the city's balance sheet. For these reasons, it is difficult to provide concrete dates and budgets for adaptation options that is often expected for a three year LTP cycle. Having a dedicated climate resilience fund would support this dynamic approach which subsequently will allow communities, businesses, and the council to make adaptation decisions and investments at the appropriate time. A failure to prioritise and prepare funding now is a direct discrimination of future generations: As mentioned above, we know these challenges are mounting, and will continue to mount - this is our reality. The longer we leave adaptation decisions, the greater the burden we place on the future of our city. This raises concerns of intergenerational inequities - The Council needs to ask itself what burdens and opportunities it is leaving to our children, grandchildren, and great grandchildren. References/Sources: <https://www.searise.nz/maps-2> <https://grist.org/article/society-saves-6-for-every-dollar-spent-on-climate-change-resilience/> https://nema.gov.au/sites/default/files/inline-files/28605%20NEMA%20Second%20Action%20Plan_V10_A_1.pdf <https://www.voanews.com/a/un-report-investing-in-disaster-risk-reduction-saves-lives-money-/6269328.html> <https://environment.govt.nz/publications/coastal-hazards-and-climate-change-guidance/>

2350 - Jack Bisset

In particular to address climate change we must enable every residential community to fully electrify their houses to reduce emissions and slash running costs, avoiding grid investment

2358 - Carolyn Moffat

I would like to see a detailed plan for any Climate change fund before ratepayers' money is committed to a savings plan for this.

>>>

I am not opposed to such a fund, think there needs to be a more robust plan in place as to how this money will be allocated, before the fund is set up.

2385 - Ezra Mussa

The climate resilience fund is good, but it isn't big enough. It should be a hundred times the size.

>>>

The accelerated climate programs should be brought forward, and given a hundred times the funding.

>>>

[Transport > Transport (Operations)]

CCC must put in place a serious mitigation plan, including reducing car and truck traffic dramatically.

>>>

[Fees and Charges > Other]

It must also begin levying greater fees for international travel coming into Christchurch Airport.

>>>

[Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

CCC says in the LTP "While climate change has not been caused by Council". In future, CCC must be honest about its contributions to the climate crisis, and take mitigation seriously.

>>>

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Coastal Hazards Adaptation & Adaptation Planning]

CCC says in the LTP that sea level rise threatening homes is "mitigated" by "homeowners [being] anxious and uncertain". This isn't good enough; CCC has a responsibility to residents who live in houses that CCC zoned to get built. Therefore, CCC must start a managed retreat program in 2025, with compensation for renters.

>>>

[Three Waters > 9.4-Stormwater & Land Drainage (Capital)], [Transport > Transport (Operations)]

Because the climate crisis will massively increase the scale of flooding, the stormwater system must be bolstered with rain gardens across the whole city. Because the climate crisis will massively increase the scale of rain events, concrete surfacing on roads will cause more strain on the stormwater system because of the non-permeable surface. Therefore, CCC should immediately commit to resurfacing roads and replacing them with rain gardens.

>>>

[Grants & Funding > Other Community Grants & Funding]

The city council's sustainability fund ends in the financial year of 2025. This fund is designed to help schools, social enterprises and small businesses focus their efforts on sustainability. We need to get this reinstated with increased funding in future years.

2389 - Aurora Garner-Randolph

The climate resilience fund is far too small, it needs to be 100 times bigger.

2403 - Andrew Woodfield

Let's plan on doing this AFTER the Chinese, Americans and India (the major generators) do it.

2445 - Joseph Davidson-Labout

More investment in climate adaptation and mitigation. The threat of climate change is not spread fairly across generations, the youth of today will be the ones dealing with the consequences of the actions taken by council.

2504 - Sarah van der Burch

I would prefer to see a climate mitigation fund established over a climate adaptation fund. I think we should prioritise mitigation over adaptation at this point. I know we are small but everyone seems to be thinking that they are too small to count which I don't agree with. Let's hit mitigation hard and then determine where we need to adapt.

2507 - Bronte Barber

We are making the assumption we 'may' need to do something in the future. However, if putting the time and money in now, then shouldn't everything be okay for a while? It is not clear what the fund is for/we won't know either till the time comes, so it's just a slush fund that is at risk of being spent too early. Re-assess the need after 2034!

2508 - Oliver Hutchison

Also, there is insufficient investment in climate mitigation / adaptation. We should not be waiting for a climate disaster to happen here before acting.

2532 - Ken Begg

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration>City Planning]; [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration>Coastal Hazards Adaptation & Adaptation Planning]; [Strategic Direction>Have we got the balance right?]

No.

I would support spending more on climate change adaptation and focusing on properties at risk from climate change. I would like legislation to prevent further development in areas of greatest risk.

2533 - Steven Muir

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration>Strategic Transport]

achieving emission reduction targets now seems to be higher priority than a future fund. switching people from cars to active transport is best option for this

2540 - Jocelyn and Caroline Papprell and Syddall

There's a sense of urgency with respect to addressing climate change impacts. The city need to adapt infrastructure while addressing climate change at a systemic level. A substantial portion of the climate resilience fund should go to mitigation while adaptation measures are targetted toward our most marginalised communities. Focus on measures such as active and public transport improvements and an increase on tree cover and green spaces. It is also vital that improvements are made in the coordination between local govt. entities and central government to ensure collaborative and effective outcomes. Also provide more support to communities, particularly our coastal communities, already working on climate adaptation and mitigation projects – tap into the knowledge and expertise available in communities.

2559 - Michael Campbell

We need to move far, far quicker.

>>>

[Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)] [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)] [Other/Special Interest Topics > Governance]

>>> It's imperative to sustain investment >>> alongside climate mitigation and adaptation projects, to ensure the city's resilience and progress. >>>

2560 - Rosemary Ford

No new building consents UNLESS properties are fully adapted for sustainability with increased insulation, light coloured roofs, solar panels etc. Increase green spaces and plant more trees.

2586 - Leeann Watson (Business Canterbury)

Business Canterbury recognises that Christchurch is faced with significant climate change risk, potentially more so than other main centres. With billions of dollars of assets, both public and private potentially at stake, the Council should take care to ensure that we are responding to that risk in advance and not delaying decisions to investigate funding and financing measures at the cost of being unprepared when an issue arises.

Business Canterbury welcomes the prospect of a Climate Resilience Fund, with the following caveats:

- That the fund is not only a climate resilience fund but a resilience fund. This is important as we do not want to limit the scope of a fund to deal with events in the future (i.e. is a major weather/geological event climate-related?)
- That Councillors do not have decision-making authority about investments or costs that the fund must meet, or the continuation or cessation of the fund at any time in the future.
- That the fund explicitly notes the beneficiaries of the fund to include businesses and freight corridors.

2591 - Bronwyn Hayward

I encourage the council to continue to plan for the long term impacts of climate change as all cities are facing unprecedented risks- here in Christchurch risks from flooding and fire and coastal inundation are particularly marked and will have impacts more widely particularly on lower income homes in exposed areas. I am unsure if the tagged resilience fund is sufficient as it creates a false impression that this is the cost of climate adaptation when in reality we know water services provision, transport, housing are all part of the infrastructure impacted by climate risk. I would suggest an alternative is that every capital spend is considered for climate adaptation and emission off set planning.

2606 - Asif Hussain

Between 2007 and 2017, climate change-related floods and droughts cost the New Zealand economy $840 million. Treasury estimates the cost of repairing damage caused by Cyclone Gabrielle and the Auckland floods in 2023 to be between $9-$14.5 billion. It is estimated that the global cascading effects of food insecurity could cost New Zealand around $20 billion per year. Christchurch and Banks Peninsula will experience the impacts of Climate change in the form of sealevel rise earlier than expected. This means that areas like Akaroa on Banks Peninsula could see 30cm of sea-level rise by 2040, instead of 2060. In addition to sea-level rise, climate change is expected to affect rainfall patterns in Canterbury, including the Banks Peninsula. These changes could have significant impacts on the economy and infrastructure. According to an estimate, a sea level rise of 20 centimetres would expose nearly 20,000 properties worth $14 billion in Christchurch and the Banks Peninsula to coastal hazards. The Coastal Hazards Adaptation Planning Programme and Coastal Hazards District Plan Change would potentially benefit the coastal areas of Christchurch and Banks Peninsula. However, Climate Change is not all about sea level rise. It also includes increased frequency and severity of storms, fire risks, pressure on water resources and the spread of pests and weeds. I urge the Council to strategically spread resources in all aspects of climate change impacts.

2615 - Virginia Wright

The need for the so-called climate adaptation fund would decrease if the council did their core business to a high standard with the environment top of mind: managing things like our three waters, and in particular reducing water leakage from broken pipes etc., reducing sewage leakage from broken pipes etc. and reducing pollution to our water supplies by staying on top of environmental considerations when reviewing applications for development whether for building, business, or industry.

2618 - Margaret Stewart

Leave funding for adaption planning as it is. Already huge rate increases. Consider creation of a Climate Resilience Fund at a later date with its own submission process. Perhaps climate resilience could feature in the project plan of every future project and be budgeted as part of that project, this could feed into a fund.

2624 - Colin Ong

I am generally in favour of having a contingency fund to tackle destruction from climate change events but my fear is how this fund will be managed? Will it be invested or simply put in a bank? If invested, who will be the gatekeeper? Will it be audited annually? This could be a source of contention if not properly managed and openly reported on at timely intervals.

2627 - Sarah Butterfield

Climate change mitigation and future planning should be a priority.

>>>

I hope that the Climate Adaption Fund will not be limited to private land owners. There are plenty of community organisations doing great work with volunteers, but need resourcing adequately.

2629 - Sarah Smith

The council should be educated on the climate change agenda. It does not exist other than the natural global warming and cooling cycles that has always been there. Talk to the real scientists, not the political scientists who are paid to spin doctor. Any money towards this is a complete waste. The sea level is not rising. We need a 0.4% carbon dioxide in our atmosphere for the plants/trees to survive. Without them all life will perish. Real science.

2651 - Finn Blanchard

I don't think the additional 1.8 million should be spent in 24/25 but I think 27/28 is too late. I think it should be in 25/26 or 26/27.

2678 - Fiona McKenzie

We should do more at the front end to address the true about the causes of climate change, and who is accelerating it.

2738 - Patricia (Patsy) Eastwood

We should only invest as much as we actually need to, and can afford.

2758 - Christopher Seay

Please reinstate all cancelled Climate Emergency Response Fund projects, as the climate emergency persists. Raise rates as needed, as these are important projects for the climate, accessibility, safety, and a pleasant city.

2763 - Karl Dean (Federated Farmers of New Zealand)

2.1.5 that CCC pursue the preferred option for 'accelerating adaption efforts' with a staged approach to funding planning work; and

- 2.1.6 that CCC reviews the rating requirements for the Climate Resilience Fund with a view to create a fund if the rating impact can be minimised.

>>>

4. COMMENTS ON KEY ISSUES

Accelerating adaption efforts

- 4.1 CCC proposes to maintain the Coastal Adaption Planning Programme at $1.8million per year, increasing by another $1,8million (to a total of $3.6million per year in 2027/28). Another option considered is to bring forward adaption planning, with an expected rating impact of 0.29%.

- 4.2 NCFE agrees with the Council's proposal to gradually increase funding. Even a 0.29% increase in rates has a significant impact on farmers with high capital value properties and, while we appreciate the significance of this work, we agree with the staged approach.

- 4.3 Recommendation: that CCC pursue the preferred option for 'accelerating adaption efforts' with a staged approach to funding planning work.

Creating a Climate Resilience Fund

- 4.4 CCC proposes that climate adaption related capital expenditure initiatives are included in capital programmes. The alternative option considered is a Climate Resilience Fund which would reduce the impact of climate change on future generations.
- 4.5 Establishing a separate fund is a logical idea, however we are conscious that the proposed rate increase is significant. The proposed rate increase is 0.25% for the Climate Resilience Fund, and as per our earlier comments, it is important to keep rates as low as possible. We therefore recommend the Council consider if a fund can be achieved with a lower rating impact.
- 4.6 A reliable and efficient transport network is vital to the economic and social well-being of the rural population. It will therefore be important for the Council to engage the community in the development of criteria for spending this fund.
- 4.7 In the context of storms and flooding we would like to see better planning for emergency management and engagement with the community on this planning. Residents in Banks Peninsula rely on the roading network to connect them to the wider community. It is important that the Council ensure there is an adaption plan for these crucial links where damage may occur in response to extreme weather events.
- 4.8 Recommendation: that CCC reviews the rating requirements for the Climate Resilience Fund with a view to create a fund if the rating impact can be minimised.

[Full attachment available]

278 - Robin Curry

While part of the climate change process has been considered in all areas I don't believe that the searise has been fully considered. I believe, based on the best information currently available that rates increases for years 2030 onwards should be revisited.

2781 - Sarah Hemmingsen

The council should be incorporating this type of planning as part of their BAI.

2799 - Dot Lovell-Smith

I think developers who insist on building in areas that are at special risk from climate change events like on the Brighton foreshore, should have to pay a higher levy into some sort of resilience fund.

2811 - Nikora Nitro

No - because the foundation needs a bi-cultural approach!

2812 - Helen Broughton

I support the fund but make two suggestions. 1 That it be a targeted rate. This will make clear Councils willingness to make steps towards climate change and also equal for every ratepayer. When I was on Council in about 2002 we brought in recycling bins and adopted a waste minimisation levy for all ratepayers. We have had no complaints about the targeted rate. It does make it fair as everyone is affected by recycling and climate change. 2 In establishing the fund Council should be very clear it has a separate bank account for this fund and expenditure is only ratified by Councillors. We had a situation in about 2003 where a $12 million housing maintenance fund for renewals for then Council owned social housing was removed by senior management and transferred to general expenditure. There was no way for Council to regain the money and Council tenants faced huge increases in rentals which lead to a Judicial Review that Council lost. If you proceed with this, please only a separate bank account under governance control

2822 - Angela Leatherby

Coming back to Councils strategic priorities and the priorities of mana whenua, everything we do should be about what is best for our future generations. We need robust and practical solutions that are aligned to our Te Tiriti partnership - for us and those after us.

2823 - Aurora Garner-Randolph (School Strike For Climate Ōtautahi)

Much more money should be invested in these now. Climate action is cheaper earlier.

>>>

In general the LTP doesn't do enough for CCC's climate responsibilities. CCC needs to stop emitting as ASAP as possible, and it needs to start taking adaptation seriously. There must be a large climate levy, and rates should be targeted against heavily emitting businesses like petrol stations, car dealerships, garages, car parks, and aerodromes. The Climate Adaptation Fund needs to be hundreds of times bigger than currently proposed, and even more programs than are currently proposed for acceleration must be brought forward.

To do anything other than follow these recommendations would be to spit in the faces of young Ōtautahi residents who want to see a future in this city. We are entitled to expect that CCC isn't going to shorten our lives, or introduce crises and disaster to them. If CCC wants to show that it respects all its residents, it's going to start funding climate programs right now, and finishing them in the 3-year LTP cycle. Anything else would be kicking the can down the road, leaving the rangatahi to pay the costs of their elders' mistakes.

[Full attachment available]

2830 - Fiona Bennetts

[Transport > Roads (Capital)], [Planning, Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Strategic Transport], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

● I believe the LTP fails to meet the bare minimum levels of investment in climate mitigation. There is little to no scope for future requirements, and it has been consistently noted that the current investment will not even meet our existing goals. There must be a concerted effort to properly allocate capital to these ends. The GNSS report released to Council in December 2023, indicated that: "Christchurch could see 14 to 23 centimetres of sea-level rise over the next 30 years. However, in places where land is subsiding at about 8 millimetres per year, such as parts of Brighton Spit and parts of Lyttelton Harbour and Koukourarata Port Levy, sea levels could rise by 38 to 47 centimetres – twice as much over the same 30-year timeframe." (GNS Science Consultancy Report 2023/81)● Without adequate funding to mitigate or adapt (including investment in retreat), this leaves little room for the Council to appropriately respond to the estimated $17.2B worth of property that Council estimated would be impacted by sea-level rises in their October 2023 Submission to the Environment Select Committee's Inquiry into Climate Adaptation. While we are not advocating for Council to foot the entire bill, it must be noted that at least $3.2B of that $17B in property is the Council's Infrastructure. This is an unacceptable risk for Council to shoulder without sufficient capital and is a burden that should be shouldered from now on rather than being deferred.

>>>

Early investment into adaptation has been shown to have significant return on investment and has wide co-benefits. It is critical that this work is a cornerstone of all infrastructure investment going forward. • A climate resilience fund should be a high priority for the council. The cost of climate change is expected to be substantial and this cannot be allowed to fall entirely on future generations. Even with significant emissions cuts, we will continue to see major and worsening impacts from a range of natural hazards (coastal flooding, wildfires, river flooding, groundwater rise 15 and associated liquefaction, wind, and heat). Council must have plans and funding in place to both mitigate our emissions and work on adaptation. Additionally, communities must be empowered and supported to lead their own adaptation efforts.

>>>

[Parks > Tree Canopy], [Planning & Transport, Urban Design, & Urban regeneration > Urban Design], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)], [Grants and Funding > Other Contestable Funds]

- There must also be consideration given during this LTP period to the creation of a fund or allocation for preparation to undertake Climate Mitigation works or Managed Retreat in future. The current LTP Capital Programme falls significantly short in this area, and does not plan for future Capital Expenditure that will be required. This is essentially passing the burden of this expenditure onto future generations.

2831 - Sebastian Denize

I do not believe the council had paid enough attention to the climate emergency we face. It should be a requirement that the affect on all future generations should be counted as a cost, and policy have to recognise and mitigate that cost.

2832 - Riley Neupauer (University of Canterbury Green Party)

[Three Waters > Stormwater and Land drainage (capital)]

The Council says that it envisions Christchurch as a green and liveable city, but this is not attainable without further investment towards climate resilience and stormwater infrastructure, two essential areas which are already lagging behind in funding.

>>>

[Rates > other, Three Waters > Stormwater & Land Drainage, Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design & Urban regeneration > Coastal Hazards Adaptation & Adaptation planning, Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

It is somewhat understandable that the Council would consider trying to slow the rise of rates. However, this clearly must come at the cost of investment in crucial infrastructure and services, making it a tradeoff that is in no way justified. Ample funding is necessary to maintain the performance of our facilities, and Christchurch is already heavily strained as it continually struggles to meet development goals. This is not some unfounded speculation: the Council repeatedly acknowledges that this is the case. To quote directly from the Stormwater Activity Plan and Land Drainage Asset Management Plan: "Sea level rise will expose infrastructure in low lying coastal communities, causing damage. The existing sea outfalls will be unable to discharge storm flows increasing the chances of flooding. This can result in water backing up a long way inland so that flooding may also affect communities that are further from the coast. Recent studies have identified that we can already expect higher storm tides than previously thought. Investment in larger capital works such as combined catchment pump stations may be required, seawalls and stop banks constructed... To date, the business has progressed with minimal actions to respond to the declared Climate Change Emergency." This is an alarming trend across Christchurch. The Council has continued to dole out meagre amounts of funding to indispensable utility services like water management, which are buckling under the weight of their ongoing projects. Even our roadworks are struggling to stay up to standard. The Transport Asset Management Plan states that "without an appropriate increase in funding, the backlog or gap will increase, putting more pressure on our ability to meet agreed Levels of Service and continuing to impede our efforts to lift the community satisfaction survey results." How are these services expected to reach their objectives in a timely or efficient manner? The UC Greens urge Council to realign its stance on rates, taking a holistic perspective that more appropriately reflects the challenges our city is facing. Christchurch and its infrastructure cannot adequately progress to meet the needs of its citizens with the current pace of spending. Is the pretence of low rates worth maintaining when it so clearly will directly inhibit the well-being of our communities?

>>>

[Rates > Other]

We encourage Council to introduce targeted rates for emission-heavy businesses like petrol stations, car dealerships, and commercial parking garages. This will incentivise more eco-friendly methods of transportation while accordingly penalising some of the most significant contributors to climate change. Council alone cannot bear the cost of the climate crisis, and shifting partial responsibility to industry actors will help alleviate some of the financial burden associated with the necessary emissions-related concessions.

2840 - Matthew Carter

The consultation document notes that little work has been done on how a Climate Resilience Fund would work and that it will take at least a year to set up. It would be prudent to go ahead with the preliminary work to give optionality. The amount proposed for the fund now is small, but could prove workability of the concept and establish intention.

2868 - Jonty Coulson

No. Not enough money and policy is devoted to climate mitigation and adaptation. The longer we leave climate policy, the more expensive it will be to put it in place, and the more our communities will suffer in the meantime.

2924 - John Gibbs

[Parks > Biodiversity & Ecological Restoration]

I believe that Climate Change shouldn't need to be a separate category - expenditure on adaptation and mitigation should be embedded in every activity. As long as it is labelled separately everyone else thinks it has nothing to do with them. Ditto the other/equally important big challenge facing us - biodiversity.

2934 - Monica Richards

Even more important to planning for climate change is spending to lessen our carbon footprint and lessen our role in increasing climate extreme changes.

2941 - Peter Thelning

It is not the responsibility of the council to buy out flood and sea level rise properties, this sets a dangerous legal precedent, the council is not the cause of sea level rise

2947 - Katia De Lu

I support the fund and urge the CCC to massively increase it. However, funding should go to both climate adaptation and climate mitigation action. Adaptation without mitigation is the proverbial ambulance at the bottom of the cliff - it costs more in the long run, and everybody suffers more. Conversely, even if humanity succeeds in limiting global warming to 1.5 - 2 degrees, we will still need to address more extreme weather and higher sea levels). Thus, we have to both mitigate our emissions AND work on adaptation. Both must be top priorities for the council. Please: - Focus adaptation funding on our most marginalised communities. - Target mitigation funding for easy-to-build projects like active and public transport. - Also fund projects that comprise both climate adaptation and resilience, like speeding up CCC's urban forest plan (which would allow for more trees to be planted to reduce carbon emissions and the urban heat island effect). - Involve coastal communities in planning and preparing for sea level rise. - Bring forward the Heathcote Floodplain Management Implementation to 2025 in order to protect the residents of Heathcote from further floods such as the Woolston floods. - Apply "sponge city" principles to make our city more resilient to future floods, e.g. by replacing paved areas with rain gardens. - Reject consents on land that is going to be at risk of sea level rise / flooding. - Reinstate the Sustainability Fund past 2025.

2957 - Lisa Keen

Only in areas of immediate risk!

299 - Jane Nuttridge

I absolutely agree to it with the exception of wasteful spending on roads.

2997 - Simon Trotter

The Capital programme needs to better reflect climate resilience. Rather than a separate fund and operation cost to manage it. Climate adaptation should be integrated as part of the capital programme.

3012 - George Laxton

This is great, and we need to invest more than this, we know we are going to have to spend hundreds of millions if not billions on climate adaption and carbon emission reduction over the next few decades, we need to start saving now and preparing.

3015 - Alexandra Cox

Please consider the voices of the younger generation with the knowledge of what it's already like to clean up our predecessors messes. The harm caused by 'playing it too safe' is infinitely smaller than the harm caused by failing to act

3021 - Viane Makalio

I think if we are investing in the current capital works now that should in turn make us more adaptable hence my choice above.

3035 - Claire Coveney

Why is managed retreat not mentioned? That means planning and building communities away from the Coast, close to highways. Removing pine plantations and replanting with native trees. Cooling our city as it gets hotter. Providing habitat for wildlife. Assessing whether it is better to move rather than restore infrastructure needs considering.

3045 - Vivienne Wilson (Orion New Zealand Limited)

The Consultation Document records at Page 51 that the Council is proposing to maintain the Coastal Adaptation Planning Programme at $1.8 million per year, which will increase by another $1.8 million (to a total of $3.6 million per year) in 2027/28 as adaptation planning work ramps up across the district. We do not have a specific view as to whether the Council should accelerate the current coastal adaptation programme. However, Orion is very keen to engage with the Council and the Coastal Adaptation Panels when formulating coastal adaptation plans.

As we see it, electricity distribution has always been an essential service that underpins regional, community and economic wellbeing. Our service is vital to the wellbeing and livelihood of the people and businesses who live and operate here. As such, it should be a key consideration in formulating these adaptation plans.

3055 - Josephine Drysdall

I support the creation of this fund but also support greater action now that acknowledges the root causes of climate change and keeps reparation, recognition and representation, and rights and responsibilities at the forefront of its planning and action. Therefore, the fund needs to be much bigger.

>>>

We need more rates revenue to invest in >>> [Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)], climate mitigation, and climate adaptation. These are not just options, they are necessities for our future.

306 - Beni Rae

[Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

So much of the councils funding is on adaptation. While adaptation is important, and we do not have much of an ability to mitigate, we do have a responsibility to support climate mitigation more than we currently do. Climate justice is not just about us “needing to adapt”, we need to do as much as we can to mitigate our impact.

>>>

Climate mitigation.

>>>

Mitigation should receive more funding.

307 - Rata Jamieson

[Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

Not enough of the council's budget supports climate mitigation and adaptation projects - Otautahi is not a resilient enough city - especially as a coastal location.

>>>

The climate resilience fund is absolutely integral to our coastal communities. Additionally we should be supporting greater climate action. A portion of the climate resilience fund should go to mitigation projects such as better public transport infrastructure, and speeding up the CCC's urban forest plan.

>>>

Christchurch deserves climate justice.

3083 - Peter Joyce

Incentives to reduce emissions.

[Grants & Funding>Arts Centre Funding]; [Art Galleries & Museums>Art Gallery (Capital)]; [Strategic Direction>Have we got the balance right?]

Not quite; insufficient support for the environment and for the 'arts' - ChCh Art Gallery & ChCh Arts Centre.

3085 - Jacqueline Sullivan

Take some time. Slow and steady.

3128 - Chris Smith

We need to focus on fixing existing issues and doing climate related stuff over a longer term. It doesn't have immediate change.

3165 - Adrienne Baxter

plan better for future development with climate change in mind

3166 - Arwen Sommer

[Resource Recovery > Resource Recovery (Capital)], [Resource Recovery > Otautahi Christchurch Regional Organics Processing Facility], [Spending > Te Kaha]

I think proposing a climate change resilience fund but not funding basic initiatives such as sustainable recycling solutions feels like the council has already given up on the planet.

>>>

[Three Waters > Waste Water (Capital)]

I think any and all investments into mitigating climate change are great but I have trouble finding many of them significant when we do so little recycling.

>>>

I'm on the fence on this one. While we absolutely are at risk from climate change and it is quite a realistic proposal, I still wonder if it is better spent on actually reducing the cities impact on climate change. It just feels like putting the cart before the horse so to speak.

3170 - Derek Doddington (Top Dog Theatre)

Learn from other countries rather than spend money now

3187 - Debbie Hamilton

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration]

Charge more for those affected by climate changes at seaside flood prone areas

3200 - Georgina Woods

I don't know as am concerned for yet another increase at a time when the squeeze is on everyone i would put off at least 12 months then review

3206 - John Gudgeon

Stop wasting money on Climate Change - as a country we paid $25 Billion to Jacobs the US company consulting on Sea-Level rise. It's a scam. We paid a further $20B to AECOM for consultants on Greenhouse Gas Emissions - It's another scam. (80 per cent of anthropogenic global CO2 emissions come from just 57 companies. The top company is China Coal - 25.9% of GHG emissions globally. Who do we sell out coal to? China...so we are supplying them to be the biggest polluter! Not that this really matters, but it strikes me as being hypocritical.)

>>>

See the previous page. Don't spend anything on climate change. Dis-establish the Climate Change Portfolio. Sarah Templeton is NOT an expert in this field and has been brainwashed by the alarmist propaganda.

[coders note. 'Previous page' is the first comment here.

>>>

Don't spend anything on climate change. For God's sake, wake up! It's a scam, an expensive scam.

3209 - Anouk Minnaar

Not enough money is going towards climate mitigation projects.

3214 - Sue Trayling

I object to the huge proposed expenditure on Climate Change mitigation or "adaptation". This is promoting more fear mongering (to vulnerable young people) on a highly debatable subject. The theory of global warming, the causes and perpetuation of it (if it is in fact occurring at the levels apparently causal for alarm), and the methods being used and proposed to mitigate it are all subjects in need of robust and transparent public debate with all views and opinions heard before such expenditure is considered.

3231 - Colin Foster

Investigate more effectively the selling of assets to create a fund similar to the direction being proposed in Auckland.

3243 - Michael Petherick

Reforest the port hills. This could also be done in conjunction with establishing a predator free sanctuary, similar to Zealandia in Wellington.

3248 - Dave Edwards

Just do waste water and flood plains properly. Put the extra costs on new builds and property developers in threatened areas or stop developing these areas altogether. Instead put parks funding into coastal pathways

3260 - Sofie Hampton

Not entirely, I think limiting costs as much as possible besides future proofing for natural disasters and weather emergencies should be the priority. >>>

3311 - Michael McEntee

I'm unsure on this. Currently anything climate adaptation seems to be a means of paying a bunch of "experts" a large salary to come up with daft ideas. Flood banks, increased storm and waste water flow are a no brainer.

3315 - Jill Hargreaves

Ensure the money goes where it is meant to.

3325 - Adele Geradts

More money needs to be set aside for climate change;

3345 - Stephen Wallace

Fund it in with everything else

3357 - Merav Benaia

[Transport]

Not enough investment in climate mitigation.

>>>

Climate Emergency Response Fund projects that have been cut need to added back in.

3366 - Robert Manthei

I have already talked about the pitifully small efforts in this area given that the effects or climate change are the most serious problem facing the city.

3379 - Mike Currie

[Strategic Direction > Have We Got the Balance Right?]

Reason 2: Because not enough money is going towards climate mitigation projects.

>>>

[Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)], [Three Waters > Storm Water & Land Drainage (Capital)]

We need to continue investing in active/public transport infrastructure, climate mitigation projects and climate adaptation projects such as new stormwater infrastructure, as not doing so now will impact future generations.

>>>

I support this as it is important that coastal communities are involved in planning and preparing for sea level rise. I also support greater action now that takes into account the four R's of climate justice (acknowledging root causes of climate change, reparation, recognition and representation and rights and responsibilities) The council are not addressing climate change at a systemic level, and therefore adaption without mitigation is just an ambulance at the bottom of the cliff. I believe that a portion of the climate resilience fund should go to mitigation and another portion to adaption. Adaption measures that are funded should go towards our most marginalised communities. CCC could consider: 1. easy to build climate mitigation projects like active/public transport; 2. as well as dual climate adaptation/resilience projects like speeding up CCC's urban forest plan, which would allow for more trees to be planted to reduce carbon emissions and the urban heat island effect.

3380 - Victoria Lukiyanyuk

[Grant & Funding > Other Community Grants & Funding]

There needs to be additional funding for non-profit community services and additional thought into the effect of climate on water and transport

3411 - Marian Krogh (Protect Our Winters NZ)

Climate change levy – could we use some of that levy for biodiversity.

3414 - Chrissie Williams

Level of Service statement	Measures of success (What our community can expect)	Proposed level of service for LTP 2024-34	My Comment
Strategic Planning and Resource Consents - District Plan (DP)
Work with communities and Rūnanga in low-lying coastal and inland communities to develop adaptation pathways that respond to the current and future impacts of coastal hazards caused by climate change	Undertake adaptation planning by establishing Coastal Panels, identifying community objectives and Priority Adaptation Locations, drafting and testing adaptation pathways with the wider community and submitting adaptation plans for Council approval	Two adaptation areas per annum	Support, but extending to three adaptation areas would mean the programme could be fulfilled in a reasonable time, and subsequent District Plan changes made.

344 - Aaron Herriott

Our biggest risk is our rivers and flooding. Nothing else. This shouldn't require MORE rates increase to solve. Stop wasting funding on climate change prevention to. We are too small in the bigger scheme of things to make and impact at we cannot afford to waste money on it

3452 - Sabine Handel

I can't see a climate adaption fund being used for the right things. Use the money wisely for what it is needed instead of throwing it out for incorrect predictions.

3535 - Anna Harper

Yes keep it simple, there is climate histeria, caused by the media, but it is part of the larger solar cycle and yes we need to adapt. We need CO2 for plants, trees to grow. Farming is not the issue. Educate people on how to grow food, community gardens. Planting trees. Less concrete jungle. Managing water waste is key.

3542 - Beatrix Gilling

No, Frankly there is nowhere near enough funding for climate mitigation or adaption, this is highly likely to result in much higher costs to council with future sea level rise damaging homes, communities and infrastructure particularly in our coastal areas.

3558 - Patrick Kennedy

The spend on climate resilience will barely scratch the surface of what we need to do. With the level of vulnerability to sea level rise to which Otautahi Christchurch is exposed, adaptation and mitigation needs to be one of our most pressing concerns.

3573 - Joyce Yager

I strongly suggest >>> more climate change funding, more effort for emissions reductions in transport

3581 - Steven Barbour

Whether we like it or not, this area is going to be a bigger and bigger issue throughout this planning period. Far more money and ambition is going to be needed than is being proposed here. Quite simply not good enough. Funding for it should not; however, be the sole responsibility of CCC and that is where the work needs to start.

3585 - Rachel Fulton

Climate Emergency Response Fund projects that have been cut need to added back in.

3596 - Susan Lau

On your "Adapting to coastal hazards" page you say: "While this legislation will provide us all with updated guidance about how we can manage these issues in the future, we know that we need to make a start now." Yet it seems like $1.8 million per year for coastal adaptation, with a history so far of no completed adaptation projects (with only one in development at present) is a very weak start. We have so much coast, and so much flat, vulnerable developed land. It seems like the budget is barely taking adaptation and resilience into account at all.

3599 - Hayley Guglietta

Apply a levy on all international travellers coming into Christchurch that is then used to support climate adaptation or a huge shared goal of the most biodiverse joined up city in the world.

3626 - Connie Christensen

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Governance]

Be smart, work collaboratively with other councils (instead of outbidding each other) to engage experts and invest in technology. Climate change issues should be apolitical and should see all councillors work together for long term success!

3627 - Patrick O'Kane

Should this be a central government driven project rather than put on local councils? Potentially more savings if government lead it and there is a national framework?

3635 - Jane Lila McKenzie

Option/ Accelerating adaptation efforts: pg 51 The intent is to spend $318Mill over 10 years re climate change mitigation and ONE BILLION over 10 years on projects that Directly help adapt and build resilience in reference sea level rises. On the council web site 'Adapting to sea level rise in Lyttelton Harbour etc' declares the sea has risen 10 cm in 15 years. Wikipedia informs geological observations indicated during the last 2,000 years, sea level change was small, with an average rate of only 0.0 – 0.2 mm per year in comparison to 1.7+0.5 mm per year for the 20th century. The sea rises and fall, but so too the ground levels.. generally due to earthquakes. To spend such a ludicrous amount on an hypothetical number is outrageous, especially when it means throwing the rate payer more deeply into an absolutely unsustainable and unnecessary debt. I would suggest neither bringing forward funding nor leaving it where it is. It Absolutely needs to be scrapped at this time and the money used to pay the dept as it is an Unnecessary expenditure. A Climate Resilience Fund is not necessary now either. Pg 52 A fund Must be set up for the Alpine Fault Rupture as That is of far greater importance as that will be a suddenly event rather than something that may take another 50 years to begin to come into effect. Therefore I say NO to a Climate Resilience Fund.

>>>

CLIMATE CHANGE Defacto.. is the biggest transfer of wealthy. Many people have become extremely wealthy by promoting this. Sarah Templeton has proudly stated her is teaching and influencing young people on climate change and yet it is an area she has no real information on.

3637 - Sam Davidson

The LTP's provisions for climate adaptation are insufficient. The Climate Resilience Fund, for instance, is very inadequate and must be significantly increased.

3652 - Andrew Hamlin

Although I put yes, as long as the process of analyzing the adapting process is not absorbing too much money.

3676 - Ash Mcneur

I support the submissions from UC Climate Action Club, School Strike for Climate, as well as the submission from Joseph Fullerton (age 21). Fund is not big enough, need more channeled into climate concerns. CCC has a responsibility to begin to divert environmental catastrophe as much as possible, and needs to do it sooner rather than later- otherwise there will not be a later. The funding available is not sufficient to do this.

3678 - Terry Smith

DO NOT AGREE WITH ANY MONEY GOING TOWARDS CLIMATE CHANGE!!!

3690 - Jono de Wit (Greater Ōtautahi)

* Climate change levy – could we use some of that levy for biodiversity.

[Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

[We also need better integration of the climate change strategy and biodiversity strategy. There are currently no ecologists on the climate change working group. So consider whether to add 'biodiversity' to the climate change working group/ and support for funding of biodiversity out of the climate change levy? (so not just focused on adaptation - which may just be infrastructure)

3694 - Jane Pairman

I am not sure whether this is necessary this year. At this time I would prefer to wait and see for a year or so.

3697 - Jennie Brittenden

These funds would need to be found from within the existing funds. It would need to be found from within existing budgets.

3700 - Ian Cumberpatch

Need to reconsider the costs provided for actions re Climate Change ? We are a very small player in the World and need to balance what we need and can do against what we want and want to be seen to be doing ?

Look realistically at what changes we can make that will make significant differences to everyone lives in Christchurch and the wider Canterbury environment.

3723 - Don Babe

Firstly, climate change mitigation can be achieved by requiring contracted service providers and subsidiaries to be more carbon conscious.

>>>

A climate resilience fund is a good idea but it should not necessarily be funded from rates, look at selling assets that are not strategic in order to start this fund.

>>>

The same with building a fund but use some asset sales to kick start the process.

3727 - Carl Fox

There has been a history of allowing development and habitation in obviously suspect areas which when an extreme climate event happens people and communities are affected. This results in expectations of financial assistance that becomes a burden on the rate and taxpayers. We need to stop that cycle happening over and over again. can't we learn from history?

3738 - Finn Jackson

We also need to begin planning for adaptation to non-coastal climate exacerbated hazards like extreme heat, stronger storms (including heavier rainfall), river flooding and fire risk (particularly on the Port Hills and urban-rural fringe). I'd like to see an extreme heat action plan developed, investigations into the use of permeable surfaces and adoption of sponge-city principles across the city, and a fire risk adaptation panel established for the Port Hills.

3741 - Kevin Spaul

But it needs to be lower than 0.25% as money doesn't grow on trees

3746 - Quinn Ledgerwood-Gee

Climate resilience fund is a good start but is no where near large enough--this should be increased hundredfold to meet the needs of the future.

>>>

Accelerated climate programs should be brought forward and given more funding CCC should put a serious mitigation plan in place, focusing on vehicular emissions and levying fees on international travel to Otautahi.

3756 - Christina Hamilton

[Fees and Charges > Other]

Gather revenue, to put aside for adapting to climate change, by adding a fee to coastal attractions eg: New Brighton Pier

3758 - Mads Churchhouse

The climate resilience fund is good, but it isn't big enough. It should be a hundred times the size. The accelerated climate programs should be brought forward, and given a hundred times the funding. CCC must put in place a serious mitigation plan, including reducing car and truck traffic dramatically. It must also begin levying greater fees for international travel coming into Christchurch Airport. CCC should also impose levies on international shipping to account for their emissions, which are not counted under the ETS. In particular cruise ships are a massive polluter - both in emissions and to the marine environment. They dump almost untreated sewage into NZ waters, and each ship releases the particulates of 1 million cars into our air as they sit idling in the port with their engines on. Unlike the industrial shipping at the port, with which many residents are gainfully employed, cruise ships do not bring economic benefit to the city. Cruise ship passengers make up 9% of international tourists, but only account for 3% of tourist economic spend. CCC says in the LTP "While climate change has not been caused by Council". This is a really silly and unscientific stance to take. In future, CCC must be honest about its contributions to the climate crisis, and take mitigation seriously. If CCC's councillors can't even vote to pass the simplest and smallest of proposals to reduce climate impacts, such as reducing speed limits, then obviously, yes, CCC are directly causing climate change.

>>>

I welcome these proposals as CCC desperately needs to invest in climate change and adaptation. However unfortunately these funds don't go far enough because the situation is dire. What CCC is proposing is the absolute minimum spend needed to have any long term positive impacts.

3759 - Ben Connolly

I would like the Climate Adaptation Fund to cover funding for natural infrastructure and biodiversity.

376 - Mattias Wieland

Adaptations to climate change are a sound investment, but central government needs to do more and the rate increase is high enough as it is.

3764 - Jack Gibbons

I believe there isn't enough capital allocated to climate and flooding mitigation. It is considerably easier and cheaper for the council to invest over a long period of time, allowing the industry to grow and catch up to the need. Rather than trying to spend a slug of cash starting in 10 or 20 years when reality sets in, competing for limited industry capacity.

3775 - Kate Latimer

Hold fire for 3 years as essential priorities exist now

>>>

This is what we the ccc needs to be agile nimble & able to adapt to funds available. Climate change will be priority in 3 years that will be clearer where to spend

3780 - Jack Halliday

As mentioned previously, I am incredibly disappointed to see mass removals and delays of projects I care about such as >>> climate change mitigation and adaptation.

3787 - Deb Donnell

[Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

Do not spend another cent on "Climate Change" until you understand that the benchmarks and goals are built on false information and premises. This scam has been tried again and again over the centuries, and is just a money making exercise for the rich and powerful, at the cost of the rate payers.

3802 - Matthew Baird

I support the fund but also ask for more funding for both adaptation and mitigation. Adaptation without mitigation is just an ambulance at the bottom of the cliff. Adaptation funding should go to our most marginalised communities. It is important that coastal communities are involved in planning and preparing for sea level rise so it is done in a respectful way. Mitigation funding should go to easy-to-build mitigation projects like active & public transport, as well as adaptation and resilience projects like speeding up the urban forest plan. Climate change needs to be a high priority for the council - even if we somehow succeed in limiting warming below 2 degrees there will still be more extreme weather and higher sea levels that need to be addressed. Every 0.1 of a degree matters, therefore both mitigation and adaptation are critical.

>>>

Climate Justice: Climate justice and mitigation/adaptation are so important and should be considered across all council activities. We need to be doing everything we can to ensure a healthy, sustainable Ōtautahi & Aotearoa for us, our children, and future generations to live in.

3811 - Greg Canton

But this should require re prioritisation of spending

3815 - Dianne French

We should not be spending any money on climate change!

3817 - Melissa Macfarlane

Not supportive of increasing rates any further in the 2024/25 year but could consider this in outyears.

3819 - Jessica Halliday

There is also insufficient spending on climate mitigation and adaptation.

3840 - Liz Horton

More needs to be spent on climate change mitigation.

>>>

We should increase our spending on climate change dramatically, even by increasing rates to address that spending need.

3846 - Rebecca Finch

1.8 million on the biggest existential risk humans have ever faced? pathetic! Hurry up, get with the program and get cracking on facing the real challenges, climate change is the biggest risk to economy there could possibly be so this amount of funding demonstrably under-estimates the challenges we face.

>>>

I dont think you are taking the climate crisis/emissions crisis seriously.

385 - Francesca Brown

[Strategic Direction> Climate Change],

We have to focus on planetary health - please consider changing your language - climate change is NARROW as detailed earlier. Yes we need to mitigate and change for climate change but its only 1 of the 9 planetary boundaries we need to address.

3869 - Cam Parsonson

[Strategic Directions > Climate Change]

Spend no money on climate in this LTP.

>>>

no provision for any climate fund at all in this LTP

3873 - Angela Curl (Transport, Society and Environment Group, Department of Population Health, University of Otago Christchurch)

The focus on climate change adaptation is important, but there needs to be a clearer focus on and investment in climate mitigation. • We encourage the Council to give further consideration to how equity considerations will be operationalised in the relevant Measures of Success. The currently listed Measures of Success are at an aggregate level and could still be met even if provision became more inequitable. For example, the plan notes the need to enhance access to public transport networks, with increased priority in underserved areas. Relevant measurement metrics include increasing infrastructure provision for public and active modes, and improving customer satisfaction with public transport facilities. Neither of these measures includes an indication of the prioritisation of underserved areas. We support the focus on underserved areas, and more broadly on customers with currently unmet needs, and would like to see these included in assessment metrics.

3875 - Maureen McCloy

There's insufficient effort and funds going into climate change - prevention, mitigation and adaptation.

3876 - Dave Evans

Climate change is already upon us and the effects will only increase more quickly until the world gets emissions under control. The sooner we begin adapting the less traumatic it will be. At the same time we need to be working to mitigate our emissions. For all capital projects there should be a calculation of the carbon cost (including embedded emissions of the materials) and an effort to reduce those emissions. For example, was the carbon cost of Te Kaha calculated? That cost should have been a consideration in the decision to proceed, or not.

>>>

[Spending > Capital Programme (General)]

The projects that were to be funded by the Climate Emergency Response Fund should be considered for future transfer to the Council's capital programme.

3895 - Margaret Trotter

Stop the ongoing ignorance of what we do and this would reduce the impact on climate change. Our habits as a society eg wastage, plastics (where are the glass milk bottles?) are creating many of the issues. Putting more money in to fix the damage is the ambulance at the bottom of the cliff.

3896 - Coral Denize

I would like to know more about what is planned for the proposed adaptation

3898 - Richard Smith

STOP CREATION OF FUNDING FOR CLIMATE CHANGE FUTURE - KEEP HEADROOM FOR BORROWING IN FUTURE FOR THAT AND EMBED IN CURRENT PROJECTS APPROPRIATE PRECAUTIONS

>>>

DO NOT create a Climate Resilience Fund - consider (reasonable & realistic) requirements in capital projects as they are done NO putting cash into climate change pots - just keep headroom to borrow

>>>

STOP ADAPTATION FUNDING - PRIVATE PROPERTY SHOULD BE LOOKED AFTER BY THE PRIVATE PROPERTY SHOULD BE LOOKED AFTER BY THE PRIVATE OWNERS AND ANY COMPENSATION SHOULD BE FROM CENTRAL GOVERNMENT

3899 - Harrison McEvoy

[Parks > Biodiversity & Ecological Restoration, Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design & Urban Regeneration > Coastal Hazards Adaptation & Adaptation planning]

Council must allocate more funding to implement the biodiversity strategy (less than 50% of actions are currently being implemented). There must also be consideration given during this LTP period to the creation of a fund or allocation for preparation to undertake Climate Mitigation works or Managed Retreat in future.

>>>

[Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

The LTP fails to meet the bare minimum levels of investment in climate mitigation. There is little to no scope for future requirements, and it has been consistently noted that the current investment will not even meet our existing goals. CCC has $3.2B in property that will be affected by sea level rise alone in the medium-term and little in terms of forward thinking funding to respond.

3902 - James Ridpath

If we're trying to decrease budget costs, leave this area to see what the government comes up with. We could end up spending money that we don't need to, particularly because we don't actually know what to spend it on to make the biggest difference yet.

3908 - Cathy Harlow

I think this is actually an area where central government should be providing the finance. Climate adaptation is very important. But it's a national issue and central government shouldn't be allowed to pass the buck to local government. The Productivity Commissions' inquiry into local government funding correctly identified national issues as requiring central government level funding. Push back on Central Government disingenuously winning votes with tax cuts that local government has to compensate for in higher rates.

3936 - Carley Dove-McFalls

But also increase mitigation projects even more urgently as adaptation will only cost us more and more if we don't act to reduce the effects of climate change in the future.

3940 - Molly McKinstry

[Rates > Business Rates]

I would like to see more targeted rates towards big companies, and more funding for climate action.

3944 - Lyn Dawson

Planning, planning, planning. If climate change adaption is built into planning we don't have to spend later.

3945 - Callum Snell

Insufficient investment in climate mitigation and adaptation.

3960 - Nicola Prattley

Please help residents take steps to reduce their impact. Help with funding for solar panels and more energy efficient, warmer, drier homes would be great.

3965 - Dean Banks

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?]

>>> I think that there needs to be more focus on address the ongoing effects of climate change. I understand that raising rates to fund that action is unpopular but so will continued wildfires and other extreme weather events. I am greatly concerned that Christchurch will not reach its net zero carbon goal so more action needs to be taken.

3966 - Michael Apathy (Climate Liberation Aotearoa)

>>> We are pleased to see that CCC can name climate change as a concern. However, the Climate Adaptation Fund is not big enough, and the accelerated programs must receive more money and be accelerated faster. >>>

>>>

[Rates - various]

[Transport > various]

[Other various]

Climate Liberation Aotearoa is a direct action group which recognises the clear and present danger in the climate crisis. All around the world, we are seeing extreme weather events; they are now so ubiquitous that we feel it would detract from their prevalence to list individual examples.[\[1\]](#) Aotearoa New Zealand is subject to these disasters, as we have seen in Tāmaki Makaurau Auckland with last year's Auckland Anniversary Floods.

It is no longer good enough to accept business as usual. As Restore Passenger Rail, we considered our role to be to raise awareness about solutions that governing bodies could easily take to address both mitigation and adaptation. The Restoration of Passenger Rail was low-hanging fruit; any government body which recognised the threat to earth systems would have grasped the benefits. Ours did not.

Now, we find CCC in the same position. The solutions to the problems that we face are right in front of us; CCC does not take them. Canterbury flooded in 2021. The Heathcote floods regularly. The Port Hills, at time of writing, burned just months ago. We must stop pretending that there is no problem. CCC must take responsibility for its part in the climate crisis.

We are talking about rates. We consider this obscene. Prioritising rates savings for today's ratepayers over the ability for their children to inhabit a livable planet is, in our view, a gross dereliction of CCC's responsibilities. Rates must rise by more than is proposed. Rates must also target those who profit from contributing to the crisis. Therefore, there must be targeted rates on polluting businesses. We suggest petrol stations, but many more businesses benefit. We support the extension of the vacant lot differential, and think it should be increased. We support the short term accommodation business rating, and we believe it should be applied to any rental property.

At any given time, infrastructure is cheaper to build than it will be in the future. This is more true than ever in the climate crisis. Rates must rise by as much as they can to build resilience in this city, because if there is no resilience there is no city. The coast is eroding. Houses are flooding. Infrastructure must be built yesterday, but failing that, today is the next best time.

Therefore, we demand that CCC puts serious investment into measures such as flood protection, green spaces, and emissions reduction.

CCC takes an attitude that it is not responsible for the consequences of its own policies. It believes it bears no responsibility for those living on the coast, even though CCC zoned for those houses to be built. This is obscene and irresponsible. CCC must immediately begin a managed retreat programme which compensates renters. Similarly, CCC appears unwilling to accept that its car-dependent transport planning causes residents to contribute to the climate crisis. This is obscene. The LTP must make provisions to install bus and bike lanes on every single road more than two lanes wide. It must desurface roads to create rain gardens for flood protection. Further, CCC appears unwilling to understand that it is the beneficiary of historic colonialism. Therefore, the OARC Co-Governance entity is postponed to 2026. It must be established now. There are many more examples of projects in the LTP, such as the Heathcote Floodplain Implementation program, which are pushed out beyond the current LTP cycle. This is not good enough. If these are important enough to invest in, they are important enough to invest in now. Therefore, we ask that every single capital investment is scheduled for completion by 2025, and rates raised accordingly.

Even if this is not possible, the MCRs must all be completed by 2025. Other cycle lanes such as Memorial Ave and Ferry Road must be permanentised or built.

We are pleased to see that CCC can name climate change as a concern. However, the Climate Adaptation Fund is not big enough, and the accelerated programs must receive more money and be accelerated faster. Biodiversity funds are not optional, and Port Hills native replanting must take place immediately (we therefore oppose the sale of the Red Zone. This must instead be replanted).

[\[1\]](#) Consequently, we do not cite this claim. Readers may consult any reputable news website.

3968 - Joseph Fullerton (UC Climate Action Club)

- The climate resilience fund is good, but it isn't big enough. It should be a hundred times the size.
- The accelerated climate programs should be brought forward, and given a hundred times the funding.
- CCC must put in place a serious mitigation plan, including reducing car and truck traffic dramatically. It must also begin levying greater fees for international travel coming into Christchurch Airport.
- CCC says in the LTP "While climate change has not been caused by Council". In future, CCC must be honest about its contributions to the climate crisis, and take mitigation seriously.
- CCC says in the LTP that sea level rise threatening homes is "mitigated" by "homeowners [being] anxious and uncertain". This isn't good enough; CCC has a responsibility to residents who live in houses that CCC zoned to get built. Therefore, CCC must start a managed retreat program in 2025, with compensation for renters.
- Because the climate crisis will massively increase the scale of flooding, the stormwater system must be bolstered with robust drainage systems across the city; maintaining current pipes is not good enough.
- Because the climate crisis will massively increase the scale of rain events, concrete surfacing on roads will cause more strain on the stormwater system because of the non-permeable surface. Therefore, CCC should immediately commit to desurfacing many roads and replacing them with rain gardens.

- The city council's sustainability fund ends in the financial year of 2025. This fund is designed to help schools, social enterprises and small businesses focus their efforts on sustainability. We need to get this reinstated with increased funding in future years.

3969 - H Bloomer-Law

The council should be focused 100% on making Ōtautahi a liveable city that is on track to meet its climate targets and looks after its environment and disadvantaged people.

>>>

The climate adaptation resources must be created with equitable intent. This must include consideration of Runanga being disproportionately affected by climate change and provisions for renters in vulnerable areas- don't let anyone fall through the gaps when prepping for and responding to disasters.

3971 - Joseph Fullerton

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?]

No. This Long Term Plan is vastly insufficient in every regard. The LTP notes huge population growth, but it does nothing to prepare for densification for increased population. It does not do enough to increase levels of service, and it over-invests in roads, which contribute to the climate crisis >>>

3985 - Benjamin Lowe

More could be spent to stop climate change, and mitigating the effects e.g withdrawal from the coast.

>>>

Do you have any comments on our additional proposals to invest more in adapting to climate change?

The investment of $1.8 million for adapting to climate change is very small. Should be at least 10 X that amount.

3986 - Chris Kelly

Do you have any comments on our additional proposals to invest more in adapting to climate change?

I think alot of that money will be wasted, instead focus on the Oxford zoning model and create Carbon savings that way. Do it NOW! We cant wait!

4007 - Luka Whitaker

more

4016 - Joanne Zervos

Like to see the council be more proactive with updating residents with current SLR & VLM data - actual - ^{$1.8 million forward.} so we know how we are tracking.

>>>

I'm on the current B.P. CHAP & can see there are a lot of efficiencies which could be made in this process. The programme could be streamlined & time reduced significantly. There are obvious outcomes to future proof council assets, some of these do not have to wait for CHAP - they should be addressed sooner - e.g. cygnet St Pipeline & the Brooklands Lagoon stop banks, and flooding issues. Flood prone communities like Avondale need prioritising

4032 - Paul Dietsche

These climate change investments are still insufficient

4037 - Jo Kidd

Provided that the funds are managed well and it doesn't add to bureaucracy

422 - Nias Kitchin

Ditch the the extras that we don't need to build and create in such a hard time and it a little bit away for climate fund is fair

458 - Christine Cockle

[Strategic Direction>Climate Change]

No ratepayer money should be spent on climate change.

>>>

Likewise any monies wasted on climate change.

466 - John Pryor

This is not immediately pressing. Reserve this (which is a sensible programme) for when costs of capital are lower and debt is more manageable.

546 - Lisa Boyce

More detail needed. Check out the food commons in waltham. That is a person worth working with.

579 - Rosemary Neave

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

Major cycle Routes should not be delayed, they are a key part of becoming a climate resilient city - cycle link to Te Arai college and other schools should be a priority - restore Climate Emergency Response Funds

635 - Ashley Campbell

I want to see the following Climate Emergency Response Fund projects added back in, as they serve communities that desperately needs lower-cost, safe ways to travel, particularly for school children.

>>>

If we don't have funds available to do climate adaptation when necessary, it will end up costing hugely more in the long run. Going back to my first comment - show leadership. We know this is necessary. I do like the idea I saw recently of adding a $5 levy on all flights in and out of Christchurch Airport as a way of funding this - this is a small addition to the cost of an airfare, and given that air travel is a major source of emissions, it makes sense that air travellers should pay.

665 - Rene Arthur

Can this climate adaptation fund seek investors, and incentives for this fund? Can we be more innovative on how not only ratepayers, but how businesses, and overseas investors can contribute to this?

669 - Daniel Barkley

This fund would have to be well managed and have set criteria around how it was to be spent. ie not on things unrelated to climate adaption.

670 - Sue Orpwood

Be very sure of all expert opinions from all perspectives on climate change before committing.

6900 - Geraldine Jellyman

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Coastal Hazards Adaptation & Adaptation Planning]

Because there are so many vocal climate change sceptics maybe its better to give it a different name. We all experience adverse weather events so maybe it needs to be a fund for both weather emergencies and preventative protections. The swale work around the city would be a good example of excellent preventative measures. However sea level rise has to be taken seriously and if people build on coastal edges the consents need to say there will be no compensation for erosion. Some areas in NZ have had that policy for a number of years or stop consenting coastal building.

694 - Lucia Rivas

I agree but this should also be in line with central government initiatives too. At the moment the country and residents are in a financially precarious position. I do think climate change initiatives are very important but it needs to be prioritised correctly.

730 - Doug Allen

A councillor recently report that the majority of people in Christchurch listed climate change was their greatest priority according to a council survey. This particular councillor was attempting to drum up support for a climate change fund. When you analysed the numbers under 1% of the population responded to the survey. The councillor was very misleading in this respect and it is disappointing to see someone in their position attempting to mislead the public. It makes no business sense to establish a fund for future use, the correct think to do is carry out the work, and then borrow the money for the known cost.

761 - Carol Groves

This money must be ring fenced, can not go into the consolidated fund in the future. Must do what it is earmarked for only.

785 - Ariana Tikao

[Strategic Direction>Climate Change]

More opportunities should be created for children and families to become involved in learning about climate change and how we can create better adaptation as a community and minimise risks. There should be mitigations built into our everyday activities and processes and public and private resources such as transport, housing, water management, parks etc. The Council could provide more leadership in this area.

789 - Stuart Sanderson

[Spending>Our Proposed Spending]

reduce all spending in this area

822 - Gavin Scott-Petersen

While addressing climate change is indeed crucial for all of us, it's essential to approach the changes we make with careful consideration. Rapid technological advancements mean we must be cautious about committing to costly solutions that may soon become outdated. For example, the current shift towards electric vehicles might soon be overtaken by hydrogen technology, potentially diminishing the value of today's electric cars significantly in just a few years. It's important to prioritize our actions, focusing on immediate and significant needs like water infrastructure, ensuring our investments remain relevant and valuable in the long term.

847 - David Bromell

I do not support Net Zero commitments or the proposed level of investment in climate change mitigation, but do support investment in climate change adaptation and resilient infrastructure.

852 - Ben Tyas

A fund it likely a good decision though in year one given the rates increases may be a challenge for some people. Would recommend reducing budgets associated with activities which will increase the need for this fund (I.e. roading maintenance) and using this saving to create the fund.

977 - Bridget Stokes

[Three Waters > Stormwater & Land Drainage (Capital)]

Before any Climate adaptation work the Council should fix all old and problematic stormwater issues- 1944 storm waterways and culverts are not coping with normal rain (which is often fibbed off at 1 in 7 year rainfall event) this needs addressing by the Council first before climate change portfolios.

982 - Craig Newbury

But only if funded from cuts elsewhere as already discribed. And remember the science is not settled!

Not Stated

1012 - Andrea Mcgregor

Remember sire OTHER than Sumner and Redcliffs are vulnerable to raising sea levels.

1143 - Stuart Berryman

We already know risks

1158 - Sheryl Elson

We are paying enough rates as it is

1175 - Jonathan Ludgater

Its a Hoax!

1190 - Callum McGlinchy

We don't have the luxury of spending on climate change currently. Essentials only

>>>

Nice to have. Not need.

1230 - Carlana Limmer

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

Yes need to focus on some climate adaptations, but not cycle lanes.

1282 - Kelvin Lynn

Reduce car numbers.

1287 - Felicity Price

The Council needs to focus on the here and now, not climate change.

1290 - Aric Thorn

I put I don't know because I'm unsure on how this will be utilised. I think there is a degree of moral hazard with how we deal with payouts from climate change risk.

130 - Jennifer Nuthall

I worry that future councils will raid such a fund for other non climate related work.

1308 - Bernadette Bowe

I feel that New Zealand as a whole are doing their bit for Climate Change. We are just a small island and the climate change proposals are large, onerous and costly. We could be meeting targets at a huge cost to everyone whereas the larger countries don't play their part and just pay a fine.

1312 - Andrea Bromley

Climate change is a money grab that alarmists are pushing their beliefs/fear on everyone. Weather happens, always has and always will. Change comes with that. Its not new. Reducing emmisions here makes no difference to the global effect unless China and India etc are going to do anything. How about instead of encouraging everyone to get NEW cars, we work on maintaining the old, restoring them and keeping them longer than 5 years.. How much emissions come from creating an electric car?

133 - Alan Mears

Need to adapt to climate change but must cut cloth to match finance

1330 - Gary Bint

Climate costs are getting over engineered with too many involved

1348 - Richard Pickering

We really need to do as much as we can to reduce emissions - see comments in transport.

139 - Paul Tait

Climate change affects many areas including food production rivers, fires coast lines. Its going to take an international effort keep it simple

14 - Luke Chandler

[Parks > Ōtākaro Avon River Corridor Regeneration]

Delaying the Avon River Corridor Ecological Restoration by 5 years would more than cover this, which climate change is very important to our city

141 - Ann Coates

Climate change is a load of crap. What we do will not stop it, learn to live with it and adapt and stop trying to prevent something that can't be prevented.

1448 - Josh Fiveash

Climate is just another tax

1500 - Warwick Schaffer

The climate adaption work also need to be reassessed. This team is causing more damage than good and spending large sums doing it.

1501 - Jason Middlemiss (Waimāero Fendalton-Waimairi-Harewood Community Board)

The Board submits that it is confusing to be asked whether to include this funding, when climate change investment is named as the Council's top priority and the Council has declared a climate change emergency. Our expectation is that the top priority issues would have been baked into the plan, with lower priority projects not included. Establishing a dedicated fund to manage future necessary changes to Council assets aligns with our adaptation plans and provides a sensible approach to allocate resources for unforeseen climate-related challenges. Having a fund set aside for this purpose offers flexibility and ensures that we are prepared to address emerging issues promptly. However, it is essential to proceed cautiously, considering the uncertainties surrounding the climate crisis and the potential solutions or challenges we may face in the future. The lack of clarity on how the fund would be established, managed, governed, and the criteria for its utilisation raises concerns about transparency and accountability. Residents deserve transparency and certainty regarding how their rates are being utilised and how the fund will safeguard Council assets. The Board's view is that these issues need to be addressed before a decision can be made on the establishment of the fund. This is likely to require a separate consultation and deliberation process. In relation to bringing forward funding for the Coastal Adaptation Planning Programme, the Board does not dispute that this is vital work. However, we need to balance this against the immediate needs of our residents. To bring this funding forward in the current economic environment, the Board's view is the Council would need to be confident that the outcome would be a greater return on investment than if we waited until 2027/28.

1512 - Denis McMurtrie

Always note climate change is a natural process and to stand fully in its way is a great cost which often does not work. Putting up a wall or flood bank does not mean you go and build behind it thinking you are safe.

1567 - Sarah Pritchett

Not sure - The option for a climate resilience fund seems logical but this is only an option at the moment.

16 - Andrew McKay

Plant trees. There is bugger all you can do to adapt to climate change. The climate changes, often quite unexpectedly.

1654 - Jane Ross

Have a real look into Climate Change. Listen to true science. Not fearmongering.

17 - Sandra Pilet

The climate changes wether we like it or not. I can not believe people think by pushing money at it, it will keep the weather the way we want it. Come on!!

1749 - Nicole Baxter-Warren

I would prefer to see how this was most specifically going to be set up and who was in charge of the decision making.

1826 - Jacqui Hudson

Our country is too small to have any major impact on climate change

190 - Darian Troon

I work with young people and this is an extremely prominent concern for them.

1996 - Iain Nicholls

Stop wasting our money on trying to hold back the tide of climate change.

1997 - Justine Wright

dont depend on a trend... climate change is not a thing... the weather works in cycles... nothing new.

20 - Ross Williamson

Don,t panic, steady progress on that.

2006 - Aaron Mcloughlin

Having attended a number of council meetings I feel convinced that any comment made regarding climate change contrary to the council narrative falls on deaf ears. As we are noticing , on an international scale, climate change is not what it seems and is certainly not being caused by human activity. We do however need to build reasonable plans for the fact that nature changes and that can have all manner of negative effects on our lives as humans. This does not however mean that every proposal has to be under the 'umbrella'

2074 - Andrei Kardos

Not interested in any climate change rubbish. Made up crap to steal money from public.

2089 - Serge Ratten

Why not move,
it benefits every one

2110 - Jennifer McMaster

Though the proposals mention the climate, no affirmative action or plans to reduce the effects of climate change have been put forward. The council needs to invest more in public transport, waste management, forest regeneration and protecting our waterways. We cannot simply 'adapt' to climate changes, we must fight back against it through carbon sequestration, protecting and reinstating native habitat and ~~adding~~ creating more regulation around large-scale farming and nitrate runoff. ~~the~~ Papatūānuku feeds us, waters us, raises us. When we poison the soil with the food we grow, poison the waters with chemicals and dredging, and deny the futures of tamariki through not taking action on climate - we are killing Papatūānuku, and ourselves.

228 - Martin Tatchell

[Strategic Direction > Climate Change], [Spending > Our proposed spending]

It is essential to invest in projects that are better for the climate in all areas.

2287 - Alice Johnson

I believed in man-made climate change for decades. Now I know water is the gas that has the biggest affect on climate - it can cool us when it forms clouds, but it can also warm us. There is much more water in the atmosphere than CO₂, which is only 0.04%. It doesn't mean that the climate doesn't change, it does. If we find that we need to adapt to it, then we should consider this. But we should ignore the fear mongering and just look at historical weather data when deciding what the risk is.

2296 - Vickie Walker

Climate change. I don't believe in it.
It's a natural part of what the world does. I do believe plastic should be minimized more though.

2310 - Helen Broughton (Waipuna Halswell Hornby Riccarton Community Board)

There are mixed views within the Board and community on how to provide for climate adaptation expenditure.

2312 - Christian Schipani

Christchurch is the most beautiful, clean, well kept city I've ever lived in. I am satisfied with the amount of events currently provided and attracted here. I care about climate adaptation, public transportation improvements, and care of our beautiful parks and surrounding nature.

2313 - William Godsoe

We are already seeing consequences of our lack of preparedness I watch my relatives in Canada who were unprepared for the huge forest fires last year and wish someone had thought ahead. So planning is needed, but the question is phrased in a very technical way I don't see how I as a member of the public can comment on the specific allocation proposed here.

2338 - Robin Schulz (Coronation Reserve Residents Group)

Climate Change is a natural occurring event.

2367 - Stephen Conti

Perhaps you should convince China, India and the USA before Christchurch leads the way, seriously what is wrong with you people?

2368 - Alaine Percasky

Not sure about this yet.

2404 - Grant MacLeod

[Other/Special Interest Topics>Governance]

Dont let you community boards act out against you when it comes to council policy.

2407 - Dave Evans

Yes, what is the $318 million actually going to be spent on? No idea if it is wisely planned or just numbers pulled out of the air and someone's spreadsheet.

2467 - John Ogier

At some stage in the future areas of the city will need to relocate to higher ground. The will be forced on people when insurance becomes impossible to get.

2491 - Heidi Warren

If climate change is real why don't you bulldoze the seaside towns over? Why invest any money in anything near the sea at all?

2509 - Angela Nicol

I certainly agree with looking at Cilmate Change, this is when my options are conflicted (from not starting new projects), as I'd prefer lower rates for the short term, but then understanding and getting involved with Climate Change options are important now.

2511 - Charlaine Palmer

Stop development in risk prone areas

2544 - John Bannock (Governors Bay Community Association)

The GBCA supports the work of the Coastal Hazards Panel.

2603 - Ron Brooks

climate change is a scam.

>>>

you mean the hoax. or the hype. climate will naturally change with cycles. you have lots of empty property in red zone. instead of roping it off you should let the increasing poor population put up tiny houses there and facilitate connecting to elect. and water and suitable sewage systems for them. after all it is your policies which have impoverished them.

2640 - Wayne Hawker (New Brighton Museum)

Imagine if such a fund was in place many years ago it could have been used to help rebuild the underground infrastructure that was damaged during the earthquakes

2699 - Graham Beswick

No real comments this is something we have to address sooner than later I guess

2733 - Georgia Macaulay

Like I mentioned in earlier comments, it cannot be stopped at this point now it will be about how we adapt to cope with the changes. Maybe more trees to provide shade for the days when there are heat waves, breakwaters to protect our vulnerable coast, raising again of minimum floor levels for builds to protect from flooding, building and insulation standards taken from neighbouring countries with particularly harsh winters?

2762 - Geraldine Allan

Stop using climate change as a way to get what you want

2772 - Janice Antill

See more on my comments on our additional proposals to invest more in adapting to climate change.

"Climate change" is a scam (WEF)
... We have always had climate change even before homo sapiens
No Smart City! (No to the WEF/United Nations agenda)

2784 - Jenny Smith (Te Whare Roimata Trust)

In addition to our focus on the Inner City East/Linwood community we support: no further reduction to existing and continued work on climate resilience and adaption

2786 - Redact Redacted

Do you have any comments on our additional proposals to invest more in adapting to climate change?

This is Ecan's responsibility surely. Do they have a plan?

2791 - David Dockery

Do you have any comments on our additional proposals to invest more in adapting to climate change:

Climate Change is real but 5 million people don't make a difference here in NZ when 10% of NZ are trees & grass. and one Carbon foot print is then 0. zero

Should put more pressure on other countries. who are the cause like India China USA Americas. etc. instead.

2793

Climate change: • If you follow the real science (not the globalist funded political science) then you will know that there is no climate change emergency, the sea level is not rising, neither is the temperature, the summer just past was one of the coolest summers I have experienced in many years. • There is no place for the globalist climate conspiracy narrative or their money in our city

>>>

Council is obsessed with removing the natural living environment, soil, trees, shrubs etc and replacing it with asphalt, concrete, tiles and shingle. These inorganic surfaces radiate heat rather than absorb, thus exacerbating the appearance of global warming

28 - Geoff Egan

We could spend all the ratepayers money and make no difference to climate change

282 - Michael Heenan

Would need to understand more of the detail around this to tick the go ahead button.

2848 - Glen Koorey

There are pros and cons about whether we have some money already waiting and available or whether we simply dip into some of the spare debt gap if needed.

289 - Julian Springer

failed to articulate why this is necessary especially in light of increased insurance costs

3011 - Annette Marchant

Flexibility needed. See what happens.

3043 - J Elliott

Councils around the Country have been captured by progressive ideology like Climate Alarmism. Demanding that the Ratepayer is financially burdened in the name of climate science won't help the planet but it will drive people out of their homes. Where there is real and imminent risk from coastal erosion and flooding this should be addressed along with the consequences of High Density Housing which will increase the risk of flooding. It is your role to deliver vital public services with the knowledge every $ comes from the ratepayers, not to engage in ideology

315 - Sophia Pegg

If that priority is in fact libraries, parks and waterways. If spending money on climate change initiatives takes funding from these things you need to reassess.

316 - Margaret Whittaker

The climate has always changed and always will

322 - Richie Connell

Tricky one as I think we are such a bit player in this. We all know that globally if the major polluters do nothing, as they are, then we are all royally stuffed. Am I wrong?

3257 - Fiona Jones

This is already in eccan it seems to be double dipping and nothing that you can actually do that would make a difference

3307 - Richard Griffiths

Environmentalists with concerns about sea level rise have prevented the construction of adequate sea walls on the southshore side of the estuary which is criminal because our greatest vulnerability to climate change is the risk of stormwater from greater Christchurch causing erosion.

334 - Clare Marshall

What are your actual plans for this money? I don't think you know enough about what you're doing to start either setting up funds or bringing budgeted money forward. I don't think you have a good-enough understanding of the problems to come to start spending money now and I think it will be wasted. Are there best-practice models to follow elsewhere around the world? You're not clear enough on what you want to do with this money in real terms that is efficient and practical to warrant spending it (funding endless think tanks and consultation does not count as efficient use of the money).

3346 - Lynette Bay

Climate goals as they are, are unrealistic and non achievable. Where is your common sense in your goals? These goals need to be reset using actual data and not modelling which is very inaccurate. Why do we have a specific climate fund? Climate has been changing and evolving since the beginning of time, the speed of change is very debatable.

3363 - Brodie Marra-Stevenson

This would help with youth mental health if publicised correctly.

3389 - Megan Roulston

If you won't invest in adaptation planning then there is no point even holding the conversation.

3396 - Lucy King

[Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

Watch Climate change the movie. Al Gore was not a physicist. It is a scam if u follow the money. Late Prof David Bellamy explained this years ago. Again follow those silenced. Science asks questions and seeks truth not $$$

3408 - Warren Feeney

I would again emphasise that attention needs to be on the existing resources functioning in a city still in the serious process of being rebuilt. The central city has significant resources fully functioning that must be maintained as the key attraction that they are to residents and visitors.

3413 - Janey Archbold

Anything we do for climate change is a waste of time and energy when you look at the big picture

3444 - Jo McGregor

Climate Change alarmist nonsense is a scam - the sea level is NOT rising. 80% of the Global CO2 emissions come from just 57 companies. The biggest polluter is China Coal. We send our coal to China Coal. If NZ govt truly believes in climate change, how dare they tax us with rates hikes... how hypocritical! Remove Sara Templeton from her role in the council. She is unqualified - she has no science background, and is brainwashing children into believing there is a need to panic about the sea levels etc.

3493 - Brendon Lee

Why are these funds done at the municipal level? Should this not be done at the national gov't level?

3502 - Rach Wilson

Can't believe climate change is costing $$$, how do you even fix it

3510 - Michael Horgan

Yes, base things on facts, not the sensational items that have become the recent topics

3529 - Marc Duff

So frustrating to be addressing this issue in the future when we have so many infrastructure issues currently not being addressed from the past and a suburb like Hornby struggling to cope and under increasing fire from intensification.

3586 - Rachel Geddis

Would a slush fund have helped expedite the rebuild after the earthquake? I think we'd still be in this position. Too much red tape, and building and roading costs are just so expensive, we need to be looking into and investing in ways to improve these processes

3606 - Mark Dowers

Climate is important, but don't let the extreme voices colour the conversation. We do need to be prepared and climate change is happening, but this must not come at the cost of our poorer residents.

3610 - Eric Stierna

Adapting to climate change requires action from the residents of Christchurch and the NZ government. Setting targets for savings by reducing waste and allocating a portion of those savings to explore ways of adapting to climate change would be a self-funding approach that does not increase rates. Reducing the mown area of parks is an example of the way lean could be used to save on fuel, maintenance and manpower needed to support our natural areas.

362 - Christine Stiles-Pickard

I'm extremely environmentally aware and do the best I can to recycle and mitigate my impact. What is needed is better recycling and encouragement to promote products with longevity rather than built in obsolescence. Time and time again I have seen spending large sums of money sitting around talking rather than using common sense and doing what necessary

3624 - Noeline Marsh

Remember, climate change is not being affected by carbon produced by humans. Carbon levels are at 0.04% and if they get to 0.02% plants will die and thats the end of earth as we know it.

3629 - Marie Graham

Climate adaptation are funded sufficiently in this draft. It's what the funds will achieve to future proof the city that's important

3634 - Peter Cooper

Cant do nothing, its too late for that. The new lunatics running the national assylum are determined to distroy the country.

372 - Kyle Bluck

Council can't just be day-to-day focused. It needs to be vision focused and I just hope that in these times of money being tight, we don't kill off creativity and all of the other things that make a city livible, especially things that don't have any explicit monetary/economic value.

3722 - Rachel Thwaites

The prediction models are incorrect and still are. If it was really an issue you would not allow any development to occur anywhere in Chch

3726 - Cliff Mason

Is unavoidable but, as mitigation involves stopping existing activities to a significant extent, this should not incur financial costs.

375 - Alex McNeill

Ōtautahi is such a great place to live. I've loved living here for the past 13 years, and I'm looking forward to the rest of my life here. The things that make it great are the things we need to protect by investing in them and not shying away from difficult decisions. E.g. ease of getting around without relying on a car - boost our bus and bike infrastructure. Easy to access green spaces - continue tree planting. Reliable drinking and storm water - invest in upgrading our systems so that they are resilient against climate change. Yes, this rates increase is expensive during this cost of living crisis. We need to be careful to support our less well-off ratepayers.

3750 - Kathrin Affeld

The proposed plan is very vague and lacks a holistic approach. I can't see what is being proposed to make the city more sustainable in the long term. It's about adaptations rather than mitigations.

3784 - Simona Wallwork (Nomads United AFC)

get to work on preventing climate change not just adapting to the inevitable

3805 - Antony Lawrence

This is not the time for virtuous acts given huge cost of living pressures. Until China, India, USA and Russia act to reduce emissions our efforts have little effect given our contribution to greenhouse gas emission is less than 0.2% of global total.

3865 - Maxine Donovan

Not sure whether rushing into it is going to be good, but also dont want costs to triple when the time comes to deal with and may have then done it sooner at less cost.

>>>

Have funding available for Community gardens programmes, red zone planting projects, and Jobs for Nature projects providing tremendous planting, predator control. Safer pedestrian and cycling. Clean water.

3910 - Joshua Jones

What is your definition of climate change mitigation? Storm water and healthy water sources is a must - cleaner rivers, more native tree planting, better fire risk reduction

3920 - Malcolm Clark

Stop being woke. You are falling for the lie of climate change.

3931 - David Moorhouse

The models being used do not reflect the accelerating effects of climate change

3957 - Anne Scott (Spokes Canterbury)

Climate Change or Biodiversity programmes should also be given protection as it is an essential investment in future generations. [Coder note: From cost cuts]

3963 - Jillian Scott

Let New Brighton flood and stop spending money to save houses in the area. Climate change is not new.

3965 - Dean Banks

It is likely to cost well more than the set aside 1.8 Million. There needs to be real accountability to that fact and the actual fund could be rapidly emptied during an extreme event.

3988 - Jerry French

NZ IS A THIN / LONG COUNTRY. IT IS VERY WINDY. WHAT WE DO IN NZ HAS NO OR LITTLE AFFECT ON CLIMATE CHANGE. WE SHOULD LOOK MORE TOWARDS CLIMATE RESILIENCE - IE NO ELECTRIC BUSES + CARS FOR A COUNCIL STAFF, WHICH ARE NOT GREEN!! BUT CLIMATE RESILIENCE IS NOT A PRIORITY.

3996 - David Lough

LET'S NEVER FORGET THE SEA SHORELINE WAS CLOSE TO DEANS BUSH 6000 YEARS AGO. WHY FIGHT NATURE.

LET THE PRIVATE SECTOR DEVELOP FLOATING HOUSES + FLOATING SUBURBS. CREATE THE INVESTMENT ENVIRONMENT.

4001 - Jennifer Porter

As I said before, rates increases can be postponed. The amount mentioned if increased in cups of coffee – e.g. 1 or 2 less per week, are manageable!.

4003 - Kristine Jolliy

- All Council vehicles should be electric.
- Houses to be encouraged to have solar power.
- Less watering in parks
- Fine household who constantly water their lawn and berms.
- Encourage wildlife berms
- Enforce developers to not take away farm soil. Pile it up and put back onto the sections
- All new developments should force residents to plan on new build at least 3 trees. (Or pollinants e.g. fruit trees)

4005 - Janet Lockyer

I wonder if all the time on making plans is actually going to achieve something or just be paperwork. A lot of money seems to have been spend on the planning so far. I wonder if everyone involved in this planning is being paid, hence the cost of it so far?

416 - Mike Cleaver (Canterbury)

good luck!

464 - Mary McCammon

Actions speak louder than words. Kia kaha!

48 - Kean Mitchell

Investment in revenue creating infrastructure that allows for adapting and futureproofing is the target outcome.....

497 - Anna Taylor

I'd need to see more information about the fund and it's tangible benefits. Unfortunately, the council cannot work alone to create change and this should be a government initiative, not a local council one

587 - Diana Holderness

Why not see if ChCh is having climate change

657 - Murray Peacock

The people that want the Council to increase climate adaption funding do not pay rates which at a 13.24% increase are no longer affordable

663 - Sam Chow-Tan

Dont be too ambitious

794 - Yanny Webb-Walker

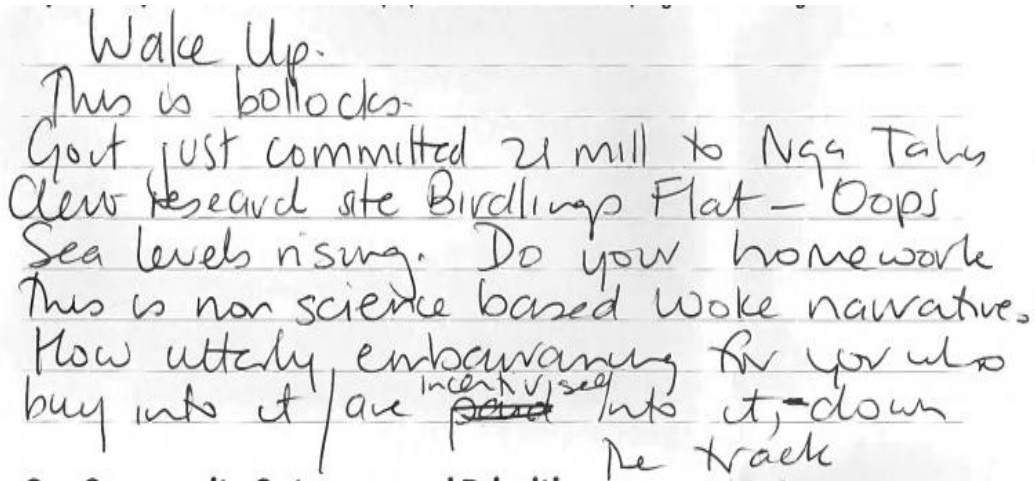

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration>City Planning]

Surely the first and easiest is not to allow building in silly places. Let's plan and be sensible about it, but not wasteful

880 - Peter Kim

Theres no information about how this will be achieved. Classic council spewing meaningless words with no real plans on achieving anything.

935 - Rob Davies

Wake Up.
This is bollocks.
Govt just committed 21 mill to Nga Tahu
Crew Research site Birdlings Flat - Oops
Sea levels rising. Do your homework
This is non science based woke narrative.
How utterly embarrassing for you who buy into it / are ^{incentivised} ~~paid~~ into it, - down the track

990 - Wendy Fergusson

I'm not sure as a ratepayer that I want huge rate increases to help out those who choose to live in a scenic spot close to the sea or a river, some personal responsibility should be required. Especially as the rate increases may cause me to have to sell my home.

996 - David Smith

There is no climate emergency

Vertical Capital

General Comments

25 submitters provided feedback on vertical capital projects (e.g. Court Theatre, Robert McDougall Gallery upgrades, Provincial Chambers, Te Kaha.)

5 comments supported, and 5 comments opposed vertical capital projects.

8 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 7 comments provided general feedback addressing vertical capital projects.

Officer Response

Support and opposition for the refurbishment of Heritage Buildings across Christchurch including. Supporters deemed it important to save our Heritage Buildings and refurbish them. Opposers believe it wasn't a good use of spending by the Council and believe the refurbishments shouldn't continue.

Support given for continuing the work of the Court Theatre Building and see it through to completion.

Opposers believe the Te Kaha project should be put on hold until the City of Christchurch can afford to complete this or stopped entirely.

Support given for Parakiore Recreation and Sport Centre to be completed.

Refurbishment of Heritage Buildings - The Christchurch City Council has completed a number of Heritage Building refurbishments over the years ensuring the best value of funds spent with a whole life approach.

Continuing the work of the Court Theatre Building - This project continues to make good progress with the Court Theatre looking to produce their first performance in the new building in 2025.

Te Kaha Project Spending Continuation - This project is at the halfway point of construction and is being delivered under a fixed term price. It is due for completion the first half of 2026.

Parakiore Recreation and Sport Centre - This project is being delivered by Rau Paenga. Completion date sits with them.

Support

1394 - Michael Clemens

I support using rates to pay for heritage building upgrades / restoration such as the Robert Macdougall Gallery and the Provincial Chambers. Christchurch lost a lot of it's heritage so we need to protect what we have left.

3695 - Pamela Pye

[Transport > Roads (Capital)], [Transport > Footpaths & Streetscape (Capital)]

Council must complete Parakiore recreation and sports centre as soon as possible. Te Kaha stadium needs to be completed but Council must stop making any changes to its surrounding streets until after it opens and actual needs can be assessed.

3787 - Deb Donnell

[Grants & Funding > Other Contestable Funds]

Heritage - Reinstate the grants for key heritage assets, such as The Arts Centre, and I do support that in the next 10 years you propose spending $51 million on heritage items, including: • Canterbury Provincial Chambers (Stage 1) – $20 million • Botanic Gardens – Cuninghame House – $9 million • Robert McDougall Gallery – strengthening and base isolation – $15 million

>>>

You should also put projects on hold until such time as the city and ratepayers can afford them. We don't have to have the world's best [insert vanity project here - i.e. stadium, convention centre, etc.] because this doesn't bring in the revenue that you believe it does. I've sat on a political panel with past Mayor, Gary Moore, who mentioned what a white elephant these "key projects" are and will become. There isn't a lot I have agreed with him on, but I certainly agreed with him about this.

[Spending > Te Kaha]

286 million on Te Kaha (4.41%) Why are we spending extra to complete Te Kaha? Look for areas where you can cut costs, or put the project on hold until we can afford this monstrous white elephant.

3806 - Simon Green

Awesome to see the Court Theatre underway.

3913 - Mark Darbyshire

Notwithstanding, Council needs to see through the delivery >>> the Court Theatre.

Oppose

3219 - Ted Meager

I see the rebuilding of the Anglican cathedral as an impractical, emotive issue. The sports complex on the old brewery site is a similar money pit. Reliable advice and informed estimates lacking in both cases; this lack needs to be addressed for all future works if rates are to be kept down.

3564 - Allan Grant

Te Kaha is a money pit. How many times a year will it be used?

>>>

It is a great shame a previous mayor and council turned a blind eye to the repair of the old AMI stadium, relevant experts stipulating that the ground and the newer structures were repairable. Additional funds could have been spent on better weather protection of the repaired stands. Instead, we are stuck with the Delusions of Grandeur central stadium, which I have only recently learnt has a multi million dollar roading revamp attached to it. A well kept secret that one, CCC!

3746 - Quinn Ledgerwood-Gee

[Spending > Te Kaha]

Don't build the stupid waste of money embarrassment of a stadium. Just stop now save all the money. Abandon it. It is not worth it.

3771 - Paul Bacon

Dump Te Kara

3791 - Sandra Beltman

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?], [Grants & Funding > Orana Park Funding], [Parks > Biodiversity & Ecological Restoration]

I feel that there has been overinvestment in sports facilities and big ticket new building projects generally, when more needs to be done for managing the base health of our environment, and existing flora and fauna. Including Orana Park, a place that many of us identify with from childhood and as parents, and an amazing achievement for a city the size of Chch, it is one of places of pride.

>>>

I am very hopeful that CCC does not 'look at' or develop any more big ticket building projects for performance, sports or conference facilities for the period of this long term plan. More basic needs and their facilities and services - involved with health and education require local government (and local community knowledge) and support.

Other

1413 - Tania Brewer

You should have done the stadium years ago, we are a major city and lack of stadium has decreased tourism, tourism supports local businesses.

1680 - Lisa Lodge

When building new buildings or infrastructure focus should be on the fundamentals of that building, it doesn't have to be the showiest flashiest building, make it attractive but not frilly to keep costs down. Too much is spent on things that don't matter like fancy cladding, or tiling or art installations. Unnecessary.

2767 - Simon Wall (Apollo Projects)

Review of the consultation document

Apollo has reviewed the draft LTP and associated consultation document and have identified the following matters related to community vertical infrastructure we wish to submit upon:

We note the following proposed vertical infrastructure projects are included in the proposed Long Term Plan 2024-2034:

- South Library $29m
- Community Centre Philipstown $3.7m
- Community Centre Shirley $3.7m
- Community Centre Prestons/Marshland $3.4m
- Naval Point Development $22m
- Jellie Park Earthquake Remedial $18.3m
- Recreation and Sport renewals $153m (overall)

As a Design and Build construction company focusing on vertical infrastructure projects, Apollo Projects is particularly interested in seeing the above projects being delivered efficiently for the ratepayers of Christchurch and Banks Peninsula. The following section of our submission is related to ensuring the successful and efficient delivery of vertical infrastructure projects.

Apollo has successfully delivered several projects for Local Government throughout New Zealand, including swimming pools, recreation facilities and community centres. We have also observed, however, other Local Government projects that have been delivered with varying levels of success. In some instances, these projects have either been discontinued or delivered at unaffordable budgets which has potentially wide impacts on their respective communities.

Apollo provides this feedback to CCC's LTP consultation process based on our proven knowledge and experience of undertaking value-driven projects that have become highly utilised community assets:

- Developing and delivering to realistic capital budgets for projects – recognising Councils typically need to apply conservatism and contingency when assessing project budgets, it is important that the budget does not become over-inflated to mitigate cost risk, thus resulting in that project becoming unaffordable. The worst outcome for a community is either to lose projects to an inflated budget when costs can be reduced, or for budgets to blow out during the construction phase. Apollo believes it is crucial for Councils to include expert construction feedback and advice that can often provide more realistic guidance on budget and risk.
- Design and Build should be leveraged – Apollo is seeing more Local Government and Central Government projects move to Design and Build due to:
 - Single Point of Responsibility: With Design and Build, there is a single entity responsible for both design and construction. This can streamline communication, decision-making, and accountability throughout the project lifecycle.
 - Faster Project Delivery: Since the design and construction phases can overlap, Design and Build projects often have shorter timelines compared to traditional methods. This can result in faster project completion and earlier occupancy or utilisation.
 - Cost Certainty: Design and Build contracts often include a fixed price or a guaranteed maximum price, providing more certainty regarding project costs. This can be appealing to clients who want to avoid cost overruns.
 - Innovation and Collaboration: Design and Build encourages collaboration between designers and builders from the early stages of a project. This can lead to innovative solutions and value engineering, potentially resulting in better project outcomes.
 - Reduced Administrative Burden: Since there's only one contract and one point of contact, the administrative burden on the client is reduced compared to managing separate contracts for design and construction.

Design and Build is sometimes wrongly considered an appropriate methodology only for 'cheap and quick' project types. The reality is that Design and Build, with the right team on board, is suitable for virtually any project type - with the true benefit being the project is delivered to a fixed price with one point of accountability for design and construction that means variations and programme extensions that so often blight Council projects are negated.

- Conservative Utilisation Predictions – Apollo has seen first-hand how community assets are utilised to considerably greater levels than initially predicted during the planning phase. Apollo recommends to CCC that the projected utilisation of Community Assets, particularly those in highly engaged communities such as Christchurch, be considered using predictions that are at the high end of probability.
- Packaging of projects into programmes – there are always efficiencies that can be gained from delivering projects in packages or programmes. These can include minimising administration and management effort, obtaining savings through volume and having a clear pipeline of work that can be aligned with market capacity.

Apollo Projects appreciates the opportunity to provide feedback to Christchurch City Council in relation to the draft Long Term Plan 2024-2034.

[Full attachment available]

2847 - Colleen Philip (Sustainable Ōtautahi Christchurch)

Well done to Council for some beautiful buildings since the earthquakes. Sometimes public does it better. Public buildings can be exemplars, including in how to store carbon by design and build options using materials that do so. Some wonderful examples around the world. How can this be encouraged more widely? [Strategic Direction > Climate Change] [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > City Planning]

3620 - Rosemary Turnbull

not enough assistance for the >>>Court Theatre in particular

3831 - Rick Jones

Stop using architects that are out of touch with reality.

>>>

Stop dreaming up fanciful, nice to have projects that have design features that cost well beyond the city's ability to pay. Stop using consultants and contractors who charge exorbitant fees

3986 - Chris Kelly

Comments: Get solar panels on all your rooves to save electricity costs in future.

416 - Mike Cleaver (Canterbury)

[Parks > Heritage]

as such I think you can glean I have a slightly lower tolerance for extra spending restoring very old and unused buildings for the sake of heritage. I feel christchurch has plenty other 'old' things like the university, etc and the trams which provide a connection to our history, and so don't need every old building restored just because it's old. there are plenty of beautiful new buildings in our city like the library and convention centre which not only have plenty of potential for use, but also are built to withstand earthquakes!

Not Stated

1378 - Rowena Morgan

How about you tell me what Te Kaha is!!

178 - Fiona Patchett

I think the the design of things like to stadium and the convention centre, etc could have been done more frugally. Basic designs instead of these expensive designs that are more expensive to build.

293 - Monique van Veen

I'm particularly excited by the commencing build of the new Court Theatre in the city centre. Having this alongside the beautiful Isaac Theatre Royal, and other great venues such as The Piano, and the Town Hall, not to mention Te Pae and Te Kaha when it's finished, means our city has a vibrant arts precinct which is something I deeply value in a city. I really believe Christchurch punches above its weight in our vibrant arts and culture scene!

>>>

I'm particularly excited by the commencing build of the new Court Theatre in the city centre. Having this alongside the beautiful Isaac Theatre Royal, and other great venues such as The Piano, and the Town Hall, not to mention Te Pae and Te Kaha when it's finished, means our city has a vibrant arts precinct which is something I deeply value in a city. I really believe Christchurch punches above its weight in our vibrant arts and culture scene!

3743 - Ben Ellis

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Commonwealth Games]

Do not apply to host the comonwealth games if we need to build more stuff for it. We have so many half finished projects that should be completed first (i.e., central city sports centre, Te Kaha, the arts center, Provincial Chambers, Cunningham House, McDougal Gallery, cycle ways, Otakaro corridor, ect). Please make the most use of the infrastructure we already have rather than build more stuff.

>>>

Hosting the commonwealth games is a bad idea given how much other stuff we have to fix.

3869 - Cam Parsonson

All new buildings to have holistic maintenance and lifetime costs reduced to minimum.

533 - Judith Livingstone

[Recreation, Sports & Events>Pools (Capital)]

Building pools in the wrong place hasn't helped the blow out of cost. Both the stadium and pool should have put on the agricultural land in Hillmorton/ Halswell

795 - Gary Phillips

The Stadium and pool should run like a business and pay for themselves, if you lose money close them down

Social Housing

General Comments

59 submitters provided feedback on social housing.

8 comments supported, and 7 comments opposed social housing.

37 comments suggested what could be done differently and 7 comments provided general feedback addressing social housing.

Officer Response

The main themes are:

- Supporting: the Council should prioritise social housing, increasing the spend and number of units provided.
- Opposing: the Council shouldn't be spending ratepayers' money on social housing because it's a Central Government issue or could be delivered by the private sector.

For those submitters concerned that the rate payer is subsidising this service, the Council's policy requires that social housing be financially self-supporting and not funded from rates. Council achieves this aim and there is no rates subsidy. Council also has taken action to access other funding sources. In 2016 the Council established a Community Housing Provider to manage its homes and access funding available from the government (Only central government and community housing providers are eligible for this funding). This has increased the total revenue generated from the portfolio, putting it on a more sustainable basis (albeit it remains under pressure due to rising insurance, maintenance and rates costs).

Based on occupancy data, waiting lists and demographic predictions there is current and future need for social housing. At present, based on previous policy settings and uncertainty about future policy directions, there is unlikely to be a buyer for Council's portfolio.

Given this context there does not seem to be a compelling reason to stop delivering this activity.

In its most recent policy and strategic documents, the Council sets its ongoing role as being focused on facilitating community housing, both public and affordable, through access to land, development rebates and finance. This approach has helped ŌCHT build 270 new homes in 13 city communities on previously owned Council sites since 2019. This equates to 409 new bedrooms, reflecting that there is a mix of one-bedroom and family homes. A further 200 units are in the construction or master planning phases.

Further additional social housing depends on central Government investment. At present there is insufficient information on future Government investment in Christchurch's social housing.

While there is demand for new community housing, and an objective of the Community Housing Strategy is to restore the amount of Council-owned housing stock to its pre quake levels, the Council is not currently able to fund this in accordance with its Revenue and Financing Policy. The policy states that funding should predominately come from user charges (i.e. rents). Any surplus after costs is paid into a reserve, the Housing Development Fund.

There is currently insufficient accumulated funds in the Housing Development Fund to build additional housing. Indeed, modelling shows that over the next 70 years, while there is sufficient revenue to operate, maintain and replace existing housing, there is not enough to increase the supply in any meaningful way.

An alternative to using accumulated funds is to borrow to finance new builds and fund repayment through rent revenue. As Council is not eligible for government subsidies, such a course of action is relatively risky. Without guaranteed subsidies there is a high risk that Council would not generate sufficient revenue to cover all costs. Alternatively rents set at a level sufficiently high to meet all costs are likely to be too high for eligible tenants.

Given the current policy settings and financial situation, Council is unable to meet the submitters desire for additional investment in social housing.

Support

Priorities are >>> Adequate housing, not luxury housing.

2570 - Marie Gray

I support the Council maintaining its current levels of service and also increasing them in some cases. This includes:

- Significantly increase the number of community housing units it provides. Safe and secure housing is a right for all people of Ōtautahi and it is shameful the number of people living in cars, garages and precarious living situations. Please make investment in community housing a priority.

2847 - Colleen Philip (Sustainable Ōtautahi Christchurch)

There are very good reasons for Council to be involved in social housing. We support Council ownership of social housing.

3169 - Barbara Brown

[Rates > Residential Rates], [Transport > Roads (Capital)], [Three Waters > Three Waters (Operational)], [Parks > Spending], [Parks > Heritage (Capital)], [Parks > Foreshore], [Art Galleries & Museums > Art Galleries (Capital)], [Art Galleries & Museums > Museums (Capital)], [Grants & Funding > Art Centre Funding]

Areas I would like to see greater allocations made to are: Parks, Heritage and Coastal Environment; Art Gallery and Museums; Housing and Libraries. Specifically I would like to see the Arts Centre being funded. I would like to see our parks and gardens having bigger budgets, specifically the Botanic Gardens. Compared to botanic gardens in other cities ours are shabby.

>>>

[Transport > Roads (Operational)], [Three Waters > Three Waters (Operational)], [Parks > Spending], [Parks > Heritage (Capital)], [Parks > Foreshore], [Art Galleries & Museums > Art Galleries (Capital)], [Other/Special Interest Topics > Social Housing], [Art Galleries & Museums > Museums (Capital)], [Grants & Funding > Art Centre Funding]

As in my introductory statement, I think that we need to review operational spend on Transport and Three Waters, and prioritise Parks, Heritage and Coastal Environment; Art Galleries and Museums; Libraries and Housing. I think we should have a larger social housing portfolio.

3501 - Malcolm Long (Ōpāwaho Heathcote River Network)

City Growth and Property
Deliver projects that will lead to positive community outcomes: Increasing the supply of community housing; or Increase employment opportunities; or Improves Mana Whenua relationships; or Allows for community "ownership" of service delivery; or Reduces the impacts of natural or human induced (including climate change) hazards Target: At least one new project commenced annually	Provisional support Provisional support for "Allows for community "ownership" of service delivery" in particular, provided that this is a supportive collaboration between Council and community where the Council actively funds sufficient staff to provide adequate support for the manpower provided by the community.

3550 - Sam Hewitt

I think more should be done for community housing in Christchurch.

3800 - Rachel Barker

I fully support CCC spending to assist with community housing and some social services support.

3802 - Matthew Baird

Community housing: With such high demand for public housing, the CCC should aim to increase the number of community housing units it provides rather than reducing. The cost of maintaining these properties is low compared with the positive impact they have.

Oppose

1050 - Ken Lloy

it is time to sell the social housing portfolio, this is a state function and has no place in a council program, the rate payers already pay taxes for social spending

2807 - David Close (Christchurch East Labour Electorate Committee)

In some respects, however, the Draft LTP falls far short of building an inclusive and equitable city:

☒ To our shame, there are numerous people sleeping in cars or sleeping rough, in alleyways or shop entrances or parks. By day, some of them annoy or embarrass shoppers and shop-owners by begging outside shops. Several agencies attempt to house them, which is extraordinarily difficult when there is a severe shortage of suitable, affordable accommodation. The Draft LTP fails to acknowledge or outline any strategy to mitigate the problem.

>>>

That the Council: (i) acknowledge that homelessness is unacceptable in an inclusive city. (ii) revoke its policy that rates should not contribute to housing. (Vol 1, page 121) (iii) substitute the positive benefits of community housing in place of the artificially constructed 'negative effects'. (Vol 1, page 120) (iv) allocate sufficient capital to build 50 small one-bedroom units annually. (v) lease the units to agencies engaged in assisting homeless people into accommodation.

2941 - Peter Thelning

The council shouldn't be in the business of providing social housing, this is a Government responsibility

3248 - Dave Edwards

[Spending > Capital Programme (General)]

Keep out of affordable housing, why are the general ratepayers subsidising this.

3771 - Paul Bacon

No cheap rental houses that's a central government problem

397 - Merrick Brown

I don't believe the council should be spending any money on social housing. That is a central government issue.

990 - Wendy Fergusson

I don't think you should be in housing

Other

1254 - Nikki Thebault

Community housing projects outside of KO

1517 - Felix Harrison

[Art Galleries & Museums > Art Gallery (Capital)]

it would be good to see more spent on the art gallery and housing

1568 - Kathryn May

Community housing such as on Waltham Rds, Brougham St - residents need to be accountable of their actions and their behaviour.

1609 - Johnathons Atkins

[Spending > Our Proposed Spending], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)], [Transport > Other]

Cut housing, that should be done for the private market not ratepayer subsidised housing

1620 - Daisy Sinnadurai

We need more housing units for the homeless and poor people before bringing migrants into the country.

1692 - David Bluck

[Rates > Residential Rates] + CCC needs money to allow more land to build houses, to make them more affordable. It is unfair how the under generation of people has been priced out of the housing market, while the comfortably well off older generation is protected most who own multiple properties and who obviously don't want to pay more. [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Greater Christchurch Partnership]

18 - Alex User

Get rid of community housing its the role of GOVT

1984 - Chenille Anderson

No - make more houses.
Why arent we using the unoccupied houses that exist.

>>>

Climate. Housing

2261 - Tony Hampton (Health New Zealand Te Whatu Ora – Waitaha | Canterbury)

Housing: Community Housing Asset Management Ref. Pages 120-121	CCC is proposing to maintain compliance with healthy homes standards, which we assume Health NZ would support. However, we also note they are also proposing to reduce the number of units being supported from 'at least 2,500' to 'at least 2,080'. The Council sites ongoing financial pressure (particularly increasing insurance costs) as reducing their ability to directly fund housing supply along with uncertainty around Government funding policy. Health NZ has previously submitted on the important role of CCC as a social housing provider and Health NZ's public health team may wish to comment here and request CCC engagement.
--	--

2311 - Paul McMahon (Waitai Coastal-Burwood-Linwood Community Board)

The Board notes with concern that East Christchurch still does not have the same level of Council Social Housing as prior to the Earthquakes. We would like to see the amount of social housing increased to the same (2010) level adjusted for population growth.

2346 - Rev Katrina Hill (Anglican Parish of East Christchurch / Te Waka Aroha)

Housing

We were disappointed that the Consultation Document on the Draft LTP scarcely mentions housing. It appears as a minor item in various graphs, and as the first item in the list of priorities for the partnership with Mana Whenua:

- Enabling and providing affordable housing.

For the detail on the Council's plans for housing, we were directed to pages 121-123, Volume 1, of the Draft LTP. There, to our disappointment, we discovered that the number of units which the Council funds or facilitates will not reach 2650 till 2034 or perhaps later. The significance of the number 2650, as Councillors will know, is that that is the number of units that the Council owned in 2010 before the earthquakes struck.

We appreciate that replacement of buildings can be a lengthy process. In our parish, it has taken 13 years to complete the repair or replacement of our buildings. However, as Councillors will agree, to take 23 years to replace housing lost in 2010-11 is an unacceptably long time.

The delay has led to an especially acute shortage of small affordable units in our area, because we lost a disproportionately large number of units: 20+ in Blake Street, about 30 in Admirals Way, about 40 in Reg Stilwell Place, 20 in Calbourne Lane, 7 in Charles Gallagher Place, and 2 at Fred Price Courts. Only the 25 Bridge Street units, 10 Fir Tree Lane units and the remaining 30 units at Fred Price Courts survived. About ten units at Reg Stilwell Place were repaired and ten new units built in Fir Tree Lane.

It is no surprise that these days there are people sleeping rough in our streets at night and troubling shopkeepers and customers as beggars during the day. It is a direct result of central government relying on the private sector as the main supplier of rental accommodation and of the Council abandoning its position as the foremost provider (after Kainga Ora) of rental accommodation. The small, mainly one-bedroom units built by the Council were ideal for the elderly, singles or couples, or for younger singles who met the criteria. People surviving on benefits need inexpensive, secure, long-term accommodation that leaves them with some discretionary spending. In our experience, the need is greatest for men in their late forties to sixties. It is a great irony that there are numerous vacant flats in multi-storey new developments in New Brighton – the rent at $450+ is the barrier.

The Council's Strategic Priorities are listed on page 15 of the Consultation Document. The first listed is: Be an inclusive and equitable city which puts people at the centre...., prioritising wellbeing, accessibility and connection.

In our society, the homeless are the group most obviously excluded from the mainstream.

Recommendation

1. That the Council budget to spend at least $100m for new small rental units over the ten years of the LTP.
2. That it be noted that
 - (i) a significant part of the cost will be recovered from the Council's share of rents.
 - (ii) it is irrelevant whether construction is managed by the Council or by Otautahi Community Housing Trust.
 - (iii) it would be preferable for the rental housing to be in small blocks of 4-6 units rather than the larger complexes of past years.
3. That the Council continue its partnerships with Housing First and other community providers (City Mission, Housing for Women Trust, etc.).

2354 - Chantelle Chalmers

Our coastal environment and housing should be a bigger portion of the spending.

2385 - Ezra Mussa

Examples of services which need more investment include: CCC must massively increase the number of community housing units it provides to 3,000 in the next year instead of reducing the number. It currently spends 18 million to maintain roughly 2,850 units, and earns 16 million back; this means that the expense of community housing is negligible.

2389 - Aurora Garner-Randolph

CCC has got the balance wrong on the number of community housing units it provides. it should massively increase the number to over 3000, not decrease it.

2525 - Adrienne Kimberly Georgine

Housing is critical and its way too small of a budget item.

2540 - Jocelyn and Caroline Pappill and Syddall

We would not like to see the sale of more council owned social housing. The loss of social housing units in Redcliffs and the implication of losing public ownership of coastal assets like this has exercised us. We would like to understand more about the plans the CCC has for social housing in collaboration with community housing providers.

2768 - Suzanne Wallace

programme:

Social housing. Have you ever seen waiting lists & housing assets with Kuraige Drain. Be more co-ordinated.

2800 - Ellena Cameron

I FEEL MOST THINGS ARE COVERED. WHAT WORRIES ME IS THE IDEA OF MULTISTORIED BUILDING FOR LOWER INCOME PEOPLE. ARE THEY GOING TO HAVE GREEN AREAS AROUND THEM. ALSO THE MAINTENANCE AND CLEANING OF hallways AND FOYERs, AND LIFTs etc. MUST BE KEPT UP. IF NOT THEY WILL TURN INTO SLUMS LIKE IN ENGLAND. etc graffiti etc and a dumping ground for RUBISH. PEOPLE ON LOW INCOMES DON'T HAVE A CHOICE. THEY have to go. where they can AFFORD. SO GET DEPRESSED. We will need more MENTAL HOSPITALs

2832 - Riley Neupauer (University of Canterbury Green Party)

[Spending > Capital programme]

- CCC must massively increase the number of community housing units it provides to 3,000 in the next year instead of reducing the number. It currently spends 18 million to maintain roughly 2,850 units, and earns 16 million back, meaning that the expense of community housing is negligible - CCC did not meet its target of 20% safety audits, instead doing 3%. Therefore, more funding is needed to audit buildings for safety

>>>

However, we encourage the Council to look into enacting the 2016 Housing Policy when viable. We believe this might apply particularly to the Mataroa Reserve. Given the flat ground, the size, and the location of this land, it would translate very well to a residential property. If this is done, the Council should ensure that the property is listed at an affordable rate. This social Housing process could also be considered for the other locations, if possible.

2838 - Graham Erikson

Supported. Pursue all prudent land sales including disposal of old Sockburn Sevice Centre land or build social housing. >>> [Revenue > Disposal of Red Zoned Land]

2947 - Katia De Lu

2. Community housing Community housing helps some of our community's most vulnerable members. Please increase the number of community housing units CCC provides rather than reducing them. These units earn back most of what they cost to maintain, and the remainder is a small price to pay for the enormous positive impact they have on people's lives.

298 - Zya Gurau

I would also like to see more money given to housing as this seems to be lacking in the current plan. This money could be taken out of the proposed stadium spending

2998 - Jane Higgins (Christchurch Methodist Mission)

The Plan notes that by 2034 there will be an additional 32,000 people living in Christchurch and that this population will be an ageing one. We are concerned, therefore, about the lack of attention paid to housing in this Plan. The supply of safe, affordable, quality housing, particularly for the growing population of older residents, is already a significant issue for many. We encourage Council to consider housing as a core infrastructure issue.

>>>

1. Given the importance of housing for achieving basic safety and wellbeing for communities, we support the Council's on-going engagement in housing in its capital spending. 2. We affirm the Council's practice of exempting registered Community Housing Providers from development contributions as a way of encouraging the building of safe and affordable homes of high quality.>>>4. We encourage the Council to do more in terms of offering Community Housing Providers access to loan finance. CHPs could be doing much more to increase the supply of housing in Christchurch, but lack of access to loan finance is a significant barrier.

3235 - Thomas Caspari

Overall, yes. I have been living in this city for 15 years now and helped with the rebuild. It's great to see a vibrant and diverse Christchurch! The city centre is so much more alive than before the quakes. To ensure it stays like that I would review the proposed spending for >>> Housing. Both appear rather low.

3325 - Adele Geradts

we need affordable housing

3366 - Robert Manthei

More needs to be spent on affordable housing (a growing and pressing need).

3398 - Robert Pethig

I would like to see an increase of spending on housing, especially on healthy homes for those who require housing.

3545 - Sarah Eve Tunstall

[Art Galleries & Museums > Art Galleries (Capital)], [Art Galleries & Museums > Museums (Capital)]

I feel that investment in housing should be prioritised as well as investing in art galleries and museums.

3644 - Yvonne Dixon

I think the social housing needs a boost in funding.

3727 - Carl Fox

[Strategic Direction > Additional Savings & Efficiencies]

When available capital / money / resources are tight then any expenditure needs to be seen as an investment and non-core or no-return expenditure minimised or eliminated. An example is why is Council involved in social housing? Surely this is the responsibility of Central Government with the Ministry of Social Development / Kainga Ora? Council should be focused on infrastructure or projects that will provide a return to the Council or improve the local economy.

3735 - Natalie O'Connell

Stronger focus on social housing

3748 - Greta Bond (Age Concern Canterbury)

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Social Housing]

While we understand the sunk cost on Te Kaha, it seems a slightly skewed priority, particularly when compared with the amount that has been allocated to housing. Older people in Canterbury increasingly do not own their own homes, and the rental market can be very difficult to navigate for older people (particularly those on fixed incomes).

It is estimated that by 2040, around 50% of people turning 65 will own their own homes and our rental market is simply not set up to cope with this. Private rentals (renewable each year) do not provide secure tenancy for older people, who are reliant on their local communities in a way that younger people may not be, and who may not have the ability to resettle in a new area if required to do so. Many who don't own their own home will not have the option of moving to a retirement village; low-income, warm, dry, social housing will be needed - it would be good to see the CCC developing planning around how to support this cohort, before they arrive. We see a number of older renters even today who need support to find appropriate housing

3758 - Mads Churchhouse

Additionally social housing is missing from this list, and that should be a number one spending priority. CCC must massively increase the number of community housing units it provides to 3,000 in the next year instead of reducing the number. It currently spends 18 million to maintain roughly 2,850 units, and earns 16 million back; this means that the expense of community housing is negligible.

3936 - Carley Dove-McFalls

CCC must massively increase the number of community housing units it provides to 3,000 by 2025 and increase this number in the following years It currently spends 18 million to maintain roughly 2,850 units, and earns 16 million back; this means that the expense of community housing is small while the benefits are very high

4040 - Rebecca Robin

Council needs keep its existing levels of service for public housing council ownership

458 - Christine Cockle

[Strategic Direction>Have we got the balance right?]

Sell all council owned social housing to alternative providers. It's ridiculous that struggling ratepayers are funding housing for non-ratepayers when much of social housing is better than their own.

665 - Rene Arthur

Considering housing is a big issue, and as of late CHCH is the most expensive place to rent (NZHerald) could we bump up spending on assisted housing?

Not Stated

1998 - Grace Robinson

[Three Waters > Water Supply, Stormwater & Land Drainage], [Fees & Charges > Building Consents], [Other/Special Interest Topics > Social Housing], [Transport > Cycleways]

In addition to advocating for increased operational and capital spending to enhance services, including safety audits for buildings, water chlorination, and community housing provision, I urge the Council to prioritize essential projects such as major cycle routes and stormwater management initiatives. These projects are vital for the well-being and safety of our community and must receive adequate funding and priority.

2144 - Amy Mcnaughton

Why does Chch spend so much on social housing? How does this compare to other cities and does it crowd out Kainga Ora investment?

2640 - Wayne Hawker (New Brighton Museum)

While understanding why we do it the question must be asked is it the council's responsibility to be providing social housing especially when Central Govt have that responsibility.?

335 - Wayne Bates

A City Council should not be responsible for social housing that is central governments role, sell all the housing properties the council owns to subsidise rising costs.

338 - Jennifer Riley

that it is imperative that we fund >>> public housing (emergency housing)

4020 - Brian Turner

More not less Council provided social housing

529 - Don Reekie (Parkstone Musical Appreciation Group)

Councils involvement in social housing should not be diminished until there is a national provision of housing for all especially the vulnerable.

Yaldhurst Memorial Hall

General Comments

1231 submitters provided feedback on our proposal to gift Yaldhurst Memorial Hall to the Yaldhurst Rural Residents Association.

976 comments supported, and 45 comments opposed the proposal.

142 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 76 comments provided general feedback addressing the proposal.

Officer Response

There was strong support overall for the proposal. Supporters indicated that it was a positive outcome, both for the community and Council. Most supporters wanted this to be at no cost to Council, although a smaller group wanted Council to repair the building prior to handover.

There was a smaller number of submitters opposed, with the key theme that Council should sell the building. There was some concern that YRRA will seek funding support from Council – Edgware Pool mentioned as an example – or that the building will become a liability to Council if YRRA fail. A small group also opposed Council gifting or selling the property at all.

The submission received provide general support for Council’s preferred position. While all matters raised have been considered, there are no compelling reasons to change Council’s existing direction.

Support

1002 - Riley Mahuika

Go for it

1008 - Angela McPherson

Approve

1009 - Penny Knowles

Good idea

1012 - Andrea Mcgregor

Yes. Practical

1016 - John-Paul Avent

If its a financial black hole, sure.

1022 - Sally Burrows

Good

1027 - Bruce Shalders`

I have no problem with the proposal. It needs a purpose to survive, and the residents should be trusted to give it that purpose.

1030 - Andrea Gosney

Sure

1032 - Lisa Grenfell

I think thats a great idea. Keep the Hall in the community of Yaldhurst

1034 - James Forde

Agree

1051 - Andrew Wood

Good idea

1054 - Jasmine Neale

Yes.

106 - Crispin Garden-Webster

Absolutely

1061 - Racheal O'Brien

Love it

1069 - Kieran Norton-Taylor

Yes do it

1079 - Gayle Johnston

An extremely great idea....community is important esp in rural areas...a sense of belonging

1084 - Grace McMahan

Good

1087 - Julie Hansen

I agree to gift it

1094 - Katie Godman
great

1098 - Eric Pawson
fine

1102 - Robyn Warburton
Agree

1103 - Murray Sanders
Agree

1104 - Kate Bevin
Good idea

1105 - Lana Shields
yes thats a great idea

1109 - Sarah Hosking
Good idea

1116 - Stephan Lloyd
I support this.

1126 - David Maciulaitis
This is great for the Yaldhurst Community

1130 - Hinekaha Atariki
Good idea

1132 - Gavin Fitzgerald

Good idea.

1138 - Seb Scalia

Do it.

1143 - Stuart Berryman

Also good

1149 - Peter Phelan

Agree

1154 - Francesca Rae

Yes

1157 - Justin Rogers

seems reasonable

1158 - Sheryl Elson

It will get looked after better if they have it

116 - Jarrod Coburn

Yes of course. The community will appreciate that and look after it.

1170 - John Thompson

Great idea

1173 - Hannah Landers

If it means we don't have to pay to maintain it then yes

1174 - Wendy Morton

Go for it

1175 - Jonathan Ludgater

Good idea

1176 - Jamin Thomas

No issue as long as due diligence is done to ensure this isn't mismanaged.

118 - Barbara Neville

Yes

1180 - Glenn Matheson

Fine by me

1189 - Michaela Allen

Great idea

119 - Alyssa Tull

I think this is a good proposal

1200 - Lisa Mazey

Great idea

1210 - Dianna Koorey

Good.

1221 - Lynette Sessa

Not a problem

1224 - Amanda OBrien

Yes

1225 - Josh Brown

Support it

1229 - Cassandra Albert

If Yaldhurst Rural Residents Association is committed to turning the Yaldhurst Memorial Hall into a community asset, then yes give the asset.

1230 - Carlana Limmer
Supportive of this proposal

1232 - Heather Young
Fine

1235 - Alex Edge
Great

1244 - K Stanley
Do it

1254 - Nikki Thebault
Great idea

1258 - John Chrisstoffels
Good idea

1259 - Paula Darrell
Good idea get something done with it so it can be fixed up and have a new life. Gift it it's a great idea.

1260 - Andy March
Go for it

1261 - S McGregor
great idea

1264 - Maxim Kaluzhny
No issues

1265 - Jill Banbury
A great idea

127 - Judith Clarkson

Good idea it is a MEMORIAL HALL, a shame it has been left in disrepair

1273 - Anthony Moore (The Elms Hotel Ltd, T/A Hotel Elms Christchurch)

Yes agree

128 - Elizabeth Ackermann

Great idea

1280 - Victoria Mitchell

Yes

1282 - Kelvin Lynn

A good idea.

1293 - Jill Rice

Agree

1294 - Donna Macalpine

great

1297 - Deborah Kapohe

Good.

1298 - Jason Reekers

I agree

1303 - Paul Johnston

Give it too them.

1310 - Sue Hales

Good Idea

132 - Jason King

good, love it

1323 - Mark Hubbard

Whatever, couldn't care less.

1324 - Anaru Matai

Sure

1327 - Chris O'Brien

Good idea

133 - Alan Mears

Favour this option

1331 - Robyn Lynley Capon

A good idea

1332 - Liam White

Its fine

1335 - Julie Turner

I agree

1339 - Carol Marie Ferrier

Yes, gift, creates/strengthens communitiy

1346 - Bianca McKinnon-Gee

Seems sensible

1347 - Stephen Leon

OK

1352 - Lin Klenner

Yes from me

136 - William Fulton

Seems reasonable.

1362 - Pablo Rodriguez

If Yaldhurst Rural Residents Association is committed to turning the Yaldhurst Memorial Hall into a community asset, then yes give the asset.

1370 - Jeremy Kaye

Go for it.

1377 - J Scandrett

do it

1380 - Sharon Lee

Good

1386 - Daphne Mc Curdy

yes

1395 - William Wallace

I think council should go ahead with that proposal.

1396 - Robyn Wilson

Support

1402 - Martin Smallman

Fine.

1403 - Carolyn Kaye

Great idea

1407 - Scott Butcher

Great idea. Give it to them.

1408 - Tracey Fowlds

Fine

1413 - Tania Brewer

Great idea.

1415 - Rebecca Macpherson

yes

1416 - David Laughlin

Not involved in any way, but I think a good decision

1419 - Aidan Chrystal

A good idea for the community if they're will to put in the work

1422 - Tim Reed

I support this

1426 - Judith Coullie

acceptable

1430 - Dan Hartwell

Fine

1431 - Carissa Ptacek

Yes, please get off Council's books

1442 - Elisha Blogg

Yes I think this is a great idea if they have the resource to manage the space ongoing and ongoing council support for them on their journey forward

1446 - Emma Waddell

Great idea

145 - Lisa Cowap

Fine

1451 - Jodie Langston

if this is planned to be a community asset, then yes

1452 - Maraed Riley

If the Yaldhurst Rural Residents Association is dedicated to transforming the Yaldhurst Memorial Hall into a community resource, then it should be granted the asset.

1456 - Henry Bersani

Great, do it

1462 - Sue Piercey

I've read about it in the paper and I agree with it.

1464 - Jeffrey Packard

As long as the Rural Residents' Assoc will ensure that it is a community asset, then it's a good idea.

1469 - Susan Grant

good idea

147 - Colleen Eason

Yes do that.

1474 - Céra Dernhagen

If Yaldhurst Rural Residents Association is committed to turning the Yaldhurst Memorial Hall into a community asset, then yes give the asset.

1475 - Courtney Henderson

Ok

1487 - Denise Cunniffe

I do support the gifting of Yaldhurst hall to the local community there.

>>>

Please gift to the community

1488 - Mel Brown

Great idea.

1491 - Lindsay Richards (Westmorland Residents Association)

Agree.

1497 - Alice Zhu

Yes! Nothing to against!

1498 - Charlie Due

Good

15 - Sara Currey

Great idea.

150 - Jeremy Foate

Good idea

1500 - Warwick Schaffer

If it is worth nothing then why not, they are likely to take good care of it.

1501 - Jason Middlemiss (Waimāero Fendalton-Waimairi-Harewood Community Board)

The Board cautiously supports the proposal.

1507 - Briar User

Great

1508 - Mb Brennan

why not.. if they are happy to maintain it and operate it . then that should be a win win

151 - Marg Flyvbjerg

Good idea

1512 - Denis McMurtrie

great idea. They community would become the guardians and with "skin" in the game would look after it.

1513 - Hugh Wilson (Maurice White Native Forest Trust)

I support this.

1517 - Felix Harrison

yes

152 - John Stickley

Long overdue.

1520 - Wendy Butcher (Canterbury WEA)

yes

153 - Lindsay Strang

Do it

1540 - Isabel Carlyon

Supportive

1541 - Maurice Adler

Yes gift it. That way it's not going to cost us in the long term.

1543 - John Mowat

OK

1545 - Jasmine Arps

Support.

1546 - Robert Fleming

Go for it.

1547 - Graham Allan

good

1556 - Jeffry Bergman

I am in favour

156 - Julieanne Giles

Good do it

1567 - Sarah Pritchett

Good

1568 - Kathryn May

I agree

1572 - Olive Easterbrook

Yes

1574 - David Cassidy

it would be great as it would take the cost of its up keep away from CCC

1575 - Hollie Hollander (Pest Free Banks Peninsula)

Good idea

1583 - James Pomeroy

Yes, so long as they have the funding to repair the building.

1589 - Barry Miller

I am okay with that.

1593 - Rick Houghton

Provided no additional costs are incurred in the future.

1596 - Graeme & Margaret Bluett

The right thing to do.

1599 - Megan Brown

Sounds good

1605 - Denis Aldridge (Living Springs Trust)

Go for it

161 - Sam Apps

Yes do it

1613 - David Browne

This is acceptable.

1615 - Leonie Craig

Good idea

1618 - Zachary Imhoof

Yes. enable more residents to do what they need locally. more venues allows for better education and closer connection.

162 - Christine Wehrmeier

Makes sense.

1637 - Megan Andrews

This is a good idea.

1641 - Win Douglas

Yes

1647 - Barry Linwood

Very noble of you. Well done

1648 - Andrew Bowman

This is a great proposal.

1650 - Deb Osborn

Seems fair, they get to pay the upkeep or demolish and sell the land.

1653 - Kate Manning

Yes

1654 - Jane Ross

Great idea.

1669 - Sandra Ballantyne

Good idea

1673 - Rebecca Bayliss

This is a really positive idea.

1674 - Susan Galbraith

Yes good idea.

1678 - Sarah Bonnington

Good

1687 - Sarah Cooper

Agree

1691 - Jesse Newman

I support this proposal.

1692 - David Bluck

Good idea. Providing the association uses it well

1697 - Chris Goodman

Sounds Good

1702 - Laura Xavier

If the resident association is keen on taking up the costs I don't see an issue

1710 - Ashwin Kurup

Good, go forward

1711 - Eluishia Hart

Good

1737 - Tim O'Sullivan

Good idea.

1750 - Edel Lougheed-Deane

Agree with this gifting.

1751 - Matthew Tolan

I support it

1752 - Carolyn Boulton

The Memorial Hall should be gifted to the Yaldhurst Residents' Association.

1755 - Jenny Heffer

Sounds good

1756 - Kieran Sweetman

They use it so agree.

1760 - Angus Bromley

Agree.

1770 - Richard Davies

yes

1773 - Thommy Jerneskog

Do it.

1775 - Jo Hall

Sounds ok

178 - Fiona Patchett

Good

1784 - Joanna Chan

This sounds like a good idea.

1785 - Rosaria Ferguson

A good idea

1786 - Anna Green

yes

1788 - Sandra Ward

A good idea, it is slowly falling into disrepair, each time we drive by it seems worse.

179 - Bridgette Smith

Sounds like a good idea

1792 - Laura Parkes

I have no stake in this personally but it seems like a good idea.

1793 - Pamela Hughes

Fantastic

1794 - Heather Matthews

Support

1797 - Peter User

I support gifting to the Yaldhurst Rural Residents' Association

180 - Kevin McSweeney

Seems fair

Seems fair

1800 - Judith Deans

yes.

1805 - Leigh Cunningham

Good idea

1809 - Dianne Bennett

A good idea and then the Yaldhurst community can do what they want with the Memorial Hall

1815 - Tony Hallams

Support this

1816 - Sarah Cook
Sure why not

1825 - John Davies
Fine with that

1828 - Robert Jelley

what do you think
YES.

1837 - Rosalie Griffith

very good for them to have the responsibility as long as it doesn't fall back on the council at a later date.

184 - Rebecca Nicholls
Yes!

1849 - Amy Brewer

Yes do it, it looks like it needs to be demolished and use the land for something else.

1865 - Tina Bond
Yes

1868 - Sara Rennell
Yes do it

1869 - Bill Cowen
Approve

188 - Tony MacHarper

Good idea if the Association is in a position to maintain it.

1884 - Sophie Robb

Yes then its less for the ccc to fund

1886 - Judith Dawson

Good idea

189 - Julie Coleshae

Yes do it

1894 - Peter Moody

Good idea.

1898 - John-Paul Kilkenny

give to the community. Building should be knocked down. It is awful. Who on earth would want to have that building unless you give it away!

1903 - Grant Dickson

No issues here.

1904 - Maria Lee

Great!

191 - Jenny Harlow

do they actually want it? I'd hate to 'gift' a complete liability! If they want it then go ahead. Just make sure they can't gift it back again!

1913 - Liz Meek

Fine

1914 - Stefan Miller

Great idea

1927 - Donna Gillatt

I think that is probably appropriate, providing there are no fish hooks.

1928 - James Daniels

Go for it

193 - Anne Mahan

Yes if they are happy to take it over

1938 - Alice Busbridge

Do it, you can't keep up with proper maintenance anyway.

194 - John Lieswyn

Agree, well thought through.

1942 - Sarah Lowery

Yes thats a good idea. If the community want to restore it at their own cost then let them have a go.

1944 - Peter Salvesen

No problems with that, pretty awful looking building anyway

1950 - Shanae Kirk

Great!

1952 - Xin Yi Wong

Sounds like a good idea.

1963 - Lynda Goodrick

good

1968 - Kelly Osborn

I support this

1977 - Nicholas Lealand

If Yaldhurst Rural Residents Association is committed to turning the Yaldhurst Memorial Hall into a community asset, then yes give the asset.

1979 - Julie McCloy

Sounds good, as long as they don't then apply for council grants to operate it.

1985 - Laura Tretheway

Looks good

1989 - Hannah Collins

Agree, as long as it's in good trusted hands with them

1995 - Joanne Kundan

Yes

1996 - Iain Nicholls

Supportive if they are willing to take on the risk. The document says that this would have no effect on rates but there should be some cost saving associated in offloading a liability for $1.

1997 - Justine Wright

i believe that is good.

20 - Ross Williamson

Yes

2002 - Bridgitte Dunn-Breen

Agreed

2012 - Nick Boyd

Fine

202 - Anne Spicer

Yes

2028 - Karyn Haugh

That's an easy decision. So you should.

2034 - Kevin Walker

Yes, it is an old building with little intrinsic value, and I would reject spending rate payers money on it.

205 - Denise Erikson

Great idea

2055 - Joanne Byrne

Nice.

2057 - Alicia Moggre

Seems like a win win

2058 - Janita Patrick

I think that is a great gesture

206 - Shane Morrow

Do it

2060 - Liv van Workum

So long as it continues to be used to benefit the community.

2065 - Robin Lake

I do support the >>> gifting of the Yaldhurst Memorial Hall.

2071 - Paul Broady

This looks like a reasonable proposal.

2073 - Peter Cook

N problem

2078 - Barry Williamson

Yes - go ahead.

2084 - Sarah Donaldson

Yes - the building doesn't seem to deliver a return and the community/YRA may have been plans for it

2087 - Emma Norrish (Waipapa Papanui-Innes-Central Community Board)

The Board is not opposed to the proposal as supporting local community where the impact is not materially significant at a citywide level.

2093 - Rachael Hemmer

I support this proposal

21 - Tyrone Low

Yes, makes sense

210 - Vicky Jones

Fantastic idea

2111 - Vaughan Wright

If they will make good use of it and ensure their community can benefit that's fine

2124 - Mary Chase

Fine.

2125 - Kathryn Palmer

Good idea

2129 - Marcella Marshall

Yes. Gift it

213 - Diana Plesovs

Very good

214 - John Hinchey

Do it!

2143 - Vicky Anderson

Agree

2155 - Geoffrey Sugden

I Support this

2166 - Wendy Everingham

Good idea.

2169 - Danielle Armstrong

I support this initiative

2178 - Sue Bridgwater

Yes, gift it

218 - Isabelle Barkley

This is good.

2183 - Hali Stauffer

I support the idea if the association is committed to transforming the hall into a valuable community asset. Allocating the hall to a local organisation dedicated to serving the community aligns with the spirit of community engagement and empowerment. As long as there is a clear plan and commitment to utilise the hall for the benefit of Yaldhurst residents, gifting the asset to the association seems like a positive step towards fostering local initiatives and community cohesion.

2186 - Katie Todd

This is a good idea as long as they can prove they will be able to restore and maintain it

2193 - Leanne Reid

Yes

2198 - Andrew Smith

Approve

2200 - Janna Robinson
agree

2201 - Eddie Hayes
Go for it.

2223 - Jill Turner
Good idea

2242 - Martha Baxendell (New Brighton Project)
agree

2258 - Jak Hartley
Seems like a good idea

2263 - Scott Babington
agree. Mt Pleasant Community centre works very well under this model. With Christchurch sprawling forever we cannot continue to maintain community centres all over the place/in new suburbs. We need equity in this also.

2267 - Redacted Redacted
OK

227 - Megan Hopkins
Yes

2275 - Bridgette Pedofsky
Good idea

2284 - Anna Western-Bell
Wonderful

2287 - Alice Johnson

Sounds like a good idea

2289 - Leonie Jackson

What do you think of our proposal to give Tatumara Memorial Hall to the Tatumara Rural Residents Association?

Great idea.
It's becoming an eyesore in a very busy area.

2293 - Marie Griffiths

This would be a good use of the Hall rather than leaving it to decay.

2295 - Katja Charmley

I supports this.

2296 - Vickie Walker

What do you think of our proposal to give Tatumara Memorial Hall to the Tatumara Rural Residents Association?

Great.

2297 - Andrew Walker

Damned good idea.

2302 - Lisa Dockery

Yes a great idea - but no more funding for it from the council

2304 - Stephanie Burke

good

2310 - Helen Broughton (Waipuna Halswell Hornby Riccarton Community Board)

The Board is very supportive of the proposal to gift Yaldhurst Memorial Hall to the Yaldhurst Rural Residents' Association.

2311 - Paul McMahon (Waitai Coastal-Burwood-Linwood Community Board)

The Board supports this.

2312 - Christian Schipani

I agree.

2323 - Pauline Guthrie

yes

2325 - Lisa Ferdinand

Fair

2326 - Amanda Booth

It's a good outcome for the council and the community.

2327 - Charles Shaw

No objection to this.

2333 - Fiona Lynch

Sounds fair

2338 - Robin Schulz (Coronation Reserve Residents Group)

Agree

234 - Jocy Kidd

Yes

2345 - Deirdre Cottrell

Sounds like a good idea.

235 - Louise Sturgess

Yes.

2355 - Iain Sanders

Yes. Good idea.

2358 - Carolyn Moffat

Great idea, if the community wants it.

2368 - Alaine Percasky

Sounds good.

238 - Susan Gee

Approve

2380 - Ben Comfort

Good

2381 - Kim Franicevic

Yes

2383 - Kirsty Macnab

good idea

2385 - Ezra Mussa

This is good

2388 - Guy Tapley

Go ahead

2389 - Aurora Garner-Randolph

do it

239 - Tiffany Thornley

Great

2391 - Mitchell Rogers

Yes, if that's what they want, and they can fund the upgrade etc. then it is the best option.

240 - Bella Zilber

Great idea to gift this property to the community

2401 - Arlee Folkers

Support it

2404 - Grant MacLeod

Sweet, let them pay for the operation and renewals too.

2406 - Chris Archer

Yes - please let the community have ownership

2407 - Dave Evans

Please do

2411 - Rachel Montejo

Support

2421 - Helen Foley

I agree with the proposa

2422 - Debora Mora

100% agree to gift it to the Yaldhurst Residents Association. They have worked very positively with council and their Halswell Hornby Riccarton Community board over the years in wishing to take this over so they can have an operational community hall. This is a Memorial Hall and of Historic status I understand so important to hand to the community as the council do not wish to keep up the maintenance costs. Would be an absolute benefit to Yaldhurst community and they have a functioning committee already to take this on.

2425 - Bronwyn Kircher

If that's what they want then yes

2427 - Joe Henderson

I like that idea

243 - Peter Townsend

Support

2432 - Mark Morley

No issues

No issues

No issues

No issues

No issues

2438 - Courtney Bennett

Support

2440 - Erin Jamieson

Agree

2442 - Paula Bevilacqua

Agree.

2445 - Joseph Davidson-Labout

Positive change

2448 - Barrie Uren

agree

2449 - Jane Morris
In favour

2453 - Bruce Gordon
Full agreement

2455 - Ben van Opzeeland
Shit yeah.

2462 - Mark Cox
Yes good idea

2463 - Rebekah Tregurtha
Yes

247 - Daisy Cassels
great

2471 - Jennifer Taylor
OK

2476 - Reuben Scott (Simeon Park Community Group)
We would support the gifting of the Yaldhurst Memorial Hall to residents.

2477 - Rachael Ann
Great

248 - Eric Livingstone
Agree

2485 - Lucy hill

that sounds great

2496 - Nikki McDonald

Yes great T

2497 - Carolyn Lynn

Don't oppose this.

25 - Ben Hart

Do it

2504 - Sarah van der Burch

Yes

2511 - Charlaine Palmer

good idea.

2516 - Robin Palmer

Approve.

2525 - Adrienne Kimberly Georgine

Yes. I agree with this.

253 - Daryl Cotterell

once again , as long as it wouldnt be better retained for future financial benefit.

2536 - Jennifer McDonald

I agree

2538 - Libby Ornsby

Just do it!!

2540 - Jocelyn and Caroline Pappill and Syddall

Seems like a reasonable idea.

2541 - Kelsi Mosley

I support this proposal.

2544 - John Bannock (Governors Bay Community Association)

full support

2550 - Jacinta O'Reilly

good idea

2557 - Malcolm Warren

Good idea.

256 - Bill May

Great idea.

2565 - Neet Subraman

Good idea

2574 - Matthew Pont

No issue

2578 - Sarah Polson

I think this is a good idea.

2579 - Simone Hindin

Sounds OK, we drive past it often. I hope that they have a plan to raise the funds.

259 - Margaret McEvedy

Agree

2599 - Susan Miller

I agree with this

2602 - Dorothy Jordan

Good idea and up to the community to deal with the hall

2603 - Ron Brooks

ok

2611 - Papataitua Harrington

Sure.

2615 - Virginia Wright

Great

2616 - Jane Chrisp

Good idea

2618 - Margaret Stewart

Gifting of the Yaldhurst Memorial Hall appears to be the best result for this heritage building provided they perform the repair and strengthening.

2619 - Laura Cosgrove

Good

2621 - Caroline Gray

Yes

2627 - Sarah Butterfield

Great idea

2628 - Scott Flutey

If the Residents' Association has affirmed its wish to take it on, then I think this is an excellent idea and would result in a great outcome I am sure.

2629 - Sarah Smith

Great idea.

2639 - Callum Ward (Waihoru Spreydon Cashmere Heathcote Community Board)

support

2640 - Wayne Hawker (New Brighton Museum)

Have no issue with this and wish the community organisation all the best in keeping and maintaining this facility for their community

265 - Emily Anderson

I support this

2650 - Alexander Amies

Great idea!

2651 - Finn Blanchard

Agree with the proposal

2657 - Jillian Davis

Sounds good

2661 - Emma Battrick

Great idea

2668 - Emma Geldard

This is a good idea as hopefully they will do a better job of taking care of it

2671 - Julia Bradshaw

If they want it, then Yes, gift it.

2678 - Fiona McKenzie

YES - good idea

269 - Zara Potts

Fine

2690 - Robbie Dobbie

This is a good proposal. Very impressive presentation by the association.

2691 - Ian Ebbs (South West Sports & Recreation Hub Inc)

seems like a sensible course of action

2693 - Tanya Markman

I think this is indeed a good idea. Residents Associations, generally, have a history of prudent and successful management.

2695 - Dave Gardner

This is a good idea

2697 - Laura Molles

I support this proposal.

2699 - Graham Beswick

Why not the community can raise money to maintain it and pay rates if they want it

27 - Warner Wilson

About time

2701 - Blair Smith

good idea.

2707 - Raymond Lum

do it

2709 - Matthew Gallen

Great!

271 - Jim Veitch

Agree

2710 - Bruce McLean

Good idea if they want it.

2715 - L.F. Blake

Yes, as residents take on the responsibility.

2717 - Jacinta Maguire

I think they will out it to good use

272 - Hugh Hawkins

If they want it, let em have it.

2723 - Laura Greenland

Yes, no other considerations outlined are 'suitable'. Has part of the deterioration been caused due to how long it's taken to get a decision/proposal made...

2729 - Phil McGregor

Go for it

2731 - Anna Barber

Sure

2732 - Gordon Bruce Tulloch

Approve

2733 - Georgia Macaulay

Sure, they sound like that's something they should own.

2734 - Sharon McDonald

Yes good idea

2738 - Patricia (Patsy) Eastwood

Good move

2742 - Caroline Dagger

I think this is a great idea and will be really well received by that local community.

2746 - Helen Taylor

Sounds workable. It's currently neglected by you guys.

2747 - Mark Thygesen

Yes, I am in favor of gifting of the Yaldhurst Memorial Hall.

275 - Phillipa Callick

If they want it and agree to maintain it, why not.

2750 - Helen Johnstone

Go ahead, so long as the Residents Association is prepared to take on the costs involved.

2755 - Jane Demeter

Yes

2761 - Annette and Michael Hamblett

We support it.

2768 - Suzanne Wallace

do you think of our proposal to gift it.

277 - Jane Harrison

Sounds like a good idea to me.

2771 - Suzanne Antill

Yes. This proposal is a good one.

2772 - Janice Antill

This can be considered as it is going to the people at Yalchumbt.

2773 - Thomas Healey

good

2774 - Clare Elliott

Return to the local residents is an excellent idea

2777 - Jennifer Hamilton

What do you think of our proposal to gift Yaldhurst Memorial Hall to the Yaldhurst Rural Residents' Association? Agree

2780 - Maree Hemingsen`
it do you think of

Yes.

2786 - Redacted Redacted
what do you think of

Agree.

2791 - David Dockery

What do you think of our proposal to gift Yaldhurst Memorial Hall to the Yaldhurst Rural Residents' Association?

Yes best locals look for there own community an ownership

2792 - Graham Robinson (Addington Neighbourhood Association)

We support that the Yaldhurst Memorial Hall be sold to the Yaldhurst Rural Residents Association for $1, on the conditions specified.

28 - Geoff Egan

Do it

2800 - Ellena Cameron

YES FINE

2804 - Janette Leith Brott

yes

2805 - Coleen Briggs

I agree with this

2813 - John Antill

yes

282 - Michael Heenan

agree.

2820 - Brendan Ross

Good idea

2821 - Dave and Denise Falls

Yes support

2822 - Angela Leatherby

As above, Council is not always best placed to run facilities and often the community can do a much better job of this because they have the passion and connections and the interest. Yes gift the building to the Residents Assn

2823 - Aurora Garner-Randolph (School Strike For Climate Ōtautahi)

This is good.

2824 - Hannah Mason

No issues with this.

2829 - Jennifer Dalziel

Good idea Give it to the community

2831 - Sebastian Denize

I support this decision

2832 - Riley Neupauer (University of Canterbury Green Party)

We agree with the Council's decision to bestow the Yaldhurst Memorial Hall to the Yaldhurst Rural Residents' Association. This is reasonable, as the Residents' Association is responsible for the site's restoration.

2838 - Graham Erikson

Supported for disposal to YRRA for $1.

2839 - Teresa von der Heiden

Good

2840 - Matthew Carter

I haven't any knowledge of the Yaldhurst Rural Residents Association nor of the heritage building, however in general I respect grass roots community activity. The proposal appears carefully considered and constructive.

2841 - Hunter Craig

sure, again I'm not a fan of the heritage status of buildings, this will be a burden on the Yaldhurst Rural Residents' Association

2846 - Olwyn Ferguson

thats a good idea

2848 - Glen Koorey

Seems like a reasonable proposal

2855 - Kat Forrester

Lovely idea.

2858 - Daniel Parkinson

agree

286 - Pauline Reid

Good idea. Residents associations make good use of local facilities and keep them maintained.

2861 - Laila Jansone

I agree

2863 - Lynne O'Keefe

I would agree the Yaldhurst Memorial Hall is gifted to the Yaldhurst Rural Residents Assoc

2865 - Natalie Henderson

Agree

2868 - Jonty Coulson

I think it's lovely :)

287 - Judy Yarwood

Agree - do so asap

2874 - Cherie Carter

Agree

2875 - Paul Andrew

Great

2876 - Sarah Hastie

In favour

2878 - Robert Shone

Agree

2879 - Dan Woods

Yes thats a good idea

2880 - Emma Martini

Agree this would be great

2882 - Erin Andrew

Great

2886 - David Fleming

Makes good sense but with a caveat that the building is maintained and doesn't become an eye saw.

2887 - Linda Keall

fine

2888 - Alistair Price

Good. But no grants for improvements etc.

2898 - Jack Allan

Good idea.

2902 - Prawindra Mukhia

I support this.

2905 - Vida Zelenka

Good idea

2923 - Amanda Peter

brilliant

2929 - Peter Cook

Support it.

293 - Monique van Veen

I'm supportive.

2931 - Kevin and Annette Broadhurst

OK

2934 - Monica Richards

Yes fine.

294 - Michael Brantley

Yes

2941 - Peter Thelning

Agree

2942 - Will Taylor

Sure

2949 - Graeme John Marriott

Ok by me

2954 - Tim Frank

Fine with me.

2955 - Linda Morris

Fine

2957 - Lisa Keen

Sound fine

2958 - Chris Sinclair

Yes, gift it to the locals.

2967 - Silvia Davies

Great idea !

297 - Michael Crabtree

Yes approve

2984 - Claire Martin

Good idea

2986 - Maree Mackle

Good as long as they don't want any money from the council to fix it

2989 - Lee Robinson

Agree.

299 - Jane Nuttridge

Good

2990 - Darryl Jan Atkinson

Good idea if they will be able to restore and utilize it.

2992 - Marian Robinson

Agree.

2993 - Nikki Staskiewicz

Good.

2995 - Ronnie Davey (Citizens Advice Bureau Christchurch Area)

Excellent

300 - La Wanda Cowan

Very good

3003 - Sonya Hodder (Spreydon Neighbourhood Network)

We have no objection.

3008 - Wanda Kingma

Agree

301 - Ngarie Worsley

Do it.

3011 - Annette Marchant

OK

3012 - George Laxton

Don't see why not....

3016 - Zarah Green

Agree

3017 - Heather Venis

Good idea.

302 - Bronwyn Roberts

Agree

3021 - Viane Makalio

Yes gift but ensure there is conversations with mana whenua before doing this.

3022 - Brian Craig

Supported

3029 - Rodrigo Gomez Fell

I'm ok with this.

3031 - Lee Osborn

Good idea as long as it doesn't become a CCC liability in the future.

3035 - Claire Coveney

I agree to this. They pay for restoration.

3036 - John W. Thacker

Yes sounds as though the local community could make this work for their area.

3037 - Robert Fletcher

In support

3039 - Paula Allen

ok

3055 - Josephine Drysdall

I support this decision. Community ownership and responsibility for local assets is generally a positive move.

3056 - Carolyn Elcock

Yes

3058 - Robin Clements

Should do this

3065 - Janet Wilson

Good

3068 - Vanessa Wells

Good idea.

307 - Rata Jamieson

I think this would be beneficial as the local residents understand best what their communities need.

3071 - James Gormack

yes

3073 - Christine Bradley

I think this is a great idea

3077 - Mike Davidson

Support

3078 - Adele Bishop

Agree

3079 - Willem Bouman

Go for it

3085 - Jacqueline Sullivan

Absolutely.

3088 - Heather Brown

A great idea as long as there are caveats in place to ensure it remains in community ownership.

3089 - Trevor Lord

Support

3090 - Trudi Bishop

It is a good idea.

3093 - Gareth Cook

Ok

3094 - Daniel Smith

Go for it

3095 - Helen Dawson
Great idea

3105 - Tracey MacArthur
Do it!

3110 - Michael Beard
OK

3115 - Jane McCulla
Yes do it

3119 - Patricia Paul
This is a great idea.

3123 - Kate Markman
Good plan

3125 - Gabrielle Humphreys
Good

3126 - Janel Atlas
Do it

3128 - Chris Smith
Good

3129 - Skye Arnopp
Good - community associations are a great way to foster community involvement.

3134 - Kim Lister

Good

3136 - John Hynes

Agreed

314 - Vaughan Kirkland

I support this

3142 - Ruth Jardine

Good idea.

3145 - Leah Wild

Yes

3161 - Jillian Schofield

Good

3164 - Arthur Gordon-Wright

Good idea

3165 - Adrienne Baxter

if it saves costs then good idea.

3166 - Arwen Sommer

It seems like a good use of the building. It would be nice to see it restored.

3169 - Barbara Brown

OK

3177 - Dan Lucas

yes i support this as long as it is gifted as is where is without strengthening work

3178 - Libby Newcombe

Good idea

3179 - Rochelle Taylor

Good, do it

319 - Fay Stickley

For once I agree with this proposal. It could be something lovely for the community.

3195 - Redacted Redacted

go for it.

3197 - Viv Patton

Agree

320 - Ian Knewstubb (Lyttelton Times Ltd)

No problem

3200 - Georgina Woods

Sounds a good idea

3209 - Anouk Minnaar

Great

321 - Tom Williams

Agree as long as this doesn't incur an ongoing cost

3214 - Sue Trayling

Good idea

322 - Richie Connell

Fine. As long as they look after it.

3222 - Mark Rayner

A gesture that would cost very little but gain considerable good will to the council.

3224 - Damian Mora

Yes do it

3228 - Daniel Gilmour

I agree with the proposal to gift it to the Yaldhurst Rural Residents Association

3230 - Suz Guthrie

Good idea. Get rid of the responsibility.

3231 - Colin Foster

Yes so long as there is a strong residential management committee that has the right business plan to make this a long term success, before the gifting is made.

3235 - Thomas Caspari

Perfect :)

3239 - Lynette McGrath

Good idea, save on maintenance and insurance

324 - Richard Wesley

Fine

3240 - Sarah Brunton

Yes I agree to gift it to YRRA.

3243 - Michael Petherick

It's fine.

3248 - Dave Edwards

Good idea

3256 - Ian Goodwin

Good

326 - Greg Dodds

Yes, good.

3261 - Helena Campbell

Agree

3262 - Charlorte Verity-McCormick

Great!

3263 - Allan Wood

Yes

3268 - Savannah Da Silva

Very good plan

3280 - Megan Cassim

Yes

3283 - Elizabeth Clarke

Fine

3287 - Claire Fletcher

I agree

3295 - Rachel Du Val

Good proposal

3297 - Lianne Stone

Do it

3299 - Phil OMalley

Agree

3301 - Anna Wilkes

Good decision

3305 - Angelita Schwalger

Great

3307 - Richard Griffiths

Good

3309 - Rachel Francis

Yes

3311 - Michael McEntee

Good

332 - Flair Mckay

Yes!

3322 - Christine Nicoll

Yes great idea. Needed by residents who want to restore it.

3325 - Adele Geradts

I support the gift as long as the Yaldhurst Rural Residents Association is in a strong financial position to take on the hall in the long term. Memorial halls should be protected as part of our heritage; ideally, the council is the best place to preserve our past. The community who live around it knows it and loves it, so they will care for it.

3337 - Erica Afonso

Good idea

3339 - Frank Lad

Yes

334 - Clare Marshall

I'm not really clued up enough - but yes, if they want it, do it. As long as they will be able to afford to run it themselves and not let it go to wrack and ruin.

3341 - Maria Bartlett

Ok

3349 - Rob McDonald

I support it

3354 - Andrea Langan

Yes

336 - Vickie Hearnshaw

Probably the right thing to do.

3362 - Cherie Mansell

Gift the Yaldhurst Memorial Hall to the Residents association.

3363 - Brodie Marra-Stevenson

Sure!

337 - Debbie Jones

Seems fair

3373 - Michael Netto

I fully support the proposal to gift Yaldhurst Memorial Hall to the Yaldhurst Rural Residents' Association. This initiative not only represents a meaningful use of community assets but also strengthens local governance and community engagement. By transferring ownership to an organization deeply rooted in the local area, the hall is more likely to be utilized in ways that directly benefit the residents and align with their specific needs and priorities. This gesture can empower the community, enhance local activities, and ensure the preservation and appropriate use of a valued community asset. I commend the Council for considering such a community-centric approach and encourage ongoing efforts to engage with and support local associations in similar ways.

3379 - Mike Currie

I support this.

3381 - Karen Amyes

Yes gift to the resident association

3386 - James Herbison

Agree

3396 - Lucy King

Good.

34 - Jean Flannery

Yes

340 - David Wilkinson

fine with that

3403 - Shelley Keach

Yes

3409 - Angela Webster

Good if saves money

3413 - Janey Archbold

Yea

3414 - Chrissie Williams

If they want it, fine. As long as the Residents Assn is made full aware of the liabilities that go with the building.

3415 - Allan Taunt

Agree with this.

3419 - Michael Allan

Good idea if they are prepared and acknowledge the costs of maintenance in the years ahead. If they will not acknowledge these, then sell it to the highest bidder.

3421 - Mary Clark

Good idea.

3423 - James Upton

Yes, good idea, and has safeguards if it doesn't work out.

3424 - Taylor Johnskn

Sounds like a great idea

3425 - Hugh Dacre

Good idea

3430 - Philippa Upton

Agree with this given there is a fall back to the Council if it doesn't work for the association.

3453 - Zeta Pringle

I agree but the cost of using the facilities on a user's pay system Out be mindful if the cost are too high then you might see the use grow smaller.

3455 - Craig Steele

Great idea, theyll do well with it!

3460 - Jasper Van der Lingen

Okay

3465 - Hannah Steven

Agree

3466 - Mark Stapleton

Am in favour

347 - Catherine Webber

Yes good.

3471 - Murray Irvine

good idea.

3474 - Timothy Lambert

yes please go ahead

3476 - John Fletcher

OK

3482 - Col Pearson

I think this hall should be gifted to the local residents association as it's probably an important facility for the local community and should be revitalised by them.

3483 - Jo Bethell

if the residents association wants to take the hall on, go for it.

3485 - Dr Sally Price

Yes, that is fine.

3490 - Peter Minten

I am in support of this.

3493 - Brendon Lee

DO IT!

3497 - Cerys Fletcher

I support this. A good example of this passing on of assets can be seen in the Hornby Community Centre's taking over of the former Hornby Library site on Goulding Ave. This is a great way of giving the Yaldhurst Residents' Association a stronger link to CCC, and allows them to better serve their community.

3498 - Lucas Tomasi

The memorial hall should go to the YRRA they have been asking for its restoration for a long time.

>>>

Yes it should be gifted to the association. It is a war memorial hall if it is demolished or continued to be neglected because of a lack of funding it needs to be given to the people who care about it and want to fix it. Its a war memorial and community centre it is too important to loose.

350 - Chris Hoopmann

Fine

3504 - Nicola Holt

A good idea

3506 - Lisa Gooding

Makes sense to diversify council properties. It is a cost to council that can be managed by other parties

3507 - Gary Barber

Agreement

3525 - Andrew Hey

Agree

3527 - James Stringer

Agree.

3529 - Marc Duff

100% fully support, this area is seeing a lot of residential development and the need for a Hall like this in the community will only become more and more. Having leaved in a rural settlement, the drive of residents in these areas to make things happen is second to none and can only be the envy of those in urban areas. They will make it happen and do it well, I have no doubt, the passion of rural communities can never be underestimated.

3535 - Anna Harper

Yes a good idea.

3539 - Louwren Moolman

Yes

354 - Vivienne Allan

Go ahead. Frankly, why it is classed as a heritage building defeats me if the image you have supplied is accurate.

3540 - Philip Robinson

good.

3541 - Ashleigh Smith

Sounds great for an community that doesn't usually benefit from the council

3544 - Ginette Pethig

Good.

3545 - Sarah Eve Tunstall

I think this is a good idea.

3548 - Dwayne McCormick

Good

3552 - Alice Neylon

Gifting the Yaldhurst building seems like a no-brainer. Just do it.

Yes give the place away. It's a cash sink hole currently and a hazard.

3564 - Allan Grant

Good idea.

3567 - Rachel Briggs
Agreed

357 - Charlotte Gray
A good idea.

3575 - Anna Hansson
Sounds nice to me

3576 - Noeline Allan (Cass Bay Residents Association)

[Community Facilities > Community Facilities (Operational)]

Excellent idea. This proposal would get rid of a cost to the Council which it cannot afford, while providing a much needed space for the Yaldhurst community. Cass Bay Residents Association have been asking CCC staff and Banks Peninsula Community Board, for several years, to be allowed to lease land to build a community centre in our bay. We have said we will raise the funds to do so as we feel the best place for such a building would be at Steadfast Reserve on the site where there is currently a dilapidated building that, before haphazard repurposing, was a 3 sided vehicle port. Like the Yaldhurst situation this would save the CCC money on renovating and maintaining the old garage.

358 - Tamara Dauvergne
Good idea

3580 - Becky Helliwell
Good idea

3586 - Rachel Geddis
No brainer.

3589 - Roxanne Brassington
Go ahead

3592 - Lucy Altaner

Good idea. You won't have to pay for it, and they will like having it.

3596 - Susan Lau

It appears as if the YRRA are interested in developing this as a community hall, so I'm glad if this community is engaged and positive about this proposal.

3599 - Hayley Guglietta

Where a group forms and shows a willingness to take on a facility and run it so it doesn't increase the operational spend of CCC then yes I wholeheartedly agree. and YES that was a dig a 10 Shirley Road

360 - Wendy Pollock

Do it

3600 - Murray Wiig

If it really means getting rid of on going liability or expense, then go for it.

3601 - Bridget Allen

no problem

3606 - Mark Dowers

This is a fantastic idea to keep a heritage structure in a community who will use it and a great show of good faith in the council.

3611 - Sharon Dowers

yes support this!

3615 - Janine Clarke

Probably should have been done sooner.

3618 - Chrys Horn

Support

3620 - Rosemary Turnbull

Good.

3621 - Morgane Honore

Unfamiliar with the area or organisation, but if they want it and no other project are wanting it why not

3623 - Jessica Adams

Good idea

3624 - Noeline Marsh

Yes its a good idea although that might mean it looks derelict for a long time, as no one will have the money to fix it.

3625 - Angela Brett

This looks fine.

3626 - Connie Christensen

Sounds like a good idea if they can find the money to repair and earthquake proof it to create a community space to benefit local residents and businesses.

3627 - Patrick O'Kane

Yes

3634 - Peter Cooper

Good idea

3635 - Jane Lila McKenzie

Yaldhurst Memorial Hall: has obviously been running at a loss for a considerable time. The proposal to lease the land for $1 a year and gift the property to YRRA to restore to a degree, with the council then having the first right of refusal after five years sounds like a good idea. Go for it.

3636 - Kay Robertson

Good idea. The population in this area is increasing and they will need these sorts of community assets.

3638 - Patricia Frankland

Yes, good idea

3639 - Stephen Burgham

I agree

3640 - Angela Neal

Agree gift it and let the residents take control

3644 - Yvonne Dixon

Yes, o.k with me.

3653 - Andrew McDougall

Agree

3657 - Ruth Bullen

Agee

3660 - Alice Shanks

Yes. Place for community activities, meeting is essential for healthy social capital.

3661 - Steph Walker

I think local ownership is a great idea.

3663 - Connor McIver

Support this.

3668 - Gavin Hardie

Yes gift to the Yaldhurst Rural Residents' Assoc who will care and maintain it for their community.

3672 - Neil McKenzie

Good idea.

3673 - Theo van Woerkom

Go ahead

3678 - Terry Smith

Agree

3679 - Janet Perry

Approve.

3684 - Alison Lomax

Good idea

3686 - Suzanne Peddie

Good plan.

3687 - Rebekah Savage

Sounds like a nice idea

3688 - Paul Crooks

Go ahead

3691 - Deb Hawke

Yes, I agree with this.

3693 - Lynette Wills

Yes, gift to the Yaldhurst Rural Residents Assoc as soon as the CCC can. They will care for it and ensure it is used by the Yaldhurst Community

3695 - Pamela Pye

Support

3696 - Jim Porteous

No problem

3697 - Jennie Brittenden

Fantastic!

3700 - Ian Cumberpatch

As long as a carefully prepared Project analysis is completed and a properly costed Project development plan is accepted by the recipients so that there is no comeback to the CCC asking for shortfall funding then I support this. However if a proper and professionally prepared Project Development Plan, both restorative works and then ongoing annual maintenance and running costs along with proposed usage demand figures is not prepared or accepted then I do support the proposal.

3701 - Rod Hay

Good.

3711 - Hamish Keown

Go for it if the community wants it.

3712 - Zeta Pringle (Coalition for safe accommodation in Christchurch)

We support community being in charge of their facilities .User pays now comes into force.

3716 - Phillipa O'Loughlin

This sounds a good decision.

372 - Kyle Bluck

Support.

3721 - Benn Dickie

Yes, do it.

3722 - Rachel Thwaites

Go for it

3723 - Don Babe

Very good.

3724 - Terence Sissons

Good idea

3726 - Cliff Mason

Good

3729 - Jennifer Ross

If that's what is wanted by them, it should be done. That building has sat unused for so many years now

3731 - Heather McHarg

Agree

3733 - Helen Reason

Makes sense

3735 - Natalie O'Connell

Go for it

3738 - Finn Jackson

I support this. Giving local community groups control of and responsibility for local assets empowers them and fosters a stronger relationship between residents and the City Council.

3741 - Kevin Spaul

Ok sounds great

3743 - Ben Ellis

Seems fine! Good luck to them.

3745 - Victoria Rathgen

Sell yaldhurst hall.

>>>

Great - do it

>>>

Gift yaldburst hall to community

3748 - Greta Bond (Age Concern Canterbury)

Sounds like a great idea.

3749 - Charles Berridge

Yes, this property should be gifted to the Yaldhurst Rural Residents Association.

375 - Alex McNeill

If they want it, it's a good idea. But are they aware of the extra money required?

3756 - Christina Hamilton

Good idea

376 - Mattias Wieland

Go ahead

3763 - John Graham

That sound like a wonderful idea.

3766 - Christina Hartung

yes, good idea.

3767 - Donna Faucher

Yes

3768 - Tracey Klatt

Seems OK

3769 - Dawn Smith

Great idea.

3771 - Paul Bacon

Good

3773 - Elizabeth Benson

Good

3775 - Kate Latimer

Great

3782 - Ramses Hunt

Do it

3787 - Deb Donnell

Good idea.

3793 - Mark Gerrard (Historic Places Canterbury)

HPC [Historic Places Canterbury] supports the gifting of the Yaldhurst Memorial Hall to the Yaldhurst Rural Residents' Association.

3795 - Bede Cunningham

agree

3801 - Victor (aka Vince) Eichholtz

fine

3805 - Antony Lawrence

Sensible.

3806 - Simon Green

Excellent idea

3807 - Graeme Remington

Agree 100%.

3811 - Greg Canton

Agree,

3816 - Annette Bolton

good. Would be good to see funding to support the local community to use these properties.

3817 - Melissa Macfarlane

Support.

3818 - Ali Moore

Good idea.

3819 - Jessica Halliday

Don't know much about it - but as long as they continue to use it for public benefit/use - sounds good.

3825 - Justin Barton

reasonable

3826 - Kate Cleverly

agree

3827 - Ken Morison

Yes do it.

383 - Louise Woolley

Yes this is a good idea

3831 - Rick Jones

Gift as long as there's no ongoing cost to maintenance, upgrades etc.

3837 - Dermot Coffey

I support

3841 - Kate Hodgins

Yes, support this

3845 - Wolfgang Rack

Yes.

3846 - Rebecca Finch

Yes!

3849 - David Peddie

good idea

385 - Francesca Brown

Agree

3852 - Chris Coey

A good move, the building will remain an asset to the local community which in turn takes over the costs of bringing it up to standard.

3854 - Michael Laurensen

Fine

3858 - Jennifer Berridge

Yes, the Yaldhurst Memorial Hall should be gifted to the Yaldhurst Rural Residents Association.

3859 - Sally Widdowson

Good idea

386 - Christine McPhail

Good- local input is great just look at the pest- trapping and planting by locals all over NZ.

3860 - Kate Cleverly (Halswell Community Hub)

agree

3861 - Alex Robinson

Good.

3865 - Maxine Donovan

It is something that would be maintained appropriately like New Brighton Roy Stokes Hall then sounds a good move.

3868 - Don Gould

Don't care. If there is a group who wants it, wants to love it and it reduces my rates then let them have it.

3869 - Cam Parsonson

Gift it. too much money spent on argument.

387 - Rowena MacGill

Yes

3877 - Hilary Quayle

Great

3882 - Jodi Gauci

Yes agree

3884 - Rachel Bacon

Agree

3886 - Kim Moss

Agree

3887 - Michael Patterson (Commodore Airport Hotel Ltd)

Yes, we agree this is the right thing to do.

3889 - Jessica Rees

Sensible

3890 - Michele St George Waugh

Yes

3891 - Christopher Gauci

Good

3894 - Greg Siddells

Agree

3896 - Coral Denize

Good idea

3898 - Richard Smith

great

3901 - Amanda South

Yes

3902 - James Ridpath

Fine

3904 - Lee Barber

Good

3907 - Graham Muir

Agree

3913 - Mark Darbyshire

Seems like a good solution

3916 - Laila Jansone (Renew Brighton Charitable Trust)

We support this proposal

3917 - Bob Thayer

Good idea

3921 - Alison Loveridge

Good

3924 - Rachel Purcell

Yes, this is a good idea. Good for that community

3927 - Wendy Marshall

Great

3928 - Philippa King

I support this

393 - Kathryn Russell

If it saves council money long term

3935 - Michael Healey

I Approve

3944 - Lyn Dawson

Do it. Communities need their community centres.

3949 - Fay Brorens

Gifting the Yaldhurst Memorial Hull to the Residents Association seems to be a good community choice.

>>>

Yes. This community is committed.

3952 - Robert Simpson

Yes, it's an eyesore at present and it would be great for something to come of it.

3956 - Nicola McCormick

Good, it is old so maintenance will be required.

3958 - Emma Turner

Great.

3960 - Nicola Prattley

Do it.

3963 - Jillian Scott

Give

3967 - Graham Wagener

It's a good idea because it will allow access to grant funding for the repairs and allow the people who will use it to determine how it'll be used.

3970 - Allannah Lovelady

I think it's a lovely idea.

3971 - Joseph Fullerton

It's good

3974 - Amanda Jenkins

yes good idea

3976 - Elizabeth Pugh

I agree with this proposal. It is vital for the community to have somewhere to meet. The community should be responsible for the upkeep and restoration of the hall - not the council, as per the proposal to gift the "YMH" to the residents association

3977 - Defyd Williams

Good idea.

3978 - Sandra Bragg

Yes gifting it is a good idea.

3980 - Marlene Rohan

do you think of our proposal to gift Yaldhurst Memorial

A great idea.

3983 - Edward Lucas

GOOD IDEA

3985 - Benjamin Lowe

do you think of our proposal

Good.

3991 - Marilyn Copland

Great!

3992 - Sue Piesse

Good idea.

3994 - Sarah Boje

Sounds good if everyone is in agreement at RR association Will they have to pay rates?

3996 - David Lough

GOOD IDEA .

400 - Olivia Dowell

I think it is a good idea.

4000 - Kari Barr

Great idea

4001 - Jennifer Porter

Definitely agree! And I hope it will be possible for the YRRA to present progress reports and request for funds from the Community Boards. [I am not a member of YRRA, but I support their goal]

4003 - Kristine Jolliy

A great idea.

4004 - Nathalie Le Bras

Agree

4014 - Stephen Hill

Good

4017 - Angela Nicholls

Yes. A brilliant idea.

402 - Cynthia Charron

Support.

4020 - Brian Turner

Yes, do it.

4021 - Cornelis F De Jager

Do it if it saves on the upkeep.

4022 - Ann Margaritis

yes

4023 - Bethan Sommer

Yes, it sounds like a great idea for the community to use the space.

4024 - Richard McCaskill

I would agree with this proposal

4025 - Robin Wynne-Williams

A good idea.

4027 - Rona Buttimore

Great

4034 - Remy Barbier

Let them have it. Ensure they can use it well.

4035 - Simon Ashby

All good

4037 - Jo Kidd

Good

4038 - Jodi Wright

Yes

410 - Prue Edmond

Good idea

415 - Patrick Curran

Good idea

422 - Nias Kitchin

If they can take on the costs to fix it then good. Otherwise sell as is where is

443 - Keryn Roberts

I think this is a brilliant idea

446 - Andrew Peach

Ok

447 - Zoelle Davies

Do it

450 - Allison Husband

I agree - if they are willing to take responsibility

452 - Mark Penrice

Better than knocking it down I suppose.

459 - Aaron Watson

Yes do it

466 - John Pryor

Fine.

467 - Anna Scheirlinck

great

468 - Genevieve Bergin

Yes

469 - Amira Aman

Yes

481 - Tommy Ng

not a bad idea...if it makes sense and helps to lessen the burden of people

483 - Narelle Gilmour

Do it

486 - Neil McConachie

Happy with this

487 - Gavin Stevenson

Agree as long as the Association has the resources to repair and maintain the hall for community use.

496 - Simon Liddy

I know they have been asking for that for a long time, so yes I think it should go into their hands and be supported by the council as needed

499 - Michael Sumpter

Yes, providing there is no additional hidden costs to CCC in future. Any gifting is just that.

5 - Dr M Peter Moore

in favour

504 - Angela Templeton

Good idea

505 - Laura Jones

sounds good

510 - Eleanor Sim

Yes do it

514 - Dennis Foley

Good

523 - Andrew Eadon-Jones

Needs must.

526 - Stephen French

A good move.

531 - Cameron Bradley

I think this is fine

540 - Ross Allen

Strongly support.

546 - Lisa Boyce

Yes

550 - Colin Mansell

Yes, they cost money to maintain

555 - Jemma Balmer

Go for it

556 - Jemma Penelope

Yes, I support this

559 - Neville Ross

Good idea.

561 - Eleanor Taffs

Good

571 - Judita Paulionyte

Sure

572 - Brian Nelson

Support.

575 - Murray Walls

Good idea.

577 - Donna Tse

Agreed

587 - Diana Holderness

good

590 - Grant Hartley

Good

595 - jeffery Thackwell

Good idea

597 - Ashleigh Dickson

I support this decision

608 - Patrick Clarke

good proposal, as long as there is no expectation of remediation or refurbishment (as is where is), otherwise the benefit to rate payers will be void.

610 - Charlotte Borra

Good idea

612 - Annette Mauger

Go ahead

615 - Michael JasonSmith

I wish the Yaldhurst Rural Residents' Association success in repairing the Yaldhurst Memorial Hall to the required standard, and I agree with the proposal to gift the Hall to the Association.

617 - Gerard Loader

No problem

618 - Natalie Dixon

Great idea. Fully support.

620 - Kristen Smith

Yes - do it

621 - Sophie Morton

A great idea

622 - Stephanie Cullen

Good

63 - Jean Lindo

Good idea

631 - Cynthia Roberts

Happy with that decision

632 - Juliet Reynolds-Midgley

Sounds good to me.

635 - Ashley Campbell

I'm happy with it. When residents offer to take over a building, including its cost, that should be encouraged.

637 - Bernice Swain

Do it

638 - Amanda Cropp

Agree

639 - Paul Clark

Absolutely

64 - Lindy Drury
Great

642 - Stella Ward
Yes

644 - Julie Paterson
Excellent

645 - Stewart Mckenzie
Fully support this

649 - Andrew Khor
Good

652 - Sharon Howells (Sharon Howells School of Dance)
Fantastic

653 - Jane Cartwright
agree

655 - Patricia Holden
A good idea

659 - Matt Dumont
seems like a reasonable solution

665 - Rene Arthur
Sure

669 - Daniel Barkley

Great. Saves the Hall and the council coffers.

672 - Edwin Du Plessis

Yes

Yes

674 - Carey Poulter

Yes agree with this.

6904 - Jean McIntyre

yes - Agree

695 - Patrick O'Sullivan

Agree

697 - Joanne Claire Eaton

fine

698 - Danica Gilmore

Agree

702 - Tim Stedman

No issues

718 - Sharon Pheasant

Yes this is great to see.

719 - Shane McInroe

very good idea

724 - Sophie Cooney

Great

726 - John Billows
fine

730 - Doug Allen
ok

733 - Tania Thompson
good

745 - Gretchen Bruner
It makes sense.

748 - A Robinson
yes

749 - Sandra Pearson
Great news.

750 - Simon Walker
No issues

751 - Genevieve Robinson
Great

752 - Vivienne Hewson
Agree

756 - Jonathan Harrington
Great.

759 - Rory Kinahan

Sure, why not.

761 - Carol Groves

Absolutely fabulous idea

762 - Julie Nelmes

good idea

763 - Nicola Fagan

yes good idea

769 - Julie Kidd

Approve.

77 - Gill Patterson Kerr

Go ahead

78 - Michele Laing

Agree

781 - Jenene Parker

Good idea

785 - Ariana Tikao

I support this.

795 - Gary Phillips

It is damaged, so if people want to take it over to keep it and pay for it themselves then let them do so, as long as CCC doesn't have to pay more money

799 - John Ascroft

Ok

80 - Elizabeth Velde

Ok

812 - Matthew Fagan

I think this is a wonderful idea.

814 - Malcolm McKellar

If they want it

815 - Sophie Ryan

Yes this should be done.

816 - Murray Dickinson

Agree

820 - Shelley MacDonell

I support the gifting to the YRRA.

823 - Kym East

Fine

83 - Murray Victor

Good idea

843 - Ngaire Donelda Bacon

an excellent proposal

855 - Anna van Haastrecht

I have no problems with that, provided that the Association is responsible for the running costs

856 - Ralph Hobbs

Makes sense

857 - Kate Munro

good idea

858 - Thomas McNaughton

Don't know a lot of background but looks logical.

859 - Todd Gault

Fine

865 - Kelvin Duncan

Great idea and many thanks.

>>>

[Revenue - Disposal of Council Owned Land]

OK, but what is to happen to the Upper Riccarton World War 1 Memorial building? I believe that the title search was not adequate as the Council believes it was purchased for Maori in 1919! There was a house on that site for many years before this, so where is the title? If I am right, why is Ngai Tahu going to have first offer rights? And shouldn't Council be morally bound to provide a memorial? What form it could take could be settled in consultation. I was a volunteer librarian in that library. It was greatly appreciated by readers because they could get older books to read - in most modern libraries books are disposed of after a few years on the shelf). I applaud the decision to give the Yaldhurst Hall to the community organisation.

877 - Helen Hessey

good idea

881 - Katherine Doig

This is clearly a good decision.

883 - Elizabeth Steel

I think it's a good idea. If they can restore the hall and feel strongly about the matter, then I think they should get to give it a go.

894 - Ben Liebing

good

899 - Sharon Pavich

Great idea

900 - Bill McElhinney

Good idea.

902 - Karen McElhinney

Great idea!

904 - George Cox

I support this idea and think that the proposed conditions on the gifting are suitable. This seems like the optimal pathway for disposing of the hall.

906 - Alister Ferguson

Go ahead, but make it their responsibility to repair and then maintain

912 - Sophie Hartnell

Great idea

923 - Leanne Keen

Go for it

939 - Alana Bashall

Sounds like a nice idea

941 - Hannah Sheath

Gift it!!

963 - Bronwyn Moth

good

964 - Jaime Blondell

Good idea

967 - Audrey Baldwin

Great

972 - Robert Gomez

If it's costing more to keep it open than the revenue from the asset then yes gift it

990 - Wendy Fergusson

ok

996 - David Smith

Ok

Oppose

1031 - George Tylee

Oppose.

1185 - Greg Ritchie

No, they should rent or purchase it.

1319 - Luke Sweeney

No do not gift if there is value to all ratepayers

1334 - David Cowie

NO. If they want it, pay for it.

1418 - Wayne Biddorff

Keep it.

1467 - Alistair Falconer

I think there is still value in the Council owning such facilities so all can benefit from its use.

1578 - Lucia Campbell-Reeves

Bad

1609 - Johnathons Atkins

No put it for sale. Its not your money to give away Put it into private to make money why should I fund it dont gift, open tender to public if potential to be developed.

1699 - Dominic McKeown

1701 - James Friend

Definitely not, it is an asset that can be sold.

1766 - Jan Edwards

Why should they get it for free

1778 - Jane Houghton

No, sell it.

2115 - Billie Kaine

No

2305 - Monique Maynard

DONT GIFT IT - SO WHAT IF THE YALDHURST HALL IS OLD - IT GOT DAMAGED, IT SHOULD BE DEMOLISHED. WHO EVER OWNS IT IS STUCK WITH A LARGE REPAIR BILL THAT WILL NOT BE RECOUPED.

2498 - REDACTED REDACTED

I don't agree, i think this should be demolished and the land sold. Its an old rectangle shaped building.

2514 - Jeannie Murtagh

Why gift this property and sell others? Doesn't make financial sense.

2537 - Suzanne Montocchio

Why? Niceties are not what we should be focusing on

2692 - Liz Fletcher

Disagree

2708 - Rob Beechey

we can't afford to give assets away.

2816 - Susan Eleanor Peake

Sell

2852 - Aaron Ghattas

No gifting. Yaldhurst has their fair share of wealth lifestyle section owner and new developments. There is plenty of available sheds, excessively large houses and open spaces for 'Rural Residents' meetings. Developers need to consider communities and environment, not just sale of land. Why should all of Chch lose out of a say, funding a community program or more trees. Sell the building fair and square.

3018 - Kristal Jenkins

Nah this is silly. Save the money and put it into things like parks and conservation

3076 - Melvin Anderson

Keep all council properties

3096 - Hamish Mitchell

Sell it as is where is at market rate. Don't gift it

3187 - Debbie Hamilton

They should pay for this

3193 - Allan Greenall

No

3294 - Kayla Herriott

No. Sell it to them

3361 - Ali Cameron

Na

344 - Aaron Herriott

Giving away things=loss of money. Bad

3671 - Linda Nicolson

I'm not a fan. Make sure they know there will be no more money from the council to improve it.

3692 - Jen McKinnel

Dont give anything away! We cant pay our rates, we are getting rates increased, where there is a proposal to.give away assets??

3705 - Glenis Youngman

i do not know what to think as the council has alot of debt so should not be doing this.

3715 - Jason Bridgwater (Linwood Rugby League)

No

3781 - Trevor Spiers

No

3903 - Jeremy Lynn

I dont like it.

4030 - Jenna Hayward

Nope get money of them they can buy it

404 - Annelise Bryant

No way

55 - Jen Abernethy

not sure this is a good idea

624 - Emma Velde

No need to gift anything when you're about to ask for $1000s of extra dollars from home owners

662 - Cameron Taylor

Let them pay

663 - Sam Chow-Tan

No charge for it.

705 - John Hendrickx

No

822 - Gavin Scott-Petersen

No. There should be no gifting of land or property regardless of proposed use. This is owned by rate payers and you can't with one hand take more, and with the other, hand it out for free. Harsh I know, but we need to be sensible.

897 - Jonathan Mathias

Property should be sold on the market. This would be a large burdon on the Yaldhurst Rural residents association to fix.

915 - Mark Pearson

Sell them.

Other

100 - Anthea Fraser

Don't know the details but council shouldn't be in the business of holding property. If sold, needs to be open market.

1050 - Ken Lloy

no sell it we are not a charity

1067 - Iarene Jelley

I think this hall is probably not viable to keep, so yes give it to the Resident Association, or sell it to them for the land value at least.

1129 - John Clemens

Appears to be great, but I do not know what repercussions this entails, or precedents this sets that could be harmful to the public long-term.

1159 - James Frost

Sell it instead. Can't afford to be giving things away

1164 - Andrea Davis

Yes with an engagement plan going forward that might support community activities.

1168 - Annie Pattison

Yes, give it to charity if the charity is specialised to look after it.

1216 - Glenn Maguire

It needs to still retain a memorial status on the land so if ever demolished a new memorial is put on the land.

13 - David Thorn

No sell it

1302 - Melanie Forsyth

Why would it be gifted? Can it not be sold to developers or other approach? Otherwise it should be gifted to reduce ongoing maintenance fees.

1342 - Martin Ansley

Sell it.

135 - Jac Call

Think Yaldhurst residents should Answer this not the general Public.

>>>

This should be gifted back

1356 - Sharon Fox

Yes as long as the council does not have on going costs in the future

1373 - Luke Lagan

Don't care

139 - Paul Tait

Gift thats sounds expensive sell keep it simple

1391 - Anna Gruczynska

The Hall appears to be in poor condition and I question how YRRA will be able to meet the cost of repair if CCC is unable to. If the gifting proceeds, I do not support CCC funding the repairs in any way, not incurring cost to take it back if YRRA is unable to perform the repair.

1393 - Tim Holmes

I agree with the proposal to dispose of the hall, however the residents association should be allowed to pursue their own strengthening design.

1424 - Peter McMillan

What do you think of our proposal to gift Yaldhurst Memorial Hall to the Yaldhurst Rural Residents' Association?

AS LONG AS RETURNS TO COUNCIL ARE MAXIMISED
OR FUTURE COSTS MINIMIZED

1460 - Jihee Park

why are you gifting, make a profit or some sort

1519 - Matthew Williams

As long as it is time limited, and that the YRRA fund it entirely and dont come back to the ratepayers for ANY funding Otherwise we should just dispose of as-is even if for a nominal amount.

1522 - David Alexander

I think the building should be gifted, but not the land. Lease the land to them for the value of the rates, or some similar arrangement.

1544 - Daana Watson

These old halls were often built from purely local community fund raising efforts and should be offered back to those communities rather than knocked down (as many no longer meet earthquake standards) but given their usual purpose as community meeting centres, be flexible about allowing communities to manage insurance/strengthening costs as they are often not used "every day" to put people at risk.

1581 - Ann Kleiss

As long as the ratepayers don't have to pay for any upkeep

16 - Andrew McKay

Sell it to the highest bidder.

1612 - Emma Johnson

As long as this is not passing costs on to the association, I think it is a good idea.

1619 - David Hera

If the Yaldhurst Rural Residents Association is dedicated to transforming the Yaldhurst Memorial Hall into a community asset, then the asset should indeed be transferred to them.

1623 - Oliver Mould

You do not say if the Yaldhurst Rural Residents' Association will also be asking for or will be given council funds to subsequently restore the hall. On the basis that they are entirely self-funded I'm happy to let you gift Yaldhurst Memorial Hall to the YRRA having read your commentary on it

1640 - Veronica Leigh-Ogden

Do u really think its a good idea to be gifting anything right now?

1663 - Sam Spekreijse

Sure. That or demolish it anyway.

1672 - Dickson Wong

No. If council is struggling, then gifting doesn't serves the rest of the community well. However the rural resident association has provided solid evidence how they can fully utilise the hall and even drive the community, is certainly worthwhile to consider

1717 - Mark Doyle

Sell it. Why give assets away when money and income is a challenge?

172 - Bronze Templeton

no. if they can't pay then sell it somebody who will pay for it.

1761 - Elaine Dunlop

Do they want it, can they afford to keep it updated and maintained, will there be a large cost to them, is there a possibility it can not be managed abd want to be returned to the CCC

1780 - Alison Griffith-Collins

The CCC needs to step up and do its share to protect heritage assets. Residential associations cannot normally generate the kind of capital needed for upkeep.

1812 - Cathy McMillan

I think it's just a transfer of significant cost to the community. Better to demolish the building (even if it has heritage status) & sell the land then gift the funds to the community

1833 - Mary McKeown

What do you think of our proposal to give Yaldhurst Memorial Hall to the Yaldhurst Ratepayers Association?

As long as ratepayers not liable for further costs.

1834 - Judith Penney

This is one of the few remaining Community Halls and it is important that it is retained. I would like to see the option remain that, under extreme circumstances, Council support will still be available.

1921 - Harry Lawrence

Provided it does not give the Association undue financial burden I am for it.

1959 - Brad Waldon-Gibbons

i think it should be sold and that money go back to investing in the whole community. im assuming the property was brought buy rate payers money. so it should also be invested back to those rate payers. even if the sale price is "minimal" as stated.

2103 - P Stark

that's a tricky one as it's a neat wee hall and if the residents association could make it better let them but the council hasn't maintained it well recently so maybe the community would be better with a partial ownership with the council

2196 - Paul Ainsworth

If it saves money, great

2214 - Paul Kruger

Yes, do that, with the covenant that they cannot privatise.

2336 - Alastair Nicol

The Yaldhurst Memorial hall may have served the district well in the past, but it is a very unsuitable position with present day road layout and traffic. It would be better demolished and a smaller community centre built on a more suitable site

2392 - Wendy Blair

If they pay rates on it then yes

24 - Kaaren Mathias

I think this is not a great idea - that association is largely financially well off already - it should be sold and the income could be used to support communities in lower income parts of ChCh.

2480 - Kristin Muirhead

I wouldn't gift it, I'd require a fair payment.

2502 - Keri Glassenbury

Yes as long as you continue to support them

2507 - Bronte Barber

Mementos - keep the hall - can you help with anything as a parting gift?

2519 - Charlotte Withington

No they should pay something for it

2524 - Ruth Falconer

What do you think of our proposal to gift Tatumhurst Memorial Hall to the Tatumhurst Rural Residents Association?

Sounds good if it reduces long-term council (rate payer) expenditure (User Pays)

2529 - Bernard Newman

If this association will use the asset more than at present and with the caveat that it cannot be sold but only returned back to the Council if not wanted at some future date.

2554 - Paul Schwalger

Fine with council flicking it, seems much more of a liability than an asset. Selling the land and building as in where as with the covenant requiring repair would probably make more financial sense (although I imagine it would end up burning down in a suspicious fire with the site then being developed). If the residents association can realistically do the renovation then supportive

2559 - Michael Campbell

This is fine, provided it is full and final and as council are selling/gifting at a loss, no further council funds are required post sale/gift and the residents association must source further funding itself.

2624 - Colin Ong

Passing it on as a gift is altruistic. However, the Council should maintain a final yes/no vote on what the Association plans to do with the asset.

2655 - Michele Mccaw

Agree although probably needs to be pulled down and start again but good YRRA willing to take it on

2685 - Sue Chappell

The Yaldhurst Memorial Hall should NOT be demolished. The Christchurch City Council has done nothing since the Earthquakes to restore this building which is a significant War Memorial for the Yaldhurst District in memory of the men of the district who went to WW1 and WW2 including my father. The amazing fundraising which the district did to build this War Memorial hall therefore it should be gifted back to the community and it has some heritage status I am very disappointment that in all these years the CCC did nothing to save this building.

2705 - Ian Le Page

The hall is past its use by date and unless there is a definite need for a hall (replacement hall) then Council should sell the property. Gifting to the resident association is unlikely to become a viable proposition and more expensive than a new building. Without a need for a community building it is very difficult to justify.

2751 - Helen Holyoak

Not sure enough on the details. I think council should maintain facilities in regions and be open and collaborative and have low restrictions on how community uses facilities.

2781 - Sarah Hemmingsen

Yes but unlike the Edgeware pool (sold for $1 and under condition of no more rate payer funding) where additional funding was sought and provided make sure there are clear conditions.

2799 - Dot Lovell-Smith

Does the Yaldhurst Rural residents Association want the hall? It is very run down and is on a bad site for community events being so close to the major roads in and out of the city. Is there some land they can be gifted to put it on so that it can become a real community resource. ? Then plant the empty land in trees to soak up all the carbon created by the 100s of trucks and cars who go past there every day.

281 - Selwyn Gamble

Yes but maybe with a facelift, not really fair to gift a building that is worn down now is it? Otherwise it doesn't sound like gift giving, rather giving a way a burden. Does mana whenua give Council shabby gifts when they interact with each other? I see on the website that it's not recommended due to the significant cost, perhaps when Council receives gifts then stakeholders should cut costs on their gifts to council. It deserves it, it's a cool building that deserves a face lift for everyone to enjoy. I am being hyperbolic to highlight a point, finances cannot be the only stake in heritage buildings and they deserve to be treated so much more than the way they are talked about, especially considering we lost so many in the earthquake already. We know for a fact that if it was knocked down whatever would be built in its place would most likely be dull and lifeless.

2815 - Douglas Shaw

Don't set a pvesidence

2828 - Thomas Kulpe

Is this officially a war memorial? If not then I support that the hall should be gifted.

2833 - Robbie Peacocke

This sounds ok - provided there are legal provisions to ensure the Yaldhurst Rural Residents' Association is not permitted to just clear and sell this property to their benefit.

2835 - Emma Rodriguez Dos Santos

N/a apart from CCC should ensure gifting the building has been thoroughly understood by the receiving body and its not just gifting a liability?

2864 - Darin Cusack

Support this, but the council needs to undertake rendition work on this first, Council has failed in its core duty of asset management and maintenance.

29 - Hayley Young

No, sell it.

2913 - Amanda Ovenden

Yes but it should be made available for any groups to rent the hall for community activities.

2922 - Zak Morrison

The proposal to gift Yaldhurst Memorial Hall to the YRRA presents both opportunities and challenges. While it could lead to the preservation of a heritage building and strengthen community engagement, it also carries risks related to the financial viability of the project and the potential loss of strategic assets for future city planning. Given these considerations, it is understandable to have reservations about the decision. It may be beneficial for the Council to explore alternative models of partnership or support that could achieve the desired outcomes of restoration and community use while retaining some level of control or ownership to safeguard future redevelopment potential.

2936 - Ian Lochhead

I support the gifting of the Yaldhurst Memorial Hall to the Residents' Association but with the caveat that the CCC should provide staff time to assist in an advisory role in the rehabilitation of the facility.

2945 - Lynne Lochhead

I support this but it is important that the community is provided with adequate advice from staff to assist them in rehabilitating the building.

2951 - Les McKay

Haven't thought about this but if it is fiscally neutral then I have no issue with this but council does NOT in the future give money for upkeep or improvement.

3 - Di Prankerd

Historically a rural group would make good use of a community asset - I.e. voluntary input into the maintenance and refurbishment - not sure that will happen now. Better idea to sell it as is where is

3043 - J Elliott

Lease the Land, Gift the building

3053 - Drucilla Kingi-Patterson

5 The Yaldhurst Memorial Hall should be a 3m Community Emergency management training centre. The Yaldhurst Rural Residents Association must be part or full ownership

[Full attachment available]

311 - Peter Clark

No. Make the residents pay for it. User Pays.

3127 - Dianne Downward

If the Yaldhurst Rural Association can make good use of it, please gift it.

3203 - Vic Daniel good idea at no cost to the council

3291 - Jess Kikstra

Unsure, don't know enough to say. YARRA's proposal sounds reasonable if the hall is used by the community. It would be interesting to know how many people feel strongly about protecting the hall's heritage status. If there are already community facilities in the area and limited interest in the halls heritage I would consider the second option- to sell the land.

3314 - Esther Scott

Sell it to them if you must.

335 - Wayne Bates

It should be sold to recoup some of the money you have wasted

3364 - Alison Murray

This will save the Council money but is really gifting a debt as it is not up to standard and the Residents Association will be required to spend hundreds of thousands to be able to use it.

3371 - Malcolm Frost

If the community can make better use of it this sounds like a good proposal.

3480 - Martin Robertson

I think it should be demolished and the land sold

3573 - Joyce Yager

I do not support the giving of the hall. Instead the RA should be given a $1 lease per year to use the property.

3598 - Kyle Sutherland

It should be bowled as the association is highly unlikely to be able to fund it themselves, which therefore will fall on ratepayers.

3610 - Eric Stierna

The building should be demolished and the land sold. The funds from the sale should be invested in the Yaldhurst community

3613 - Catherine McLeavy

As long as no additional funds are required form the council.

3616 - Mark Webster

In principle I think that's a good idea - I'd like to know more

3648 - Yvonne Russell

Perhaps the community should purchase it -in fairness to other communities . Have other communities been gifted property which was built /purchased originally with tax payer funding ?

3655 - Dan Manton

The site's location (on a busy round about) really means it's not somewhere people can get easily and safely. I think it is better to sell the land and knock it down if you can. Better options for a community hall for Yalhurst surely exist.

3703 - Greg Hay

Is there not an opportunity to sell this and use these monies for other purposes?

3704 - Logan Cane

I think it should be sold with the covenant. Even if it only fetches a nominal price, it will at least ensure that it is developed into something more useful like affordable housing. With that said, perhaps the covenant can also have a term in there about measures to respect the people whose memory the hall serves to keep alive.

3708 - Joan Simpson

Seems like a great solution for the Council to off load an asset. However, I would expect conditions to apply that the association cannot see the land within a period of years and that they must make the building available to the community within a period of years

3761 - Fiona Henderson

Council should not be gifting properties unless it will have a net financial benefit to council, i.e. the costs of maintaining exceed the revenue generated. Also, if the property is gifted to the association, then I would not want to see council giving grants to the association in future to assist with upkeep as the point is for council to not be responsible for that going forward.

3779 - Layling Stanbury

native trees are technically more historical to that historical site, can we plant native trees in/around it and let the land take it back?

3815 - Dianne French

Why doesn't the council retain ownership of this hall, and people can pay for the use of it. Why should the Yaldhurst Residents' Association have this privilege when other such associations do not?

3862 - Katharine Metherell

Difficult to comment as I have not reviewed what other community facilities are available to that community. If there are sufficient and the revenue from the sale is $15-20,000 will this be reinvested into that specific community?

3895 - Margaret Trotter

Do they want this or is this a way to give away a building needing repair. Are you going to fix it first? or is this a liability for a community. This has not been the first time this has happened by the CCC.

3941 - Georgina Stanley (Smith Street Community Farm Trust)

This seems like a local community board decision rather than a question for LTDP

3943 - Maria deSilva

As long as it doesn't affect my rates, lovely!

3950 - Cameron Paintin

It should be demolished, it would require significant investment to make safe and is not fit for purpose in the modern day. It should also not really be heritage given it was constructed in 1954.

3961 - Paul Robertson

Sounds reasonable, but who really knows. Hope that it is actually a good decision for the community

397 - Merrick Brown

Why wouldn't you sell it to them?

4005 - Janet Lockyer

(My father helped to build this years ago, his first job) I think they could pay something towards it.

4009 - Michelle Whitaker (Flourish Kia Puāwai)

If they want it and you" continue maintenance and community activity support / funding.

4028 - Cassidy Barbet

Just fix it or tear it down its a eye saw

406 - Angela Burrill

If they are silly enough to take on maintenance of this then go ahead. Land should not be included as a lease is the acceptable form.

416 - Mike Cleaver (Canterbury)

I would like to see a longer timeline made available to the community, for example 10 years as long as the funding increments have not stagnated for 6 months. This would mean that the initial target could be 5 years, but after that, as long as funding increases towards the goal and is expected to hit that target within the next decade, then it should continue. in my idea, stagnating is defined as the increase of funding over the last 6 months, means the target value would not be met in the next 10 years, or is failing to keep up with increased costs of the dilapidation of the building. this would allow the community more flexibility and opportunity to reach the goals at perhaps a more achievable pace whilst not allowing it indefinitely.

417 - Jackie Astall

Nope, sell it. We need the money

433 - Derek Phelps

A very good idea another property is 151-153 Gilberthorpe Road which should be gifted to the Hornby Residents Association

44 - Diane Brixton

Make it a gift

458 - Christine Cockle

What's so special about this hall that it gets its own question? I would prefer to sell it but if we must give it away let that be an end to our largesse ie no more money.

48 - Kean Mitchell

Why? Can the assets be repurposed to deliver long term revenue to the city as an asset?

492 - Lyndon Telfer

Please don't let it be like the Edgeware swimming pool and you then give them the money to repair and upgrade it in next years budget

534 - Russell Hignett

Agree on basis that council does not provide any further funds for repairs and maintenance.

570 - Greg Partridge

If they want it, and are going to maintain it and make good use of it, then by all means, gift it to them, but do so with a caveat in order to protect the YRRA from then turning around and selling it in order to make a huge profit.

581 - Paul Amtman

Are they going to come back for a grant to fix this building? If it does not come back to the council sounds good.

623 - Linda Everett

As long as there is some kind of commitment from the YRRA to have the work carried out and the whole property tidied. So many times we see Council properties "gifted" to groups who then cannot do what they intended, and we are left with a derelict building yet again. Hornby / Hei Hei is a prime example of this.

657 - Murray Peacock

No you cannot give things away, the Council must retail all assets that may generate income or a positive return down the track, by all means pass the rebuild/repair to the Community and waive rates etc but do it by way of a loan

667 - Frans Jeldrick Oorthuys

What? Make them pay a bit for it. They will value it more.

670 - Sue Orpwood

Have any other Residents Associations been gifted property? If not, then no.

686 - Nicola Bush

Sell it

687 - Anna Laurenson

Yes. Great idea. Provided it won't be sold again for personal gain. Or returns to council ownership if the association closes down. That will generate you even more rates.

6903 - Don Jellyman

OK if they then take on upkeep + maintenance.

692 - Tony Ward

SOUNDS A SILLY IDEA UNLESS THE PROPERTY IS A LIABILITY. COUNCIL does not need to own property like this. I recommend it be put up for sale.

70 - Noel Marceau

If there is no ongoing implications for council funding then this would be okay. But it could mean there is a first right of refusal for the city Council, if the YRRA winds up in the future and seeks to sell its assets.

708 - John Allen

Ask the Yaldhurst residents!

712 - Liz van Montfort

Thats ok - but as long as they are aware there is no more money coming from council by way of grants or donations its restore or upgrade. We have lots of old buildings in the city, and some are pretty ugly, and under our building code its just not fesible to upgrade them all.

715 - Hayley Barrett

No. Remove the heritage status, knock it over and sell the land. Why should rate payers bear the brunt of an asset in poor condition. Get some return on it. Home owners are not here to fund things like this.

727 - Donal McEvoy

They should pay for it

736 - Helen Westrupp

Selling the Yaldhurst Memoral hall will make some money rather than nothing, even if you sold it 'as is where is', if the community want it they surely be able to fundraise to buy it. Why is this essential?

746 - Lara Flavell

As long as the Yaldhurst Rural Residents Association are happy to maintain it at their own cost & not a rate payers burden financially, then I agree for it to be gifted. If they still require the council to fund any part of it with rate payers money, then bowl it and sell the land

789 - Stuart Sanderson

Nothing should ever be gifted. This should be sold to a commercial buyer to ensure maximum return for rate payers.

818 - Bevan Phillipson

Sell it to them,market rate possibly, . Would Leasing be a better long term option, because my thinking has always been.. ONCE SOLD, EXTREMELY UNLIKELY TO REGAIN

870 - Lis Stevenson

Maybe a koha from the residents for the hall

880 - Peter Kim

If the land is retained by council then sure. Add caveats to the gifting though.

885 - Denise Kidd

It is an eyesore and what happens if the residents association cannot afford necessary upgrades etc. The Residents Association should be a separate legal entity and should have obligations that mean the association is responsible for ensuring it is not an eyesore.

893 - Peter Murphy

Why gift?

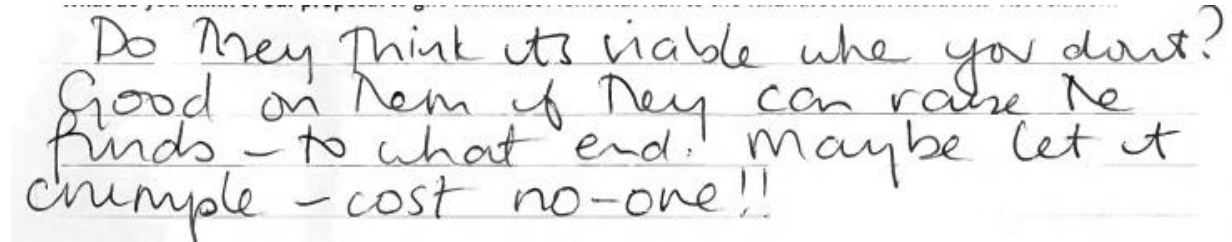

9 - Julia Henson

Sell it, dont gift it

92 - Bill Luff

If they value it they should be willing to pay for it

935 - Rob Davies

Do they think its viable whe you dont?
Good on Nem if they can raise the funds - to what end. Maybe let it crumple - cost no-one!!

Not Stated

102 - Greg Comfort

Will they be able to keep it maintained?

1068 - Redacted Redacted

poor

1071 - Brian Donovan

No opinion

1160 - Chichella Cook

Depends how much use it has

1167 - Anja Luecht

I think if rates are going up to make ends meet why gift things away?

1278 - Tim Marsh

Not interested either way

1300 - Barbara Dunne

JUST A WAY OF KEEPING THOSE CITIZENS HAPPY SO THEY WILL VOTE AGAIN FOR THE WOEFUL MAYOR

1358 - Rob Noster

Let them do there own fundraising.

14 - Luke Chandler

If the will not commit to restoration or building of a facility, then demolish and sell the land

140 - Linda Harriswilliams

Who then pays maintenance?

141 - Ann Coates

Don't know

1490 - Carolina Nery

N/A

1501 - Jason Middlemiss (Waimāero Fendalton-Waimairi-Harewood Community Board)

However, the site is likely to be a liability and not an asset, and it would set a dangerous precedent if the Council were to contribute further costs towards the restoration and operations of the Hall. The Board's view is this risk needs to be mitigated in the agreement with the Yaldhurst Rural Residents' Association.

1646 - Dale McGregor

No Comment as it does not affect me.

1649 - Tony Smith

Not sure this is a good thing or not

1676 - James Boland

Unsure.

17 - Sandra Pilet

I don't mind either way

1709 - Aaron Cumming

Don't care

1790 - Hayley K

Don't know. Depends what the residents there want. It doesn't affect me

1864 - Kylie Williams

Is it really a essential?

1873 - Marjorie Manthei (Victoria Neighbourhood Association Inc)

We did not consult on this.

2024 - Janet Reeves

Don't know

22 - Grace Colcord

Does mana whenua agree?

2301 - Ian Douthwaite

That it's an astonishing thing to be specifically asked about in a plan of hundreds of pages which purports to cover a 10 to 30 year horizon.

2309 - Margaret Austin

Depends on what they plan to do with it.

2316 - Samina Beale

Hopefully, the residents will save and preserve the hall and save it from any disrepair.

2387 - Jed O'Donoghue

Peppercorn sale to make a transaction.

2417 - Victor Vergara

Why?

2434 - Philip Bones

Surely that is up to those residents.

2533 - Steven Muir

no opinion

2585 - Susan Macann

Community Halls are not normally looked after properly by community groups, they get run down and eventually sold. I say this as a member of Scouts Aotearoa, I've seen a lot of this happening. If you gift this Memorial Hall, how many community halls remain in Council hands, and how well distributed are they?

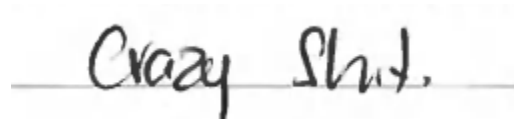

268 - Kathryn McNeil

If it reduces costs to council in the future it's a good idea.

2756 - Stephanie Defregger

Why?

2811 - Nikora Nitro

Handwritten text "Crazy Shit." written in black ink on a white background, underlined.

2837 - Deborah Harwood

Yes

2883 - Camillo Schulz

One community!!

2935 - Tina Christians

They sure paid a little

2953 - Quentin Kelly

It is a real problem to have left this to deteriorate to such an unsafe state. Gifting it to the community is passing the buck, but maybe the community will manage it better than the overpaid council team who's job it was previously.

2963 - Carolyn Roos

Not sure

2971 - Nikita Todd

Your just trying to loading off an expensive heritage rebuild to someone else

2972 - Ewan Baron

What will this building be used for? Can its intended/proposed use be furnished elsewhere? Say within 1 km? Otherwise this is a commercial assest of value given away. Commercial lease?

31 - Gary Durey

No need

3131 - Johannes (Hans) Van Oyen

Needs must. As long as this reduces/removes ongoing expenditure for CCC ?

3152 - Neroli Fornasier

Don't know

3155 - Robyn Ratcliff

It is a community assest

3170 - Derek Doddington (Top Dog Theatre)

Should their community pay..? Why a gift.?

3192 - Janene Burnett doesn't bother me

3285 - Deborah Brown
Not required

3376 - Barry Lee
This would enable the community to control their own establishment and remove the building from the councils maintenance budget.

338 - Jennifer Riley
While I don't oppose this per se, I wonder if this delapidated building is truly a gift or a burden

3392 - Stephen Wood
It's an option, but care is needed as it's likely to be transferring an asset with significant problems and costs to a group with limited resources. At some point in the future there may well be a crunch point on whether to assist the YRRA with resolution of these problems

353 - John Mayhew
Anything that reduces rates is good !! If not then no.

355 - Lynda Clark
Yaldhurst residents need to decide if they can take this on

3670 - Joscelyne Silcock
Does this mean they are giving the land along with the hall for residents to maintain and pay rates

3706 - Ellie Stevenson
I hope the good people of Yaldhurst are heard by the Council on this and the community can get an outcome that'll satisfy them and that they can accept going into the future. Put another way, I don't know.

3727 - Carl Fox
No opinion.

379 - Alex Rowe

No opinion.

3798 - M-Webb User

any arrangement that works for both council and the rural community- communities need a hub to gather for social events, emergencies and a place to support each other.

3883 - Colin Meurk

sounds ok but don't know enough

3893 - Joe Pope

Distraction

391 - Paris Porter

Waste of money

3942 - Soongseok Yoon

I think it should be renovated by adding some buildings nearby there.

3982 - Duncan Taylor

It is a war memorial and must be treated with respect

3993 - Hans Jorgen Andersen

DON'T CARE - DO WHAT YOU LIKE

4006 - Hana Saemon-Beck

No opinion

4036 - Mike Baeck

If it's a money drain make it go away.

423 - Linda MacIntyre

Discuss this with the Yaldhurst rural residents association.

430 - Kate Porter

Don't care

51 - Zoe Brock

Shrug

533 - Judith Livingstone

That should be the decision of the Yaldhurst people who were responsible for it long before the council took over

578 - Susanne Trim

Not a great fan but ok with it if you decide to go ahead!

666 - Stephen Palfrey

My guess is the project will fail and the council will end up taking back responsibility.

6900 - Geraldine Jellyman

Will they have the funds to maintain it?

707 - Chris Mardon (Ecobulb Limited)

We have no opinion on this

919 - Jason Marsden (The Hub Hornby)

Depends on how its ownership will be entrusted.

936 - Whitney Blair

How is this park of the questions?????

Asset Sales

General Comments

69 submitters provided feedback on the sale of Council owned assets.

23 comments supported, and 17 comments opposed asset sales.

24 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 5 comments provided general feedback addressing asset sales.

Officer Response

Only a few submissions objected to the sale of surplus CCC assets – especially if they are not profitable. Views on CCHL’s commercial investments were more mixed:

- Opposition was based on concern that these are community-owned assets paid for by previous ratepayers; that private owners may increase charges and reduce working conditions for employees; and that the benefits of sale would be only temporary because future dividend revenues would be lost.

Council has consulted on the sale of a small number of properties no longer used for the original purpose or transferred to us by the Government (former residential red zone properties in the Port Hills). The proposal to sell any Councils assets of significance would require consultation. Considerations of CCHL assets was not consulted on.

Support

139 - Paul Tait

Thought the council should have raised capital thru selling assets.

1568 - Kathryn May

Do not sell our stake in Airport, Port or Meridian energy as these are strategic companies.

2695 - Dave Gardner

I am happy you are not selling our assets to private companies whould have charge mroe but provide worse services.

2768 - Suzanne Wallace

Keep assets that serve the poor
& offset rates.

2771 - Suzanne Antill

No selling of Christchurch people's assets.
These assets belong to Christchurch people and have been paid for by Christchurch people. All belongs to

2772 - Janice Antill

No selling of Christchurch citizen assets to the wealthy.

>>>

No selling of assets!

2849 - Patrick Dunford

CCHL investments needs to be reconsidered. It makes zero sense that council are forever chasing investments and revenue which locks up significant capital, whilst also maintaining high debts that require repayment and ongoing interest charges. The council should stop focusing on investment revenues so much, especially for assets outside Christchurch, and focus on reducing debt instead. This includes the option to sell off CIAL's commercial property portfolio and potentially reduce the Council's shareholding in the airport to not greater than 51%.

2947 - Katia De Lu

Please: - Keep our assets.

3585 - Rachel Fulton

[Strategic Direction > Performance Framework]

Yes Cost reductions can't come from service cuts, or from the sale of assets.

3636 - Kay Robertson

Keep Our Assets! - how many times do we have to go through this? Government sells off assets that are producing a good return (often important, monopoly service providers) to, often foreign, purchasers that put up the fees and run down the assets. Then the officials spend the money. I remember when this started years ago in the US. It was a 'sale/leaseback' arrangement. Release the capital. Yeah right! They sold the hospitals, the schools, the police and fire stations - then spent the money. Now, every year, a big part of the budget on all those services goes to paying rent. And it's not like you can haggle and threaten to move to the hospital down the road...And then there's Tarras - who want's this? Who thinks this is a good idea? I heard there was a plan to drill a tunnel through the Crown Range to Queenstown - Simpson's-style Monorail anyone? Let's get real. I'm tired of subsidising the hospitality and tourism sectors and that's what this is about. It's for visitors, not us. And don't give me the b.s. about it being a big part of our economy - that's because we keep putting out money there instead of investing in developing other things. That sector is too big already and is highly vulnerable to international shocks. Just consider how much of the Covid wage subsidy went to those two sectors. They are low pay, low productivity sectors. We've spent enough on that part of the economy. We need to support other sectors.

3659 - Alex van den Broek

Don't sell our assets.

3699 - John McCombs

[Strategic Direction > Performance Framework]

Do not support asset sales or service cuts.

3758 - Mads Churchhouse

Council investment in assets is what can make this city wealthy in terms of meeting the LTP's visions of it being a liveable, green powerhouse of a city.

3802 - Matthew Baird

Keep our assets.

3876 - Dave Evans

I oppose the sale of council assets.

3949 - Fay Brorens

I don't want assets sold. If they are not currently used perhaps they could be rented out.

3957 - Anne Scott (Spokes Canterbury)

Cost reductions should not come from service cuts, or from sale of assets except those consulted on in this document.

4009 - Michelle Whitaker (Flourish Kia Puāwai)

Keep assets

4020 - Brian Turner

[Revenue > Disposal of Red Zoned Land]

Okay but do not sell part or all of publicly owned Key assets, e.g. LPC, Airport etc. Exert more control over CCHL.

423 - Linda MacIntyre

Please do not sell our few and only assets left.

499 - Michael Sumpter

Yes, go ahead and maximise value.

601 - David Ralph

Do not sell assets. Invest, invest, invest in Christchurch

712 - Liz van Montfort

Consider selling assets. Consider different ownership structures.

Oppose

1541 - Maurice Adler

[Revenue > Disposal of Council Owned Land]

My view on selling assets is that it is a very short sighted vision. It only helps for one or two years. But if we are receiving a dividend from the asset, we get that over the long term, not just one or two years.

1624 - Mark Lorenzen

[Spending > Our proposed spending]

Sell assets like the airport and focus on core expenses only like rubbish sewage water and the library.

1806 - James Edwards

Re-evaluate CCHL Structure: The earlier decision to not review the structure of Christchurch City Holdings Ltd (CCHL) might be worth another look. If we reconsider and potentially restructure, we could tap into decreased rates by up to 3.5% through better-utilized dividends. It would be beneficial to include this in future submissions.

1814 - Jenny Atkin

The decision about CCHL [Christchurch City Holdings Ltd] (council voted down looking into the structure) meant that we could have decreased rates by 3.5% due to dividends. Maybe we can request they relook at this in submissions.

2345 - Deirdre Cottrell

I'm not in favour of selling assets to fund projects or balance the budget.

2545 - Antony Gough (Terrace Christchurch Ltd)

[Transport > Transport (Operations)]

The council has assets that it owns that could be sold off without affecting the city. The Lichfield Street car parking building is a good example. The Council has built this car parking building to replace one lost in the earthquakes. That is good but does it now need to own it? This asset could be sold off without affecting the car parking for the CBD and release significant funds for the council. It would need a caveat on this title to say it should remain as a car parking facility for a guaranteed period of time so that the car parking it provides would continue. It is not necessary to stipulate what the rental rate should be as market forces dictate this. Most off street car parking is provided by private enterprise and the market sets the rental that is charged.

2586 - Leeann Watson (Business Canterbury)

The management of strategic assets will play a significant role in enabling Christchurch and Canterbury to sustainably grow over the next decade. Recent Council decisions, including to direct Christchurch City Holdings Limited (“CCHL”) to continue operating within its existing mandate is extremely short-sighted and will have an impact on our city in two ways:

The potential dividend earnings forgone by the decision could have reduced rates pressure, giving the city a runway to fund much-needed future infrastructure.

There is now a hugely reduced mandate for the CCHL subsidiaries, like the Port of Lyttelton to grow and respond to increasing demand, which aside from limiting the growth of Christchurch businesses will be particularly felt in the wider Canterbury context as these assets operate as hubs for the South Island.

Business Canterbury recommends that the Council makes it a priority to identify a plan for CCHL strategic assets that allow the subsidiary company to take a longer-term view of asset management, potentially at the cost of current term dividend yield which may be appealing in the short term, but will have significant longer term impacts.

2813 - John Antill

No selling of Christchurch assets

2835 - Emma Rodriguez Dos Santos

How can the Council bank on getting $70m in income by disposing of assets, when it doesn't know the usage or condition of some of those assets. Communities need to be given time to prepare if assets are to be disposed of or transferred into community control. >>> [Spending > Te Kaha] [Strategic Direction > Financial Strategy]

2845 - Erin Todd

Costs should not be reduced with sale of assets

2847 - Colleen Philip (Sustainable Ōtautahi Christchurch)

DO NOT sell assets other than those listed later in the document. Public ownership is important and selling assets is not a longer term solution for current problems.

314 - Vaughan Kirkland

The assets in CCHL are bringing a very poor return given its $5.8 and this entity is loaded with $2.3B in debt. A better return would be made by selling all these assets, repaying the debt and investing the remainder in a broad based investment fund

322 - Richie Connell

Anyone can see it's a massive challenge. We need to look at selling assets and lowering the debt. It's simple economics and if we need to raise $1B then we need to sell some of the port / airport to dent this debt. It will be unpopular but perhaps ask locals to buy shares. Then they can't complain!

335 - Wayne Bates

Local Body Councils are put in place by voting ratepayers to service the city and keep things running, NOT operate business's that generally cost ratepayers money because they are so inefficiently run. Sell Airport shares, sell Port Authority shares

>>>

Sell off most so-called assets the city does not need

3841 - Kate Hodgins

I wonder whether it is time to seriously consider selling off part of the CCC stake in Lyttelton Port. I appreciate this is a key asset, however it is currently very exposed to climate risks (including international pressure to reduce emissions etc.) And needs some serious reform to be able to successfully and sustainably navigate these changes.

3993 - Hans Jorgen Andersen

ALSO NO MENTION ABOUT SELLING

LYTTELTON PORT, AIRPORT AND ORION

* PORT OF LYTTELTON, AIRPORT AND ORION IS REALLY NOT CCC BUSINESS BUT ONLY OWNED DUE TO THE
GREEN AND SOCIALISTIC ONE EYED COUNCILLORS
DON'T WANT TO SELL ANYTHING

>>>

1. SELL PORT, AIRPORT, ORION -
ANY SURPLUS PROPERTY.

730 - Doug Allen

Do you need all that vacant land that is sitting around undeveloped, what's happening with that house on the peninsula that council brought a few years back. Why are we not looking at partial asset sales and how our assets are performing.

>>>

get rid of our poor performing assests

Other

1695 - Jordan Wyatt

I'm hesitant to see the selling of any council assets

20 - Ross Williamson

Yes, but get it right, divest some holdings that are not related to Council.

2310 - Helen Broughton (Waipuna Halswell Hornby Riccarton Community Board)

The Board is aware of residents' concerns about the proposed level of rates increase to fund the programme and encourages the Council to investigate other options for revenue, for example reviewing options to increase the financial return to ratepayers of CCHL without selling the asset.

2328 - Steven Gray

However , need to consider sale of businesses that are not producing adequate cash flow from investment a d Council does not need to own

2358 - Carolyn Moffat

I think you should be reviewing our assets and disposing of ones which do not provide sufficient returns. As any prudent investor or business owner would do, in order to decrease expenses and maximise revenue where possible.

>>>

We also expect our Councillors to be looking actively for ways to reduce spending, and reviewing assets and selling where necessary and reinvesting the money. I am dismayed to the CCHL decision made by some very short sighted thinkers, it would appear.

>>>

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?], [Rates > Residential Rates], [Spending > Capital Programme (General)]

I would like to make it very clear that ratepayers cannot continue to fund everything, and we expect the council to find ways to reduce costs. If that means selling some assets, then do that. The difference between this council and a business owner or private person is this - if a business or private person cannot afford something, they go without, or sell assets to afford it. This is exactly what I expect of council, yet, the council seems to think it is OK to continue with these exorbitant increases. It is not OK. This council seems to be able to push forward with projects it cannot afford, as it seems to think ratepayers will be happy to pay increased costs. We cannot carry on like this. The council needs to prioritise projects and we need to go without others. Concentrate on the core business.

2557 - Malcolm Warren

Must retain a majority and controlling shareholding in our strategic assets (port, airport, lines, etc).

2738 - Patricia (Patsy) Eastwood

Selling of non-profitable assets would surely help keep the rates down. Selling off profitable assets would be short term only, and shouldn't be considered.

2774 - Clare Elliott

Comments: Please reduce the council ownership of assets ~~gaining~~ only gaining small dividends & buy into better returns.

2806 - Tony Fraser

Reconsider continued ownership of Redbus & City Care - both are no longer Strategic assets - support selling to fund capital expenditure programme.

289 - Julian Springer

No! Sell all assets held by CCHL.

>>>

[Revenue > Disposal of Council Owned Land]

There would be more money to invest if we sold surplus assets (cchl) and needless land owned by the council.

>>>

sell cchl assets

2989 - Lee Robinson

[Rates > Other]

I would have preferred the sensible business approach where you sell down shares of assets in tough times, repay debt and re-invest when you're back in clover.

3039 - Paula Allen

[Strategic Priorities>Additional Savings & Efficiencies]

look at the council assets, sell off the ones that under perform, sell excess land

340 - David Wilkinson

sell CCHL and subs except we should retain monopolies only so they don't rip off the residents (orion, airport), sell the port, eco central etc. I thought we should aim to own airport 50/50 with private capital so they can raise cash from other SH if required. But I do not support the Tarras project at all - ours is a community owned airport effectively, they have no mandate to expand into other regions. If they insist I would sell the airport completely.

3456 - Sam Steven

I think you should reconsider CCHLs ability to manage its investments to create a greater and more diversified return

>>>

The council should also be looking at CCHLs ability to manage its investments to generate a greater return

3471 - Murray Irvine

Sell off nonproducing assets and get more income from making good decisions. The rest will follow.

3695 - Pamela Pye

means of increasing returns on assets explored in order to reduce rates percentage increases.

3723 - Don Babe

Secondly, the Council needs to take leadership over asset sales. There are council assets that are not performing but still have value. Red Bus was one of these a few years ago and because it was not considered the Council ended up with a white elephant that was worthless. This has to be avoided going forward. There is some discussion with ratepayers required but the Council needs to lead this.

>>>

Even some of the Council major assets like the holdings in the airport, Lyttelton Port and Orion could perform better if there was some private ownership alongside the Council's holdings. The Council needs to avoid another loss of value like what happened to its holding the Red Bus company.

397 - Merrick Brown

Putting up rates when one of your council owed entities bet $40m on some land in Tarras is crazy. You need to sell some assets e.g. the airport. There is no need for a council to own an airport.

3982 - Duncan Taylor

All Council assets must be continually reviewed

4005 - Janet Lockyer

[Community Halls > Halls & Community Centres]

The Council owns many buildings in the city. Does it need all of these? Which assets are being sold? I think it mentioned $90,000 worth of assets being sold. Maybe some of the community buildings could be sold? Not libraries or well-used community halls.

5 - Dr M Peter Moore

years ago I was a shareholder in the Lyttelton Port Company and the shares were compulsorily acquired by the Council Holding company. A return to partial community ownership would be appropriate.

6903 - Don Jellyman

I assume CCC is "asset rich", so consideration of disposal of some assets might alleviate rate increases?

851 - Kevin Lamb

4. Council Controlled Organisations

a. Enable Networks Ltd As previously submitted, Christchurch is the only territorial authority in New Zealand to have ownership in a company providing fibre broadband network. This is 100% ownership with 100% risk to ratepayers.

RECOMMENDATION:

Enable Networks be sold.

92 - Bill Luff

[Rates > Residential Rates]

CCC must not rely on its rating authority to solve its problems. My impression is there remains scope for cost reduction. If it were a private commercial entity it would be liquidating assets to cover shortfalls.

Not Stated

1001 - Jessica Schulz

Staff salaries are too high. Too many cooks in the kitchen. Reduce staffing higher up. Focus on the community. Pools, libraries, parks.

180 - Kevin McSweeney

There is a huge item missing - selling assets - I was so disappointed in the recent decision you made in this area

1833 - Mary McKeown

Residential Red Zone Port Hills properties?
The likes of the Port would probably sell to overseas buyers. This would result in higher height ~~costs~~ costs and reduced services. Workers at risk of exploitation with worse job security + terms + conditions

3827 - Ken Morison

[Revenue > Disposal of Council Owned Land]

Do the sums. I'd like to see long term net present value calculations. We get too attached to assets but like a good business we need to flick off those that another organisation can use better.

799 - John Ascroft

Consider asset sales

>>>

[Strategic Direction>Have we got the balance right?]

Yes, consider asset sales as well

Tarras Airport

General Comments

43 submitters provided feedback on CIAL land holdings purchase of Tarras land and/or the development of Tarras Airport.

0 comments supported and 25 comments opposed CIAL land holdings purchase of Tarras land and/or the development of Tarras Airport.

10 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 9 submitters provided general feedback addressing CIAL land holdings purchase of Tarras land and/or the development of Tarras Airport.

Officer Response

Submissions overwhelmingly wanted any development of an airport at Tarras to be stopped, and for the land to be sold. Reasons (when expressed) focused on environmental (emissions, biodiversity) and financial (the money could be better spent elsewhere – implying a greater dividend from CIAL to Council, although no-one actually stated that).

Tarras is a CIAL project, not Council's, and was not consulted on. It is understood that CIAL appreciates the need for a social license before progressing further – their Statement of Intent, which is due before the end of June 2024, will also cover this matter.

Oppose

1129 - John Clemens

Stop spending anything to do with air transport at Tarras, preferably cut Council's losses and retrieve whatever can be clawed back through land sales in that area.

127 - Judith Clarkson

Sell the Airport land in Central Otago

>>>

Sell the Central Otago properties

1378 - Rowena Morgan

Council should not be involved in the airport.

153 - Lindsay Strang

Keep away from non essentials for the people of Christchurch eg airport development in Tarras!.

1828 - Robert Jelley

- NOT COMPLETELY WRIGHT - THE UNDERHAND
PURCHASE OF THE TARRAS LAND FOR AN AIRPORT WILL NEVER BE A PROFITABLE EXERCISE IN MY VIEW.

210 - Vicky Jones

[Strategic Direction > Climate change]

No, the proposed Tarras airport comes to mind. Too much money has been unwisely dedicated to this unfortunate endeavour. Environmental Impact: The construction and operation of a new airport in Tarras could have significant environmental consequences. It may lead to habitat destruction, increased air and noise pollution, and disruption to local ecosystems. Given the global imperative to combat climate change and preserve natural resources, investing in projects with potentially adverse environmental impacts contradicts sustainability goals. Economic Viability: There are doubts about the economic viability of the Tarras airport project. Building a new airport requires substantial financial investment, and there's no guarantee of sufficient demand to justify the expense. With uncertainties surrounding the future of air travel, particularly in light of the COVID-19 pandemic and shifting travel trends, investing in such infrastructure may not yield the expected returns. Alternatives: Instead of investing in a new airport, resources could be allocated to improving existing transportation infrastructure or investing in sustainable development projects. Enhancing public transportation networks, promoting cycling and walking infrastructure, and supporting initiatives to reduce carbon emissions would benefit the community in a more sustainable and equitable manner. Local Opposition: There is significant opposition from local communities and environmental groups against the construction of the Tarras airport. Respect for local voices and concerns is essential in decision-making processes, and disregarding such opposition will lead to social unrest and further polarisation within the community. Opportunity Costs: Investing in the Tarras airport diverts financial resources and attention away from other pressing needs and priorities within Christchurch. Funds that could be allocated to education, healthcare, affordable housing, or cultural initiatives might instead be tied up in a project with uncertain benefits and negative impacts.

2780 - Maree Hemingsen`

Sell Tarras airport,

2796 - Annelies Pekelharing

[Strategic Direction > Climate Change, Strategic Direction > Infrastructure]

Climate Change. This is of most importance, and though the country declared a Climate Emergency it is not apparent that the Council thinks there is. The building of a Conference centre, a Stadium and other major structures indicate the mighty dollar has priority. By so encouraging overseas visitors we encourage intensive flying with the emissions this creates. Plus the additional footprint of tourism and the pressure on our precious habitat. How is it possible the Council can even consider building an airport in Otago. The Think Big ideas that Councils pursue are out of touch. They mean more habitat loss, concrete structures, loss of biodiversity, pressure on wildlife, and less quality of life for citizens. And more extracting of minerals and increasing need of energy. None of these will contribute to our genuine wellbeing.

2847 - Colleen Philip (Sustainable Ōtautahi Christchurch)

Make the 'hold' on Tarras airport permanent! One asset we do support selling is the land bought for that. (We know it is ChCh Airport but Council have some role here.)

[Strategic Direction > Community Outcomes & Strategic Priorities] [Other/Special Interest Topics > CCHL Matters] [Strategic Direction > Climate Change] [Libraries > Libraries (Operations)] [Parks > Other Red Zone Areas]

2947 - Katia De Lu

- Halt the Tarras Airport project immediately. Building a new airport during a climate emergency is reckless and irresponsible

3031 - Lee Osborn

[Strategic Direction > Climate Change]; [Parks > Biodiversity & Ecological Restoration]

There should be more emphasis on predator control, climate change mitigation and reduction and conservation. If CCC was serious about environmental concerns (e.g. you are one of very few cities to include cruise ship emissions which is great) you would stop the ludicrous Tarras airport proposal.

>>>

[Strategic Direction>Climate Change]

Climate change should be no 1 priority. Time has almost run out. See above re Tarras airport needing to be stopped.

3035 - Claire Coveney

Get $ back for Tarras

we have bought land to build an airport at Tarras at a time of needing to reduce carbon emissions.

Plans to build an airport at Tarras and encouraging cruise ships contradicts the need to reduce carbon emission caused by shipping and flying.

3110 - Michael Beard

[Spending - Our proposed Spending], [Spending - Te Kaha], [Community Facilities - Halls & Community Centres (Capital)], [Libraries - Libraries (Operations)]

Money spent on the Stadium, Convention Centre and the new airport at Tarras is wasted and as a ratepayer I do not support them. I support money spent on the homeless, Libraries and community centres

3311 - Michael McEntee

Sell all the land you bought at Tarras for that idiot idea of an airport

3706 - Ellie Stevenson

Abandon the daft Tarras project and sell the land off, only pain can come from that. Recent NZ history has more than proved the eminent failure of pie-in-the-sky prestige infrastructure schemes, they work as well here as they would in any banana republic. Let's stick to what's achievable, practical and affordable in our own neck of the woods. We shouldn't be pouring money into facilitating tourists - they should be paying us to come into Christchurch Airport, given how many things there are to do around Christchurch for a tourist relative to its size. If you've already come all this way to New Zealand, or are making the short hop from elsewhere in the country, you're pretty inelastic on price and you'll happily foot just such a levy.

3731 - Heather McHarg

Suggest project for a new airport at Tarras be scrapped and funds provided from sale of land already purchased be directed to climate adaptation fund.

3740 - Nicky Sharples

Unable to reconcile Christchurch City Council's involvement with planned airport in Tarras. Funds would be better spent in our city.

3743 - Ben Ellis

Central Otago doesn't need an airport and any council assets should be sold. If needed, better landbased public transport could be funded to get people from Christchurch to Central Otago.

3745 - Victoria Rathgen

Airport - do not agree with purchase of farms in Tarras that is wrong. There needs to protection laws in place for farmers to prevent this happening. I strongly disagree with chch holdings very underhanded.

>>>

Christchurch airport to remain in chch = Do not extend to Tarras

3802 - Matthew Baird

The Tarras Airport project needs to be immediately halted - it is unthinkable we would build a new airport in a climate emergency.

3988 - Jerry French

TARRAS AIRPORT

>>>

- NO TARRAS AIRPORT.

3993 - Hans Jorgen Andersen

CANCEL PLANS FOR NEW AIRPORT AT TARRAS.

4009 - Michelle Whitaker (Flourish Kia Puāwai)

Only stop Tarras airport

6904 - Jean McIntyre

IF THE COUNCIL IS FINANCIALLY
CONSTRAINED =

THEN SELL THE LAND PURCHASED FOR THE RIDICULOUS IDEA OF BUILDING AN AIRPORT AT TARRAS - CCHL NEEDS
TO DISPOSE OF THIS & GET BACK

Thank you for your submission.

THE MILLIONS OF $$$ SPENT TO DATE!!

771 - Chris Foubister

What's with CIAL spending money on an airport outside of our province? spend the money inside our province

Other

248 - Eric Livingstone

Should also have Airport withdraw from the Tarras proposed airport site and sell that land

>>>

The Council should never have let the Airport invest in Tarras when their focus and statement of intent should have limited them to Canterbury.

2786 - Redact Redacted

[Revenue > Disposal of Council Owned Land]

what do you think of our proposal to start formal processes to dispose of five council-owned properties.
Do not sell any properties - that is unless it is the Tarris land for the proposed airport.

2868 - Jonty Coulson

and altering the use of the Tarras airport site to a less ecologically damaging project.

2922 - Zak Morrison

- Sell the Land Purchased for Tarras Airport (Otago Central Airport): The Council should evaluate the financial and strategic benefits of retaining the land purchased for Tarras Airport. If the land is not critical for future Council operations or strategic initiatives, selling this asset could provide a significant one-time revenue boost. This revenue could be reinvested in essential services or used to offset other costs within the LTP.

3035 - Claire Coveney

Plans to build an airport at Tarras and encouraging cruise ships contradicts the need to reduce carbon emission caused by shipping and flying.

We need to reduce our emissions in many ways whilst achieving the outcomes that are aspired to.

Climate change plans must include the removal of highly flammable trees on the Peninsula and Port Hills. That put lives and communities at risk. Climate change plans must include increasing native tree plantings and protecting ecosystems in times of drought and flood and engaging with ECan more, with water and soil experts and iwi. Our carbon emissions are 54% caused by transport. So this must include shipping and planes. We cannot mitigate emissions. We need to reduce emissions.

Pay attention to the facts of climate change and Christchurch contributing highly to this through transport.

3339 - Frank Lad

Hooray! Sell the Taras properties for sensible regenerative agriculture

>>>

Sell the Taras properties and stop the airport!

3881 - Anne Scott

Put Tarras off for 20 years.

3899 - Harrison McEvoy

[Spending > Capital programme (general)]

No Service Cuts: Instead explore Restructuring the use of the Tarras Airport (Otago Central Airport) site in lieu of the Airport to generate tenant rents as dividends for the Council. Introducing manageable small levies on Domestic and International Flights to and from Christchurch International Airport

489 - Barry Livermore

Why did Council "invest" in a new airport at Tarus, and who was advising? which has been kept secret from ratepayers. Get rid of it.

942 - Stephen Tubb

Sell the land down at tarris

Not Stated

1067 - Iarene Jelley

Cancel the idea of Tarras as an airport due to more harm and damage to the climate in the planning and building, and the mighty carbon emissions the whole venture and ongoing maintenance would cause.

>>>

Yes, halt and sell the Tarras assets that were acquired undercover!! and put the money back into the big developments that we already have underway, as in the ones that are now over budget and need to be finished.

1819 - Gavin Millar

[Transport > Other], [Other/Special Interest Topics > Creating a Climate Fund]

We need to invest now to be able to adapt to climate change, we also need to invest to stop contributing to it. It makes zero sense to continue pouring money into carbon emission causes such as car-centric infrastructure, Tarras airport knowing that it will lead to us spending more in the future on mitigation. Stop making the problem worse with your decisions now.

2009 - CW Young

[Strategic Direction>Community Outcomes & Strategic Priorities]; [Other/Special Interest Topics>Governance]

Investments which yield positive long-term outcomes, eg Tarras South Island Airport project. Let the savvy business people, instead of elected Councillors who have no business background and acumen, guide and lead the projects.

>>>

[Strategic Direction>Community Outcomes & Strategic Priorities]; [Other/Special Interest Topics>Staff Matters]; [Strategic Direction>Financial Strategy]

The plan does not explore the potential savings, without compromising critical services, in reducing bureaucracy and cutback on staff members, as well as increasing efficiency of works performance. It also lacks timely, visionary and strategic investments by the ChCh Holdings (eg Tarras South Island Airport project).

2338 - Robin Schulz (Coronation Reserve Residents Group)

instruct CIAL to abandon and resell (for the price they paid ??????????????????) the Tarris fiasco

2471 - Jennifer Taylor

Rein in the Airport proposals.

2476 - Reuben Scott (Simeon Park Community Group)

Selling an asset like land in Tarris would be a better option.

2511 - Charlaine Palmer

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital), Other/Special Interest Topics > Cathedral, Transport > Roads (Capital), Spending > Capital Programme (General)]

Comments: Stop work on all cycleways, especially the wheels to wings and Nor West arc. They narrow roads and reduce carparking. No more funding for Christchurch Cathedral. Stop work on Tarras Airport. Don't change Church corner intersection. Reduce spending on consultants. Rainbow community to meet all costs of rainbow crossings.

458 - Christine Cockle

[Strategic Direction>Have we got the balance?]

We are already paying for a lot of large projects so it beggars belief that we are also funding an airport in Otago!

533 - Judith Livingstone

We have paid for the Tarras land for an airport, this is not Christchurch's or Canterbury's terrain and leave it to Otago. You will say the airport company paid this purchase but they are a subsidiary of the council

>>>

[Strategic Direction>Additional Savings and Efficiencies]

Sell the Tarras land

Commonwealth Games

General Comments

50 submitters gave feedback on a bid to hold the Commonwealth Games.

3 comments supported and 41 comments opposed a bid to hold the Commonwealth Games.

2 comments made other suggestions, and 6 comments provided general feedback addressing a bid for the Commonwealth Games.

Officer Response

The majority of submissions did not support the bid for the Commonwealth Games with the main theme that it is a waste of rate payers money.

A couple of submissions are supportive.

Council staff and ChristchurchNZ are currently preparing advice for Council as per resolution (CNCL/2024/00008) made on the 24th January 2024. The resolution requested Council staff and ChristchurchNZ provide staff advice to Council in August 2024 on the viability of Christchurch working with the Olympic Committee to make a bid, or partial bid, for a future New Zealand Commonwealth games.

Support

2657 - Jillian Davis

The Council should bid for the Commonwealth Games. Christchurch is now perceived by the world as a city of tragedy. To host the Commonwealth Games here would lay a new memory over the trauma of the past.

4025 - Robin Wynne-Williams

[Grants and Funding > Events Ecosystems Funding]

Increase the bid funding and actively bid for international events, eg the Para Olympics, the winter Olympics, the commonwealth games, international water events for the Event lake at the Bottle Lake area., repeat the recent sailing regatta at Lyttelton and many other events, eg a major motor, equestrian and loads of other events. The saying “to accumulate you have to speculate” while maintaining “the champaign image on a beer income” by cutng waste, over heads, and unnecessary extravagance, and keeping the money in Christchurch;

527 - Hans Daellenbach

[Grants & Funding > Events Ecosystem Funding (General)]

Stop or reduce contributions to glamour events (e.g., rich people regattas, motor racing, etc.), which should be self-funding. Public event bid funding should be for grassroots events that benefit and cater for NZ people, not international interests. Definitely no funding for Commonwealth Games or the Winter Olympics.

Oppose

1312 - Andrea Bromley

No to commonwealth games. Didn't see it listed but just wanted to say no, I do not support this either.

1347 - Stephen Leon

Ditch any idea of hosting the commonwealth games. Should never have progressed in the first place. An outdated, uninspiring colonial era white elephant with no relevance in the 21st century and nothing but a debt mountain to come.

1396 - Robyn Wilson

I do not support a bid for commonwealth games too much cost and not enough return

1488 - Mel Brown

The things I consider misuse of rate payers money - if Australia cities pull out of hosting the commonwealth games why on earth do you think we - less infrastructure should consider it. How much did that report cost us. Honestly that is just stupid shit. That is why I said no to the increase. I don't think you can be trusted to invest and bid and use the money correctly.

1545 - Jasmine Arps

No to a commonwealth games bid. The infrastructure required is out of reach.

1568 - Kathryn May

Mauger's idea of hosting games should not be contemplated - even Australian cities cannot afford this.

1581 - Ann Kleiss

DO NOT bid for commonwealth games.

1761 - Elaine Dunlop

No Commonwealth games that the rate payers will end up paying for!

18 - Alex User

NO to Commonwealth games YOUR mad huge cost to ratepayers

206 - Shane Morrow

Do not pursue the Commonwealth Games. We simply can't afford it

2172 - Tobias McKellar

The city >>> certainly does not need to host the commonwealth games.

2392 - Wendy Blair

Why are we discussing things like hosting the Commonwealth Games when we have roads which are still ruined and our water is chlorinated?

2514 - Jeannie Murtagh

[Spending > Capital Programme (General), Spending > Te Kaha, Other/Special Interest Topics > Cathedral)

I want the Council to listen to feedback in the future BEFORE they lose millions of rate payers money in huge schemes the people dont want such as repair of the Cathedral, Te Kaha and a possible future Commonwealth Games!

2650 - Alexander Amies

and cannot afford the Commonwealth Games.

268 - Kathryn McNeil

[Grants & Funding - Events Ecosystem Funding]

Of course it's nice to host events (not the Commonwealth Games!!) but it's a nice-to-do, not a must do. It's hard to say increase the bid funding when the cost benefit isn't known.

2732 - Gordon Bruce Tulloch

Commonwealth Games suggestion is a lunacy

2755 - Jane Demeter

Forget about bidding for the Commonwealth games - we can not afford it

2761 - Annette and Michael Hamblett

We are also strongly opposed to Christchurch bidding for the Commonwealth Games. There are already too many demands on Council money for any costly "might be nice to have" extras like this. It is not a priority.

3016 - Zarah Green

[Grants & Funding>Events Ecosystem Funding]

Events are essential to creating a vibrant city. I do not agree with the investigation into the commonwealth games though. We should only look at events that attract reasonable returns on the investment.

3090 - Trudi Bishop

[Spending - Te Kaha]

We could have not invested so much in an glory project such as the stadium or be making silly proposals such as hosting Commonwealth games which could bankrupt the city for nothing more than giving the Mayor a glory day.

>>>

Do not look to host the commonwealth games.

3191 - John Massie

Major events (i.e. the commonwealth games) always cost more than they bring in, they are PR exercises. Use some of that money to fund the art centre.

3349 - Rob McDonald

don't bid for the commonwealth games

>>>

After pushing through the expansion of the stadium last term then coming out earlier this year saying the city is broke (near debt capacity) why is the mayor advocating for a Commonwealth games bid !!

3392 - Stephen Wood

I do not for example think Christchurch should be bidding for a Commonwealth Games.

3598 - Kyle Sutherland

Now is also not the time to be investing one cent of ratepayer money into a Commonwealth bid, which the city clearly cannot afford.

3706 - Ellie Stevenson

However, everybody I know, young and old, progressive and conservative, energised and apolitical, is aghast at Phil Mauger's pursuit of the Commonwealth Games for Christchurch. I think the guy's practical and a problem solver on most issues, but on this he is dreaming. There is no magical law that says our city being in New Zealand will somehow destine us for any different fate from all the cities that have bankrupted themselves over the years through the folly of immense long-term sporting investment for a one-off event and nobody coming for anything ever after. If he wants his investigation into the possibility so badly, let him have it, let the investigation show what it obviously will - that the idea is doomed - and be done with it. The council should get back to thinking about what small-scale, targeted corporate welfare actually gets us somewhere. >>> [Grants & Funding > Events Ecosystem Funding]

3761 - Fiona Henderson

[Grants & Funding > Events Ecosystem Funding]

The critical piece is here is the selection of the events that will be bid for. For example, the suggestion that Chch bid for the commonwealth games was ridiculous. That would have been an absolute waste of money. The level of funding ok as long as it is used wisely.

379 - Alex Rowe

[Strategic Direction > Additional Savings & Efficiencies]

Unnecessary expenditure during a cost of living crisis. As a ratepayer I found the mayor's consideration of hosting the Commonwealth Games and consulting on this horrifying and fiscally irresponsible.

386 - Christine McPhail

Too much waste ie investigating Commonwealth Games bid - the world has moved on it isn't 1974 anymore

3931 - David Moorhouse

We do not want the distraction and cost of a bid for Commonwealth Games,

3939 - Michele Hollis

I do not agree to bidding for the Commonwealth Games - expensive folly, nostalgia politics.

3971 - Joseph Fullerton

The Commonwealth Games are a waste of money. Do not spend on this.

516 - Carole May

[Grants & Funding > Arts Centre]

Please fund the Arts Centre it is only a dollar or two on the rates, forget about Commonwealth games, a silly idea!

622 - Stephanie Cullen

Don't make us pay for a commonwealth games, for god's sake.

>>>

No Common Wealth Games

688 - Christina Duncan

Looking at the possibility of hosting the Commonwealth Games is ludicrous and short sighted

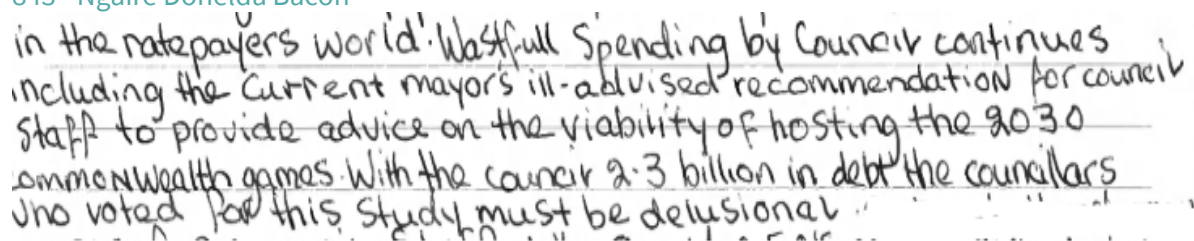

702 - Tim Stedman

Abandon any thinking around hosting the Commonwealth Games

[Grants & Funding > Events Ecosystem Funding]

Reduce bid funding for major and business events especially any thoughts around hosting the Commonwealth Games in the ratepayers world! Wastfull Spending by Council continues including the current mayor's ill-advised recommendation for council staff to provide advice on the viability of hosting the 2030 commonwealth games. With the council 2.3 billion in debt the councillors who voted for this study must be delusional.

843 - Ngaire Donelda Bacon

855 - Anna van Haastrecht

I realize that the Council needs money to operate; however, I believe that a lot of spending is unnecessary. A good example a feasibility study for (no doubt incredibly expensive) Common Wealth games,

I certainly do NOT want this increased! A very good example are the Common Wealth games; two overseas cities have turned these games down because they were considered too expensive. Christchurch however pays for a feasibility study. If these games go ahead, the costs will no doubt have to be paid be rate-payers, while the profits go to hospitality, the building industry and heaven only knows who else. The rate-payers won't see a cent of this!!

883 - Elizabeth Steel

[Spending - Capital Programme (General)], [Spending - Te Kaha]

It isn't acceptable that the council will not reach their emissions targets. The proposed spending on flood protection, public transport, major cycleways, and urban forests is a start but is nowhere near the amount needed to properly defend against climate change. The council must do better to reach their goals. Just saying that it is unlikely, without genuinely and wholeheartedly trying to reach these emissions goals, is unacceptable behaviour. It shows that the council values vanity projects, like building huge new stadiums and floating a bid to host the commonwealth games, above the future of the city it is supposed to serve. The council serves the city. The city doesn't serve the council's ego.

904 - George Cox

Avoid wasting money on large vanity projects that provide little economic or ecological benefit. Personally, I would classify Te Kaha as one of these unnecessary projects and think any suggestion of hosting the commonwealth games should not be given any further thoughts.

Other

1781 - Charlotte McGregor

Commonwealth games? I want to be proud to show my international family around Christchurch but in the current state I can't. I would like to make Chch a place that attracts tourism and it's a top place to live.

2624 - Colin Ong

The recent thoughts on hosting the Commonwealth Games along with some other S Island cities did not go down well. I am afraid that hosting multi-national games events are seen as passe these days, with many host cities being left financially worse off than before.

Not Stated

1815 - Tony Hallams

No bids for Commonwealth Games events

2093 - Rachael Hemmer

And a big NO to the Commonwealth Games please.

2369 - Rachele Allan

We don't need to host any personal pet projects that the mayor or others want such as commonwealth games. We don't need the debt

2516 - Robin Palmer

Do NOT bid for the Commonwealth Games!! Larger and wealthier cities have declined them - cities which also have modern sporting facilities!

3465 - Hannah Steven

Hosting Commonwealth Games will be a waste of money

369 - Alice McLean

PLEASE DON'T HOST THE COMMONWEALTH GAMES !!!!

New Brighton Suburban Master Plans / Oram Avenue

General Comments

29 submissions were received addressing the proposed New Brighton Suburban Master Plan/Oram Avenue.

13 comments supported, and 1 comment opposed the proposal.

9 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 6 comments provided general feedback on the proposal.

Officer Response

The majority of submitters on this topic have supported funding of the Brighton Mall upgrade and Oram Ave extension, also requesting that more is done to support and revive eastern suburbs and New Brighton in particular, via:

- Increasing investment / speed of implementation of the New Brighton Centre Master Plan.
- Prioritising and completing the Brighton Mall upgrade and Oram Ave extension, including
 - Ensuring sufficient funding for the Mall upgrade relative to the Oram Ave extension.
 - Bringing forward the Mall budget to align with the Oram Ave extension.
 - Improving transparency in relation to the 'Better for Brighton' Group.
 - Ensuring Brighton Mall is an efficient retail hub meeting local residents' needs,
 - Noting a concern with the number of vape stores.

Conversely, a couple of submitters have requested that the Council stops spending money 'beautifying' New Brighton.

In general, the Council's existing initiatives are consistent with what submitters want and there is no need to change direction, approach of funding.

Eastern Christchurch

The Greater Christchurch Spatial Plan identifies Eastern Christchurch as a 'Priority Regeneration Area' (PRA). This recognises the need for a partnership approach to regeneration across multiple agencies. Further work is anticipated to define the extent of the PRA and next steps; the City Growth & Property Activity Plan notes an initial focus for the Linwood area.

Rationale for supporting New Brighton; delivery to date

New Brighton has been a focus for regeneration across the last ten years (via the New Brighton Centre Master Plan and the New Brighton Regeneration Project), acknowledging the need to support New Brighton's ongoing viability and vitality. Public realm upgrades are intended to improve its look, feel, functionality, safety and encourage private investment.

ChristchurchNZ currently leads the New Brighton Regeneration Project. The progress on delivery of the New Brighton Centre Master Plan is detailed on the Council webpage <https://www.ccc.govt.nz/the-council/plans-strategies-policies-and-bylaws/plans/suburban-centres-master-plans/new-brighton-centre-master-plan/>.

Next steps

The Draft LTP Includes two significant capital projects, both identified in the New Brighton Centre Master Plan (Brighton Mall Upgrade and new North-South Corridor Oram Ave).

Other work is also underway. Priorities for ChristchurchNZ include: supporting existing and new businesses to flourish; attracting further private investment to the area; ensuring the successful alignment of public, private and community projects in Brighton Mall; overseeing the delivery of key residential projects; promoting the area as a destination; and growing community resilience.

Resources are also available via the online Shape Your Place Toolkit (and associated funding) to support delivery of community-led planning and place-making projects. Funding for city making partners (Life in Vacant Spaces and The Green Lab) also remains available.

The Council also seeks to raise the amenity levels around Brighton Mall via: its proposed extension of the City Vacant Differential Rating (which levies higher rates on vacant sites) to commercial zones sites in the centre; and its accompanying rate remission when landowners bring sites into temporary use or invest in site amenity improvements.

Delivery of Brighton Mall upgrade and Oram Ave

The Oram Ave project involves property purchase, which is why the allocated budget is higher than that of the Brighton Mall upgrade. The Mall upgrade project is already underway to align with and support the private and community-led development occurring in this location. The Council will be working closely with local developers, business community, community groups and key stakeholders to ensure the space is fit for purpose; there will be opportunities for community feedback on the proposed initiatives.

The collaborative 'Better for Brighton' Group has only recently been established to help inform and coordinate redevelopment projects in and around the mall. The group consists of individuals and groups with large-scale investment projects and aims to align these projects where possible and resolve any challenges early. Once fully established, the group intends to disseminate updates after each monthly meeting to the community board and through local networks.

Initial work on the Oram Ave extension is also underway. The planning and design for the Brighton Mall upgrade will take the Oram Ave project into consideration to ensure both projects integrate and meet the objective of enhancing the core commercial area of New Brighton. If budget is brought forward, it would have financial and resource implications that would impact the Council's capacity to deliver these and other capital projects.

Vape stores

While the Council can manage location of broad types of retail activity via the Christchurch District Plan zoning and, if necessary, a resource consent application, this doesn't extend to control of vape stores specifically. Vape stores are subject to central government regulations.

Support

1163 - Nichola Tyson

If you want a sustainable city then areas like Brighton Mall need to be an efficient retail hub so residents don't have to drive out of the area for essentials, we have no butcher, greengrocer, a place to buy clothes etc

1352 - Lin Klenner

I am in support of: Pages Road Upgrade/Brighton Mall Upgrade/North-South Corridor Upgrade/Acceleration of Facility (CRAF) funding for Renewal of Marine Parade/Continuing funding for Christchurch Nz Urban Development team/Support the Better for Brighton Group PLEASE INVEST INTO BRIGHTON -

2242 - Martha Baxendell (New Brighton Project)

We are supportive of the Council's funding allocation for Brighton Mall Upgrade and New North South Corridor Oram Ave as this is integral to the success of New Brighton's regeneration.

2554 - Paul Schwalger

, New Brighton Mall developments and driving forward the connection from the city to sea.

2563 - Kim Money (North Beach Residents' Association)

Due to the current interest in the area and developments proposed, underway and built, NBRA strongly supports the complete budget being brought forward so that the public realm improvements can align with these new developments. Now is the time for Council, in good faith, to further honour their commitment to the revitalisation of the New Brighton CBD so the current momentum may continue. This not only brings value to New Brighton but to North Beach, all surrounding communities in the Coastal Ward and the city as a whole.

- Brighton Mall Upgrade: (A4) Project ID 63360. NBRA request it be brought forward to 2024- 2025 to align with the Oram Ave extension which is a critical part of the New Brighton CBD revitalisation, as per the 2015 New Brighton Master Plan. >>> [Transport. Roads (Capital)]

2669 - Lin Klenner (Better for Brighton Group)

- We are supportive of the Council's funding allocation for Brighton Mall Upgrade and New North South Corridor Oram Ave as this is integral to the success of New Brighton's regeneration. •

2861 - Laila Jansone

[Transport > Roads (capital)]

I support New Brighton Mall upgrade as it is overdue and Pages rd bridge upgrade as it is the main evacuation road in case of Tsunami.

>>>

[Transport > Roads (capital)]

I support New Brighton Mall upgrade, Orama avenue and Pages road bridge upgrade

3381 - Karen Amyes

Continue with New Brighton Mall upgrade and investment in the eastern suburbs

3916 - Laila Jansone (Renew Brighton Charitable Trust)

As a community organisation we support important capital projects for our area such as >>> New Brighton Mall upgrade

3939 - Michele Hollis

I support the outworking of a vision for a strong community in New Brighton by CCC investing in the mall redevelopment as a safe, welcoming, friendly place for people to meet.

>>>

[Parks > Biodiversity & Ecological Restoration]

Keep up the dune restoration! As a New Brighton resident I know how vital this is to the physical survival of our community in the face of sea level rise.

3963 - Jillian Scott

>>> Stop spending money beautifying New Brighton >>>

4000 - Kari Barr

Keep New Brighton moving forward

>>>

[Parks > South New Brighton & Southshore Estuary Edge]

Keep New Brighton moving - help the new business by improving the mall to make it safe and encourage people to come over and experience Brighton. Clean up South Brighton, New Brighton and South Shore Edge and River.

611 - Kate East

[Transport > Roads (Capital)]

The projects in New Brighton NEED to be prioritised and COMPLETED within the next 10 years. New Brighton has been under invested in for decades. It is at the point where many projects need to be completed out of health and safety risks. I.E. the pages road bridge, roading upgrades, Oram ave extension, Mall Upgrades to earthquake damaged/at risk buildings. Many of these issues have been on the Council's "to do list" since or even before the earthquakes. It is well past time they are prioritised and completed for this decade! Rate payers in the east will not tolerate the prejudice that has taken place for many years much longer. East side residents and fed up with inaction and constant delays to vital projects in the greater New Brighton area. NOW is the time. Let's prioritise New Brighton!

>>>

Yes, but it is vital that the projects in New Brighton (pages road bridge, mall upgrades, QE2 master plan) all all completed THIS decade. Most of the projects for New Brighton are over a decade overdue.

We are sick and tired of the same old excuses. Put your money where your mouth is and give our community the funding it desperately needs and deserves so it can thrive!

>>>

New Brightons projects NEED to be prioritised!!!

Oppose

3613 - Catherine McLeavy

Why are you investing in New Brighton - wasting money??

Other

1232 - Heather Young

[Parks > South New Brighton & Southshore Estuary Edge], [Spending > Our proposed spending]

The Eastern coastal Suburbs, including New Brighton, South New Brighton and Southshore have been largely abandoned. There is a very deliberate and inequitable attrition of services including lack of rubbish collection, lack of adequate roading, asphalt and wastewater repairs and facilitated deforestation of South Brighton reserve and erosion of the Estuary edge, en masse funneling of Australian deportees and people newly released from Correctional facilities into the local backpackers and delays in the Brighton Business plan - with the aim of coastal retreat. There is stark inequity in resourcing for the lower lying and geotechnically less stable but higher socioeconomic zones of Sumner, Redcliffs and Ferrymead. The Southshore spit and Estuary should be the showcase of Christchurch, and the irony is the pictures on the first 2 pages of the draft long term plan are of the Brighton Pier!!!!

218 - Isabelle Barkley

[Spending > Capital Programme (General)], [Parks > South New Brighton & Southshore Estuary Edge],[Transport > Other]

More investment into New Brighton/ the coast in order to improve its appeal as a beachside destination and bring it into line with international standards of coastal tourism and structure. To tie in with transport the tram should start going to New Brighton

2226 - Aaron Odriscoll

Good afternoon,

After looking over the proposal summary I have a couple of concerns. These may or may not be relevant but I wanted to throw my 2 cents in.

Firstly it has to do with the disparity between the money allocated for the New North South Corridor Oram Ave and that allocated to the Brighton Mall upgrade. I do not doubt that the new corridor requires that much to cover the proposed improvements, it's just that I am concerned that the mall project may be undercooked. How will the money be spent? What will that look like?

Secondly it concerns the collaborative group that are leading the regeneration. I think it would give people much more confidence if there was some transparency in both the proposed plan as well as some examples of what this group have done in the past.

I have lived in New Brighton for just over 10 years and I love it. The most dramatic improvement I have seen is when the playground was upgraded. Apart from being well designed and built it attracted families here and that is the key. Following on from that was the hot water pools. Again a quality facility that was well designed and built to meet the needs of customers. This attracted even more people. I am sure you are aware of the number of people who come to New Brighton solely to visit the pools and leave again.

So we have a chance to create something that gives people a reason to stay longer. The mall development needs to deliver on this and more in order to ensure that the growth of Brighton continues. My fear is that under funding and poor planning will hamper this great initiative. I want the Mall upgrade to emulate what the playground and hot pools did for my community - provide a safe, family friendly and progressive experience that compels people to come here and enjoy themselves.

Many thanks

Aaron

2850 - Neil Cooper (Greater New Brighton Community Leadership Group)

We are supportive of the Council's funding allocation for the Brighton Mall Upgrade and the New North South Corridor Oram Ave as this is integral to the success of New Brighton's regeneration. Brighton Mall Upgrade – a total of $3.9 million over 4 years from Financial Year 2025 to Financial Year 2028. New North South Corridor Oram Ave – a total of $14.6 million split into Financial Year 2026 ($5.5m) FY 2029 ($9.1m).

This submission comes from the Greater New Brighton Community Leadership Group (CLG), who are responsible for developing a project that meets the expectations of the majority of the greater New Brighton community. The funding for this project (approx. $2.5M) comes from a grant awarded by the Christchurch Earthquake Appeal Trust.

The grant was first awarded in October 2019 and was discussed at various meetings held within the greater New Brighton area. In April 2020 a Community Leadership Group was appointed with the task of identifying a project that the majority of the greater New Brighton community would accept. This work started by reviewing in excess of 20 consultation documents and proposals from the community that had been generated since the 2011 earthquakes, to determine the major themes. These themes were further clarified by another round of public consultation. In February 2022 a concept design called the Village Green Concept was unveiled to the community at two community meetings. The village green is to cover about 1,200m² of currently undeveloped land on the southern side of the New Brighton Mall closest to Marine Parade. It will include an approx. 450m² area of artificial turf, a stage, a number of beach-hut like structures for community use and as sites for community and other vendors at market days. The proposal is that this will generate a new energy and life for the community and, together with a major new developer who has plans to upgrade the surrounding properties and create a new and vibrant hospitality and retail hub, and other attractive sites such as the childrens' playground and the hot pools, bring a new vibrancy to the suburb.

Further displays and social media posts on the proposed concept followed. A formal survey of opinions was circulated in April 2022 and over 600 responses were received. 71% of respondents responded positively to the option "Awesome – let's get on with it". A further 19% supported the option "It's fantastic but could use some tweaks few tweaks". Only 21 responses (3.5%) rated it as "I'm not a fan". The overall response was seen as overwhelmingly in support.

Since that time the CLG has tweaked the design in light of feedback as well as providing more detail of the project. Currently the CLG is undertaking a civil engineering report and starting to determine costs for various aspects of the project.

Over the last couple of years, a private developer, Martini Investments, have purchased a large number of properties at the beach-end of the New Brighton Mall. It is their intention to develop key hospitality and retail sites in this area. Martini Investments are prepared to license the undeveloped area of approx. 1,200 m2 for the CLG to develop their community project on.

The intention is that the proposed Village Green concept will provide a new public space intended to support the activation of the Mall and offer a new space for locals and visitors to use and love. The space will enable everything from markets to events and community functions to impromptu relaxing. We want an exciting space where you will find great places to eat, play, rest and shop. We want the space to be attractive, clean, friendly and uniquely New Brighton.

The activation of this space is also designed to work in with the on-going Council rejuvenation of the Mall space. The local councillor is working with these groups to support the changes.

The three sectors (commercial, community and Council staff), together with the local Councillor for the area, have actively engaged with the ChristchurchNZ Urban Delivery Team who are coordinating the various parties to ensure an effective and efficient project development is able to occur. This combined group operates under the Better For Brighton Group banner.

Once the Village Green project has final community approval and the physical building work is completed (eg huts, stage, grassed area, sun shades, security and lighting etc) the project will be handed to Life in Vacant Spaces (LiVS) to manage and generate a successful community space.

It is hoped that a final proposal for the Village Green Project will go to the local community by July 2024.

>>> The 2015 strategic plan in particular made many promises for the area - and next to none have come to fruition. As a result there is considerable skepticism in the community. Promises have been made before - and never carried through. Why should the community believe the new round of proposals? Let's seriously consider what is needed in the New Brighton area and then make it a priority to deliver it! [Strategic Direction > Community Outcomes & Strategic Priorities]

2872 - Kim Money

[Transport > Roads]

The two major beaches/foreshores, Sumner and New Brighton are not given the same equitable portion of the pie. It is fantastic to see the investment and progress Sumner/Redcliffs have enjoyed over recent years. This is excellent for our city, however we have the potential to do the same in the Greater New Brighton area. Council has not fully tapped into or celebrated what the Coastal Ward has to offer our city. It is the largest metropolitan beach and the maintenance and parks in the area need a much higher standard of care. We have the most city wide events with thousands of people from all over the country attending and visiting. We need to show more pride in the area and show that both beaches are valued and celebrated alike.

>>>

I support New Brighton Pages Rd Bridge, Oram Ave extension, New Brighton Mall upgrade, CRAF funding Marine Pde, city to see cycleway, to be retained and brought forward

3745 - Victoria Rathgen

New Brighton vacant shopping area really desperate, sad, dump, unsafe, do something as at present nothing isnt working.

>>>

There is going to be a vaping problem in xyz years, in New Brighton we have three flash vape bussiness which is the same number of fish n shops and alcoholic outlets...looking forward to change for good reasons...

3759 - Ben Connolly

[Transport > Roads]

I would like earthquake legacy projects in the East prioritised, including Pages Road Bridge, New Brighton Mall and Oram Avenue extension.

382 - Stephen East

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)], [Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

No, I believe more needs to be done to ensure we have safe cycle ways for ALL Chch residents (NOT just those outside of the East). More needs to be done to address the long term impacts of climate change. The less we prioritise this now the more it will cost us in future and it will be younger generations carrying the cost of the currents selfish decisions. More also needs to be done to support and revive our eastern suburbs. They took the brunt of the Earthquakes and are still waiting on so much to be repaired. The revitalisation of New Brighton, and particularly the mall, should be a top priority for council.

634 - Caitlyn Due

This should be a priority and more funding into developing this area. With more home owners moving into the area, more events being organised and more New Brighton Pride being developed through refurbishing old houses, building new etc we need to step up to the occasion and provide a beach side settlement that Chch can be proud of. Imagine riverside but by the sea?

Not Stated

1071 - Brian Donovan

Secondly I am extremely disappointed in the slowness of progress ref the New Brighton regeneration plan. Eight years of very little progress. The Pages Rd bridge renewal is urgently way past the promises and commitments previously made. The Oram Av extension is nowhere and that was to take the heat off Marine Pde between Lonsdale and Beresford and allow pedestrians and cyclists a much safer passage as it gets busier and busier.

1187 - Damon Mangos

The eastern side of urgently Christchurch / New Brighton needs further investment and transformation. It feels like a forgotten corner of Christchurch at present and I can see no reflection of any strategy for the area in your plan.

1294 - Donna Macalpine

fix brighton its so run down get behind it make it good again do the new brighton scrap old one

219 - Tegen Bishop

[Parks > South New Brighton & Southshore Estuary Edge]

Put money into New Brighton. Could be even more of an amazing space given the opportunity.

2311 - Paul McMahon (Waitai Coastal-Burwood-Linwood Community Board)

The Board supports the overall spread of proposed spending. Our top five priorities are: • New Brighton Mall Upgrade including line items 45165 and 63360, which are a part of our Board Plan.

354 - Vivienne Allan

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Urban Regeneration]

I worked with Civil Defence and CERA and later with Housing NZ during and after the quakes and have seen the damage at first hand. It is 13 years on now, and the opportunities to rebuild Sumner for example and turn it into the superb place it could have been havent eventuated. Similarly New Brighton. So many people had wonderful ideas for both areas.

Civil Defence and Emergency Management

General Comments

23 submissions were received about Civil Defence and Emergency Management.

3 comments supported, and 0 comments opposed Civil Defence and Emergency Management.

19 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 3 comments provided general feedback addressing Civil Defence and emergency management.

Officer Response

Submitters talked about the value of Council's collaboration with agencies and neighbouring TLA's, particularly around building the capacity to plan, respond and recover.

Maintaining the capacity to resource a response and recovery in remote communities, particularly Banks Peninsula, and the correlation between the increased frequency of adverse events and climate change were supported.

Prioritising the building community resilience particularly within remote and vulnerable communities was also emphasised.

The need for the increase in firefighting water storage on the Port Hills and Banks Peninsula along with consideration of changing the vegetation cover was discussed.

The draft LTP includes three specific Community Resilience Coordinator positions focused on vulnerable communities to build resilience by planning for, responding to and recovering from adverse events. These resources are supported by Community Development Advisors working locally in communities city-wide. The wider Council network supporting communities includes Parks, Three-Waters, Planning and Climate Change Teams. Council work collaboratively with mana whenua as partners and other resilience building agencies.

Council continues to train and equip volunteers to respond and support communities. To date over 430 Council staff are trained in various emergency operations centre response functions. Council funds, leads, trains and equips three NZ Response Teams and one Emergency Support Team. Council continues to increase its capacity and capability to lead a response and recovery by training, developing and inducting leaders.

A focus over the 2024/25 and 25/26 period will be the response planning and public education on the Tsunami risk particularly in the Waitai, Waihoru and Te Pātaka o Rākaihautū Board areas.

More recently Council allocated additional resources to support an Eastern Relationship Project, a major focus of which involves the building of social capital through community Tsunami resilience initiatives.

Support

2087 - Emma Norrish (Waipapa Papanui-Innes-Central Community Board)

Community and Climate Resilience and Civil Defence Emergency Management: Similarly, it is only when significant events or challenges occur, as may be increasingly likely as a result of climate change, that we see the importance of maintaining the investment in emergency management and community connection and the resulting resilience. While it is not always clear to see exactly how much of Council and Board spending supports having a safe and strong community, the Board does see and support the importance of this operational spending.

262 - Maria Mendoza Nieto

Need to start planning for emergencies and how people can physically navigate through the city in case of tsunami or earthquake or fire etc. Sea level rise will make us more susceptible to tsunami threats and inconsistent weather could leave us in a similar position as Auckland was with the flooding

278 - Robin Curry

Good to see capacity in IMT or EOC in place with three response/practices each year.

Other

1797 - Peter User

What is the CCC doing about the flood planning for New Brighton and South Brighton?

196 - Daniel Harris

Is there any room in the budget for preventative measures against fires in the port hills? It seems like there wasn't enough done since the fire a few years ago.

1969 - Christine Dann

[Parks > Other]

1.2 Droughts also create greater fire risks. The risks to human and animal life and health from fires are greatly increased when there are large monocultures of highly flammable trees (most conifers, such as Pinus radiata, and all eucalypts) near homes, gardens, roads and recreational tracks. Large wildfires are also – ironically – large producers of greenhouse gases. They therefore have to be counted as part of New Zealand’s contribution to global heating.

1.3 Christchurch has experienced two major wildfires in the same place, triggered by the same weather conditions and fuelled by the same tree species in the past seven years. Fighting and containing those fires was incredibly expensive (tens of millions of dollars), many lives were at risk (and one was lost), and the land had not recovered from the 2017 fire before the next one hit it.

Recommendation 1.2 In March 2024 CRC made a proposal to the city councillors and community boards whose rohe covers the Port hills on creating effective fire risk reduction and containment policies and practices for Christchurch city. The full proposal can be found below, at Appendix I. Urgent action along the lines proposed is required now to prevent even more catastrophic fire events.

2 Storms and floods

2.1 Christchurch has not experienced a significant ex-tropical cyclone storm event since 1968. Cyclone Giselle was the worst storm on record to hit New Zealand to that date. In addition to the lives lost by the sinking of the Wahine ferry, three more were lost on land. Many farm animals perished in the related flooding in Canterbury, and there was huge damage to housing, forestry, and water and electricity infrastructure. Insurance payouts were the highest in New Zealand history to that date - $3,500,000 in 1968 dollars (over $73 million in today’s dollars).²

2.2 Global data on tropical cyclones shows that while in a heating climate their frequency is not increasing, their severity and their reach into higher latitudes (north and south) is increasing. So even if such cyclones remain a largely annual event for New Zealand, their impact can be much worse (as shown by Cyclone Gabrielle in 2023) and they could reach further south more often.

2.3 Cyclone Gabrielle provided yet more evidence that monocultural forestry plantations on steep and erosion prone hill slopes create a huge risk when battered by storms, in addition to any fire risk the plantations may pose in dry weather. The risk comes from trees blown over by the wind; from forestry slash which enters waterways and causes direct and indirect risks to life from collisions and damming; and from soil, rocks and vegetation sliding from hillsides which lose cover.

Recommendation 2 Christchurch City needs to evaluate the storm as well as the fire risk from monocultural plantations on hillsides, and then take immediate steps in high risk areas (especially those near houses and roads) to replace dangerous vegetation on public land with suitable safe vegetation. It should also encourage private landowners to do the same; and not allow any plantings of high risk vegetation on high risk sites ever again.

[Coder Note: Full attachment available]

2087 - Emma Norrish (Waipapa Papanui-Innes-Central Community Board)

Residents also expressed the need for quicker road closures and more education about the effects on drinking water in flooded areas." In light of this, the Board said it would, and seeks here to: • Advocate for a resource that helps communities understand what to do, what not to do, and support them more generally in flood events.

>>>

Flood Response: While the Board supports finding spending efficiencies, it would not see any creation of risks of property flooding through this, or of being under-prepared for emergency responses to severe weather, as a more broadly efficient. The Board highlights the distress such events cause the community, and the vital importance of mitigating this distress and risk by maintaining what residents expect in terms of investing in flood response, such as the ability to deploy temporary pumps, road closures, civil defence emergency management personnel/resources, and other modes of preparedness developed through community resilience initiatives.

2246 - Karen Johnston

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > City Planning], [Parks > Other]

We have had to evacuate twice because of the wild fires. We have lived at our property for 20 years. I'm not aware of what is now happening to try and prevent a further wild fire. With climate change we can expect many more fires. We are told that we have to protect our own homes by cutting trees away from our own houses. However, and as research has shown from Australia and as we observed in the first fire, wild fires spread from tree top to roof top thereby making a parched earth policy partly redundant. The issue is much bigger than personal responsibility and personal resilience efforts. It requires policies at the local level. The best policy would be to prevent housing in this area. This is already too late for us and the latest developments in the Cashmere Estate (where fires burnt in the first fire). Westmoreland is now only one paddock away from our house and there is a new subdivision (given consent many years ago) at the top of Worsleys Road (from Cashmere Road) as surveyors were surveying it late last year. Now that we are here what policies at a local government level are going to be put in place? Since the latest fire, I have seen no evidence of farming landowners, on our side of the valley, sowing grass and fencing and removing dead trees and former slash piles. In fact a statement from the Adventure Park was that the burnt trees in their land would not be harvested and removed. Is the council going to change the District Plan to stop pine plantations? Has a land management plan for the area been considered or perhaps taking over the land that sits with gorse and burnt trees and turn it into grass and/or native plants? Currently pine trees are being harvested by McVicar Holdings close to Dyers Pass Road. We see the logs coming out of the park but I wonder about the slash and what is being done to prevent the slash burning in a future fire. This area is very close to the Cashmere suburb.

2261 - Tony Hampton (Health New Zealand Te Whatu Ora – Waitaha | Canterbury)

Communities and Citizens: Emergency Management & Community Resilience Ref. Page 60	We note the reference to building community resilience and engaging community-based groups in developing community response plans. We are aware that Health NZ also works with community-based health providers to develop emergency response plans. This is something that Health NZ Commissioning and/or public health teams may wish to respond on and request engagement.
--	---

2265 - Mark Thomson (Akaroa Volunteer Fire Brigade)

Dear Phil Mauger, councillors, Community Board members and Christchurch City Council staff

I am writing to bring to your attention a critical concern regarding the fire risk on the Banks Peninsula in general and Akaroa and the Bays in particular and to propose a solution that will enhance our community's ability to respond effectively to potential fire incidents.

Over the years, the forest cover on Banks Peninsula has increased, leading to an elevated fire risk for our region. As a volunteer brigade, we have identified challenges in securing water during major fire events. Some of our crew members have experienced this during the Port Hill fires. In Akaroa and the Bays, our limited water storage capacity poses a significant obstacle in fighting fires, jeopardising both lives and livelihoods.

Learning from past experiences, particularly from the Port Hill fires, we have recognised the pivotal role of dams and open water sources in close proximity to fire zones in effectively combating fires. These water sources are indispensable for firefighting efforts, yet our current infrastructure lacks adequate provisions to harness them optimally.

Therefore, in our Long-term Plan submission, we urge the Council to allocate resources towards constructing water ponds in strategically identified areas on the Banks Peninsula. These ponds will serve as crucial reservoirs, ensuring a readily available water supply during emergencies.

We are fortunate to have numerous springs on Banks Peninsula, which can be tapped into to create small dams and reservoirs. These natural water sources provide a sustainable solution to our water storage needs and can significantly bolster our firefighting capabilities.

By investing in the creation of water ponds, the Council can proactively mitigate the risk of devastating fires and safeguard our community's safety and well-being. We believe that this initiative aligns with the Council's commitment to ensuring the resilience and sustainability of our region.

Thank you for considering our proposal. We look forward to collaborating with the Council to implement measures to enhance fire preparedness and resilience on the Banks Peninsula.

I am writing to bring to your attention a critical concern regarding the fire risk on the Banks Peninsula in general and Akaroa and the Bays in particular and to propose a solution that will enhance our community's ability to respond effectively to potential fire incidents.

Over the years, the forest cover on Banks Peninsula has increased, leading to an elevated fire risk for our region. As a volunteer brigade, we have identified challenges in securing water during major fire events. Some of our crew members have experienced this during the Port Hill fires. In Akaroa and the Bays, our limited water storage capacity poses a significant obstacle in fighting fires, jeopardising both lives and livelihoods.

Learning from past experiences, particularly from the Port Hill fires, we have recognised the pivotal role of dams and open water sources in close proximity to fire zones in effectively combating fires. These water sources are indispensable for firefighting efforts, yet our current infrastructure lacks adequate provisions to harness them optimally.

Therefore, in our Long-term Plan submission, we urge the Council to allocate resources towards constructing water ponds in strategically identified areas on the Banks Peninsula. These ponds will serve as crucial reservoirs, ensuring a readily available water supply during emergencies.

We are fortunate to have numerous springs on Banks Peninsula, which can be tapped into to create small dams and reservoirs. These natural water sources provide a sustainable solution to our water storage needs and can significantly bolster our firefighting capabilities.

By investing in the creation of water ponds, the Council can proactively mitigate the risk of devastating fires and safeguard our community's safety and well-being. We believe that this initiative aligns with the Council's commitment to ensuring the resilience and sustainability of our region.

Thank you for considering our proposal. We look forward to collaborating with the Council to implement measures to enhance fire preparedness and resilience on the Banks Peninsula.

2269 - Lyn Leslie (Te Pātaka o Rākaihautū Banks Peninsula Community Board)

The Board wishes to support Civil Defence Emergency Management by asking the Council to provide adequate funding to upgrade communication options in our remote peninsula communities.

2606 - Asif Hussain

I urge the Council to expedite its response to natural disasters to address these issues promptly. With the council's current response timeline, which should remain unchanged, the Council will experience a backlog of repair work due to the increasing frequency and intensity of climate change-related events resulting in significantly higher costs for the Council.

Many of our smaller communities are in bays that have only one access road and a single power line. Much of the terrain is challenging, with many roads at over 500 m elevation and more prone to weather extremes than the flat-land parts of the city. In the event of a major emergency, it is self-evident that CDEM may not be able to provide much initial support to the communities in the Eastern Peninsula. Our communities need to have plans in place and access to all necessary resources, to initiate an emergency response ourselves.

I urge the Council to prioritise and allocate resources in the LTP budget 2024-34 to promote community safety and resilience and incorporate lessons learned from the December 2021 flooding in the Eastern bays of Banks Peninsula. By granting the requested allocation of resources, the Council can significantly enhance community preparedness and resilience against natural disasters and other emergency events. Resources must be available locally (Akaroa) so that they can be utilised in case of multiple natural disasters including, earthquakes, tsunamis, flooding, snowstorms and fire.

2690 - Robbie Dobbie

The margin that you intend to retain to cover unexpected events seems too small to me.

I did a presentation to the commissioners for Plan Change 14 around the likelihood of the Alpine Fault rupturing that I believe the council would be wise to see. This is a very realistic likelihood for the city, a much higher risk event than sea-level rise + climate change impacting our city.

Thank you for your submission. Those two topics are done from modelling on a global scale, adapted for our city on generic data.

2764 - Chris Ford (Disabled Persons Assembly (DPA))

[Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

Recommendation 11: that the CCC, ECan and the Christchurch disabled community (including DPA) dialogue over ways in which a closer partnership can be forged around climate resilience and emergency responsiveness.

Recommendation 12: that emergency responsiveness plans for the Christchurch City area accommodate the needs of disabled people, especially in relation to both seismic and climate related emergencies and are developed as part of a co-design partnership between disabled people and emergency management bodies.

278 - Robin Curry

for port hills undertake environmental study as to what plants would be better suited for fire protection and the environment.

2789 - Veronika Mealings (Wainui Residents' Association)

The Wainui Residents Association (WRA), an incorporated society founded in 1974, represents the community of Wainui, which is a small rural coastal community located on the western side of the Akaroa Harbour, 30 minutes drive from the nearest township of Akaroa and 90 minutes from Christchurch. We own and operate the Wainui Community Centre on the site of the former Wainui School on Wainui Main Road.

>>> We have recently met with Civil Defence Community Resilience Coordinator, XXXXXXXXX who kindly came out and spoke to a packed hall of our members about community response planning. We are now working on our plan, and whilst we are reasonably well-equipped with facilities, skills and items such as WRA's defibrillator for community use, we have identified that there are some resources that could be pre-positioned to manage the risk in the event we are cut off from Christchurch. We have applied for funding for some of these, but we ask what support and resources CCC can provide our community and the wider Akaroa Harbour communities to prepare for and respond to civil defence emergencies.

Broadly, the issues set out above correspond to council's projects and programmes in the areas of Parks and Foreshore, Recreation and Sport, and Climate Change, and we request that funding for these projects is accommodated for in the council's 2024-34 LTP.

2942 - Will Taylor

The plans to improve resilience for climate change also improve resilience for the alpine fault rupture

3053 - Drucilla Kingi-Patterson

Ke Ora,

1. Civil Defence should be at least 4% of the total budget over a ten year period, You can not rely on government.
2. Water will be a key element concerning job security, well being and health of the community
3. Better one to one communication concerning civil defence and water business model needs to be had with the community online does not work for everyone we have a ageing and dislexic population
- 4a Old Lancaster Park Cricket Club must be part of this Project
- 4b Lancaster Park should have along side the Park a 3m Library Community Centre promoting emergency management training. The library should be a Trade & Architecture Archive. Part of Project.
It should be a emergency management centre,

>>>

The Hornby Community Trust must have ownership of the Old Hornby Library on condition it allows for training for Civil Defence, & emergency management,

[Full attachment available]

3497 - Cerys Fletcher

Given repeated fire events on the Port Hills, I would also like to see a fire risk adaptation panel established for the Port Hills. An extreme heat action plan should be developed to help communities cope with the hotter summers we know are ahead.

3949 - Fay Brorens

The Alpine Fault - community awareness and organisation is important - tsunami organisation, who ensure every one is safe?

862 - Amanda Strong (Little Akaloa Reserve Management Committee)

The community is undertaking planning for emergency management and as part of this intend to create a Civil Defence Community Hub at the community Hall. The community requests a generator and a 30,000 litre water tank for the Civil Defence Community Hub at Little Akaloa. This will increase the community's resilience and the sustainability of the Hall to support the community in an emergency. – [No photos]

Not Stated

2097 - Marie Haley

Prioritising civil defence, communication, rural networks, and road links is also of the highest importance. [Coder note: For Banks Peninsula residents]

2256 - Peter Scott (Environment Canterbury)

As a regional council and the administrating authority for the Canterbury Civil Defence Emergency Management Group, we value strong coordination with city and district Councils. Environment Canterbury appreciates the collaborative approach by the region's Territorial Authorities in preparing for, and responding to, Canterbury's extremely active hazard scape.

3714 - Harry Stronach (Akaroa and the Bays - Community Response Team)

From submission letter

The Akaroa and the Bays Community Response Team Working Party (CRTWP) is seeking to ensure that adequate financial resources are allocated in the LTP 2024-2034 budget to support our work. We are working to strengthen community resilience against natural disasters within the Akaroa and Bays area, by comprehensive planning, training, and management of resources.

Akaroa and the Bays – Vulnerable Infrastructure

The eastern part of Banks Peninsula relies on a single road, State Highway 75, for primary access. This road has been repeatedly closed in the past due to flooding, slips or snow, and will be similarly affected in the future. The electricity supply to the eastern Peninsula is via a single high voltage line, which has also proved vulnerable in the past. Many of our smaller communities are in bays that have only one access road and a single power line. Much of the terrain is challenging, with many roads at over 500 m elevation and more prone to weather extremes than the flat-land parts of the city.

Learning from past events – December 2021 weather event in Eastern Bays:

The December 2021 adverse weather event was highly destructive, and it took weeks to get even temporary road access into some areas. Key learnings include;

1. Early activation of Emergency Operations Centre (EOC): Monitor forecasting, activate an EOC at an early stage, and appoint a Recovery Manager from the start.
2. Communication challenges: Response teams faced difficulties due to limited cell coverage and challenging terrain, underscoring the need for clear and effective communication systems with CDEM and the Council.
3. Community engagement: The community must be better informed on how to contact the Council Contact Centre during adverse weather, and to understand what services are available.

Objectives

In the event of a major emergency, it is self-evident that CDEM may not be able to provide much initial support to the communities in the Eastern Peninsula. Our communities need to have plans in place, and access to all necessary resources, in order to initiate an emergency response ourselves. Our planning will focus on:

1. Community preparedness and response: Enhance the community's capacity to prepare for and respond effectively to emergencies.
2. Situational awareness: Enhance planning and coordination by utilising large aerial satellite maps with overlays of key community features such as roads and streams.
3. Public engagement: Better inform and involve the community in emergency planning and response through robust communication and education efforts.
4. Communications: Have effective communications systems and networks in place, with backups, at all levels of the organisation.
5. Resources: Identify useful resources held within the community, or able to be sourced on demand, or necessary to be acquired.
6. Training and exercise: Provide effective training in required skills, with exercises for meaningful scenarios.

Organisation:

A: Ground level - Individual household plans: CRTWP is developing editable templates for household emergency plans, which will undergo review and testing across different Bays. Once finalised, the plans will be distributed for adoption throughout the communities.

B: Mid-level - Community-based planning: Each Bay will establish a resilience group to create a tailored local response plan. These plans will include the distribution of household plans, and identification and cataloguing of local skills/resources useful in emergencies. Community hubs will be established in some bays.

C: High-level - Central community response team/Akaroa hub: The CRTWP will operate from the Akaroa hub to oversee and coordinate response efforts as per the broader 'Resilience Plan' for the region. The CRT based in the Akaroa hub will liaise directly with CDEM.

Effective Emergency Response

We all understand the need to bolster community preparedness, and to enable effective emergency response to protect lives and livelihoods in the face of disasters such as flooding, tsunamis, snowstorms, fires, and earthquakes. For the Eastern Peninsula, a key element will always be the availability of local resources that can be rapidly deployed to achieve effective emergency response capabilities. Adequate investment in local resources and organisations is a crucial step towards safeguarding the future of the Akaroa and the Bays communities.

Long Term Plan 2024-34

CRTWP urges the Council to prioritise this funding request in the LTP budget 2024-34 to promote community safety and resilience. The requested resource allocation will enable CRTWP to create and implement comprehensive community response plans across three proposed organisational levels, and to organize the necessary resources for fast and effective response. By granting the requested allocation of resources, the Council can significantly enhance community preparedness and resilience against natural disasters and other emergency events. It is only a matter of time before the next one.....

Public Transport

General Comments

241 submissions were received on public transport.

16 comments supported, and 8 comments opposed public transport.

170 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 48 comments provided general feedback addressing public transport.

Officer Response

A range of issues were raised including free fares (for and against), changes to routes and improved accessibility.

Increased use of public and active transport options is seen as a significant action in achieving the emission reduction targets that we have at Council.

Fares and routes

Environment Canterbury (ECAN) is the lead agency responsible for the funding, planning, operation and procurement of public transport services across the Canterbury region. ECAN work closely with Christchurch City Council and our neighbouring Councils, who are in turn responsible for providing the public transport infrastructure (including bus shelters and stops, bus lanes), in order to support those services. Coordination is achieved in greater Christchurch through The Greater Christchurch Partnership, which includes representatives of Christchurch City Council.

Issues such as the setting of fares bus route coverage, bus frequency and timetables are matters for Environment Canterbury. Fare structure options are being considered in Environment Canterbury's long term plan.

Support

1350 - George Ambridge

Offering safe and low-emissions transport options are most important to me. This includes more frequent and reliable buses by using bus lanes and more services.

1362 - Pablo Rodriguez

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

I commend the CCC on their prioritization of bike lanes. As a cyclist myself, I feel very safe when using the cycle ways. I would love to see continued growth of bike lanes as well as increased and more efficient public transport to remove cars from the roads.

>>>

Prioritize increasing public transport efficiency

218 - Isabelle Barkley

[Transport > Cycleways]

Christchurch needs better public transport (buses and even a train) Biking and cycle lanes

2316 - Samina Beale

As a visitor, I used the buses nearly every day over my three weeks in March 2024, fantastic service.

>>>

A very reliable service

2651 - Finn Blanchard

I am also glad to see the funding for public transport infrastructure as I use public transport for longer trips as well and I understand that infrastructure upgrades are a big plan of the PT futures program. I would like to see the council publicly indicate to the government alongside ECAN how important funding for PT futures is for Christchurch, as it is disappointing to hear funding for the programme is uncertain at the moment.

2751 - Helen Holyoak

I think having the No 8 go via Ara has been a great change. It has changed my travel habit and I use the No8 regularly now as it serves my need.

3090 - Trudi Bishop

More frequent and smaller buses,

3174 - Gary Morrison

[Three Waters > Water Supply (Capital)], [Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

Public transport needs far more than token adjustments.

>

Public transport needs to be significantly improved. Regional changes with ECan need to occur. When Auckland was the size we are now it missed the opportunity to put in future public transport systems, we need to learn from their mistakes.

3187 - Debbie Hamilton

Please discount buses for student's community card holders & pensioners

3421 - Mary Clark

I think the bus services are excellent, especially the computerised information about the arrival time of the next bus

3538 - Leonardo Cockburn

[Recreation, Sports & Events > Community Arts], [Grants & Funding > Arts Centre Funding], [Grants & Funding > Orana Park Funding]

No, fund the arts, especially the Arts Centre, fund orana wildlife park, make bus fares cheaper again

3679 - Janet Perry

[Fees & Charges > Car Parking Fees (on-street & off-street parking)]

I personally am making greater use of the bus into the city due to nightmare of finding and paying for parking. Not all are able to do this.

3686 - Suzanne Peddie

Bus services are good but under-used

3906 - Sarah Bennet

[Transport > Cycleways], [Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure], [Transport > Roads], [Transport > Parking], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Strategic Transport]

Bike lines, increased bus lines and infrastructure, investment into passenger rail and other alternatives to cars are the only investments appropriate when it comes to transport. Any investment into roads, highways, parking projects etc which only serve to reinforce private car ownership & use as the default way of getting around is deeply problematic when considered against the backdrop of the ecological & climate emergency our world currently faces.

497 - Anna Taylor

Though not a user of public transport, I believe that it is needed in order for the economy to run (for students and workers to get where they need to be). It's an important aspect to a functional city

785 - Ariana Tikao

[Transport>Cycleways (Capital); Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration> Strategic Transport]

I feel that having quality and affordable bus services in Ōtautahi is really important, and as a cyclist I'd like to see the development and maintenance of cycleways, as cycling is my main mode of transport. More could be done to encourage Christchurch people to cycle more regularly. I'd like to see more cycling only pathways as it does not always seem very safe on shared cycle/walk paths. Some of the cycle routes in and around Hagley Park are not all that safe, such as the intersection on the corner of Park Tce and Harper Ave seems particularly problematic. It would be good to see a full review of cycle ways in that area.

Oppose

1327 - Chris O'Brien

Get rid of electric buses >>> They are environmentally much more damaging when all factors are taken into consideration. Look at ways of facilitating hydrogen when it comes in.

1330 - Gary Bint

To many buses with few people on

1397 - Andrew Sprouse

I don't use the buses but mostly they seem under utilised despite many attempts to encourage people to use them. Why did the smaller more economical buses seem to disappear?

2603 - Ron Brooks

stop the empty busses touring the city constantly polluting the place and clogging traffic.

>>>

use smaller vans and fewer of them not the enormous empty busses plowing the place polluting and clogging traffic. what on earth are you playing at?

3635 - Jane Lila McKenzie

Electric busses are destroying the road asphalt Electric busses overseas are bursting unexpectedly into flames. They are extremely unsafe If they combust beside a building.. they CAN NOT BE PUT OUT. Please do more thorough research $101 Mil could certainly be halved by not purchasing these.

>>>

Transport: Looking After Existing Roads and Footpaths: pg 31 Carriageway renewals: Electric busses are destroying the road asphalt Electric busses overseas are bursting unexpectedly into flames. They are extremely unsafe If they combust beside a building.. they CAN NOT BE PUT OUT. Please do more thorough research $101 Mil could certainly be halved by not purchasing these.

3993 - Hans Jorgen Andersen

NOT INCREASE BUS SERVICES.

3994 - Sarah Boje

Transport is wasteful, lots of buses empty, sort this out don't spend more.

601 - David Ralph

Public transport should be cheap and better network across city. Used to use it but so many cut backs to routes over he years.

Other

1012 - Andrea Mcgregor

Smaller buses might help in off peak times.

1014 - Sandy Porter

Public transport needs to be there to get people out of cars. It is a long road. There needs to be more regular service to the outlying areas of Rangiora, Rolleston, Lincoln, Burnham, Leeston, even West Melton to Darfield. These areas are all expanding at a fast pace and many have to travel by car.

>>>

This applies to public transport as well, face to face contact in how the metro system works.

1022 - Sally Burrows

People still won't use public transport until we have a more frequent bus service.

1109 - Sarah Hosking

[Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]

Please focus on the bus interchange- making it safer for our teens.

>>>

and PLEASE can we have a regular public bus service that goes to/from town and past the gates of Orana Wildlife Park in Mcleans Island road!!! Visitors and locals can't get there easily.

114 - Evie Jones

We really need better public transport. As a university student it's super hard to get to my classes and to work on time without a two hour round trip bus ride.

1229 - Cassandra Albert

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)], [Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)],

Prioritizing Public Transport and Bike Lanes: A hallmark of modern urban planning is the prioritization of safe, efficient public transport systems. This strategic focus not only alleviates traffic congestion but also contributes to improved air quality and fosters healthier lifestyles among residents. From a personal standpoint, the absence of comprehensive cycle lanes exposes cyclists to daily hazards. Recent incidents, such as the unfortunate accident involving a fellow cyclist, underscore the urgent need for enhanced safety measures. Therefore, I implore the Council to allocate resources towards the development of an interconnected, protected cycleway network. Such infrastructure enhancements would not only encourage cycling as a viable mode of transportation but also mitigate the risks associated with vehicular traffic. Moreover, it is imperative that all future road development and renewal projects integrate dedicated bike lanes and prioritize pedestrian safety as fundamental objectives rather than mere afterthoughts. This proactive approach aligns with the overarching goal of fostering sustainable urban mobility while safeguarding the well-being of all road users.

1273 - Anthony Moore (The Elms Hotel Ltd, T/A Hotel Elms Christchurch)

[Transport > Transport (Operations)]

Start looking at why the numbers that use passenger transport such as buses are so dismal and work on a long term plan for appropriate public transport system that will get community buy in and high levels of usage. The $101 million over 10 years is money down the drain simply because there isn't the patronage. We could learn a thing or two from the Australians and their public transport system.

1312 - Andrea Bromley

I do not use the bus system as it is too confusing and slow. I never ever see a near full bus either. Would love to see a better school bus system however for our kids where it is safe and reliable. Maybe a tram or bus that goes straight up dyers pass and right to the city and back.

1341 - Moore Todd

Focus on the bus service. Almost impossible to get one on time.

1346 - Bianca McKinnon-Gee

Impossible to comment on whether this is sufficient, other than to say it is important and it would be lovely if the peninsula or even to Tai Tapu had a public transport service.

1358 - Rob Noster

Transport is shit. Always seeing buses with at least 2-6 people unless it is a school day. Use smaller buses at off peak times.

139 - Paul Tait

Keep busses more direct and faster heading into city. Adding bike and walking stops. Keep it simple.

1395 - William Wallace

The bus network is improving and our family use it more and more. Free travel for SuperGold card holders is imperative as they often don't have much spare disposable income.

1412 - Derren Macnicol

and no fare increases

1432 - Alisia Hynes

Hi,

Will you be extending the bus time tables?

I use the bus and do not drive unless I have to. The bus needs to run later so that people can use it to go on nights out and university students in particular can get home after a night working. The bus currently runs until the school kids get home at 6pm . they need to be extended until at least 9pm but preferably all night so shift workers can get home. I know this will cost money but it will reduce congestion. Using bikes is very good but in winter the bus is the better option.

1474 - Céira Dernhagen

[Transport>Cycleways(Capital)]; [Transport>Roads(Capital)]; [Transport>Public Transport Infrastructure(Capital)]; [Strategic Direction>Have we got the balance right?]

Prioritizing Public Transport and Bike Lanes: A modern city prioritizes safe, efficient public transport. This reduces traffic congestion, improves air quality and promotes a healthier lifestyle. I urge the Council to: Why it's personal I find myself in dangerous situations daily, due to the lack of comprehensive cycle lanes. A few weeks ago a woman was run over by a car on the very route I cycle almost everyday. My roommate was one of the people that helped lift the car off of her until emergency services arrived. Please invest more heavily in bike lanes. Solutions Create an interconnected, protected cycleway network throughout the city that makes cycling a safe, attractive alternative to driving. Design all road development/renewal projects with bike lanes and pedestrian safety as the primary objectives, not an afterthought.

>>>

[Strategic Direction>Community Outcomes and Strategic Priorities]; [Parks>Parks Maintenance]; [Strategic Direction>Have we got the balance right?]

Lifting Up Underserved Communities: A truly livable city ensures equity for all. I recommend: Addressing affordable housing shortages through mixed-income developments and support programs. Targeting public transport and green space improvements in neighborhoods that have been historically underserved. Partnering with community organizations to ensure that solutions reflect the needs of marginalized residents.

1508 - Mb Brennan

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Greater Christchurch Partnership]

Public Transport is a problem area (is underutilized -needs a more lateral approach- on demand smaller vehicles ?. lets utilize our existing railway corridors?)

1514 - Bee Gan

Council should allow residents to bring dogs on the public buses, just like in Auckland.

>>>

Scrape the Orbiter

154 - Chrysler Wiparata-Hammond

[Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure]

We need a better bus system, more buses and bus lanes

1568 - Kathryn May

Am a user of the bus but if some routes do not consistently have anyone using the bus (empty bus) for 3 allocated times in bus route then minimise these to only run at one of those times.

1572 - Olive Easterbrook

And we need to be prioritise services that will decrease emissions like continuing with reduced bus fares for students

1581 - Ann Kleiss

Perhaps smaller buses or vans off peak and in lesser used bus routes

163 - Andy Buchanan

More public transport

1663 - Sam Spekreijse

Put more operational budget into public transport, if possible (driver shortages might be the limiting factor here). This will lessen road use and therefore upkeep long-term.

1687 - Sarah Cooper

Prioritising low bus prices for students

1832 - Greer Nakaroti

Better linking of towns in Banks Peninsula for public transport (Governor's Bay etc)

1836 - James McGregor

Get rid of the buses that carry only 2 - 3 people at a time. Invest in smaller vehicles to carry around these 2 - 3 people, eg hydrogen fueled minivans, or standard minivans.

184 - Rebecca Nicholls

More buses please

1852 - Jessica Lamb

[Parks>Biodiversity & Ecological Restoration]; [Strategic Direction>Have we got the balance right?]

No there needs to be better funding for services. We need a better bus system so that that is more efficient so that it doesn't take me 1 hour to get to the Port Hills. There is also a HUGE mental health crisis in Ōtautahi - this is partly due to the lack of native bush areas that are key to our overall health. We need more native bush in urban areas - e.g. green corridors like in Palmerston North.

Rates

1865 - Tina Bond

Please assist metro to keep bus run from Leeston to Lincoln for school & town access

1882 - Anna-Marie Browne

[Transport>Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]; [Transport>Cycleways (Capital)]; [Recreation, Sports & Events>Community Arts]; [Three Waters>Stormwater & Land Drainage (Capital)]; [Strategic Direction>Have we got the balance right?]; [Grants & Funding>Arts Centre Funding]; [Transport>Transport (Operations)]

Has CCC got the balance between its services and rates right?

No, the CCC is not doing enough in services.
I think there should be more funding for bus lanes,
bike lanes, flood protection, the Arts Centre,
cultural and entertainment ^{and} mental health initiatives.
The CCC should also fund more electric buses ~~and~~
Rates establish free public WiFi in the bus interchange
^{and create more electric car charging}
Should the council increase rates in order to maintain existing services? ^{stations.}

Yes No

>>>

[Recreation, Sport & Events>Rec & Sport (Operations)]; [Spending>Our Proposed Spending]

~~Do you have any comments on operational spending.~~
The Council should prioritise operational spending ~~and the capital programme.~~
They should also put more money into flood and climate protection
They should spend more to keep recreation or facilities open and also fund more electric buses travelling more frequently.

1889 - Grace Rotherham

[Transport>Cycleways (Capital)]

~~Do you have any comments on operational spending.~~
Spend more on public school busses, cycle lanes

1938 - Alice Busbridge

Busses aren't being utilised because the routes offered aren't relevant to peoples transport needs.

1939 - Mary Sefton

need smaller buses half are running empty

1958 - Xanther Mortimer

More focus on public transport - nicer/greener more ~~free~~ frequent and easier to use. This would free up roads too, making travel safer and less tedious for everyone, even those in their own cars. This would also mean there will be less carbon emissions released because of the ~~few~~ less vehicles will need to be on the road at one time. This also lessens the amount of traffic on the streets.

1989 - Hannah Collins

Leave busses the reduced costs where possible, I have noticed a massive increase in people bussing since this was implemented which in turn overall brings in more revenue

2012 - Nick Boyd

There are still areas with no public transport eg mcleans island road has heaps of exciting attractions and businesses but many like myself have no transport to get out there

2041 - Brian Burrell

Continue switching buses to Electric.

205 - Denise Erikson

A Halswell bus that goes all the way down Halswell Road to the city would be great. It always used to do that

2061 - Charlotte Hollywood

More buses funding

2110 - Jennifer McMaster

[Parks>Tree Canopy]; [Transport>Cycleways (Capital)]; [Strategic Direction>Have we got the balance right?]

Definitely not. ~~to be spending more on reforestation of the port hills,~~ The council needs to be spending more on reforestation of the port hills, and general greening of the city, as well as more and safer ~~by~~ bicycle lanes and more busses.

2112 - Matt Easterbrook

We urgently need get more people out of cars and onto public transport. Reduced bus fees is a great way to do this, for everyone. >>> And connect the city with regions with better public transport

2143 - Vicky Anderson

Need more electric buses, need smaller buses for off-peak, need more frequency. Great dogs are allowed on board (under effective control). Great those with mobility issues are considered.

2193 - Leanne Reid

The amount of busses used now are warranted, any more and it's just throwing money away.

2200 - Janna Robinson

I'm agreeable with the priorities. Unfortunately you wont get anyone agreeing to ride public transport until its user friendly and accessible. At the moment, it is much easier to drive a car. Also its great to try and limit people using cars, but many parents need their cars to pick up their kids after school/day care. Riding a bus to do that is not practical and then to try and get them home after that. Most families have both parents working to afford to live so some thought should be given to this when increasing cycle lanes and bus lanes and reducing roads for cars. We dont have the population for fully subsidised public transport.

2214 - Paul Kruger

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

More investment in electric buses and cycleways

2275 - Bridgette Pedofsky

Public transport shuttle to Ashburton or timaru

228 - Martin Tatchell

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

Reduce the cities reliance on cars. This city could be the best in the world for bikes and public transport.

2296 - Vickie Walker

Comments: Downsize buses to small vehicles only use at peak i.e. schools start & end make the buses more available but not all day. use at peaks and as required. Use smaller buses to save fuel

>>>

2322 - Dillon Drummond

Have buses that go out to Orana Park

2345 - Deirdre Cottrell

Metro card supplies data which could allow for smaller buses to service routes when fewer passengers are travelling. This could result in savings in the long term.

2357 - Cori Sanders

[Libraries > Libraries (Operations)], [Transport > Roads (Capital)], [Three Waters > Three Waters (Operations)],
[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

Next, I think that it would be good to prioritise spending on things that the MAJORITY of rates payers use like libraries and roads and waterways. Why are we spending so much on cycleways when there are so few who cycle through the town? Why don't we focus on getting the roads fixed once and for all so we don't have to deal with roadworks that never end? Why don't we get public transportation that works for all instead of buses that are spaced out an hour between trips and bypass the city centre?

>>>

Focusing on PUBLIC transport is a better use of money because it benefits a greater number of people .

>>>

[Transport > Roads (Capital)], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

Concentrate on improving public transport and roads (if the same council contractors are giving us roads that constantly need to be repaired, maybe you should change your contractors!) rather than over-spending on cycleways that benefit a small percentage of the population.

2381 - Kim Franicevic

Increase bus prices again

2389 - Aurora Garner-Randolph

[Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]

More investment in buses, better lanes, more frequent buses, better pay for drivers, free buses for all, especially students.

2391 - Mitchell Rogers

[Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]

Better public transport options in dense areas.

245 - Talei Howell-Price

Please consider having public transport to Governors Bay. It only needs to be a limited service and can extend the current service from Rapaki or be a mini bus that runs from Sign of the Tahake down and back up for a connector service. Ridiculous that there is not transport there considering the tourist benefits to the area, as well as benefits for the teen and elderly residents of the Bay. Buses go to Lincoln and Rangiora and Governros Bay is closer!!

2464 - Bradley Moorfield

More funding is required to get people using alternative modes of transport. More investment to delivery higher frequency busses, 100% fare free.

2466 - Tracey Cloughly

Transportation, needs to improve vastly. More routes, increased frequency and faster travel. Don't use at all due to time of travel, infrequently of buses and routes not that direct.

2471 - Jennifer Taylor

Does transport include public transport or does it mean more roads for more cars? For a multitude of reasons we should be improving public transport. Make it free and readily available to the point where taking your own car everywhere no longer makes sense.

2496 - Nikki McDonald

Keep public transport low cost or free.

2501 - Timothy Rowse

Put on busses for school kids to reduce the space taken when getting to and from work

2576 - Matthew Polson

public transport should be cheaper

2616 - Jane Chrisp

Smaller buses and more frequency

2650 - Alexander Amies

Please work with ECan to ensure that our public transport system continues to improve

>>>

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Creating a Climate Fund]

Continue to adapt to climate change, and to reduce our carbon footprint (working with ECan to improve our bus services)

2657 - Jillian Davis

I think that public transport should be free - more people would become used to using it and would leave their cars at home alleviating all kinds of roading, parking and environmental problems.

2659 - E Ackroyd

More electric buses needed. Emission, noise and operational savings from going electric.

267 - Fionn Walker

Public transport is shocking! Obviously national doesn't care too much about the environment, but increasing funding for public transport would decrease the amount of car on the road. In turn emissions and pollution from Christchurch and new Zealand as a whole. It would also offer a multitude of options for transport with Christchurch, catering to a multitude of economic brackets.

2690 - Robbie Dobbie

Review buses

2734 - Sharon McDonald

[Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]

We don't seem to need more big buses and shelters. Still have not got the transport right. Shelters get destroyed and have to be reinstated. Smaller buses and more often maybe people would use them more.

2756 - Stephanie Defregger

Introduce more public transport and incorporate a tram system

2764 - Chris Ford (Disabled Persons Assembly (DPA))

[Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]

DPA recommends that the CCC (in partnership with ECan) makes the utmost effort to invest in environmentally friendly, accessible public transport infrastructure and systems.

>>>

DPA welcomes the proposed $101 million spend on transport infrastructure improvements including new bus lanes, intersection changes and renewals.

DPA recommends that new bus infrastructure – especially bus stops – be built to universal design and best practice accessibility standards to ensure that they are fully accessible to everyone, including disabled people.

Ultimately, DPA believes that by collaborating with Environment Canterbury in improving public transport provision, the CCC will make what contribution it can to reducing carbon emissions at a time when the policies of the new government will make the achievement of that target more difficult.

Recommendation 1: that new public transport infrastructure – especially bus stops – be built to universal design and best practice accessibility standards to ensure that they are fully accessible to everyone, including disabled people.

Recommendation 2: that the CCC (in partnership with ECan) makes the utmost effort to invest in environmentally friendly, accessible public transport options.

Recommendation 3: that Council proactively engage with the disabled community over all public transport upgrades as part of a co-design process.

2772 - Janice Antill

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

and the remaining permanent elements in our day to day operating.

Overall, have we got the balance right?

No. We do not want cycleways ^{they're killing disruptive expensive}
This only benefits the elite few, More mini buses are better to provide alternatives to cars.

2780 - Maree Hemingsen`

- Make C. Can accountable for poor performance with bus system.

2784 - Jenny Smith (Te Whare Roimata Trust)

While there is currently public transport available on Gloucester Street and Hereford Street, public transport in this neighbourhood has traditionally been a means of connecting the suburbs with the Central City. Little thought has gone into the transport needs of the Inner City East. We believe there is a need for public transport to be made available in and around the Inner City East which will be become more pressing as the SE Central City area develops.

2786 - Redact Redacted

Buses network is not user focussed.
I give up most times due to timetables and ~~and they~~ go by car. (mobility issue doesn't help).

281 - Selwyn Gamble

[Fees and Charges > Car Parking (Parks)]

Honestly I'm not mad at the prospect of introducing parking charges at key parks BUT the equilibrium has to be met with genuine incentives to take reliable public transport to said park for instance, people will just bite the bullet and pay or be defiant and won't (potentially getting fined), I don't think residents are stoked with either of those outcomes so your public transport better up to scratch in that regard.

2810 - Kari Hunter

[Strategic Direction > Climate Change, Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Strategic transport]

In order to reduce transport emissions rapidly, we need to largely phase out combustion-fueled transport. We need to reduce ICE transport (that is, fossil fuels, “bio-fuels”, “SAF”) by at least 50% by 2030 and at least 70% by 2034. EVs cannot replace them all; “bio-fuels” emit GHGs; hydrogen cannot be sustainably produced on a scale to replace more than a small portion of current transport energy. To make this possible, we need you to:

- Rapidly modify the transport system so that active and public transport can quickly become the main modes for most trips. Make it workable to live well without owning a car.
- Rapidly reallocate more space from cars to active transport. Use separated lanes, filtered permeability, and where workable, consider super-blocks or similar. The major cycleways that have been put in place make a real difference. However, we need fully connected routes to enable far more people to have this option. The east side of the city is particularly in need of more safe cycle routes, especially to access the schools.
- Reduce urban speeds to 30kph or lower in all urban streets except for major thoroughfares where there are safe effective active travel options. of the city. The patchwork of slower speeds is an improvement. However, compared with that, 30kph more generally will be more cost effective and more affordable, and will have only a small effect in reducing car travel times.
- Support the local development of capabilities for designing and manufacturing appropriate human-powered and low-powered transport options.
- Do not build more roads or lanes for cars and trucks in the hope that this will reduce congestion. These measures will have multiple co-benefits, in health from more movement and less exhaust fumes, in less heavy metals to our waterways, in more space for people to connect, and in a more pleasant and inviting city that is less noisy, smelly and toxic. This needs to be planned in conjunction with planning towards more medium density housing, a 10 – 15 min city approach and an end to sprawl urban. This will also help reduce travel times. We need you have this largely in place by 2030, for consistency with GHG emission targets and with protecting our human habitat. The costs of prioritising these changes should be found by de-prioritising work on roads and lanes for motor traffic

2811 - Nikora Nitro

We should make buses free.

>>>

Free buses needed to get more people catching buses

2817 - Emma Twaddell (St Albans Residents' Association)

Encourage ECAN to incentivise public transport for youth.

2832 - Riley Neupauer (University of Canterbury Green Party)

[Fees and Charges > Car Parking (parks), Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure, Transport > cycleways (capital), other/Special Interest Topics > Public Transport]

The parking charge proposal is a frivolous undertaking that would bring in a negligible amount of revenue, consequently doing much more harm than good for our communities. With options for city parking being limited and often inaccessible, there are many residents of Ōtautahi who already struggle to patronise local common spaces, and increasing the cost of these facilities would only further hinder availability. A more sustainable option would be to provide better transport alternatives to and from key locations, such as consistent bus routes and usable bike lanes in the surrounding area. This would reduce the space taken up by empty lots and parked cars, improve congestion, and allow more people to visit the lovely greenery of Christchurch.

2864 - Darin Cusack

Not enough control and consolation with ECAN plans from council.

2884 - Giselle Duarte

[Grants and Funding - Orana Park]

Orana Wildlife Park requires more funding. I would rather have a portion of my rates spent on animals than cycle ways and Arts Centres that are thriving under tourism. Animals there are protected and endangered. And shame on CCC if you do nothing about it. We also need a bus service for McLeans Island - people without transport cannot visit and support these businesses.

2905 - Vida Zelenka

Keep the 2$ adult fare

2911 - Penny Moore

[Grants & Funding - Orana Park Funding]

Link Orana Park to a bus route

2913 - Amanda Ovenden

Less buses if they are always more than half empty.

2934 - Monica Richards

[Fees and Charges > Car Parking (Parks)]

Make sure you have free public transport to key parks as well as charging parking i.e. use carrot and stick.

>>>

Much more support for E-Can and the public transport network is required.

2975 - Carrie Keith

Help get public transport to Amberley please

2990 - Darryl Jan Atkinson

[Transport > transport (operations)]

What about a rule, like Finland, where buses can pull out into traffic up to 60km per hour without waiting? They need to be kept moving to encourage more people on, rather than the poor bus driver made to wait for a polite motorist.

3016 - Zarah Green

[Transport>Transport (Operations)]; [Transport>Cycleways (Capital)]; [Transport>Roads (Capital)]; [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration>Strategic Transport]

I think some of the climate driven initiatives are done because it's the right thing to do, not because it's the right thing to do right now. An example is the cycleway on Selwyn St, it makes the Southern Motorway far more congested. The motorway is fed by a large number of workers in the Wigram area in the industrial zone who all go via Parkhouse Rd because there is no bus service there nor onramps / offramps to the motorway on Awatea Rd. Congestion is increasing but the first step before changing light cycles on Selwyn to better suit the cycleway is to ensure the feeder locations have good public transport options and faster ways to clear from congested areas.

3031 - Lee Osborn

Public transport needs more electrification and re-branding to make it "cool" and eco-friendly rather than belching diesel fumes and regarded as travelling by "loser cruiser" as happens now.

3039 - Paula Allen

use smaller busses,

3136 - John Hynes

I think you need to spend more on buses, improving the frequency of the service. I regularly have to drive into the CBD to pick up my daughter as she can't get a bus home at 9pm. The last one goes at 8:15. This also prevents us going into the CBD for an evening meal as we can't get a bus home.

The bus service needs to be much better/more frequent

3138 - Rebekah Carey

Better access and more frequent services to make public transport more accessible

3191 - John Massie

Free Buses would be a net gain to people all over the city

3221 - Kenneth Dsouza

Keep public transport free for under 12 year olds

3243 - Michael Petherick

Make public transport free. This will provide a financial incentive to get commuters out of cars which will make Chch workers more productive.

3319 - Ryan Moore

[Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]

Provide better public transport - better bus frequencies and a more reliable bus service - install more bus-only lanes to increase the attractiveness of public transport

3325 - Adele Geradts

[Transport > Transport (Operations)]

it's good to see money going into roads and transport infrastructure, but better working together with Ecan and transport providers is needed. Many new city areas are more than 2km from a bus stop.

3355 - Laura Coleman

Bring back the yellow bus, that was brilliant for people to get around and will help connect the various parts of the city.

3366 - Robert Manthei

A better expenditure would be on a shuttle bus service that would carry people within the 4-Aves for no or low cost. Thousands would use it daily, significant carbon emissions would be saved, less motorised traffic would clog the inner city streets, suburban residents would be encouraged to come to the inner city, and businesses would benefit from more foot traffic. The 50m spent on 5000 seats for 'ghost' rugby fans would have funded a shuttle for over 30 years. What happened to the Ecan/CCC 6-month trial of a new shuttle service that was agreed to a couple of years ago, but never took place?

>>>

See comments above regarding inner city shuttle. This should be an immediate priority--could even be funded under climate adaptation/mitigation such would be the positive environmental effects.

3372 - Jenny Bond (Te Tuna Tāone)

And as I write this I can hear somewhere espouse the use of public transport, which if you had children who didn't require frequent toileting and an extra 60 minutes in your day to take the bus this would be ok.

3417 - Jack McConnell

We need more funding for public transport.

>>>

More towards public transport

3423 - James Upton

Improve bus services around major cultural and sporting complexes. There's not a lot wrong with roads working at capacity as it makes alternatives such as bus, bike and rideshare more attractive. Buses from dormitory towns should not be subsidised by city residents.

3427 - Mikaere Greenslade

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

A higher percentage should be allocated to safe cycle ways and public transport options.

3444 - Jo McGregor

Get rid of the buses - use smaller eg minivans instead.

3476 - John Fletcher

[Strategic Direction>Additional Savings & Efficiencies]

1. I think bus services need attention. Busses pass my address about every 10 minutes and most are almost empty. This is not good. Consider perhaps longer intervals between busses, smaller busses, or even changing of bus routes.

3479 - Rhys Glenjarman

Public transportation continues to be somewhat dangerous for marginalised communities such as people of color from an international background, the disabled and the rainbow community, as well as women who travel alone. Improvement must be made to ensure the safety of drivers and the public to abuse, threats, intimidation and sexual harassment. Panic buttons on busses that have direct line to the 111 service has been suggested, as well as increased lighting at bus stops.

3528 - Mark Wilson

CCC and Ecan must work together to provide a public transport system which enables people to not rely on cars in Christchurch. This must occur now, so development and density can grow along the public transport corridors.

3564 - Allan Grant

Stop wasting money on running large buses for routes with few passengers outside of peak times. Smaller vehicles surely are better suited and more economic.

3569 - Sarrah Walters

[Fees & Charges>Car Parking (Parks)]

It is understandable that the council is considering introducing parking charges at the Botanic Gardens and Hagley Park, however this area should also be better serviced by public transport to reduce the impact of parking charges. There has been a long-standing gap in this area and while the council is not the service provider they need to work with the service provider and consider the necessary infrastructure.

>>>

[Fees & Charges>Car Parking (Parks)]

Proposed changes to fees and charges – it is understandable that the council is considering introducing parking charges at the Botanic Gardens and Hagley Park, however this area should also be better serviced by public transport to reduce the impact of parking charges. There has been a long-standing gap in this area and while the council is not the service provider they need to work with the service provider and consider the necessary infrastructure.

>>>

Please work with the bus service provider to ensure public transport is as effective as possible and by ensuring it accessible and efficient.

3589 - Roxanne Brassington

Keep funding bus fares

3620 - Rosemary Turnbull

Smaller, electric buses would save the endless run of empty, large buses all over the city.

3648 - Yvonne Russell

The bus network is not servicing some areas of the city well (too far from the nearest bus stop at 2ks away)

3672 - Neil McKenzie

Please work with the regional council to increase bus services. I live near Morrison Ave. Few bus services anywhere near here. An old folks home with a significant walk to Harewood Road. No bus services on Langdons Rd or Sawyers Arms Road. Four or so routes on the parallel Harewood Rd. Langdons Road is a mess with the amount of traffic going to and from the Northlink shops at 100 Langdons Rd. The result, apart from traffic, is shopping trolleys left empty all over the area.

3681 - Tara Daellenbach

[Transport > Roads (Capital)], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

Transport speeding overwhelmingly favours travel by vehicle, when what we really need is a more diverse approach that includes more cycleways and more support for public transport

3683 - Max Sullivan

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)] , [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design & Urban Regeneration > Strategic Transport]

In terms of transitioning, this means much more investment into sustainable transport systems like bus, cycling and (ideally) passenger rail.

3724 - Terence Sissons

For example the frequency of bus services - on the weekend buses leave the city for Sumner every 15 - 20 minutes. We just missed one on Saturday and another one turned up 3 minutes later - no where near quarter full.

3725 - Richard Smith

Core Public Transport Corridor & Facilities – South (Colombo St) 60276 – Public Transport Improvement Programme (Brougham & Moorhouse Area) 60250 – Programme –

>>>

[Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]

We request the council to work further with ECan to align investment in public transport services and infrastructure. The following public transport related investments should be prioritised: Construction of more bus lanes to reduce delays caused by traffic jams More bus signal priority at intersections to reduce delays for buses Construction of many more new and better bus shelters Better technology for upcoming bus signs including installing LCD screens for upcoming buses at well used bus stops

3743 - Ben Ellis

[Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]

Improvements in public transport would be great. The current network is slow and feels very clunky to get around on. The bus lanes are an improvement, and additional enforcement would likely help further.

3745 - Victoria Rathgen

Buses - hope you have removed Dame Bezeley or equivalent as buses have sped up by 20 seconds for the huge expenditure. Electric buses definitely better than fossil fuel, change to local companies rather than importing foreign businesses so money stays in our community which helps shops.

3757 - Sonia Kennedy

I would also be looking at data for bus usage and perhaps dropping certain routes at certain times of night or early morning when only a very small number of people are using the bus. We would often see buses travelling up Mt Pleasant in the evening with no passengers and then coming back down again equally empty.

376 - Mattias Wieland

We need a light rail option in the future connecting key retail hubs with the CBD

3771 - Paul Bacon

Sort out routes, forget the out and return routes, use circular routes

3772 - Sue McFarlane

I would really like to see a central city service – reinstatement of the free electric bus around the city centre to help people get about once they've used public transport into the city. Or could this be offset by a small charge to each passenger eg. $1 a ride?

3779 - Layling Stanbury

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Strategic Transport], [Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]

For roads and transport infrastructure: please focus more on public transport system (when will we get trains back, and busses that actually run frequently and to the areas people need them) rather than building more lanes and highways.

3780 - Jack Halliday

I support the following as they are proposed to sit in the LTP: 73854 - Programme - PT Futures (Externally Funded)

>>>

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Public Transport]

I request the council to work further with ECan to align investment in public transport services and infrastructure. The following public transport-related investments should be prioritised: Construction of more bus lanes to reduce delays caused by traffic jams. More bus signal priority at intersections to reduce delays for buses. Construction of many more new and better bus shelters. Better technology for upcoming bus signs including installing LCD screens for upcoming buses at well-used bus stops >>> Please continue to investigate reimplementing the central city shuttle.

3801 - Victor (aka Vince) Eichholtz

More buses,

3826 - Kate Cleverly

[Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure]

Public transport is poor at best with the bus routes not meeting the needs of the community - many people live over 2km from the nearest bus stop so cannot access public transport.

Many bus stops are on the wrong side of busy roads (eg Lincoln Rd stop for Aidanfield) making them dangerous for children and the elderly.

3831 - Rick Jones

Transport: using big heavy busses that roll around the city mostly empty is simply virtue signaling. Either drop the number of services or use smaller, compact busses that cost less to operate.

3839 - Samantha Dryden

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]

I think CCC should work with ECan to review current bus routes and seek to add several new routes where needed. For example, a new route is likely needed to connect Port Hills suburbs like Halswell and Cashmere to Lincoln and Rolleston.

3841 - Kate Hodgins

[Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]

Bus services are irregular and not convenient for many residents (bus stops are well over the recommended half KM from most homes). This means many local trips are, by necessity, taken by car, causing unnecessary congestion, pollution and impact on parking. Suburbs within 5 km of the city centre, such as St Martins, should be the "low hanging fruit" for encouraging more people out of their cars and onto alternative modes, yet many residents have no option but to drive themselves and paying for parking. CCC need to work much closer with ECAN to resolve the bus network gaps,

3845 - Wolfgang Rack

There should be a better deal with ECAN to increase public transport

3849 - David Peddie

Smaller buses and more frequent timetabling

3862 - Katharine Metherell

This would be the same for bus routes (particularly to high school where the school is not necessarily very local to the community).

[Coder note: Bus routes need to correspond with school enrollment zones in various areas]

3879 - Douglas Horrell

Greater bus frequency would be great. Please review the Halswell 7 bus route which hasn't been reviewed for years despite the major growth of housing in the area. Much of Halswell is now inaccessible by bus

3881 - Anne Scott

Bus drivers should be able to report issues.

3890 - Michele St George Waugh

[Fees and Charges> Car Parking (parks)]

Parking charges in oaks - a fair call as we try to reduce reliance on cars in the central areas, but maybe add an inner 'orbiter' bus ring route to assist

>>>

See above re central orbiter (trams could link in with it)

3898 - Richard Smith

NEED TO TELL ECAN THAT WE WON'T ACCEPT THEIR HEAVIER THAN MAXIMUM ROAD PERMITTED BUSES ON OUR ROADS AS THEY ARE DAMAGING THEM

>>>

NEED TO TELL ECAN THAT WE WON'T ACCEPT THEIR HEAVIER THAN MAXIMUM ROAD PERMITTED BUSES ON OUR ROADS AS THEY ARE DAMAGING THEM

>>>

ECAN should be pushed to do hydrogen rather than electric buses, and they should own the fleet to avoid significant capital costs each time the supplier is changed

3899 - Harrison McEvoy

[Transport > Public Transport (infrastructure), Transport > roads (capital)]

I request the council to work further with ECan to align investment in public transport services and infrastructure. The following public transport related investments should be prioritised: Construction of more bus lanes to reduce delays caused by traffic jams More bus signal priority at intersections to reduce delays for buses Construction of many more new and better bus shelters Better technology for upcoming bus signs including installing LCD screens for upcoming buses at well used bus stops I request funding to be given to 75051 Programme - New Footpaths. Protection of potential MRT corridors should be investigated. Protection of future MCR corridors should be investigated.

3909 - Anna Osborn

There needs to be a focus on public transport. Bus system doesn't work, people don't use it as it takes longer than using your car.

3921 - Alison Loveridge

I prefer no increase in bus travel costs.

3926 - Hannah Powell

More frequent public transport

3927 - Wendy Marshall

Superannuants are limited to free buses between 9.00 to 3.00. Not all appointments can be included in that timeframe.

3936 - Carley Dove-McFalls

[Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure]

I would like to see more designated bus lanes, express buses from Lyttelton to the city centre

>>>

A new north-east bus route must be finished by 2025

3944 - Lyn Dawson

[Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)], [Other/Special Interest Topics > Public Transport]

Include potential bus stops in planning so that developers meet the cost. I'm mindful of a new subdivision in Awatea Road where a little bit of footpath has been laid and, despite this being a bus route, lacks any provision for a future bus stop. The nearest stops are several hundred yards away and in one direction there is no path. When revising bus routes find out where the people living nearby work, shop or play sport etc. It would help indicate demand.

3949 - Fay Brorens

Reliable fast public transport is required.

396 - Daniel Jackson

More funding and improvement of our public transport system. The busses have been great and half price fares have got me and many friends using the bus every work day.

3960 - Nicola Prattley

Disappointed that the bus service no longer travels the full length of my street. Despite it being a fairly large street.

4004 - Nathalie Le Bras

[Fees and Charges > Car Parking (Parks)]

Less car parking more public transport

>>>

Depends if it is public transport.

>>>

[Transport > Transport (Operations)]

Public transport should be prioritised. Less road concern for "car drivers". Cities are not for cars.

>>>

[Transport > Transport (Operations)]

Less "road fixes" --> more in buses.

4006 - Hana Saemon-Beck

[Fees and charges > Car Parking (Parks)]

Install Public Transport options first. Have a rail and bus system.

4024 - Richard McCaskill

[Transport > Roads (Capital)]

Double laning of Lincoln / Halswell Roads, widening Sparks Rd and get a bus service running on that corridor.

4025 - Robin Wynne-Williams

[Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (capital)]

The infrastructure hasn't kept up with the growth in Halswell; - the bus system need to be extended.

>>>

Extend the Lyttelton container wharf to allow bigger container ships and container storage, and increase the bus system when cruise ships are ‘in town’ and promote Lyttelton town. *Initiate a new Lyttelton Wellington ferry service.

*Initiate a new Lyttelton Wellington ferry service.

4034 - Remy Barbier

[Transport > Transport (Operations)], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

Increase funding for cycling and public transport. Make car use more difficult and expensive

418 - Molly Magid

Also, increased bus access and bus times for high traffic areas.

448 - Nick Campbell

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

I don't think cycleways are the future of Christchurch. The design of Christchurch does not suite what you're trying to achieve compared to say some European cities that are much more compact. The existing public transport system is very poor. I think the money you're wanting to spend on all these new cycleways ($219mil) would be much better spent on improving public transport that way actually improve areas of businesses if people could better access them. If you look at the budget of public transport vs what you're proposing for a very select few cyclists ($219mil vs $101mil) shows that you have it all wrong.

504 - Angela Templeton

Transport - so many empty buses driving around Christchurch. Do timetables, bus size, cost, etc. need rethinking? I've lived in many cities, e.g. Sydney, Brisbane, Tokyo, where public transport works well (or brilliantly in Tokyo)

533 - Judith Livingstone

[Transport>Carparking (Capital)]

We need more buses but perhaps parking further out and more buses running from there

570 - Greg Partridge

The underutilization of public bus services indicates a need for the CCC to increase public transport patronage rather than investing in non-essential projects.

>>>

The underutilization of public bus services indicates a need for the CCC to increase public transport patronage rather than investing in non-essential projects.

>>>

It would be far more prudent to do so, far safer for cyclists, and better for the environment and to the benefit of Rate Payers would save the Council millions of dollars, freeing up money to be put to better use where its urgently needed. The underutilization of public bus services indicates a need for the CCC to increase public transport patronage rather than investing in non-essential projects.

582 - Prunella Harris

I think we need to protect the cheaper bus fares for EVERYONE - it seems they will go up in the government budget? What can the council do to offset that?

64 - Lindy Drury

More regular buses

669 - Daniel Barkley

A bus/or public transport option to allow for greater use of public transport would be helpful.

702 - Tim Stedman

Increase bus fares by a minimum of CPI

>>>

Delete bus routes that are loss making Scale back aspirations / increase the period of time taken in converting the city's diesel bus fleet to electric buses

713 - Matthew Irving

You're doing more damage to the environment by creating unnecessary congestion. This city now moves slower than it did a decade ago. Does the council really think adding more empty buses to the network will help the environment

749 - Sandra Pearson

Make public transport affordable for elderly, students and office workers.

757 - Scott McCormick

Transport is terrible. Huge buses driving around empty. Start right sizing vehicles for the predicted loads saving cost.

>>>

Stop driving huge buses on small routes use small more efficient buses.

789 - Stuart Sanderson

Buses should be monitored for usage and stopped if not required.

>>>

Transport costs are massively too high and should be reduced by at least a half. User pays.

>>>

As above Transport costs are massively too high and should be reduced by at least a half by extending time between buses to 30mins across each route. User pays. Buses should be monitored for usage and stopped if not required.

810 - Susan Mullord

Make public transport more available and free for school children.

890 - Kay Joyce

I want decent cheap subsidized public transport as a result

968 - Nick Piper

Our public transport system does not work as it's way too unsafe with the amount of drugged up people using it

Not Stated

1001 - Jessica Schulz

The buses are either late or early. They don't run to the right places without needing to be complicated. There is no easy way to get a metro card - why is this not digital?

1167 - Anja Luecht

The public transport system doesn't feel very safe anymore when the bus exchange seem to be a crime hot spot.

1175 - Jonathan Ludgater

Dont send busses to places where there are very few takers

1178 - Eva Fenwick

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration>Strategic Transport]

Push to fully electric, more busses meaning paying drivers more.

1200 - Lisa Mazey

We need more frequent and longer service time to Rolleston especially. Most services cut off at 9pm they then only run to Hornby.

1282 - Kelvin Lynn

I like the overall intent but the government has made it more difficult by removing the free or discounted fares for young people. We need to grow a generation of young people more likely to walk, ride a bike or use a bus if we are to do anything significant to our emissions.

1351 - Elsie Burt

Buses should be better scheduled so they are more often busy.

1373 - Luke Lagan

transport shouldn't be on this list, buses here are empty and unreliable. [Code note: this is in relation to the capital programme list of key areas, where respondents are asked if we are prioritising the right things.]

140 - Linda Harriswilliams

Keep bus affordable. Easy access.

1428 - Conor Keena

I think there should be a bit more going towards public transport, but I also recognise that's up to ECan.

1439 - Bryan Preston

I am a regular cyclist around the city,

There is no bus service with a 45 minute walk to nearest bus stop and supermarket, hence need for car transport.

1449 - Thane Tremewan

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

Public transport is my primary mode of travel. On public transport I reduce my carbon footprint, remove a car from rush hour traffic and reduce my damage to the road and the costs of its maintenance. More bus services more frequently, and a further investment in safe cycle lanes, would encourage more people away from cars and have manifold benefits to themselves and the rest of the city's residents.

1473 - Adele Du Plessis

[Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)]

Transport infrastructure is only great if you have drivers. We already don't have enough busses from Rolleston to town and none back here at night. Infrastructure is not the problem, shortage in drivers are

153 - Lindsay Strang

I think that the current bus service is excellent and plan to increase the frequency does not tie with the total passenger numbers

1550 - Keith Osborn

The present bus service does not connect with the major growth of new subdivisions.

[Coder note: likely reference to Halsell area]

161 - Sam Apps

Transport? What transport ? There's better public transport in third world countries.

190 - Darian Troon

In Chch, public transport is not reliable. Anecdotally, I know many people that would love to take the bus to save money. However, there is no way to ensure you can arrive at work on time.

2028 - Karyn Haugh

My children are now driving age. You totally destroyed any thought as young people to use public transportation. We gave up trying to call to fix the completely stuffed up bus system which over the period of my children bussing has equated to 12 years. In their words, unreliable, always breakdowns on poorly kept buses. Rude drivers. The fact they are so unreliable in our area is not ok, promises were continually made, Rolleston is now huge and the demand was there. But you didn't deliver on improvement. Cannot blame my kids for their thoughts and opinions...I can only agree.

2140 - Brendan Fraser

I used to catch a buss at my drive, now it's over a km walk to get to most bus stops.

227 - Megan Hopkins

Make the damn bus system work for a change, timetabling is awful and unreliable

2327 - Charles Shaw

I use the bus service on a daily basis and find it a wonderful asset that needs to be maintained. I am over 65 and don't own a car. The ability to use my gold card to access free bus transport around the city is very important to me. My options would be limited if this free access to transport were to be denied.

2368 - Alaine Percasky

Buses are not running enough and again difficult to take your shopping home.

2396 - Sam Jenkins

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > City Planning], [Spending > Te Kaha]

It seems wild that we are willing to have a separate increase purely for one stadium, yet have little plans to build up a liveable city in and around the core, except for low rise housing that's eye-wateringly expensive. Where do we expect people attending stadium events are going to stay? how do we think they are going to travel en-masse to the events? Where is the inter-city transport to support this? Do we expect 30k people are going to drive their cars and somehow find parking somewhere in town?

2448 - Barrie Uren

Bus services is becoming popular again and provides a good service

2477 - Rachael Ann

Public transport is massive and we've seen such a huge uptick in our city since the charges were lowered. Low rates are so important and so are buses!

2799 - Dot Lovell-Smith

-Support the planning of new routes to the new suburbs and subdivisions with seats and shelters to make bus transport easier for and more inviting to all.

-Plan and support increasing the frequency of bus trips timetabled to cater for the population increase in areas of housing intensification.

2822 - Angela Leatherby

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Transport > Transport (Operations)]

If we do not prioritise pedestrians and public transport we will never change the behaviours of our car loving city. In saying that we need to provide a reliable, regular and convenient public transport system to get more people out of their cars.

2829 - Jennifer Dalziel

public Transport should be free. putting the price up discourages people from using it

3045 - Vivienne Wilson (Orion New Zealand Limited)

The Consultation Document records that the Council proposes to spend $101 million on new bus infrastructure improvements, including new bus lanes and shelters, intersection changes, and renewals over the next 10 years. The Consultation Document also records that at a high level the Council is spending $318 million over 10 years on projects that have a direct impact on climate change mitigation. This also refers to $101 million for public transport.

We would like to work with the Council on public transport infrastructure planning where that intersects with future energy requirements. Decarbonisation of the transport fleet in Canterbury will lead to growing demand for electricity as fossil fuels are phased out of both private and public transport. Changes to our network infrastructure will be required to support the growing electrification of transport. The overall demand for transport and mode of transport has a significant impact on how Orion plans for these investments.

Overall, Orion has developed five different possible Future Energy Scenarios for how the energy environment might evolve in the Mid Canterbury region¹. These Future Energy Scenarios are plausible development pathways for energy sector transition in our region over the next 30 years. By planning for different scenarios in 2050 we are able to understand the different potential needs and uses for our network in energy transition, and understanding the development of transport is critical to developing our Future Energy Scenarios.

Changes to our network infrastructure are significant investments and can have long lag times. This means as much foresight and prior knowledge as possible of significant changes to urban development and transport planning is critical. We welcome the opportunity to talk to you about this further.

3222 - Mark Rayner

Buses seem to cover most urban roads. School kids seem to be well catered for.

326 - Greg Dodds

Do you mean public transport? Anything, like good frequency and reliability, will help attract users

3396 - Lucy King

Love the $2 buses. And auto top ups. Well done.

3465 - Hannah Steven

More frequent bus times will encourage more users to use the bus, less waiting time

3466 - Mark Stapleton

Please maintain our bus system and encourage perhaps by incentives, more intensive use

3498 - Lucas Tomasi

we need more busses more fequently along a wide network. Busses dont crash, people are crashing cars everywhere it bumps up the cost of repairs at intersections. Will help save money to put more into much needed water infrastructure

>>>

Please stop updating the website and rebranding. It costs a huge ammount to do things like re painting all the busses teal, the money could be much better used to pay drivers better, have more frequent busses and better coverage bus routes.

353 - John Mayhew

Most buses drive around empty or almost empty for most of the day already. This is a massive wastage.

>>>

Running thousands less empty buses around the city is obvious to reduce costs.

3535 - Anna Harper

whilst the buses are fine during the day at night safety is an issue.

>>>

Buses could be improved in terms of safety and reliability.

354 - Vivienne Allan

The buses are a perpetual problem. They are too big for a start and they are assigned routes where there aren't many users, e.g. Mt Pleasant. Christchurch people prefer to use their own cars where they can or cycle or walk. The bus routes should be changed to cater for the people who most use them.

358 - Tamara Dauvergne

Bus services are essential -

3582 - Cody Cooper

I am pleased to see the introduction of the new Hornby Matatiki Centre. Please continue to work with ECan and advocate for a route review to better service this facility.

3627 - Patrick O'Kane

Public transport isn't efficient in the city. I have tried to use it in the past but it just adds to an already long commute.

3697 - Jennie Brittenden

The bus system is over subsidised as there are still not as many people using it for the monies being poured into it.

372 - Kyle Bluck

Getting from Richmond to University of Canterbury on a bus takes an incredibly long time - I think there must be other gaps in our public transport system like that - is money set aside for a review of bus frequency, travel time, routes, etc.?

3807 - Graeme Remington

Transport....I see empty buses often around the city. More often at 'off peak' times. Why not invest on a fleet of smaller 15-20 seat buses?

416 - Mike Cleaver (Canterbury)

Buses and other public transport options should be massively promoted to ensure less car-traffic is a good and viable option for more cantabrians.

>>>

cheap access to public transport is incredibly important

546 - Lisa Boyce

I ride the bus and it works, thank you. I used to commute from the harbour and bud. Wiyh a nit of planning it aint bad

595 - jeffery Thackwell

We need more new Electrical buses. The bus fleet is old and broken down. It is a disgrace. Newer buses would encourage people to use public transport.

74 - Amy Mcmillan

Christchurch public transportation is unreliable, lazy and poorly organized. this needs to be remedied at the core not by just giving more money.

>>>

get a better system. buses are late, the entire system is extremely inaccessible to those with visible and non visible disabilities. there needs to be a better solution.

Cathedral

General Comments

217 submissions were received on funding for the Anglican Cathedral.

27 comments supported funding for the Cathedral.

117 comments opposed Council funding for the Cathedral reinstatement project. Most submitters did not want to see further council or ratepayer funding of the Cathedral restoration project. Many of which wanted to see funding going toward the Arts Centre instead.

25 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 52 comments provided general feedback addressing the Cathedral.

Officer Response

Supporters of the reinstatement commented on the heritage value of the building, the story of the Cathedral as part of Christchurch, and the negative effects of an unfinished project in the city centre. Supporters tended to emphasise the necessity of a multi-stakeholder approach to funding the project.

Submitters who did not support Council making a further contribution to the reinstatement of the Cathedral were generally emphatic in their opinion. Many saw reinstatement as the responsibility of the Anglican Church, some disagreed with the decision to reinstate the Cathedral in the first place, particularly those who submitted against Council's decision to financially support the reinstatement made on 12 June 2017.

A number of submitters noted they do not support the reinstatement per se, irrespective of who is paying.

Christ Church Cathedral Reinstatement Limited have asked Council to initiate/participate in a process whereby all key stakeholders work towards finding a solution, but have not requested financial assistance at this stage. The immediate goal being to secure an additional $30m by September 2024 to allow the strengthening of the superstructure to be completed by the end of 2025. The alternative is "mothballing" the project.

On 12 June 2017 Council committed $10m toward the reinstatement of the Cathedral, more specifically toward the capital cost (construction) of the reinstatement CNCL/2017/00149. The final instalment of $7m is due on or about 1 August 2024.

The Cathedral rebuild is a complex and expensive project, and one of a number occurring in and around Cathedral Square and its environs. Staff have been engaged in working with the Cathedral Rebuild project to team to support identification of options and will continue to do so as requested in the submission from Christ Church Cathedral Rebuild.

Support

1467 - Alistair Falconer

Regarding the Cathedral rebuild. At the time I was in favour of replacement with a less expensive modern Cathedral. However, the two political gentlemen, from either side of the parliamentary divide got their way and the decision to refurbish it back to its former glory, was made. Having made that decision, then the job needs to be finished and the Council, on behalf of the benefit that it will provide to the Square and the City, needs to stump with extra money to support the extra works that this last week has revealed. In the long term the Council will recoup any extra spent, in the commercial benefit gained by a well-appointed tourist and visitor attraction.

1662 - Lucian Nightingale

I think the council should: >>> and (3) ensure that the Cathedral is rebuilt. These buildings represent and embody Christchurch's heritage and make the city a desirable and vibrant place. With the earthquakes we lost a great deal of these buildings, meaning those which remain are precious. With respect to the Cathedral, personally I am not religious, however, I think it is an important symbol of the city. As a young and recent home owner (with a young family as well), buying a house here was a vote of confidence in what makes our city special. I would be open to the idea of increasing rates so that we could invest further in buildings and events which make our city more attractive and better place to live. This would be a additional financial burden but would be worth it to live in (and raise a family in) a more vibrant city. All in all I think the council should be brave and have a bold vision for our city (which may involve spending a bit more).

1756 - Kieran Sweetman

[Grants & Funding - Arts Centre Funding], [Grants & Funding - Orana Park Funding]

Please, please please prserve and sustain our cherished attractions. Top of list is Orana Park. Then the Arts Centre. Then the Cathedral. Don't let these go.

2103 - P Stark

why no money put forward to help our cities iconic cathedral

2263 - Scott Babington

[Grants & Funding > Orana Park Funding], [Grants & Funding > Arts Centre]

However commitments that have been established, such as with the arts centre, orana park and restoring the anglican cathedral need to continue to ensure their viability. I wonder that a different type of relationship should be established, reflecting that funding status - for example part-ownership.

2267 - Redacted Redacted

[Grants & Funding > Orana Park Funding]

Orana Park and the Cathedral both need CCC support.

>>>

The CCC should match 'dollar for dollar' any amount that is raised through fund raising to get the cathedral finished. Its rebuild been badly handled by the rebuild committee but it is 'iconic' and it will reflect badly on ChCh if it is not completed. The other option I would be happy with for the Cathedral is for it to be left 'as is' without it becoming rat infested or a hazard and a new church built along side (maybe even shift the Cardboard Cathedral alongside) just as has been done Coventry England.

2618 - Margaret Stewart

[Grants & Funding > Orana Park Funding] , [Grants & Funding > Arts Centre Funding] , [Spending > Te Kaha]

I would like to contribute towards the Orana Park, Art Centre, Anglican Cathedral requests for money. Since I am not going to be using the stadium you can divert that percentage of my rates from the stadium to Orana Park, Art Centre and Cathedral. I am sure there are a lot of other people who would be keen to do this as well

2657 - Jillian Davis

I believe the Cathedral should be top of the list for heritage. There was a lot of public pressure to restore the Cathedral and it has left the Cathedral community in an impossible situation having run out of funds to do this.

2712 - Imogen Maxwell

[Grants and Funding - Art Centre Funding]

Funding for Cathedral rebuild and the Arts Centre.

2777 - Jennifer Hamilton

[Parks > Heritage (Capital)], [Grants & Funding > Arts Centre Funding]

Heritage Matters

Introduction

Christchurch's heritage buildings and the spaces around them are an integral part of the identity of Ōtautahi Christchurch. Icons such as the Arts Centre, Christ Church Cathedral and Canterbury Provincial Council Buildings are to Christchurch what the Sydney Harbour Bridge and Eiffel Tower are to Sydney and Paris. They are an important part of our history.

The Canterbury Earthquakes had unanticipated catastrophic effects on these buildings, including financial effects that are potentially crippling to the buildings' owners, City ratepayers and the Council generally. It is easy to comprehend the resistance by many to any further public money being allocated to the task of restoring these buildings.

A considerable amount of money has already been spent on restoring the Arts Centre and Cathedral. The question is: do we as a community sink further money into these buildings or pull the plug?

Strategic Context

Part of the answer to that question is found in a recent report commissioned by the Christ Church Cathedral Reinstatement Limited (CCRL)¹. The Report states:

The Cathedral reinstatement will unlock the full value of these investments and support the wider regeneration of Christchurch. It will also strengthen social cohesion and contribute to New Zealand's earthquake engineering capability²

I consider that this statement equally applies to the Arts Centre and Provincial Council Buildings. (I am pleased to see that money has been allocated in the Long-Term Plan to the Provincial Council Buildings' restoration.) The Report also observes that:

Another potential major source of benefits is the additional spending of tourists who decide to stay longer in New Zealand in order to visit the Cathedral. We estimate that the reinstated Cathedral could result in additional tourism spending of up to $20.8 million per year. Visitor activities account for only a small fraction of the benefits. Paid visitor activities such as climbing the tower or participating in a guided tour provide $0.8 million to $2.1 million per year in benefits, whereas unpaid visitor activities such as viewing the Cathedral interior or attending services or events provide $0.9 million to $3.7 million. We identified other types of benefits but could not quantify them. There has been around $1 billion of private and public sector investment in the streets around Cathedral Square since the earthquake, and a further $1 billion is planned for the next 10 years. The Cathedral reinstatement will unlock the full value of these investments and support the wider regeneration of Christchurch. It will also strengthen social cohesion and contribute to New Zealand's earthquake engineering capability.

In short, the restoration and on-going operation of the Cathedral, Arts Centre and Provincial Council Buildings are strategically important in Central City Revitalisation, and the broader wellbeing of Greater Christchurch and Aotearoa New Zealand. The question becomes not whether to fund these projects over the course of the LTP, but how. Increasing rates is not a palatable answer for many ratepayers and other sources of funding are needed.

Funding and Financing Options.

Councillors are aware there are limited funding options it can call on and other sources need to be found. These need to be innovative and widen the suite of options. They include the following:

- Presenting a business case to Central Government either for direct funding, or develop new funding sources eg returning GST derived from tourism expenditure in Greater Christchurch or imposing an accommodation levy;
- Approaching local and overseas sources eg using recognised New Zealanders to make a case to UNESCO, the Royal Family, overseas philanthropists and other parties;
- Issuing heritage bonds;
- Imposing a levy on overseas visitors arriving on cruise ships and at Christchurch International Airport.

These are medium to long term options and do not meet immediate requirements. This can only realistically be met through additional borrowing or reallocation of planned expenditure. For example, it seems almost certain that some transport projects, including major cycleways, will not be able to proceed because of the withdrawal of expected funding subsidies by Waka Kotahi. These projects could be deferred and some Council funding redirected to help meet the immediate needs of the Arts Centre and Cathedral.

>>>

Christ Church Cathedral

The economic assessment highlights the need to finish this historic centrepiece of our city. The financials are eye watering. However, given the heritage significance of the cathedral, a concerted effort is needed by all parties – interested individuals, the Anglican Church, Christchurch City Council and Government. In the meantime, the Council and Anglican Church need to ensure work continues, even at a slower pace, not only to provide certainty and demonstrate commitment, but also to retain the skills needed to finish the job.

2821 - Dave and Denise Falls

[Grants & Funding > Arts Centre Funding]

Spend Harewood Rd money on
The Cathedral & The Arts Centre

2838 - Graham Erikson

Increase support for the Cathedral restoration to ensure the project proceeds as needed. This heritage building is so important to the city that it should be at the highest priority of all projects - it is part of the city council logo. Compare with previous funding to Te Kaha and Court Theatre etc. >>> [Grants & Funding > Arts Centre Funding]

2935 - Tina Christians

And help the Christchurch Cathedral get this beautiful church up and open

3043 - J Elliott

COMPLETE: Cathedral - Having spent a considerable amount of ratepayers money on the Cathedral, this should absolutely be finished before committing to New Capital Projects, ensuring an audit of spends to date to stop the Contractors milking the project.

3185 - Brian Darlow

[Grants & Funding > Art Centre Funding], [Spending > Te Kaha]

The same could be said for the Anglican Cathedral but other funding might available for that.

[Coders note. previous comment. "Not quite. I think the Arts Centre Heritage buildings must be completed - this is a major draw card for overseas visitors and will be widely used by, and appreciated by, locals."]

3195 - Redacted Redacted

[Grants & Funding > Orana Park Funding], [Spending > Te Kaha]

Money should be spent helping our local organisations (Orana Park, the Cathedral rebuild)

3504 - Nicola Holt

[Spending>Our Proposed Spending]

I think the council should pay more towards the cathedral rebuild to ensure it is completed.

3603 - Murray James (Food Resilience Network Incorporated)

More specifics on this later, but you may be surprised to learn that we support funding to complete Te Kaha and also promote Council to rise above the agenda driven rhetoric and support emotionally and financially the completion of the Cathedral restoration to the city bck its beating central heart.

3620 - Rosemary Turnbull

Cathedral>>>need to be prioritised for the mental well-being of the City!!

3668 - Gavin Hardie

SUpport >>> Cathedral,

>>>

Our heritage is important so pay for >>> Cathedral

3869 - Cam Parsonson

[Other/Special Interest Topics > LTP Consultation]

Most of the LTP document is handwaving and virtue signalling and has very little substance or any real information. The cathedral even appears in the council's logo and is the international tourism symbol of CHCH, regardless of any faith component; council should be involved more in the completion of this project.

>>>

assist with the restoration of chch's icon cathedral so investment can increase in the CBD

3913 - Mark Darbyshire

Notwithstanding, Council needs to see through the delivery of >>> the cathedral remediation

3995 - Leah Callaghan

and not enough spent on the cathedral

3997 - Emma Baird

not enough being spent on the cathedral restoration

512 - Rosalind Butdon

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > [Grants & Funding > Arts Centre]

There is not enough support for culture and Heritage . Particularly the Arts Centre and the Cathedral both crucial community treasures much used and loved . The heart and soul and character of the city. Without them the city would be a sadly deprived place. History is important . So much effort has gone into ensuring the Arts Centre is a centre of energy and vitality and people. Pity to lose it .

8 - Justin Yudistira

I also support a future allocation in monies to save the Cathedral, both the one in Cathedral Square and the future Anglican Cathedral once the Catholic bishop have decided a place to put it. Economist have shown in this article <https://www.rnz.co.nz/news/national/514217/christ-church-cathedral-economists-back-finishing-240m-rebuild> that finishing the Cathedral is going to be a good thing for our city, this will increase tourism, increase standard of life in Christchurch (the pride of our jewel being rebuilt after the disastrous earthquake), increase the value of land nearby (which will increase rates too) and finally getting rid of the fences and workstations in the area. We have no choice, we HAVE TO finish the Cathedral. I will support an increase in rates for this as well. CCC can also organize a collection day to collect monies for this effort, matched dollar-to-dollar by CCC or by an anonymous benefactor.

829 - Linda Wilkins

[Full attachment available]

We are pleased with the progress that has been made in restoring many buildings in our city; despite it appearing to have taken too long.

The presence of the cathedral in its wrecked condition is a sad eyesore in the heart of our city and it detracts from the life that should be part of our city centre.

The atmosphere of the Square and surrounds depends on having a vibrant cathedral in its centre. It is acceptable and actually contributes positively when there is active work going on with the restoration. It will be a sad sign of defeat and an indication that Christchurch has not risen above the catastrophe of the earthquake if active restoration does not continue apace. It will say to residents and visitors that Christchurch has failed and given up. We citizens will be obliged to hang our heads in shame to admit that we come from "the city that has a stagnant ruin at its heart". Te Pai is a success we are proud of; we are proud of the restored War Memorial beside the Cathedral.

The stadium is going ahead in leaps and bounds. Councillors, please don't let us down by not committing the funds to continue the restoration of our cathedral.

We can only speak personally of course, but we would far prefer to have to pay a few hundred more each year in rates and live in a city we were proud of, rather than to have to accept that we had given up the restoration and had a stagnant ruin in our Square.

Oppose

1014 - Sandy Porter

No, we should not be funding the Cathedral. They had the opportunity to build new, everyone has had to demolish and build new, time to move on. Create a new cathedral at the church's expense.

Get rid of Cathedral funding

1068 - Redacted Redacted

level the cathedral if needed.

1094 - Katie Godman

Stop giving my money to the cathedral rebuild.. nothing's happening and it's not our responsibility

>>>

[Libraries>Libraries (Operations)]; [Grants & Funding>Orana Park Funding]

Take my share of the rates for the cathedral rebuild and the libraries and give it to Orana park.

>>>

[Grants & Funding>Orana Park Funding]

Help Orana Park and get rid of our input into the cathedral

1203 - David Moore

[Spending > Te Kaha], [Three Waters > [Three Waters (Operations)],

It is a shame that Te Kaha and the Cathedral were invested in when water infrastructure needs the attention, but these are proportionally quite small to the rest of CCC's spending.

1210 - Dianna Koorey

Stop paying for the cathedral. Its unfair that ratepayers have been paying for this whether they like it or not. The reality is that most people want it gone, most of us don't use it, its holding up development and a continual reminder of what so many people have suffered. Those who want it restored should be paying for it, not the rest of us. I totally disagree with ratepayers paying for it.

1222 - Storm Rogers-Boult

[Spending > Our Proposed Spending], [Spending > Te Kaha], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

The new stadium, cycle lanes and cathedral are a huge waste of money

1224 - Amanda OBrien

Dont waste any more money on the cathedral.

1420 - Luis Jimenes

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?]

No, because Money should be spent on the poor for food and not on the Christchurch Cathedral.

1504 - Jonathan Kingston-Smith

Stop funding the cathedral rebuild. It's a waste of time and money

1530 - Robyn White

please DO NOT waste my rates on the cathedral rebuild

1549 - Jessica Saunders

We never should have taken on the cathedral which was sunk cost fallacy.

1562 - David Cutlet

Less on religious decoration like the Cathedral.

1572 - Olive Easterbrook

[Grants & Funding > Arts Centre Funding], [Grants & Funding > Orana Park Funding]

I think we should be supporting Orana Park and the Arts Centre. And not the cathedral.

>>>

[Parks > Parks Spending (General)]

I support this apart from the cathedral

>>>

Don't fund any more on the cathedral

1578 - Lucia Campbell-Reeves

the cathedral should absolutely not get funding from the council.

1641 - Win Douglas

[Grants & Funding > Arts Centre Funding]

Stop taking my money for the christchurch cathedral and arts centre

1654 - Jane Ross

The residents of Christchurch did not want the Cathedral repaired. Why are we being punished. I saw a beautiful example in Scotland of a new church building built within a historic church ruin. The whole process did not need to go on for so long. The Christchurch Cathedral is tiny compared to even average sized Cathedrals in Britain. It is the people that matter.

1684 - Wynand Verwoerd

[Grants & Funding>Orana Park Funding]

Please support Orana Park, a living asset for Christchurch and the region, rather than the dead relic of the Cathedral.

1693 - Brook Walker

No Cathedral, the pope can pay for that - since the whole thing was an act of god. [Grants & Funding > Events Ecosystem Funding] [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)] [Spending > Te Kaha]

1699 - Dominic McKeown

remove the christchurch cathedral targeted rate as the cost has increased its proven to be wasteful spending and the church needs to be accountable rather than relying on rate payers. it should never have been granted in the first place. they dont pay rates on the building. >>> dont burden the future rate payers and generation by bad decision made from today by elected members who display there political aspiration rather than thinking locallay about the whats really needed. [Spending > Our Proposed Spending]

1778 - Jane Houghton

However, our rates are targeted to: Special Heritage Cathedral 1,254 - I think this has gone beyond the joke now as it has gone way over budget. When the Council or whoever agreed with the current company to restore it, they should have done a contract which said we are only paying $X and it has to be completed within X time period. At this stage the company is just holding the council to ransom.

When the cathedral eventually opens - if ever, then a charge will have to be made to recoup some of the costs.

1781 - Charlotte McGregor

Is the cathedral worth it? Not if we want the city to be rebuilt. It's far too expensive and not worth the money and not everyone is religious anyway do we need to prioritise something this.

1790 - Hayley K

You need to stop spending money in areas that don't need addressing. For example, $10m plus given to the cathedral that won't ever get finished,

1898 - John-Paul Kilkenny

No money towards the Cathedral. We could have had a new build for free.

1912 - Emma Borrie

I do not support the council's financial backing of the Christchurch Cathedral project

1932 - Cynthia Carey

Stop wasting money on the cathedral!

>>>

no more money into the cathedral, get rid of it.

1944 - Peter Salvesen

Stop wastefully spending on the cathedral in particular.

1952 - Xin Yi Wong

[Grants & Funding > Arts Centre Funding]

I also feel that the balance is not quite right on spending on the Cathedral and not the Arts Centre. The Arts Centre is a more publicly accessible asset for the city which provides community benefits in its events programme and value as a public space. The Cathedral on the other hand does not provide such wide-reaching community benefits.

>>>

I've heard it is proposed that the Arts Centre will not receive funding which I feel is not the right decision as the Arts Centre is quite an important community hub and has been for years; whereas any funding for the Cathedral I would be less supportive of. I would prefer my rates go towards projects that have a wide and proven community focus (which I would not say for the Cathedral).

1963 - Lynda Goodrick

No more rates money to the cathedral.

1979 - Julie McCloy

For God's sake, Do NOT spend nay more of my rates on the cathedral. I know its not mentioned, but it's more of a waste that the sinking multi sport facility.

2080 - Kathryn Stringer

I don't want rates money to go towards the rebuilding of the Anglican Cathedral though. I think it is an absolute waste of money.

>>>

So long as not too much of the $870 million for parks, heritage etc is spent on the cathedral.

2137 - Paula Densem

Stop the work on the Cathedral , not needed, let the people who want to retain it, pay for it

2157 - John Quayle

We do not need to waste money on >>> the cathedral.

No more money should be committed to the cathedral rebuild.

2198 - Andrew Smith

Do not want to pay more for the Cathedral

2214 - Paul Kruger

[Spending > Te Kaha]

and definitely fewer $$$ to the stadium (get sports to pay) and cathedral (get church to pay)!

>>>

Less money for stadium and cathedral

2229 - Chris and Janet Stokes

2. No more ratepayers money for Christchurch Cathedral

2233 - Stacey Lane

Will not pay for anything extra for the cathedral!

2286 - Larissa Moeller

[Grants & Funding>Arts Centre Funding]; [Grants & Funding>Orana Park Funding]; [Transport>Roads (Capital)]; [Spending>Our Proposed Spending]

As a rates payer I much rather see funding go to projects for everybody like Orana park, road improvements, hospital, art centre etc than it going to the cathedral which is for one denomination only anyway

2353 - Anthea Lees

Please stop wasting money on the cathedral!!!

2392 - Wendy Blair

Stop funding the cathedral as much as we are.

2401 - Arlee Folkers

I also think that the Anglican Cathedral should not receive any further funding from the Council. This city can no longer be characterised as an Anglican City, it is a city made up of many religions and council has no place in funding these institutions.

2425 - Bronwyn Kircher

If the rates are going up then, a percent shouldn't be going on the the cathedral.

2471 - Jennifer Taylor

Council should not fund the cathedral restoration. That's an Anglican issue. We should fund the Arts Centre, that's a city asset.

>>>

Include Arts Centre funding.

2504 - Sarah van der Burch

Nor do I think we should put any more money (including what is already targeted) into the Cathedral rebuild. The group that is interested should front up for the Cathedral.

2530 - Clare Thompson

[Strategic Direction>Additional Savings & Efficiencies]

Cathedral restoration is wasteful spending

2540 - Jocelyn and Caroline Papprell and Syddall

We want no more public money given to the Cathedral restoration project - we objected to the initial $10 M of rate payers money being given to the restoration project. Not one cent more of our money should be invested in that projects.

2576 - Matthew Polson

I have never supported the funding of a religious building (the Anglican cathedral)

>>>

Compared to the cathedral, the arts Centre is for all Canterbury and is not privately owned. I continue to object to the money that has been wasted on the cathedral so far and would find it obscene if the art Centre was underfunded at a time the council was supporting a single religious group rebuild their place of worship.

2619 - Laura Cosgrove

No money should be given to the rebuild of the CHCH cathedral.

>>>

No money should go to the cathedral rebuild.

2661 - Emma Battrick

The Christchurch cathedral is done let's move on.

2675 - Dianne MacCormick

Do not spend any more of our rates on the rebuilding of the cathedral.

2679 - Brad Adlam

[Grants & Funding > Arts Centre Funding]

Use the money being given to the cathedral to save The Arts Centre.

2755 - Jane Demeter

No further CCC $ should be put into the Anglican Cathedral in the Square

2761 - Annette and Michael Hamblett

We are against any more ratepayer funds going into the cathedral restoration project. It looks like the project was too ambitious from the start and more Council money likely still won't be enough. We hope all those who pushed the Anglican Church into restoration, when they voted against it, will now step up to do the fundraising.

2780 - Maree Hemingsen`

No more funding for the Cathedral.
We have given enough. People first projects. second.

2781 - Sarah Hemmingsen

No more funding for the cathedral. The original $10m was provided on the understanding the church etc could find the rest of the funding and that was all that was required.
I am out of coffees to give up to fund their poor planning and asset management/insurance shortfall.

2786 - Redact Redacted

[Libraries > Libraries (Capital)]

^{programme?}
Library's are buildings with lots of multi use services and books available.
No more money towards the Cathedral as it has secular services and only one book. Good case for user pays to be applied.

2846 - Olwyn Ferguson

I think that the rebuild of the Cathedral is getting to expensive as there is nothing wrong with the cardboard Cathedral.

2855 - Kat Forrester

I was never in favour of rebuilding the cathedral I think it's shocking that it's not even a building that everyone can enjoy right in the middle of town is costing us all so much money.

2865 - Natalie Henderson

I don't think we should be paying for the Cathedral either.

2887 - Linda Keall

I do not think ratepayers funds should be spent on the rebuild of the Cathedral. There will be plenty of ways interested citizens can contribute and many fundraising opportunities to support it without using rates.

2982 - Hiroko Tatsuno

[Grants and funding > Arts centre Funding]

However, I am NOT happy to pay for cathedral or art centre building fee as It's NOT life-threatening, so opposed to increased rate if plan to spending to them.

2984 - Claire Martin

Yes but no money to cathedral

>>>

We shouldn't be funding the cathedral

>>>

[Grants and funding > Orana Park Funding]

Orana park needs funding not the cathedral

2988 - Mark Stevens

One thing I am apposed to supporting as a rate payer is the cathedral rebuild. The opportunity is been hijacked by a very small group of individuals to construct something special using modern materials at a reasonable cost to the city. I consider this rebuild a fiscally irresponsible vanity project for a small group of people who have known from the start it will cost twice as much and take twice as long to complete. This wont be the last time they lumber the ratepayer with further debt.

3010 - Jan Cook

>>> I do not support the Special Heritage Cathedral Targeted Rate. The Council should not commit any more funds to the Cathedral restoration, because the costs greatly outweigh any benefits. >>>

3023 - Carolyn Brown

The Anglican cathedral is not, it should be up to the church to decide what it wants to do with it, and raise money independently of the Council.

3035 - Claire Coveney

I do not agree with taxes going to pay inflated think big projects like >>> the Cathedral.

3055 - Josephine Drysdall

I think that projects like the Anglican Cathedral should be left to be managed by the church itself instead of being pressured by a loud segment of the community to undertake a restoration project that they understandably did not want to pursue.

3056 - Carolyn Elcock

No more money to the Anglican cathedral

3127 - Dianne Downward

The cathedral should have been left for the church to deal with from the start. The city should never have got involved with it. No more ratepayers or taxpayers money to be wasted on this black hole.

3128 - Chris Smith

Cathedral. Stop all work, bowl it over. No one wants it.

>>>

No one wants the cathedral rebuilt. It doesn't draw tourism and a small % of the people living here care about it. Get rid of it, save a fortune

3143 - Kate Blackberry

Do not give any money to the cathedral rebuild. Not a penny.

3145 - Leah Wild

Do not support the rebuild of the Cathedral

3148 - Viv Cotter

Please, stop with the "nice to have" so we can sort the infrastructure. For instance, we can't afford to fund the cathedral. Burdon and Anderton sucked people in to their promise, now we've shown they can't deliver

3169 - Barbara Brown

However, I strongly object to any ratepayer support to the resurrection of Christchurch Cathedral.

3171 - Lisa Roberts

Ditching the cathedral is a priority !!!!

3198 - Denis O'Connor

[Spending > Te Kaha]

Te Kaha project and the ratepayer funding for the cathedral in the Square must be halted'

3231 - Colin Foster

Stop the heritage (cathedral) special rate of $6.52 per instalment. This would be much more effective being directed to Te Kaha.

3234 - Rhys Pryde-Wall

>>> No money should be spent on the cathedral.

3238 - Fergus McCallum

Heritage sites, exclusively the cathedral

3239 - Lynette McGrath

No cathedral

3283 - Elizabeth Clarke

I dont think CCC should be giving any more money to rebuild the Cathedral >>>

3308 - Monica Jasper

[Spending > Te Kaha]

The stadium and cathedral are huge costs to the community that will deliver it relatively little value to it, instead aimed at tourism.>>>

3314 - Esther Scott

Spend on basics only! No more cathederal

>>>

No more rates payers money on the cathedral

>>>

Do not spend any more money on the cathedral

3362 - Cherie Mansell

The Cathedral is a religious structure and should not be funded by the tax payer. The church has lots of financial resources and should be left to solve its own issues. Stop throwing tax payers money at the Cathedral.

3366 - Robert Manthei

No money should be spent on the Catherdral--not core business/service/.

3414 - Chrissie Williams

I propose you REMOVE the 'Special Heritage (Cathedral) Targeted Rate' ($6.52 per SUIP). The recent announcements mean that any money "invested" in the Cathedral is money is wasted.

3556 - William Tuckey

[Spending>Our Proposed Spending]

Please don't spend any more on the Cathedral.

3598 - Kyle Sutherland

Not one extra cent of ratepayer funds should go towards the Cathedral. The Anglican church has $2.87 billion of assets, if they want to build it then they should sell some other assets to fund it.

3602 - Lorraine Woodfield

[Grants & Funding>Arts Centre Funding]; [Strategic Direction>Have we got the balance right?]

Driving the city forward is maintaining the efficient restoration of the Arts Centre. Hagley Park and the Arts Centre are the HEART of Christchurch to me. They are the CENTRE of wellness, movement, bringing together, education, fun, laughter and creativity. The Anglican Cathedral is NOT the HEART of Christchurch, as it suggests authority and power by a few and silence which are the worst aspects of our city. Celebrate the restoration of the ARTS CENTRE FOREVER through its continued annual funding. DON'T WASTE the hours and expertise involved in the restoration, value it.

3721 - Benn Dickie

I disagree with the Christchurch Cathedral project. We are spending an absolute fortune on a building with colonial and religious affiliations, that no longer represents the people of Christchurch as it once did. Do not fund this further with the recent requests - embrace that it is broken, modify the outcome to partially be a living memorial to the earthquakes and Christchurch's past.

3722 - Rachel Thwaites

Stop paying for the cathedral repairs. The owners dont want it.

>>>

[Grants & Funding > Orana Park Funding]

I want the choice to donate my section of rates to Orana Park instead of restoring the Cathedral

3745 - Victoria Rathgen

[Grants & Funding > Arts Centre], [Te Kaha]

No more money to go towards cathedral and Arts Centre both places have recieved huge sums

>>>

Do not spend money on that catedral, arts centre and stadiums. The baby boomers can ask the new generations what is important, stone old buildings and churches are low priority...materialistic people want it, obviously the church...did you give the same amount to differnt religions, nope!

3759 - Ben Connolly

Nor do I support additional funding for the cathedral.

3775 - Kate Latimer

no money for cathedral

378 - Chris Arnold

One key example of not listening to the rate payers was the Christchurch cathedral, the rate payers said no at the time and still the council went ahead and charged us for a building that was privately owned by the church.

3854 - Michael Laurensen

Nothing further for the Anglican Cathedral. And if you can cancel some of what has already been promised please do.

3877 - Hilary Quayle

Take off the cathedral too.

3881 - Anne Scott

Not a cent more of rate payers' money spent on the cathedral.

3896 - Coral Denize

Ditch the cathedral

3944 - Lyn Dawson

Not another cent to the Anglican cathedral.

3963 - Jillian Scott

No money to be spent on Chch Cathedral.

>>>

no more money to Chch Cathedral in Square.

3992 - Sue Piesse

I sincerely believe Ch'Ch only needs 1 cathedral. Demolish cathedral in the Square. Use ~~the~~ money elsewhere.

>>>

Ch'Ch Cathedral - building costs only ever go up. We have to "swallow" the money already spent on the Cathedral + bulldoze it.

3999 - Adrian Rackley

Support the Arts Centre let the Church pay for the Cathedral if they want it. But they dont care or they would spend the Church's money .

Gut the inside open up the front to make a memorial space for events for the benefit off all. As a note. .How come every other denomination have to build their own places of worship

4000 - Kari Barr

No more money to be spent on the Cathedral

4014 - Stephen Hill

No more cathedral money!!

>>>

No more Cathedral money

4027 - Rona Buttimore

I am happy to assist with demolition of the cathedral

>>>

We do not need a stadium or a cathedral

4029 - Kelly Meyer

the crap broken cathedral that should just be knocked down!!

688 - Christina Duncan

[Grants & Funding > Arts Centre Funding]

I would much prefer to be supporting the Arts Centre with my rates than the Cathedral

6903 - Don Jellyman

I hope the cathedral rebuild (which I disagree with) doesn't become an eye-sore as funds diminish + work grinds to a halt. While it was ironic, to rebuild in the original design is nuts! LCC must avoid getting sucked into this financial black-hole.

6904 - Jean McIntyre

FURTHER
NO CONTRIBUTION TO CATHEDRAL REBUILDING!

>>>

Do NOT even consider giving further $$$ to the Cathedral in the square - and load it on as a Levy on RATES

Christchurch
City Council

702 - Tim Stedman

Cease any further funding on the cathedral restoration

733 - Tania Thompson

no one needs the cathedral, thats a huge waste of time.

759 - Rory Kinahan

[Spending > Te Kaha], [Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

The CCC has unwisely and undemocratic-ally injected hundreds of millions of dollars into the cathedral (The Anglican Church in NZ has at least $3b in total assets) and into a stadium that we cannot afford to build, maintain or insure without raising rates continually and inter-generationally. What we should be spending money on isn't monuments to 'Gods' or giant, loss making concrete white elephants, but instead, into protecting ourselves from climate change...after all Christchurch is a flood plain next to the sea. I agree with those parts of the plan that deliver infrastructure and water network upgrades and anything that improves public access to public transport and safer cycling.

>>>

Please do not spend millions on vanity projects and try not to be swayed by propoganda; for instance rugby clubs getting their members to spam CCC with submissions asking for a stadium or non-secular groups like the Anglican church putting themselves up for rate payer handouts when they are spectacularly wealthy and can afford to fund their own vanity projects without our help.

78 - Michele Laing

Stop wasting money on the Anglican cathedral

817 - Paul Christensen

Christ Church Cathedral - I oppose any public funding or loans to fund this or any religious organisation, unless it is for a program for a direct charitable purpose, like a foodbank.

937 - Irene Laird

Please stop spending money on cathedral

959 - Sara Morgan

2. Stop the funding of and pressure to rebuild the Cathedral in the square. Those who want it re-erected want this out of nostalgia, and the majority think its a waste of money. Have an opt in section for this in the rates if need be, but don't force the majority to waste our dollars on a wasted effort. Demo the rest and create a place of remembrance at a fraction of the cost and allow all the people of chch to finally move on from the event occuring over 10 years ago.

Other

1009 - Penny Knowles

Finish the rebuild of the cathedral, in partnership with the church. Open it as a boutique events centre, sharing the access and management between council and church, host weddings with catering, small concerts etc.

1245 - Nicole Ireland

What the cathedral u guys have done it wrong at the start why didnt u put a drone in the cathedral and see have damaged it was and then work out the cost it would be and ask the public how they feel and the council spending their money on it

1261 - S McGregor

The Anglican Church need to pay for the Cathedral they have buckets of money.

1265 - Jill Banbury

[Transport > Other], [Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?], [Other/Special Interest Topics > Cathedral], [Three Waters > Taumata Arowai Requirements]

I would like to see if possible something in there for the cathedral rebuild although I think the Anglican Diocese should be looking at what they can cash up. Whether we like it or not this needs to be rebuilt somehow either in its present form or a change in design. Keep the present plan for the cathedral itself but stop the build on the rebuild centre and tower - these can be built at a later date. The cathedral is the hub of the city and a tourist attraction as well as used for other various events - it would be one of the last pieces in the puzzle from the quake. If it was left - we would be reminded everyday what a terrible event 22 February was to all of us who were in Christchurch on that terrible day.

>>>

I know this is not in the plan but gain, the Cathedral should be rebuilt in some form - if it is mothballed - it will be a reminder of that terrible day on 22 Feb. The square will never be finished if this is left sitting there. Build it in stages - forget the info centre and tower in the meantime. The Anglican Diocese should be looking at this. It is an asset to the community and a great tourist attraction. We have lost so much in the earthquakes. Yes, definitely all those buildings in the document are needing attention - well done.

1300 - Barbara Dunne

Stop the subsidy for the Cathedral or at least give people an option to not have to pay. Start charging the Church rates. Demand a refund from the Anglican Church for all the money the Council has so far invested if it is to be mothballed.

1413 - Tania Brewer

All within reason, Christchurch Cathedral is not realistic and shouldve been a rebuild from the beginning agsin too much procrastination has cost us too much money.

1583 - James Pomeroy

[Grants & Funding > Arts Centre Funding]

No funding for the cathedral unless equal funding is given to other heritage projects such as Arts Centre.

1599 - Megan Brown

The cathedral should have been knocked down instead of wasting money to restore. Money would have been better spent on our roads, or better yet our water!

180 - Kevin McSweeney

I trust we will fund the new Catholic cathedral at the same rate as the anglicans

1828 - Robert Jelley

COMMENTS.

NO - THE CATHEDRAL SHOULD HAVE
LEVELLED OR PARTIAL RE-CONSTRUCTED

2085 - Sally Lafleur (Christ Church Cathedral Reinstatement Ltd)

This submission is to formally request that Christchurch City Council (the Council) considers initiating a process with Christ Church Cathedral Reinstatement Ltd (CCRL) allowing all key parties to work towards finding a solution to fund the remaining reinstatement of Christ Church Cathedral. In regard to the revised estimate and programme recently released by CCRL we request Council agree to our proposal to engage in a mechanism, acknowledging the reinstatement of Christ Church Cathedral is a multi-stakeholder challenge. Only through the efforts of CCRL, the Anglican Church, the Council and NZ Government will a resolution be found. We therefore consider a thorough process is appropriate for the significant decisions and best outcomes required to move the reinstatement of the Cathedral forward and establish a funding solution to completion. We wish to establish an effective and transparent way which CCRL can work with Council to find the best solutions and outcomes for the city. We understand this may include consultation around the possible options which may be considered. Our urgent need is to secure a funding stream of $30 million which we can access by September. By establishing a formal engagement process requested through the LTP submission, Council could fully consider the project and its impact on individuals, businesses, and communities which contribute to making Christchurch the best place in New Zealand to live, work, play and invest. Our urgent need is $30m of additional funding support, over and above that already committed including Council's original grant to allow construction (strengthening the superstructure) to be completed by end 2025. We also need Council to work with CCRL to find a funding pathway to complete the reinstatement by October 2031. We continue to manage our remaining funds carefully in the meantime to maintain operations.

[Full attachment available]

2491 - Heidi Warren

Don't rebuild the old cathedral, just build a new modern safe and beautiful one that incorporates some old materials (ie hemp) that reflects our past and our present.

2524 - Ruth Falconer

Heritage has made the Cathedral Restoration unaffordable
The church didn't want that option. They wanted to live within their means.
The only solution^{now} will be for the Council to aid the funding shortfall - not what we opted for.
We were happy with a new modern (safe) affordable Cathedral.

2650 - Alexander Amies

Please try to find ways of continuing the Cathedral restoration

2838 - Graham Erikson

The CCC vision, community outcomes and strategic priorities are not reflected in failing to provide substantial support for the Cathedral restoration >>> [Grants & Funding > Arts Centre Funding]
[Strategic Direction > Community Outcomes & Strategic Priorities]

3035 - Claire Coveney

The Cathedral is more for tourists methinks. A beautiful building but we will use the Arts Centre far more.

3037 - Robert Fletcher

[Parks>Heritage (Capital)]; [Strategic Direction>Additional Savings & Efficiencies]

I think care has to be taken in funding for repair or earthquake strengthening of heritage buildings where the costs are prohibitive (especially the cathedral).

3053 - Drucilla Kingi-Patterson

The Anglican Christchurch Cathedral
I went to church presentation about 2017 to build new church $4million and still another ten years for art additions 2017 the value of damage church spoken by a Mason at meeting $100 million even though damaged.
A core problem being the Cathedral is located in Central of Cathedral Square. Plus community emotional attachment and histories.

>>>

If you look at the Mason work done at the Art Centre plus what has to be done.

Plus the money spent on the Anglican Cathedral Church and the work required plus Disjointed communication between councils and communities it should be no surprise 1. the cost 2. the time it will take.

[Full attachment available]

3400 - Rachael Delahunty

make the church's with their billions of assets pay for their own church, given that its not a state, or chc asset.

3426 - Ann Richards

[Grants & Funding > Arts Centre Funding]

Please continue funding the Arts Centre. Consider reducing monies to rebuild the Cathedral ?

3613 - Catherine McLeavy

Make contribution to cathedral >>> optional. Giving a donation is tax deductible, paying rates is not.

3703 - Greg Hay

You need to give more serious consideration to the investment in heritage buildings. In particular, the $7.0m planned for the Christchurch Cathedral. This has clearly become a "money pit" and needs community consultation around any future spend.

3868 - Don Gould

The cathedral needs to be done. It concerns me that not being completed is holding back city development which is holding out massive investment into our city.

>>>

Finally the elephant in the room. Members, a cup of co'Uee a year. That's all you asked me to give via my council to that project. From day one I expressed that housing had to come first, and it has. But now is the time to open the flood gate and get that project done. Right now we need to drive hard the transition back to a tourist lead economy and this project is holding that back. I have pledge a dollar a day until it's one. I call on CCC to match that commitment from the public. $6m dollars spent on software to count water (of which we have plenty of) verse just giving that to the church to get this project done. For me, it's a symbol of our commitment not to give up. It's the hardest building to fix. Not because stones are hard to work with but because there is so much division. The arguments have to end and we have to just get it delivered now. I see two billion dollars of local investment that's on hold right now because this thing is not done, and that's money our country needs in the co'Uers.

536 - Marilyn Yurjevich

[Grants and Funding>Arts Centre Funding; Strategic Direction>Have we got the balance right?; Parks>Other; Spending>Te Kaha]

The balance is sort of reasonable, given our circumstances. HOWEVER THE ARTS CENTRE is not mentioned. It needs about $1.5 million to keep it going. Please include that! We don't need the bells and whistles on the arena and the Anglicans, a wealthy segment, can pay more for the cathedral in the square. Please ensure there is provision for an ECO-SANCTUARY IN THE RED ZONE. Christchurch sorely needs one.

941 - Hannah Sheath

The cathedral refix needs to come out of your wages!!

Not Stated

1008 - Angela McPherson

Oppose any further funding to the cathedral in the square.

1216 - Glenn Maguire

The Catholic cathedral was demolished and was to be replaced by the church itself yet the Chch Cathedral has demanded handouts and preferential treatment why?

1312 - Andrea Bromley

[Parks > Heritage (Capital)]

The cathedral saga is a joke. I absolutely do not consent to contributing to further costs associated with this, or any other building deemed "heritage" including these listed In the next 10 years we propose spending $51 million on heritage items, including: • Canterbury Provincial Chambers (Stage 1) – $20 million • BotanicGardens–CuninghamHouse– $9 million • RobertMcDougallGallery– strengthening and base isolation – $15 million

1333 - Daniel Roome

230 million on the cathedral that is still in ruins. Spend the people money as if it was your own!

1347 - Stephen Leon

My previous comments are relevant here. On top of this the Cathedral blowout is another potential expense that frankly I do wish to contribute to. Let the church pay.

1403 - Carolyn Kaye

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)], [Rates > Residential Rates]

People are struggling. Rates increases should not be that high. Get rid of unnecessary spending like cycleways, make sure basics are maintained, don't put any more money into the cathedral.

1436 - Victoria Andrews

I do not support additional Council funding to restore Christ Church Cathedral which is largely a visitor attraction. Let the Anglican Church and wealthy patrons donate money as well as the business community and possibly central government to cover the funding shortfall.

1462 - Sue Piercey

I don't support any further contribution from the Council to the Cathedral Restoration.

1717 - Mark Doyle

not personal vanity projects or contributions to religious institutions like the Christ Church Cathedral rebuild (they should ask their cult followers to fund it).

>>>

Drop the nonsense discussion about paying more towards the follie that is the Christ Church Cathedral rebuild.

1737 - Tim O'Sullivan

[Strategic Direction > Community Outcomes & Strategic Priorities]

This section of the document, in fact the whole document, leaves out any mention of the religious aspect of life for the citizens of Christchurch. Vast numbers of Christchurch people go to Church on Sunday. The current issue of the Cathedral in the square does not appear to have been mentioned in the Consultation Document (although it may be mentioned elsewhere in the voluminous documentation associated with this budget). A healthy society, which the Council does want, is not helped by the omission of the Christian religion as a factor in the community life of Christchurch. The vision of a "thriving, inclusive and sustainable city" needs to include Christianity as it is one of the dominant themes of life in Christchurch since the foundation of the city in 1850. The position of the Cathedral in the Square is a indicator of this importance.

2065 - Robin Lake

The Council is under pressure at the last minute to provide funding to a number of projects. I do not think the Council should supply (unbudgeted) money to the Cathedral or Arts Centre, but I do support providing increased funding to Orana Park. I think that the volunteers deserve our support following the COVID downturn, and we have a responsibility to the animals.

2182 - Diane Singleton

Don't spend any more money on the cathedral

>>>

No more funding for the cathedral

2323 - Pauline Guthrie

No. We have spent too long arguing over the Christchurch Cathedral which is now on hold due to escalating costs. It is just an embarrassment to Christchurch and really lets the people down.

2421 - Helen Foley

Whilst not included in the draft plan, I strongly opposed the CCC providing any ratepayer money to help with the Cathedral reinstatement. The Anglican Church has access to funds and if we had let them tear it down and rebuild years ago, we wouldn't be in this situation. We need to move away from the Cathedral as the iconic symbol of Chch and look at the other amazing assets the city has such as the Otakaro river or our beautiful botanic gardens or Arts Centre. They are more iconic than some building which represents a time of religious power and influence. I will be outraged if the council spends any more of my rates on a religious building.

2461 - Marjorie Manthei

absolutely none for the Cathedral if that is being considered.

2511 - Charlaine Palmer

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital), Other/Special Interest Topics > Tarras Airport, Transport > Roads (Capital), Spending > Capital Programme (General)]

Comments: Stop work on all cycleways, especially the Wheels to Wings and Nor West arc. They narrow roads and reduce carparking. No more funding for Christchurch Cathedral. Stop work on Tarras Airport. Don't change Church corner intersection. Reduce spending on consultants. Rainbow Community to meet all costs of rainbow crossings.

2514 - Jeannie Murtagh

[Revenue > Disposal of Council Owned Land, Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

I support this proposal and profit should go towards climate change initiatives and NOT repair of Christ Church Cathedral.

>>>

[Spending > Capital Programme (General), Spending > Te Kaha, Other/Special Interest Topics > Commonwealth Games)

I want the Council to listen to feedback in the future BEFORE they lose millions of rate payers money in huge schemes the people dont want such as repair of the Cathedral, Te Kaha and a possible future Commonwealth Games!

2519 - Charlotte Withington

I think no further rates money should go towards the Cathedral rebuild as it affects so few for the money spent. Even if it stayed in ruin, tourists have something to see and acknowledge the devastation caused by the Earthquakes.

2545 - Antony Gough (Terrace Christchurch Ltd)

I believe the Christchurch City Council has already significantly dipped into council funds to support this repair. I support the council in not putting further funds into this project. In the past Cathedral builds were spread over many years as funds allow. There is no reason that parts of this repair cannot be delayed till funds become available. It is not essential that the tower is replaced at this time nor the visitors' centre. The base isolation is a gold-plated option which should be deleted. We considered it for our The Terrace buildings but quickly dropped the idea purely because of cost. The same should happen for the repair of The Cathedral. This is not a core part of council infrastructure and should be left for funding outside council.

2611 - Papataitua Harrington

In regards to >>> the Cathedral I do not support additional rates. >>> and the Cathedral should be funded by the people who wanted it rebuilt.

2647 - Penny Carnaby

I urge the Council not to put any more $$ into the Cathedral restoration. In my view the City has already made a generous contribution and, if the project is to progress, future funding should be sort from the Anglican church or through private means.

2666 - Kathleen Crisley

ADDITIONAL REQUESTS FOR RATEPAYER FUNDING

SUBMISSION POINT 11: I do not support the request for additional funding for Christchurch Cathedral's rebuild. This is a vanity project whose leaders have not thought creatively and have presented ratepayers with an 11th hour demand for more money. A lottery such as that which funded the construction of the Sydney Opera House in Australia could be used to secure funding from those who believe that the Cathedral is a National Treasure and spread the costs to others outside of the ratepayer base.

2727 - Aleesa Royds

why are we paying for the cathedral rebuild

2787 - Jean Drage

[Grants & Funding > Arts Centre Funding, Spending > Te Kaha]

And where is the debate on this at Council which spends so much time responding to the noise around funding an obsolete cathedral, the Arts Centre and the new stadium (for example)?

2821 - Dave and Denise Falls

Please finish cathedral reinstatement
- but review need for auxiliary buildings
Funding can come from Heritage levy continuation, Anglican church, central govt fundraising - joined up approach.
Get on with fixing + do not moth ball.

2831 - Sebastian Denize

The council should not be swayed by the minority that was in favor of saving the Anglican Cathedral to spend more money on it.

2849 - Patrick Dunford

[Grants & Funding > Arts Centre Funding] [Grants & Funding > Orana Park Funding]

Christchurch Cathedral and other community organisations asking for million dollar handouts should not get any major grants especially over multiple years. If we all have to cut our cloth to suit these recessionary times, they should as well.

2876 - Sarah Hastie

The council should not be providing any further funding to the cathedral rebuild. If this means it can not be rebuilt that is acceptable. Similar if a more cost affective option, e.g. a modern rebuild rather than restoration is available the council should do what is within their power to approve this.

2951 - Les McKay

We should NOT be putting any more money into the cathedral. We didn't pay for the Catholic cathedral so no more for the Anglican Cathedral.

3 - Di Pranker

What is happening to the cathedral rebuild? I was never in favour of the huge expense of this - stabilising the ruin and creating a memorial was always a better option in my opinion. Still an eyesore and a huge handbrake on the development of the city centre

>>>

No mention that I can see on the future of the Cathedral - understand there is no money left to complete the rebuild - are taxpayers going to have to add more money to the bottomless pit ?

3077 - Mike Davidson

Do not put any extra funding into the Cathedral. Any consideration of this must involve public consultation.

3296 - Sharon Gail Powney

I do not want any more council money provided to the Christchurch Cathedral restoration. The church organisation made the decision to do the more expensive option. Residents have more important things we need.

>>>

Do not increase funding to Christchurch Cathedral, they made their own choice and I do not think ratepayers should have to pay more. >>>

3299 - Phil OMalley

>>> Do not want to see the Cathedral on the list as a surprise additional capital item.

3389 - Megan Roulston

4. I do not care for the Cathedral to be rebuilt. I am happy for this project to be paused.

3456 - Sam Steven

I don't think we should spend any more money on the cathedral.

3479 - Rhys Glenjarman

The Arts Centre, Orana Wildlife Park and the rebuilding of the Christchurch Cathedral are core tourist attractions. Not allocating funding to such major attractions will severely limit tourist interaction with the city. Having spoken to many cruise ship tourists in the last 7 months, they are already struggling to find entertainment in Christchurch area. Many say they would like to actually spend their money they have withdrawn from cash machines but find nothing to do here. Without continuous funding to the Arts Centre, Orana Park and the rebuilding of the cathedral will diminish tourism and potentially have genuinely catastrophic economic impacts for Christchurch businesses. The loss of many of the cities character buildings had a significant negative impact on the mental wellbeing of Chch residents. The neo-gothic architecture of Chch is genuinely rare internationally and is part of the soul of the city. Allowing these iconic buildings to be abandoned is akin to iconoclasm. The loss of significant buildings to earthquakes has been shown to have a similar effect on residents as actual iconoclastic loss in peer reviewed research.

3686 - Suzanne Peddie

It is also to inappropriate to spend more ratepayers' money on the Anglican Cathedral restoration.

>>>

[Spending > Te Kaha]

with the reservations above re Stadium and Cathedral

3695 - Pamela Pye

[Other/Special Interest Topics >Vertical Capital]

Although they are important historic structures, Provincial Chambers and Robert McDougall Gallery repair could be deferred as they are not currently functioning entities. Do not support any additional funding being provided to Christ Church Cathedral for same reason.

3708 - Joan Simpson

please do not provide additional funds to the Cathedral. It is not for the Council or the Government to save this building. The funds currently allocated should be used to make the building safe. Allow people to enter and if in the worst case it is not used as a church then so be it. Charge people access and and quiet contemplation but do not go over the original budget. The building does not need base isolation. It only has people in a few hours a week. It is not ok for budgets to be set, projects started and then repeated requests for additional income. Enough. There are enough Anglican churches in Christchurch to support those who believe. My main issues with the Cathedral is that the owners, the Anglican Church, were not allowed to demolish and rebuild. They have been forced into a situation they did not want.

3712 - Zeta Pringle (Coalition for safe accommodation in Christchurch)

Christchurch city is built on heritage. . We would not be supporting of the council to add more money to the restoration of the Christchurch cathedral adding a burden to the rate payers

3741 - Kevin Spaul

[Grants & Funding> Arts Centre]

No more money for the cathedral or arts Centre Look after the cost and the city history

3875 - Maureen McCloy

I've noticed a number of organisations calling for more funding such as the Arts Centre, Orana Park, A&P. I don't have a view whether they should be funded to a greater extent. But I do feel strongly about the Cathedral in the Square as, at the time, I thought it looked very much like the Anglicans were bullied into agreeing to a rebuild they couldn't afford. Please don't provide additional funds or under-write its restoration as it's a relic to a past life. Most people don't go to church anymore, so it would simply become a very expensive piece of tourism infrastructure with limited revenue. So an on-going liability. In the same vein, could you please design a new logo for the Council that doesn't include the Cathedral? It no longer represents our City.

3976 - Elizabeth Pugh

- No more funds for the restoration of the Cathedral - It's the Anglican churches problem. Funds for the Arts Centre - YES.
Please don't sell the "silverware" - yes rates rises are part of owning a property, but savings can be made

3977 - Defyd Williams

Community need to discuss what should happen on the site of the cash-strapped Christ Church Cathedral - find innovative solutions that bring in cash not drain resources & rates. I have ideas to share with CCC.

event bid funding

3990 - Malcolm Smeaton

I am opposed to contributing further to Christ Church Cathedral. CCRL are holding the city to ransom without making any concessions themselves. I recently read about a much cheaper alternative designed by Sir Miles Warren. It's time CCRL had a reality check and be prepared to make big decisions.

4021 - Cornelis F De Jager

I don't want to see more money being wasted on the likes of the Cathedral, Orana Park, Art Centre etc if they can't survive on their own, then they can go.

416 - Mike Cleaver (Canterbury)

with heritage I am one of the people that think that rebuilding the cathedral is not a sensible way to spend money, even if it isn't the city.

46 - Karin Lange

Mostly. Not sure what CCCs role is wrt the stupid Cathedral rebuilt which swallows up so many hard needed funds.

486 - Neil McConachie

[Spending > Te Kaha]

Concerns regarding the continuing payments we as ratepayers are making on Christ Church Cathedral and the new Sports Stadium being built by the Hospital.

487 - Gavin Stevenson

Will the council be responsible for overspending on the >>> Anglican Cathedral without consultation with residents?

529 - Don Reekie (Parkstone Musical Appreciation Group)

Allowing itself to be drawn into the Cathedral rebuild which should not have been Council's concern will be a great mill stone round the neck of rate payers, just increasing the debt exponentially. The Council should pull out of that and allow church to keep ruins and gardens as a city attraction. The Church has an adequate Cathedral already.

990 - Wendy Fergusson

Do not give the Cathedral restoration project any more money.

LTP Consultation

General Comments

152 submissions were received addressing the LTP consultation.

19 comments supported the LTP consultation, and 10 comments opposed.

52 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 74 comments provided general feedback addressing the LTP consultation.

Officer Response

Of the submitters who commented on the LTP consultation, a number had specific comments on the LTP Consultation Document, draft documents and/or bubbles tool.

- Those that were positive included comments such as the Consultation Document was “comprehensive”, “clear” and “helpful”.
- Those that were negative (either about the Consultation Document in general or on a specific point or question) or neutral, had suggestions for things we could do differently.

The remaining submitters provided comments on the Council's engagement and communication in general. Key themes from these comments include:

- The requirement for better engagement, especially with rangitahi/youth and hard to reach audiences (including suggestions for how we could improve).
- More use of existing networks to reach more residents e.g. making the most of existing residents' associations.
- The importance of transparency, and good communication.
- Dissatisfaction with engagement on specific transport projects.
- Distrust in, and scepticism of Council decision-making.

This LTP we received a number of comments about the length and complexity of the Consultation Document, and the difficulty of having to read vast amounts of information in order to answer the questions asked as part of the consultation document.

Our challenge with the Consultation Document is that, as a legislative document, there is information that has to be included, and we are audited accordingly to make sure we are meeting the requirements of the Local Government Act. For a council of our size, this can make it difficult to streamline information, and it certainly has an impact on the length of the document. To help mitigate this, we try to provide information on the LTP in a range of formats, to suit different audiences, and different levels of involvement (from light touch to deep dive).

Hard copy

- The Consultation Document, and Draft LTP (in two volumes) were available at Council libraries and service centres and in-person events. We also produced a large print version of the Consultation Document.
- A four-page A4 flyer, with key information for people who wanted a quick overview of the LTP and how to have their say, was also available at libraries and service centres and in-person events.
- The submission form was available as a separate document available at Council libraries and service centres, and at in-person events.

Online

- All the information from the Consultation Document was available as web pages at ccc.govt.nz/longtermplan. Our pages had 22,526 views, and 16,320 visits from 11,539 visitors.
- The Consultation Document, Draft LTP (volumes 1 and 2) and supporting information was available as PDFs to download.
- Information on capital and operational expenditure was available in the PDF documents, and also within the LTP online 'bubbles' tool. While we acknowledge the bubbles tool doesn't suit everyone, it does provide an interactive way of visualising proposed budgets for both capital and operational spend at an activity and project level. This year, users were able to view the capital programme by both groups of activities and community board area. We had a total of 2,447 users, and 30,916 views, with an average engagement duration of 3 minutes 31 seconds.

In person

- Engagement staff attended over 40 in person community events, including advertised session at libraries that were often also attended by local Councillors.
- There were also more than 40 community board-led events, including drop-in sessions, community meetings and markets.

- At the Student Strike for Climate rally staff were on the ground handing out information about the LTP and how to make a submission. We also held a session with Councillors at the University of Canterbury, and attended a GenZ event to encourage youth participation in the LTP.

Static displays

- Two static displays were 'on tour' around all Council libraries throughout the consultation period. The display included all print material, touch screens with the 'bubbles tool' on display, a token exercise asking a single question about levels of spending, and drop boxes for completed submission forms.

Promotion

- To help get the word out, we advertised the LTP consultation in The Press, the Star, community newspapers and the Akaroa Mail. We also had radio advertising across the major networks, and digital advertising (online and on billboards).
- To support this, we also had a series of stories on our online news platform, Newsline, and social media posts on the Council channels (Facebook, Instagram and Tiktok).

This LTP we received almost 7,000 submissions – significantly more than the 2382 we got in the 2021–2031 LTP.

Notwithstanding what we did for this LTP, we are always looking for ways we can improve our LTP consultation, and are open to suggestions for how we can be more effective. This is true too for all our engagement and communications.

We are committed to listening to our residents, acting on what they tell us, and engaging with them on decision-making. We are also always on the lookout for ways we can make the most of engagement tactics and new technology to encourage participation.

We have taken onboard feedback for how we could engage more effectively, particularly with rangitahi/youth, multicultural communities, the disability sector and residents' associations, and how we can make our engagement and communications more accessible to a wider audience.

We received comments from some submitters about concerns about predetermination, and that providing feedback is pointless as the Council will not listen to what they have to say.

On that point, the Mayor and Councillors have not already made up their mind on any of the matters consulted on in the Draft Long Term Plan. The Mayor and Councillors will consider all submissions received before making their final decision towards the end of June.

That the Council requests staff to report back on:

A111a. The Citizens Experience Programme with options on how this work programme can be accelerated to continue to promote engagement, improve accessibility, raise levels of public trust and increase overall efficiency, by May 2024.

Digital Citizen Experience

Staff have developed a business case which proposes an agile approach to addressing improvements in citizen engagement, accessibility, trust and efficiency through the development of online tools and experiences. This is designed to accelerate implementation by focusing on specific improvements for a designated short period of work, then moving to the next highest priority. Funding for this is included in the proposed digital budget in the LTP and the project has been approved by ELT subject to Councillor adoption of the LTP. Examples would include enabling online self-service for rates, dog registration, bookings etc. A full briefing on the project will be provided to Councillors following LTP adoption.

Support

1352 - Lin Klenner

These are tough times so thank you for crunching the numbers, not an easy task.

>>>

Thank you to all the staff and councillors who helped with the explanation of the LTP, I found it very useful and am stunned by the amount of time and passion invested. Great engagement. Paper copies of the plan worked better than the online one.

1431 - Carissa Ptacek

I guess I assumed that the 3 waters items are back in this LTP, if that is the case well done team, as that last minute change would have been a hard task to complete

1433 - Helen Thomas

Just wanted to say thanks for circulating the plan.

1439 - Bryan Preston

I have read the LTP and commend the thorough and detailed presentation. Whilst there are a number of planned actions which I may not agree with I will focus this submission on two issues.

1512 - Denis McMurtrie

No I think it is an excellent document keep up the good mahi.

1780 - Alison Griffith-Collins

Thanks for producing a clear plan, for highlighting priorities, and for making an easy submission process. Having a wonderful city comes with a huge price tag. Everyone who passes through or lives in Christchurch needs to chip in, keeping in mind that some of us pay in multiple ways, every day, and others who don't should probably chip in a bit more.

1873 - Marjorie Manthei (Victoria Neighbourhood Association Inc)

We did appreciate the graphic depiction of operational spending, however ("Day in the Life of Your Rates, p 25). An effective way of reminding us of what our rates need to cover.

2308 - Sarah Elicker

Thank you for the opportunity to submit and how easy you've made it and all the advertising you've done. Also thank you for the incredible effort to get the document to this stage. I do appreciate how much work it takes to balance the needs of a city and its residents, especially in this age of misinformation and politicising.

2310 - Helen Broughton (Waipuna Halswell Hornby Riccarton Community Board)

The Board commends the Council for the quality of the consultation document provided that it considers to be clear and easy to read and understand.

2520 - Graeme Fraser (Diamond Harbour Community Association)

I have been impressed by the Council's efforts in promoting this year's plan and arranging lots of drop-in events to give people opportunities to ask questions.

2811 - Nikora Nitro

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?]

looks good so far.
Congratulations for the great consult programme

2840 - Matthew Carter

(1) Firstly, I would like to record my admiration of the consultation document. It is well-structured and carefully written, and the tone is remarkably consistent. I am sure it will be appreciated by anyone who takes the time to open it.

3644 - Yvonne Dixon

I like the visual graphs, diagrams and pictures. They make it easier to understand.

3671 - Linda Nicolson

Thanks for the opportunity. The document was well laid out and easy to read.

3706 - Ellie Stevenson

I appreciate the opportunity to consult and that word was put out ahead of time that we should think about this. It's always ultra hard to get people to engage with local government, let alone young people. If I can suggest anything, messaging-wise around the plan, take the opportunity to change perceptions of local government as run by old white boomers in the rich part of town who bow to the grievances of their peers and don't listen to young people. Even if a lot of local government is run by old white boomers in the rich part of town, if you want to attract youth buy in to your plans, you need us to a) know there are ways to make a difference and b) believe we will be heard. Idealism and inspiration are not the sole province of under 30s and there is no reason why local councillors cannot stand on the proverbial corner soapbox and say that Christchurchers count. Thank you for your time!

3768 - Tracey Klatt

Thanks for the comprehensive consultation - some tough calls to make but all of this stuff is needed to make a better city!

3800 - Rachel Barker

Well done in the hard effort CCC staff, board members and councillors have put into it.

736 - Helen Westrupp

You are never going to please everyone and you have put together a document working to find a balance to do that. Thank you for the thorough document and good luck trying to sift through all the feedback. Unfortunately I have very little faith in the council and while this document looks good, delivering this will be a very different story.

847 - David Bromell

Thank you for a clear Consultation Document.

Oppose

1323 - Mark Hubbard

Part of the problem is asking if I am 'binary': goodness me. So fire every staff member involved into getting that on your survey, including no doubt your DEI officers: you are pathetically woke. Just do basic services.

14 - Luke Chandler

It's hard to say when it's hard to find a decent break down of these costs. [Coder note: Capital Programme]

16 - Andrew McKay

My last comment. Transparency and democracy is not cherry picking options to select. This is designed to get a tick of support for your proposals. It is deceitful and undemocratic.

2299 - Rosemary Martini

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

One of my biggest concerns is that it is not right that cyclists from all over NZ are able to write a submission for a catastrophic and detrimental cycleway plan for Harewood Road that is a huge waste of the ratepayers and taxpayers money.

2550 - Jacinta O'Reilly

The presentation was extremely opaque. User testing seems to have missed the need for an intuitive menu and the bubbles presentation was unreadable as the bubbles moved and one could neither see what one had visited or what might be useful from what one had missed feedback tokens at libraries were not regulated therefore anyone could put multiple tokens in at any one library and travel to different sites to put multiple tokens in. This should not be used as feedback.

3127 - Dianne Downward

3741 - Kevin Spaul

To long hard to read but from my point of view there are some good thing and not so good in there and unfortunately most people in the city won't do this submission I see a rocky road a head for the City were the council only seems if a select few groups

3936 - Carley Dove-McFalls

The 60 consultation document is not reflective of the 500 page document (which also isn't complete, in my opinion...).

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Engagement and Communications (General)]

The CCC must make its submission process much more accessible and do work to engage younger generations and marginalised voices in this submission process. This work is often done by other organisations, when it should be the council's engagement team that does this mahi.

3961 - Paul Robertson

This is a terrible question, very poorly designed and clearly aimed to get the answer you want.

3968 - Joseph Fullerton (UC Climate Action Club)

- The LTP is 60 pages in consultation document, which doesn't reflect the full LTP. The full LTP is 500 pages, which doesn't explain the activity and asset management plans. To understand the LTP in full, thousands of pages must be read. CCC must do better; it must provide its LTPs in accessible form.
- The LTP is written in overly complex language. All future documents must be written in accessible language, with the help of CCC's Plain Language team.
- CCC isn't doing enough to engage youth. In future, CCC should proactively engage communities in informal language in their own spaces. Examples include high schools and university campuses.

Other

1030 - Andrea Gosney

I've just filled this whole survey out only to click link to plan to read something and lost all my answers- what a joke.

>>>

To vague to actually know what's hidden in there

1452 - Maraed Riley

We advocate for genuine "participatory democracy" for youth before the next Annual Plan. Requiring youth to attend Council meetings and fill out forms for every new plan undermines their opportunity to shape the future. We call for authentic "participatory democracy" for the broader community. The Council receives fewer submissions from less engaged communities, indicating a need for proactive engagement efforts. Simplifying language and making documents more accessible can enhance community involvement.

>>>

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?]

Make decisions based on empathy for those less privileged, for those most marginalized, for the rangatahi of our future, for Papatuanuku, and for those who find these submission processes inaccessible.

1460 - Jihee Park

[Spending > Our Proposed Spending]

yeap, I want you to completely transparent on how much you are spending money on (rather than 5% of rates goes to recreation pool)- and convincing people in christchurch why you guys are increasing.

>>>

rather than putting the % on it , you guys need to be transparent about how much spending, why are you spending, how much progress you made it etc.

1519 - Matthew Williams

Whilst the LTP is likely a regulatory requirement the LTP is a sign in itself of a flawed system. Where is the simple executive summary. It is overly complex and you cant simply work out what the cost of goals such as "Increase the share of non-car modes in daily trips"

>>>

In my opinion, the way in which the information is presented and responses requested will put many of the citizens from reading let alone responding to the LTP.

1592 - Richard Catron

I would need to see a full pie chart of the budget to make any intelligent recommendation.

>>>

I would need to see/study the entire budget to make an intelligent recommendation.

1594 - Lisa Geary

Just make the long term plan slightly longer term . 15 - 20 yrs

1650 - Deb Osborn

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?]

I started to read the draft LTP but my eyes glazed over early on. I can only say it looks like there are a lot of things to weigh up, and your pie charts and graphs will seem balanced to one group and not balanced to another. It depends on so many demographic factors as to whether the balance is right.

>>>

It's a lot of words, graphs, nice sentiments, but to the common folk like me, it is what it is. Whether anything or everything comes to fruition is another story.

1952 - Xin Yi Wong

It would have been helpful if you provided a list of Council's 'core services' as part of the document to make it easier for me to assess whether I think there are any that were less important than others.

1956 - Jenny Pringle

Thank you again for this opportunity.

I am happy to be contacted in the future.

Have a lovely day which hopefully includes good food, drink and empathetic, decent people.

1959 - Brad Waldon-Gibbons

good luck!

2263 - Scott Babington

Well done. I am conscious that almost 20% of our city is Māori and there seems to be less emphasis on this - but I note the engagement intention. It would be good to engage on this early, so that future funding can reflect this engagement

2305 - Monique Maynard

It would require a great deal of time to go through the plan in detail and compare changes - find the hidden costs/savings etc. Should have a tick box system

NOT TRANSPARENT ENOUGH.

2344 - Sarah Elicker (Te Huarahi Linwood Avenue School)

At Te Huarahi Linwood Ave School our values are Kia Manawanui, Kia Kaha, Kia Māia and Kia Whakaute. (Be Your Best, Be Strong, Be Brave and Be Respectful) Thank you for the work completed on the LTP and for embracing these values too. Note for hearings scheduler... I have requested to speak as an individual as well as on behalf of the Board - you are welcome to combine my slot, rather than giving me two separate slots.

2355 - Iain Sanders

You are missing areas of concern, and investing heavily in things whose benefits are hard to quantify. If you had spent less on external consultants and set up a task force of concerned residents to advise and provide input instead, you would have done a better job of addressing the needs of your customers, i.e. the rate-payers, instead of copying what all the other councils are doing. A task force of concerned rate-payers would define the priorities and concerns of rate-payers for delivering them, together with suggestions for reducing unnecessary costs and expenses

2385 - Ezra Mussa

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Engagement & Communications (General)]

The LTP is 60 pages in consultation document, which doesn't reflect the full LTP. The full LTP is 500 pages, which doesn't explain the activity and asset management plans. To understand the LTP in full, thousands of pages must be read. CCC must do better; it must provide its LTPs in accessible form. The LTP is written in overly complex language. All future documents must be written in accessible language, with the help of CCC's Plain Language team.

CCC isn't doing enough to engage youth. In future, CCC should proactively engage communities in informal language in their own spaces. Examples include high schools and university campuses.

2528 - David Cooper (Netball New Zealand)

[Grants and Funding>Events Ecosystem Funding]

I think this question would have had better balance to have also outlined the return to the city that major events bring in economically, rather than just talk of the increase to rates...especially compared with other spend choices council has in front of them. See my opening remarks on major event funding.

2563 - Kim Money (North Beach Residents' Association)

While we acknowledge and appreciate that there have been some improvements of the online search tools, it is still unclear as many of the line items headings are so general that it is difficult to work out what project the funding is actually for and where they fit within each Ward.

A brief summary for each project, and its exact location, would help the public understand exactly what the funding seeks to achieve. It is unreasonable to expect lay people to do the research themselves and be contacting Council staff for more specifics.

All the above is time-consuming and a challenging exercise for most people to undertake, particularly given the size and complexity of the document. This lack of transparency does not encourage public participation. We request the line item details are updated to be more specific. Each ID Number could also link to a bit more detail.

2666 - Kathleen Crisley

Most of the facts/figures I have used in this submission resulted from a list of questions I sent to the Council in early March. Answering of questions by Council takes 20 working days under LGOIMA; this is another reason why the consultation process is stacked against the average submitter.

>>>

I am sure there are other areas to increase income and reduce expenditure/rates.

SUBMISSION POINT 15: For plan consultations in the future, Council should publish a chart of accounts for each council project and programme, forego the fancy "bubbles on the website" functionality, and be transparent about projects that have been added directly by either individual Councillors and/or Community Boards.

2756 - Stephanie Defregger

First of all I want to bring this to your attention: It says here at the beginning of the page; "READ: The Consultation Document here" and the link does not work???!!! I expect better communication and advanced skills for this survey. Where are the pictures, where are the visuals? Words alone are very draining and annoying.

2769 - Dr Crystal Lenky (Lyttelton Port Company)

8. LPC considers that it is important that CCC, as a partner of the Whaka-Ora Healthy Harbour, makes specific reference to this within the LTP to provide clarity of funding and programme for particular projects to be completed. We consider this should be presented by showing this programme commitment as a particular line item with respect to forecast funding and specific projects listed which fulfil commitments to the Whaka-Ora Healthy Harbour. In providing this information, we believe this will provide the community, stakeholders and partners with an understand of commitments to be fulfilled and timeframes for when these are expected from CCC.

[Full attachment available]

2823 - Aurora Garner-Randolph (School Strike For Climate Ōtautahi)

In the LTP, CCC says it is “committed to participatory democracy”. We think that’s not true. The LTP comes in the form of:

- a 500 page document in two volumes; and
- dozens and dozens of other documents, including many activity plans, asset management plans, and schedules of capital spending; and
- a 67-page document for consultation, which doesn’t have most of the detail of the other documents.

We think that’s a very inaccessible form for the LTP to take. On top of that, it’s written in bureaucratic language, and often uses alienating words and phrases, such as referring to residents as “customers” of CCC, and CCC as “the business”. Where is the commitment to participatory democracy?

When SS4CŌ went to participate in democracy on April 5, we found that many of our young members were willing and keen. Many of our school strikers filled out submissions at the Christchurch City Council Civic Offices. During the consultation period on the LTP, CCC didn't go to any high schools, or spaces popular among youth, to get opinions from our age bracket. There were two events total at UC. We would have expected to be welcome at the CCC offices to fill out our submissions. Instead, a group of police armed with pepper spray and tasers got ready to eject children by force. This is the opposite of a commitment to participatory democracy.

We're making this submission because the current LTP doesn't do anywhere near as much as it should for the future of the city. Many of us in SS4CŌ want a future in that city, and it's not optional for that future to have infrastructure and flood protection in it. When an LTP like this one comes out that prioritises short-term savings over the future of residents of the city, we think something's gone deeply wrong with CCC's way of thinking.

We've had to do our submission outside of the format on the CCC website because the website doesn't capture the full scale of the LTP's problems. In short, the LTP doesn't do enough for the climate (in both mitigation and adaptation), for housing, for infrastructure, or for flood protection.

2886 - David Fleming

Good summary for the public. But please consider the opinions of the silent majority. These are the rate payers that are contributing to our society and getting things done without making any fuss and being vocal,

2902 - Prawindra Mukhia

1. Consultation document- this should be around 15 pages, sufficient not to drive away the reader. Consultation document should include (a) Performance of last 10 years, the challenges and what will in look like at the end of 2034. (b) Spatial plans showing - major works will be undertaken (capital works) and benefits; areas that may be affected by Climate Change and proposed climate actions and (c) And overall table explaining the outcomes and benefits for each year's spending.

2922 - Zak Morrison

- Public Engagement and Feedback: Continue to engage with the public to refine and adjust the LTP based on community needs and expectations, ensuring that the plan remains dynamic and responsive to the evolving urban landscape. While the Draft LTP 2024-2034 sets a foundation for future development, it requires adjustments to better align with the Council's strategic objectives of creating a green, liveable, and connected city.>>>It is crucial for the Council to reconsider its current proposals and commit to investments that will transform Christchurch into a truly world-class city.

2947 - Katia De Lu

4. Engagement Most of us here in Ōtautahi | Christchurch really care about our city and would like to have a say about it. However, most of us don't have time to wade through the 60 pages of the LTP consultation document, much less the 500 pages of the full LTP or the thousands of pages required to also understand CCC's activity and asset management plans - all in quite complex, inaccessible language. Personally, I have a full-time job and a three-year-old, so I found it exceptionally challenging to piece together enough time to write this submission. I ask that the CCC provides future LTPs in a more accessible format with more accessible language so that we can all have our say. In particular, I ask that the CCC does more to engage youth in consultation, since they're the ones who will have to live with these decisions the longest. Thank you for taking the time to read my submission. I know it must be a daunting task, and I truly appreciate it.

3003 - Sonya Hodder (Spreydon Neighbourhood Network)

I personally appreciated the recent Mayoral Forum, which helped me understand the complexity of this planning.

3055 - Josephine Drysdall

The LTP is a 60-page consultation document, which doesn't reflect the full LTP, which is 500 pages and doesn't explain the activity and asset management plans. To gain a complete understanding of the LTP, one would need to read thousands of pages written in complicated language. Therefore, it is vital for the council to make LTPs available in a more accessible format to allow for more equitable feedback. Thank you to the council staff for reading and processing this submission – you work incredibly hard, and it is appreciated.

3336 - Margaret Lovell-Smith

It would have been helpful if the discussion document had told us whether funding for heritage and culture (and other services) was being increased or decreased.

3419 - Michael Allan

Stop producing ridiculously fancy printed documents like the 10YP booklet. Ratepayers do not want to see glossy productions such as you've issued for the LTP; they want to see examples of sensible financial management of the money they give you to run the city. What you've produced may be pretty, but it's a terrible waste and should have come out as a simple B&W booklet. The money spent on this is misspent would have been better spent elsewhere

>>>

Don't waste ratepayers' money on fancy books!

3565 - Rafael Ribeiro

It's something we need

[coders note. response too "Is there anything else that you would like to tell us about the Draft Long Term Plan 2024-2034?"]

3596 - Susan Lau

However I do think it's a bit misleading for this question to state that the proposed rate increase is only down to covering "core infrastructure and facilities", as the Te Kaha project for example makes up a significant proportion on its own of this increase.

>>>

What is the $948 million under the "Other" category in the Operational spending 10-year projection going to?

3616 - Mark Webster

Your consultation document contains many terms that lack clarity. I have asked multiple times for these terms to be clarified, and these requests have been ignored. How can you expect anyone to answer your questions when you can't explain what you mean.

>>>

As already stated - greater clarity. Too many wishy-washy terms Also, you made this feedback so long, I think many people would start and then decided this was all too hard And if most don't input, you would assume they agree with you, rather than you failed to engage them

3623 - Jessica Adams

I think that the Council needs to look at better ways to consult with the ratepayers as generally the formats used online are difficult to negotiate and not very user friendly ie you cannot go into a feedback form start it and save to go back and work on later. That should be a standard format available. I am sure that many people find the consultation and feedback process too difficult to negotiate. There should also be a way of printing out a record of your submission.

3635 - Jane Lila McKenzie

I believe if ALL i have written is read, and taken into account there would be no need for me to add any more here actually I do. The LTP Book, Draft and Submission Form all must corollate for easier submissions. Thank you

3645 - Sophie McKenzie

Thank you for your time reading all of the responses I know this is very brief not as in depth reposne but hope the main ideas are clear. :)

3698 - Clive Beaumont (Canterbury Basketball)

Yearly consultation by staff needs to happen and considering all users of facilities not just those who shout loudest

3758 - Mads Churchhouse

Thank you for taking the time to read all my comments and for seeking this feedback. I appreciate the effort which has been put into making the feedback process accessible. However unfortunately the LTP really isn't accessible simply given the length of the document. Not sure what's the best way to address this because you need lots of information, but how to condense it and communicate it in an accessible way is a big challenge.

3779 - Layling Stanbury

yeah, it's way way too long, of course you don't get many submissions about it. people got kids to feed, very few people are going to read a 64 page consultation document. Give us a one to two page succinct summary. people who are working two jobs and worried about rent are not going to have the time or energy for this. This entire process is designed to block out feedback from the very people this will impact the most.

3793 - Mark Gerrard (Historic Places Canterbury)

[Parks > Heritage (Capital)]

HPC supports the CCC putting aside expenditure for what we presume is the restoration of part of the Canterbury Provincial Chambers.

According to media reports the Council has entered into public excluded commercial negotiations with an unknown commercial entity. HPC considers it problematic that we are being asked to participate in a consultation on expenditure without knowing the conditions of the commercial agreement and with whom it is to be spent.

>>>

The CCC entered into public excluded commercial negotiations without any prior public consultation or input. There was no public tender or call for public expressions of interest. HPC notes these commercially secretive negotiations appear to be taking some time. HPC understands any program of work will have to be signed off by the Minister of Conservation. HPC considers that the Council should have adopted a full consultative and open robust process in regards to the restoration of the Provincial Council Chambers. HPC requests a full consultation with public input sought, along with full disclosure from the Council in regards to the future of this important building

[Full Attachment Available]

3802 - Matthew Baird

Engagement: The LTP consultation document is 60 pages long, which doesn't even reflect the full LTP (500 pages), which doesn't explain the activity and asset management plans. There is a great swathe of information that must be read in order to fully understand the council's plans. I request the the CCC work to reduce verbosity and complex language so that engagement with the public is easier and more straightforward. I also ask the CCC does more to engage youth in consultation - they are the ones that have to live with the decisions you make. Finally: Thank you so much for reading, I know it must be a mammoth effort go get through them all!

3805 - Antony Lawrence

Yes. You should be asking for input on matters of greater importance than trifles like the Yaldhurst Hall. Why not ask for input on more significant items such as Arts Centre , Cathedral Restoration (NO more money), Orana Park or the myriad of other organisations begging for money? This makes the submission process look as though it is a meaningless process as you don't really want disagreement!

3883 - Colin Meurk

Experienced, professional people, under constant demand do not have time to read these large documents which i'm sure is very well thought through - but suspect it will be light on apprehending the asteroids heading our way. We desperately need to look up and understand that the future is not going to be BAU. Consequently, much creative, outside the square, knowledge is not incorporated into co-designed, can-do, evidence-based solutions to wicked problems. The only way such people like myself can get meaningfully engaged is through open-door citizen assemblies - being inside the tent able to have a conversation with the architects of the plans - not giving a 5 minute account of the universe every year. How many civic awards, loder cups, old blues, onzms, power list rankings, does one have to have before being invited in - and having the networks to know where other knowledge lies. A quadruple bottom-line rule should be applied to all governance decisions - that is, should include a professional ecologist - not just a gate-keeper who thinks they know about the 'vironment and when to ask for an expert :-)!

3889 - Jessica Rees

Not enough information provided to comment

[Coder note: In response to questions around disposal of surplus council properties and red-zone properties]

3905 - Surinder Tandon (Christchurch Multicultural Council Inc.)

[Strategic Direction > Community Outcomes & Strategic Priorities], [Strategic Direction > Other Policy Matters]

Continue the implementation of the Christchurch Multicultural Strategy - Our Future Together, launched in 2017. Christchurch Multicultural Council along with several ethnic community groups, CALD agencies, worked hard to support the CCC to develop its Multicultural Strategy - the first in Aotearoa NZ. It is surprising that there is no mention of Christchurch Multicultural strategy in the CCC Draft LTP 2024-34. Surprisingly, the word "multicultural" does not appear even for a single time in the LTP Consultation Document. Instead of staying with the label Christchurch being "a Multicultural City", it seems the CCC prefers to label it as "a cultural powerhouse city". The latter is a secondary description of the former label. CCC Strengthening Communities Together Strategy refers to Christchurch Multicultural Strategy in its Pillar 1. The latter is a living document and lists the goals and outcomes in detail. Christchurch Multicultural Strategy complements the Strengthening Communities Together Strategy.

3943 - Maria deSilva

I don't believe it was advertised wideky enough.

573 - Rebecca Dean

It's helpful to share any cost-benefit analyses with ratepayers. I.e. "if we spend X on this now we will save Y in the future"

645 - Stewart Mckenzie

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Engagement & Communications (General)]

Well done on pulling the plan together and communicating it

694 - Lucia Rivas

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Governance], [Transport > Cycleways]

Expecting everyday individuals to fully understand this plan with the detail required to provide an informed decision is optimistic. Public consultation appears to be rather inefficient and my confidence in the current council is not great considering the opinions vary greater between councillors and agendas. Wheels to Wings is a prime example and it appears to have been wasted effort due to the vast delays due to consultation efforts. Infrastructure that continues to support climate change efforts like bikeways are super important but yet there is too much pandering to those who are wetted to their vehicles. We as rate have to a level of trust in the council to make the right decisions.

>>>

This is a mammoth document and I know there has been an attempt to present it concisely but it is still a big ask for informative opinions from residents.

715 - Hayley Barrett

Unsure if you also want comment here on changes to levels of service on the same page of the Consultation Document, but just in case you don't ask later, I would like to suggest that when you did that survey you are basing so much of this document on, there wasn't even a hint of rates rising to over 13%. I believe you would get very different results to this survey now, especially if you added the actual amounts our rates would rise by supporting each different area. In short, you are using old data to support your current stance. If you want to say that no one wants levels of service to decrease, do the right thing and ask us all again now, and provide all the details about rating increases from each item. You will get a different answer.

746 - Lara Flavell

Not a lot of information about these on page 32

[Coder Note: regarding capital spend on parks, heritage or the coastal environment]

>>>

Not a lot of detail on page 32

[Coder Note: regarding solid waste and resource recovery]

935 - Rob Davies

LTP 2024-2034?

The production of this booklet. Now 4th April & 3 places wouldn't give me a copy. This process closes 21 April. How do the public then access this in order to offer feedback. Abominable waste of paper & cost. (Issues here!)

Not Stated

1100 - Alistair McKinnon

This survey was really hard to complete. Because it was structured in different orders to the plan document it was a challenge to find the sections efficiently. Seems like an effort to make giving feedback too hard. If this is what good consultation looks like then I suspect we have big issues.

>>>

[Strategic Direction>Our Treaty Relationships]

There also does not seem to be any sign of the treaty in this plan, how does the council see this being a continued focus for the cities development. Page 16 does start to include this, however, it then is not clearly evident in the plan.

>>>

Honestly having read this a few times now it is time to start again and have something that is easy to follow, understand and consultation that actual feels like it is wanted.

1233 - Allison Crow

I have left the previous choice of boxes unticked, as there is no opportunity for a "unsure" box.

1273 - Anthony Moore (The Elms Hotel Ltd, T/A Hotel Elms Christchurch)

The consultation document needs to be more forthcoming with all relevant information so a comprehensive response and be completed

1312 - Andrea Bromley

Your wording of questions is really confusing and I bet someone got paid very well to create such a confusing document for us all to fill in.... Unsure what you even mean here to be honest but Im going to have my say anyway....

1346 - Bianca McKinnon-Gee

Hard to tell as there are too many links to click about and no picture of future projected impacts, whether increases are to keep pace or will cause thing to fall behind. Primarily a summary of amounts of money and rates impact only, not the impact of funding on services, operations, infrastructure etc.

1436 - Victoria Andrews

I understand that Climate Change was the number one concern ratepayers expressed but in the council's consultation document yet it was downgraded to item #10 next to Libraries at #9 (Have your say, page 33).

1501 - Jason Middlemiss (Waimāero Fendalton-Waimairi-Harewood Community Board)

The Board submits that it is difficult to make a meaningful submission on the level of investment we make in facilities such as pools and libraries without further information. For example, a comparison of how much Christchurch spends per capita compared to other New Zealand cities.

1544 - Daana Watson

I don't understand the numbers being quoted so very difficult to assess. You have a pie chart of funding incoming revenues but the chart equals slightly more than 100% which means the breakdown into dollar amounts can't be quantified. The proposal for rates levies for 2024/25 is "11.08% base rates + 2.17% Te Kaha = 13.24% total" but $11.08 + 2.17$ equals 13.25 NOT 13.24. If you can't do simple addition how can you create a pie chart with inaccurate information?

1618 - Zachary Imhoof

Real "participatory democracy" for rangatahi before the next Annual Plan. If you have to come to Council and write out a form every time there's a new plan, youth will never get a chance to have a say on the future. The lack of effort in this area ensures you are getting a very narrow view on what people want. make it easier and more accessible and you will hear a lot more from us. We want to create a great city together but need to be asked in the right way.

162 - Christine Wehrmeier

I have tried to read the full draft LTP proposal but I cannot understand the rates.

18 - Alex User

Should have a detail budgets listed to see what individual services cost the rate payer.

1800 - Judith Deans

Information that is detailed is difficult to find. The information provided at the library included two different plans. I had to phone the council to help me understand this information. I believe the information is largely unavailable for the average citizen on this basis.

1806 - James Edwards

I see where the Council is coming from with the proposed $6.5 billion spend over the next ten years, but honestly, the current breakdown isn't very helpful for those of us trying to understand what each rate increase means in practical terms. It's frustrating trying to decode all this. We Need Clear, Simple Explanations: Rate Increases: Can you spell out what a 3% rate increase gets us versus a 5% increase? It's tough to make any kind of informed decision when we're scratching our heads over the basics. We need to know exactly what each option covers—simple bullet points would help a ton. Make It Easy to Understand: Please, let's ditch the jargon and pages of data and give us something straightforward. Most folks don't have hours to dig through the website trying to figure out where their money might go. A clear, concise guide that says, "Here's what you get for this much more on your rates," would make life easier for everyone. We're all for improving our city, but we've got to know what we're voting for. Let's make sure everyone can easily find and understand the impacts of their choices. More transparency, less complication—let's keep things as simple as possible. This shouldn't be so hard to figure out.

1814 - Jenny Atkin

The current breakdown isn't very helpful for those of us trying to understand what each rate increase means in practical terms. A huge amount of money is thrown into the air and it's very difficult to decipher all of this. Even the "bubble system" in your website which breaks down the expenditure further down is still using huge sums for various projects, and the simple person cannot really know what is really needed and what's not. This is too much to comprehend.

>>>

Most people don't have hours to look into large amount of data to figure out where their money goes to. We need a clear and simple guide that will make life easier for everyone. We need to make sure everyone can easily find and understand the impacts of their choices. This means more transparency, less complication and simplifying things.

194 - John Lieswyn

Difficult to say when the consultation document doesn't give a page number in the LTP: "Further information, including the list of properties, can be found at ccc.govt.nz/longtermplan"

2065 - Robin Lake

The consultation document is a clear and manageable vehicle to facilitate submissions. I particularly liked the online “bubble” resource to simplify spreadsheets.

2087 - Emma Norrish (Waipapa Papanui-Innes-Central Community Board)

The Board appreciates the balanced comments in the consultation document.

21 - Tyrone Low

I find the bubble infographic a bit hard to digest. I would have to hover over every tiny bubble to get the full picture

2166 - Wendy Everingham

it's just very difficult to find out what you are actually spending the money on except for a few high profile projects.

22 - Grace Colcord

Not exactly sure what this means [Coder note: changes to the ways we rate], would be good to know what this means realistically in layman terms as a young renter with aspirations to own a home and other property, while also being part of a charitable trust

2354 - Chantelle Chalmers

This LTP should be more advertised for people to submit and have their say.

2461 - Marjorie Manthei

I'm not knowledgeable enough to compare expenditures across the various areas. The graphic illustration of how our rates are spent in our daily lives was very effective though. Made me realise just how difficult all of this must be for CCC staff and elected reps to manage and come up with a workable plan.

2509 - Angela Nicol

[Spending > Capital Programme (general)]

Its lovely that the Council has this feedback ability. Using tokens last year to place what was more important to the Communities of Christchurch was a great method to see this order, and I support that majorities decision on this order.

2559 - Michael Campbell

This is quite a painful process, maybe council could do a large share an idea event like it did post quake to build these in the future.

2618 - Margaret Stewart

Once again your submission form is over complicated and rather leading so I am sending an email instead.

2640 - Wayne Hawker (New Brighton Museum)

Found many aspects of The LTP hard to navigate and I am sure we are not alone and there also needs to be a longer period for community groups to seek advice and information from council staff with more and better informed (as in when and where) public meetings

28 - Geoff Egan

[Coder note: For context "Is there anything else that you would like to tell us about the Draft Long Term Plan 2024-2034?"]

Not yet but I'm sure there's something if I had more information.

2809 - Susan Thorpe

The CCC resident survey was wrongly reported in local media, claiming Climate came high on the list of priorities of residents. After scrutiny of the results, it is clear that climate came seventh on the list, and the results were skewed to wrongly influence the public.

281 - Selwyn Gamble

If you're asking me a 23 year old young person to read the entire contents of a 310 page document to make an assessment on whether you got the balance right, I think there needs to be a deep reflection on Council's end about how to make their long term proposals accessible to our youth. Because if you think any young person is going to sit down and read 310 pages in their busy lives, you have another thing coming. Council needs to be more imaginative in their ways of presenting the Long Term plan proposals to young people, like taking key conversation points that may be of value to them and presenting them in schools. I have to say this is very unimaginative and unfortunately very expected.

293 - Monique van Veen

Kia ora, thank you for the chance to make this public submission, and for providing a comprehensive and helpful LTP consultation document.

>>>

Thanks to all involved in pulling this consultation together, to plan for a bright future for our awesome city.

3061 - David Hawke (Halswell Residents Association (Inc.))

The LTP consultation process

- a. During the LTP discussion, we don't like the way City Council's narrative has consistently referred to "rates" and "ratepayers", apparently forgetting that our city is one of "residents", some of whom happen to be "ratepayers".
- b. Although we appreciate the on-line tool as a way of finding relevant projects in our ward, the detail needed to make a submission is often lacking and there is no information on projects that have "dropped off" since the previous Long-Term Plan. An example we have found is Project 44710 Local cycle network Halswell to Hornby, but there could well be others.
- c. In many cases, the documentation lacks information on the allocation from the 2023/24 Annual Plan. Without this information, we cannot see whether allocations have gone up or down, or stayed the same.
- d. Furthermore, the background business cases for individual projects are not linked in the Draft LTP document. This makes it hard to see what benefit individual projects will bring to the city; or alternatively, where fallacious reasoning has been used to justify particular projects.

Action requested (17): Include information on projects removed from the previous LTP in documentation of future LTPs;

Action requested (18): Include links to business cases for individual projects in documentation of future LTPs and Draft Annual Plans.

3065 - Janet Wilson

I appreciate the effort put into encouraging participation and submissions. Website very helpful.

3085 - Jacqueline Sullivan

This survey is too long

31 - Gary Durey

[Grants and Funding > Events Ecosystem Funding]

As you only give 2 options and NOT a third option to reduce or stop event bids, this is evidence of fraud. Event bid funding must be reduced. Try to give options that don't show this consult process to be fraudulent and dishonest and disrespectful to the people of Christchurch.

>>>

It is a dishonest bit of propaganda and false information.

3187 - Debbie Hamilton

No just be mindful of your duty to your constituents and listen to their feedback

3240 - Sarah Brunton

This feedback survey was too long. I think many people would start but not complete their submission as they don't have the knowledge or capacity to answer all the questions.

337 - Debbie Jones

The format of your funding report makes it very difficult to get a good picture of where all the money is spent. The bubbles dont work. I would rather have a list of proposed projects so I can run my eyes down it. Having to click bubbles makes it hard to decide if the rates rise is appropriate when I cant even see the actual projects

3414 - Chrissie Williams

The pages in the consultation document on 'What matters most' do not reflect the results of the community engagement in 2023. In fact Climate Change was the most important, but you list it last on page 33.

3423 - James Upton

It is a well put together document and explains things in a good way. There are straight forward ways to go from overviews to detail. There is good information about what is expected to happen over the next decade, so provides good context for what is happening now.

3425 - Hugh Dacre

I am very concerned about what I might not know is missing. The way it is presented makes it difficult to find out what you don't know. The Arts Centre and Orana Park issues have only recently come to my notice.

3430 - Philippa Upton

Thanks for the time you've taken to provide the information for us to consider for our submissions, including the different formats and tools you've used to explain and clarify the proposed plan.

354 - Vivienne Allan

The percentages in 'spend' are rounded up which doesn't give a good enough picture of the financial facts.

I don't think you are going to take any notice of what I have written. I am putting my thoughts on paper because I pay rates and because I am a citizen of the city and have been since 1989.

3573 - Joyce Yager

This question feels designed to confuse and dupe residents. The plan needs revision per my detailed comments.

[Coder comment: In response to the question Are there any areas where you feel we should be reviewing the services we provide to reduce our costs throughout the Draft LTP 2024-2034?]

358 - Tamara Dauvergne

The way this question [Coder note: proposed average rates increase] is phrased is disingenuous and an insult to the intelligence of the people of Christchurch.

3582 - Cody Cooper

This question is worded in a very strange way. There is no option to say that it should be more, which I may have endorsed.

[Coder note: In response to average rates increase question]

3586 - Rachel Geddis

I would love to know the breakdown of my rates increases and what millions of dollars for roading actually means to me, so i can decide whether im happy to pay that amount, rather than asking us whether we agree to x millions of dollars. Am i prepared to pay an extra $1/month for roading is quite different to am i prepared to pay an extra $50/month for roading.

362 - Christine Stiles-Pickard

What is Te Kaka? Please be precise in what you are talking about and remember English is the international language. For some New Zealanders, even English is a second language

3627 - Patrick O'Kane

Please be transparent with the feedback you have received (without naming the people who gave it) so the public can see the feedback has been listened to and appropriately addressed

3637 - Sam Davidson

The reduction from two waterways ecologists to one is a decision that moves in the opposite direction of what is required for sustainable water management in Christchurch.

3695 - Pamela Pye

Council officers have done an excellent job of preparing the consultation documents but the feedback process is very complex and difficult to follow. A simplified Yes/No format (with space for comments) that matches a summary of proposed charges would be far more democratic.

375 - Alex McNeill

(I loved the infographic on pg 25. Beautiful summary, and 8pm made me laugh aloud)

3791 - Sandra Beltman

It would have been easier to answer some of these questions, if some of the details were included here within the submission form (like which 5 council properties?). Many people will not read the full or even part of the document, as it is so long.

>>>

[Grants & Funding > Events Ecosystem Funding]

[I wonder why there is not a further option given to us here - to reduce the spending on major and business events? ..as we have had in other category areas.

3825 - Justin Barton

Would be good to see more details on the sections labeled "other" as they continue to be relatively high.

3869 - Cam Parsonson

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Cathedral]

Most of the LTP document is handwaving and virtue signalling and has very little substance or any real information. The cathedral even appears in the council's logo and is the international tourism symbol of CHCH, regardless of any faith component; council should be involved more in the completion of this project.

3887 - Michael Patterson (Commodore Airport Hotel Ltd)

We wish the Councillors and Council Team well in going through this process.

3921 - Alison Loveridge

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Creating a Climate Fund], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > Coastal Hazards Adaptation & Adaptation Planning], [Transport > Transport (Operations)], [Resource Recovery > Resource Recovery (Capital)], [Parks > Other], [Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > City Planning]

No, climate change is going to require more adaptation/mitigation and spending should start sooner (later start is stated in the Vol 2 page 6, 36 etc). Expectations of timing of impacts are presented in a way that pushes out need for change rather than giving lower impacts that will occur soon.

The current plan makes it difficult to track exactly how much is being allocated to climate change as the budget figures tend to include climate related spending in with other spending on relevant areas such as transport, waste water management, flood preparedness, and so on.

3971 - Joseph Fullerton

Yes. I had to read thousands of pages (full plan, asset management plans, activity plans) to get this far in. You must not do this again. The consultation document didn't reflect those thousands of pages, and the language was overly bureaucratic. This is bad.

>>>

Yes. I had to read thousands of pages (full plan, asset management plans, activity plans) to get this far in. You must not do this again. The consultation document didn't reflect those thousands of pages, and the language was overly bureaucratic. This is bad.

4001 - Jennifer Porter

Production of Discursion Document is unnecessarily POSH! Smaller look fewer pictures, less repetition, thinner paper. We don't need to be impressed but to SAVE.

402 - Cynthia Charron

I just want to pass on my thanks to the CCC staff who have done a huge amount of work presenting all of the relevant LTP information on the council website, so that residents can understand the issues and build better-informed views.

403 - Paul Davis

I am quite disillusioned about the whole process. The council makes a great show of having community input, and then just does whatever it wants - which seems to be capturing a greater and greater share of the local economy.

477 - Niki Davidson

I felt there was lack of recognition given to the wider Canterbury region in this document. It often referred to Christchurch- councils responsibilities are much wider than just Christchurch.

505 - Laura Jones

I do not know what the parking charges at Parks means ...I cannot see it on CCC website re parks

527 - Hans Daellenbach

[Grants & Funding > Arts Centre]

The consultation document lacks detail. It reads more like extensive promotional material. Not a valid basis to give a judgement about balance. It remains largely silent about options and spending alternatives that were not considered or ruled out. A case in point is the renewed funding for the Arts Centre. What is the justification not to continue support for the Arts Centre Foundation that currently looks after the the centre and does an admirable job?

>>>

On the basis of the Longterm Plan, I have not basis to judge that.

[Coder note: In response to the question "Are we prioritising the right things?"]

531 - Cameron Bradley

[Fees and Charges>Other; Fees and Charges >Libraries Charges]

I support the first 25 pages of proposed fees and charges. In saying that you need to realise that in this day and age it is bad that I even need to read 25 pages of proposed fees and charges. Please consider either making the data available for people to interrogate themselves, or providing aggregated figures in order to make an informed decision in an easier manner.

>>>

I think this type of consultation is harmful to the long term interests of Christchurch. The documents are huge and complex, the trade-offs between costs and benefits (and the costs resulting in inaction) are not made clear, and the changes from the last plan, the opportunities not taken, and the risks/costs not addressed are not visible. The plan should evaluate and communicate how well the plan works towards the vision, desired community outcomes, so-called strategic priorities, and targets we have. For example, this plan takes us well past 2030 and our associated carbon emission targets however I cannot see if this plan is expected to achieve this or not. Finally, this plan should be an opportunity for communities to bring new initiatives to life that do not otherwise have a home within CCC. Like other local governments, CCC is working in a very difficult landscape, and it searching internally hard to solve some of these. But many of the solutions to problems CCC has will not come from within CCC, and there are many people in the communities who belong to CCC who will know how to do things better, either incrementally or radically. CCC should seek to find those opportunities, and enable and support communities to deliver them.

532 - Chris Abbott

when completing the response, unlike many consultation documents during the year, there was no ability to save and return. This put time pressure on me to complete in one session. This is REALLY UPSETTING I assume that my submission will be emailed to me. If so, this should have been advised at the start of the response

540 - Ross Allen

I note that the proposed rates increase is shown as 13% in 2024/25 declining to 5% three years later and down to 1% after ten years. I presume this doesn't include inflation, in which case it's misleading. On the other hand, the 30yr capex infrastructure chart with and without inflation is very helpful for understanding the plan.

570 - Greg Partridge

Do away with the "bubble map". It's not user friendly and is not easy to navigate in order to find information.

590 - Grant Hartley

See my earlier comments. There should be a reverse option with these surveys.

[Coder note: In response to earlier comments about reversing speed restriction policies and road changes]

746 - Lara Flavell

[Rates > Residential]

This question is deceiving - the 13.24% increase is not just to maintain EXISTING services & investment in core infrastructure.

785 - Ariana Tikao

Thank you for the opportunity to contribute to this feedback process on the Draft Long Term Plan. Kā mihi nui ki a koutou, kā kaimahi o te Kaunihera o Ōtautahi.

817 - Paul Christensen

[Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

Effects on Climate change are not integrated into the documents. It would be useful if effects on emissions were included for the projects, as well as costs.

>>>

The documents would be more useful if effects on GHG emissions were included for the programs/projects so that ratepayers could judge on that basis, as well as costs

>>>

Reducing emissions to mitigate climate change has not been integrated into this document. The Council will not reach emissions reduction targets if they are not part of all planning.

>>>

The document does not show effects on green house gas emissions for the programmes. Without this information, ratepayers cannot make choices based on emissions, only cost. This should be required for Council documents in the future, so the Council can work towards its climate change targets. Climate change is not built into the planning.

840 - Kim Morton (Ōtautahi Creative Spaces)

We found it difficult to work out from the LTP documents how much is invested in art, culture, creativity and ngā toi across all Council service (noting the significant investment in Christchurch Art Gallery and Christchurch City Libraries which we fully support). We'd really like to see this picture shared with the public, including the Strengthening Communities Fund, the Events and Festivals Fund, the Urban Design/Regeneration Team's Place Partnership Fund and the events budget.

868 - Lucas Moreno

Yes. You need to start making these kind of feedback binding after certain % of people has one way or the other view. Otherwise it is a waste of money (i.e. my rates!).

Engagement & Communications (General)

General Comments

59 submissions were received about Council engagement & communications (general).

0 comments supported Council engagement & communications (general), and 3 comments opposed.

34 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 25 comments provided general feedback addressing Council engagement & communications (general).

Officer Response

Of the submitters who commented on the LTP consultation, a number had specific comments on the LTP Consultation Document, draft documents and/or bubbles tool.

- Those that were positive included comments such as the Consultation Document was “comprehensive”, “clear” and “helpful”.
- Those that were negative (either about the Consultation Document in general or on a specific point or question) or neutral, had suggestions for things we could do differently.

The remaining submitters provided comments on the Council’s engagement and communication in general. Key themes from these comments include:

- The requirement for better engagement, especially with rangitahi/youth and hard to reach audiences (including suggestions for how we could improve).
- More use of existing networks to reach more residents e.g. making the most of existing residents’ associations.
- The importance of transparency, and good communication.
- Dissatisfaction with engagement on specific transport projects.
- Distrust in, and scepticism of Council decision-making.

This LTP we received a number of comments about the length and complexity of the Consultation Document, and the difficulty of having to read vast amounts of information in order to answer the questions asked as part of the consultation document.

Our challenge with the Consultation Document is that, as a legislative document, there is information that has to be included, and we are audited accordingly to make sure we are meeting the requirements of the Local Government Act. For a council of our size, this can make it difficult to streamline information, and it certainly has an impact on the length of the document.

To help mitigate this, we try to provide information on the LTP in a range of formats, to suit different audiences, and different levels of involvement (from light touch to deep dive).

Hard copy

- The Consultation Document, and Draft LTP (in two volumes) were available at Council libraries and service centres and in-person events. We also produced a large print version of the Consultation Document.
- A four-page A4 flyer, with key information for people who wanted a quick overview of the LTP and how to have their say, was also available at libraries and service centres and in-person events.
- The submission form was available as a separate document available at Council libraries and service centres, and at in-person events.

Online

- All the information from the Consultation Document was available as web pages at ccc.govt.nz/longtermplan. Our pages had 22,526 views, and 16,320 visits from 11,539 visitors.

- The Consultation Document, Draft LTP (volumes 1 and 2) and supporting information was available as PDFs to download.
- Information on capital and operational expenditure was available in the PDF documents, and also within the LTP online 'bubbles' tool. While we acknowledge the bubbles tool doesn't suit everyone, it does provide an interactive way of visualising proposed budgets for both capital and operational spend at an activity and project level. This year, users were able to view the capital programme by both groups of activities and community board area. We had a total of 2,447 users, and 30,916 views, with an average engagement duration of 3 minutes 31 seconds.

In person

- Engagement staff attended over 40 in person community events, including advertised sessions at libraries that were often also attended by local Councillors.
- There were also more than 40 community board-led events, including drop-in sessions, community meetings and markets.
- At the Student Strike for Climate rally staff were on the ground handing out information about the LTP and how to make a submission. We also held a session with Councillors at the University of Canterbury, and attended a GenZ event to encourage youth participation in the LTP.

Static displays

- Two static displays were 'on tour' around all Council libraries throughout the consultation period. The display included all print material, touch screens with the 'bubbles tool' on display, a token exercise asking a single question about levels of spending, and drop boxes for completed submission forms.

Promotion

- To help get the word out, we advertised the LTP consultation in The Press, the Star, community newspapers and the Akaroa Mail. We also had radio advertising across the major networks, and digital advertising (online and on billboards).
- To support this, we also had a series of stories on our online news platform, Newline, and social media posts on the Council channels (Facebook, Instagram and Tiktok).

This LTP we received almost 7,000 submissions – significantly more than the 2382 we got in the 2021–2031 LTP.

Notwithstanding what we did for this LTP, we are always looking for ways we can improve our LTP consultation, and are open to suggestions for how we can be more effective. This is true too for all our engagement and communications.

We are committed to listening to our residents, acting on what they tell us, and engaging with them on decision-making. We are also always on the lookout for ways we can make the most of engagement tactics and new technology to encourage participation.

We have taken onboard feedback for how we could engage more effectively, particularly with rangitahi/youth, multicultural communities, the disability sector and residents' associations, and how we can make our engagement and communications more accessible to a wider audience.

We received comments from some submitters about concerns about predetermination, and that providing feedback is pointless as the Council will not listen to what they have to say.

On that point, the Mayor and Councillors have not already made up their mind on any of the matters consulted on in the Draft Long Term Plan. The Mayor and Councillors will consider all submissions received before making their final decision towards the end of June.

That the Council requests staff to report back on:

A111a. The Citizens Experience Programme with options on how this work programme can be accelerated to continue to promote engagement, improve accessibility, raise levels of public trust and increase overall efficiency, by May 2024.

Digital Citizen Experience

Staff have developed a business case which proposes an agile approach to addressing improvements in citizen engagement, accessibility, trust and efficiency through the development of online tools and experiences. This is designed to accelerate implementation by focusing on specific improvements for a designated short period of work, then moving to the next highest priority. Funding for this is included in the proposed digital budget in the LTP and the project has been approved by ELT subject to Councillor adoption of the LTP. Examples would include enabling online self-service for rates, dog registration, bookings etc. A full briefing on the project will be provided to Councillors following LTP adoption.

Oppose

2802 - Yvonne Palmer

CONSULTATION FOR PROJECTS IS NOT GOOD ENOUGH AS PER THE LOCAL GOVERNMENT AND COMMUNITY BOARDS NEEDS TO DELIVER THIS BETTER. COMMUNITIES AND NEIGHBOURHOODS NEED CONSULTING ON PROJECTS ETC AND IF THIS WAS DONE BETTER. MORE TRUST WOULD BE SEEN BY THE RATEPAYERS AND RESIDENTS.

>>>

WHAT MATTERS MOST Good consultation with the ratepayers and residents so trust and the community know what is happening plus that the information is correct also.

>>>

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Engagement & Communications (General)]

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration>Heritage (Strategic)]

THERE ARE ONE HERITAGE HOUSE AND ONE HERITAGE COTTAGE THAT HAS HAD NO TENANTS FOR ALMOST TEN (10) YEARS ON MAIN NORTH ROAD BELFAST. ALONG WITH A MUSEUM FACILITY. WHY HAS THIS NOT

BEEN RENTED OUT TO SUITABLE TENANTS WHICH WOULD PROVIDE ACCOMMODATION WHEN THERE IS A SHORTAGE. PLUS KEEP THE BUILDINGS IN GOOD CONDITION.

I am very disappointed that staff who promise to get back to me when I have made contact about knowing suitable tenants who have needed accommodation failing to make no effort to ring or email me with an answer. Not good enough!!!!

3127 - Dianne Downward

Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)

Church corner intersection had expensive plans and a video made before any consultation with the community and then only ONE option was presented when others were suggested. Ilam Road cycleway - locals views were dismissed because all will use the cycleway, yet when it came to Church Corner intersection the local view was the only important viewpoint even though this intersection is used by people from all over Christchurch. No consistency.

3936 - Carley Dove-McFalls

[Other/Special Interest Topics > LTP Consultation]

The CCC must make its submission process much more accessible and do work to engage younger generations and marginalised voices in this submission process. This work is often done by other organisations, when it should be the council's engagement team that does this mahi.

Other

1229 - Cassandra Albert

Real "participatory democracy" for youth before the next Annual Plan - we need to consider how our youth engage with their environment, including policy and council planning. If you have to come to Council and write out a form every time there's a new plan, youth will never get a chance to have a say on the future because it isn't how they operate. Real "participatory democracy" for the wider community - CCC needs to consider less engaged communities and make an active effort increase engagement. receives fewer submissions from less engaged communities, including making the documents language less formalistic and more accessible.

1833 - Mary McKeown

Discussion - should be in open meetings. No behind closed doors decisions please.

1876 - Mika Clapson

* Increase engagement with communities & provide us info clearly & concisely so we have a real chance to understand & have a say on plans

2013 - Rata Harper

Documents regarding policies are too long and worded in a complicated way, making them largely inaccessible for the average person - an effort needs to be made to make these more accessible, and to ~~both~~ engage with more communities.

2086 - Hao Ning Tan

- Please reach out to communities that often struggle to be heard. Rangatahi/youth, and fangatahi whenua need to be included in ways that they are comfortable engaging with.

>>>

- Please empower the marginalized to participate in decision making.

Do you support the submission of Strike For Climate Ōtautahi?

2089 - Serge Ratten

Simplified processes

Vote on line.

>>>

→ I loved the 2020 Referendum were I got to vote ~~fore~~ end of live and legalise cannabis we should do that all the time on every topic - and do it online - ~~once~~ a month make it vote day like its a big event

2109 - Te Aomihia Te Huia

MORE KANOHĪ TE KANOHĪ

2183 - Hali Stauffer

I'd like to highlight several critical areas that Council should prioritise: 1. Real "participatory democracy" for rangatahi and the wider community: It's essential to foster genuine engagement, particularly from underrepresented communities, to ensure a diverse range of voices are heard in decision-making processes. Simplifying language and making documents more accessible will facilitate broader participation.

2300 - Katinka Visser

A handwritten note on lined paper. The text is written in black ink and reads: "Be open & honest. Communicate & don't hide the important issues - they are all important!!!". There are three exclamation points at the end of the sentence. The paper has horizontal lines and a vertical margin line on the left.

2385 - Ezra Mussa

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Consultation]

The LTP is 60 pages in consultation document, which doesn't reflect the full LTP. The full LTP is 500 pages, which doesn't explain the activity and asset management plans. To understand the LTP in full, thousands of pages must be read. CCC must do better; it must provide its LTPs in accessible form. The LTP is written in overly complex language. All future documents must be written in accessible language, with the help of CCC's Plain Language team.

CCC isn't doing enough to engage youth. In future, CCC should proactively engage communities in informal language in their own spaces. Examples include high schools and university campuses.

2503 - Lin Klenner (New Brighton Community Gardens)

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Governance]

The gardens would like to thank the engagement team, community board members and councilors for taking the time to talk to us and our wider community, provide information in person and online or via email. Its much appreciated.

2577 - Wendy and Verity Busby (Braingains Tutors)

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

We made a submission to protest the Wings to Wheels cycleway, and although we appreciate the team who considered our concerns about the safety of our students (and made suggestions to address some of those concerns), we feel the process as a whole was a waste of time, as the vast amount of opposition to the cycleway from the community was brushed under the carpet, and ignored.

2582 - Clive Busby

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

The council is supposed to represent its constituents, but they appear unconcerned about the wishes of those constituents. A large proportion of us never wanted the cycleway, but our concerns were absolutely ignored during the public consultation process, which seems to have been mere window-dressing, as the plan has been forced ahead, regardless of its effects on the community and the negative feedback of community members.

2690 - Robbie Dobbie

our day-to-day spending.

nd.
Faulty questioning on what matters most survey!

2693 - Tanya Markman

Your canvassing of opinion (with surveys, gatherings, and meetings) amounts to reaching approximately 1.4 % of the greater Christchurch population. This is not a large enough sample to accurately reflect the opinions of all citizens concerned. Increasing this level of reach is, in my opinion, critical for council – so that they can better reflect the “people” in their decisions. Including the viewpoints of residents at Ratepayer and Resident Association meetings could be one way of helping to achieve this.

2822 - Angela Leatherby

I think that we still need to work on how we consult with our residents. The current process is always only going to hear from those with the time and capacity to have their say. How do we hear from our residents that are time poor and too busy trying to make ends meet to spend 1/2 - 1 hour filling out an online submission? We need to be really creative here and I would suggest ask our rangatahi to help come up with the solution.

2832 - Riley Neupauer (University of Canterbury Green Party)

Fostering consistent community engagement with local politics is essential. The Christchurch City Council has been fairly adept in this regard, and should continue striving for progress. This needs to be done with a tactful understanding of new digital media, as communication is one of the most important components of the process. CCC should further explore ways to most effectively reach residents, encouraging democratic participation as much as possible. Events such as submission workshops and discussion panels are low-cost, high-engagement options for developing the relationship between Council and the citizens of Ōtautahi.

2868 - Jonty Coulson

I would also like to point out that the Long Term Plan is difficult to engage with for younger audiences. Having run and been privy to LTP workshops at university and with school strike for climate, I am disappointed that there is no abbreviated format aimed at younger submitters, with even the consultation document being 60 pages.

3028 - Steve Taylor

Are we prioritising the right things?

More communication

3047 - Mark Christensen (Project Oversight Group of Pest Free Banks Peninsula and Towards Pest Free Waitaha)

Towards Pest Free Waitaha

- Professional communications advice to the POG from 1 July 2024, including how best to engage with/enthuse residents who are not already involved in pest control.

[Full attachment available]

3053 - Drucilla Kingi-Patterson

You need better and more engagement with the wider communities not just major stakeholders.

[Full attachment available]

322 - Richie Connell

That's difficult to answer with one paragraph about what matters most! However, there needs to be more community engagement >>> outside core public infrastructure and services funding.

340 - David Wilkinson

mini referenda on if council should do things like support arts centre or own an otago airport.

3417 - Jack McConnell

I was a part of the School Strike on April 5th. There was genuine participatory democracy with the youth sitting in the council building and filling out 70+ submissions sheets. But, If we have to come to Council and write out a form every time there's a new plan, youth will never get a chance to have a say on the future. CCC still receives fewer submissions from less engaged communities. CCC needs to make an actual effort to engage communities, including making the documents language less formalistic and more accessible. Furthermore, I want to state my support for the SS4C (School Strike For Climate) submission, and the submission by UC Climate Action Club.

3552 - Alice Neylon

[Transport > Transport (Operations)]

The 'value' should be determined by the ratepayers. We've seen many projects that seem to cost a lot but are not in the best interest of the ratepayers. In particular, the safety improvements to the intersections are done with no result reporting. I personally feel the intersection that was adjusted near my home is now more unsafe than ever before. The speed bumps make people more desperate to get across the intersection with less care. The money should have been spent on widening the intersection and allowing an additional lane for turning traffic. This is 1 small example of where the council goes ahead with their plans with no reflection on the results of previous trials.

3623 - Jessica Adams

The Council needs to provide ratepayers with an effective way of communicating where there are urgent concerns, not just the online lodge a complaint and the Council might get back to reply in 20 days. In some circumstances there can be property damage or other matters that require urgent action and, at present, there is no process for ratepayers to follow to be heard.

3646 - Thomas Blakie

More funding should go to community engagement, especially dedicated funds for engaging with diverse communities such as Māori and young people.

>>>

There should be priority with additional funding to partner with our diverse communities such as Māori and young people, running events and engagements, involving them in policy making ect.

3668 - Gavin Hardie

It is disappointing to learn that the CCC Team is not having workshops so they learn how to work together and make good decisions for the Citizens of Christchurch. Regular Training Workshops are important to ensure good democratic decision-making for all citizens not just some who also share "PARTY AFFILIATIONS".

3799 - Morgane Honore (Richmond Community Garden Trust)

What we mean by continued support is; >>>

An environment of collaboration rather than the top heavy approach that is often applied, there are many people working in our communities who are passionate, highly skilled and can turn a CCC investment into much more value.

- Better engagement with communities to capture local knowledge to create better outcomes for all.

3949 - Fay Brorens

It is important local groups are consulted - there is so much conspiracy and I think the fear and lack of trust is highly problematic

3961 - Paul Robertson

Less on glossy brochures, PR, tokenistic consultation that council takes little if any notice of.

3968 - Joseph Fullerton (UC Climate Action Club)

[Strategic Direction > Our Treaty Relationships]

- CCC must be more serious about its Te Tiriti commitments. For example on Vol 1, page 126, it says that a mitigation for urupa being threatened by sea level rise is that historic confiscations took place. This is absurdly inappropriate, and CCC must immediately put money into protecting these historic sites as it would for Pākehā cemeteries.
- CCC must immediately instate a Māori ward.

- Since CCC has now had several years of preliminary work on the Ōtākaro Co-Governance Entity, and CCC has maintained control over an area of significance to mana whenua for decades, the Ōtākaro Co-Governance entity should be established in 2024 or 2025 at the latest.

448 - Nick Campbell

Involving communities in decisions about proposed changes ect is aimless if the CCC has already made their decision. Halswell residents have been asked a few times about proposed changes, of which we have been vocal about however the CCC has gone ahead literally just a few days after we were ever notified meaning CCC must have already made a decision prior.

645 - Stewart Mckenzie

[Other/Special Interest Topics > LTP Consultation]

Well done on pulling the plan together and communicating it

Not Stated

1053 - Melissa Tauwhare

Definitely do not agree with your definition of ethnicity - or the term "common culture" in the way it is worded. Let's not forget Tangata Whenua.

135 - Jac Call

Communication is the key. Communicate, Communicate with us your bosses as we pay your wages through our rates.

>>>

Ask for feedback more about areas of safety, sustainable for our city.

Community residents associations need to be approached more for discussion and thoughts. After all they know their community best!

1618 - Zachary Imhoof

Real “participatory democracy” for the wider community. CCC still receives fewer submissions from less engaged communities. CCC needs to make an actual effort to engage communities, including making the documents language less formalistic and more accessible. This is where you ask those creatives. they know how to design engaging information.

1619 - David Hera

The CCC consistently receives fewer submissions from less engaged communities. It is crucial for the CCC to actively seek out these communities' participation, including simplifying the language of official documents to make them more understandable and accessible.

1826 - Jacqui Hudson

Needs more consultation on what needs to happen and all done at one time

1998 - Grace Robinson

Furthermore, the Council must prioritize >>> youth engagement in its plans.

2540 - Jocelyn and Caroline Papprell and Syddall

We would however like to see greater community engagement and participation in decision-making. There is a wealth of innovative and creative ideas waiting to be tapped into within the community.

2817 - Emma Twaddell (St Albans Residents' Association)

We appreciate your continued effort to improve consultation process

We appreciate your continued effort to improve consultation process

2835 - Emma Rodriguez Dos Santos

Thanks for providing the consultation document as a booklet, and the interactive bubble tool to enable us to see what the spend is on different themes and categories, plus projects alongside each other within a theme. Please make this available permanently, not just for the LTP. It was pleasing to see local Councillors working hard to ensure the community had lots of opportunities to engage in the process.

3129 - Skye Arnopp

Please continue to consult and engage with the general public as these plans proceed.

338 - Jennifer Riley

Also, the city needs to seriously consider a rebrand to Ōtautahi. The name Christchurch is outdated, irrelevant now that the cathedral is not progressing and it's reputation has been seriously tarnished by the mosque attacks.

340 - David Wilkinson

[Grants & Funding > Arts Centre Funding]

why are we not supporting arts centre but spending a fortune on Museum? If we can only afford one it should be the arts centre - this is the kind of thing we should be consulted on.

3498 - Lucas Tomasi

Please stop pouring money into just updating the website or re branding

3582 - Cody Cooper

I would like to see a clearer breakdown of rates inline with what they actually go to, aka. A rates receipt. Too often people underestimate the amount spent on things (like roads) and overestimate the amount spent on others (like cycleways). If people could see their rates Billie 25% roads, 35% water, etc, it would help go some way towards the explaining increases and promote further trust in council. It would also be good to have visibility of the increase for that individual area.

>>>

[Transport > Other]

I was extremely disappointed to see that staff could not supply any detail behind the proposal to spend, or not, millions of dollars on local cycle connections. How can we arrive at a number without any detail? No ratepayer can have confidence in the capital programme after having known this. Trust in Council is at a low point and this was shown even in Councils own survey if staff thought Council was open. Do better. Please fix the streetlights not working down the end of Wilmers Road. This has been reported several times across multiple years. I've had staff call about it but no resolution. Surely it's not that hard or expensive to change a lightbulb.

>>>

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Governance]

Reduce roading renewals overall by using the drop-a-pin style of feedback. This would show council is engaged and listening, as well as give residents a sense of satisfaction from that work being done. When designing reading network changes, ask CB for feedback first on areas they think should be focused on.

Staff and CB should be working in partnership for our community. Too often staff design, send for consult and THEN to CB only for the work to be rejected or require further amendments. I think everyone can agree we'd rather spend +$2m on shovels in the ground than an extra $2m on design before we even start doing anything. Reduce the re-work.

3615 - Janine Clarke

Adopt bottom up budgeting Work with communities to develop community / public funding (as opposed to private / public funds) to enable community lead projects to go ahead. e.g. Diamond Harbour Medical Centre.

>>>

One of the other great things about coming back to NZ is the level of engagement there is between the public and the council / politicians - it is imperative not to fall into the trap of "doing everything" for the individuals / community as this leads to expectations that it is the council / governments role to fulfil everyone's needs, but not at the taxpayers expense!! Therefore it is imperative that the public are kept up to date on what the money they pay for in taxes and rates is actually spent on (hence an itemised rate payers bill saying how much each month I have paid for water, waste transport etc is helpful), after all we pay for example $1k-3k / year on our electricity bills and that is only to provide one service, so itemising the rates bill helps people put into perspective what they are actually paying for.

>>>

Keep up the community engagement. Feedback and details of expenditure are important Use as many methods of communication to get people involved The council should be seen as part of the community (as the Fire service is for example), not standing separate to it, and not "knowing what's best for it".

3621 - Morgane Honore

Collaborative Approach: Adopting a collaborative approach to community engagement can harness the expertise and passion of community members, leading to more effective utilization of council investments and better outcomes for all stakeholders. Community Engagement: Enhancing engagement with local communities is essential for capturing valuable local knowledge and insights. This approach ensures that council initiatives are aligned with community needs and priorities.

>>>

Community Engagement: It's crucial for the council to continue engaging with the community throughout the planning process. Ensuring transparency, accessibility, and inclusivity in decision-making will help build trust and ownership of the plan among residents.

3662 - Joan Blatchford

Building trust and confidence in the Council. To assist in this, the consultation processes need to be more honest. A lot of the mistrust relates to consultation processes where the outcomes are not what the majority wanted but often I think the council is less than transparent in telling the citizens about the Government or Council policies which have to be adhered and which then limit the possible outcomes. The latest is the changes to speed limits which are policy driven.

3670 - Joscelyne Silcock

Every thing is online if one knows how to navigate the council website. It is not easy, especially for those without a home computer. Large documents are difficult to manage on smart phones

3868 - Don Gould

I would also like to ask for a cap on asking, requiring me to pay for arguments. For example, the Harewood cycleway project has basically cost me $4.3 million for a massive argument, this has to stop.

>>>

My reading of the local government act doesn't require the CCC to spend as much on public engagement as it does, nor does it require staff to make such a meal of it.

Members we have elected you to voice our views at the table. If we don't choose to engage with you, and most don't (most don't even know who you are) then that's our choice. This doesn't mean that staff need to be tasked with constantly trying to drive up our engagement. As a community we are mostly mature adults. If we actually have a problem we will come and find you, we have in the past. We have protested, we have held public meetings.

Currently the spending on engagement is out the gate and that needs to stop.

4016 - Joanne Zervos

Reduce council engagement with school children & defer that funding towards targeting adults through paper copies, letter box drops & community meetings.
eg. Aranui Streets project - lots of input from school students and lots of dissatisfaction from adults when changes were made.

4034 - Remy Barbier

Giving people a strong sense of community through participation at a community board or neighbourhood level is critical to our social fabric. Please focus on that.

4264 - Sam Newton (Recreation Aotearoa)

78. Recreation Aotearoa submit on the importance of genuinely consulting and collaborating with people with disabilities and their whānau, and encourage Christchurch City to continue such comprehensive accessible, and inclusive consultation processes within the design, development, and upgrades of the recreation spaces specified within the LTP.

79. We further submit our support for maintaining collaboration with people with disabilities throughout the duration of such projects and warn of the risk of only consulting with end-users at the beginning of a project, or after it is too late. Maintaining ongoing input from the disability community and advisory groups at regular intervals, is an essential principle to imbed within the project developments.

80. Alongside robust processes for maintaining collaboration with people with disabilities, Recreation Aotearoa also submits its support for ensuring there are processes stipulated in policy whereby people with disabilities can notify council of any barriers to accessing recreation places, spaces, and programmes. This includes aligned procedures of how such barrier will be addressed and remediated by council.

[Full Attachment Available]

481 - Tommy Ng

Be more efficient and effective by engaging with the public more often

CCHL Matters

General Comments

34 submissions were received about other CCHL matters.

1 comment provided support of other CCHL matters, and 0 comments were in opposition.

20 comments suggested what could be done differently, and 15 comments provided general feedback addressing other CCHL matters.

Officer Response

Many of these submissions related to operational decisions at CCHL's operating companies, rather than Council actions (e.g. several submissions wanted LPC to stop serving ZIM, an Israeli shipping company).

Matters relevant to CCC's Letter of Expectations to CCHL were:

- CCHL Group's commercial activity should be focussed on Christchurch, not nation-wide (e.g. City Care).
- The CCHL investment in Christchurch Adventure Park should be exited.
- Council's Letter of Expectations process should have more input from external stakeholders (e.g. Living Wage Movement).
- CCHL Group companies should be required to commit to greenhouse gas emissions targets, in line with Council's targets.

One submission considered that the CCHL strategic review should have been continued, similar to a review at Auckland Council.

It can be difficult for all submitters to know the boundary between Council's role as the ultimate owner and the respective Boards' responsibility as the governors of each entity in the CCHL Group.

Relating to the Letter of Expectation-type matters raised:

- Most CCHL Group activities do focus on Christchurch, at least primarily. However, it is noted the majority of CityCare's revenue is earned outside the city. The reason for CityCare's commercial activities outside the district City is to give it scale and enable it to earn a greater return on its investment as fixed costs can be spread over a greater revenue base, and it is not clear whether a focus on purely local revenues would give it sufficient economies of scale to remain a viable business.
- The Adventure Park investment was effectively a rescue, to prevent its permanent closure following disruptions from the 2017 Port Hills fires and Covid. CCHL's long-term plans may be signalled in its up-coming Statement of Intent (due by the end of June 2024).
- The Letter of Expectations process is by which Council provides its expectations to the CCHL Board, and CCHL reflect these expectations in its Statement of Intent with Council, which is a public process.
- CCHL Group entities have committed to reducing greenhouse gas emissions ahead of, or in alignment with, science-based reductions targets to limit warming to 1.5 degrees (CCHL SOI 2024, page 33). CCHL also has climate related disclosures it is required to make which provides visibility on its progress on this matter.

Support

3035 - Claire Coveney

All ships that arrive at Ohinehou, Lyttelton have to pay a levy for their carbon footprint and pollution.

I would like to see heavier fines for polluters of rivers and the harbour. I have seen footage of dust flying off ships and it seems the Ports guidelines for what is allowed to go in the river are too low. We need to listen to the public and hold businesses accountable for pollution. Heavier fines.

Other

1362 - Pablo Rodriguez

No more ZIM ships!

1527 - Rob Beechey

My third point I plucked from your strategic priorities was to "Champion Ōtautahi-Christchurch?"

Who gave you the right to rename Christchurch Ōtautahi without public consent?

"Christchurch" was created by the early European settlers that carved out a city reminiscent of what they left behind. The naming of every new build in Maori is an affront to our early pioneers.

Christchurch is not geysers land. Move to Rotorua if that's what you want. Have you ever thought of adopting the ship names that brought these early settlers to our shore?

The obliteration of our true history is pure political interference and has no place in council.

1

>>>

Stop rewriting our history and start honouring the pioneers that built Christchurch.

1695 - Jordan Wyatt

I'd like to see more long term investment in >>> power >>> [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)] [Three Waters > Water Supply (Capital)]

1709 - Aaron Cumming

You need to redirect some of the profits from your corporate arm into public projects and if you cant do this sell them as you obviously not suited to the corporate world. These companies are owned by the ratepayer and we should be benefiting from their profits. [Other/Special Interest Topics > Staff Matters]

1870 - Sharmilla Freeman

CCC should not be accepting bloodied ships from ZIM at Lyttelton port. No more ZIM ships.

2166 - Wendy Everingham

I don't think the council should own the Christchurch Mountain Bike Park

2213 - Nathaniel Herz Jardine (Living Wage Aotearoa)

CCOs

In the Governance Group of Activities (page 159), we ask that you include as a negative social effect: "CCHL Letter of Expectation process lacks meaningful stakeholder engagement." And that you include as a mitigation: "include key stakeholders, including the Living Wage Movement, in the annual Letter of Expectation drafting process."

>>>

Christchurch City Holdings Limited (CCHL)

CCC has been calling for CCHL to implement Living Wage provisions since 2018. Mayor Phil Mauer committed to CCHL accreditation prior to his election in 2022. In this year's CCHL Letter of Intent, it remained unclear whether City Care contractors, Enable subcontractors, and LPC contractors were receiving a Living Wage. It is time that a clear deadline is provided for CCHL to fully comply with Accreditation standards. We call on CCC to include the Living Wage Movement as a key stakeholder in the Letter of Expectation process, to ensure that CCHL is given clear direction on this issue. Too many essential infrastructure workers at our port, maintenance and fibre companies remain in a state of financial insecurity to allow the status quo to continue.

[Coder Note: Full attachment available]

2393 - Coralie de La fage

the services provided are very limited due to the monopole of city care for all city maintenance. The city maintenance should be tendered every year so that whoever does it put their best foot forward. I'm gutted every time I see CityCare workers floating around, taking half a day to clean one little corner of the street (Fendalton area). They have no incentive to do a good job in a timely manner as they know there is no competition... It's ridiculous.

2690 - Robbie Dobbie

All venues | events need to accept cash.

2810 - Kari Hunter

In order to reduce the City's GHG contribution to climate catastrophe, we need you (Council) to require all Council-owned companies to plan for reducing the GHG emissions they produce or enable by at least 50% by 2030 and by at least 70% by 2034. We also need you to require that they quickly phase out activities that cause serious harm to biodiversity in other ways. This means that: Christchurch Airport needs to reduce the GHG emissions it produces and enables via flights etc. There is no technology available in the near-enough future to replace current fossil-fuelled flights. Sustainable Aviation Fuel" is green-wash term—biofuels are neither low emissions nor sustainable; electric flight cannot replace more than a small portion of near-future flights. There is no place for a new airport, or extension to the existing one. Lyttelton Port needs to move quickly to stop enabling cruise ships, trawlers, coal exports, etc. Cruise ships emit huge amounts of GHGs, and pollute the sea and air. Trawlers destroy seabed ecosystems—perhaps permanently—and release large amounts of CO2 into the atmosphere. Council's LTP must be adapted for changes to income from Council-owned companies. Making the changes above will affect income streams from these companies.

2845 - Erin Todd

More value can come from existing assets - for example, introducing levies on flights in and out of Christchurch Airport

2847 - Colleen Philip (Sustainable Ōtautahi Christchurch)

Port - environmental levy on cruise ships. Make the 'hold' on Tarras airport permanent! One asset we do support selling is the land bought for that. (We know it is ChCh Airport but Council have some role here.) Keep Orion in public ownership. So important, and they have a good record vis a vis engaging with community. [Strategic Direction > Community Outcomes & Strategic Priorities] [Other/Special Interest Topics > Tarras Airport] [Strategic Direction > Climate Change] [Libraries > Libraries (Operations)] [Parks > Other Red Zone Areas]

2849 - Patrick Dunford

The Council should be going much further and selling off all the Christchurch Airport commercial property portfolio which is worth nearly a billion dollars, selling the stadium site at Addington and selling the old Red Bus site in Ferry Road. The question of whether the council should own its current level of shareholding in the airport should also be considered. >>> [Revenue > Disposal of Red Zoned Land]

3055 - Josephine Drysdall

I urge the Council to consider >>> an entry/exit fee at Christchurch Airport.

3206 - John Gudgeon

[Borrowing & Debt Management > Borrowing & Debt Management]

CCHL, the property holding company (airport, port, Enable, Orion etc) should not be milked for more dividends. They need to maintain their assets; not run them down to support unsustainable spending.

3550 - Sam Hewitt

[Planning & Strategic Transport, Urban Design, & Urban Regeneration > City Planning]

The council should prioritize the building of medium density and affordable homes. The council should not wait for property developers to deem affordable medium density housing profitable, but should investigate its own provision through CCHL.

>>>

[Revenue > Disposal of Red Zoned Land]

As above I think the council or CCHL should aim to develop this land before ever considering selling it off.

>>>

[Revenue > Disposal of Red Zoned Land]

I don't think the council should sell any of its assets unless it absolutely cannot find any use for them. I think the council should bring community housing under its own CCHL wing. Many of these properties would make good land for residential developments, and could provide affordable housing for many people.

3881 - Anne Scott

We are in a transformational phase where everything is moving to electric. The faster we stop burning stuff the better. I am concerned about our reliance on Orion's ability to provide the infrastructure to support this change at the speed required. It is essential that they are able to get access to the capital that they need or they will hold up the adoption of technology needed to deliver the emissions reductions needed (for example EV charging and the adoption of solar). If CCC is reliant on dividends and Orion's ability to borrow is capped, this could be very problematic. Businesses could move to areas that can provide the energy they require outside of Christchurch. I have heard a rumour we have electric buses that are not being used because there is no power supply to charge them. This is not acceptable.

3956 - Nicola McCormick

Receiving income through businesses where the council is a shareholder should be a priority

4025 - Robin Wynne-Williams

The CCC owned businesses to be more economically productive and if not why not?

>>>

Establish a coastal shipping service, reinstate a career pathway for seamanship and establish a maritime school in ChCh or Lyttelton, and teach nautical studies, etc. - Reinststate the NZ shipping co which was established in ChCh in about 1875-80

- Establish a dry dock, and an ocean going tug.

- Establish a Lyttelton boat building and ship repair service which has apparently died.

ChCh International Airport, needs to see the news today Friday 19/4/24 re Auckland's international airport setng up direct flights and becoming an international business hub for India, South America etc. Grow, think big or ChCh becomes an rural, irrelevant provincial city, because Central government has "for ever" not given a toss about ChCh, I don't know why, meaning ChCh has to promote itself, and get back "the pioneering spirit" with the "if not why not way of thinking" and if no obvious reason for a party, then create one" or get left behind!!

Not Stated

1452 - Maraed Riley

Direct Lyttelton Port Company to stop servicing genocide — no more ZIM ships ZIM is an Israeli shipping company that's delivering weapons and goods for the State of Israel's genocide against the Palestinians. CCC can and should tell LPC that we can't accept their bloodied ships here!

1876 - Mika Clapson

★ No more ZIM ships! Stop supporting genocide

2043 - Philippa Cosgrove

No more ZIM ships in Lyttelton Port

2110 - Jennifer McMaster

And NO MORE ZIM SHIPS IN LYTTELTON!

2183 - Hali Stauffer

I'd like to highlight several critical areas that Council should prioritise: 9. Advocacy against supporting genocide: Council should take a stand against companies facilitating human rights abuses, such as ZIM ships, and advocate for ethical business practices in the port sector.

2448 - Barrie Uren

Christchurch INC should be under the city holdings and not a separate identity.

Directors Fees should be done away with CCL holding companies

3444 - Jo McGregor

CCHL have been told to employ people based on diversity, not their credentials. How ridiculous.

3535 - Anna Harper

Focus on electricity security.

3609 - Laura Caygill

Just a general comment related to events, in that Venues Ōtautahi could do well to invest more in how they operate when full house events are on at the Town Hall - the offer and service during intervals on both floors is consistently woeful and could be greatly improved.

3613 - Catherine McLeavy

Review Venues Ōtautahi spend, and is there a need for Wolfbrook Arena with Te Kaha.

3631 - Charlotte Sparrow

I am disappointed that the CCHL Business Case was not continued and taken to the public as part of this LTP. CCC should be pursuing a CCHL model in line with Auckland's proposed future fund under which a significantly higher portfolio yield is used to reduce current rates.

3786 - Mark Nixon

[Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

The council and its companies (Christchurch Airport Ltd, Orion, etc) need to all take a leadership role in reducing their carbon emissions.

843 - Ngaire Donelda Bacon

Thank you for your submission. new Zealand is in a recession more land
For an airport has been purchased at the time The airports project director Michael Singleton said the terms of the debt were confidential. This whole fiasco just shows a distinct lack of respect for Christchurch ratepayers. While plans for this airport are currently on hold. How much has this scheme cost ratepayers already?
If this new airport is such a good idea, why haven't private developers taken it up? Building this airport will burden the ratepayers with unmanageably debt.

851 - Kevin Lamb

b. Statements of intent

Some of the CCO's contract work outside the council boundaries. Examples include City Care depots in Auckland, Clutha, Dunedin, Greytown, Masterton, New Plymouth, Palmerston North, Stratford, Tauranga, Timaru, Waikato, Wellington; Enable services to Selwyn and Waimakariri and the purchase of land by the Christchurch Airport in Tarras.

Quote by staff in 2021 – “Submissions concerning divestments and investments by Christchurch City Holdings Limited (CCHL) are a matter for the Board of CCHL.” This statement suggests ratepayers should be submitting to CCHL?

RECOMMENDATION:

A request be made by the council to Christchurch City Holdings Ltd to the draft statement of intent seeking all operations be moved back to the city boundary within five years.

[Coder Note: see full attachment]

Governance

General Comments

153 submissions were received addressing governance matters.

All 153 submissions provided general comments on governance matters.

Officer Response

This category variously makes observations about whether the submitter thinks members of the council are doing a good job; are listening to the public; are paid the right amount and how it is perceived to operate by taking advice from staff and making decisions in a transparent manner.

Some submitters chose to criticise Councillors decisions in relation to cycleways and the cost of rates increases. Although most comments expressed dissatisfaction, there were some positive submissions to the effect that the elected members (or some of them) are doing an effective job.

The responses in this category reflect the submitters' views on decisions councillors have taken and how they have taken them. It is a feature of democracy that not every decision the elected members take will be admired or respected by all residents.

Elected members have to take decisions based on the evidence and are free to make decisions that do not necessarily reflect the views of the residents. They are able to take into account rational factors to make decisions they consider are in the best interests of the community and the city as a whole.

The majority of submissions in the category primarily refer to another substantive issue and the comments regarding governance are incidental to their main talking point.

Not Stated

1030 - Andrea Gosney

Council is just a bunch of money wasting idealist dreamers who are not listening to residents

>>>

Get rid of environment Canterbury how much money was spent on researching lamprey in drains on marshland road that didn't exist!!!! It is a joke what people spending other peoples money justify

1050 - Ken Lloy

council is dominated by secular interest of the left and their total lack of financial responsibility, a prime example is the anti car mentality which transpires to anti business viability council has lost the moral mandate of the public, to be blunt just pigs in the trough

>>>

get real or face the wrath of the rate payer

1135 - Callum Wood

[Transport>Roads (Capital)]; [Transport>Transport (Operations)] procurement requires a complete review and changes would make massive differences as noted; contracts re-tendered to avoid cost escalations or just stopped in year 3 totally for a year (reseals and renewals) Review and cut traffic control levels across all contracts: requires bold governance decision making to push back on requirements that have gone too far without considering the costs and only focused on perceived safety

>>>

[Grants & Funding>Events Ecosystem Funding]

completely review to reduce this as there has not been a focus on a paradigm shift. what is the value of doing zero funding ? how many would come anyway ? bold governance is required in times of significant need

1278 - Tim Marsh

Get in the real world please

[Rates > Residential]

I had a rate increase of 22.8% last year and you are now expecting to pass on another 13% increase in 2024. Can I suggest that all Councilors get into the real world

1282 - Kelvin Lynn

Thanks to all the staff and councillors for their work on this plan.

1300 - Barbara Dunne

I am so glad I did not vote for the idiot we call the Mayor who cannot even chair a meeting properly and then when you say things against him he blocks you

>>>

SACK THE MAYOR HE IS USELESS. Thought he was more popular than what he is.

>>>

DISPOSE OF THE MAYOR AS WELL.

1308 - Bernadette Bowe

Also, listen to the people who have elected you and more importantly, the people whose lives will be affected by living in an area you wish to change.

1312 - Andrea Bromley

Cut council spending! No more pay increases for councillors. Im of the mindset if you choose to want to be a councillor, it should be an unpaid job doing a community service almost. Or be a minimum wage role. I hope there is no coffee or bikkies provided in the tea room and that everyone brings their own lunch like the rest of us have to...

132 - Jason King

Councilors are WAY overpaid- they do bugger all for the money. Councilors should not be highly paid, it is a service role- and you do WAY less than teachers- so you should be paid less than them. That will get us a million back.

1424 - Peter McMillan

Is there anything else that you would like to tell us about the Draft Long Term Plan 2024-2034?

ALL COUNCIL MEMBERS SHOULD BE DEMOCRATICALLY ELECTED, NO FREE RIDES BASED ON RACE

1467 - Alistair Falconer

I appreciated the time the Mayor and Sam MacDonald took to present to the Avonhead Community on the evening of 10 April 2024. It was a balanced and well-prepared presentation and the questions from the floor were well answered.

1527 - Rob Beechey

I'll tell you why this is currently un-achievable, it's because you don't operate as a team. You are a collection of individuals promoting your own political and community baggage at the ratepayers expense.

This disunity is holding Chch to ransom. I believe the current model is seriously broken. I know there are some very good people here determined to minimise rate increases. However, there are others who should take a very hard look at themselves by getting over their selfish indulgences.

Public apathy is when only 40% of us turn up to even vote. Elections will come and go and great opportunities will be missed.

A disunited council has consequences.

>>>

In summery, the current council model is broken. Talent selection through an election process stopped working years ago and a 13% increase bears testimony to this.

1551 - Philippa Curtis

Government policy - With regards to the uncertainty outlined around upcoming government policy changes, I support a strong push back from council to government. Particularly the GPS on Land Transport, and the replacement plans for Three Waters. Please consult, and heavily publicise consultation, when the time comes. I did not understand on page 43 what was meant by "change the level of servicing for drinking water losses to 20%" Am I missing something, or was this not elaborated on? Overall what I read I found very accessible, so thank you. This is just pulling you up on something I didn't think was made accessible. I support the council supporting grassroots organisations. I couldn't see much on this. Again, I may have missed it, but I am observing that their impact is becoming extremely significant. I would like to see council recognise their value and provide financial support. I understand some NZ councils are supporting a new initiative coming out of the UK called Take the Jump. Also all the community garden and community hub projects, Spokes etc. I believe these organisations should have access to significant council funding.

1568 - Kathryn May

Have we got a mayoral car that could be sold?

1574 - David Cassidy

be more open

1591 - Leo Adriano

It's just the same over and over again, a new governance but the same old plan to increase rates instead of looking deeper into why our city's management is so disfuncional. Every, just every person I know says the same thing, our city is badly managed, too bureaucratic, too many useless and inefficient staff and too many of them. Example, the well known issues with our consenting department, I wish the NZ government would interfere because no new major or party has been capable of opening this can of worms, instead, they just put into the too hard basket and increase rates. Very disappointing.

1603 - Sandra Cunningham

[Transport > Roads (Capital)]

Spend less money on political virtue signalling

1654 - Jane Ross

Please actually listen to the citizens of Christchurch.

1711 - Eluishia Hart

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)]

Do away with such a big focus on cycleways. This cost shouldn't be put on ratepayers when most of us don't use them! This should be a Ministry of transport thing. Not a rate payer thing!

1764 - Chris Conwest

Tell the national government to leave local politics to the regional government., Dual administration of regional issues add unneeded cost

179 - Bridgette Smith

Maybe all councillors look at taking a pay cut. Unfortunately, have absolutely no trust in this Council. The only one I would want to deal with is Aaron Keown.

1819 - Gavin Millar

The City Council is clearly deeply dysfunctional at an executive and council level, the lack of consistency between the different parts of this plan demonstrate that dysfunction.

1826 - Jacqui Hudson

I don't understand why the CEO & higher up staff are paid so highly. A CEO of a council should not be paid more than the Prime Minister of the country. This could significantly impact rates if salaries were reduced.

1837 - Rosalie Griffith

There needs to be boundaries put on our Council CEO. If they fail to meet the criteria/contract requirements they should be expected to resign & leave without redundancy. No more shopping overseas

1864 - Kylie Williams

I think the council isn't thinking about the people of Christchurch at the moment.

1882 - Anna-Marie Browne

The Council should deliver a more participatory democracy for both residents and the wider community. Most residents which includes making more of an effort to engage with constituents. It should not be necessary come to the Council to make a submission.

1939 - Mary Sefton

the climate member who holds the portfolio what are her qualifications and what is her back ground Christchurch people have had enough

The council member on climate change. What qualifications does she have ???

1951 - James Beck (Eco Church New Zealand)

It is important that the council finds better ways to partner with the community and community organisations to deliver outcomes for the community.

20 - Ross Williamson

The council is being run by the staff, which came to light again in the recent Church corner debacle, staff telling the community board what to do. The staff are not elected the Council and community boards are.

2009 - CW Young

[Strategic Direction>Community Outcomes & Strategic Priorities]; [Other/Special Interest Topics>Tarras Airport]

Investments which yield positive long-term outcomes, eg Tarras South Island Airport project. Let the savvy business people, instead of elected Councillors who have no business background and acumen, guide and lead the projects.

2011 - Lauren Sturm

Keep listening to us! It's how democracy works. I understand it can be overwhelming, but as long as your actions are for the people, from the people, you can do no wrong much love ♥

2028 - Karyn Haugh

It would be nice to see you think logically and do the right thing for this city. But I have my doubts the capabilities are there to.

>>>

What I suggest and what you'd do would be irrelevant. You would do what you want anyway.

>>>

[Three Waters>Taumata Arowai Requirements]

For a start your dishonesty is NOT providing any reassurance to anyone that you stick to what you say your going to do. You promised Chlorine would not stay in our drinking water, infact advising giving a time frame of when it wouldn't be in the water. You failed to deliver on that promise & our water is the most pure in the world. We have natural deep springs. So that alone creates a no confidence.

2043 - Philippa Cosgrove

Work harder to ensure the voices of everyone are heard - not just the privileged.

2082 - Bluebell Barr

Please listen ~~to~~ to the youth of Aotearoa! We are its future.

2087 - Emma Norrish (Waipapa Papanui-Innes-Central Community Board)

The Board developed its Community Board Plan 2023-25 in consultation with residents to reflect its priorities for this term, drawing on the Board's local understanding of what matters to residents in the Papanui-Innes-Central ward. The Board wishes to advance in this submission what it said it would in the Board Plan, and has endeavoured to do so in relation to the relevant priorities, but encourages the Council to review the Plan at the following link to further understand the specific priorities for the area: <https://ccc.govt.nz/assets/Documents/The-Council/Community-Boards/Plans/2023-2025/Papanui-Innes-Central-2023-25-Community-Board-Plan.pdf>.

2089 - Serge Ratten

we all know we can not ever do enuff! so lets try to do ~~as~~ as much ~~as~~ we can! lets dream big! ~~that's~~

2105 - Tawhai Darnielle Te Karu

- Make information about 'the plan' more accessible for the general public.

2108 - Briar Rotherham

Invest in the Youth. Lower the Voting age.

2109 - Te Aomihia Te Huia

LESS HUI MORE DO-1
keep good intentions
I you won't fail.

2110 - Jennifer McMaster

For an honest, real democracy the council needs to make participatory democracy available to teenagers, as well as making more effort to engage residents in lower socio-economic areas.

2115 - Billie Kaine

Ineffective council members

>>>

No confidence

[Spending > Capital Programme (General)]

I have to say I don't think so. I have no confidence in the council. Such sloppy attention to us who were affected by the Earth Quakes. Some people still trying to sort things out. We need clever changes to infrastructure so not sure how your budget meets the needs. Often it's all decided before we find some things are just silly. I believe nothing any of us say will make a difference, council are a law unto themselves

2143 - Vicky Anderson

Please collaborate with Environment Canterbury and other sectors that have similar goals.

2187 - Rylee Single

Stop treating the city like a business. Start looking at it like a community

2193 - Leanne Reid

Just be mindful of the decisions the council makes from here, don't permit things that could negatively affect our environment, make sure our rubbish, recycling and water systems are maintained and running efficiently.

2229 - Chris and Janet Stokes

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Staff Matters]

Council will not listen to the people of Christchurch. In fact it seems as if the council staff are very controlling. We voted Mike Davidson out because of his views and we hope you Victoria can be our voice

2256 - Peter Scott (Environment Canterbury)

We really appreciate your contribution and commitment to working alongside Mayoral Forum colleagues for the benefit of Canterbury and its communities. The Canterbury Mayoral Forum, and the regional forums and working groups that support it, provide valuable mechanisms for local government in Canterbury and are a key means of demonstrating a strong and unified voice on the priority issues for our region. The value of this strong and unified voice cannot be underestimated. We look forward to continuing to work with your Council as we implement the Canterbury Regional Forums' work programmes, particularly the Mayoral Forum's Plan for Canterbury, over the remainder of this local government term.

2289 - Leonie Jackson

However, after attending a local meeting, with the Mayor and some councillors, regarding this LTP, I was aware that it was more of a campaign to get votes. The speakers agreed with the conspiracy theorists, climate change deniers, etc who had infiltrated the meeting. The ^{other} speakers who bravely voiced support for cycleways, diversity-initiatives (eg the Rainbow Crossing), climate change etc were booed and mocked by many of the attendees. Weak replies were given to their questions and there was no attempt by the Council Reps. to improve the behaviour, except by the women who handed round the microphone to speakers.

Thank you for your submission.

Christchurch
City Council

* Other councillors were openly criticised for their views
(not named though)

2297 - Andrew Walker

Comments: Get rid of the left leaning councillors who can't see past cycle lanes & public transport. No one uses cycle lanes, no one uses busses, and no one wants these councillors. The city is being strangled because of these people. They cause high emissions, due to making traffic move too slowly to be efficient.

Capital programme

2308 - Sarah Elicker

As councilors you have an opportunity to show real governance and leadership – supporting your CCC teams without resorting to misinformation and politicising. Please do the right thing now to protect our future.

2313 - William Godsoe

If i can't trust my coucil to maintain existing thriving investments in the heart of the city, why on earth should i trust them to maintain anything else, particularly the stadium?

2333 - Fiona Lynch

Fire any councillors or staff who are underperforming and superfluous to needs.

2358 - Carolyn Moffat

[Rates > Residential Rates]

I've also just looked at proposed domestic rates increases and business rates increases, and it is evident that some members of this council think ratepayers and business owners have access to never ending pots of money. I would like to assure you that we do not.

2404 - Grant MacLeod

[Other/Special Interest Topics>Creating a Climate Fund]

Dont let you community boards act out against you when it comes to council policy.

2407 - Dave Evans

[Other/Special Interest Topics>Staff Matters]; [Strategic Direction>Have we got the balance right?]

1. Staffing numbers and percentage of budget have increased significantly under the previous CEO and former mayor. However, service has decreased.

2. A 10 year plan is being implemented, yet it has been 6 months since the CEO left. Granted that person was ineffective (to put it mildly), but having no replacement or their input prior to this plan being adopted is a horrible business decision.

2439 - Callum Turnbull

Unfortunately I was one who voted for these particular councilors (Sara Templeton) thinking their projects (cycle ways) were a good idea at the time. However, financially things have changed drastically and I thought they/she would have more intelligence than to carry on spending the money on their projects!

2448 - Barrie Uren

Directors Fees should be done away with CCL holding companies as per special payment to the Deputy Mayor

2475 - William Porter

Stop paying council members 140k to do nothing would make a big difference

2503 - Lin Klenner (New Brighton Community Gardens)

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Engagement & Communications (General)]

The gardens would like to thank the engagement team, community board members and councilors for taking the time to talk to us and our wider community, provide information in person and online or via email. Its much appreciated.

2538 - Libby Ornsby

[Strategic Direction > Additional Savings & Efficiencies]; [Strategic Directions>Community Outcomes & Strategic Priorities]

Instead of making decisions for the city based on personal ideologies, get back to basics and make sensible decisions the majority of the city support, not just the noisy minority. Stop wasting time and money going back to decisions because they aren't the ones certain people want.

>>>

[Strategic Direction > Additional Savings & Efficiencies]

Reduce the number of wards,

2559 - Michael Campbell

[Transport > Public Transport Infrastructure (Capital)] [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)] [Other/Special Interest Topics > Accelerating Adaptation]

These rate hikes follow years of neglect in infrastructure investment, driven by the campaign promises of councillors and mayors advocating for artificially low rates, often at the expense of necessary infrastructure funding even when borrowing costs were exceptionally low. Now, the consequences of these decisions are being realised. Decreasing rates would inevitably result in a decline in the city's current service standards, disproportionately affecting users of council services. While the wealthy might perceive themselves as immune due to their limited reliance on municipal amenities like libraries or public pools, they remain integral members of the community and will inevitably feel the impacts of any austerity measures.

>>>

[Rates > Other] [Rates > City Vacant Differential] [Rates > Visitor Accommodation]

I think it would be worth exploring the implementation of Land Value Rating, potentially alongside the local body elections in 2025 through a referendum.

>>>

[Spending > Our Proposed Spending]

There is no electoral mandate for Council to cut back on services people rely upon (libraries, swimming pools, etc) to force a lower rates increase. Council's services exist for its constituents, and removing these services will disproportionately impact lower socioeconomic, disabled, and elderly residents, for whom there is no alternative. Council needs to seek mandate from the electorate either in a election campaign or a referendum before implementing any far-reaching changes like this.

>>>

This is quite a painful process, maybe council could do a large share an idea event like it did post quake to build these in the future.

2570 - Marie Gray

The challenge is how to communicate these nuances to the general population, how to engage them in decision making and how to give them trust and confidence the money will be spent on the issues important to them. I would also encourage CCC to think about other innovative decision-making models such as citizen assemblies. I am a big supporter of initiatives which help engage the wider community in the decision-making process. I really worry about some of the reporting in the media. Often it focuses on headline figures and doesn't engage people in the nuances. These are big and difficult issues and there are costs of action but the costs of inaction are even higher.

2586 - Leeann Watson (Business Canterbury)

At the end of this LTP period we should be looking back at a 'golden decade' for Christchurch. As the earthquake rebuild ends, with all major infrastructure projects due to be completed in the next few years, as a city and a region, we are in a great position to be the best city in New Zealand to live, work, play, and invest. Being able to look back at these next 10 years and reflect on a 'golden decade' will not happen by accident. To take advantage of the opportunities our city is faced with requires a deliberate and ambitious approach with bold and courageous leadership from both our business community and those in positions of influence in local government.

>>>

Local government can be perceived by the business community as a handbrake and installer of red tape. When we asked businesses about Council performance recently, we found that only 11% think the Council supports and enables businesses well.

>>>

Through its stewardship of the local regulatory environment, the Council has a significant role to play in facilitating a 'golden decade' for Christchurch. For years, Business Canterbury has advocated for the Council to adopt an 'enabler' rather than an 'enforcer' approach. If we want to meet our goals as a city, businesses need to have confidence and certainty that local government is transparent in its decision-making processes, consistent in its policies, and responsive and supportive to their needs. Businesses may not always like the decisions that Councils make, but they do need to understand them, and they need to be consistent rather than changing at a whim which creates uncertainty and a lack of trust leading to a loss of future investment and commitment to this city. Embracing an enabler mindset involves shifting from a reactive stance to a proactive one, anticipating the needs of businesses which means genuinely seeking to understand their needs and future aspiration through actively working alongside them to help facilitate sustainable growth. Instead of enforcing regulations, the Council should proactively engage with businesses to understand their challenges, identify barriers to growth, and create solutions with the business community that foster a better business environment.

2616 - Jane Chrisp have less councillors

2629 - Sarah Smith

Sack the government appointed/affiliated councillors and have real community leaders making the decisions. How can any effective decisions be made with a 8 versus 9 council vote system. Thus the government agenda will always win which normally is not what the rate payers would agree with. Our mayor needs to stand up for the people and challenge the other councillors to see common sense prevail

2666 - Kathleen Crisley

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Staff Matters]

SUBMISSION POINT 14: Councillors need to ask staff explicitly for the details of all projects that are proceeding without confirmation of Central Government co-funding and issue stop work notices. I understand, for example, that the Harewood Road cycleway has not had its Government funding confirmed. Yet, works in this area are proceeding – funded by rates. Projects should not proceed unless full funding is guaranteed.

2672 - Ian Flatley

Leave >>> as well as Mayoral trips overseas until we're in the black.

2673 - Ben lamond

Actually listen to the people of Christchurch because for too long you haven't. You do what you guys want and think what is right.

2678 - Fiona McKenzie

Also please weed out climate change denying counsellors. It's embarrassing to have religious anti-science voices at this critical table.

2690 - Robbie Dobbie

Programme

One thing I cannot understand is how the council chooses who to listen to for advice/direction. It seems as if local voices who know the city are ignored for voices from global interests/parties and we are paying big for modelled advice with a lack of understanding of our city. This needs to STOP.

2695 - Dave Gardner

City Councillors should listen to the city council staff who's job is their profession, and the input from communities can be to help them spot/tweak things they might have missed.

2736 - Pamela Campbell

You are doing everything wrong and you should listen to what the rate payers are saying.

2738 - Patricia (Patsy) Eastwood

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Staff Matters]

Hopefully the balance is right between the top paying executives and those who do the day to day work. Some councillors go above and beyond, whereas others do the minimal possible. Maybe pay by performance rather than position? I have no idea how the pay rates are set at present.

2770 - Sarah Lassche-Jones

Listen to the majority or your submission. for once!

2786 - Redact Redacted

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?]

Will explained in neighbourhood meeting by Mayor & those Councillors in attendance

LTP 2024-2034?

Have yet to witness anything that Ecan has done better since their inception. Why don't we just incorporate back into city services, as then they would be more accountable for their non-performance.
Therefore savings and efficiencies should be possible by making Ecan responsive and responsible for their ~~lack~~ lack of progress.

2787 - Jean Drage

There are two major issues missing from this long term plan: - The impact of the political environment in which Council operates (and how some resolution of the poor relationship between central and local government would address the funding issues currently experienced by councils), an central government is still to address the urgent funding needs of local authorities. Rather than a subservient and inward local process, your Council has a clear role in advocating for increased central government funding for local communities and needs to take a more challenging approach with the coalition government on this, rather than just accepting what will come. And this approach needs to be formally undertaken alongside other local authorities

>>>

2809 - Susan Thorpe

2) RESIGNATION FROM LGNZ

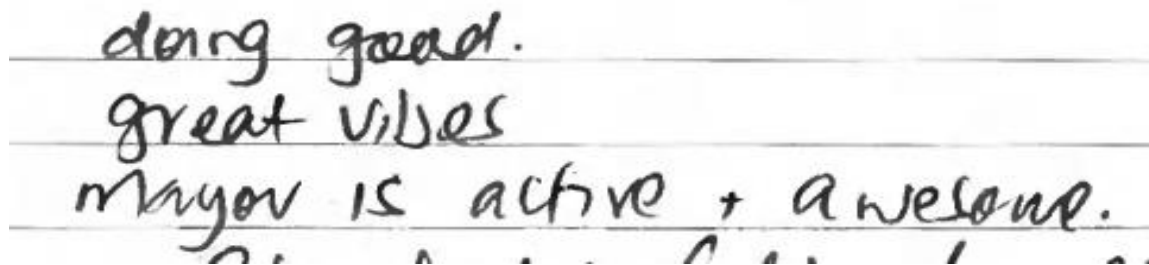

After LGNZ acted undemocratically and dishonestly over Three Waters signing, follow Auckland's lead, as it is impossible to trust LGNZ again after such a breach of good faith process.

* CCC resign from LGNZ.

[Full attachment available]

2811 - Nikora Nitro

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?]

doing good.
great vibes
mayor is active + awesome.

2823 - Aurora Garner-Randolph (School Strike For Climate Ōtautahi)

This is the submission of School Strike For Climate Ōtautahi (SS4CŌ) on Christchurch City Council's draft Long Term Plan 2024-2034. Many submissions start by thanking government or council for the opportunity to submit, but SS4CŌ represents politically engaged teenagers, with many below the age of 18. They aren't allowed to be involved in the process of governance in the same way as people over 18, because 16-18 year olds are denied the human right to vote. Therefore, we can't in good conscience thank CCC until it does its part to make sure that our younger members are allowed to vote, which CCC can do by submitting to central government for a lowered voting age and by making sure that future consultations proactively include Ōtautahi's rangatahi.

2835 - Emma Rodriguez Dos Santos

Thanks for providing the consultation document as a booklet, and the interactive bubble tool to enable us to see what the spend is on different themes and categories, plus projects alongside each other within a theme. Please make this available permanently, not just for the LTP. It was pleasing to see local Councillors working hard to ensure the community had lots of opportunities to engage in the process.

2919 - Hayley Guglietta (Avon Ōtākaro Network INC)

Stop spending money arguing about projects, the Harewood Cycleway, Church Corner dropping the westbound lane, and Park Terrace cycleway are just a few that come to mind.

Stop spending money on reports and strategic plans that are just tick boxing exercises that then get shelved or there are no allocated resources to execute the action items in said plans. i.e the Draft Stormwater Management Plan, Climate Resilience Strategy.

2924 - John Gibbs

It is very hard for an individual to answer this question. However, there are two important issues that deserve comment; First there seems to be very little about progress on removing/reducing/adapting red tape so that it is more 'common sense'. This would probably help Council finances, improve the perception of the Council and encourage compliance. In the long term this would boost the regional economy.

2951 - Les McKay

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Staff Matters]

It would appear that it is a waste of time voting in the mayor and Councillors as they have no say in running the city. The CEO and permanent staff appear to have control and do what they want. Elected officials need to be in charge

3035 - Claire Coveney

Community Boards do a great job. Thanks you.

My councillor does a great job and I trust her integrity.

3039 - Paula Allen

Council need to list to the rate payer for once, you have delivered poorly over the last term, driven by a left leaning majority that are completely disconnected from the city views. be honest with your reporting on polls and tell the public that the majority you are talking about only represents under 1% of the population.

3061 - David Hawke (Halswell Residents Association (Inc.))

Community engagement

a. The “front line” of consultation on draft LTPs should be community boards. However, community boards struggle to get into the community; in the case of “our” Waipuna Halswell-Hornby-Riccarton Community Board, meeting only in a difficult to access, impenetrable fortress. We have raised the issue repeatedly with both elected members and staff, and apparently the issue comes back to resourcing. In case this is a situation affecting only “our” community board, our Treasurer went to Public Forum at a meeting of Spreydon-Cashmere-Heathcote Community Board to urge them to get into their community, and he was told the same thing.

Action requested (19): Add a project designating funding for community boards to meet in community-friendly venues across their community at a specified frequency

3077 - Mike Davidson

The role of the Mayor is to lead the development of the long-term plan. After campaigning on having rates increase of 3-4%, he should have put forward an option that had this level of rates increase he wanted. Both Auckland and Wellington Mayors have shown better leadership with the development of their LTPs.

311 - Peter Clark

Stop living in fantasyland. It’s not the role of council to be ‘social engineers’ or implementation of left or right ideology.

3110 - Michael Beard

Too far ahead to consider. The world is in a very uncertain state. The present Government doesn't know what it is doing

320 - Ian Knewstubb (Lyttelton Times Ltd)

It is a pity that community boards don't have more responsibilities rather than just suggestions to Tuam St

3209 - Anouk Minnaar

[Rates >Residential Rates]

In the past low rates have been used as an electoral promise by councillor and mayoral candidates, leading to underinvestment or deferment of infrastructure.

322 - Richie Connell

Also, it's time to mop up the other districts like Selwyn and South Canterbury. We need their money and they use our stuff! We need a super South Island council with better thinking and less bureaucratic city hall. We need to have civic leadership that is present and forward thinking, while managing this latest economic infrastructure challenge.

3257 - Fiona Jones

Look at the councillors, >>> salaries, no increase should be given and in fact should look hard at saving money there.

3261 - Helena Campbell

Trim councillors salary

3262 - Charlote Verity-McCormick

Also - perhaps run an audit of CCC Board costs etc

3325 - Adele Geradts

Build trust and confidence in the Council through meaningful communication, listening to and working with residents.

3336 - Margaret Lovell-Smith

Consideration also needs to be given to amalgamating with neighbouring local councils where much of the new housing for city workers is being built.

3362 - Cherie Mansell

Should councilors be fined or wages deducted if meetings are regularly missed?

3363 - Brodie Marra-Stevenson

It is vital that youth voice is taken into more account, and also the council should be more engaged in public health.

3376 - Barry Lee

The council must withdraw its membership of LGNZ is as it has become too political. The only consideration unless there is a measurable financial direct benefit to rate payers in lowering rates. (such as if membership enabled the council to obtain lower interest on its debt)

3384 - Robert Biggs

I do believe in Democracy and the less secret and more open things are the better for everyone.

3396 - Lucy King

Support our mayor and his attitude re roads n basics.

>>>

Love our mayor. Let him lead. Amazing. Listen to him. Help him be our best mayor.

3419 - Michael Allan

Do NOT make decisions based on a political party's manifesto. Politics is anathema to local government and should be barred as it has no place in the oversight or management of our community assets and facilities.

>>>

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?]

Everybody will have a different priority. Simply strike one and stick with it, but remember, keep b politics out of it.

344 - Aaron Herriott

Honestly, I have zero faith in it as I have zero faith in the majority of the council members making these decisions.

3444 - Jo McGregor

Its time to let the critical thinkers in the council step up and take the lead... clearly there are a few councillors who have an agenda of their own (ie spending other people's money) and are not listening to the ratepayers.

3458 - Frank Hill

I would urge the Christchurch City Council to: Withdraw from the Canterbury Mayoral Forum – there is no benefit to Christchurch citizens in being part of that organisation which continues to advocate for rural communities without doing anything for this City. They work on the basis of rural communities gaining all the benefits and socialising all the cost (i.e. we pay 56% of the General ECAN rate this year). Meanwhile we are expected to pick up all the cost that also benefit their communities – i.e. the stadium.

>>>

Don't enter into any partnership or relationship with ECAN above what you have to. Advocate for ECAN's removal as part of any Local Body Review. To not agree to a regional climate change rate.

3501 - Malcolm Long (Ōpāwaho Heathcote River Network)

Governance and decision-making
Resident satisfaction with participation in and contribution to Council decision-making (understanding decision-making) Target: Year 1: At least 32% Year 2: At least 33% Year 3+: At least 34%	Support but could be more ambitious Greater use by the Council and Community Boards of citizen assemblies and community governance opportunities would achieve much improved resident satisfaction levels as well as increased community involvement.

3558 - Patrick Kennedy

There are so many missed opportunities in this LTP. There is so much status quo bias. I am heartened to see that the council is nominally standing by the feedback received about service cuts being unpopular with residents.

3575 - Anna Hansson

when making your decision as a whole, please look and consider what is best for the whole city, now and the future. Don't just look and listen to vocal parties.

358 - Tamara Dauvergne

Threatening to reduce services like libraries is just a form of gaslighting people - with the threat that if people don't want rate increases - this is the only option. It's nonsense.

3582 - Cody Cooper

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Engagement & Communications]

Chief Ombudsman Peter Boshier on 19 April 2024 issued a conclusion that Council was wrong to suppress information about water supply. At a time when trust is low in Council, this is highly embarrassing. Do more to proactively release and share documents / meetings with the public. Sunlight is the best disinfectant.

>>>

Reduce roading renewals overall by using the drop-a-pin style of feedback. This would show council is engaged and listening, as well as give residents a sense of satisfaction from that work being done. When designing reading network changes, ask CB for feedback first on areas they think should be focused on.

Staff and CB should be working in partnership for our community. Too often staff design, send for consult and THEN to CB only for the work to be rejected or require further amendments. I think everyone can agree we'd rather spend +$2m on shovels in the ground than an extra $2m on design before we even start doing anything. Reduce the re-work.

3603 - Murray James (Food Resilience Network Incorporated)

Public and political (re-election prospects) pressure should not drive long term planning. Now is the time to do stuff while pressure/demand on labour and capital resources is diminished. Charge more and get things done - Otautahi's future residents will thank you.

>>>

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Staff Matters]

Enhancing the impact of ratepayers funds whilst also building trust and confidence in Council.

Over the course of the Ōtākaro Orchard project and by close association with other projects within the Avon Ōtākaro River Corridor, the Committee of the FRN and many of its members has experienced close engagement with Council staff and elected members.

For the most part, elected members of Council and Community boards are visible, active and engaged within our communities and do exactly what they are supposed to.....represent!

Our experience with staff is more of a mixed bag with some being excellent and others suffering from an aged institutional culture that oozes obstruction.

If Council as an organisation can embed within the staff team the flavour that flows from reading the Community Outcomes and Strategic Framework then it can morph into an agency of enablement with the ability to respond quickly and with flexibility as compared to our current experience which is better described as..... An impenetrable bastion of obstruction where good sense and effectiveness is not allowed to get in the way of a tick in a box.

3623 - Jessica Adams

The Council should be driven more by what ratepayers and residents want, rather than the plans presented by Council staff who often seem to have their own agenda for the city.

3626 - Connie Christensen

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Creating a Climate Fund]

Be smart, work collaboratively with other councils (instead of outbidding each other) to engage experts and invest in technology. Climate change issues should be apolitical and should see all councillors work together for long term success!

>>>

Sometimes change is hard. Please work together to find sustainable future proof solutions which will serve all of Christchurch. Look further than your own term on our council and resist opposing good infrastructure because a few residents and business have chosen that project to vent their pent up anger over other issues. Good luck and lot's of positive energy for the hard work lying ahead!

3668 - Gavin Hardie

Christchurch should be the place where most New Zealanders want to live because their City Council takes their ideas and suggestions into consideration when building and making plans for the City's Future.

3670 - Joscelyne Silcock

It is noted that the Halswell, Hornby , Riccarton community board has not got a budget for maintaining any parks in Central Riccarton.

3693 - Lynette Wills

Allocation of monies to CCC Councillors must ensure serious Management Training Workshops are available to provide ChCh Citizens with people around the Council Table who can think critically and vote on issues after they have carefully weighed up the pros and cons. There is no money to support any "Partisan Behaviour" by our CCC Councillors. Management Training must be sought to rid the present CCC Councillors of these problems.

3712 - Zeta Pringle (Coalition for safe accommodation in Christchurch)

The council have a very difficult decisions after only just being elected to make our city great and within budget. We support the coup on the work they have done.

3738 - Finn Jackson

I submitted on the 2021/31 Long Term Plan requesting that the Council investigate trialling participatory budgeting in Christchurch. This is still something I'd like to see - with trust and confidence in Council falling, it's time to try new ways to get people involved in the democratic process.

3746 - Quinn Ledgerwood-Gee

[Strategic Direction > Our Treaty Relationships], [Parks > Heritage (Capital)], [Three Waters > Taumata Arowai Requirements]

CCC must be more serious about its Te Tiriti commitments. For example on Vol 1, page 126, it says that a mitigation for urupa being threatened by sea level rise is that historic confiscations took place. This is absurdly inappropriate, and CCC must immediately put money into protecting these historic sites as it would for Pākehā cemeteries. CCC must immediately instate a Māori ward. Since CCC has now had several years of preliminary work on the Ōtākaro Co-Governance Entity, and CCC has maintained control over an area of significance to mana whenua for decades, the Ōtākaro Co-Governance entity should be established in 2024 or 2025 at the latest.

3758 - Mads Churchhouse

I support the detailed submission of Joseph Fullerton (21) because he has put far more hours into reading the fine print of the LTP than anyone else I know in the city, and certainly several dozen more than our mayor, who when questioned appears worryingly ignorant of the funding gaps in key parts of the LTP and is instead fixated on the 'benefits' of lowering rates (possibly because he thinks lower rates means he can get more magical hydrogen trucks??? Unclear).

3787 - Deb Donnell

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?], [Strategic Direction > Climate Change], [Parks > Heritage (Capital)], [Transport > Operations], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)], [Borrowing & Debt Management], [Other/Special Interest Topics > Governance], got the balance right?], [Strategic Direction > Climate Change], [Parks > Heritage (Capital)], [Transport > Operations], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)], [Borrowing & Debt Management], [Other/Special Interest Topics > Staff Matters]

No, you haven't got the balance right. There is too much focus on ideology and nice to haves, and not enough of maintaining our infrastructure and existing heritage (zero on heritage which is shameful). All spending on so called safety and calming measures such as speed bumps, 30 km zones, cycle lanes, and barricades need to stop immediately. As does any "climate change" / "net zero emissions" which is total nonsense and scaremongering. We cannot afford to be getting into debt further to meet regulations and taxations imposed by global organisations. The balance is being weighted heavily towards the above, and requiring rates to increase in order to service the debt from past and present vanity projects. Rate payers cannot be continually expected to cover costs. We are not a bottomless pit. As councillors and CCC employees, you are not here to build your legacy or to put added pressure onto the households of the people you serve. You are employed by rate payers to deliver the basic infrastructure, and your focus should be on this, not on world class stadiums, convention centres, sports centres, playgrounds, vanity projects, virtue signalling, and so on.

3805 - Antony Lawrence

There is a justified perception that the councillors are a disparate group who struggle to say no. A recent history of poor decision making has burdened the ratepayers. Weakness such as the refusal to consider reassessment of the Christchurch City Holdings structure because a few serial demonstrators plus some port workers stood up at a meeting! It is a gross dereliction of councillor duties to buckle rather than consider all options.

>>>

Yes. Councillors need to treat expenditure with more respect and caution. Councillors needs to learn to say "no" to requests rather than leaping to the rescue of poorly managed organisations.

3831 - Rick Jones

Start listening to the residents not just paying lip service. The current rates increases and borrowings are unsustainable. The ratepayers are NOT council and councilors personal ATM's Councilors need to account for spending as if it were their own money.

>>>

Yes. To the socialist / Labour block of councilors - Cotter, Fields, Donovan, McLellan, Scandett, Coker, Harison, Templeton etc. Your continual voting on approvals of rates increases, vanity projects and wasteful spending is now in the spotlight. You need to be aware that the residents of Christchurch are aware of your globalist agenda - You are not acting in good faith - listen to the people or face a backlash.

3854 - Michael Laurensen

[Rates>Other]

It isn't simply a choice between more rates or cuts to services. Councils unwillingness to consider capital tied up in infrastructure and without asking ratepayers what they want is undemocratic

3868 - Don Gould

On a positive note, while I'm at it, the live and recorded streaming of meetings is great. I think the quality of some could be improved for little cost but over all I am pleased as a member of the public to see more of this happening. I asked for this in the past and I'm very pleased to see it's happened.

3887 - Michael Patterson (Commodore Airport Hotel Ltd)

We wish the Councillors and Council Team well in going through this process.

3898 - Richard Smith

[Rates > Other]

NEED TO TAKE POLITICAL AGENDA OUT OF RATES INCREASES - HAVE BEEN TOO LOW FOR TOO LONG TO TRY & WIN VOTES

3927 - Wendy Marshall

The mayor wanted to close smaller libraries to help fund the stadium.

3949 - Fay Brorens

Thank you for the opportunity to contribute, thank you to staff and councilors who came to public meetings.

3961 - Paul Robertson

No, because I haven't had time to read this huge document full, especially given the likelihood that the council or at least most members are likely to ignore this input anyway and continue on with their agendas

>>>

No, as above. Expect that you will do whatever you are going to do regardless of what people say.

>>>

Don't actually trust you to listen to the feedback. Lots of unclear language, PR speak. Too much focus on things other than core business. Very concerned about financial mismanagement of successive councils, even accounting for the impact of the earthquakes - leaving the city with a huge debt and savage rates rises (past and proposed). No wonder confidence in council decision making has decreased markedly.

3982 - Duncan Taylor

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Staff Matters]

Councillors are elected to run council
Councillors should establish a set of guiding principles
to do their work leaving staff free to do the day to day
Councillors should decide what needs to be done and Staff should decide how it is going to be done

4027 - Rona Buttimore

Get rid of superfluous council members who contribute very little

4030 - Jenna Hayward

Stop the mayors stupid idea

4033 - Juliana Venning

[Rates > Residential Rates, Spending > Te Kaha]

No. I strenuously object to proposed 2.17% of the proposed rates increase of 13.24 overall going towards the white Elephant Te Kaha. Mauger made undertakings as a candidate.

[Strategic Priorities > Community Outcomes & Strategic Priorities]

Respond to persons who care sufficiently for our community wellbeing. Do not set aside (as has been happening) submissions made with research and relevance in favour of the irrational or fantasy of the period. We need our elected representatives to act ethically not in their interests but that of the community, the vulnerable and here I again emphasise women and children's interests.

492 - Lyndon Telfer

[Rates > Residential rates]

I voted for Mayor Phil Major because he campaigned on keeping rates at the level of inflation. I expected there would be cuts to capital expenditure and services. I believe Council has a mandate to cut costs and get rates rises down. Rates are also a housing affordability issue and impact on pensioners more so than those of us working. My rates will be half my super annuation the time I retire. This is just too much.

494 - Casey Mathieson

I thinking building trust in the council is important and increased visibility in what is being done with our rates would be helpful

498 - Kaye Rae

AND - listen to the ratepayers because most submissions are a formality because the Council just continue with their plans anyway.

499 - Michael Sumpter

Reduce the number of counsellors by 50%. Aim to get a CEO and management team that cost less.

>>>

Where is our invisible Mayor? He makes a lot of noise and then disappears...

533 - Judith Livingstone

It time you listened properly to the people The council members don't know how to be governors and are puppets to their employees

618 - Natalie Dixon

I'd like elected members and other key staff fill in timesheets, so we know how much time is spent on things. A review of council processes to see how time and cost could be reduced.

673 - Chris Adams

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Staff Matters]

Cost savings should be achieved through reducing council overheads (mayor salary, CEO, etc).

694 - Lucia Rivas

[Other/Special Interest Topics > LTP Consultation], [Transport > Cycleways]

Expecting everyday individuals to fully understand this plan with the detail required to provide an informed decision is optimistic. Public consultation appears to be rather inefficient and my confidence in the current council is not great considering the opinions vary greater between councillors and agendas. Wheels to Wings is a prime example and it appears to have been wasted effort due to the vast delays due to consultation efforts. Infrastructure that continues to support climate change efforts like bikeways are super important but yet there is too much pandering to those who are wetted to their vehicles. We as rate have to a level of trust in the council to make the right decisions.

730 - Doug Allen

You continue to construct legacy projects and year on year fail to listen to any feedback, or at the very least act on it.

868 - Lucas Moreno

I think there would be a lot of efficiencies and benefits for the city, if CCC actually listened to and amended plans according to the non-binding Consultations you do when proposing changes. CCC Management believes they know it all, when the people affected are telling them something very different, yet they are ignored. Listen more!

880 - Peter Kim

Fundamentally the council is not doing a good job. Too many ego heads looking after their pet projects which adds no value to the people of CHCH. You need to get your own house in order.

996 - David Smith

Promised to get budget under control. Lied.

>>>

Mayor should be sacked. Lied to us.

>>>

The lies this mauger told to become mayor. . Should be jailed

1203 - David Moore

[Rates > Residential]

I think a raise in rates is appropriate given the city's infrastructure requirements. It is a shame that our Mayor was not realistic about this while making election promises.

1803 - Guy Faes

[Rates > Residential]

Before you were elected mayor, you committed to the electorate not to increase the "RATES," a promise that resonated strongly with many Canterburies and influenced their voting decisions. However, it is disheartening to observe that in the months following your assumption of office, rates have again escalated, this time by a significant 15%. This begs the question: how much further will these increases extend? >>> It is essential to balance pursuing ambitious developmental goals and safeguarding the financial well-being of the citizens you serve.

2948 - Peter Borodin

[Rates > Residential]

How this can be right with more than 13% increase??? With cost of living crisis??? One of the promises the mayor made during his election campaign is to reduce rate rise. Yet the proposal is absolutely over the top.

3668 - Gavin Hardie

[Rates > Residential]

Please do not increase CCC Rates above the rate of inflation. (This is what you were elected on at the last CCC Elections.)

3688 - Paul Crooks

[Rates > Residential]

People are already struggling with the high cost of living - 13% rates rise is not acceptable and a dereliction of your duties as councillors.

3979 - Kerry Neville

[Rates > Residential]

.1P 2029-2039:

Put your self out there, get rid of the iwi in council as its an extra cost and another meeting everytime you have to decide on anything and dont lose sight of the fact its my money you are playing with, and I will be voting the idiots out from our council.
And Tight your belts, it cannot go on like this anymore

Maioir event bid funding

843 - Ngaire Donelda Bacon

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Governance]

absolutely Not. When the Christchurch City Council has built up debt to 2.3 billion. Problems of Cost blow outs Such as the Halswell Road link that is around 200 metres long, & the cost has now ballooned out to 25 million & the council then decided to discuss this in private!!
There seems to be no accountability as to how ratepayers money is being spent. The council must reduce financial pressures on ratepayers & stop wasting money

906 - Alister Ferguson

[Rates > Residential]

Overall, Definitely not. Our current mayor campaigned on a zero rates increase platform. The projected increases are an insult to fixed income ratepayers

>>>

Past suggestions have been ignored and promised responses not forthcoming. Why should I expect any different reaction this time

Staff Matters

General Comments

288 submitters provided feedback on a range of staff matters.

All 288 submitters provided general comments about staff matters.

Officer Response

Submission theme: Following central government and reducing the workforce to reduce rates. Reviewing staffing structure against delivery. Reducing council overheads. Too many staff employed and full review to be completed. Council too admin heavy

Response:

- Council has an obligation to be fiscally and financially prudent with ratepayer funds.
- The number of staff the Council employ is directly related to the Levels of Services in the Long-term Plan. Councillors regularly review service levels, and alongside this, the Council, review required staffing levels and consider the requirement of vacant roles on a case by case basis.

Submission theme: Reducing the work of Contractors and Consultants. Too much money spent on Contractors. Stop outsourcing work that should be done by staff.

Response:

- Council has an obligation to be fiscally and financially prudent with ratepayer funds. Where the Council is required to use contractors, we ensure these are managed within budgetary constraints or financial limits.
- Council is committed to continue to review the use of contractors based on needs, market conditions and specialisation requirements.

Submission theme: Reduction of staff salaries. Reduce the amount of money spent on salaries to reduce rates. Remove executive / management roles to save costs. Install a pay freeze to reduce rates.

Response:

- Council has an obligation to be fiscally and financially prudent with ratepayer funds. We aim to pay staff a fair and reasonable wage (living wage accredited) while also balancing our responsibilities to the Community.

- The number of staff the Council employ is directly related to the Levels of Services in the Long-term Plan. The Councillors regularly review service levels, and alongside this, the Council, review required staffing levels and consider the requirement of vacant roles on a case by case basis.

Submission theme: Reduce the salaries of Mayor and Councillors

Response:

- The salaries for the Mayor and Councillors are set and managed by the Independent Remuneration Authority and not by the Council.

Not Stated

1002 - Riley Mahuika

Im sure you can rid of a few people that aren't on full time work.

>>>

Im sure you can trim down on a few things. There are jobs that can be outsourced at a much cheaper price if it was contracted and provided growth instead of tax payer bourdon.

1012 - Andrea Mcgregor

But please stop wasting money on 'professionals ' giving advice. A total waste of so much money.

>>>

Stop paying for costly specialists writting reports and use own staff. They are the experts.

1034 - James Forde

Too much money spent on the buraucracy and "leadership" staffing.

>>>

Yes. Stop using consultants. If our highly paid leadership team dont have the skills or knowledge to mske decions replace them with competent experts.

1043 - Shafali Verma

[Spending > Capital Programme (General)]

Council should also cut back on certain projects and hold those projects which are not the biggest priority (Cathedral, stadiums etc) till our economy becomes a bit more stable, budget cuts not only on additional road works, construction and events but also cut the staff (especially the higher ups) with so much pay just like govt department and save some money rather than biting every single penny out of a normal day to day worker with fixed pay.

1050 - Ken Lloy

a total review of staff numbers salaries and performance outcomes

[Coder note: For context, this is a response to the following question 'Are there any areas where you feel we should be reviewing the services we provide to reduce our costs throughout the Draft LTP 2024-2034?']

1051 - Andrew Wood

Isn't the CEO on like 500k a year when roads on the east side are falling to bits

1057 - Helen Marginson

Reduce some of the staff at council

1068 - Redacted Redacted

Just stop spending. Reduce the council staff by 13%, will that help stop this rampant rate increase?

>>>

staff costs, staff pay levels.

1098 - Eric Pawson

[Strategic Direction>Climate Change]; [Three Waters>Stormwater & Land drainage (Capital)]

I'd like to see teams within CCC talking to each other. I've just come from a meeting about the stormwater management plan where the staffers said (openly) they knew nothing about what is planned for the OARC, where there is a huge level of expenditure intended that is pretty focused on stormwater management. My comments about climate change policy are partly prompted by the impression that this is an area of policy that falls between teams and no-one really prioritises it.

1135 - Callum Wood

[Grants & Funding>ChristchurchNZ Funding (General)]; [Strategic Direction>Additional Savings & Efficiencies]

Operational: the entire sectors of events, City Council Communications; CHCHNZ would benefit from a complete paradigm shift in how those sectors are staffed, funded and operated as there is a need to prune back the levels of all funding and staffing in these areas where the same can be achieved by less. and included in that is innovating ways to deliver comms but that is not going to come from an internal review

>>>

[Grants & Funding>ChristchurchNZ Funding (General)]; [Strategic Direction>Additional Savings & Efficiencies]; [Spending>Our Proposed Spending]

as previous comment; review all levels of funding and staffing to areas of comms/ events/ CHCH NZ as there are many ways to review how these are delivered in different ways, or just cut them... Events will come anyway to a certain degree and comms depts need to consider a paradigm shift of how they operate. there is no need to have a growing communications sector/ staff if a different perspective is taken. but that requires bold and decisive governance decision making

1185 - Greg Ritchie

Less focus on expensive external (outside of Christchurch) consulting and more focus on local contractors thoughts and experience.

1192 - Shannay Henning

What is the average salary for council employees? Perhaps that should be assessed. Not all the ratepayers are earning massive salaries and from what I hear there are too many people thrown into a job that could be done with fewer people

1278 - Tim Marsh

Reduce the Council operating costs and the number of staff.

>>>

CCC operating costs and number of employees

128 - Elizabeth Ackermann

[Rates > Residential Rates]

You will have a very unhappy city of rate payers in June if you go ahead with the big increase. Possibly get rid of expensive CEOs etc

1282 - Kelvin Lynn

Thanks to all the staff and councillors for their work on this plan.

1300 - Barbara Dunne

The secret meetings regarding staff is gross to the extreme.

>>>

Reduce middle management.

132 - Jason King

We have no need to pay a CEO such ridiculous money- why does the council need a CEO and a mayor? Which one of you is not doing the work? there is another .2 million. keep going- you will figure it out. Why am I doing this job for you? I think the council as an admin organisation could cut LOTS of jobs and save rate payers money that way. Look to AI to replace roles that don't require any special skills. There is probably another 1-2 million.

1323 - Mark Hubbard

Cut out all the woke crap and staff. Stop over regulating every damned thing to do with consents. Give Chch residents their damned lives back from bureaucrats.

1327 - Chris O'Brien

Get rid of >>> and car fleets for council staff. They are environmentally much more damaging when all factors are taken into consideration. Look at ways of facilitating hydrogen when it comes in.

133 - Alan Mears

Take a close look at Council largesse e.g excessive salaries and bloated beaurocracy

1330 - Gary Bint

To many consultants clipping the ticket

>>>

Cut the brucuacey

1334 - David Cowie

An overhaul of the entire system is needed by people who are not progressive, socialist or left leaning.

1339 - Carol Marie Ferrier

Get better efficiency out of staff and sub-contractors. Get staff that actually know what things should cost and have appropriate experience. Council wastage on spending needs to be sorted out, and over charging by contractors.

>>>

Look at the cost of contractors

>>>

Jsut don't waste moeny, more accountability fo sub-contractors.

1356 - Sharon Fox

Why can't the council do a massive overhaul of staff and require that ALL departments do as the government is doing and make a 7.5 % savings on there departments. As ALL government services are required to do now but not councils. How is the rate payer meant to sustain all this out of control spending while they are having to cost cut in their jobs?

>>>

Feel there needs to be a limit oh how departments use funding and must cost cut in their departments

1373 - Luke Lagan

Look to achieve higher quality and more productivity from reduce staff, similar to private sector. Pay of CCC staff is significantly higher than private sectors and not performance managed.

>>>

Staff salaries are far too high and well in excess of the private sector. Reduce staff and retain quality productivity staff.

>>>

Council internal departments are not intergrated or efficient.

1377 - J Scandrett

Reduce staff numbers and flatten hierarchy structure, way too many layers, and middle management

1378 - Rowena Morgan

The Council seems to be very admin-staff heavy. How about reducing that

1380 - Sharon Lee

Council shouldn't have nice to haves or perks like electric cars that staff are seen using for personal use (an unnecessary expense).

1395 - William Wallace

I'll keep it short and simple. I believe that overall, the council has grown to be too big and lost sight of their focus on the basics of what a functional city should be. There are too many big, "nice-to-have" projects, that cost an arm and a leg and another arm. We are not a global city, we are a small fish in a big pond. A good start to cut back on council spending would be to follow the government's lead and make staff cuts at senior and tiers two and three levels. Council has, like the government, become 'top heavy'. As for the 'Smart City' agenda, I do not want the wall-to-wall digital coverage, surveillance, and ubiquitous use of technology beyond what is absolutely necessary at a basic, functional level, and nor do I want a cashless economy.

>>>

Council should be strenuously looking at reducing staff numbers, with cuts at senior, and tiers two and three managerial levels, and if not staff cuts, then salary cuts.

>>>

See above re cutting back on staff or reducing salaries; council is too top heavy.

1407 - Scott Butcher

I would argue employing more staff in the areas of biodiversity and climate change instead of engaging external consultants would probably contribute to some degree of cost reduction.

142 - Carolyn Neame

Having less staff to keep wages down

[Coder note: For context "Are there any areas where you feel we should be reviewing the services we provide to reduce our costs throughout the Draft LTP 2024-2034?"]

1430 - Dan Hartwell

Hard to know. Cutting or Burning out staff seeking greater efficiencies becomes counterproductive after a certain point

1460 - Jihee Park

[Recreation, Sport & Events > Pools (Capital)]

Council has so many swimming pools and you are increasing everyone's pay check more than 11 % on staffs - staffs are not even welcoming all the people and they are hating the jobs, creating unnecessary feeling and more over, you are increasing more swimming pool in the city. it is wasting of money and I don't want to be a part of that.

147 - Colleen Eason

You are paying the CEO too much.

Senior Executive salaries and benefits.

[Coder notes: For context "Are there any areas where you feel we should be reviewing the services we provide to reduce our costs throughout the Draft LTP 2024-2034?"]

1471 - Dr Satinder Dhaliwal

The Council cars be not allowed for private use and these should not be allowed to be taken home in the evening by the officers/employees. These need to be parked in a compound after office hours. It has been noted that often these cars are used for private purposes.

1475 - Courtney Henderson

I think there should be consideration of redundancy within the council and looking at being more efficient within resources available. Salaries within the council are amazing considering in comparison to other industries.

1491 - Lindsay Richards (Westmorland Residents Association)

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Staff Matters]

[Strategic Direction>Additional savings and efficiencies]

But maybe have a look at you wage bill. From what I read, about one in every four CCC employees are earning over $100K per annum.

1497 - Alice Zhu

Cut down council management team.

>>>

Make more management team redundancy at the councils then you will have the money to do whatever you want. Stop taking money from people who only make enough to survive!

1504 - Jonathan Kingston-Smith

Councilor salaries should be cut and the ratepayers should be given a break

151 - Marg Flyvbjerg

Prioritising salaries that contribute to the public good is money well spent

1512 - Denis McMurtrie

Well trained a staff with skin in the game to get a job done efficiently and well. I watched a group of "over seas workers" reseal the pathway down my street boy did the work hard. I have also observed other groups of workers who take as long as they can for morning tea and often take off just after afternoon tea drive slowly back to the yard to reach there by 4.00. More skin in the game for our workers could be in the form of a bonus.???

153 - Lindsay Strang

Yes of course staff salaries are just part of the cost for council facilities.

1533 - Mark George

[Strategic Direction > Additional Savings & Efficiencies]

Look at more efficient management structures and remember that management is there to empower their staff to provide the best service possible. Encourage excellence

1544 - Daana Watson

[Spending > Our Proposed Spending]

with the cost of living increases, it is difficult to assess if this proposal is reasonable or not. How many people work for CCC? Everyone deserves a fair rate of remuneration for their work.

1546 - Robert Fleming

Most operational work requires workers with a skill, these people are essential and need to be valued.

1568 - Kathryn May

Limit on expenses CCC members can claim for.

1593 - Rick Houghton

Tell the truth about "cycleway spending". Don't let councillors and media flippantly state a $million figure for cycleways, when entire roads are being rebuilt and improved.

1613 - David Browne

Cut staff levels. Invest in automation, AI and improved efficiencies at Council. Develop Smart cities. Set tighter and enhanced KPI's for contracting and outsourcing. (Roading in particular where the road coning is just an absolute joke)

1620 - Daisy Sinnadurai

CC should hire more labour staff.

Some libraries have staff with no knowledge of their jobs.

1646 - Dale McGregor

Yes, get rid of the costs for consultants. Why has the council not have anyone employed as a consultant/s within the council instead of paying thousands of dollars repeatedly to outside sources, when the council could employ two or three to work within the council and save thousands if not millions of dollars?

1648 - Andrew Bowman

Staff levels should be assessed and reduced if possible (though not simply by outsourcing to private providers) >>> Not using external consulting companies

1650 - Deb Osborn

The CEO role seems to be a lucrative slush fund for the 'lucky' person appointed. Think Marriot, think Blaxendale.

1709 - Aaron Cumming

Do not pay execs working for the council more than 300k, it is called public service for a reason. You have proven on multiple occasions money does not buy quality. [Other/Special Interest Topics > CCHL Matters]

1717 - Mark Doyle

From my experience, there are too many 'hangers-on' getting paid by the council contribution to the costs of running the CCC. You need a high-level lobbyist to sit between CCC and the Government to ensure Christchurch is exploring every avenue to secure funds for the city.

>>>

Get a proven lobbyist or govt relations professional on board.

1790 - Hayley K

You need to cut down on staff or ensure all staff employed are producing results. Stop with the high payrises.

1806 - James Edwards

Assess Council Staff Efficiency: A thorough assessment of council staff positions, which was previously voted down, should be reconsidered. From what I understand through personal connections within the council, there are often more staff assigned to tasks than necessary – for example, 12 people filling roles that could be efficiently managed by just six. Reviewing and optimizing staff positions could lead to more effective and efficient operation, similar to recent optimizations seen in the current government. These steps could lead to significant savings and more streamlined operations within the Council. Reassessing these aspects could ultimately benefit all ratepayers with reduced costs.

1814 - Jenny Atkin

Assessment of Council staff positions was also voted down but would have been a good way of seeing how the organisation could be run more effectively and efficiently.

1819 - Gavin Millar

The City Council is clearly deeply dysfunctional at an executive and council level, the lack of consistency between the different parts of this plan demonstrate that dysfunction.

1837 - Rosalie Griffith

City could benefit if more inclusion of older workers with experience!
not just experts with degrees & little or no experience.

1864 - Kylie Williams

I dont agree with it. I seriously think you as a council an part of the government should re look at what you all earn compared to everyone thats on minimum or slightly above trying to live day to day an take of a a family or feed an house themselves.

1901 - Teresa Bowditch

Perhaps cut some excess staff or non essential services to help crippling rises

1932 - Cynthia Carey

[Three Waters > Water Supply (Capital)], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)], [Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?], [Transport > Transport (Operations)]

No, we do not need cycle lanes, we do not need speed bumps, we do not need it want chemicals in our water, we do not need nice to haves and you council need a clean out with no pay rises

>>>

Make contractors more accountable! Their mistakes at their cost!

1938 - Alice Busbridge

Too many staff doing bugger all!!

>>>

Cut down on staff and expect the staff you keep to do more work (by more I mean the same amount of work being done by workers in private sectors)

1963 - Lynda Goodrick

Make sure your managers are actually delivering on what is best for the city, not for their egos - and please start hiring kiwis!!! Kia ora

1997 - Justine Wright

get rid of middle management and specialised teams working on projects.... only work on the essentials

2006 - Aaron Mcloughlin

Removing the top heavy numbers of administration employees at the council is a start to reducing costs and reducing rates increases. More projects, regardless of their apparent 'requirement' have a large team of employees and contractors attached to them.

2009 - CW Young

[Strategic Direction>Community Outcomes & Strategic Priorities]; [Other/Special Interest Topics>Tarras Airport]; [Strategic Direction>Financial Strategy]

The plan does not explore the potential savings, without compromising critical services, in reducing bureaucracy and cutback on staff members, as well as increasing efficiency of works performance. It also lacks timely, visionary and strategic investments by the ChCh Holdings (eg Tarras South Island Airport project).

2012 - Nick Boyd

[Strategic Direction > Other Policy Matters]

Also too many assistants to people and overly large bonuses

2078 - Barry Williamson

In terms of salaries and wages, only essential servicers should be retained. Some salaries and wages seem obscenely high as does the level of expectation. A health check needs to be taken on the level of employment as well as the rates of pay. To get back to my earlier narrative, cut the suit to suit the cloth.

2079 - William Muir

Reduce staff numbers - reduce salaries

2089 - Serge Ratten

PROMOTE internships,

2090 - Chui Boon Goh

Council headcounts and salaries are ridiculously too high.

>>>

Cut Council headcounts and salaries, and eliminate entitlements and perks.

>>>

Reduce ridiculous overly-fat salaries, eliminate perks and cull Council headcounts. This is an easy thing to do and there will be plenty of funds for Orana Wildlife Park. Salaries have reached obscenely ridiculous stratospheric levels in local governments for jobs that are cushy and risk-free, unlike in the real commercial world. Even the National governments is currently reducing public-sector headcounts (but disgustingly the MPs are planning to help themselves with increased salaries, perks and entitlements). Have you considered how much salary is too much? Proverbs 12:10, "A righteous man regards the life of his animal, but the tender mercies of the wicked are cruel."

2093 - Rachael Hemmer

It would help if C-suite Council staff lead from the top and reduced their salaries. If the rest of us have to tighten our belts and pay up, same goes for you.

2097 - Marie Haley

It is important that all CCC staff have some sort of induction to Banks Peninsula, many CCC staff that we contact have not even been to Akaroa or rural Banks Peninsula and do not understand it.

2109 - Te Aomihia Te Huia

MORE COMMUNITY WORKERS

2115 - Billie Kaine

More important areas for focus Clean out dead wood in council members strip the council of individuals who aren't effective and get rid of the dead wood

>>>

2116 - Redacted Redacted

CCC needs are clear out of its bureaucrats and keep frontline council staff in our libraries and pool facilities

>>>

Prioritise front line services over paying bureaucrats.

2190 - Stacy Rendall

Why on earth does a council have a CEO? Do they actually provide any value, or just get a huge salary to promote more middle managers and money-wasting "restructures"?

2198 - Andrew Smith

As per central government agencies CCC should review staffing and pair back to essential staff and look at opportunities for further efficiencies

2213 - Nathaniel Herz Jardine (Living Wage Aotearoa)

We would also like to congratulate Christchurch City Council for more than two years of Living Wage Accreditation.

In the midst of a cost of living crisis, City Councillors can be proud that they can provide certainty for our frontline workers: cleaners, security guards, and library assistants who are able to perform their duties in the knowledge that their wage will rise with the cost of living. Through accreditation, CCC contributes to the economic and social wellbeing of Christchurch, and acts as a model employer in Christchurch and beyond. We expect accreditation to remain a core part of CCC's employment and procurement policies.

[Coder Note: Full attachment available]

2229 - Chris and Janet Stokes

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Governance]

Council will not listen to the people of Christchurch. In fact it seems as if the council staff are very controlling. We voted Mike Davidson out because of his views and we hope you Victoria can be our voice

2267 - Redacted Redacted

I observe council staff sitting in trucks, engine running not doing much. There needs to be better supervision & accountability.

2277 - Josey Fleitas

Please continue to grant pay raises to the library staff, as they are an invaluable resource. Thank you.

2289 - Leonie Jackson

[Spending>Our Proposed Spending]

Comments: This spending is vital for the continued upkeep of services. Some of these costs can't be reduced eg. staff salaries.

2321 - Pamela Camp

[Rates>Residential Rates]

It is high. You do need to look at the number of employees that are on high income, that aren't needed.

>>>

Staff pay- your sick leave policy needs to be reviewed. You had a senior member on stress leave for a year on full pay over $100k-ridiculous.

>>>

Staff numbers and sick pay need to be addressed. Senior staff on full pay for a year on stress leave at my expense is not right.

2333 - Fiona Lynch

Fire any councillors or staff who are underperforming and superfluous to needs.

2338 - Robin Schulz (Coronation Reserve Residents Group)

More efficiencies need to be found in the current management structure (bureaucracy in particular)

>>>

The total Council bureaucracy needs an independent review and become more efficient. Management to date of senior staff has clearly been inadequate.

2355 - Iain Sanders

Cut the fat out of your expenses and top-heavy administration salaries with common sense and humility to seek free advice and ask better questions.

2357 - Cori Sanders

[Strategic Direction > Additional Savings & Efficiencies]

I think that the council needs to look at their operational spending and think about where they can trim the fat. Are they using too many expensive consultants? Removing the top heavy numbers of administration employees at the council is a start to reducing costs and reducing rates increases. More projects, regardless of their apparent 'requirement' have a large team of employees and contractors attached to them.

2367 - Stephen Conti

Why don't you reduce your staff by 10% and stop charging the people who live here.

2381 - Kim Franicevic

Council staff should be getting pay cuts

2389 - Aurora Garner-Randolph

[Spending > Our Operational Spending]

CCC needs to increase its operational spending in order to ensure that its staff are not disadvantaged in the context of inflation and to maintain key services for the people of the city.

2390 - John Gibbons

[Strategic Direction > Additional Savings & Efficiencies]

However, I am sure that savings can be made in management rolls. The council should declare what increases in personnel have occurred over the past ten years in management rolls and front-line services. Maybe savings could be made.

2401 - Arlee Folkers

I think you need to start doing things differently. There are a number of civil construction firms that make significant profits from the work that they undertake for the council, perhaps be innovative and look at ways that contractors could be more involved at the beginning of projects and avoid variations which contractors love.

2403 - Andrew Woodfield

Cut the wastefully high salaries at the Council. You'll find you can fund the budget then.

>>>

[Transport>Cycleways (Capital)]; [Spending>Te Kaha]

Cut funding for Te Kaha, bike lanes and increasing salaries.

2407 - Dave Evans

[Strategic Direction>Have we got the balance right?]; [Other/Special Interest Topics>Governance]

1. Staffing numbers and percentage of budget have increased significantly under the previous CEO and former mayor. However, service has decreased.

2. A 10 year plan is being implemented, yet it has been 6 months since the CEO left. Granted that person was ineffective (to put it mildly), but having no replacement or their input prior to this plan being adopted is a horrible business decision.

>>>

[Strategic Direction>Have we got the balance right?]

Balancing a business budget that provides both action and services is possible. It has been many years since a team was in place that was capable of such a review. And it cannot be possible without a CEO part of the process.

>>>

Hire a competent CEO that has drive, vision, and knows how to balance budgets. In over the past 20 years, we have not. It is not a coincidence that none of the last four came from overseas or the NI. And at least 2 had red flag items on their CVs and got hired, while another had no direct experience in running an operation that was not a closed organization, while a city is the opposite. I'd be looking at a different way of getting names in front of the councillors.

>>>

As an outsider, it is only possible to have a glimpse. But not having a leader who is responsible for implementing this plan on hand and ensuring that person's departments maximize savings and service with new ideas, is a sure recipe for mistakes. Maybe very, very big ones.

[Coder Note: regarding having no permanent CE]

>>>

Again, have someone involved who will be responsible and accountable for implementing. We don't. What kind of possibility can have this plan succeed?

2422 - Debora Mora

Reduce staffing levels Do we NEED concerts and FIREWORKS at such a huge cost and staffing levels that work on these all year round?

[Transport > Cycleways (Capital)], [Transport > Roads (Capital)]

STAFFING LEVELS, many are saying we have too many staff who are needing to create projects to keep themselves employed so perhaps consider staffing levels reductions and outsource some work.

2429 - Neil Ricken

Differentiate between key operational priorities and 'nice to have' projects. Staffing is a major cost, and in line with the private sector when times get financially tough, needs to be reduced.

[Borrowing & Debt Management >Borrowing & Debt Management]

Reducing staffing; doing away with 'nice to haves'

2448 - Barrie Uren

This comes back to the employment of the heads of department and the excessive wages paid ie XXXXX who was employed under the dalzell time and supported by Templeton and scandrett.

246 - Rose Shayler

[Libraries>Libraries (Operations)]

Pay your library staff more, they're about one pay packet away from a full blown revolution.

2493 - Inder Singla

Money spent in public sector must be used wisely by setting some standards for budgeting. For example, work travel and work accommodation etc should be well planned to ensuring the necessity of the plan.

2496 - Nikki McDonald

How about some of your ceos and higher ups have a pay cut. Your CEO is currently earining more than $500,000 a year...

>>>

To much money on ensuring staff have high salaries.

2504 - Sarah van der Burch

I think we should reduce staff at CCC especially the number of Councillors.

2521 - Stuart Jones

[Transport>Cycleways (Capital)]; [Strategic Direction>Additional Savings & Efficiencies]

COUNCIL WORKERS AND CONTRACTORS NEED TO WORK EFFICIENTLY.
GET RID OF CONSULTANTS !!
NO MORE CYCLEWAYS

2524 - Ruth Falconer

[Rates>Other]; [Transport>Roads (Capital)]

Comments: But do it more efficiently, not digging up roads multiple times. Too many consultants & shovel leasers.
Do infrastructure right the first time & do it well.

>>>

- Less consultants more common sense.

2529 - Bernard Newman

[Transport>Cycleways (Capital)]; [Strategic Direction>Additional Savings & Efficiencies]

LIP 2024-2034:

No areas ought to be sacred in terms of looking at cost savings.

Maximising all aspects of staffing, spend much less on consultants do things once and properly, stop spending on the massively and unnecessarily over engineered cycleways.

2536 - Jennifer McDonald

— — —

Comments: Do we need as many Council Staff?
Are there too many people in the offices with not enough to do for their salaries?
I'm suspicious as Council wages are very high.

>>>

[Spending>Our Proposed Spending]

— — —

Comments:

Where did you come up with these figures?
Are you employing expensive 'Advisors'.
At the meeting on Wednesday you did say you are getting rid of Advisors is that correct?

2538 - Libby Ornsby

[Strategic Direction > Additional Savings & Efficiencies]

Stop outsourcing roles that can be better managed in house.

2540 - Jocelyn and Caroline Papprell and Syddall

We also suggest a re-evaluation of executive salaries and the use of consultants and instead nurture in-house knowledge and experience.

2545 - Antony Gough (Terrace Christchurch Ltd)

The central Government has directed that all Government Departments are to reduce staffing levels by 25% in order to help reduce Government spending. I would suggest Christchurch City Council adopts the same philosophy.

>>>

Staffing levels should be carefully looked at and trimmed to drive savings.

258 - Kevin Clarke

Get real and lower those high end salaries for your senior exec

>>>

Yet those big salaries

2584 - Susan Stevens

Unhappy with the salary and other benefits paid to the CCC CEO. Reduce that salary and maintain current level of service.

2596 - Lindsay Carswell

Over a number of years I have asked that the City Council have a complaints procedure. Complaints Procedure Reasons for a Complaints Procedure My own personal experience dealing with the Christchurch City Council An Independent Complaint Procedure Complaints need to be handled by an Independent body within Council with sufficient resources to obtain external advice.

2603 - Ron Brooks

reduce your paychecks and perks, retirements and offices secretaries and cars spending on yourselves.

2649 - Jacqui Crae

Too much money spent on paper pushing and pointless meetings. Consider employing people rather than contracting so they actually have some accountability and someone to answer to for their workmanship

>>>

Roading, specifically those you employ to do it. Way too many people standing around doing nothing. Too much talk, not enough doing

2666 - Kathleen Crisley

[Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

Whether people work from home is dependent on a number of variables such as their employment agreements and the nature of their jobs. While some people work from home regularly, others do so on an ad-hoc basis, and some choose not to at all.

According to the Council's emissions tracker (<https://smartview.ccc.govt.nz/apps/emissions/?transport>), 53.8% of total emissions are linked to transport. By requiring office-based roles to work from home, the Council will show leadership to other businesses by reducing the transport emissions of its own employees and save ratepayers in the process.

SUBMISSION POINT 1: Review all office-based roles and alter employment agreements with a focus on moving most office-based roles to working from home. This will enable CCC to use hot desking arrangements in headquarters for hybrid work and reduce substantially its need for office footprint.

>>>

B. Disestablish vacancies and institute controlled staffing

There are currently 204 vacant positions at Council. Total salaries of these vacant positions is $12.6 m. Overheads relating to these vacant positions is $5.5 m. Some of this overhead is fixed (e.g. building occupancy costs) and would not necessarily be saved if these vacant roles (for example) were disestablished.

SUBMISSION POINT 2: Disestablish all vacant positions to save a substantial amount of money, $12.6 million. Wages are the biggest regular outgoing expense of any business. As above, by reducing the building related costs at Hereford Street and other locations, you will save substantial building occupancy overheads, too.

SUBMISSION POINT 3: Council must develop and implement a Controlled Staffing Policy which will last for the entire period of the 10-year plan and, ideally, forever.

A Controlled Staffing Policy has as its starting point that no new positions will be recruited and, when a position is vacated, the role is not automatically subject to recruitment without authorisation.

Line managers must put a business case to a committee which scrutinises the alignment of the role to the levels of service. The line manager needs to make a case on the funding streams used for that position, declare what efficiencies they have achieved in their team, and the benefits of the position – including possible income – to the Council.

A committee for controlled staffing should include at least one experienced person who does not work in the Council.

By instituting controlled staffing over time, you 'sharpen the pencil' on the number of employees your business requires, create positions where they are truly required and which add the most benefits to core services, and you develop skills in your management as they prepare business cases.

C. Team Leader positions which have direct reports of two people or less

There are 35 Team Leaders with 2 or less direct reports. However, 5 of those would be over that if vacancies are filled.

Job evaluation systems which are used for sizing salaries award extra points (and therefore salary) to Team Leader roles. I question why a group of three adults cannot work together and share tasks without need of a designated Team Leader.

SUBMISSION POINT 4: Disestablish Team Leader roles with direct reports of two or less, additions to those teams are subject to controlled staffing as above

D. Provision of coffee, tea and milk to staff

The Council budgets $75k for provision of tea, coffee and milk.

SUBMISSION POINT 5: Cease provision of coffee, tea and milk

If office-based staff were working from home, they would be providing their own tea, coffee and milk. For other staff, the only health & safety obligation for an employer is to provide a refrigerator, water supply and means of re-heating meals.

>>>

AREAS FOR FURTHER ALIGNMENT OF INCOME VS EXPENDITURE A. I asked the council about the NZ Post service at Papanui Service Centre (presumably Post services are provided at other Council locations, too). What % of the salaries of people who staff the customer service counter are paid for by NZ Post? I received the following, unhelpful, answer: All staff salaries are paid for by the Christchurch City Council. The Council derives revenue from NZ Post, which is used to offset rates funding. Since my point was quite clear, I find this answer provided to be obstructionist. B. I asked the council how much is paid to the Bikes in Schools programme each year? I received the following, unhelpful, answer: Council does not provide any annual funding to the Bikes in Schools programme. We support the bikes in schools programme with cycle skills training, bike maintenance, resources and staff training. Bikes in Schools has been funded largely by Waka Kotahi and the schools' individual fundraising efforts. My point here is that there must be an income source for the Council inputs to this programme. Who is paying for the cycle skills training, bike maintenance, resources and staff training? How much is this per year? SUBMISSION POINT 9: Councillors need to ask Council staff what % of staff salaries are funded by revenue from NZ Post. Every time I go to the Papanui Service Centre, at least 50% of the foot traffic is about Post matters. Therefore, the revenue for providing NZ Post's services should be at least 50% of the costs of providing the customer service staff. If this level of income cannot be achieved, we should disestablish the service and reduce staff accordingly. In the case of Bikes for Schools, Councillors need to ask about the money for the inputs to the programme and question why rates are used for this purpose. User pays funding is much more appropriate to Bikes for Schools. SUBMISSION POINT 10: Councillors need to ask the right questions about expenditure and operating model being used throughout the city. The above examples (NZ Post, Bikes in Schools) are good examples of staff not being forthcoming about the costs of service provision.

>>>

SUBMISSION POINT 14: Councillors need to ask staff explicitly for the details of all projects that are proceeding without confirmation of Central Government co-funding and issue stop work notices. I understand, for example, that the Harewood Road cycleway has not had its Government funding confirmed. Yet, works in this area are proceeding – funded by rates. Projects should not proceed unless full funding is guaranteed.

2690 - Robbie Dobbie

Too much focus on diversity in the workforce. Look for skills + knowledge.

>>>

STOP all funds going out to Jacobs + AECOM. They are producing 'pretty' reports based on Modelling.

Why print all the CCC brochures in colour? Use well-presented black + white with minimal colour. It is ineffective using colour all the time and wasteful. The message is lost - had a perfect example of that today @

Major event bid funding

Should we have bid funding for major business events at current levels in the Draft ITR as proposed? @E.I.

2692 - Liz Fletcher

Advise that you do not hire people from overseas with $50,000 incentives + exorbitant salaries in excess of $400,000. Shop local

2693 - Tanya Markman

2. Excess staffing costs. Local staffing positions should be revisited if council is going to be realistic about reducing the rate hike.

2699 - Graham Beswick

Probably keeping a watchful eye on extremely high salaries which been noticed to slip through un noticed in past Councils

27 - Warner Wilson

[Spending>Our Proposed Spending]

Find ways to cut costs with out reducing services. Chch council has some of the highest staff to rate payer ratios of any council in the country. Stop with the rediculous pay increases every year no one in the private sector gets that

>>>

Find ways to cut costs with out reducing services. Chch council has some of the highest staff to rate payer ratios of any council in the country. Stop with the rediculous pay increases every year no one in the private sector gets that

>>>

Get rid of useless bureaucrats particularly the waste on the last CEO.

2706 - Jan Bierman

Council expenditure is a concern. Services/costs should be continually under review. The bureaucracy is too big - too many managers & administrators, staff salaries are high.

>>>

No business could survive with the high level of wastage at a corporate level.

2711 - Denise George

The biggest review needs to be undertaken on the efficiency of the Council staff and whether they are providing the service required by the residents. Also there maybe could be a reduction in costs with a closer oversight in the contracting of other companies for jobs and a better follow up on the work they complete.

2731 - Anna Barber

staff numbers could be reviewed under a tactical plan for the key priorities.

2734 - Sharon McDonald

It would be nice to see the work around the city done in a quicker and more efficient way. A lot of workers are seen to just mill around and not to be doing much. Morning tea breaks an hour long. I have witnessed this many times at the park and road works.

2738 - Patricia (Patsy) Eastwood

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Governance]

Hopefully the balance is right between the top paying executives and those who do the day to day work. Some councillors go above and beyond, whereas others do the minimal possible. Maybe pay by performance rather than position? I have no idea how the pay rates are set at present.

2742 - Caroline Dagger

We appreciate the generally great service we have. I have always had positive interactions with council staff.

2750 - Helen Johnstone

Try to avoid using too many consultants.

2755 - Jane Demeter

Trim the marketing/communications budget

2768 - Suzanne Wallace

Comments: But how you do it is silly. Why do I see 50 ccc utes diving to Abaca on any given day & do one thing. Then you staff & do multiple jobs.

>>>

But hire in-house expertise & stop paying Baker & Taylor outrageous sums. Bloody consultants are bankrupting us.

2770 - Sarah Lassche-Jones

Stop spending $ on it. ~
Get rid of unnecessary consultants.
Make council workforce & contractors work efficiently

>>>

Do you have any thoughts on our vision, community outcomes and strategic priorities:

Stop allowing the wake left to run our council, they are not progressive!

2771 - Suzanne Antill

- No salary increases

>>>

- Audits of all council departments to cut spending + make economies (Three Waters audit by the present council, ^{was commendable} the previous council was corrupt)

2772 - Janice Antill

- No salary increases
- * Audits of all Council Departments to cut spending and make economies
(3 waters audit was commendable by present Council. The previous Council was corrupt!)

Note: *

2780 - Maree Hemingsen`

- Don't hire another dumb CEO - could save us millions.

2799 - Dot Lovell-Smith

-Cut back on silly salaries for CEO's and consultants who charge a lot more than council employees would.

2809 - Susan Thorpe

3) CULL UNPRODUCTIVE STAFFING LEVELS

CCC staff are at unsustainably high numbers. Often twelve people are employed to do the job six people could manage. Ratepayers cannot afford too many highly paid people on the payroll, many of them unproductively employed on climate and managed retreat portfolios.

 Cull staff by 20%, in line with government budget restraint goals.*

 Cull staff from wasteful areas: climate change and managed retreat, based on discredited RCP 8.5 scenario, or redeploy to productive areas.*

[Full attachment available]

2813 - John Antill

No salary increase

2817 - Emma Twaddell (St Albans Residents' Association)

Based on continual reports from residents we would like to see the council ensure contractors level of workmanship is better monitored and complete before signed off

2820 - Brendan Ross

APPRECIATE THE INPUT FROM CEC - Hoping that
'CULTURE AT CEC CAN IMPROVE AND MAKE YOUR JOB EASIER
IT'S ALL ABOUT LEADERSHIP MENTHINKS.

2823 - Aurora Garner-Randolph (School Strike For Climate Ōtautahi)

Staff wages should rise with inflation.

2833 - Robbie Peacocke

Looking after staff is important for any organisation - staff are a core part of any services an organisation delivers. Experienced staff leaving could have a negative impact on the delivery of services the council is responsible for, which could affect a number of residents of the city.

2861 - Laila Jansone

review staff efficiencies, stop money wasting, manage contracts as it would be for own household

289 - Julian Springer

Remove any/all DEI roles. It is a waste of ratepayer's money.

2898 - Jack Allan

However, that level of increase is clearly unsustainable. Staffing levels need review by independents - it is unlikely that present managers have the objectivity to undertake such a review. Other administrative efficiencies need to be pursued and more accountability measures built into the Council.

2899 - Victoria Nebbeling

You mention staff salaries above but nowhere in the draft plan under operational costs can I read how much is being spent on council staff salaries. I think it's important to be transparent on these, especially for high paid roles such as the councils executive team, mayor and other leadership roles. Their salaries come from our rates and every time they get a pay increase, our rates increase. I believe in paying a living wage for all council employees and contractors, I don't believe in a small few being paid hundreds of thousands of dollars a year without transparency to rate payers.

29 - Hayley Young

Cutbacks cut be made to staff salaries at the council. Too many managers and middle managers on very large salaries I can see. If this was cut there would be a lot more spare cash.

2936 - Ian Lochhead

It is important that necessary staffing is maintained across the range of council services and that salaries for these employees is maintained at an appropriate level. Trying to drive down staff salaries as a savings measure, as in the case of Birmingham in the UK, will only cause future problems. Nevertheless, it is important to maintain balance in council salaries and to avoid excessive payments to staff at CEO and other senior management levels.

294 - Michael Brantley

Yes. Stop it. It OSS not expansion time. It is cut time. Protect your people. Get the non elected purists from Wellington or of decision making positions.

2947 - Katia De Lu

- Ensure sufficient staffing with appropriate expertise (e.g. the CCC used to have two waterways ecologists but now, worryingly, only has one.)

2948 - Peter Borodin

Money get wasted by contractors. Stop increasing salaries.

2951 - Les McKay

I understand some council employees have the use of a council vehicle, I am not happy that at holiday time thee vehicles can be seen all over the south island with caravans or boats attached. These vehicles are so staff can do their jobs and not drive everywhere on the ratepayers dollar. I am not sure about libraries as I have never used them but surely there should be a user pays scheme as in most services.

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Governance]

It would appear that it is a waste of time voting in the mayor and Councillors as the have no say in running the city. The CEO and permanent staff appear to have control and do what they want. Elected officials need to be in charge

>>>

I can't remember any project that the council has completed on time and within budget. It appears that contractors don't have to keep within their quotes. This is crazy.

2953 - Quentin Kelly

Take a pay cut. Council members need to earn and live on the same wages as the average of everyone in the city. You cannot just keep raising rates, where does it end? You need to get serious about what is really important for the city to grow rather than continually bleeding money. I see no benefit in paying more rates and your wage rises. Borrowing and getting the city into huge debt serves no purpose. Treat the city like any house hold, reduce debt and spending to get your house in order before you bankrupt everyone living in it.

>>>

You all need to take a pay cut. Will say this every time until you are earning the average of the area that voted you in. There needs to be a huge reduction in council red tape and rubber stamping. It is literally a bureaucratic hell dealing with the council on any matters, that is if you can even reach someone who can make any decisions, and when you do there is always a ridiculous dollar sign attached.

>>>

The council all need to be dumped, fired, and some jailed. Harsh but true. The council needs to be rebuilt like any business on merits of people who can get the job done, and are personally invested in seeing it through to the end. I have always wondered why the council elections is a beauty or personality contest with people who have big ideas and talk a whole lot of talk but never achieve anything. We need to have people who can see problems and resolve them, removing red tape, spending money wisely and paid an average wage for the skillset with a small bonus ONLY on completion.

3040 - Claire Wichman

Do your salaries need to be that high?

3046 - Gisela Faber

[Strategic Direction>Additional Savings & Efficiencies]

Slim salaries of upper storey.

3087 - Lucie Masselink

As with the government, I think there are way too many managers on high wages. Accountability should be applied to roles that invest our rates

3099 - Stephen Miller

Over staffing appears to be a big issue.

31 - Gary Durey

[Spending > Our Proposed Spending]

Excessive spending on "backroom" staff and "vanity" and "nice to have" projects all need to be stopped.

311 - Peter Clark

[Strategic Direction > Additional savings and efficiencies]

Reduce staff and contractors by 20%. Freeze wages for 3 years.

3127 - Dianne Downward

Council staff positions need to be reassessed. Christchurch is small, everyone knows someone who works at council and there are many stories of over staffing.

>>>

According to the Taxpayers Union, 30% of staff make $100K which is the highest of any CITY council. Are we getting value for our money?

314 - Vaughan Kirkland

[Libraries > Libraries (Operations)]

I think there are some areas where services could be maintained but with less staff and there should be a full review. For instance the libraries. There seems to be a huge number of staff given the vast majority of people complete a visit to the library with no need to interact with a staff member.

[Libraries > Libraries (Operations)]

The staffing levels in these facilities is too high. Staffing in the libraries in particular could be cut right back given these are generally self-service entities

>>>

As stated elsewhere these are well overstaffed for what is generally a self-service model.

3172 - Sara Shea

Investigate ways to collaborate in service delivery and operational costs with other local councils - eg Selwyn and Waimak. Joint back office services - HR, IT, engagement and marketing, Payroll could save a lot of money.

3187 - Debbie Hamilton

Yes ensure councillors pay increases are the same as the rest of the population

3206 - John Gudgeon

[Transport > Transport (Operations)], [Libraries > Libraries (Capital)]

Removing the top-heavy numbers of administration employees at the council is a start to reducing costs and reducing rates increases. More projects, regardless of their apparent 'requirement' have a large team of employees and contractors attached to them. Do you really need an imported overpaid CEO again?

322 - Richie Connell

I am disappointed with the levels of salaries that this sector gets paid. And I mean there are too many people on big salaries who don't need to be there. We need a better executive. Dawn was an invisible person who did nothing to make the city proud. Get a CEO with some presence and the ability to get things done.

3235 - Thomas Caspari

But: CCC staff salaries appear to be rather high. I'm also working for Crown (a CRI) and our salaries do not compare to CCC levels.

3248 - Dave Edwards

Reduce staff levels and pay market wage rates. Reduce manager numbers and sort the excessive high salaries. We all see the staff standing around, on their phones on in groups with hard hats, orange jackets and clip boards. At least match the government's examples cost savings in the public sector.

325 - Kathleen Clinton

Number of staff being used in service some areas, is it really necessary

3257 - Fiona Jones

Look at the >>> ceo higher management salaries, no increase should be given and in fact should look hard at saying money there.

3280 - Megan Cassim

So does this also mean that there will be payrises that we have seen of CCC staff which exceeds the rate of inflation like in previous years? Hope not.

>>>

Staff salaries - Pay rises should align to what rest of country is doing rather than the large increases we have seen hit the media,

3298 - Deborah Parker

Staffing levels should be reviewed in non essential areas such as marketing and communications and middle management.

3305 - Angelita Schwalger

That is much to high to increase in such a short period of time know the financial hardship that is out there for majority of people , considering many of the CCC staff got a 19% increase in wages, such a huge increase, consensus is that realistically no one else in the workforce received such huge wage increase but the Council. Does make you wonder if rate payers are paying for this massive increase in CCC wages too! >>>

3311 - Michael McEntee

A few council management on less than $100k a year might be a good start.

334 - Clare Marshall

[Spending > Our Proposed Spending]

Libraries, pools, parks should be maintained. They are amenities for the people who live here. Cut your admin and office staff. and reduce the salaries of key council members and higher management - they are out of whack compared to a normal resident of this city and I don't agree with my rates paying such ridiculously high wages.

>>>

as before - reduce wages and admin costs within the council building itself - wages for senior staff are too high and inefficiencies at day-to-day functioning level are rife.

3346 - Lynette Bay

Removing the top heavy members of administrative employees at the council is a start to reducing costs and reducing rates. More projects regardless of whether 'needed now' have a large team of employers and contractors attached to them. Number of people involved needs to be carefully monitored as most projects if looked at closely have surplus employees to need.

3361 - Ali Cameron

Removing the top heavy numbers of administration employees at the council is a start to reducing costs and reducing rates increases. More projects, regardless of their apparent 'requirement' have a large team of employees and contractors attached to them.

>>>

$2.7 billion Removing the top heavy numbers of administration employees at the council is a start to reducing costs and reducing rates increases. More projects, regardless of their apparent 'requirement' have a large team of employees and contractors attached to them.

>>>

I propose the Council takes job cuts .the Christchurch council employees are over paid and over staffed .

3362 - Cherie Mansell

In Calgary, Alberta an internal program was set up where city employees could suggest a specific way of reducing costs. If the suggestion was accepted and proved successful the employee who made the suggestion received a percentage of the money saved in the first year of operation. This program was not available to managers, supervisors etc. because it was their job to be doing this within their job description. Rick Mansell, who currently lives in Christchurch, was a Manager in the Parks and Recreation Department in Calgary at the time this program was enacted. He could give more information about this program and its success rate.

3415 - Allan Taunt

[Spending > Our Proposed Spending]

Agree with the operational spending allocation and certainly do not support a reduction.

Staff are expected deliver a lot with minimal resources and remuneration. They are under pressure. Further to that, social media often treats staff harshly by members of the public that are unaware of what it takes to run a city. There are examples where staff have been mentioned by name, or unreasonable words have been used to describe the organisation. When staff have no right of reply, this is unfair and disrespectful. I ask that staff are appropriately remunerated, are provided with the necessary resources and support for what can be a thankless role at times.

To provide an inclusive community, everyone needs to be well supported. For this we must continue to provide the variety of services people use every day. This includes libraries, art displays, sports grounds, walkways, parks and recreation facilities, and much more. In addition to operating these facilities, maintenance tasks must continue for people's safety as well keeping the environment clean.

3424 - Taylor Johnskn

Less bureaucratic waste should help cover costs of more essential things before increasing rates.

3444 - Jo McGregor

Remove the top-heavy numbers of administration employees at the ccc is a start.

3453 - Zeta Pringle

Staffing needs to be managed as is wages . Having Role Royce is not always the best option .

3476 - John Fletcher

[Strategic Direction>Additional Savings & Efficiencies]

2. I was unhappy with the XXXX debacle where a weak candidate was appointed to a job at great expense to the city ratepayers especially as I do not believe there were no NZers perfectly capable of doing the job she was given at a cheaper cost. I think there are too many overpaid staff within the council and rates of remuneration need attention.

Furthermore priority should go to NZers not foreigners. 3. More careful planning so work is not duplicated. 4. Reduce work of consultants.

3490 - Peter Minten

You could follow the current directive from the central government to departments to find savings of 6.5 to 7.5%.

3550 - Sam Hewitt

Tie the remuneration/salary of councilors and the mayor to the median wage in Christchurch.

3572 - Tania Dirkze

Reduce your staffs income.

>>>

Start at the top. People are being paid far too much to have us in a hole of debt.

358 - Tamara Dauvergne

Council executive management are outrageously overpaid and are a poor investment in the wellbeing and prosperity of the citizens.

>>>

Better to reduce staff [Coder note: than to increase fees and charges]

>>>

Reduce staff and executive pay

>>>

Cut actual council staff and executive wages before threatening to reduce services - another very biased question in the way it is phrased.

3582 - Cody Cooper

I am pleased to hear staff are being insourced for parks. The previous organisation was dreadful to deal with. Several complaints I made were not handled by the previous CE properly either.

3586 - Rachel Geddis

These people are at the coal face and provide direct support to the people. If your considering wages cuts then first and foremost you should be looking at processes and staffing within the council buildings first.

3603 - Murray James (Food Resilience Network Incorporated)

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Governance]

Enhancing the impact of ratepayers funds whilst also building trust and confidence in Council.

Over the course of the Ōtākaro Orchard project and by close association with other projects within the Avon Ōtākaro River Corridor, the Committee of the FRN and many of its members has experienced close engagement with Council staff and elected members.

For the most part, elected members of Council and Community boards are visible, active and engaged within our communities and do exactly what they are supposed to.....represent!

Our experience with staff is more of a mixed bag with some being excellent and others suffering from an aged institutional culture that oozes obstruction.

If Council as an organisation can embed within the staff team the flavour that flows from reading the Community Outcomes and Strategic Framework then it can morph into an agency of enablement with the ability to respond quickly and with flexibility as compared to our current experience which is better described as..... An impenetrable bastion of obstruction where good sense and effectiveness is not allowed to get in the way of a tick in a box.

3613 - Catherine McLeavy

Stop paying living wage on positions that in the private sector would pay minimum/lower wage rates. It is not the councils job to pay wage rates in excess of market rates at the ratepayers expense.

>>>

Get a decent CEO.

>>>

Review council culture and attitude. Employ a decent CEO.

3631 - Charlotte Sparrow

[Spending>Our Proposed Spending]

Needs significant permanent reduction. Reduce the size of council.

3635 - Jane Lila McKenzie

The Council has employed the wrong people for extremely highly paid positions which has been detrimental to the rate payer as well. These decisions have left the council out of pocket and this is why we are in the situation we are now. The Council must employ people who are hired for their skills rather than employing because they appear to fit the diversity role. There is no research support for the notion that diversifying the workforce automatically improves the company's performance therefore, hire people only on their skills and abilities. I do not believe you have it right.

3650 - Leslie McAuley

Removing the top heavy administrative staff would be a start to reducing costs and reducing rates. Projects, regardless of their apparent requirement have contractors and employees attached to them.

3692 - Jen McKinnel

Stop wasting our money! Look inside the council buildings cut red tape and cull staffing levels.

3703 - Greg Hay

I'm sure there are rationalization opportunities within the council, in terms of staffing/resources, particularly in the back-office side of things. I'm not confident these have been looked into properly. Having you considered solar options in terms of taking a longer term view around electricity savings?

3705 - Glenis Youngman

Removing the top heavy numbers of administration employees at the council is a start to reducing costs and reducing rate increases. Cutting back on high wages and massive redundancies would also help. There are far too many consultants being paid far too much for work that could be done by current employees at the council. More projects no matter what their requirements have a large team of employees and contractors attached to them.

3710 - Kit French

Just pay yourselves less.

>>>

Councillors are overpaid and the council is a bloated organisation.

3733 - Helen Reason

[Strategic Direction > Additional Savings & Efficiencies]

Unsure of response but would like to ask - Are these services running as efficiently as possible - will staff members expect salary rises in the coming year?

3737 - Elsie Stockman

I love staff salaries and service.

3745 - Victoria Rathgen

Jobs - hows the old boys networking going? Aare you being inclusive of woman, parents, part time, older, younger, locals are you investing in training them or just importing. The tech sector will be changing with AI soon are you ready ?

3759 - Ben Connolly

For the Natural Environment Team to be reinstated, and for this work to also be strategically aligned with the climate strategy.

>>>

I believe CCC should be hiring more ecologists and not contracting out these services.

3771 - Paul Bacon

Top heavy council employees

3787 - Deb Donnell

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Vertical Capital]

Removing the top heavy numbers of administration employees at the council is a start to reducing costs and reducing rates increases. More projects, regardless of their apparent 'requirement' have a large team of employees and contractors attached to them. You should also put projects on hold until such time as the city and ratepayers can afford them. We don't have to have the world's best [insert vanity project here - i.e. stadium, convention centre, etc.] because this doesn't bring in the revenue that you believe it does. I've sat on a political panel with past Mayor, Gary Moore, who mentioned what a white elephant these "key projects" are and will become. There isn't a lot I have agreed with him on, but I certainly agreed with him about this.

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?], [Strategic Direction > Climate Change], [Parks > Heritage (Capital)], [Transport > Operations], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)], [Borrowing & Debt Management], [Other/Special Interest Topics > Governance], got the balance right?], [Strategic Direction > Climate Change], [Parks > Heritage (Capital)], [Transport > Operations], [Transport > Cycleways (Capital)], [Borrowing & Debt Management], [Other/Special Interest Topics > Governance]

No, you haven't got the balance right. There is too much focus on ideology and nice to haves, and not enough of maintaining our infrastructure and existing heritage (zero on heritage which is shameful). All spending on so called safety and calming measures such as speed bumps, 30 km zones, cycle lanes, and barricades need to stop immediately. As does any "climate change" / "net zero emissions" which is total nonsense and scaremongering. We cannot afford to be getting into debt further to meet regulations and taxations imposed by global organisations. The balance is being weighted heavily towards the above, and requiring rates to increase in order to service the debt from past and present vanity projects. Rate payers cannot be continually expected to cover costs. We are not a bottomless pit. As councillors and CCC employees, you are not here to build your legacy or to put added pressure onto the households of the people you serve. You are employed by rate payers to deliver the basic infrastructure, and your focus should be on this, not on world class stadiums, convention centres, sports centres, playgrounds, vanity projects, virtue signalling, and so on.

3831 - Rick Jones

Trip council office staff.

>>>

Ditch the top heavy staffing currently in operation at council offices.

3844 - My-Linh Dang

Top heavy and middle management resources need to be reconsidered and removed in order to reduce rates increases.

3850 - Stephanie Remington

Cut some staff and pay rises at the council and get back to basics.

3852 - Chris Coey

A revision of existing staff roles, management in particular, could save servicing costs (something the central government is doing).

386 - Christine McPhail

[Strategic Direction > Additional savings & efficiencies]

We need better governance and executive performance

3868 - Don Gould

I understand the heritage department has 7 staff in it, this seems to have become an enterprise.

>>>

Climate Team As with the heritage department, it feels to me like the CCC has been captured by ideology projects that as a community we simply can't afford. These roles are also the responsibility of central government. Rate payers are paying twice.

3869 - Cam Parsonson

[Strategic Direction > Additional savings and efficiencies]

cut non essential staff & services rather than increasing rates, especially if such roles already have a central government department or roles associated (climate, environment) increase staff vacancies and duration of vacancies.

>>>

>>>

remove superfluous staff

>>>

[Strategic Direction > Additional savings and efficiencies], [Strategic Direction > Climate Change], [Strategic Direction > Other Policy Matters], [Other/Special Interest Topics > Governance] increase staff vacancy rate by 3%, allow staff vacancies to be dormant longer.

>>>

Disestablish the climate change team and defer to central govt, Reduce governance team costs by 750k

3883 - Colin Meurk

we need to expand our public services in our stretched society - in the event of extra cost there is a simpler solution than just laying people off and reducing critical services - and that is flattening the salary levels and spreading the love more widely. if some top executives don't like that and quit, let them go, that will help the financial situation right there. we need to build a city that is so desirable that everyone will want to serve. many of us would give our knowledge for free - to achieve that happy city (cf Montgomery's book based on the experience in Bogota).

3889 - Jessica Rees

Kaimahi also deserve fair remuneration for their work - we want to encourage bright minds and hard workers to be involved with local council.

3893 - Joe Pope

Too many whales being paid far too much in consultancy to be ethical

>>>

Stop paying executives and consultants so much and get some able minded people involved

3897 - J E Thomas

Also it would be great to see a staff audit completed to ensure that all staff are required and not part of the administration machine.

3898 - Richard Smith

GENERALLY BUT SHOULD LOOK AT STAFFING LEVELS AND OPENING HOURS - SEEMS A LOT OF PEOPLE AT SOME FACILITIES

>>>

Ensure Council staff don't have better deals than private sector workers - we work hard to pay their wages so they should get no better deal than us

3902 - James Ridpath

Find ways to cut back on staff

>>>

To save costs in the long run, we should offer ccc staff 4 day working weeks for existing roles and compulsory for all new roles, until its phased in for all. Its the balance between less salary but greater lifestyle, and I believe youll still get the right people in those roles. Also consider what really needs renewing/updating, such as the laptops and technology of all ccc staff which is renewed regardless of if its still suitable for working conditions.

3917 - Bob Thayer

What about staff cuts within the council? Some efficiency must be possible.

3920 - Malcolm Clark

[Strategic Direction > Additional Savings & Efficiencies]

Yes staffing. I bet you there are loads of employees working on projects that deliver very little if any value to rate payers.

3936 - Carley Dove-McFalls

The council must provide green, stable, public service jobs and ensure the services it carries out continue to be carried out

3948 - Stefanie Innes

Trim from the top, some of those at the top are earning and spending way too much. I know because I work with some of the employees. A lot of money is wasted in the council.

3949 - Fay Brorens

Thank you for the opportunity to contribute, thank you to staff and councilors who came to public meetings.

3961 - Paul Robertson

Fewer consultants, less PR, fewer

3971 - Joseph Fullerton

It is concerning that operational spending for many projects is not increasing commensurate with inflation. CCC is an accredited living wage employer, so it should be assigning more operational spending for its staff during the cost of living crisis.

3982 - Duncan Taylor

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Governance]

Councillors are elected to run council

Councillors should establish a set of guiding principles
to do their work leaving staff free to do the day to day

Councillors should decide what needs to be done and
Staff should decide how it is going to be done

3985 - Benjamin Lowe

What is the point of building more buildings if we cannot staff the ones we have.

3988 - Jerry French

- REDUCE / LIMIT STAFF WAGES - PROMOTE EFFICIENCY
- NO ADVERTISING / SIGN WAITING ON COUNCIL VEHICLES - YOU DON'T NEED TO PROMOTE THEIR BUSINESS. - WASTEFUL EXPENDITURE !!

3993 - Hans Jorgen Andersen

DECREASE NO OF PEOPLE EMPLOYED BY CCL AS GROSSLY INEFFICIENT AND OVERSTAFFED AND OVERPAID

4006 - Hana Saemon-Beck

[Strategic Direction > Additional savings and efficiencies]

There are staff that are not needed and paid too much. Hiring contractors may not be good, especially since you own a company under CCHL. Why double up?

4012 - Fiona Garrett

[Strategic Direction > Additional Savings & Efficiencies]

Review all high level salaries and apply accountability to exorbitant pay packets.

>>>

Minimise the bureaucracy

4020 - Brian Turner

[Strategic Direction > Additional Savings & Efficiencies]

Some Council staff salaries are far too high.

>>>

[Strategic Direction > Additional Savings & Efficiencies]

Cut Council internal costs, especially excessive salaries.

4024 - Richard McCaskill

[Strategic Direction > Additional savings and efficiencies]

A full analysis of actual roles vs. benefit and need to minimize middle management positions.

4026 - Helen Van den Bogaert

[Strategic Direction > Additional Savings & Efficiencies]

Cut down office staff

4030 - Jenna Hayward

[Strategic Direction > Additional Savings & Efficiencies]

Look at how top heavy city council are less wasted money on things that majority don't want

>>>

Cuty council pay rises.

4039 - Tammy Hay

Reduce the number of staff at your council, you dont need them most of them dont give to charitys at all i think every one of those council people have to give their time and some sort of donation to charitys.

417 - Jackie Astall

Keep an eye on staff events and the cost of them. I'm sure you can take your own food if you get hungry in your meetings!

423 - Linda MacIntyre

Reduce these ludicrous management salaries. Employ people who care about their jobs.

>>>

Employ staff who will do their jobs with pride.

430 - Kate Porter

Staffing internally There's a lot of highly paid dead weight in that ccc building

460 - Karina Arana

[Strategic Direction>Additional Savings & Efficiencies]

Cut on CEOs/Managers/Specialist and there you will find your money. No in a normal citizen that only tries to survive.

>>>

Corporate areas. Reduce the numbers of CEOs, Managers, Specialists in the Council.

48 - Kean Mitchell

No, You need more cuts to your day to day management of project delivery. The staff you have are underutilised and a smaller more efficient team is needed.

483 - Narelle Gilmour

Lower senior staff wages

489 - Barry Livermore

[Fees and Charges > Other]

There are 2 usual ways to acheive more profability; Increase your charges or cut overheads.Council seems to be doing the first. With 1 third of council staff already on a salary of $100000+, plus a 5% pay rise they have been granted and 8?new executives ($2000000+p.a.). Again tone deaf.

492 - Lyndon Telfer

Have you looked at programmes of work and staff to determine whether the work they do really does add value to the ratepayers of Christchurch? Yes, this is tough but your are running a bsuiness and it can't keep going to the ratepayers and asking for more money.

494 - Casey Mathieson

A review of how council salaries sit within the national average for different roles would be interesting to see and whether this is a potential area CCC is overspending.

498 - Kaye Rae

Time we took responsibility for ourselves. Less fluffy stuff, less staff running in wasteful meetings. To many in management rolls.

55 - Jen Abernethy

you need to get rid of staff that are unnecessary.

570 - Greg Partridge

Based on the salary received by former CEO XXXX, I think there was good reason for Christchurch Ratepayers to feel aggrieved. Yes if we are to get good value for money the City needs to be employing the right people, and that will mean paying them a fair salary, however, I do not think the Council got it right in terms of XXXX, and perhaps have also not got it right with others currently employed by the Council, nor others (such as XXXX or XXXX) who have since resigned from their positions under a cloud of mystery and lack of transparency as to why they left or how much they were paid out when they did leave.

577 - Donna Tse

Reduction of consultants and committee/board members required and reduction of travel costs overall. Teams or Zoom meetings worked very well during the height of covid. Just get on with the job of providing the essential services that us as ratepayers are paying for.

>>>

Reduction of consultants

[Coder Note: In relation to 'Additional savings and efficiencies']

>>>

[Grants and Funding > Events Ecosystem Funding]

Council funding should come from the reduction of consultancy fees to allow the continuation of the bidding due to return cost of benefits to the area.

578 - Susanne Trim

A key focus on improving staff satisfaction by sound and consultative leadership should result in reducing redundancy costs. This is something that should be reported on annually, not only to Councillors, but also to residents. The extraordinarily high staff turnover levels are unacceptable on so many levels.

[Strategic Direction > Climate Change]

I think that you need a new CEO for the CCC in place before bringing the expenditure forward to 2024/5 financial year. This strategy needs leadership at that level. I would support it being brought forward to the 2026/7 financial year.

[Coder Note: Regarding the Climate Change Strategy]

579 - Rosemary Neave

Support the work of Libraries and librarians - great that new pay scales have recognised their work. They are the first port of call for many in the community for information and help.

618 - Natalie Dixon

Review of processes, how many times documents are touched. A lot of unnecessary bureaucracy with little added value. Otherwise, i think you guys go a great job. You have wonderful staff overall, impressive comms and engagement team, great project managers in the transport team. Thanks.

624 - Emma Velde

Far too many council employees. More streamlined and efficiency required. Lower salaries for those at the top.

649 - Andrew Khor

Follow the government cut spending, trim the workforce, reduce overpaid execs

>>>

Follow government lead trim, trim trim

662 - Cameron Taylor

[Strategic Direction > Have we got the balance right?]

No! Stop using consultants, stop with all the unnecessary spending, go back to bare basics and essentials!!

666 - Stephen Palfrey

Too much overstaffing, too much frivolous expenditure,

>>>

Make staff more productive.

What are the establishment plans? Where is restructuring of departments, roles and responsibilities included? Where are the council looking for internal savings - recruitment freeze, removing provision of food for meetings and events, reducing power consumption, reducing travel costs, extending fleet life, savings in contractual arrangements e.g. partnering/alliancing.

673 - Chris Adams

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Governance]

Cost savings should be achieved through reducing council overheads (mayor salary, CEO, etc).

6900 - Geraldine Jellyman

[Strategic Direction > Additional savings and efficiencies]

Reduce dependence on external consultants and use the expertise of council staff.

708 - John Allen

[Spending > Our Proposed Spending]

How about not contracting out and using consultants for advice how about looking at staff remuneration.

Reduce staff numbers your consenting process for building is a joke. 16% of applications are on time that department needs a clean out!

>>>

How about stopping this merry go round of consulting. Give money to the Community Boards to allocate in their area. No staff initiated process !

730 - Doug Allen

Do you need parking wardens on a Sunday, what's the cost of this vs the benefit, what are you water meters readers costing per year vs the benefit of having them, especially since not everyone is metered. Do you ever look or understand cost vs benefit get rid of so many staff in CCC in Christchurch and streamline to save costs. you have waaaay to many staff that don't need to be there.

748 - A Robinson

755 - Jenn Shraga

Your OPEX needs refining. Your headcount needs adjustment. Trim the extra jobs, look to only have what is necessary. Reduce travel and spending.

757 - Scott McCormick

Reduce council head count.

769 - Julie Kidd

[Other/Special Interest Topics > Staff Matters]

Continued operational spending, especially maintaining adequate numbers and skill mix of staff to keep services running well, is very important

8 - Justin Yudistira

keep up the good work.

>>>

I wanted to thank council workers for their work during this time. I understand that there are a lot of abuse right now. But thank you for keep working for our city. Keep up the good work, and thank you.

843 - Ngaire Donelda Bacon

Trim the Fat at the top
Too many Senior managers.

>>>

Contracts should be revised & any council staff member leaving under a cloud should not be entitled to any type of settlement. Many rate payers have told me they havnt got any faith or respect for the council at all cut out all performance bonuses for council staff. why should CEO'S receive performance bonuses for just doing their job? When they are already on Salaries far higher than the average rate payer is receiving. while

>>>

855 - Anna van Haastrecht

I realize that the Council needs money to operate; however, I believe that a lot of spending is unnecessary. salaries of over $100,000 for 31% of Council staff etc. etc. Contractors (who are there to make a profit) instead of staff, the list goes on.

>>>

Quite frankly I do not understand why the Council uses so many contractors; contractors are in business to make a profit, a profit that the rate-payer pays for! Apart from that, some are completely useless. A prime example of this is Armourguard, responsible for, amongst other things, noise control.

I have literally been bullied out of my home by an incredibly noisy neighbour, without Noise control, or better Armourguard, doing anything at all. And yes, this case is now before the Ombudsman!

856 - Ralph Hobbs

I'm sure you'll get loads of submissions basically telling you to sack people. Ignore them all!!

9 - Julia Henson

[Spending > Our Proposed Spending]

Cut exec salaries at the council and at council facilities to the improvement of public facilities

906 - Alister Ferguson

The number of staff on six figure salaries is out of proportion. The claim that we need to pay high salariems to attract quality people isn't borne out by their results

915 - Mark Pearson

[Spending - Our Proposed Spending]

Reduce unnecessary construction and reduce council staff.

934 - Warren Pettigrew

Volunteers:

Modern society is hugely supported by volunteers and volunteer organisations. There is even more resource coming available as our population ages and people move out of their traditional employment and look for something to exercise their mind and body with the benefit of time flexibility.

Source of volunteers:

Volunteers can be and are sourced from walking groups, biking groups, tramping clubs and other sports clubs as well as conservation groups. Many volunteers like working alone with where and when they work. (I work alone and in a group). I propose that there is a significant untapped resource available.

Finding volunteers:

Advertise! Start a programme that describes the need, the opportunities to do their bit for the planet and the individual health benefits. (this is why I do it). Of course, prison and corrections labour is always available. There is probably a social benefit to mix volunteers with these people.

Managing volunteers:

Already, DOC has a volunteer programme, but there are 10s of groups and 100s of individuals out there doing their bit. Efficiency could be improved with some central organisation.

Involved would be assessing needs, training, equipping, supplying materials, allocation of tasks and areas and transporting where necessary and then reassessing results. Two way reporting is also important. I do accept that there would be a staff cost to support their tasks but overall with "slave" labour, costs would be much less than by using traditional staff or contractors.

In order to improve motivation, recognition and rewards are important therefore monitoring is needed.

[Full attachment available]

941 - Hannah Sheath

The worse thing you did was hire that lady from England and pay her what you did. I call for a restructure of council tax wages.

942 - Stephen Tubb

Executive pays need pruning . It's totally ridiculous what the city manager gets paid. I could do it for half the cost and yes I have business management qualifications

>>>

Start cutting executive pays especially the city manager earns more than the PM

972 - Robert Gomez

Cut jobs

>>>

Decrease hours of services, and staff overheads

>>>

Decrease staff working at CCC head office

977 - Bridget Stokes

Yes you need to keep people employed to keep these working well however you do need to look at how many you employ in the management level - and how the money is spent here- had a situation this year where we had 2 men working hard at it in a stream and at least 4 others mainly managers doing nothing.

990 - Wendy Fergusson

But you should be doing the same thing as the government is making the public service do - a 6.5 % cut in staff numbers, especially middle management

2477 - Rachael Ann

[Libraries > Libraries (Capital)]

Libraries are extremely important as are the people who staff them

3035 - Claire Coveney

Thank you to the council for all the good work and mahi you put in. I am grateful.

3234 - Rhys Pryde-Wall

The long term plan must include planning to be world leading in how we employ and value staff and have appropriate funding to support wage growth in line with living wage and CPI increases

3550 - Sam Hewitt

[Rates > Other]

I think this would overall be a positive change as car storage and ownership should not be as heavily subsidized by the council as it is. However, I think if this is to happen then privately owned parking such as Wilson Parking should also be acquired by Christchurch City Holdings Limited. The external cost of car ownership for the people of Christchurch goes largely uncounted, so at least the money should not go offshore. Land bankers and those underutilizing land across the entire city should be heavily taxed.

1 - Aidan Sheard

There's unnecessary people in every business. We need to reduce non essential staff across all council business.

1568 - Kathryn May

Freeze salaries, remuneration, fees of board members, workers, committee members.

>>>

Freeze on all CCC committee members, board members, staffs remuneration, salaries.

1674 - Susan Galbraith

Need to do like the the government is now, take a good look at your employees up the top and the bureaucrats being paid hundreds of thousands per year. Christchurch rate payers cannot afford to waste money on pen pushers.

1699 - Dominic McKeown

make council admin team more efficient if people are sitting around then clearly they should be working more.

2119 - Andrew Cooper

Cut your salaries.

3043 - J Elliott

The increase in Staff costs at 10.8% are out of sync with pay increases for other Public servants ie Police and Nurses. At the very least there should be a Freeze in Staff Costs. The bloated Staff numbers funded by Ratepayers, needs to be reduced at a minimum to 2021 levels. removing any ideology departments.

430 - Kate Porter

Look internally. Trim up your staff: salaries count as operational spending

453 - Simon Beardsley

I think the top people at the council earn way too much and should take a pay cut.

612 - Annette Mauger

Nowhere is it mentioned that the wage/salary burden on the ratepayers is over 40% of the tax take. Perhaps savings can be made here - and I don't mean from those at the low end of the pay scale.

623 - Linda Everett

Most businesses I know are looking at their staffing levels, and making cuts where they can. Are the Council doing this. You have had a large staff turnover this year. Were any of these jobs treated as a natural attrition, to save salary costs.

687 - Anna Laursen

Drop the salaries and staff numbers in council to save some money perhaps?

733 - Tania Thompson

staff salaries can take a cut for a start. seems a lot more arguing happens than actual work getting done.

747 - Euan Gutteridge

Also need to give pay rises to hard working council staff who haven't had one for several years.